EY, IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE FOOD BUB, YOU CAN JUST GO FUCK YOURSELF.
McGILVRAY

The HP-35 Electronic Slide Rule.

Performs all basic arithmetic, trig and log calculations automatically. Has an Addressable Memory, displays 10 digits in fixed decimal or scientific notation, automatically positions decimal point throughout its 200-decade range. Cost, $225.*

All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.

HEWLETT hp PACKARD

available at the UNIVERSITY STORE campus center, open Wed 'til 8.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

RECIPE EXCHANGE

By SUE KIERAS
Staff Writer

Today we have a simple one-dish meal that is from Linda Fuller of Gorman. It is important to remember when buying chicken, the cheapest way is to buy in pieces. Legs and wings are least expensive and can easily be used in this dish. Remember to allow ½-1 lb. per person.

Sweet and Sour Chicken

Ingredients:
1 bottle Thousand Island dressing
1 packet Lipton Onion Soup
1 jar apricot or peach jam as much chicken as desired Equipment:
Shallow baking dish, large enough for all the chicken to be baked.
Mixing bowl.

Mix 1st through 3rd ingredients in a bowl. Dip chicken in sauce and arrange in baking dish. (no grease necessary) Pour rest of sauce over chicken. Bake for 1 hour at 350.

Note: The marinade may congeal or blacken while cooking but this does not affect the taste. While the chicken cooks, you can baste it, or turn it over, or just leave it alone. It can be served over noodles or rice.

Traditional Japanese music feature of planned concert

Saturday evening there will be a concert of traditional Japanese music. The concert will feature Namino Torii on the koto, a 13-stringed instrument of the zither family, and Shudo Yamato on the shakuhachi, the Japanese bamboo flute.

Namino Torii is a leading musician on the Yamada style of sokyoku, classical Japanese music for voice, koto, and shamisen. Shudo Yamato is the leading member of the Kotobuki Kai, a shakuhachi study group led by Judo Notomi of Tokyo. He is active in performing and teaching the Kinko style shakuhachi in Tokyo, Fukuoka and Kitakyushu.

Included in the program will be Midare-Rinzetsu, Kumoi no Kyoku, Yugure no Kyoku, Sekiheki no fu, Kingyo, Shika no Tone, and Azuma-Jishi. Several of these pieces will consist of poems sung to the accompaniment of the instruments.

Both Namino Torii and Shudo Yamato are presently artists-in-residence at Wesleyan University. They will be accompanied by Ayakano Read and Ralph Samuelson. This concert is sponsored by The Program Council and The Asian-American Students Association, and will be held at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Admission is free.

Tryouts set for original Norrick play

Tryouts for an original play by Brad Norrick will be held on December 9 and 10, at 7:30, in Fayerweather Theatre, Amherst College. The play is part of an Independent Study Project in cooperation with the Amherst College Dramatic Arts Department.

The project is interesting for a number of reasons. Most importantly, a video-tape will be made of the play; making the project a good opportunity for actors in the area to gain experience in film technique in contrast to stage technique. Also, the nature of the play is such that it demands a great amount of movement (dance, mime, clowning, and acrobatics), and is wide open for imagination and improvisation.

The project requires approximately ten people, probably half men and half women, who will be called upon to play multiple roles. Musicians and persons with circus, magic, and movement skills are particularly needed. There is one role for an actress or dancer who can play violin.

The tryouts on December 9 and 10 will be rather unique. Because of the play is more of a score than a script, readings give way to improvisation and movement. Rehearsals will begin over interterm (January 5 or so), stage production is scheduled for early February, taping will hopefully be finished by mid-February.

Interested persons who cannot attend December 9 and 10, or for more information, call Brad Norrick at 542-3086 or write Box 1457, No. 2, Amherst, Mass. 01002.

SUNDANCE
Appearing Fri. and Sat.
Dec. 6 & 7 at lazy river
243 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-0802
Serving Food and Liquor from 11 a.m.

HUNGRY-U
PIZZA
SUBS
McGILVRAY
We deliver, fast.
call:
256-8914 OR 256-0473
55 UNIVERSITY DR.
103 N. PLEASANT ST.
TRY OUR MUSHROOMS!

50¢ Off Large Pizza
Offer good on deliveries only; Dec. 9, 10 and 11

25¢ Off Small Pizza
Offer good on deliveries only; Dec. 9, 10 and 11

CHARLIE RICH
THE SILVER FOX
including:
I Love My Friend/Pieces Of My Life
Your Place Is Here With Me/Break-Up
My Elusive Dreams

$6.98 List
ONLY $3.99

PE 33250

"The Silver Fox" is the Charlie Rich album destined to keep Charlie in awards for yet another year!

Columbia

Columbia has some of the BEST jazz, country, and rock. Here are a few; come in and let us show you the rest!

discount records

M-W, 10-6
T-F, 10-9
S, 10-6

257 Triangle St.
AMHERST
549-4433

2-RECORD SET Miles Davis
GET UP WITH IT including:
Red China Blues
Billy Preston
He Loved Him Madly
Rated X
Calypso Frelimo

KG 33236*
A specially priced 2-record set

This explosive new two-record set is one of the most electrifying and profound albums ever recorded by "The Founding Father," Miles Davis. Together with such top names as Herbie Hancock, John McLaughlin, and Billy Cobham, Miles has created a sound of pure excitement!

$6.98 List $3.99

Kris & Rita BREAKAWAY
including:
Rain/Lover Please/Dakota (The Dancing Bear)
I've Got To Have You/I'd Rather Be Sorry

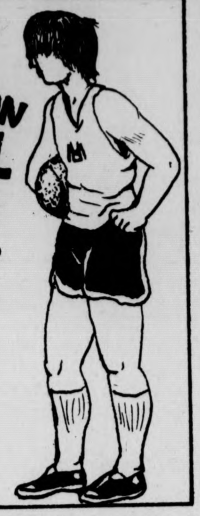
PZ 33278*

Kris & Rita return to rock with this brand-new Nashville-recorded and -flavored album. More than ever, Nashville's favorite couple sound alive and well as they bounce their way through the album's eleven selections.

$6.98 List $3.99

We have marked down hundreds of albums and tapes to wholesale prices. Take a look at them while they last!

BLUE WALL presents
MINUTMAN BASKETBALL



The Student Video Project and C.C. Food Services present a UMass double-header:

Harvard &
Rhode Island

Sunday, Dec. 8, 7:30

BICYCLE STORAGE

Why drag that bike of yours home at the end of the semester? End the hassle, the potential rip off and the ravages of winter by storing it at PELOTON, INC., 1 East Pleasant St. Ask about our winter maintenance and FREE safety check. Storage charge is $5.00 for three months or longer up to sixteen weeks. Phone us: 549-6904.

at the hide-a-way Benefit for
BILLY COLWELL BLUES BAND
Who recently lost their stage equipment in a fire.
FRIDAY and SATURDAY
BILLY COLWELL blues band
and
LUTHER JOHNSON blues band
$2 cover charge to be donated to Billy Colwell.
the hide-a-way
1 Mile off Rt. 116
Rt. 202 in Granby
Tel. 467-8393

5 college photo exhibit opens in Student Union gallery

By MARTIN STEIN
Staff Correspondent

Staff Photo by Joe Stoddart

Area photographers exhibited their work this week in the Student Union gallery.

The first photography exhibit representing Five College area photographers opened December 2 in the Student Union Art Gallery. The organization of the exhibit constituted seeking out the photographers on an individual basis, as there exists no real community of photographers in this area. Fifteen people exhibited. No works were judged by any person. The selection of images was solely up to the photographer, and space limited the number of prints.

Black and white dominated except for one solargraph and two gum-bichromate prints. The images ranged from straight, unmanipulated prints, including portraits, landscape of various kinds, and abstract pattern and design, to the manipulated print.

The print quality was impressive as were the visual images. Out of the contingent of prints no two were alike, some were similar, but only in terms of visual concepts. The images themselves were decisively striking and unique.

Those exhibiting their works shared the belief that with the growth of photography more exhibits will occur at the university and more people will become involved. Active interest will initiate decisions for accommodating future exhibits.

There will be future exhibits. Watch notices in this paper for information.

Mechanical engineering

Women don't know the opportunities

By MIKE KNEELAND
Staff Reporter

Are enough women going into mechanical engineering? Definitely not, says mechanical engineer Maryann Doherty, a 1962 UMass graduate now living in Scituate.

"Girls think they might be able to be an electrical engineer or a chemical engineer, but they don't know about mechanical engineering," she says.

And that's why Doherty was here yesterday: to educate women on job opportunities as a mechanical engineer.

Generally speaking, Doherty said, a mechanical engineer works with machine design. But a mechanical engineer might also find herself coordinating the construction of a new building, or designing a heat shield to protect vehicles returning from space.

At UMass, there are only two women undergraduates studying mechanical engineering compared to 250 men.

There are, however, 53 women studying some sort of engineering here and many of them have not yet declared what field in engineering they plan on studying.

Doherty said a mechanical engineer will usually get a starting pay of $12,500.

Doherty said that when she was month old son, Doherty spent most of her post-graduate time working for the telephone company.

Keep Your Eye on don call
Amherst's First Optician
for all your Optical Needs
LOWEST PRICES
in the area
SHOP & COMPARE
56 Main St. .253-7002

Infirmary
(In An Emergency)
9 549-2671

Roister Doisters Drama Society holds auditions

Auditions for the Roister Doisters Drama Society production of the Off-Broadway hit "Adaptation-Next" will be held Monday and Tuesday, December 9 and 10 starting at 6:30 p.m. in rooms 165-169 Campus Center (CC), and Wednesday, December 11 in rooms 168-170 CC at the same time.

"Adaptation-Next" are two one act comedies which were performed successfully Off-Broadway as a double bill. "Adaptation" was written by Elaine May and "Next" was written by Terrence McNally.

Auditions are open to anyone in the Five College community. The show to be directed by Ronnie Marshak, will rehearse during the January intersession and be performed January 31, February 1 and 2 in Bowker Auditorium in Stockbridge Hall.

AMERICAN PARTS
AUTO PARTS
Christmas Specials
Holiday low, low prices now! all offers good until Dec. 31, 1974
Give him the tools the professional would buy.
Blackhawk™ HAND TOOLS

18-PIECE SOCKET SET set includes 3/8" reversible ratchet
$16.75 reg. $39.63
SAVE $22.88

9-PIECE METRIC SET
$7.85 reg. $16.53
3/8" drive sockets 6mm to 14mm
SAVE $8.68

ANTI FREEZE TESTER

$1.44
reg. $2.85
ball type for ethylene glycol

SCRAPER-SQUEEGEE with snow brush.....24" $1.13 reg. $2.00

POWEREADY LIFETIME BATTERIES

POWEREADY Lifetime Batteries are unconditionally guaranteed to last as long as you keep your car.

SHOP WHERE THE PROS SHOP
AMERICAN PARTS
ALLIED MOTOR PARTS
319 Main St.
AMHERST 256-8341

THE CHEESE SHOP

A "HOLE" NEW THING

fresh daily
8 VARIETIES OF DOUGHNUTS
all homemade 79¢ for 1/2 doz.
also FRUIT & NUT BREAD and BLUEBERRY MUFFINS at 26 Main Street, Amherst 253-2760
Monday-Saturday 9:30-6:00
THE CHEESE SHOP

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Letters to the editor

School of Ed disclosures not new

To the Editor:

There have been events occurring in the last few weeks at our supposed innovative center known as the School of Education that I am sure are going to reach a magnitude far beyond the imagination of our greatest expectations. At first glance it appears that it is the simple alleged mismanagement of funds, or the jockeying of certain individuals for positions of leadership, or the improvement of administrative competency from within that organization. These recent exposures are not new. They have been known for a long time in various circles of the University community, but have not had the proper forum to be presented. It appears that each time problems involving certain minority groups for the change of the quality of education as it relates to the solving of problems of the beleaguered came to the fore for serious consideration they were avoided. Additional commitments also pressed for by doctoral candidates in the School of Education which culminated in a set of demands being presented to the administration of the School of Education, ended up being a complete "white wash". Now the chickens have come home to roost. While the past administration of the School is basking in the suns of Africa the troops at home are finding the going a bit tough. So what do they do to resolve the present problem? The cover up of cover ups. At one time there were many programs in the School of Education that offered some kind of hope for the Third World community, namely, a program known as COP. But it didn't take long before it was squashed out and its dedicated members cast to the winds in utter frustration and despair, and there have been numerable problems for persons who have come directly from the Third World community to change the quality of education and the quality of life at the School of Education only to have been met by the forces who were in power who had no background or understanding for what was being presented. Everything was simply touch me, feel me, and everything will be all right. But now an opportunity is at hand for a full exposure and house cleaning to take place from the very skin of the apple to it's core. Strategy...who is to investigate whom? And what information is to be released to the public? With the current events in Washington, we know what happened with that idea. I hope that the public is not as naive in this instance. There should be a thorough investigation of the books, both sets, and this information should be released to the public. I would advise everybody in the University community to follow these events very carefully so that the air may be cleaned once and for all.

Bill Hasson

Polish anti-semitism

To the Editor:

I have never been more profanely shocked than upon reading the reply of the obviously absurdest Polish American Cultural Association. To even mildly insinuate and imply the humanity of the Polish people to their Jews is the most degrading and base distortion of historical reality.

There is in Poland prior to Nazi Germany, the largest Jewish population in the world save Russia's. Absolutely no where were the Jews more persecuted, however, than in Poland. The bitterness that many Jews have for Polish people is a sort of heritage passed down that that is the result of this brutal history. The Jews were herded into ghettos, made into third class citizens, legislated against and periodically killed and raped. It is beyond my comprehension how this can be overlooked by the "proud" Polish Americans.

The actions of the Poles in World War II was a logical sequel of their barbarism. The death camps all over Europe were manned not by Germans but by Poles. The Germans may have been the Kommandants but the Poles were the guards and the exectutioners. And they relished it. There is as strong a resentment against the Poles as there is against the Germans for their genocidal role in the war. The isolated examples of humanity dredged up by this local organization is nothing more than prime bullshit. My entire family was harrassed and then butchered by these "good people". Many Poles were ardent Nazi and if one looks at The History, when very late in the war many Poles miraculously became Allied sympathizers and awaited the imminent arrival of the Russians. Meanwhile the Russians [their Racial brothers] held up their invasion of Poland to let the Nazis "process" the local heroes. Incredibly enough there exists even today an hysterical Government approved move form of Anti-Semitism in Poland directed against the remaining three thousand Jews, from a population of many millions thirty five short years ago.

I can sympathize with any group searching for a cultural identity. There are no doubt countless decent and very humane Polish people. And I applaud the aims of this movement. But if this is done at the expense of a massive distortion of history then no further credit can be allowed to this movement.

Zamir Nestelbaum

Pathway dangerous

To the Editor:

As a resident of the Sylvan Area, I feel it is about time that something is done about the path leading from Eastman Lane to Thatcher Way. It is ridiculous. Every day, the 1400 residents of the Sylvan Area use this path to travel to the Worcester Dining Commons and their classes in the main part of the campus. Every day, these same people risk their necks walking down a five foot embankment which has nothing but three concrete bricks to form a stairway.

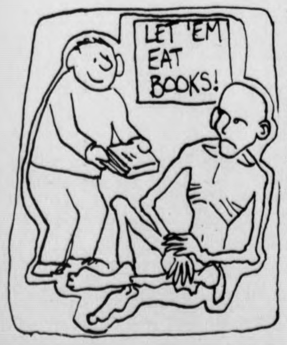
Everytime it rains, the path and embankment turn into a quagmire, with about three inches of slippery mud. If you have nothing better to do, it's a lot of fun watching people slip and practically break their necks trying to negotiate a safe path through the slime.

Sylvan Area residents pay the highest dorm fees on campus, yet don't even have a decent route to class. It would not be such a great expense to the University to build a small stairway at the foot of the path. It has been done successfully behind the library. Why can't it be done, on a smaller scale, on this unnecessarily dangerous path?

In the interest of safety, and to spare any future embarrassment to those who will continue to fall, I ask the University to look into this matter.

Bill Molloy

No help to hungry



LET 'EM EAT BOOKS!

To the Editor:

Referring to the letter of Bill Drummond (Dec. 3).

I have read your letter several times and I do hear what you are saying, but I'm afraid that by the time you get to the famine areas with your "career of International Agriculture" that most of the people there will be dead! These people are dying right now. Perhaps you could tack this cartoon on your door alongside your letter so you won't be made uncomfortable by people collecting.

Jim Carson

Blacktop fetish

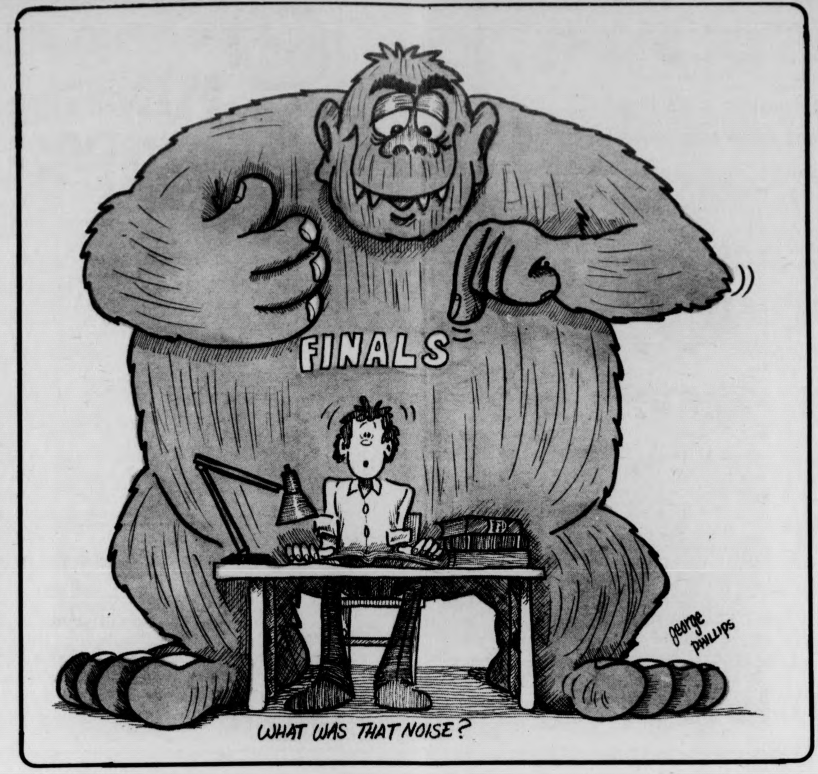
To the Editor:

I love blacktop. The Amherst area has been in the past sadly deficient in this one area. From the Top of the Campus you could look in any direction and with the beautiful exception of Zayre's, nothing but thin strips of beautiful black. A tragic sight, considering our times. We are one of the most advanced nations in the world and are living in one of the most civilized areas in the nation and what do we have to show for it...GREEN! What's worse, is that in the winter it is white. I'm sorry, enough of my ravings, I have not written to praise Caesar, but to bury Caesar. Pavement lovers rejoice the tide is turning!

As of last year, we cleared a magnificent victory, the Mall. It's very name a tribute to the blacktop that covered the green. Up to this point, we couldn't even widen a few of the blacktopped areas we had [Rt. 9] never mind our innovative plans for a black swatch through the unending greenness of Hadley. Now we have some 20 odd acres of pure blacktop. Why, you would hardly guess there was so much green behind it [because you can't see it!]. Bonus Time: with the increased traffic flow on Rt. 9, there is an excellent chance they are going to widen Rt. 9. Now, who could have guessed this would happen [Hee Hee]. Unfortunately, this story isn't all sunshine and asphalt. The Mall has since its first days been on the edge of financial trouble [some say disaster] and if they were to experience a lag in sales by a sizeable portion of their market [the UMass people] not shopping there, then the Mall could be a financial disaster. Bad in itself it probably would curb attempts to build another one behind the Steak Out adjacent to Bell's Pizza.

So remember, pavement people, get out there and spend every possible cent at the Mall, boycott all those little specialty shops in Amherst [they're so inconspicuous, it will be easy if you try], and while you're down at the Mall, if you see any of those little green blemishes breaking through the macadam, tear them out. Remember: green belongs only to those who like it, but blacktop belongs to everyone.

Charles D. Caron



Getting arrested; you could be next

By BOB FOSTER

Arrest. It's a surprising shock that can quickly suck you from the womb of your dormitory or apartment into the cold, harsh reality of the world outside of the University. It's a three dollar scarf stolen from a local clothier. But, stolen is not quite the proper description. The marvel of the modern world, the electronic screen, bagged you as you left the store. How could you have known that the price tag is actually a key to an electronic sensor? Merely by passing the tag through the field blanketing the doorway, one captures oneself. How ingenious! Yet, how unfortunate for those caught.

Arrest is the drunken attempt to add a few decorations to your barren room walls. But little did you realize that someone was watching as you attempted to tear down those tow-zone signs. How unfortunate that you were caught.

Arrest is a dozen or more other mistakes that any of us might happen to make on any given day. The "borrowed" lounge furniture, the forged inspection sticker, the drunken brawl--they're all potential arrests. But, only suckers are caught, right? Only the ignorant who can't run or talk fast enough are nailed, right? Not so!

Each day, a few Joe or Susie Averages are brought to court for any of a multitude of crimes. They're not hardened criminals, recidivists who are addicted to prison life. No, they're just like you, and you, and you, and me. They had too much to drink or made a sad error in judgment. They didn't calculate the odds accurately. They didn't expect the unexpected. And so, they got caught. Not because the police were out to get them as an individual; but only because policemen are paid to do a job.

If such an error of judgment allows you to become another statistic on the docket list of the local court, what do you do? As a University student, who can you turn to? When the penalties could possibly amount to five years in the state prison as they can for forging or altering an inspection sticker, are your friends worthy and sufficient legal advisors? Or, as common sense seems to indicate, should you search for more qualified advice? And, what about the parking ticket you wish to appeal? How do you go about appealing? What if the University Parking Appeals Board denies your appeal?

These are the questions that face a number of students each year. Most, unfortunately, do not know where to turn. Most tend to plead guilty and let the system grind on.

What was once true is not necessarily eternally true. There are people currently involved in an administrative battle to bring the power to handle criminal cases to the University Legal Services Office. If such power was obtained, there would no longer be the scared, unadvised student defendant in court.

What can you do about it? The answer is a political cliche, yet remarkably effective. Write your representative! Hassle your student senator. Torment your Area Government. Who knows? Someday, it may be YOU trying to decide whether to plead guilty (and sell your soul to the priest of justice) or plead not guilty and battle, if necessary, to the Supreme Court.

Bob Foster is a Collegian Commentator.

opinion

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

Reid Fishman

Dog poisoning: Was it deliberate?

It was morning and Skip went out for one of his frequent jaunts around the neighborhood. It wasn't too unusual for Skip to be running in and out all day. After all, there's not much else for an Irish setter to do. Besides, he really enjoyed traipsing around Fearing Street and checking out all the other dogs to see what they were up to.

But when running up to John that morning, Skip didn't seem at all comfortable. All his muscles had tightened up and he was panting for no apparent reason. He was extraordinarily high strung, and it seemed that every movement became harder and harder. John noticed the settler's discomfort, but this seriousness of Skip's condition didn't become evident until the dog fell trying to make it up the back stairs.

It only took Susan a moment to realize that her loving companion was seriously ill and had to be taken to a veterinarian immediately. John picked Skip up and brought him to the car and the three made an emergency visit to the Hampshire Veterinary Hospital. Skip died that morning.

Dr. Katz, who examined the dog, immediately recognized the symptoms of poisoning - a poison that was anti-coagulant in nature, causing bleeding and convulsions as could be the case with strychnine.

On November 19, Dr. Katz reported to the Amherst Police that three such poisonings had been treated by his clinic during that week and that all three had occurred around the Fearing Street, Nutting Ave. area. He reported that all the symptoms had been similar and that there was a good possibility that the dogs had been poisoned intentionally.

The police have received no such reports since then, and the mystery still remains whether or not the dogs were poisoned, or just happened to pick up the poison somewhere on the ground. In either case, dogowners living around that area, or even in Southwest, should realize the potential danger and be able to recognize any obvious nervous changes their dogs might experience. The poison acts quickly and some of the apparent symptoms are jumpiness, fidgeting, labored breathing, weakness and paleness. Any dog exhibiting these symptoms should be taken immediately to a veterinarian for examination.

Living in Amherst, we sometimes think that we've completely discarded the dangers of the big city. We think of ourselves as "the privileged few" who get to romp and play in "Happy Valley". But looking closer at all that surrounds us, we find that we're not so immune to depression, to pollution and water shortage, to housing and transportation problems, and to rape and murder. We find it necessary to begin taking the precautions that must be taken in a big city. If we are to experience the benefits that are available to us, then we also must guard against the dangers.

One can only offer his-her condolences to those whose dogs suffered from poisoning. It's unfortunate that any animal should die in such fashion and that the loss of such animals should have to cause so much grief to a lonely few.

Reid Fishman is a Collegian Columnist

The importance of policy

By DUDLEY C. PHILLIPS IV

The current issues between the administration and students about compulsory dorm living and an on-campus 'living-learning experience', illustrate how student requests are handled generally. The importance of a policy which pretended to be responsive to the idealogical and physical environment needs of students under an educational philosophy, is now exposed as purely a financial-economic consideration on the part of the administration. The 'new' view of issues is involved with how to pay for the dorms, not the dorm as a constructive 'living-learning experience'.

The liberties the university takes with the 'policies we live by' shows policies to be at the convenience of the administration. When it becomes inconvenient for the administration to 'uphold a policy', they change it. When there was no more justification for dorm living as a constructive experience, they merely made the issue a financial condition. It is an economic justification for compulsory dorm life, administration's 'new' policy.

The university does not focus on the quality of dorm living or provide a way for students to govern themselves and create a true practice of 'residential colleges'. In many instances the university has not cared for the physical needs of building maintenance. Monies have been approved and allocated for student interest improvements in dormitory life. The money got stuck in administrative inroads and interests.

As the contradictions between policy and practice eroded the justification of 'the dormitory as a living-learning experience', the administration chose to admit its irresponsibility in fulfilling this policy. But the university is not required to do anything about problems it sees. The compulsory nature of the dorm living was converted to a financial consideration, 'we have to pay for it'. Who is this 'we'?

The financial question is a real problem, but it is the administration's problem. The planning, hiring, financing, promoting, estimating and representing to the legislature, etc., are administrative responsibilities. Over a rapid growth period in the last nine years, the building of dormitories by bond sales has been based on growth plans and the administrative prerogatives in estimating needs and accommodations. To grow and pay for growth has been the ambition. Policies of 'living-learning experience' and the quality of the physical environment are attempts to 'cover their tracks', an over-extension.

The discussions about paying for the dorms, 'legal considerations' (Bromery), and administrative-governmental hassles, are avoidances of speaking to the 'living-learning' questions of dorm life. The students who rapp about the enormous cost of dorms and the campus-wide 'we' who must pay for them, are insensitive to the actual dorm conditions and the number of people they affect, the tangible problem. The administration is happy to talk finances; they can share their problem.

The university has created a local 'population explosion' where the number of students accepted is far in advance of available housing. The surrounding towns have 'speculative housing' and predatory rents. The rent charges are calculated on the basis that students will double-up and cram lodgings. The justice institutions between landlord and student are inefficient and unorganized. Everything is not solved by changing the compulsory nature of dorm living.

In one sense, the pros and cons of the dormitory issue are irrelevant. The solution would assume that there are living quarters in range of the university. The 'idealogical' direction would be to take the 'living-learning experience' into the realm of student interest and self-governing. At that point, each residential college could be its own director in a negotiation relationship to the administration rather than slave. Students would reclaim the dorms they are paying for.

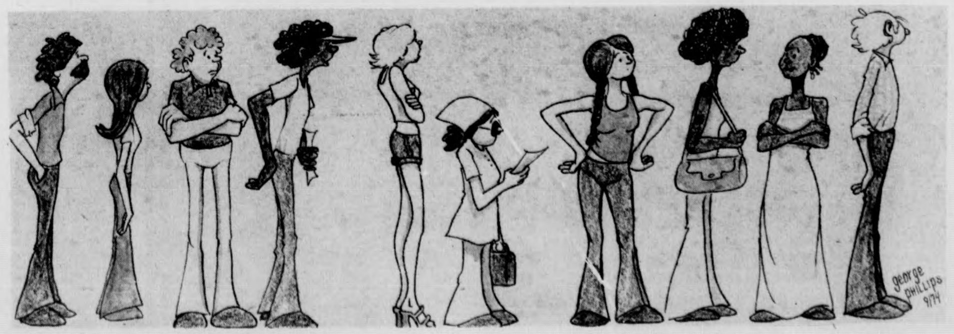
The dorm issues are met by the same academic rhetoric and abstractions we are used to. When an admission of problems and delinquent solutions are inconvenient to the administration, they sweep aside the policies and redefine the issues. This is manipulation, but it also exposes the 'policy fraud'.

The coercive effect on a student is that if he withdraws from a dorm life, he has broken a rule, he ceases to be registered, and his possibility for a degree is postponed. By controlling the curriculum and academic process, registration, and degree rules, policy making and financing, the administration is into your life. By being able to define 'a degree' in this way, a dispute over any particular aspect of this gigantic definition is reflective upon the 'bestowal of the degree'. The administration is able to control this by holding reins over what education is, by definition.

The dormitory issues are illustrative of 'policy fraud' and the inability to do things about student problems, based on overt expression of student need.

The present attempt is to get the entire student body to pay for dorms by increased fees in the event the compulsory stipulation is 'lifted'. We will not pay for the administration's poor planning and ambitious growth estimations. Neither will we speak of the justifying of a policy facade of 'living-learning experience' policies. To negotiate the self-government and proper funding, may reclaim the control dorm dwellers have over their lives and education.

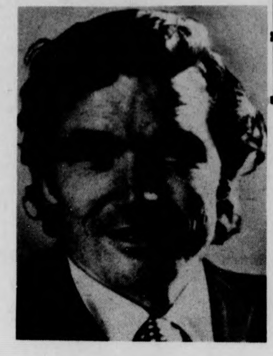
Dudley C. Phillips IV is a Collegian Commentator.



Don't stand around while the racists take over Boston. Go demonstrate there December 14. Read details next week.

Globe D.C. bureau journalists face panel of UMass questioners

Thomas Oliphant



David Nyhan

"The University Meets the Press" will be presented Monday, Dec. 9, at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst with members of "The Boston Globe's" Washington Bureau.

A panel of UMass journalists and political scientists will query the Washington correspondents about national and international matters, including the Presidency. The event will be at 8 p.m. in Thompson 106 and will be broadcast live over public radio station WFCR (88.5 FM), and the audience in Thompson will have a chance to ask questions of the panelists.

The session is the last of a six-lecture series entitled "The Presidential Crisis: View from the Press" presented by the "Globe" in conjunction with the University of Massachusetts-Amherst journalistic studies program and with the cooperation of the Five Colleges (Amherst, Smith, Hampshire, and Mount Holyoke Colleges, and UMass.)

Prof. Howard Ziff, UMass director of journalistic studies, will moderate. UMass panelists will be Asst. Prof. of Journalism Ralph W. Whitehead, Jr.; Assoc. Prof. of Political Science Jerome M. Mileur; and Bill Densmore, managing editor of "The Massachusetts Daily Collegian," the UMass student newspaper.

Members of the "Globe's" Washington Bureau include: Robert Healy, Martin Nolan, Sal Micciche, David Nyhan, Stephen Wermiel, Richard H. Stewart, and Thomas Oliphant.

Robert Healy is also executive editor and political editor, commuting regularly from Boston to Washington. He has covered Presidential terms since Eisenhower. Martin Nolan has been Washington Bureau chief and a syndicated columnist since 1971.

Sal Micciche, a lawyer who covers the Supreme Couut, has been writing about the Constitutional aspects of impeachment. David Nyhan, who became the "Globe's" labor writer in 1973 and joined the Washington Bureau in January, has covered Congress, the House Judiciary Committee, and Watergate.

Stephen Wermiel followed the Walpole State Prison controversy and the struggle for prison reform in the State, in 1973, and then began covering members of New England Congressional delegations. Richard H. Stewart, the "Globe's" national editor, responsible for all wire dispatches relayed to the paper, in 1968 covered the Presidential Campaign, and in 1972 was press secretary for Sen. Edmund Muskie. Thomas Oliphant, assistant metropolitan editor, in 1973 accompanied a group parachuting supplies to Indians occupying Wounded Knee and later indicted on three Riot Act charges which were dismissed.

CARLO of Naples State Street, Northampton
54th Member of the World Famous Restaurant International
B.
Y.
O.
B.
Our menu consists of 62 items (Italian Food only) and an average spending of $2.25
Your Host, Carlo, is a special student at UMass

Smith College Rec. Council
presents:
EDDIE KENDRIX
in Concert at John M. Greene Aud.
Friday
Dec. 6
8 p.m.
General Admission
$3.50 in advance
$4.00 at door with I.D.
Outlet: Campus Travel Center week of Concert.

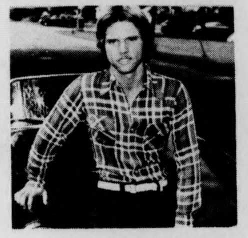
WMUA

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6
8:30 a.m. — HIGH TIDES — The moon will enter Libra Saturday evening — excellent for social contacts.
6:15 p.m. — SPORTS TALK — Russ Small and guests discuss the womens' sports scene at UMass.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 7
7:20 p.m. — MINUTEMAN BASKETBALL — The Minutemen play host to the Rhode Island Rams Saturday night for their Yankee Conference opener. Join Larry Convoy and Russ Small as they call all the action. Game time is 7:30.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 8
10:00 a.m. — CLASSICS — Join host Bob Charette for classical music until 2:00 p.m.
6:00 p.m. — SUNDAY NEWS COLLECTIVE — WMUA's alternative news show — reporting on people's struggles for self-determination.
+Follow MUA's contest — "THE LAUGH BAG" — listen for the clues. Lots of prizes and fun.

91.1 FM



EMPORIUM INDIA
at the Carriage Shops
Now Thru Christmas
MEN'S MUSLIN SHIRTS
only $10.00
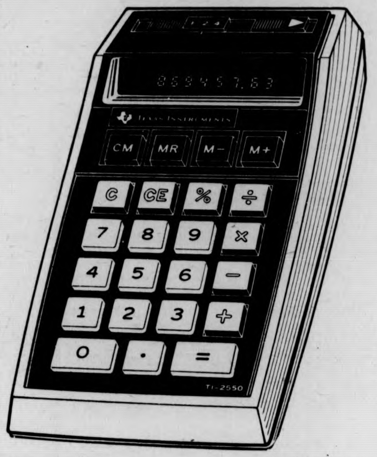
WOMEN'S SHIRTS Reduced to
$6.00 and $8.00
A Buy You Can't Afford To Miss.
Open 10-6 Daily

Television Tonight

6:00 EYEWIRNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
TWELVE O'CLOCK HIGH (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24) (57)
PETTICOAT JUNCTION "The Tenant." (27)
NIGHTLY NEWSREEL (30)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
BONANZA (40)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC EVENING NEWS (22) (30)
ZOOM! (24) (57)
MOVIE "The Final War." (27)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES Bob Barker, host (8)
DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "October Eve." (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
AVIATION WEATHER (24) (57)
TO TELL THE TRUTH Garry Moore, host (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
UNTOUCHABLES (56)
7:30 CHANNEL THREE SPECIAL: "A Christmas Story." (3)
LET'S MAKE A DEAL Monty Hall, host (8) (22)
THE PORTER WAGONER SHOW (18)
BLACK PERSPECTIVE ON THE NEWS (24)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES Peter Marshall, host (30)
THE ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW (38)
CHRISTMAS IS (40)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 PLANET OF THE APES "Up Above The World So High." (3)
YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS (8) (40)
BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE (18)
SANFORD AND SON "The Merger." (22) (30)
WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW (24) (57)
BEVERLY HILLBILLIES "The Social Climbers." (38)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
8:30 THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY (8) (40)
CHICO AND THE MAN (22) (30)
WALL STREET WEEK (24) (57)
GREEN ACRES "What There's A Will." (38)
DINAH! (56)
9:00 MOVIE "The Carey Treatment." (3)
MOVIE "Three For the Show." (18)
THE ROCKFORD FILES (22) (30)
THE LIFE OF LEONARDO DA VINCI (24)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE "Rose's Pidgeon." (57)
9:30 PHIL SILVERS AS SERGEANT BILKO "The Big Scandal." (27)
DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
10:00 KOLCHAK - THE NIGHT STALKER (8) (40)
BILLY GRAHAM 25TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION (22)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE "Rose's Pidgeon." (24)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
POLICE WOMAN (30)
SOUL TRAIN (38)
HOLLYWOOD'S GOLDEN YEARS "Bullets Or Ballots." (56)
10:30 NEW DIRECTIONS (18)
IN SESSION ROCK CONCERT (27)
11:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (8) (18) (22) (27) (30) (40)
CAPTIONED ABC NEWS (57)
11:30 MOVIE "Voyage to the Bottom Of the Sea." (3)
WIDE WORLD IN CONCERT (8) (40)
THE TONIGHT SHOW STARRING JOHNNY CARSON (22) (30)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN "The Champion." (27)

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC!
Lots Of Room To Boogie
THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
drinks ... eats ... music ...
hurray!!!
BEER & BOOGIE
Everybody Welcome!

"WED. - SUN."
"BEBEPINO!" (Bouncing Blues)
Rt. 202, New Salem at Truman's Flea Market, only 12 miles from Whitmore!
Plenty of Room to Boogie!
TUES. — No Cover
WED.-SUN., $1.00
Sunday Beer — 25c — 9 to 1:00
Phone (617) — Just Over Line — 544-6028



If you need to remember numbers, commit them to memory . . .
Texas Instruments electronic calculator with memory
TI-2550
- full memory system
- percent key
- rechargeable
- AC adapter/charger included
- constant
- decimal selection 2 • 4 • or • full-float
- 1 year warranty
now available at the
UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Open Wed.

Summer program seeks staff

Continuing Education is assembling an academically comprehensive program to take place from 2 June to 20 June, 1975. It will be called Summer I. We can include any presently approved undergraduate or graduate course from 1 to 3 credits which can be adopted to a three week or shorter schedule. In addition, we can give credit or non-credit courses especially designed and approved for this program.

Qualified graduate students, faculty, and staff are eligible to teach in Summer I. Instructors receive $333.00 per credit to teach courses with a paid enrollment of 17 or more students: That is, to a normal maximum of $1,000.00 to teach a three credit course (45 contact hours) in three weeks.

If you are interested in offering a course during Summer I or know someone who would be, I can be contacted at Continuing Education, 545-3410 or 545-3411. I would be pleased to talk with anyone who wants information about course design, teaching methods, and the paperwork involved in offering a course through Continuing Education. Contact John Muller.

Vaughn Bode presents free cartoon concert

Vaughn Bode, famous underground cartoonist, creator of Cheech Wizard in the National Lampoon and Deadbone Erotica in Cavalier is presenting his Cartoon Concert, free, Saturday, Dec. 7th, at Johnson Chapel at Amherst College. All UMass students are cordially invited.

Bode wowed a capacity crowd here at the University two months ago with his Concert. He presents slides of his best and funniest comic, and provides voices, characterization and background himself. The show will be at 7:30 p.m.

Bode has presented his show at dozens of University campuses across the U.S., and is generally believed to be one of the most rockingly funny and generally irreverent lecturers in the world. He presents outrageously erotic adventures in a world all his own.

For those who missed Bode's last performance, and for those who want to catch it again, this hour-long show is the perfect study-break, date, or way to maintain sanity during final exams. Don't miss it.

1975 KAWASAKIS ARE HERE!
SAVINGS NOW ON ALL 74's IN STOCK
VALLEY MOTORSPORTS INC.
348 KING ST., NORTHAMPTON 584-7303

SALE
Landlubber
Beautiful clothes.
Low Rise Corduroy Flares reg. $13
Corduroy Rivets (Straight Leg) reg. $13
Now On Sale for $6.99
FIRST LINE MERCHANDISE!
- BANKAMERICARD
- MASTERCHARGE
This sale ends Dec. 7, 1974
BEAU Britches
Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

Visiting artists in residence help prepare for 'Henry IV'

Two visiting artists are currently in residence at Amherst College's Kirby Memorial Theater--sewing costumes and directing the construction of the set for the Amherst Masquers' upcoming production of Luigi Pirandello's "Henry IV." The Nobel Prize winner's play will be directed by Visiting Professor of Dramatic Arts Helene Keyssar Franke. The show will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 13, 14, 15.

New York-based designer Paul Steinberg has designed both the set and the costumes for the production. Steinberg graduated from the Pratt Insitute in New York and went on to study theater design at the Central School of Art in London. He designed at the Crucible Theater in Sheffield, England on a grant from the British Arts Council and spent a year as designer at 'Habimah," the Israeli National Theater at Tel Aviv University. In addition, he has been company designer for the Augusta, Georgia Opera Company and has designed productions for the Washington Opera Society. He will return to "Habimah" next fall.

A designer by profession, Cheryll Lovett is in residence as costumer for the Amherst production of "Henry IV." Her responsibilities include the construction of the costumes Steinberg has designed. She received a Master's degree in production design at Ohio University and has studied at the Fashion Insitute of Technology in New York. She has been a professor of design at Kansas State Teacher's College, and has worked at the Mummer's Theater in Oklahoma City, the Front Street Theater in Memphis, Tenn., the Juliard School of Drama in New York and with famous designer Joe Papp with the New York Shakespeare Festival. She last designed three shows, currently on tour, for the National Shakespeare Company.

Steinberg's idea behind his set for "Henry IV" is to make some kind of statement about the play, rather than only give it a setting. He has abstracted the essence of Romanesque architecture without duplicating it. "The main structural element of the period was the arch," he explains, "and a reflecting arch dominates this set." The reflecting element of the huge arch coincides with the prevailing context of Pirandello's script--the contrast between illusion and reality, what seems real and what actually is.

Steinberg's costumes are not authentic reproductions, but overlay a Victorian theatrical image. The 11th century begins as a pageant in Pirandello's script, and the whimsy element in the costumes is intentional. Ms. Lovett finds his designs interesting, and building 11 costumes from scratch a "workable number."

Both artists like the show; it is one of their favorites. They have found the Kirby Theater well-equipped and cooperative, and working with Prof. Keyssar-Franke rewarding.

Pre-Christmas Sale
25% off
Non prescription sunglasses and sunsensor lenses.

A perfect gift for a relative or friend
Amherst Optical Shoppe
195 NORTH PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST, MASS.

SHL — GWC
presents
a
GAY HOLIDAY DANCE
Farley Lodge
Friday, Dec. 6
9 p.m.-1 a.m.
75c — BYOB

The Big Y
LIQUOR SUPERMARKET
NORTHAMPTON
ROUTE 5 NORTH KING ST. BIG Y SHOPPING CENTER
SPRINGFIELD
16 ACRES BRECKWOOD BLVD. WILBRAHAM RD.
BIG Y SHOPPING CENTER — MEMORIAL DRIVE, FAIRVIEW

TUBORG BEER 24 12-OZ. CANS 5.49
BUDWEISER BEER 24 12-OZ. N. R. BOTTLES 5.59
CANADIAN RARE WHISKEY 80 PROOF • HALF GALLON 8.88
GRAVES DELUXE WHISKEY 86 PROOF • HALF GALLON 8.88
SMIRNOFF VODKA 80 PROOF • HALF GALLON 9.99
SEAGRAM'S 7 CROWN WHISKEY 86 PROOF • HALF GALLON 10.29
JIM BEAM BOURBON 80 PROOF • HALF GALLON 9.99
FOUR ROSES WHISKEY 86 PROOF • HALF GALLON 9.99
PAUL MASSON BRANDY 80 PROOF • HALF GALLON 9.99
BACARDI RUM 80 PROOF • HALF GALLON 10.29

COMING
TECH HI-FI
PRESENTS
A Pioneer Stereo Show

The Pioneer Stereo Company is coming to Hamden Dining Commons in Southwest Saturday, December 7 from 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. They will have all the equipment needed to test your stereo components free of charge. Free refreshments will be served. See you Saturday.

tech hifi
Quality Components at the Right Price
259 Triangle St. Amherst 549-2610
186 Main St. Northampton 586-2552

Program Council Music Committee
presents
JAIME
BROCKETT
IN CONCERT

Friday, Dec. 6 at 9:00 p.m. S.U.B.
Tickets $1.00 available at the door.

UMass receives national grant

U.S. Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., and Sen. Edward W. Brooke announced that the National Endowment for the Humanities has awarded a $9,612 grant to UMass.

The grant will support the production of a film and accompanying educational materials which will relate 19th century Shaker society to the 20th century art of Constance Rourke, Charles Sheeler, and Aaron Copland.

Sooner or later you'll come to
BEAU Britches

notes & quotes

Joint effort on Sunday presents concert of wind music

Members of the University Wind Ensemble will present a first performance of Philip Bezanson's Petite Suite for Wind Septet on their joint concert with the University Symphony Band December 8. The Bezanson is comprised of four short movements: Overture, Night Song, Minuet, and Finale.

The Wind Ensemble program will include the Symphony in B flat, by Paul Hindemith; Hammersmith--Prelude and Scherzo, opus 52, by Gustav Holst; and Rossini's overture to the comic opera, The Italian in Algiers. William Bellows, a graduate student in the Music Department, will conduct the French National Defile March.

The Symphony Band will play Pageant, opus 59, by Vincent Persichetti; a transcription of the Bach Prelude and Fugue in D Minor for organ; and Two Revolutionary Marches, by Bedrich Smetana. Tony DiBartolomeo, a senior in the Music Department, will conduct the band's performance of the Suite Francaise, by Darius Milhaud.

Church fair to support ABC program

Grace Episcopal Church, Amherst, will hold its St. Nicholas Fair on Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the parish hall, 16 Spring Street. Proceeds from the Fair will go to the Amherst ABC program.

The Fair will feature holiday cooking and homemade foods, a handwork boutique, a craft table, white elephants (old and new), Christmas greens, a mitten tree, foreign gifts and a promise tree. The children will have their own Christmas shopping center and a grab bag. Luncheon will be served and babysitting is provided.

Silent auctions will be held on several handsome items from the handwork boutique, including a mohair stole, and on a Troll House from the craft table. The lucky purchaser will be announced at the close of the Fair.

Mrs. Eleanor Darling and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald French are co-chairmen of the St. Nicholas Fair.

The New Record Shop
197 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-5394

THE FINEST CHRISTMAS CARDS

American Greetings
The Fresh Idea Company
UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
open Wed. nite til 8

WE WANT

GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE

YOU!
To Work For US.
If you are eligible for work/study and have clerical or research skills — come on over to Room 919 in the Campus Center or Phone 5-0970.
GRADUATE STUDENTS URGED TO APPLY

For $10,000 they break your arms. For $20,000 they break your legs. Axel Freed owes $44,000
Held Over! 3rd Week
The Gambler
7 & 9 James Caan The Gambler R RESTRICTED
Paul Sorvino Lauren Hutton
Irwin Winkler Robert Chartoff
Karel Reisz Jerry Fielding
Russ Meyer says:
"In my films, you know where you're at in fifteen seconds... the first 15 seconds!"
"The Immoral Mr. Teas"
"Girls of the Wild Wild West"
Starts at 7:00
NOW SHOWING AT CONVENIENTLY LOCATED
CAMPUS Cinemas
DOLLAR NIGHTS MON & TUES ALL SEATS $1
ALAN BATES in
KING OF HEARTS
7 & 9
HELD OVER!

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
—NOW— 7:00 & 9:00
For $10,000 they break your arms.
For $20,000 they break your legs.
Axel Freed owes $44,000
The Gambler
R James Caan
Mon.-Tues. — Dollar Night

PAUL NEWMAN & ROBERT REDFORD
in Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid with Katherine Ross
TONIGHT
at 7-9-11
in Mahar

Mackimmie house offers program over intersession on awareness

By BILL PARENT
Staff Reporter

Mackimmie Humanity House in Southwest is presenting another Intersession program this year from January 14-28. The courses will deal in awareness along the lines of Racism, Sexism, Third World Community, Feminism and Political Oppression for one and two credits.

Students will be living in Mackimmie for the duration of the program and the courses will also be meeting there.

The program is open to the entire University and registration will be held next Wednesday, December 10 from noon until 10 p.m. in the Lobby of Mackimmie. There will be a registration fee of $5.

Courses being offered tentatively include the Dynamics of White Racism, Third World People and the Law, Women and Madness, Women in Society, Cuba and the Revolution, Cuba Since the Revolution, Black Theater, Socialism, Marxism, Man in Society and others to be announced.

Nan Cook, one of the coordinators of the program said that "The courses offered present a rare chance for people to learn about themselves in modern society in relating to other people."

There will be a $10 course fee which will also cover social events and movies to be presented during the two week period.

CUETEP presents: Bracey

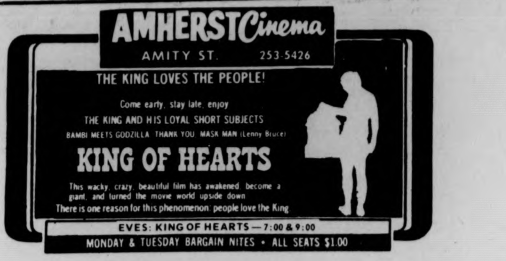
The Center For Urban Education Teacher Education Program will present John Bracey, Chairman of the Afro-American Studies Department at UMass, as the third resource speaker in its film and Colloquium series on Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. in the Marks Meadow Auditorium, School of Education.

Dr. Bracey who has had the task of developing the young Afro-American Studies Department here is a former Professor of history at Northern Illinois University and the University of Rochester. Nationally known for his contributions to the study of the "black experience", Bracey has reviewed and written numerous publications in this area as well. He has also been a consultant to several publishers on books, manuscripts and other educational resources in the field of Afro-American history.

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
99c Lunch, 11:30-3
Mon., Tues., Thurs., Fri.
62 Main St., Amherst
Belchertown Bus Stop

Film Times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC —
The Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
AMHERST CINEMA —
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
CAMPUS CINEMA —
Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
Mr. Teas; Girls of West - 7:00
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
MT. FARMS 4 —
Gone With the Wind — 8:00
Groove Tube — 4:45-6:15-7:45-10:00
Juggernaut — 5:00-7:15-9:30
Trial of Billy Jack — 4:00-7:00-9:00
SHOWCASE —
Airport-1975 — 7:30-9:30
Klansmen — 7:30-9:40
Longest Yard — 7:30-
Lt. Robin Crusoe — 5:20-7:30-9:40
Trial of Billy Jack — 7:00-10:30
Taking of Pelham — 6:00-10:15



AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST. 253-5426
THE KING LOVES THE PEOPLE!
Come early, stay late, enjoy
THE KING AND HIS LOYAL SHORT SUBJECTS
BAMBI MEETS GODZILLA THANK YOU, MASK MAN (Lenny Bruce)
KING OF HEARTS
This wacky, crazy, beautiful film has awakened, become a giant, and turned the movie world upside down
There is one reason for this phenomenon: people love the King
EVES: KING OF HEARTS — 7:00 & 9:00
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES • ALL SEATS $1.00

ADULTS ONLY!
YOU HAVEN'T SEEN ANYTHING UNTIL YOU SEE...
THE MAIDS ARE COMING
"They loved their master . . .
Friday Late Show
X RATED Shown at 11:30
AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST., AMHERST
253-5426

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR 584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS.
1974's MOST HILARIOUS WILDEST MOVIE IS HERE!
THE GROOVE TUBE
"May be the funniest movie of the year. Rush to see it!" —Minneapolis Tribune
"A smashing, triumphant satire." —Seattle Post Intelligencer
"Riotously, excruciatingly funny." —Milwaukee Sentinel
"Consistently hilarious and brilliant." —Baltimore Daily Record
"Insanely funny, outrageous and irreverent." —Bruce Williamson—PLAYBOY MAGAZINE
A Ken Shapiro Film THE GROOVE TUBE
R Color
Held Over! 5th Week
1 Fri. — 4:45-6:15-7:45-10:00
Twi-Lite Hr. — $1.25 — 4:15-4:45 Only
2 DAVID O. SELZNICK'S PRODUCTION OF MARGARET MITCHELL'S "GONE WITH THE WIND"
G One Show Only at 8:00
No. Twi-Lite Hr.
3 RICHARD HARRIS · OMAR SHARIF in "JUGGERNAUT"
THE GREATEST SEA ADVENTURE IN HISTORY HAS JUST BEGUN!
PG Fri. — 5:00-7:15-9:30
Twi-Lite Hr. — $1.25 — 4:30-5:00 Only
4 The Trial of Billy Jack
PG Fri. — 4:00-7:00-9:00
No Twi-Lite or Discounts
KID SHOW — SAT. & SUN.

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1·2·3·4·5·6
ROUTE 5 RIVERDALE RD. WEST SPFLD. GIFT CERTIFICATES ALWAYS AVAILABLE
ACRES OF FREE LIGHTED PARKING 24 HR. TEL. 733-5131 EXCLUSIVE, RECLINING, ROCKING CHAIR LOUNGES
CHARGE YOUR TICKETS ON MASTER CHARGE
An all NEW film inspired by the novel, "AIRPORT" by Arthur Hailey.
AIRPORT 1975
CHARLTON HESTON KAREN BLACK GEORGE KENNEDY GLORIA SWANSON PG
7:30-9:30
WELCOME TO SCENIC ATOKA COUNTY
Pop. 10,000. Cross burnings. Rape. Arson. Murder. R
It's a great place to live ...if THEY let you.
A Paramount Release
A WILLIAM ALEXANDER-BILL SHIFFRIN PRODUCTION
LEE MARVIN RICHARD BURTON
A TERENCE YOUNG FILM
"THE KLANSMAN"
7:30-9:40
IT'S SURVIVAL OF THE FIERCEST. AND THE FUNNIEST.
PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS AN ALBERT S. RUDDY PRODUCTION STARRING BURT REYNOLDS
"THE LONGEST YARD"
R RESTRICTED Under 18 requires accompanying Parent or Adult Guardian
7:30-9:45
5:20-7:30 9:40
WALT DISNEY PRESENTS
LT. ROBIN CRUSOE, U.S.N.
STARRING DICK VAN DYKE NANCY KWAN
TECHNICOLOR G
Re-released by BUENA VISTA Distribution Co., Inc. © Walt Disney Productions
7:00-10:00
The Trial of Billy Jack PG
SEE AD ELSEWHERE ON THEATRE PAGE
"One of the most exciting pictures of the year." —WCBS Radio
"THE TAKING OF PELHAM ONE TWO THREE"
6:00-10:15
R "THE TAKING OF PELHAM ONE TWO THREE"
WALTER MATTHAU · ROBERT SHAW · MARTIN BALSAM
COMING FOR CHRISTMAS
"GODFATHER II" AL PACINO DEC.18
"TOWERING INFERNO" PAUL NEWMAN DEC.20
007 "MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN" DEC.18
EARTHQUAKE - Charlton Heston DEC.20
FREEBIE & THE BEAN james caan DEC 25
THE LITTLE PRINCE DEC 25

Chanukah celebration here Sunday

Freedom is one of the central ideas which Jews affirm on their Chanukah holiday which begins on Sunday evening, December 8. It is at this time of year more than 2000 years ago that the Jewish people in the land of Palestine struggled for and gained religious freedom. Since that time Jews have commemorated that struggle by lighting the menorah, a nine point candelabra, during the eight days of the chanukah celebration.

The five college Jewish Community is therefore sponsoring an area wide Chanukah celebration in support of Israel. This even will again affirm the central ideas of religious and political freedom.

This celebration, which will include spirited singing and dancing, short talks by Prof. Haim Gunner and Sholom Eliezer and a candle lighting ceremony will take place on Sunday, Dec. 8, at 4:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall on the UMass campus. All are invited to celebrate Chanukah and support Israel at that time. For further information call Saul Perlmutter at 545-2526.

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay

To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday - Friday.

The deadline is 3:45, two days before the day your ad is to appear.

The rates are:
Daily — $.30 per line*
Weekly — $.25 per line*
Monthly — $.20 per line*
*Two lines on form approximate one line.

FOR SALE

Used guitars bought and sold. The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops, 549-1728.

Coats: Midi suede coat; midi dungaree coat; rabbit fur jacket and navy blue leather jacket. Call Margie 546-7649.

Skiis, Spalding 205 Siderals, regularly $170, will sell for $45. Call John 1-863-9426. Keep calling.

Stuffed animals, one-half price. $3-$11. Up to 3 ft. Seeing is believing. Keep you warm at night. Good for the erotic minded. Call 584-4731.

Revox A77 reel to reel tape deck $450; TEAC AN180 Dolby $225; 20HM B plus spkr. $250 per pair. Call 256-6793. Ask for Lester.

Live Xmas trees, choose and tag at our Tree Farm, any size, $7.77. L. Blizniak, 133 Bay Rd., Hadley. Open eves. also.

Applications being accepted: R.N. — 3 p.m.-11 p.m., 4 evs. per wk.; LPN, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 4 days per wk; Nurse aides, part and full time, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Apply in person, Amherst Nursing Home, 150 University Dr. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Delmonico Refrig., 5 cu. ft. $65. 256-8147.

Exit USA. Need $. B.O. for '67 Ford conv. Blue Star skis 205 w-bindings and h. m. furn. Call or come see Bob, 16 Swiss Vill. 253-5707. Leave Jan. All items ex. cond.

Two F78X14 snow tires, used 3,000 mi. Mtd. on Chevy rims. $20. each. 6-7781 eves.

Zenith color TV, 19", exclt. cond. $225. Octagonal water bed includes: frame, liner, bag, heater. $175. 253-5795.

One-half carrot perfect diamond ring plus M&F wedding bands. Never been worn. Willing to sell at wholesale price. Call Jim 546-5750.

15" Brdgstn sn. rad. with studs, 1 seas. old. Worth $80 new, selling 2 for $50. Also 3 gals. SAAB oil for $6. 256-0258.

Skis for sale...Rossignol 185 CM Strato AR's. Nevada look bindings. Good cond. $50 or best offer. Call Bob 549-1316.

Stereo tuner and turntable for sale. Masterwork. Both need work. $99. Bill. 545-2304.

Waterbed — complete. Guaranteed. Queen size. $100. Call Pete 665-3084.

Perfect dorm system - Pioneer PL-12D. Turntable w-shure M91ED, Pioneer SX-434 receiver, Interaudio (Bose) spkrs. All new, $350 or B.O. Need $. Call 6-5157.

Motorcycle car rack. $30 new. Used once, now $15. Call 546-5627.

All types of stereo components, 8 per cent over cost. Sound & Music. 247-5870 or Campus Center Lobby. Mon. & Wed.

Pioneer Tunner, $55. Matching amp $65. Sony 134 cass. deck, has: Dolby, Ferrite heads & more $130. Sony 121 cass. deck $65, one EPI spkr. $25, two AR4X spkrs. $75. All equip. in excellent condition. Also tapes for $2. Phone 6-6583 after 5.

Irish Setter pups. AKC. Show or hunt. Shots, wormed. $75-$100. 253-5380.

New Texas Instruments SR-50's. $130. Call 253-3478.

High performance bike parts. Cotterless cranks, Deralleurs stems, hubs, pedals. Call Andrew 586-2645.

One pair Lanc Comp ski boots. Nine and one-half. $35. 6-4717.

Typewriter. Just serviced. Call 549-6356.

10 speed French racing bike. Brand new. Sem Benoto Cazeneve $100. 549-6620.

Snow tires 660-13, two for $30. Ski boots, Reiker buckle, 10 and one-half, $40. Call after 4:30. 253-3324.

Skis, K2-3, 195 CM, $120. Never used. Reg. $180. 256-6424 evenings.

Zenith 19" B&W TV, ex. cond. $60. Call Jon after 5 at 253-2806. A real buy!!!

Two Seiberling four ply rayon cord snow tires, size A78-13 (Pinto size). Used two seasons, $25. Also women's fur coat, $25. Call Kathy 256-8210.

Hard shell guitar case, fits SG perfectly. $15. John 6-5424.

Marantz 2230 received, 3 years on guarantee. Two AR3 speakers — Dual 1215S turntable & cover, Shure M75ED type, one-half cart, all top cond. Reas. 323-4416 or 323-4823.

100 PER CENT GOOSE DOWN QUILTS, all HAND MADE to order, best quality material, all double stitched, variety of colors. Nadine. 268-3239.

Goose Dwn. Jacket, Men's Sm. Bought new, never worn. Orig. $60, sell 4 one-half pr. or best offer. Call 546-5103.

Martin 12 string D12-35. Call 584-2554 after 8 p.m.

Treadle heavy duty leather machine. $60. Call 367-9953. Ask for Nina. Lv. nm. and no.

Acre Wtrft. 3 bed. home, Yarm. ns $25M; SR11 $55; Sears Cas Recorder $40; Brad Potts, Box 168, Amh.

Calculator Unisonic Vx 1/x Memory $40 or Best offer. Call Denny 253-5385.

Ticket to Harrison, Boston, Dec. 10. Call 253-3002. Mick.

Gibson Les Paul Gold Top, 2 yrs. old. $325 or Best offer. Call 549-0873.

Records of all kinds at reasonable prices. Can usually get any LP in print within a week. The New Record Shop, 197 N. Pleasant St., Amherst. 253-5394.

Ladies beige suede coat, size 10-12, one season old. Cost $100. Best offer. Call Patricia between 7-8 a.m. or leave Tel. at 345-2512.

Refrig., 3 cu. ft., hardly used. Best offer. 549-0393.

Knissi White Stars 210 c.c. Supermatic bindings skies, used only 8X. $45.00 incl. size 12 boots. Call 253-2941.

Used Hart metal skis, $20. Buckle boots, sz. 8, exc. cond. $25, poles $4. Everything for $45. Pat 545-0025 a.m. or 538-7595 after 6 p.m.

For Sale: Integral systems Amp, Ace Audio Preamp, both immaculate. 665-2369.

600 MARVEL COMIX 4 sale. $200 or best offer. 1963-70. Fine cond. Mike. 546-5253.

Bear 45 LB Fiberglass bow, $35. 546-4012.

One pair studded snow tires, almost new, 14". Exc. cond. 1 pr. 8.25-14 snows. $50 and $30. 549-0842. Keep trying.

Advent 201 cassette tape deck with a built in Dolby. New $300, sell for $175. Gary. 665-4197 eve.

Five cu. ft. fridge, $90. Call Barb. 546-9875.

Car battery, new 22FC Sears Diehard 12V. Call 549-6483.

YES. Concert tickets. New Haven, Dec. 10. Limited supply. Call now. 323-4581. Excellent seats.

Smith Corona typewriter, needs cleaning and new ribbon. Electric with manual return. $25. Call Bob 549-1316.

For Sale — 1 pr. Lange Competition Ski Boots, excellent condition. Used 2 seasons. Also 1 pr. Lange Spoilers. Will sell separately or together. Call Dick 545-2642. Rm. 415.

Raleigh 10 speed Campagnolo Stronglight, 23 and one-half frame, $200. Call Andrew 586-2645. Cotterless cranks, 531 tubing. Great touring bike.

PAUL HERE. We've still got lots of neat stuff. Bureaus, chairs, old postcards, a Partridge in a pear tree. PAUL's OLDTIME FURNITURE behind Aubuchon, Amherst. 253-3511.

HOUSE FOR SALE

Beautiful house in Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard. 3 bdr., land. $60,000. Call after 6 p.m. Jenny. 546-6958.

AUTO FOR SALE

1960 TR3-TR4 engine. Good shape, many xtras, but needs radiator. $500. 665-4183.

'66 Chev., 4 dr., automatic, 6 cyl., runs well. Will sell for first $295. 253-7241.

'66 Mustang, 6 cyl., 3 spd., new trans. & clutch, sticker. Will sell $395. 253-7241.

'64 Chev. Wagon, good runner, 6 cyl., automatic, power steering. $195. 253-7241.

'61 Valiant - Slant 6. 70,000 miles. It speaks for itself. $150. Call eves. 665-7075.

'68 Ford Station Wagon, 8 cyl., radio, excellent condition. Leaving country. Must sell. Call 253-5646, 6-8 p.m. or 253-9698 anytime.

'67 Chevy, 6 cyl., $250. 367-9982 after 7.

'71 VW SQBK, new rad. AM-FM. Just tuned. Call 584-4907 af 6 p.m.

Van — '71 Ford Supervan. Fixed for camping. Just like home. $2100. 665-3084.

'65 Chevy Impala Wagon, rebit. trans., snows, runs like a top. $225. Call 256-[illegible].

Must sacrifice. '73 Audi 100LS, 2 dr., 4 spd., AM-FM, tinted glass, rust proofing, steel radials. $3400. 586-1089 after 5:30 p.m.

1969 GTO, 4 spd. V. depend., needs minor work. Reasbl. 253-5902 evenings.

'64 Chevy II, 6 cyl., st., gd. cond. $150. 323-7507.

1971 Galaxy 500. $750. Call 1-732-0025. Leave name & tel. no. Will return call. Leaving state - must be sold by Fri., 5:00.

'64 VW Sunroof, excellent condition. Rebuilt engine, snow tires. 253-2607.

'64 Rambler American, body & mech. cond. good. Fall inspec. Call after 5. 772-6304. $125.

'67 Pont. Sm. Wgn., 6, AT, 20 mpg. $325. 546-5819.

'66 VW, rebuilt engine, new brakes, tires, transmission. $450. Sally. 545-0883 days.

1971 VW Bug, runs fine, but needs body work, brake job and stuck plug. Compression OK. $500 or best offer. 545-2221, 9-4:30. Leave name or 5-3147 anytime.

'67 Austin Healey. Sprite. $375. Joe. 6-6361.

1966 Mustang, $200 or best offer. Good running condition. Call Diane 545-0082.

1964 Econoline Van, $275. '69 Honda $275 or $500 for both. 253-7193 after 5-6.

'67 TR4A. New eng., radials, paint, batt., AM-FM. Must sell to stay in school. A steal at $1200. Call Lisa 253-3549.

'71 Pinto, AT, disc brakes, fold-down rear seat, always garaged. $1175. 549-6185.

'64 Dodge Station Wagon. Runs except needs new distributor. Have done work on engine. Kinda nice car. Best offer. Kelly 586-2645.

'73 Toyota Hilux Pick-up. Excellent condition. Automatic. Northfield 498-5995.

1963 Rambler, 6 cyl. Best offer. Call 253-9659. Denis.

'62 Dodge Wagon. Gd. running. $100. 268-7880.

'68 Catalina Conv., dk. green w-black int., am-fm, ps-pb, loaded. Studded snows. $795. or B.O. Call 6-5080 eves.

'73 Honda Civic, 30 mi-gal. Silver. 14,000 mi. Excel. cond. $1850. Call 665-3409.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Must sell my 73 and one-half Honda 350 imm. Will take $750 or best offer by Dec. 24. Also have 450CL $775. Olaf. 665-3224 eves.

FOR RENT

2 rm. cottage in Bernardston; refrigerator and stove, gas and electric heat; $100 monthly w-o utilities. Avail. immediately. Call 648-9296.

Looking for a nice place to live during the January break? You can have your own room in a beautiful house on Rocky Hill Rd., in Hadley. Contact Fred at 253-7692. Price negotiable.

$795 per semester. Room, social activities, 7 day meal plan. Call 545-2163. Ask for Rod or Rick.

Farmhouse, 5 bdrm., semi-furn., ww, mod. kit., one and one-quarter acres. $270 plus util. 617-544-6303.

Rm. in house on bus rte. $62 per mo. plus util. Call 256-8688 nites.

Jan. 1. Large 3 bdrm. apt. in colonial house. Sunderland. $190 per mo. plus utilities. 665-3219.

1 bdr. apt., E. Hamp. $120. 586-4026 eves.

Room 15' X 16' to rent. Large house with fireplace in Conway. 369-4077 or 773-8749. Maria.

Apt. for rent, one bedrm, kitchen, living rm. 2 mi. to UM. $153. Call 549-1582 after 9 p.m. Available Jan 1.

Rm. for Jan. in Apt. Fem. Joan. 256-6621.

Room to rent for January — Call 253-9827.

Apt. for intersession. $135. 253-3777.

Looking for 3 non-smoking older quiet-livers to share No. Amherst home. Private bedrooms w-cable TV. Share one and one-half baths, kitchen, laundry, den, living room, parking. All utilities paid. On Campus bus route. $100, $120 and $140 per mo. Call 549-1223 or write Box A, N. Amh., Mass. 01059.

Couple needed for large rm. $100 plus util. in household with four other people. Washer, dryer downstairs. No phone. Try us at night. Located near C. Dickinson Hosp. 349 Prospect St., Northampton.

Two bedroom, carpeted, appliances, on bus route. No pets. $220 incl. utilities in Sunderland. 665-2562.

Furn. apts. One, two, two and a half rms. Modern, air cond., pool, parking, TV, near shopping, utlities inc. Lease to June 1975. Amherst Motel (opp. Zayre's).

Four room apt. Two bedrooms in Amherst on S. East St. $165 per mo., no util. inc. Call 323-7893.

TO SUBLET

4 rms., 1st floor of house. Amherst. Rt. 9 on UMass route. Call 256-8079. $185 per mo.

2 bdrm. Cliffside. $190 per month includes utilities. Available Jan. 1. 665-2829.

Room sublet or house sit during intersession. F. grad. 546-9961. (Not in Dec. 7).

1 bedroom apt. at Cliffside, Sunderland. $160 per mo. with utilities. Available Jan. 1. Call 665-3243 after 8.

For intersession. Own rm. in furn. apt. on bus rt. Rent negotiable. 253-7752.

On busline, pets OK. 2 bedroom. $215.00. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Easthampton, 3 rm. apt. $110 plus util. Call 256-0584. Leave name.

ROOM WANTED

Single wanted in apt. or home. Must be within walk. distance of UMass. Needed for Spring. Call Cindy at 5-0939.

Male senior seeks room in or near Amherst. Call Steve 546-6849.

F wishes own room in apt. W-F on bus route. Call Susan — 546-5368.

Looking for room in house or apt. for Jan. 1. Prefer Sund. or bus route. Can spend $75 per mo. Have cat. Call Miles 665-4946.

Rm. in apt. or house within walking distance of UMass. Wanted for Jan. Call Edie, rm. 314. 545-0791. Leave message.

Female looking for room-roommate-apt. for 2nd semester. Call 546-8444.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Couple recently married seek apt. in area in $150 to $165 range. Will consider room with kitchen priv. Bill. 545-2304.

Interested musicians, new music ensemble situation — The daily problems of cellists, double bassists, tuba, euphonium, saxophonists, trombonists — Call 584-6077 between 8-9 p.m. only.

Roommates — one or two people to share 2 bdrm. apt. Call 785-1413 days or stop by 156-E Brit. Manor. Eves. after 7 p.m.

F wanted to share room in Brandywine starting in Jan. Call Kathy 549-4484.

Female apt.-mate wanted. Share with 2 grad students. Pri. bedroom in 5 room apt. $45 per mo. plus one-third utilities. Call 584-7642.

F roommate wanted for 2 bdrm. apt. near Amherst Ctr. $100. incl. util. Call 256-8763 after 5 p.m.

F. for Brandywine. $/. mo. 549-2645.

F. to share 2 bedrm. apt. Susan. 256-8467.

F wanted for own rm. in nice country home, nr. Sunderland Ct. w-friendly people. Call 665-2287.

M or F to share apt., own room, on bus route, semi-furn., starting Jan. 1. $75. Call Bob. 323-4298 in Belchertown.

To share house, own room and study. 527-5741. Easthampton.

Need person-people for one bedroom in large apt. 15 min. from campus. $80 per mo. for one, $106 for two, M. or F. invited. Call 549-6089.

2 bdrm. apt. for Spring Semester. $87 per mo. 5 min. frm. campus. 253-7549.

Male wanted to share 3 br. apt. cooperatively. 256-8098.

F. for own rm. in 3 bdr. apt. on bus rt. Sq. Vill. 665-3226. Call anytime.

Desperately wanted — Used couch, E-G condition for Lounge. Call John 545-2306 days or nights - Keep trying.

F roommate wanted, own rm. in lovely, old, furnished hse. in Conway. 20 min. to campus. Wash-dry. Call Judith: 369-8361 or 369-4024.

One or two F. roommates for 2 bdrm. Th. $65, util. incl. 546-9651.

Housemate wanted, female preferred, 25 or older. 2 mi. from UMass, rural setting. 549-2657. (4 bedroom cape)

3 bedroom house in Florence. Quasi-country setting. $70 mo. plus util. Call 584-1149.

Share house in Hadley, own room. Please call 586-2815. Available January 1.

M wanted. Amherst house, own rm. near campus. Call 253-3326.

Need couple — People to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Belch. Pets okay. Available Jan. 1 or Feb. 1. Call Linda 323-4004. On bus route.

Grad. 2nd senior seek M-F grad for rm. in house nr. campus. $60 plus. Quiet. 253-5275; 5-0060.

F to share 3 bdrm. apt. in house, 1 mi. from UMass. $83 a mo. Call 253-3598.

Two people needed for furnished house, one and one-half miles to campus. Own bedroom. Good deal. Lease expires end of 2nd semester. 256-0559.

Grad looking for one or two rmates. Split $185, util. pd. On bus rt. 665-4708.

Quiet male, pref. grad or upperclass. No dope or tobacco. For own room in Riverglade at $120 per mo. Soon as possible. No lease. Call 256-8020 between 12 and 2 in afternoon.

On busline, pets ok. Own room. $107.50. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Two rms. avail. in 3 bdrm. house. Less than 2 mi. from campus. New hs in Hadley. Lse. ends in May. Call 256-0559.

WANTED TO RENT

2 Males for Jan. Brittany Manor. 253-7848.

Need own rm. in apt on bus rt. Jan 27 - May 30. $60-$80. Quiet F. 546-7288.

Art student needs studio or sm. apt. $80 or less a mo. 665-2737; 669-3973.

Study Carrel in Library, 12-9 — 12-18. Call Doug. 253-7818 anytime. Keep trying.

Responsible couple seek 1-2 bdrm. rural hse or apt. w-in 15 mi. UMass. No pets; will assume lease. Please call 549-1332 after 6.

WANTED

F-M to see USA with over intersession. Call or see Liz. 121 Wheeler, 5-2420.

Wanted any bands wishing to play for publicity on Dec. 6. Please contact Janet 6-5697, Bob 6-5778 or Ted 6-5694. Please leave a message.

Furnished efficiency for Jan. - June to sublease. Call 546-6768. If no ans., call collect 1-617-969-5006.

Double mattress or bed immediately. Call nites. Sue. 367-2671.

Wanted: Responsible person to fly with 3 small boys from Bradley Field to Salt Lake City, Dec. 14. Return Jan. 14. Will pay full fare, round trip. 549-6273.

1-1-75, 4 bdrm. abod. quiet responsible stdnts. Will do upkeep. Pref. on bus route. $350 max. Call 665-3224; 665-7089.

Wanted: 5 or 10 spd. bicycle. Reas. cond. Call John 549-0056 eves.

BOB STILL WANTS TO BUY YOUR AILING OR DECREPIT CAR! Any make, model, year. Unload your headache for fast $. 253-7241.

HELP WANTED

Can you draw? Do you have a sense of humor? The editorial pages need five cartoonists to do campus humor. Call Dean Tucker 5-3500.

Free meals 7 days a week in return for part time kitchen help. For more info call 545-2163. Ask for Wendell.

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Chicago anytime. Call 584-2554.

I need a ride from Amherst to Holyoke and back, Mon.-Fri. next semester. Will share driving cost. Call Kathy 253-7723.

West to warm climate or to Fla. Will share expenses. Call Bob. 256-6445.

To: Atlanta after Xmas. Share $ plus. 546-6575.

One rider to Fla. over Xmas break. $40. 532-0794.

RIDERS WANTED

Share driving Linc. Cont. to mid-Florida. Leaving approx. Sun. p.m. Abil. to show jumping horses pref., but not essent. Fem. pref. Call 1-732-0025 or Apt. 3010 Hampton or office of same. Leave name & tel. no. Will return call.

California — round trip during semester break. Cost $185.00. Call 253-2681.

Two riders w[illegible] — Leaving for Florida (St. [illegible]) end of Dec., returning [illegible]. Share driving & exp[illegible] [illegible]-4219

TR[illegible]

SAVE RENT — Scenic Northfield. Attractive 2 and a half rms., privacy. Single or couple $135. Electricity. 549-0387.

Charter flights to Europe and California. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Ski the Canadian Rockies — Banff $388.00. Call Campus Travel Center. 545-0500.

TRAVEL

College week in Bermuda, March 23-30. $299 plus $25 tax and service. 8 days - 7 nights. Contact Teri Jones — Neylon Ins. Agcy. 6-6441, 549-3989.

Bermuda Spring Vacation. From $199. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Low price trips to Mexico, Florida, Caribbean. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

INSTRUCTION

DOG TRAINING. Obedience, problem dogs, protection and security. 549-1342 days and eves. VALLEY K-9.

Flute lessons. Call 256-6238.

Classic guitar lessons avail. thru UMass Prep Div. by Neil Anderson Hartt College grad. 545-2434 for info.

PERSONALS

HOP BROOK COMMUNE — GAY PEOPLE. In the country. P. O. Box 723, Amherst.

FS — Your birthday was Tuesday. It's not over yet. Love, R.

To Russell Andrews in Hamlin: The time and effort you took to return my lost drawing is greatly appreciated. Thanx — Pam Weiner.

Congratulations to George Sokakeeny and Celia Bussiere for winning the turkeys from the Council for Exceptional Children, U of M.

To Super Sportswriter. Happy Birthday. You deserve it. Glenn.

Moe and Gretchen, Woof! RSVP.

To the Popcorn Kid — happy birthday from 3N Field. Good luck and best wishes.

Need home for male altered cat for over intersession. Will make financial arrgt. Call Andrea 546-7415.

Need Money! Will take over anybody's job during vacation. Call Chris 6-8394.

ENTERTAINMENT

Butch Cassidy & The Sundance Kid is showing at 7, 9 and 11 on Fri., Dec. 6 — Mahar.

Party with the Funky Horns of the Dynamic Sex Machine, Dec. 6 at Berkshire Dining Commons SW. D.S.M. is available for dorm parties, Dec. 10-14.

Third World Art Show & Sale. Paintings, drawings, photos. Sun., Dec. 9, 12 noon to 5 p.m. Southwest Resource Center, (Hampden D.C.).

SERVICES

Professional guitar repairs by guitar-maker Michael Millard. Mon., Wed., Fri. at The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops. 549-1728. Free estimates.

Passport Photos. Call Joe, nights at 549-6598. 24 hr. service.

Passports — Fast service. Lang's Photo. Hours 9-6. Tel. 253-3148.

Campus Clubs and Organizations, Do you want to publish high quality newsletter, pamphlet, magazine or booklet??? Let the Message Company help you write, layo it, design and print it!! Reasonable fees. Contact Jerry at 253-9869 for information.

CAR REPAIR HASSLES? BOB will still fix it right. No job too small. Foreign or domestic. No big overhead. 253-7241.

NEED A GOOD INEXPENSIVE HAIRCUT? Cut and blow dry $3.00. Male and female. Experience: References Salon D'Italia and Salon Boccaccio of Boston. Call Fran at 546-8295.

Cross country ski base prep sanding $2.00; hot swix $4.00. Some pick up and del. Call 253-9469.

Ometrics Astrological services, 5 month projection, personal analysis, etc. Write Box 341, Amherst or call 549-6743 or 549-0005.

MOVING? Need help. One man and van will help. Experienced, reasonable rates. Call Bounce 549-0513.

[illegible]

SR11 Calc. Lot 31. Call Phil. 536-2594.

Lost — 18X24 sketch pad. Call collect 1-448-8519 evenings.

Help! I left my glasses while hitching in a yellow Datsun 2402 with Maine plates on Wed., 11-27. You dropped me off at Rt. 2 and 495. Please call Tom 546-7522.

Lost — Young female blue point Siamese cat in the vicinity of Brittany Manor. Reward. Call 253-2584.

Favorite floppy XXL Norm Thompson hat. N. Pleasant St. Tues. Reward. 549-[illegible].

CALCULATORS

Calculator Sale — College Calculators offers lowest prices anywhere. All models available! Texas Inst., Hewlett Packard, Unicorn. All machines new and guar. with 2 month replacement warranty... Before you buy a calculator, call me. I can beat any price anywhere ... Look for my posters around campus for details. Then call Bob Crowell at 549-1316.

Traffic Committee meeting reviews Northeast Bypass

The Traffic Circulation Committee will hold a meeting on Wednesday, December 11th at 7:30 p.m., in the Conference Room of the Physical Plant Building on the University Campus. The basic design of the Northeast Bypass will be on display at that meeting and will be reviewed by the Committee. Comments and suggestions from the public will be welcome.

The Physical Plant Building is located on the western edge of the campus, its driveway being located being located off the entrance road to the Campus Center Garage. entrance road to the Campus Center Garage.

The Northeast By-pass, to be constructed by the State Dept. of Public Works, will run from College Street to East Pleasant, North Pleasant, and to Route 116. On the basis of its construction the Town Meeting has agreed to close a portion of North Pleasant Street through the University campus. The Traffic Circulation Committee will make recommendations on its design to the Board of Selectmen. The Town Meeting placed responsibility for approval of the final design of the By-pass in the hands of the Selectmen.

A map showing the proposed basic design of the By-pass should be available in the Town Planner's Office, Friday, December 6th.

notices

Campus group meetings, non-profit events. To list notice of your group or event fill out free form at The Collegian office, 2nd floor, UMass Student Union. Mail notices to "news editor."

CAMPUS SCOUTS

Don't forget there's a Christmas Party Sun. 12-8 5 p.m. at 99E Brittany Manor. Bring a small gift, your imagination and Christmas spirit. See you there!

CHRISTIAN WORKSHOP

The Lord Jesus is coming! Get ready for Christmas at the Ark; informal Communion, supper and fellowship at 758 North Pleasant St. Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Come decorate the Xmas tree and wrap the gifts for the Spanish Community. Friday, today, at 7:30 in the Front Lounge of the Newman Center. Sponsored by the Newman Club.

COUNCIL FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

General meeting, Sunday, C.C. 917 at 1 p.m. Topics: Role of Student Council of Exceptional Children Chapters in legislation and in education & Issues of National Convention. State representative will speak and answer questions about C.E.C.

CUTEP

"Issues in Urban Education" presents John Bracey, Chairman of the W.E.B. DuBois Dept. of Afro-American-Studies, University of Mass, on Tuesday 12-10, at 7 p.m. in the Marks Meadow Auditorium.

DANCE FREE

Release end-of-semester tensions...LET YOUR Body, mind and soul Dance Free. Friday 8:30 p.m. C.C. Check info desk for room no.

GSS MEETING

Grad. Student Senate meeting, Monday, 6:30 p.m. in C.C. 101.

INDO CHINA TASK FORCE

presents 12-8 at 7:30 in C.C. 903 movie "Viet Nam Dialogue" by David Schoenbiun. Dec. 15 C.C. 168-175 at 7:30 Prof. Richard Minear will speak "Viet Nam 1964 through the Peace Agreement". Meeting after lecture. I.C. Task Force is organizing study in action because of approaching anniversary 1-26-75.

INNKEEPERS

Important meeting, raffle, elections, Monday 7 p.m. in 227 Chenoweth. Beer and Munchies.

HOUSE CHURCH – UCF

Meeting tonight at 8:00 at home of Joan Chadbourne, No. 10 Chadwick Court, Echo Hill. For info or a ride call Pete Sabey at UCF 545-2661.

POLISH AMERICAN CULTURAL ASSOCIATION

Come to Herter 444 at 4 p.m. today to practice Polish Christmas Carols. We'll be singing for local nursing homes. Anybody's welcome. Dzien dobry.

RACISM

Workshop for White Awareness. Course to look at Racism will be held twice next semester for 3 credits. Dates are: Section I, Feb. 7, 8; Feb. 21, 22. Section II March 14, 15; April 4, 5. For further info call Judy Katz 5-2041 or 549-1051.

READING AND LECTURE

Reading and lecture on Caribbean poetry, "I Into History Now" by Jamaican poet, novelist, editor and broadcaster Andrea Salkey, Sat. 12-7, 7:30 Hampshire College, Main Lecture Hall.

RECORDER PLAYERS

The Amherst Recorder Society is sponsoring an all day workshop on recorder playing and performance. Dickinson Hall, Hampshire College, rm 4, 9-5 Sat. Dec. 7. Beginners welcome.

SHABBAT

Sign up by noon for Shabbat dinner tonight. Services at 7 p.m. in C.C. 105. Saturday morning services 10 a.m. in S.U. 302.

SKI EQUIPMENT:

For sale in the C.C. lower level today and Saturday.

STEREO SHOW

There will be a Stereo Show Saturday from 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Pioneer Stereo Co. will test AH Equipment for you FREE. Refreshments served.

TUTOR NEEDED

The Upward Bound Program is looking for tutors in all academic areas to assist Western Mass area high school students. Bi-Lingual tutors are encouraged to participate. Contact the Upward Bound Office, 205 New Africa House 545-0230.

UCF WORK PARTY

United Christian Foundation goes to work at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, Sat., 316 Hampshire House. Dress comfortably and plan to work for 2 hours at most.

UNITARIAN: SOCIETY OF AMHERST

Service at 11. Ms. Mabel Garis of the Amherst Bahai Group will speak on "Human Rights". Child care provided during the service.

FOUND

Organic Chemistry Book. Tell me location lost and I will return. 6-6735 ask for Kenny.

GO CLUB

According to R.S.O. Office, you don't exist.

VW SNOW TIRE SALE
Size 5.60-15
$22.50 ea.
Plus $1.78 F.E.T.
First Line Blackwall
Allied Motor Parts Inc.
319 MAIN ST., AMHERST
256-8341

Brewed in 1876 by our original process from the choicest hops, rice and best barley malt.
Still is.
We're making sure that caring isn't just a memory. And every taste of Beechwood Aged Budweiser says so... And always will.
Somebody still cares about quality.
Budweiser
Budweiser Lager Beer
Anheuser-Busch

Peloton
1 E. Pleasant St. Amherst
[illegible]
Cross Country Skiing is an inexpensive and totally exhilirating Winter activity. Enjoy the Winter beauty of the Valley in a most unique and carefree way. At Peloton XC Ski Shoppe we're offering the lowest price ski packages available (less than EMS).
PRAY FOR SNOW
The [illegible] Package [illegible] Jofa Binding Reg. [illegible] Sale 39.95
The [illegible] Jofa Pole, Dovre Binding Reg. 67.40 Sale 58.50
The Dovre Dovre L.T. Ski, Dovre Boot Dovre Alu Pole, Dovre Binding Reg. 82.25 Sale 66.95
The [illegible] Dovre Binding, [illegible] Jofa Pole, Dovre L.T. Boot Reg. 91.50 Sale 79.00
The Super Head Ski, Dovre Racing Pole, [illegible] Boot, Villom Binding Reg. 106.00 Sale 92.95
Tailor Make Your Own Package any combination add it up, take 10% OFF
[illegible], Mounting, Base Prep FREE All accessories in stock
SKI RENTALS, LESSONS & TOURS
BIKE REPAIR Winter Overhaul Special [illegible] Reg. 27.00 Pirelli Tires Reg. [illegible] Sale 16.95 $1.85 Winter Storage Plan [illegible] 5.00
BICYCLES Hercules 10 speed 19" 21" 23" frame Reg $120.00 Sale [illegible]

TRADITIONAL JAPANESE MUSIC CONCERT SHAKUHACHI & KOTO
featuring
NAMINO TORII and SHUDO YAMATO
Saturday, December 7, 1974
Student Union Ballroom
UMass 8:00pm
Admission Free
sponsored by the Program Council & the Asian-American Students Association

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By Stella Wilder

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6 — Born today, you possess one of those magnetic personalities that draw people with little or no effort on your part and little or no resistance on theirs. You will never know these fears which strike the lonely: you will never know the longing which arises from a lack of company. On the other hand, you may well know the frustration of not being able to find enough time to be alone, the tension that develops from being forever surrounded by other people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Those areas of study necessary to the successful attainment of your present goals should be looked into without delay. Reconsider prior decisions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Your own speciality may be enough to keep you interested — but it may be leaving another quite cold. Make an effort to please an old friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — If you would make this day one of professional success, let your conscience guide you to the right decisions. Don't worry about the past.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Today's ups and downs follow a distinct pattern with a meaning all its own. Understand the significance of the day's events and you gain much.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — There is much of an advantageous nature awaiting the Aries who is clever enough to find the source of the present difficulty.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Self-discipline is the key to the day's success. Don't delay should another ask you for your help. Participate in a community project.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Although you will be tempted by an offer of escape from tedious duty, you would be better off doing what you must do quickly and efficiently.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — The day's setbacks are not of such a serious nature that you need to be depressed by them. Seek encouragement in another's experience.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You can overcome disappointment quickly simply by trying once again — and achieving. Don't be too sure of another's ability to advise you well.

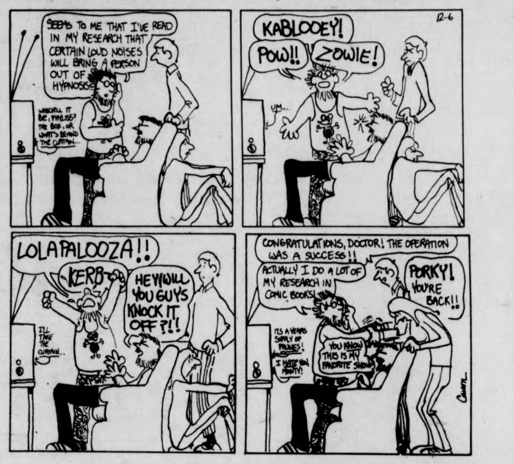
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — A day for exceptional gains. Realize a small ambition during morning hours—and a large benefit during afternoon and evening. Direct your attentions homeward.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Advertise your own best qualities — and forget about the rest. You can make the impression you want — and need! If you will be discriminating.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — A day of great social pressures which you can overcome with little trouble if you will be selective in your choice of friends.

dizzy and paul-

By Jim Carson



SEEMS TO ME THAT I'VE READ IN MY RESEARCH THAT CERTAIN LOUD NOISES WILL BRING A PERSON OUT OF HYPNOSIS WHICH'LL IT BE, PHYLISS? THE BOX, OR WHAT'S BEHIND THE CURTAIN...
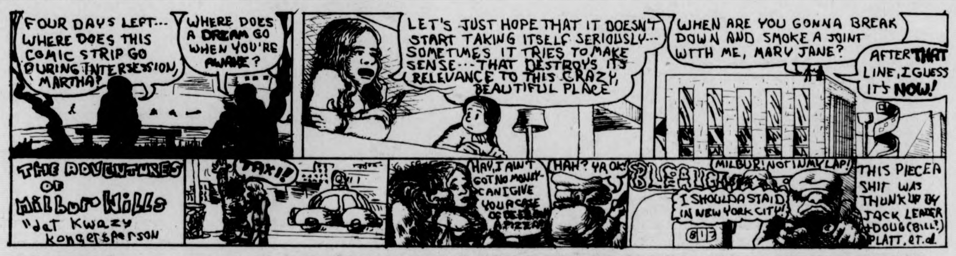
12-6
KABLOOEY!
POW!!
ZOWIE!
UM...
LOLAPALOOZA!!
KERB
HEY! WILL YOU GUYS KNOCK IT OFF?!!
I'LL TAKE THE CURTAIN...
CONGRATULATIONS, DOCTOR! THE OPERATION WAS A SUCCESS!!
ACTUALLY I DO A LOT OF MY RESEARCH IN COMIC BOOKS!
PORKY! YOU'RE BACK!!
ITS A YEARS SUPPLY OF PRUNES!
I HATE YOU, MONTY!
YOU KNOW THIS IS MY FAVORITE SHOW
Carson

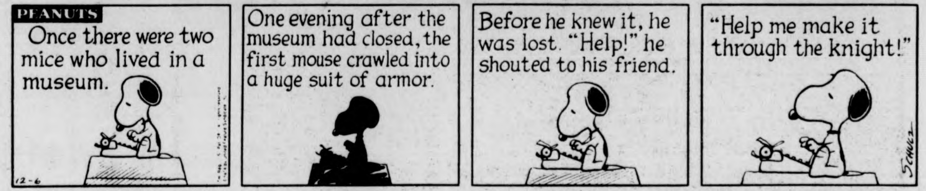
Kampus Kapers

By Kris Jackson



FOUR DAYS LEFT... WHERE DOES THIS COMIC STRIP GO DURING INTERSESSION, MARTHA?
WHERE DOES A DREAM GO WHEN YOU'RE AWAKE?
LET'S JUST HOPE THAT IT DOESN'T START TAKING ITSELF SERIOUSLY... SOMETIMES IT TRIES TO MAKE SENSE... THAT DESTROYS ITS RELEVANCE TO THIS CRAZY, BEAUTIFUL PLACE
WHEN ARE YOU GONNA BREAK DOWN AND SMOKE A JOINT WITH ME, MARY JANE?
AFTER THAT LINE, I GUESS IT'S NOW!
THE ADVENTURES OF MILBUR WILLS "DAT KWAZY KONGERSPERSON
TAXI!!
HAY, I AIN'T GOT NO MONEY - CAN I GIVE YOU A CASE OF [illegible] A PIZZA?
HAH? YA OK!
BLEAUGH
MILBUR! NOT IN MY LAP!
I SHOULDA STAID IN NEW YORK CITY!
THIS PIECE A SHIT WAS THUNK UP BY JACK LEADER + DOUG (BILL!) PLATT, ET. AL.

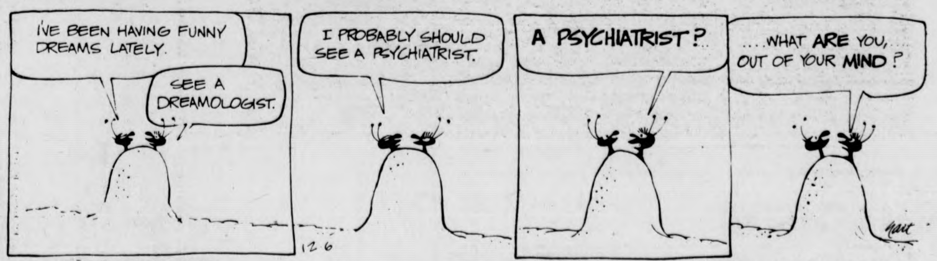
PEANUTS



Once there were two mice who lived in a museum.
One evening after the museum had closed, the first mouse crawled into a huge suit of armor.
Before he knew it, he was lost. "Help!" he shouted to his friend.
"Help me make it through the knight!"
12-6
SCHULZ

B.C.

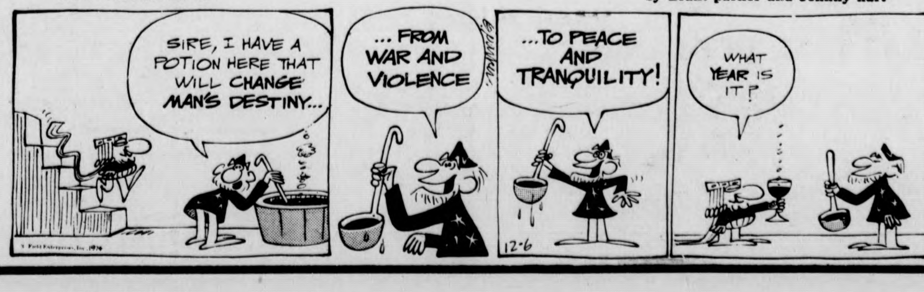
by johnny hart



I'VE BEEN HAVING FUNNY DREAMS LATELY.
SEE A DREAMOLOGIST.
I PROBABLY SHOULD SEE A PSYCHIATRIST.
A PSYCHIATRIST?
....WHAT ARE YOU, OUT OF YOUR MIND?
12-6
hart

THE WIZARD OF ID

by Brant parker and Johnny hart

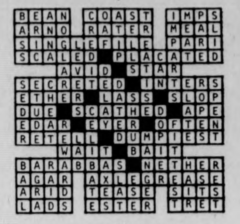


SIRE, I HAVE A POTION HERE THAT WILL CHANGE MAN'S DESTINY...
... FROM WAR AND VIOLENCE
...TO PEACE AND TRANQUILITY!
WHAT YEAR IS IT?
12-6

ACROSS
1 Torper
5 French city: 2 words
9 Eludes
14 Away from the wind
15 IOU signer
16 Quinine water
17 Jack ----: TV entertainer
18 City on the Truckee
19 Feminine name
20 Obtained by coercion
22 Ran
23 Spades, e.g.
24 Short note
25 Small beard
28 Turned aside
32 Zones
33 Landed estate
34 Miss Gardner
35 Just elapsed
36 Make tardy
37 Card game
38 WW II zone: Abbr.
39 Bishop's hat
40 Shoemaker's material
41 Dispossesses
43 Made leather
44 Bills
45 Hairless
46 Informed
49 Written agreement
53 Chancel feature
54 Meat grade
55 Steel girder
56 Lasso
57 The very best
58 Author ---- Roper
59 Guardian spirit
60 Watch part
61 Calendar abbr

DOWN
1 ---- of Good Hope
2 Evergreen genus
3 Edible flesh
4 Dirigible, for one
5 Military action
6 Bird sound
7 Make loans
8 Mountain: Prefix
9 Ship
10 Fear
11 ---- cost: Cost per item
12 Appealing
13 Saurel fish
21 Regrets
22 English county
24 Underground worker
25 Stared wonderingly
26 Speak publicly
27 Author of fables
28 Fruit
29 Hoodwinked
30 Escape cleverly
31 Passe
33 Spouses
36 Subsisted
37 Miscellaneous items
39 Inorganic substance
40 Sodium chloride
42 Alternate
43 Bicycle built for two
45 Daniel -----: Amer. pioneer
46 Kind of rubber
47 Man's name
48 For men only
49 Surf duck
50 Skillful
51 Wilderness abode
52 Jog
54 Nitrogen, e.g.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:



BEAN COAST IMPS
ARNO RATER MEAL
SINGLEFILE PARI
SCALED PLACATED
AVID STAR
SECRETED INTERS
ETHER LASS SLOP
DUE SCATHED APE
EDAR EYER OFTEN
RETELL DUMPIEST
WAIT BAIT
BARABBAS NETHER
AGAR AXLEGREASE
ARID TEASE SITS LADS ESTER TRET

WMUA

Here is the week-end schedule of WMUA:

Friday:

The disc jockeys today are Al Feinberg, Mark Nathanson, Crazy Nance, Andy MacKenzie and Sue Schader.

8:30 a.m., High Tides, Jeff Jawer explains how the heavens will influence the earth.

2:00 - 6:00 p.m., Latin Contrast, with Tommy Joyner.

6:15 -7:00 p.m., Sports Talk, Russ Small and Larry Convoy tonight talk about women in sports.

News is broadcast at 7, 8 and 9 a.m., and 2, 6 and 10 p.m.

Saturday:

The disc jockeys will be Steve Berger, Vinny Peruzzi, Ken Irwin, Louie Cronin and Randy Richardson.

2:00 - 6:00 p.m., Uujamadrum, with Barry Williams.

7:20 - 10:00 p.m., Basketball game, Larry Convoy and Russ Small describe the action when the Rhode Island Rams come to the Cage.

News is broadcast at 2, 6 and 10 p.m.

Sunday:

6:00 - 10:00 a.m., Gospel Show.

10:00 - 2:00 p.m., Classics.

2:00 - 6:00 p.m., Rural American Music.

6:00 - 7:00 p.m., Sunday News Collective.

7:00 10:00 p.m., Japanese Music.

10:00 - 2:00 a.m., Jubilation Jazz.

2:00 - 6:00 a.m., John Haber hosts music.

WFCR

The 1974-75 season of the Teaxaco sponsored Metropolitan Opera Broadcasts will begin Saturday, December 7, with a performance of Charles Gounod's Opera, "Romeo Et Juliette."

Air time is 2 p.m., and WFCR (88.5 FM) will carry the program, the first in a series of twenty marking the start of the 35th year of live opera broadcasts, locally.

Veteran announcer Milton Cross will be back to narrate the opera plots while Soprano, Judith Blegen, and Tenor, Franco Corelli sing the title roles.

Henry Lewis will be conducting.

Rape line
545-COPS

Gosh Paw...It Can't Be True?
It's True! 30% OFF Everything 'till Dec. 21
AMHERST ART SUPPLY TOWNE GREEN
Register...Win Mechanical Pen set FREE
16 Main St. / 256-0325

Expo Willie Davis shipped to Texas

NEW ORLEANS [UPI] — Centerfielder Willie Davis became the ninth $100,000 player to be traded since the end of the 1974 season and the fourth here at the winter meetings Thursday when he was dealt by the Montreal Expos to the Taxas Rangers in a three-layer swap for righthander Don Stanhouse and infielder Pete MacKanin.

Davis, 34, who only a year ago was traded by the Dodgers to the Expos for National League Cy Young Award winner Mike Marshall, batted .295 with 12 homers and 89 runs batted in this year.

It was the first major deal in which Brad Corbett, new owner of the Rangers, was officially involved in, and he was delighted by the acquisition of Davis.

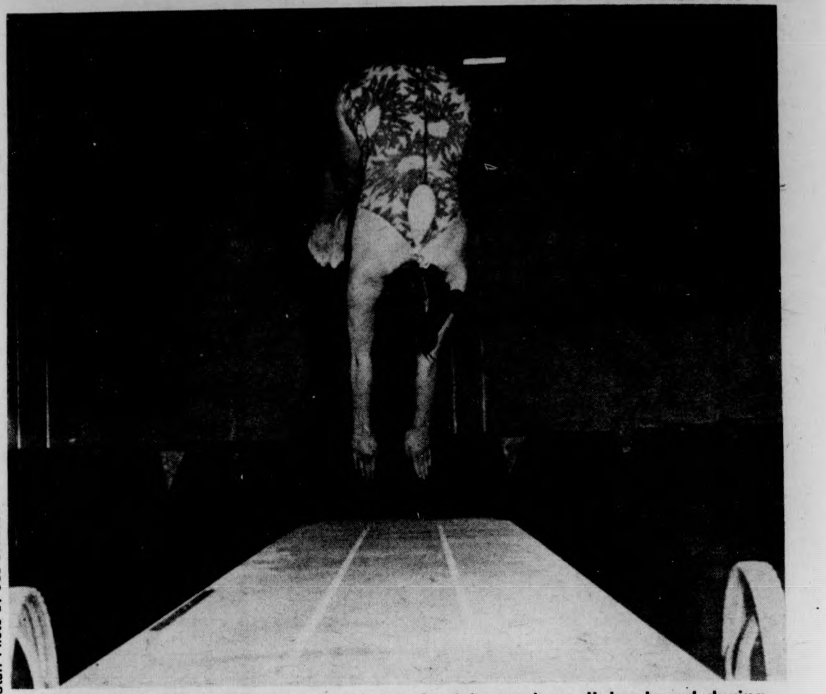
"We got a fellow who can still run and play centerfield," Corbett said. "He had a helluva season this year. We finished second with a patched-up outfield. Now with Davis, we've solidified our outfield."

Davis who broke into the Majors with the Dodgers in 1960, will play centerfield for the Rangers and will be flanked in rightfield by Jeff Burroughs, the American League's MVP this year. Either Tom Grieve or Cesar Tovar is ticketed for leftfield.

The Expos became somewhat disenchanted with Davis when he issued an ultimatum to them the day before the season ended. He insisted the Expos give him some assurance he would not be traded. Jim Fanning, the Expos General Manager, had two separate meetings with the $110,000-salaried outfielder, and told him he was in no position to do that. Davis turned around and told a TV broadcaster that if the Expos were unable to guarantee he would remain in Montreal next year, he might quit baseball.

Besides Davis, the eight other players earning $100,000 or more who have been dealt since the end of the season were Hank Aaron, Joe Torre, Billy Williams, Dave McNally, Lee May, Dick Allen, Bobby Bonds and Bobby Murcer. McNally, May and Allen were traded during the baseball meetings which opened here Sunday.

The Expos were especially eager to land the 23-year-old MacKanin who had an excellent year with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League. The young power hitter is slated for a shot at Montreal's regular second base job next season.



Staff Photo by Joe Stoddart

Diver Karen Matiobatista seems to be about to crash on diving board during competition between UMass and University of New Hampshire Wednesday night. This "board's eye view" shot was taken at NOPE.

O'Malley proposes three league plan

A precendent-shattering proposal by Walter O'Malley, aimed at relieving baseball of two of its most pressing problems, Thursday called for the immediate creation of a third major league.

O'Malley dropped his bombshell during a private get-together Wednesday between Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the owners and since his suggestion came near the conclusion of that particular session, it was discussed in more detail Thursday.

In a nutshell, O'Malley's plan called for baseball to buy the Oakland A's and move the franchise to Seattle, and to also purchase the Baltimore Orioles and move them to Washington.

An alternate plan proposed by the Los Angeles Dodgers' board chairman was to establish a third major league comprised of franchises in Seattle, Washington, New Orleans, Toronto, Buffalo and Denver.

Under O'Malley's proposal, the franchises would be developed for three or four years and then embraced into the present World Series-type structure.

The plan met with a mixed reaction among the big league officials.

"Who's gonna put up the money?" said one American Leaguer. "Where are they gonna get the ballplayers?"

Seattle operated temporarily in the American League before the franchise was moved to Milwaukee in 1970. Since then Seattle civic officials have brought a multi-million dollar suit against baseball. Washington has been without baseball for two years, and as recently as Wednesday, Kuhn declared he was anxious for Major League baseball to return there.

Kuhn met with the owners again behind closed doors Thursday and although everybody was tight-lipped at the conclusion of the two-hour session, UPI learned that O'Malley's plan has been turned over to a committee for further study.

Bradshaw to face Pats

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Steelers Quarterback Terry Bradshaw threw the football with more authority Thursday and said the soreness in his bruised ribs had lessened considerably.

"They weren't as sore as they had been," Bradshaw said. "I was a lot looser and I could throw more easily and without pain."

Bradshaw, who suffered the bruised ribs in the loss to the Houston Oilers, will start against the New England Patriots Sunday at Schaefer Stadium.

Coach Chuck Noll received some bad news, however, when he was informed that Offensive Guard Sam Davis was listed as questionable for the game with the Patriots. Davis, the team's offensive captain, suffered a sprained left foot in the New Orleans game two weeks ago.

Baseball meetings roundup

Other happenings at winter baseball meetings in New Orleans yesterday:

On the player trading front, the Texas Rangers picked up a left-handed starter they had sought, while the New York Yankees obtained a utility infielder to spell veteran Sandy Alomar at second base.

The Rangers, with youngster David Clyde the only quality south-paw starter on their roster, sent right-hander Pete Broberg to the Milwaukee Brewers in return for former 20-game winner Clyde Wright, a lefty.

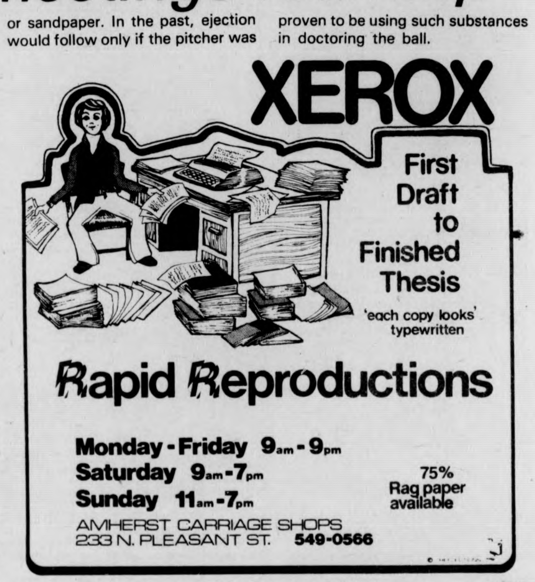
Wright, 31, was one of the few 20-game losers in the majors this year, finishing up at 9-20, with a somewhat more respectable 3.38 earned run average.

Broberg, 24, divided the '74 season between the Rangers and Spokane of the Pacific Coast League, compiling a 0-4 major league mark with a 4.40 era.

The Yankees, meanwhile, obtained some infield insurance in 28-year-old Eddie Leon, who came over from the Chicago White Sox for right-handed reliever Cecil Upshaw.

Leon hit a meager .109 for the Sox this season but saw action in only 31 games. Upshaw, 32, a lesser figure in this summer's big seven-player deal between the Yankees and Cleveland, was 1-6 with a 3.06 era.

In a meeting of the major league playing rules committee, the rule was amended so that pitchers would be ejected from the game for the mere possession of a foreign substance such as vaseline grease or sandpaper. In the past, ejection would follow only if the pitcher was proven to be using such substances in doctoring the ball.



XEROX
First Draft to Finished Thesis
'each copy looks' typewritten
Rapid Reproductions
Monday - Friday 9am - 9pm
Saturday 9am - 7pm
Sunday 11am - 7pm
75% Rag paper available
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 N. PLEASANT ST. 549-0566

UNITY THROUGH DIVERSITY
All races, cultures, religions, ideologies, sexualities, ages, nationalities, etc.
This is for everyone!
Friday December 6,
7:00 p.m.
Newman
Center.
Universal Participation:
Come dressed in an ethnic attire.
Set up a display.
Intercultural Program: Share your culture
by music, dance, film, poetry,
etc.
Admission:
Bring a dish from an ethnic background.
Do you sing? Do you dance? Do you do poetry?
Do you have something to offer to this affair?
Call 546-4538 256-0378 546-4543
AN INTERCULTURAL AFFAIR

The Rusty Scupper
Again features
Steak & Alaskan King Crab Legs
For your dining pleasure.
Rte. 9, 529 Belchertown Rd., Amherst

UPI Telephoto

All-American forward David Thompson of number one ranked North Carolina State drops in two of his 57 points in game against Buffalo State. Point total was an Atlantic Coast Conference record.

Walton to retire?

PORTLAND, ORE. (UPI) - Three-time All-America Bill Walton is thinking about quitting pro basketball after only two months in the National Basketball Association, it was learned Thursday.

Walton has spent the last three days in Los Angeles deciding his future, said Sam Gilbert, Los Angeles-area contractor and Walton financial advisor.

Gilbert said Walton is troubled by conflicting life-styles demand by the NBA and what the 6-foot-11 Rookie Center wants out of life.

Walton has left behind by the Portland Trailblazers who are making a four-game road trip. He has missed the team's last four games because of a bone spur in his left ankle. He was also sidelined two games earlier this season because of a dislocated left little finger.

Walton won the Sullivan Award in 1973 as Amateur Athlete of the Year and three times was named UPI's player-of-the-year during his collegiate career at UCLA.

Scott Hayes

Lucky number thirteen

The semester is coming to a rapid close, and most likely the emphasis is on studying for finals; but nevertheless, here are the weekly pro football picks — just in case you decide to take a "study break" and spend some time watching NFL games this weekend. By the way, this week marks the lucky thirteenth week of the NFL season. Maybe the Patriots can utilize a little luck and overcome the Steelers to insure a winning season.

Saturday, December 7

MINNESOTA VIKINGS 13; ATLANTA FALCONS 0

NFC Central Division champions tune up for the playoffs at cost of hapless Falcons.

DALLAS COWBOYS 24; CLEVELAND BROWNS 9

Clint Longley proves that his Thanksgiving day performance was more than beginner's luck.

Sunday, December 8

NEW YORK JETS 21; BUFFALO BILLS 20

The Jets have won four in a row and Joe Namath has been on target. Therefore, there's no reason why the New Yorkers can't do it again.

SAN DIEGO CHARGERS 17; CHICAGO BEARS 10

Chargers are due for a win and costly Chicago turnovers should give San Diego its fourth NFL victory of the season.

DETROIT LIONS 34; CINCINNATI BENGALS 30

Inconsistent Bengals fall victim to the much-improved Lions.

GREEN BAY PACKERS 28; SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS 24

If Green Bay has recovered from fumblitis, the Pack should be "healthy" enough to stop 49ers.

DENVER BRONCOS 35; HOUSTON OILERS 31

Denver has the NFL's leading rusher in Otis Armstrong, and with gutsy calls like the onside kick that turned tide versus Detroit, Denver will rule.

MIAMI DOLPHINS 21; BALTIMORE COLTS 7

Dolphins move into first in the AFC East with this victory.

OAKLAND RAIDERS 34; KANSAS CITY CHIEFS 27

AFC Western Division champs have lost only two games, and odds are Kansas City won't be the team to change Oakland's number in the loss column.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES 23; NEW YORK GIANTS 20

Giants have been susceptible to last minute losses and Tom Dempsey will be ready to bounce New York if the game is tight going into the final minutes.

PITTSBURGH 28; NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS 27

Sure to be a close battle, but Steelers must win this contest to keep playoff hopes alive, while ailing Patriots have less at stake.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS 20; NEW ORLEANS SAINTS 10

Cards won't be beaten by sub .500 teams on two successive Sundays.

Monday, December 9

WASHINGTON REDSKINS 16; LOS ANGELES RAMS 14

If 'Skins can stop LA ground game in this Monday night finale, George Allen and charges can top the NFC Western Division titleholders.

LAST TWO WEEKS: 18-9 .667

SEASON: 98-51-1 .653, including 8 exact spreads

Swimwomen crush records

By LAURIE WHITING
Sports Staff

The UMass Women's Swim Team has an official 2-1 record after their decisive win over the University of New Hampshire Wednesday night.

Pool records have been being broken since the team's opening meet, but they really took a beating Wednesday, as four new records were established. The 200 Medley relay record was the first to go as Penny Noyes, Diane Perry, Reenie Groden, and Roxanne Balducci were clocked at 2:07.0. Relay member Penny Noyes also set pool records in the 50 and 100 yard backstroke at 29.9 and 1:05.3 respectively, taking firsts in both. Reenie Groden shot the last record with an impressive 50 yard freestyle time of 27.0. Reenie also won the 100 yard free.

Diane Perry had a good night as she placed first in her specialties; both the 50 and 100-yard breaststroke events. Karen Johnson also placed first in the 200 I.M. UMass divers dominated as Carol Canterbury and Janine Wong placed first and second. Carol dove well, though she hasn't been able to practice because of a sprained ankle. Taped ankle and all, she finished with a point total of 159.10.

Helping to pile up points were second place finishers of: Cindy Whiting in the 50, 100, and 200 yard free, Lee Hart in the 50 and 100 breaststroke, Doreen Walsh in the 50 fly, Carol Griffiths in the 400 free, and Laurie Whiting in the 200 I.M.

This meet was the team's last before intersession. Until the team comes back on January 13, team members will practice at their own at home. January 13 will bring two practices a day for the swimmers as a heavy February meet schedule follows.

Coach Pat Griffin, confident of the team's efforts says: "I'm very happy about our times so far. We'll be better still next semester."

We love BMW - Fiat - Jaguar and some other imported cars.
CALIFORNIA MOTORS service
30 N. Maple St.
Florence, 586-1841

Labels for Less Sportswear
for Women and Juniors
25% to 50% off reg. price hours 10-6
Fri. til 9
Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Sports
hotline
5-3500

Paterno proposes one-platoon football

NEW YORK (UPI) - Joe Paterno, the Penn State Football Coach, thinks college football teams can find the answer to their financial squeeze right in the NCAA Rule Book.

An old rule book.

"I don't know whether one-platoon football would be less exciting or if it would be discernibly poorer play," Paterno said Thursday. "But I don't think it would hurt to try it."

Paterno is one of the nation's most successful coaches, with only 15 losses in 100 games, all of them played under the unlimited substitution, two-platoon rules that have been in effect since the early 1960's.

But he's ready to change back to limited substitution or one-platoon ball, in which the players must play both offense and defense, because it requires fewer players--and expenses under the current rules are driving college athletic departments near bankruptcy.

"An athletic director has to be judged today on how good a businessman he is," Paterno said.

The biggest expense a college football team has is the scholarships for its players. Current NCAA regulations limit a school to 105 but Paterno figures that could easily be cut to 75 if they went back to one-platoon.

He remembers, for example, as an assistant coach in the early 60's when a traveling squad in those one-platoon days sometimes numbered only 38 to 40 players.

"This year we took 68 players to Pittsburgh and 60 to North Carolina State," Paterno said. "In the old days, you'd pay maybe $7 for a pre-game steak, now it's probably $12. Rooms on the road used to cost $8. Now they're $18. Uniforms cost more, our light bill costs more, the ball we play with costs more, the uniforms we put on our back cost more, even the grass seed for the field costs more than it used to."

Tues., Dec. 10
SPRINGFIELD CIVIC CENTER
BACHMAN-TURNER OVERDRIVE
SPECIAL GUEST STARS
BOB SEGER
$6.00 adv. — $6.50 at the door. open 7 — show 8
Tickets Now Available At:
NEPTUNE WATERBEDS
Century Shopping Plaza
West Springfield
BAGGINS END
South Hadly
MADHATTER
Holy Oak
Music Man
191 E. Main Westfield
WAX N' WANE
Chickcopee and all
TICKETRON locations
BEAVER PRODUCTIONS, INC., 8200 Hampson St., New Orleans, La. (504) 524-1696

SKI SALE
(sponsored by UMass Ski Club)
NEW & USED SKI EQUIPMENT
$150,000 INVENTORY
Boots, Skis, Poles, Bindings,
Clothing & Accessories
DEC. 5 12 noon — 10 p.m.
DEC. 6 10 a.m. — 10 p.m.
DEC. 7 10 a.m. — 5 p.m.
LOWER LEVEL CAMPUS CENTER

Outing Club Members
Compare our packages to E.M.S. You'll be surprised.
Peloton
One East Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass. 01002
(413) 549-6904

Hoopsters slip by Crimson 74-71

By STEVE DECOSTA
Sports Staff

CAMBRIDGE — Last minute heroics by Alex Eldridge and Bill Endicott and a balanced team attack led UMass to a 74-71 victory over Harvard here last night.

The Minutemen scored 11 unanswered points points late in the game, and then held off a last-minute Crimson comeback attempt to carry home the win.

With UMass leading by two, Endicott picked off an errant Harvard pass and fired downcourt to Eldridge, who was fouled on a lay-up for a three-point play.

A pair of free throws by Endicott with five seconds remaining settled the issue.

John Murphy again led UMass with 19 points. But this time he had plenty of help, as Jim Town added 16 and Eldridge chipped in with 15.

The Minutemen somehow managed to win despite losing the battle of the boards by a whopping margin, and shooting only 39 per cent from the floor, compared to 44 per cent for the Crimson.

UMass hadn't been able to grab the lead in the contest until Murphy hit a jumper with 1:47 left to send his mates up by two. Eldridge then went into his act, but Harvard came back with four quick points. But the Crimson couldn't handle the UMass stall, and were forced to foul Endicott.

UMass looked sluggish in the first half, letting Harvard roll up what was once a nine point lead. But, sparked by Eldridge and steadied by another freshman, Derick Claiborne, the Minutemen chipped away and came back to knot the count at 39 at the half.

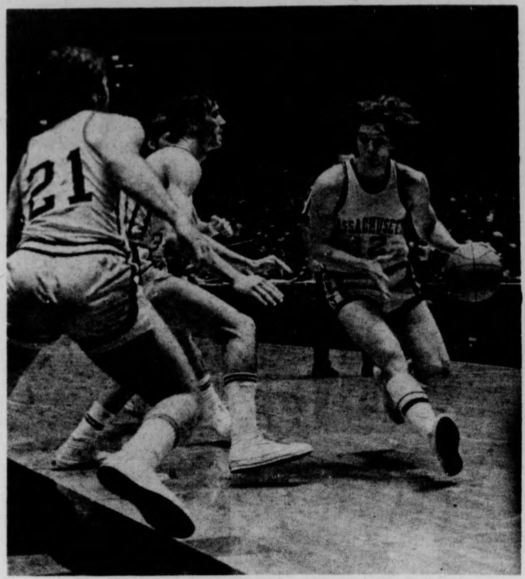
Lou Silver was the big Crimson gun with 18 points until he committed his fifth personal with 3:55 to go. It is certainly not circumstantial that the Minuteman surge started with the departure of the Harvard big man.

Brian Banks was also a big factor in the Crimson attack, dropping in 16 points. Jonas Honick put on a sideline shooting exhibition, throwing in 14 points from the corner.

Jack Leaman shook up his starting lineup in an effort to get more punch into his attack. Steve Mayfield and Greg Duarte were surprise starters, but UMass failed to mount an offense until the subs, mainly Eldridge, Claiborne, and Town made the scene.

The loss dropped Harvard to 1-1 on the season, while the Minutemen now stand at 2-1.

UMass comes home to the Cage Saturday night for its Yankee Conference opener against Rhode Island.



Senior co-captain Bill Endicott, shown here in previous action, combined with first-year man Jim Town to pull out a come from behind 74-71 victory over Harvard last night. Endicott made a crucial steal and sank two foul shots late in the game to win it for the Minutemen.

Skaters return home to vie with Vermont powers

By RICH SEVIERI
Sports Staff

After three straight road losses, the third when your opponent scores three times in the final 1:35 of the game to make up a two goal deficit, there's only one thing to do. Click the boots of your skates together three times and repeat over and over again... there's no place like home... there's no place like home.

UMass will be trying to end that losing streak when they return to the friendly confines of Orr Rink for two games this weekend. Those two perennial strong skating clubs from Vermont, Norwich and Middlebury, will be the opponents.

The Norwich Cadets will take a 3-4 overall record (1-2 Division II) into tonight's game (8:00) with the Minutemen. Norwich's lone Division II win came in the opening round of the Skatethree Tournament over Lowell Tech. They gave Merrimack a tough time before bowing in the tournament final, 5-3. Merrimack blew them off the ice, 11-6, on Tuesday night.

Norwich's top line is centered by Mike Stephenson, who already has 15 points (5 goals, 10 assists) in the young season. Ken McGreagor and Ed Kadigan are the wings on the prolific scoring all-junior line.

Norwich's weak point so far this season has been in goal. Jay Peacock, who replaced little all american Billy Cantwell in the nets, has been beaten for 40 goals in the six games that he has started. The loss of No. 1 defenseman Jeff Baldwin with a broken collarbone has hurt the Cadets in their own zone.

On Saturday afternoon at 3:00, UMass will face-off against an undefeated Middlebury (3-0) team.

Middlebury may be the surprise team in Division II. They swept a two game swing through Quebec, with wins over the College Militare Royale and Canadian Air Force, and on Tuesday night, upset Salem State (rated No. 2 in Div. II) 4-3.

Middlebury is a young team with two well balanced lines. Team captain Fred Bredman centers wings Peter Prescott and Jake Leary on a checking line. The second line of Randy Sedarski, Harry Crump and Brian Matson have been doing most of the scoring for Middlebury.

Middlebury has also been having trouble finding a goalie. Greg Adams, a junior from Montreal, will be in the nets on Saturday afternoon.

UMass will have to tighten up their penalty killing and get solid two-way performances from their forwards over the weekend. Even at this young stage of the season, anything less than a split will put a damper on the Minutemen's playoff chances.

Scott McChesney, UMass's freshman center from Ludlow, will be out from 4 - 6 weeks with a hairline fracture of his tibia.

Rhody buries matmen; MIT, Wesleyan next

By JOHN BOCK
Sports Staff

There is very little that can be said in the way of post-mortem after Wednesday evening's 38-7 napalming that the Minutemen wrestlers received at the hands of Rhode Island. There were only three bright spots the whole evening for UMass and strangely enough they coincide with the 7 points that UMass put on the board.

Steve Jabaut defeated Marty Perriera at 150 by virtue of two takedowns, as escape, and riding time. The 6-2 score was not really indicative of the bout as it was one of the few times that UMass was not having its face shoved into the mat, but was doing the shoving instead. Co-captain Cliff Blom, wrestling his first match at 158 since his knee injury at the Colgate Open, pressed URI's John Richard the whole match but could only wrestle to a 2-2 draw.

Dennis Fenton, still feeling the effects of a season of football, outlasted Ray Miro in the third period and earned a draw after Miro had taken him down with seconds left in the first period. The last time these two heavyweights wrestled was in the finals of the New England University Tournament and Fenton was the victor by a 13-4 margin.

Overall the Rams were rewarded by being the aggressor to the point that UMass looked like they would rather observe the match than wrestle. The stats were horribly one sided. Eleven takedowns for URI; six for UMass. Eight near falls for the Rams; one for the Minutemen. And last but certainly not least — FOUR pins by Rhode Island and a big 0 for UMass.

The next time the Minutemen face URI will be in February at the Yankee Conference Tournament to be held at Boston University.

Saturday UMass hopes to rebound against MIT and Wesleyan University in a tri match at Wesleyan. The scouting report on MIT reveals them fairly strong at 118, 177, and heavyweight. They have a really BIG boy in heavyweight Erlin Van Lithe-de-Jude. The 340 pound youngster placed third in the small college New England's and looked very good in pre-season against Hofstra's All-America candidate Don Mayorga.

Wesleyan has lost Coach John Vino, and a few starters to graduation. UMass will go with the same line-up except Tom Hill will fill in for the injured Tom Fallon at 142 pounds. Fallon tore ligaments in his ankle and has a knee ailment, too.

UPI Telephoto

CALL TO ARMS: Flailing arms fill the air during series of fights at Boston Garden during second period of last night's Bruin's-Red Wings game. Involved in the fracas are Bruins Andre Savard (No. 11), holding Wings' Bryan Watson, and Dave Forbes (No. 14) fighting Detroit's Earl Anderson flew past the Bruins, 6-4.

Dionne nets hat trick, Wings clip B's, 6-4

BOSTON (AP) Marcel Dionne scored three goals and rookie Earl Anderson two Thursday night in sparking the lowly Detroit Red Wings to a 6-4 National Hockey League victory over the Boston Bruins.

Dionne scored his 11th goal on a power play in triggering Detroit to a 3-0 first period lead. He hiked the count to 4-0 in the second period and then added an insurance goal at 18:32 of the finale after Boston had closed to within 5-4.

It marked the third time in his NHL career that Dionne had scored three goals in a game.

Anderson, a young right wing, scored 39 seconds after Dionne's first goal. He then tallied his third goal of the season with 40 seconds to go in the second period.

The Bruins, who outshot the Red Wings 42-22, were first-rated by goalie Doug Grant. Boston got only one goal on 26 shots on net in the first two periods, Bobby Schmautz tallying at 13:08 of the middle session.

Johnny Bucyk, Don Marcotte and Dave Forbes scored for Boston in the third period.

The victory was only the third in the last 12 games for Detroit. The loss was just the second in 13 home games for the Bruins.

Layoffs possible

'Target figures' show budget slash

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

The $305 million fiscal year 1976 budget request for Massachusetts higher education - including UMass -- will be cut to $164.2 million under "target figures" for administrative agencies announced Friday in Boston.

The top budget advisor for Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis, in confirming the higher education "target figure" said yesterday the slash will mean no new jobs at UMass-Amherst if it is met — any may spell layoffs.

In a telephone interview with a Collegian reporter, Sec. of Administration and Finance John R. Buckley said UMass faces a 35 per cent cut over present expenditures. "There will be cuts across the board, including the University of Massachusetts," Buckley said by phone from his Abbington home.

Campus officials were not available for comment yesterday. Howard White, a spokesman for UMass President Robert C. Wood, said the University would have no immediate comment on the proposed target figure.

It is difficult to tell how firm such a target figure is in the minds of Dukakis aides. The figures distributed to cabinet-level undersecretaries of the new administration Friday reflect 30 per cent cuts in human services as well.

Massachusetts is not the only state facing budget cuts this year. See related story on page 15.

In Massachusetts, higher education policy and budgets are formulated by the State Board of Higher Education. Patrick McCarthy is the executive director of the Board, made up of private citizens appointed by the governor for limited terms.

The University of Massachssetts trustees, another lay board, technically must submit its budgets requests through the Board. By law, the requests then go to the Governor's desk rather than through the Secretary of Education.

McCarthy said the Board of Higher Education would have to interpret the effect of cutting their $305 million request to $164.2 million.

"Obviously it's a drastic cut. I'm not going to guess at the effect. It's too serious to guess," he said in a telephone interview yesterday. He said the $305 million request is what is "needed" for public higher education -- including the $116

turn to page 2

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545 3500
VOLUME CII, ISSUE 63 AMHERST, MA MONDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1974

UMass booze problem decried

By MARK VOGLER

AMHERST— Health officials, administrators and students at the University of Massachusetts say alcohol abuse tops all other troubles on the college campus today.

In fact some authorities estimate that as many as 3,000 students in the Five-College Area are having a drinking problem. A small percentage are candidates for tomorrow's alcoholics.

What has become one of life's pleasures for approximately 80 to 90 per cent of the university community--according to Barry W. Averill, director of UMass Health Services--is potential poison for about 10 per cent of the student population.

The consensus of his colleagues is that the student drunk is not limited to the city-like atmosphere of UMass, but also inhabits the neighboring colleges of Amherst, Smith, Hampshire and Mt. Holyoke with proportional frequency.

In Averill's view, "there are probably no more than two per cent alcoholics on this campus." That would mean that approximately 460 UMass students are addicted while 1840 others may be headed down that road.

Beginning today in a three-part series former Collegian investigative and political reporter Mark Vogler will take a close look at the drinking scene in the Five College Area.

The UMass graduate--now a free lance writer--decided to explore problem drinking after a summer's learning experience. He was convicted twice during a two-month period of driving under the influence of alcohol.

"It usually takes 15 to 20 years for a serious problem to manifest itself, but there are some students who really work at it and become dependent upon it physiologically and mentally," Averill said.

"Some of the risks these people face in later life are cirrhosis of the liver, heart problems and social disruption of their families—not to mention serious harm they may cause themselves and those around them."

The U.S. Department of Health in its second special report to Congress last July disclosed that drinking among American youth has increased dramatically.

According to the 219-page document, preliminary findings from the 1974 National survey of junior and senior high school students indicates that among seventh graders, 63 per cent of the boys and 54 per cent of the girls have had a drink...the proportion of teenage drinkers increased with grade to 93 per cent of twelfth-grade boys and 87 per cent of twelfth-grade girls.

The drinking dilemma of the college scene is a fairly new phenomenon which is only beginning to come into focus.

Not until the legal drinking age was lowered to 18 on March 1, 1973 did officials in Massachusetts begin to diagnose the problem—in terms of "carnage on the highways."

A study compiled by three MIT researchers determined the new law to be responsible for a 40 per cent increase in the number of young drivers involved in fatal accidents and reported to have been drinking.

According to statistics provided by the state Registry of Motor Vehicles, 3.8 per cent of the highway deaths (994) occurring from March 1, 1972-Feb. 28, 1973 involved 18 to 21-year-old drivers under the influence.

During that same period immediately following the lowering of the legal drinking age, 9.2 per cent of all traffic fatalities (972) resulted from drunk drivers in the 18 to 21-age bracket.

Acting in response to criticism from the state's Department of

turn to page 16

Is drinking a problem or a necessity on campus?

UMass sociology prof. died suddenly Friday

By ROBERTA MARTONE
Staff Reporter

UMass associate professor in Sociology, John F. O'Rourke, collapsed and died Friday at 9:45 a.m. on North Pleasant St. in Amherst, according to the Amherst Police Department.

An unidentified observer said she saw O'Rourke, who was in a car, pull over to the side of North Pleasant St. in front of Arnold Hall. He then ran across the street towards the Graduate Research Center, where he fell, the observer said.

O'Rourke, 43, of Pratt Corner Road, Shutesbury, joined the UMass faculty in 1962. He received his BA from UMass in 1956, and his doctorate at Yale in 1963.

O'Rourke is largely responsible for the development of a graduate program in sociology at UMass. When he died, he was director of graduate studies.

His concentrations in sociology were the demography of aging, and social interations and small groups.

O'Rourke was a member of five professional associations including The National Council on Aging. He was a member of the New England Regional Advisory Committee on Aging, and the permanent advisory subcommittee on research and evaluation for the State Office of Elderly Affairs.

O'Rourke was also consultant to the Amherst and Holyoke Councils on Aging.

He leaves his wife, Janet, and three daughters, all at home.

INSIDE:

The Democrats closed their mini-convention yesterday on a note of unity and with reform proposals. The Republicans also announced plans for increased minority representation. For more details, see page 6.

Black affairs — page 9

editorial and letters — page 12

national and local sports — page 21-24

WEATHER:

Today will be windy and cold with high temperatures in the low 40's. Tonight it will be fair and continuing cold through Tuesday. The winds will be northwest 20 to 30 m.p.h. The probability of precipitation 20 per cent today and tonight.

Collegian supplement

RSO groups to be listed

The Daily Collegian, with the Student Senate Communications Council, will publish a two-page supplement at the beginning of next semester listing and describing the activities of all UMass and 5-college groups, Editor-in-Chief Jerry Lazar said recently.

Only groups which voluntarily submit reports on their activities to the Communications Council by December 21 will be listed in the special supplement, Lazar said.

Material must be submitted according to standard format. The Collegian does not have sufficient volunteer staff to solicit or write the material independently.

If there is a large response to this request, data from groups will have to be shortened to fit the two pages. The entire report should be no longer than one page, double-spaced typed.

—list official name of group, estimated number of members, names, addresses and phones of principle two leaders.

—list source and amount of funding. Membership dues (if any).

—requirements for membership (if any).

—examples of specific activities.

—customary meeting times and dates.

—signature and phone number of President or chief coordinator.

Car and truck owners reminded to register

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles reminds motorists that all truck, trailer, tractor, bus and other annual registrations expire on December 31.

Registrar David Lucey said over the weekend passenger car plates which end with the letter "Y" and have a green decal showing an expiration date of December, 1974 also must be renewed for 1975.

Owners whose motor vehicle registrations expire December 31st, who have not received a computerized renewal form, should notify their insurance company immediately.

Renewals by mail must be sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles at 100 Nashua Street, Boston 02114.

Holders of 1974 registrations who do not intend to renew for 1975 must return the registration plates and certificate to one of the registry offices so as to insure against possible continuation of insurance charges and additional excise taxes.

Hoopsters slip by Crimson 74-71

By STEVE DECOSTA
Sports Staff

CAMBRIDGE — Last minute heroics by Alex Eldridge and Bill Endicott and a balanced team attack led UMass to a 74-71 victory over Harvard here last night.

The Minutemen scored 11 unanswered points points late in the game, and then held off a last-minute Crimson comeback attempt to carry home the win.

With UMass leading by two, Endicott picked off an errant Harvard pass and fired downcourt to Eldridge, who was fouled on a lay-up for a three-point play.

A pair of free throws by Endicott with five seconds remaining settled the issue.

John Murphy again led UMass with 19 points. But this time he had plenty of help, as Jim Town added 16 and Eldridge chipped in with 15.

The Minutemen somehow managed to win despite losing the battle of the boards by a whopping margin, and shooting only 39 per cent from the floor, compared to 44 per cent for the Crimson.

UMass hadn't been able to grab the lead in the contest until Murphy hit a jumper with 1:47 left to send his mates up by two. Eldridge then went into his act, but Harvard came back with four quick points. But the Crimson couldn't handle the UMass stall, and were forced to foul Endicott.

UMass looked sluggish in the first half, letting Harvard roll up what was once a nine point lead. But, sparked by Eldridge and steadied by another freshman, Derick Claiborne, the Minutemen chipped away and came back to knot the count at 39 at the half.

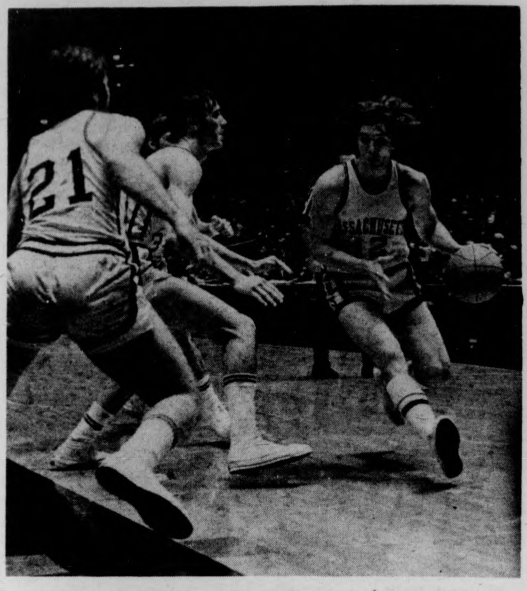
Lou Silver was the big Crimson gun with 18 points until he committed his fifth personal with 3:55 to go. It is certainly not circumstantial that the Minuteman surge started with the departure of the Harvard big man.

Brian Banks was also a big factor in the Crimson attack, dropping in 16 points. Jonas Honick put on a sideline shooting exhibition, throwing in 14 points from the corner.

Jack Leaman shook up his starting lineup in an effort to get more punch into his attack. Steve Mayfield and Greg Duarte were surprise starters, but UMass failed to mount an offense until the subs, mainly Eldridge, Claiborne, and Town made the scene.

The loss dropped Harvard to 1-1 on the season, while the Minutemen now stand at 2-1.

UMass comes home to the Cage Saturday night for its Yankee Conference opener against Rhode Island.



Senior co-captain Bill Endicott, shown here in previous action, combined with first-year man Jim Town to pull out a come from behind 74-71 victory over Harvard last night. Endicott made a crucial steal and sank two foul shots late in the game to win it for the Minutemen.

Skaters return home to vie with Vermont powers

By RICH SEVIERI
Sports Staff

After three straight road losses, the third when your opponent scores three times in the final 1:35 of the game to make up a two goal deficit, there's only one thing to do. Click the boots of your skates together three times and repeat over and over again... there's no place like home... there's no place like home.

UMass will be trying to end that losing streak when they return to the friendly confines of Orr Rink for two games this weekend. Those two perennial strong skating clubs from Vermont, Norwich and Middlebury, will be the opponents.

The Norwich Cadets will take a 3-4 overall record (1-2 Division II) into tonight's game (8:00) with the Minutemen. Norwich's lone Division II win came in the opening round of the Skatethree Tournament over Lowell Tech. They gave Merrimack a tough time before bowing in the tournament final, 5-3. Merrimack blew them off the ice, 11-6, on Tuesday night.

Norwich's top line is centered by Mike Stephenson, who already has 15 points (5 goals, 10 assists) in the young season. Ken McGreagor and Ed Kadigan are the wings on the prolific scoring all-junior line.

Norwich's weak point so far this season has been in goal. Jay Peacock, who replaced little all american Billy Cantwell in the nets, has been beaten for 40 goals in the six games that he has started. The loss of No. 1 defenseman Jeff Baldwin with a broken collarbone has hurt the Cadets in their own zone.

On Saturday afternoon at 3:00, UMass will face-off against an undefeated Middlebury (3-0) team.

Middlebury may be the surprise team in Division II. They swept a two game swing through Quebec, with wins over the College Militare Royale and Canadian Air Force, and on Tuesday night, upset Salem State (rated No. 2 in Div. II) 4-3.

Middlebury is a young team with two well balanced lines. Team captain Fred Bredman centers wings Peter Prescott and Jake Leary on a checking line. The second line of Randy Sedarski, Harry Crump and Brian Matson have been doing most of the scoring for Middlebury.

Middlebury has also been having trouble finding a goalie. Greg Adams, a junior from Montreal, will be in the nets on Saturday afternoon.

UMass will have to tighten up their penalty killing and get solid two-way performances from their forwards over the weekend. Even at this young stage of the season, anything less than a split will put a damper on the Minutemen's playoff chances.

Scott McChesney, UMass's freshman center from Ludlow, will be out from 4 - 6 weeks with a hairline fracture of his tibia.

Rhody buries matmen; MIT, Wesleyan next

By JOHN BOCK
Sports Staff

There is very little that can be said in the way of post-mortem after Wednesday evening's 38-7 napalming that the Minutemen wrestlers received at the hands of Rhode Island. There were only three bright spots the whole evening for UMass and strangely enough they coincide with the 7 points that UMass put on the board.

Steve Jabaut defeated Marty Perriera at 150 by virtue of two takedowns, as escape, and riding time. The 6-2 score was not really indicative of the bout as it was one of the few times that UMass was not having its face shoved into the mat, but was doing the shoving instead. Co-captain Cliff Blom, wrestling his first match at 158 since his knee injury at the Colgate Open, pressed URI's John Richard the whole match but could only wrestle to a 2-2 draw.

Dennis Fenton, still feeling the effects of a season of football, outlasted Ray Miro in the third period and earned a draw after Mirc had taken him down with seconds left in the first period. The last time these two heavyweights wrestled was in the finals of the New England University Tournament and Fenton was the victor by a 13-4 margin.

Overall the Rams were rewarded by being the aggressor to the point that UMass looked like they would rather observe the match than wrestle. The stats were horribly one sided. Eleven takedowns for URI; six for UMass. Eight near falls for the Rams; one for the Minutemen. And last but certainly not least — FOUR pins by Rhode Island and a big 0 for UMass.

The next time the Minutemen face URI will be in February at the Yankee Conference Tournament to be held at Boston University.

Saturday UMass hopes to rebound against MIT and Wesleyan University in a tri match at Wesleyan. The scouting report on MIT reveals them fairly strong at 118, 177, and heavyweight. They have a really BIG boy in heavyweight Erlin Van Lithe-de-Jude. The 340 pound youngster placed third in the small college New England's and looked very good in pre-season against Hofstra's All-America candidate Don Mayorga.

Wesleyan has lost Coach John Vino, and a few starters to graduation. UMass will go with the same line-up except Tom Hill will fill in for the injured Tom Fallon at 142 pounds. Fallon tore ligaments in his ankle and has a knee ailment, too.

UPI Telephoto

CALL TO ARMS: Flailing arms fill the air during series of fights at Boston Garden during second period of last night's Bruin's-Red Wings game. Involved in the fracas are Bruins Andre Savard (No. 11), holding Wings' Bryan Watson, and Dave Forbes (No. 14) fighting Detroit's Earl Anderson flew past the Bruins, 6-4.

Dionne nets hat trick, Wings clip B's, 6-4

BOSTON (AP) Marcel Dionne scored three goals and rookie Earl Anderson two Thursday night in sparking the lowly Detroit Red Wings to a 6-4 National Hockey League victory over the Boston Bruins.

Dionne scored his 11th goal on a power play in triggering Detroit to a 3-0 first period lead. He hiked the count to 4-0 in the second period and then added an insurance goal at 18:32 of the finale after Boston had closed to within 5-4.

It marked the third time in his NHL career that Dionne had scored three goals in a game.

Anderson, a young right wing, scored 39 seconds after Dionne's first goal. He then tallied his third goal of the season with 40 seconds to go in the second period.

The Bruins, who outshot the Red Wings 42-22, were first-rated by goalie Doug Grant. Boston got only one goal on 26 shots on net in the first two periods, Bobby Schmautz tallying at 13:08 of the middle session.

Johnny Bucyk, Don Marcotte and Dave Forbes scored for Boston in the third period.

The victory was only the third in the last 12 games for Detroit. The loss was just the second in 13 home games for the Bruins.

Layoffs possible

'Target figures' show budget slash

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

The $305 million fiscal year 1976 budget request for Massachusetts higher education - including UMass -- will be cut to $164.2 million under "target figures" for administrative agencies announced Friday in Boston.

The top budget advisor for Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis, in confirming the higher education "target figure" said yesterday the slash will mean no new jobs at UMass-Amherst if it is met — any may spell layoffs.

In a telephone interview with a Collegian reporter, Sec. of Administration and Finance John R. Buckley said UMass faces a 35 per cent cut over present expenditures. "There will be cuts across the board, including the University of Massachusetts," Buckley said by phone from his Abbington home.

Campus officials were not available for comment yesterday. Howard White, a spokesman for UMass President Robert C. Wood, said the University would have no immediate comment on the proposed target figure.

It is difficult to tell how firm such a target figure is in the minds of Dukakis aides. The figures distributed to cabinet-level undersecretaries of the new administration Friday reflect 30 per cent cuts in human services as well.

In Massachusetts, higher education policy and budgets are formulated by the State Board of Higher Education. Patrick McCarthy is the executive director of the Board, made up of private citizens appointed by the governor for limited terms.

Massachusetts is not the only state facing budget cuts this year. See related story on page 15.

The University of Massachsetts trustees, another lay board, technically must submit its budgets requests through the Board. By law, the requests then go to the Governor's desk rather than through the Secretary of Education.

McCarthy said the Board of Higher Education would have to interpret the effect of cutting their $305 million request to $164.2 million.

"Obviously it's a drastic cut. I'm not going to guess at the effect. It's too serious to guess," he said in a telephone interview yesterday. He said the $305 million request is what is "needed" for public higher education -- including the $116

turn to page 2

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545 3500
VOLUME CII, ISSUE 63 AMHERST, MA MONDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1974

UMass booze problem decried

By MARK VOGLER

AMHERST— Health officials, administrators and students at the University of Massachusetts say alcohol abuse tops all other troubles on the college campus today.

In fact some authorities estimate that as many as 3,000 students in the Five-College Area are having a drinking problem. A small percentage are candidates for tomorrow's alcoholics.

What has become one of life's pleasures for approximately 80 to 90 per cent of the university community--according to Barry W. Averill, director of UMass Health Services--is potential poison for about 10 per cent of the student population.

The consensus of his colleagues is that the student drunk is not limited to the city-like atmosphere of UMass, but also inhabits the neighboring colleges of Amherst, Smith, Hampshire and Mt. Holyoke with proportional frequency.

Beginning today in a three-part series former Collegian investigative and political reporter Mark Vogler will take a close look at the drinking scene in the Five College Area.

The UMass graduate--now a free lance writer--decided to explore problem drinking after a summer's learning experience. He was convicted twice during a two-month period of driving under the influence of alcohol.

In Averill's view, "there are probably no more than two per cent alcoholics on this campus." That would mean that approximately 460 UMass students are addicted while 1840 others may be headed down that road.

"It usually takes 15 to 20 years for a serious problem to manifest itself, but there are some students who really work at it and become dependent upon it physiologically and mentally," Averill said.

"Some of the risks these people face in later life are cirrhosis of the liver, heart problems and social disruption of their families—not to mention serious harm they may cause themselves and those around them."

The U.S. Department of Health in its second special report to Congress last July disclosed that drinking among American youth has increased dramatically.

According to the 219-page document, preliminary findings from the 1974 National survey of junior and senior high school students indicates that among seventh graders, 63 per cent of the boys and 54 per cent of the girls have had a drink...the proportion of teenage drinkers increased with grade to 93 per cent of twelfth-grade boys and 87 per cent of twelfth-grade girls.

The drinking dilemma of the college scene is a fairly new phenomenon which is only beginning to come into focus.

Not until the legal drinking age was lowered to 18 on March 1, 1973 did officials in Massachusetts begin to diagnose the problem—in terms of "carnage on the highways."

A study compiled by three MIT researchers determined the new law to be responsible for a 40 per cent increase in the number of young drivers involved in fatal accidents and reported to have been drinking.

According to statistics provided by the state Registry of Motor Vehicles, 3.8 per cent of the highway deaths (994) occurring from March 1, 1972-Feb. 28, 1973 involved 18 to 21-year-old drivers under the influence.

During that same period immediately following the lowering of the legal drinking age, 9.2 per cent of all traffic fatalities (972) resulted from drunk drivers in the 18 to 21-age bracket.

Acting in response to criticism from the state's Department of

turn to page 16

Is drinking a problem or a necessity on campus?

UMass sociology prof. died suddenly Friday

By ROBERTA MARTONE
Staff Reporter

UMass associate professor in Sociology, John F. O'Rourke, collapsed and died Friday at 9:45 a.m. on North Pleasant St. in Amherst, according to the Amherst Police Department.

An unidentified observer said she saw O'Rourke, who was in a car, pull over to the side of North Pleasant St. in front of Arnold Hall. He then ran across the street towards the Graduate Research Center, where he fell, the observer said.

O'Rourke, 43, of Pratt Corner Road, Shutesbury, joined the UMass faculty in 1962. He received his BA from UMass in 1956, and his doctorate at Yale in 1963.

O'Rourke is largely responsible for the development of a graduate program in sociology at UMass. When he died, he was director of graduate studies.

His concentrations in sociology were the demography of aging, and social interations and small groups.

O'Rourke was a member of five professional associations including The National Council on Aging. He was a member of the New England Regional Advisory Committee on Aging, and the permanent advisory subcommittee on research and evaluation for the State Office of Elderly Affairs.

O'Rourke was also consultant to the Amherst and Holyoke Councils on Aging.

He leaves his wife, Janet, and three daughters, all at home.

INSIDE:

The Democrats closed their mini-convention yesterday on a note of unity and with reform proposals. The Republicans also announced plans for increased minority representation. For more details, see page 6.

Black affairs — page 9
editorial and letters — page 12
national and local sports — page 21-24

WEATHER:

Today will be windy and cold with high temperatures in the low 40's. Tonight it will be fair and continuing cold through Tuesday. The winds will be northwest 20 to 30 m.p.h. The probability of precipitation 20 per cent today and tonight.

Collegian supplement

RSO groups to be listed

The Daily Collegian, with the Student Senate Communications Council, will publish a two-page supplement at the beginning of next semester listing and describing the activities of all UMass and 5-college groups, Editor-in-Chief Jerry Lazar said recently.

Only groups which voluntarily submit reports on their activities to the Communications Council by December 21 will be listed in the special supplement, Lazar said.

Material must be submitted according to standard format. The Collegian does not have sufficient volunteer staff to solicit or write the material independently.

If there is a large response to this request, data from groups will have to be shortened to fit the two pages. The entire report should be no longer than one page, double-spaced typed.

—list official name of group, estimated number of members, names, addresses and phones of principle two leaders.

—list source and amount of funding. Membership dues (if any).

—requirements for membership (if any).

—examples of specific activities.

—customary meeting times and dates.

—signature and phone number of President or chief coordinator.

Car and truck owners reminded to register

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles reminds motorists that all truck, trailer, tractor, bus and other annual registrations expire on December 31.

Registrar David Lucey said over the weekend passenger car plates which end with the letter "Y" and have a green decal showing an expiration date of December, 1974 also must be renewed for 1975.

Owners whose motor vehicle registrations expire December 31st, who have not received a computerized renewal form, should notify their insurance company immediately.

Renewals by mail must be sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles at 100 Nashua Street, Boston 02114.

Holders of 1974 registrations who do not intend to renew for 1975 must return the registration plates and certificate to one of the registry offices so as to insure against possible continuation of insurance charges and additional excise taxes.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS
Jerry Lazar
Editor-in-Chief

Bill Densmore
Managing Editor

Geoff Kurinsky
Business Manager

Dean Tucker
Executive Editor

Mike Kneeland
News Editor

Dave Eibel
Sports Editor

Steve Ruggles
Photo Editor

Mike Kostek
Below the Salt Editor

Sherwood Thompson
Black Affairs Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS
E. Patrick McQuaid
Five College Editor
———
Fred Gosiewski
State National Editor
———
B.J. Roche
Life-Style Editor

Bill Parent
Assistant Executive Editor

Kathy Sheehan, Frits Geurtsen
Assistant News Editors

Steve Saraceno
Assistant Sports Editor

Dennis Conlon
Assistant Photo Editor
--
Betsy Hawkins
Circulation-Production Manager

Janice Lazzaro
Advertising Manager

David Sokol, Fred Weiss
Assistant Salt Editors

Cal Whitworth
Assistant Black Affairs Editor

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal views of the authors.

The Collegian subscribes to the Associated Press and United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9
Newsstand price:	10 cents
Faculty, staff:	5 cents

On-campus delivery guaranteed by 10 a.m.

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee.

Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow 2 weeks for delivery start.

The office of the DAILY COLLEGIAN is on the second floor of the Student Union on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone: 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. THE DAILY COLLEGIAN publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods or holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Staff Photo by Robert Smerling

Students and friends gathered last night to celebrate the first night of Chanukah. After the lighting of the first candle, the crowd dances in celebration of the two thousand year holiday.

Globe panel of editors here tonight

By BILL DENSMORE

Editors and reporters from The Boston Globe will join two UMass professors and a student editor of the Daily Collegian tonight to discuss national and world problems, including the Presidency.

The group will appear as part of a panel discussion at 8 p.m. on Thompson Hall, room 106. The panel discussion, open to the public, will be broadcast live over WFCR radio.

Executive editor Robert Healy and Globe staffers Thomas Oliphant, Martin F. Nolan, David Nyan and Steven Wermiel will join professors Ralph Whitehead of journalism and Jerry Mileur of political science. Outgoing Collegian managing editor Bill Densmore will also be on the panel.

An informal get together with the Globe staffers will be open to Collegian staff members after the panel. The meeting will be about 9 p.m. in 1002 Campus Center.

Dukakis 'target figure' seen causing staff layoffs, fund cuts if adopted million UMass budget request.

"The board of Higher Education will very carefully examine the budget and tell the governor and his staff what the effect of such cuts will be," he said. The examination would be in terms of "programs lost, students lost and educational opportunities lost."

McCarthy said if Dukakis sticks to the $164.2 million figure, "it will not be a question of what new jobs will go, it will be a question of who he is going to fire."

He said it was the reponsibility of the Board to tell the Governor what is needed. "Now the Governor, in his political judgement, will have to decide what he can afford."

Buckley said a final budget for higher education will not be submitted by Dukakis to the Legislature until all segments of higher education are consulted.

"We will seek input from the Board of Trustees, the students, the faculty -- wherever we can get it," he said.

He said higher education might be spared if greater cuts were made in other programs. "We're just in a terrible bind budgetwise...the state budget has been allowed to grow without check for ten years," Buckley said. He said growth in education will have to be "re-examined."

Asked if the 30 per cent figure will be adhered to, Buckley said: "It better be." He said new taxes will be inevitable if it is not.

In another development, State Rep. James G. Collins, (D-Amherst) said yesterday he would seek a meeting with Dukakis to talk about the massive proposed cuts. He said if such cuts become a reality, Dukakis will almost surely lose much of his support on Beacon Hill.

Collins was Dukakis' campaign coordinator in Amherst for his November landslide victory over Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent. Dukakis won Amherst by nearly 3 to 1 in that election.

"If he really does this, he's broken some promises," Collins said. The $164.2 million figure, if adhered to, would spell layoffs and firings in public higher education, in the view of Patrick E. McCarthy, chancellor of the state Board of Higher Education.

Under the target figure, "there would have to be attrition in some other area of education" to accommodate new positions need at the UMass Medical School in Worcester so that the teaching hospital can open, Buckley said. It would appear to rule out receipt of 78 new staff positions requested by UMass-Amherst in its fiscal 1976 budget.

The target figures are part of a publically voiced Dukakis attempt to trim the state budget by about $100 million for the next fiscal year. Staffers have talked of trimming 15 per cent from the total state budget including inflation.

This year's higher education budget is $231 million and $305 million request for fiscal year 1976 to the Governor, according to McCarthy.

The "target figure" given to cabinet administrators Friday was $164.2 million -- a 29 per cent slash. Buckley said it was about 35 per cent. Public health was slated to drop from $67.1 million this year to a "target figure" of $48.8 million.

The mental health budget would be $133.4 million. This year it is $192.9 million. Included in mental health is the budget for the Belchertown State School for the Retarded. Collins was also critical of cuts in this area, saying the Belchertown budget should be increased, not cut.

Buckley said no budget cuts would exceed the target figures. "These are the target figures we need to begin the exchange to see wwere we're at and where the options are," he said.

Told that Collins would seek a meeting with Dukakis, Buckley said: "we're going to have a lot of angry people in here over the next eighteen months."

"In two weeks' time, we've asked the undersecretaries to come back with their specific recommendations," Buckley said. Education policy is difficult to set because the Secretary of Education has no budget-setting authority, he added.

TODAY'S STAFF

Richard Wright Issue Editor
———
Chris Dillard
Night Staff
———
Fred Gosiewski
Wire Editor
———
Ron Arena
Sports Staff
———
Joe Martins
Chris Bourne
Robert Smerling
Debbie Schafer
Photo Staff
———

The Collegian is a school. Participation for the purpose of learning all aspects of newspapering is open to all readers, although primarily for students. Visitors are always welcome to our offices: 2nd floor, UMass student union.

CORRECTION

The Mackimmie Humanity House intersession program will be held from January 13-16. The Registration period is tomorrow, Tuesday from noon to 10 p.m. in the lobby of Mackimmie. The registration fee will be $5 which will cover courses and board during the program.

NOTICE

Tonight there will be a referendum election held on campus that will address the issues of whether there should be a popular election of the student government president and mandatory dorm living.

Dorm residents will be voting in their respective dorms and commuters will be voting in the Colonial Lounge.

WMUA

8:30 a.m. — HIGHTIDES — The moon enters Scorpio this afternoon, and there'll be high Uranian energy at 3 p.m. Tune in and hear what the stars have in store for you!

6:30 p.m. — OFF THE HOOK — Eilish Broderick hosts next semester's station manager Mark Berman and current program director Scott Bacherman in a discussion about MUA. Phone in your questions and comments!

7:00 p.m. — MUSICAL FLASHBACKS — Vinny Peruzzi takes you on a journey through the golden years in music and news of 1955-1962. This is the next to last show of the semester, so don't miss it!

10:15 p.m. — FOCUS — Features tonight are taped excerpts of last Thursday's remarks of gun control advocate Sheriff John Buckley. Ken Mosakowski will also interview Steven Sacks of People vs. Handguns.

+On Nov. 30 MUA held a taping session at the Sanderson Theatre. This Wednesday MUA will be airing the live performance of Chick Corea — Return to Forever Concert taped a week ago last Sat. Don't miss the fine performance, upcoming details will be provided of both time and date.

91.1 FM

Jaime Brockett well received

By DEBBIE SCHAFER
Below the Salt

Musician Jaime Brockett performed before a two-thirds capacity audience at the Student Union Ballroom last Friday night. The performance, presented by the Program Council Music Committee, lasted for three and a half hours and was well received by the audience.

Brockett, who has played at UMass several times in the past, built up a good rapport with the audience during the course of the evening. He mixed his humor and philosophy with the music he played, putting the audience at ease and relaxing with them.

"If I ever get it together, I'll come back here to UMass first," Brockett told the crowd. "You've really got a lot of class," he said after someone handed him a can of genuine Coors beer.

Brockett played a variety of music, the majority of which he appropriately termed "acoustic boogie." The songs ranged from a dulcimer solo, to works by Tom Paxton, and Dylan's "All along the Watchtower."

Brockett returned for two encores, but refused to do his noted "Legend of the U.S.S. Titanic". He explained that he was really sick of the song; "and if I'm fucking me, then I'm fucking you too," he said.

He seemed honest about himself and honest about his music, but without taking himself too seriously at the same time. "Life is a series of humorous pitfalls," said Brockett.

The music was good, the atmosphere congenial, and despite the physical setting of the S.U.B. Brockett's concert was most enjoyable. And it only cost a dollar — you can't beat that.

Staff Photo by Chris Bourne

Jaime Brockett played some fine acoustic boogie music at the Student Union Ballroom Friday night, and everyone there had a good time.

Justice served: Northampton district court

By JIM KASSNER
Staff Reporter

The judge is an ominous site, dwarfed by the hundreds of volumes of books behind him. He is (or appears to be) listening intently to a court appointed lawyer arguing a shoplifting case for a young woman. The woman sits quietly at the front of the courtroom, her toddler son playing peacefully at her feet.

The attorney finishes speaking, and suddenly, all eyes turn to the judge. He speaks in a slow monotone, almost instinctively as he recites instructions he has recited a thousand times before:

"Do you want to say anything in your own defense?" he asks. The young mother is startled. She rises, begins to speak, but stops, seeing the eyes of everybody in court upon her. Finally, she says softly, "My son was freezing. I didn't have any money, and he needed that sweater."

She sits down quickly, exercising her right to remain silent. Now, as always, attention shifts back to the judge, as he prepares to deliver his opinion...

This is a scene from the Northampton District Court, a scene that is acted out hundreds of times daily. The court is a busy place, people are constantly entering and leaving, as case after case is presented before the court.

On any given day one is likely to see all types of people awaiting their turn at due process: young parents with children, business executives, blue collar workers, students. All are here because they failed to pay a $10.00 parking ticket, got caught driving under the influence of alcohol, or any other of the hundreds of offenses that are committed each day throughout the state. Whatever the case, a law of some sort has been broken; and is here where guilt or innocence is decided.

Although the Constitution provides that a lawyer may be appointed to a defendant even if he cannnot afford one, some people choose to waive that right. Essentially, they are their own lawyers, a potentially dangerous situation.

Even if you are found guilty of an offense, there is still hope. You may appeal any court decision, or in fact, any sentence, fine, or bail imposed if you feel that it is excessive, or unjust. For example, one UMass student appeared in court to appeal a traffic violation he received for parking in an unauthorized lot on the UMass campus.

Pleading his own case, he felt that the violation was unjust; he believed that his car was not in the parking lot at the time but actually three feet before its entrance. The only witness against him was the police officer who had given him the ticket. After hearing both sides of the case, however, the judge ruled against the student; he would have to pay the $10.00 fine.

Although it can be argued that it is hardly worth the trouble to appeal a $10.00 parking violation, many people choose to go that route. They feel that they are indeed "in the right" and the appeal costs nothing but the time it takes in court.

It can be intimidating to be in court with dozens of eyes staring at you, and with a judge who may appear as if he's sick of the whole thing; you may wonder just hhat kind of chance you have. If you are in court for a relatively minor offense (such as a motor vehicle violation), and have a clean record, there is a good chance that your case will be continued to a later date.

This basically means that if you stay out of trouble for the designated time period (which may be from 3 months to a year), your case will be dropped.

Kosher food served at Hampden

Kosher meal service will be available at Hampden Dining Commons beginning Spring semester. The program will go into effect if there are enough students taking part in the plan to make it workable. The Hillel organization and University Food Services worked together to design this service for students who wish to eat kosher while at the University.

A special meat kosher kitchen has been installed to provide kosher dinners 5 days a week. Times for dinner are: Monday through Thursday--5:00 to 6:30 p.m. and Friday--5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Lunch service is available as part of the Dining Commons Basic Foods service.

Since kosher meals will be available, no kosher exemptions will be granted.

The preparation of the food will be supervised by Rabbi Derin, a Chassidic rabbi and director of Chabad House. He is also assisting in establishing the specific foods to be used for the program. The menus have been developed through the combined efforts of students interested in the program and University Food Services.

Anyone who wants to take part in this program should sign up before Wednesday, December 18, either at the Hillel Office or the Worcester Dining Commons Main Office. The cost of the kosher plan is the same as the regular 10 meal plan.

When paying the semester bill, students should purchase a 10 meal board plan for next semester. When picking up the ticket at registration, students should indicate they are on kosher plan and the meal book will be stamped accordingly. A kosher meal book may be used on all dining commons Basic Foods lines. A book not stamped kosher will not be honored at the kosher dinners.

On campus Subscription Form, Spring Semester

For the fourth year, the Daily Collegian is being delivered to buildings on campus as a service to the faculty and staff.

The Collegian will be delivered to your department every day between 8—10 a.m. for less than 7c per copy.

If you are interested in this service, please fill out the form below and return it to the Collegian office by campus mail, or leave it with your departmental secretary.

Thanks

$5. Sem. $9. Year

Name: ______________________

Room No: ______________________

Building: ______________________

I would like to subscribe for ——semester(s) ————year.

☐ Bill me later ☐ Check or cash enc.

JS-English linkage gets endorsement

By KATHY SHEEHAN
MDC Staff

The Undergraduate Studies Committee has unanimously endorsed that Journalistic Studies "majors" be limited to an English track.

In its report to Professor Joseph Frank, head of the English Department last week, the committee reaffirmed the recommendation made by last year's Undergarduate Studies Committee, and urged the defeat of the pending motion to reconsider the English departmental vote of last spring which established the single track English-JS major.

The committee also recommended securing new personnel of all kinds for journalistic studies, but specifically the appointment of a faculty member for professional counseling in journalism.

The committee gave four reasons for endorsing the controversial English JS major.

First, the committee said the step was an "interim condition" that relieved the JS program from its present role as a "service" to several different departments, and "it permits some immediate building of a coherent, separate curriculum," developing towards status as an independent department.

Students were previously allowed to have a minor in JS even though their major was no English. Such double majors as Political Science-JS and Psychology-JS were allowed before this ruling.

The committee also said they were impressed by the students' vote of confidence of the proposed major at a November 18 Academic Affairs Committee meeting although only some 30 students out of approximately 200 JS "majors" appeared at the meeting.

A third reason for their decision was their belief that the new program would be more, not less, flexible so far as election of courses in the social science and elsewhere because the new program requires only 33 credits in a joint major instead of the old requirement of 30-plus credits in a complete major plus 15 credits in journalism.

Finally the committee "urged great candor about the actual availability of jobs for journalism graduates," saying "we have heard with some sympathy warnings about journalism study as a viable preparation for actual journalism careers."

Rather than giving the students professional training in journalism, the committee said, "the goal of the JS faculty must be exactly what a principal goal of the English Department is: the development of rhetorical sophistication.

The committee's report will be submitted to the English Department during a meeting Wednesday morning.

6,000 threaten to picket

Disunity threatens return to coal miners

Less than a week after ratifying what officials said was the best contract in United Mine Workers history, the union struggled yesterday to keep unity in its ranks on the eve of a general return to work.

Miners who approved the three-year pact by a 56 per cent margin last week were torn by tradition, inflation, and loyalty as they prepared to resume full scale coal production for the first time in a month.

UMW officials met during the weekend with representatives of 6,000 mine construction workers who have blocked a return to work because they believed they were ignored in contract talks. The construction workers threatened to set up pickets nationwide if UMW bargainers failed to reach a settlement on their separate contract by midnight last night.

Traditionally, miners refuse to cross picket lines, as shown by frequent and extensive wildcat strikes caused by roving pickets. However, after a month without pay and with the approach of the Christmas season, many miners were anxious to return to the shafts.

Tom O'Brochta, president of local 6330 near Marianna, Pa., said his men were "ready to go to work. It's Christmas and the men need money for their families."

"Why couldn't they have settled this when they settled our contract?" he asked.

O'Brochta's local refused to cross picket lines at Jones and Laughlin Steel, Corp's Vesta No. 5 complex, saying it was "an unwritten law." A J&L spokesman called it an illegal work stoppage.

The problem was compounded during the weekend when factionalism, which once led to murder within the union, showed itself again as a small group of Western Kentucky miners campaigned through the coal fields against the major contract covering 120,000 miners.

"We may be going back to work, but we're going back under protest," said Ernest Moore, of UMW District 23, a stronghold of former union president W.A. "Tony" Boyle. Moore said current president Arnold Miller used "scare tactics" in telling miners the strike would drag out for several more weeks if they didn't approve the last offer.

"Miller said he had restored democracy to this union, but this is more of a dictatorship than we've ever had," said Moore, who accused union officials of influencing the voting last week by leaking favorable ballot counts.

Moore said his group contacted miners in Illinois, Pennsylvania, Wyoming, Arizona, Kentucky and West Virginia, urging them to honor all picket lines and encouraging construction workers to "picket everywhere" if they don't have a settlement by tomorrow.

It was the first visible evidence that anti-Miller forces still had a foothold in the union. Miller defeated Boyle two years ago in a court-ordered election with the support of followers of the late union reformer Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

HEW proposes new abortion restrictions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government yesterday proposed new restrictions on federal financing of abortions for needy women.

The Department of Health Education and Welfare published proposals that define for the first time those "family planning services" which must be offered under Medicaid programs of medical care for the poor.

The definition includes voluntary sterilization and contraception-but not abortion-under the services states must provide in order to qualify for the full 90 per cent federal matching aid Medicaid allows.

This would not prevent states from providing abortions under public health programs, as they have been doing extensively, but it would reduce the amount of federal aid available to pay for them and thus require the states to foot more of the bill themselves.

"Abortion doesn't seem to me to be a family planning procedure," HEW Under Scretary Frank Carlucci told UPI when asked for comment on the restriction.

HEW said it would accept public comment on the proposals for 30 days before issuing final rules governing Medical "family planning services." As now written, the proposals state in part:

"The services and supplies must include at least physician's consultation, examination and continuing supervision; necessary laboratory examinations and tests; medically approved contraception through chemical, mechanical or other means; and surgical procedures for voluntary sterilization...

It said family planning services under Medicaid must be available to all individuals of child-bearing age, including sexually-active minors.

Rockefeller expected to pass test tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's nomination as vice president comes before the Senate today, with an overwhelming vote for confirmation of the former New York governor expected tomorrow.

In the House Judiciary Committee, which votes on Rockefeller later this week, an informal UPI poll shows no more than 10 of its 38 members opposed. A final confirmation vote by the full House was scheduled for next week.

If Rockefeller is confirmed as the nation's 41st vice president, he will be the richest person ever to hold public office in the United States.

The immense Rockefeller family wealth — placed at well over $1 billion — has been the main source of controversy during the nearly four-month investigation of the 66-year-old former governor.

Last month the Senate Rules Committee unanimously voted to send the Rockefeller nomination to the full Senate, saying it found no "bar or impediment" to his being vice president.

The committee said it focused on five major issues — Rockefeller's tax returns, his campaign spending, potential conflicts of interest between his wealth and the vice presidency, his gifts and loans, and his role in a book critical of a political opponent.

The committee's final report said only one of these five areas still concerned the members.

Rockefeller used "poor judgment," the report said, in giving tacit approval to a biography critical of his 1970 gubernatorial opponent, Arthur Goldberg. But, it said, this was not serious enough to bar him from the vice presidency.

FEA oil program should save New England consumers $150 m

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration's new oil price equalization program should save New England consumers between $100 and $150 million a year, according to an analysis by the New England Economic Research Office.

The estimated saving is considerably less than the $360 million drop in oil prices predicted by FEA and Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton for the Northeast region. The FEA estimate makes it appear that New England is benefiting more than other regions of the country.

"It is not correct - or in New England's interest - for it to appear that the region has made disproportionate gains from this program," the analysis states.

The analysis by Paul A. London, head of the Economic Research Office, points out that the FEA estimate lumped New York together with New England." According to London, New York by itself consumes almost as much residual and heating oil as New England.

If New York had been put in its traditional slot as a mid-Atlantic state, London contends, the Northeast saving would be about $15 million a month while the mid-Atlantic saving would rise to about $21 million.

The price equalization program adopted earlier this month attempts to close the price gap between foreign and domestic crude oil by distributing rights to the lower priced domestic oil equitably among all refiners. After a concentrated lobbying effort by the New England congressional delegation, the program was changed to take into account that some regions of the country, most notably New England, which are heavily dependent on imported petroleum products, would receive little or no benefit from a program geared only to imports of crude oil.

New England uses about 160 million barrels a year of residual oil, most of which is imported. Under the new price equalization system, residual prices should drop about 70 to 80 cents a barrel for a total savings of about $114 million, according to London's analysis.

London says that almost all of the savings on residual oil will be passed directly onto consumers in the form of lower utility bills. The heating oil reductions will avoid any recurrence of last winter's two-tier pricing problem in which independents forced to rely heavily on imported oil charged much higher prices for their product than did major oil companies with their own supplies of domestic fuel, according to London.

STATION MEETING

Election for

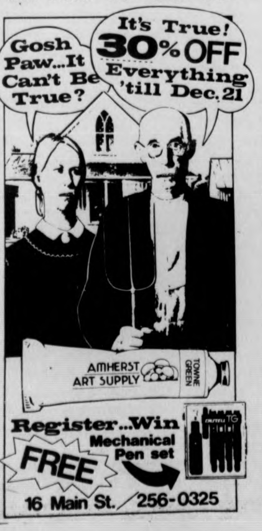
Tech Trainer

Tues., Dec. 12 at 8:00 p.m.

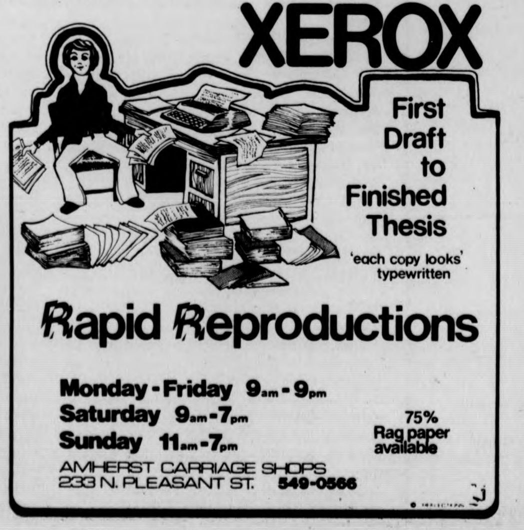
Rm. 172 C.C.

Women & Third World People

are encouraged to attend.



Gosh Paw...It Can't Be True?
It's True! 30% OFF Everything 'till Dec. 21
AMHERST ART SUPPLY
Register...Win FREE Mechanical Pen set
16 Main St./256-0325



XEROX
First Draft to Finished Thesis
'each copy looks' typewritten
Rapid Reproductions
Monday-Friday 9am-9pm
Saturday 9am-7pm
Sunday 11am-7pm
75% Rag paper available
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 N. PLEASANT ST. 549-0566

Tomorrow Nite!
SPRINGFIELD CIVIC CENTER
BACHMAN-TURNER OVERDRIVE
SPECIAL GUEST STARS
BOB SEGER
$6.00 adv. — $6.50 at the door. open 7 — show 8
The Box Office Opens at Noon, And Will Remain Open thru Showtime.
BEAVER PRODUCTIONS INC. 8200 Hampson St. New Orleans La. (504) 524-1696

Republic supported overwhelmingly

Greeks reject proposal to restore monarchy

ATHENS (UPI) — Greek voters yesterday overwhelmingly rejected the monarchy and chose a republican form of government, spoiling former King Constantine's bid for a return to the throne.

With results from 10,208 of the 12,500 polling booths in the nationwide referendum, the vote for a republic was ahead 2,471,735 to 1,157,021 votes or 68.2 against 31.8 per cent.

Interior ministry experts said the monarchy may finish with only 25 per cent of the vote, since most urban results were yet to be tabulated. In Athens, Constantine was polling only 20 per cent and in the suburbs he was getting only 10 per cent of the ballots cast.

Jubilant crowds gathered at downtown Constitution Square and outside Athens University, carrying blue and white Greek flags and shouting slogans like, "Let's turn the palace into a school" and "The German dies today."

The latter was a reference to Constantine's German-born mother, controversial Queen Frederika, who became a target of the republicans in the campaign because of her autocratic behavior during Constantine's 1964-1967 reign.

"We don't need a king, we want to be free," said 19-year-old student Nicos Georgopoulos.

No violence was reported during the voting, which was favored by sunny but cold weather throughout Greece.

A government source said President Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, the last survivor of the military regime which collapsed in July, would soon resign, paving the way for the appointment of a temporary president of the republic.

The source said a full-term president will be elected after a new constitution is drafted, which may take several months.

Constantine, 34, who has indicated that he wants to return to Greece even as a private citizen, had no immediate comment from his home near London. A spokesman for him said earlier he would have nothing to say until Monday, win or lose.

Constantine left the country in December, 1967, after an abortive counter-coup against a military regime which has seized power six months earlier.

The ill-fated Greek monarchy, one of the youngest in Europe, had been junked in a 1973 referendum called by the former military regime.

When that regime fell earlier this year, new civilian Premier Constantine Caramanlis decreed a return to the constitution that was in effect before the 1967 military coup.

nation and world

Rent control backed

BOSTON (AP) — Rent control has reduced evictions and slowed rent increases, and there is no evidence it does more harm than good, a consultant to a legislative study commission has reported.

Harbridge House Inc. said the local-option law, now available to communities of more than 50,000 population until the end of next year, should be extended to cover all cities and towns for the next five years.

The report, released Thursday, concluded, "None of the available data demonstrates rent control harms more people than it helps, or that it significantly impairs the supply of rental housing."

The law excludes two-and three-family owner-occupied buildings, cooperatives, housing maintained by nonprofit organizations, public housing, transient housing and buildings completed after Jan. 1, 1969.

African blacks hit

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — South African Prime Minister John Vorster yesterday blamed "external forces" for the failure of talks aimed at settling the nine-year dispute between Rhodesian blacks and whites. He pledged continued efforts to resume talks because "the alternative is too ghastly to contemplate."

"It is clear that external forces exerted by certain circles in the world, in African states, in Rhodesia and in South Africa, militated against the attempt to reach a settlement," Vorster said in a nationwide broadcast.

Food control urged

BOSTON (AP) — The legislature's special commission which has been investigating food pricing in Massachusetts will propose that the state Consumers' Council be given the power to ensure adequate competition among food retailers.

A rough draft of a commission report to be submitted to the legislature soon says that, "a fairer allocation of resources by the food industry in Massachusetts can only be accomplished where the level of competition within the various segments of that industry is increased and made fully effective.

Although the commission's draft report said the high price of food in Massachusetts is caused for the most part by conditions the state cannot control, a co-sponsor of the legislation, Rep. Peter A. Velis, R-Westfield, said, "there are a number of immediate steps state government can take to help keep down the cost of food."

Japan approves PM

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese parliament today formally elects Takeo Miki as prime minister pledged to tackle 25 per cent annual inflation and to maintain close relations with the United States.

Miki, 67, was elected president of the governing Liberal Democratic party Wednesday by acclamation. This automatically insured his election as prime minister because the party holds an absolute majority in parliament.

Soviet author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn and his wife Natalya are shown sightseeing in Stockholm, Sweden, yesterday. Solshenitsyn is in Sweden to receive his Nobel Prize tomorrow. He was awarded the prize for literature in 1970, but chose not to leave the Soviet Union for fear that he would not be able to return. The Swedish foreign ministry announced yesterday that representatives of six Communist countries would not attend the ceremonies to protest the presence of Solzhenitsyn.

Palestinians to charge hijackers of British plane with murder

By United Press International

Four Arab gunmen who hijacked a British jetliner to Tunis last month are in the custody of the Palestine Liberation Organization and will be tried on murder charges, Palestinian sources in Beirut said yesterday.

The four guerrillas, who killed a West German passenger before surrendering, were released by the Tunisian government Saturday along with seven of their comrades who joined them from jails in Egypt and Holland as part of the bargain to release the British Airways VC10, its crew and passengers.

The Tunisian government said it released them after they promised "to put themselves at the disposition of the PLO."

The Beirut sources said they probably flew to Cairo and the PLO was still abiding by its decision to put the four guerrillas on trial for murder.

It was not clear whether the seven other guerrillas, convicted of killing 32 persons in the Rome airport massacre a year ago and the burning of a jet in Amsterdam, also would be tried by the PLO.

Abou Iyad, member of the PLO central committee, said in Tunis, "Let this hijacking be the last to be committed by Palestinians," he said.

In Israel, military sources paid Israeli gunners continued sporadic preventive artillery fire yesterday into suspected guerilla-occupied areas of southern Lebanon.

Israeli foreign ministry sources said the depth of any Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert in a second-stage disengagement agreement with Egypt depends on how long such an accord would stay in force.

They said Foreign Minister Yigal Allon went to Washington this weekend with a free hand to discuss disengagement plans with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger but the longer any second-stage accord with Egypt lasts, the more Israel would be willing to withdraw from present lines.

THE GASLITE II
BREAKFAST 24 HRS.
JUICE
2 EGGS
HOME FRIES
COFFEE
99¢
Also — Sandwiches, Dinners, and Creamy Rich Country Style Ice Cream
— no artificial flavors.
Tues. - Sat. — 24 Hrs.
Sun. and Mon. till 11 p.m.
168 N. Pleasant St., Amherst
253-2291
Take Out Service

Gifts? ...ready or not, the seasons almost upon us. Come browze for ideas at Amherst's only department store!
JEWELRY
POTTERY PLANTERS PLANTS CLOTHES
159 N. Pleasant ...next door to the Post Office!
FACES OF EARTH
NOW OPEN 9:30 till 9:00 DAILY

Advocate reforms, economic controls

Democrats display unity at mini-convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Newly united, jubilant Democrats concluded America's first mid-term political convention yesterday confident they are on the road back to the White House.

The three-day convention, which many had feared would rekindle the bitter feuds that have savaged the party, ended with a fragile, newly-forged harmony that party leaders pray will endure through the presidential elections of 1976.

The 2,500 delegates and alternates adopted the party's first charter-filled with many of the reforms advocated by George S. McGovern and his troops two years ago - and approved a resolution demanding the toughest economic controls since World War II.

The convention also turned into a round-the-clock search for support by announced and unannounced presidential candidates, who mined delegate caucuses in mini-campaigns that served as a stage-setter to the 1976 nominating convention.

But the biggest ovations were reserved for some of the party titans of the past, including McGovern, who led Democrats to their most disastrous defeat in 1972 and who announced at the convention that he would not seek or accept the nomination again.

The smooth-running convention was orchestrated by National Chairman Robert S. Strauss, who came to the convention determined to leave with a unified party and engineered a back-room deal at the last moment which averted a walkout by blacks and their allies.

Strauss, speaking to an almost empty auditorium at the start of the final session, declared "we have brought the National Democratic Party back to political life and we have united factions behind principles of common decency.

"We have shown that the Democratic party is ready to govern again," Strauss said.

The final day's session was anti-climactic after Saturday's bitter behind-the-scenes bickering that almost resulted in reformers bolting the convention before the charter was approved on a roaring voice vote.

There were no impassioned speeches yesterday, no efforts by delegates to be recognized. The mood was relaxed and informal, and it was clear many of the delegates had not shaken the effects of "unity and harmony" parties the night before. Many others did not show up at all.

Only old-guard labor barons and old-time southerners, once two of the mainstays of the party, were shut out in the compromise that opened the party doors wide to minorities. Party leaders sacrificed them as the price of a peaceful reconciliation.

Yesterday's session ended so quickly that Rabbi Maurice Weisenberg did not make it to the rostrum in time to give the final benediction.

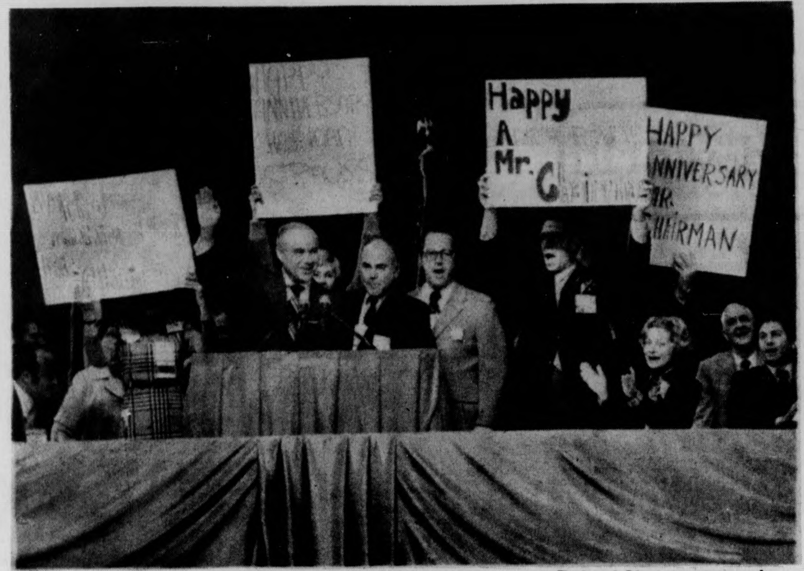
A series of speakers outlined Democratic programs to deal with the nation's most pressing issues — ranging from the economy to foreign affairs — which are expected to serve as a basis for the party platform on which the 1976 presidential candidate will run.

Their words often were lost in the din of delegates wandering around the floor, congratulating themselves on their Saturday session.

The most active of the presidential prospects were Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, the only announced candidate; Sen. Hanry M. Jackson of Washington and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, who set up headquarters and made the rounds of delegates.

Albama Gov. George C. Wallace, who originally only planned to stay overnight, was so enthused by his welcome that he remained 48 hours. Wallace held court for delegates and other visitors in his hotel suite.

Also on the go were Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia.



Ending on a happy note, Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss waves to the delegates at the Democratic mini-convention. Strauss was celebrating his second anniversary as chairman of the party.

The issues: Minorities, primaries

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Highlights of the charter adopted at the three-day mid-term Democratic convention:

-Provides that states must institute affirmative action programs to open party affairs to minority groups, but specifically prohibits "mandatory" quotas.

-Declares that all convention delegations and party caucus, if challenged, must provide the burden of proof that they opened their affairs to minority representation under affirmative action.

-Leaves to the discretion of the national committee whether future mid-term national conventions should be held.

-Creates a Judicial Council to settle party disputes.

-Bans unit rule vote and winner-take all primaries in choosing delegates to national nominating conventions, and provides proportional representation to reflect the support a candidate receives in state primaries or state nominating conventions.

-All party meetings must be open to the public, and secret voting is prohibited.

The charter will go into effect for the 1980 national convention.

Reformers reject mandatory quotas

Republicans to attract minorities

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Republican reformers yesterday approved a voluntary "positive action" program for attracting women, youth, minorities and the elderly into party counsels in a compromise described as "The strongest proposal we could get."

It rejects quotas and provides an escape clause for state party organizations that fail to recruit with sufficient zeal.

Searching for strategies to wipe out the political stain of Watergate and broaden grassroots support, the GOP's Rules Committee also strengthened its recommendations for party control of the candidate's purse strings in the next presidential election.

On the second, and final day of its meeting, the 43-member committee unanimously approved a compromise plan encouraging - but not forcing - state party organizations to "demonstrate efforts of positive delegate-recruiting action" to the Republican National Committee by Feb. 1, 1976.

The proposal rejects quotas for expanded minority participation in the national convention delegations and provides reluctant states a way out by saying: "The fact that a state or political organization has not conformed with the positive action provisions...shall not be deemed to be evidence of failure to comply or make good-faith effort to comply with the requirements."

This means state delegations that fail to take "positive action" to include female and minority-group delegates will not necessarily be unseated by challengers.

"This was the strongest proposal we could get with any chance of being approved by the 1976 Republican convention," Rep. Margaret M. Heckler of Massachusetts, a leader of the "positive action" faction, said just before the approving vote.

"I cannot invision further compromise at this point," she said afterward.

The Republican national chairman, Mary Louise Smith, agreed. "I think we have a good rule here and there is the basis for broad participation," she told UPI. "It indicates the spirit we have here and its whole thrust is to encourage the grass roots organizations."

Under the positive action proposal, states are requested to publicize requirements for participation in party delegate selection; hold informational meetings "to acquaint all citizens with the delegate selection process," and publish a free "how to become a delegate" pamphlet.

The proposal will have to be approved by two other party committees and the 1976 convention.

In another reversal of Saturday action, the committee unanimously approved a substitute rule giving the national GOP committee direct control over spending by its presidential candidates.

Business to oppose Democratic program

NEW YORK (AP) — Big business quite likely will find itself in direct opposition to many proposals in the Democratic party's "economic recovery" program, enunciated in Kansas City last week.

On some issues the cleavage never seemed wider.

The Democrats declared themselves in favor of wage-price controls. Corporate officials not only are opposed to such measures but believe they might worsen economic troubles.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers last week, controls were termed an economic perversion by some executives, an intrusion into the decision-making process by many, and a cause of marketplace distortions by almost all.

The Democrats spoke of "excessive, and sometimes windfall, profits." While big business cannot deny that many profits were very high this year, they argue that great misunderstandings exist about corporate finances.

Profits, the executives argue, were distorted by inflation, aren't likely to continue two years in a row, and are actually depressed in terms of the return on investment.

Big business is especially disturbed about what it feels is a failure of the public to understand the role of profits. They say that while return on sales might be high, return on investment is shrinking.

Because of this, they claim it is increasingly difficult to attract investment capital. And without the capital, they say, industry cannot fulfill the production demands made upon it.

Referring to his frustration in conveying the message, Harold Shaub, chief executive of Campbell Soup Co., told newsmen: "We in industry have done a lousy job in explaining it." He asked the newsmen to help.

The Democratic program states: "For too long our people have suffered the inequities of a tax system that needs reform." But they were referring to injustices to individuals. Big business feels it is the group treated unjustly.

Democratic issues panel favors social spending, handgun control

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Democratic issues panels, reporting to the mid-term convention yesterday, called for more social spending and less defense spending, control of handguns, a stronger nuclear arms agreement, and basic shifts in American priorities.

The reports reflected general agreement that human needs and protection of the environment should be given priority, and that the changes in the American political system spawned by Watergate should be continued.

And it was suggested that the oil depletion allowance and other special oil industry tax breaks must be ended, with the huge oil companies either broken up or nationalized.

The Pentagon bore the brunt of many of the panels' attacks.

"There was general agreement that the local governments were like hungry dogs fighting over bare bones while the Pentagon was living high on the hog," said Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier, who presented the report of the panel on federal power and state and local government.

Maier said the estimated cost of the Pentagon's weapons systems for the next 10 years is $100 billion, the same as the cost of cleaning the environment." Why are we committed to the weapons systems and not to operating a living environment," Maier asked.

The reports simply were presented to the convention, not acted upon.

Among the top recommendations of the eight panels were:

—Social services should be financed not by local property taxes, but through the federal income tax, "the only progressive tax available to all."

—Gradual replacement of some local government functions with regional planning and solutions.

—Deep coal mining should be favored over strip mining, and no strip mining should be allowed where the land cannot be adequately restored.

—Nuclear energy development should continue, but not on a large scale until "we are certain beyond any doubt that nuclear wastes from such processes do not offer a threat to our health and environment.

Collegian news pages have high 'fog' index

By MARTIN J. WATERS
Staff Reporter

A study of the level of how hard to read The Daily Collegian shows the news pages are difficult. Sports is much easier and the editorial pages have an in-between index.

A method called the "fog index," named for linguistic fogginess in writing, was applied to in issues of The Collegian published during October and November 1974.

A reading of 15.2 for the main news section of the newspaper is well above the 13.0 figure called the "danger line of reading difficulty" by Robert Gunning, the researcher who developed the fog index.

The index includes the average sentence length and number of "difficult words" used. Gunning says most words of three syllables or more are difficult.

Excluding letters, The Collegian has an overall fog of 11.9.

Time magazine has an average fog index reading of 10 and the Atlantic Monthly gets a 12. The section entitled "eating" in this year's University Directions, a handbook for students, has a fog of only 8.6.

The Collegian news pages show a much longer average sentence length than Time. The Collegian averages 26, Time 16 or 17. The percentage of difficult words carried in The Collegian news stories is slightly higher than in time: 12 per cent to 10 per cent.

The sports pages compare favorably with the norms set by Gunning. The fog index is 10.8. Average sentence length is still long: 23 words, but a low 4.5 per cent of the words are of three syllables or more.

With a fog of 11.5, columns on the editorial pages in the center of the newspaper are judged more readable than the letters to the editor, which get a 14.5 reading. The letters score lower than the news pages, however.

The major problem of accuracy in the survey stems from apparent use of incorrect capitalization of words. The fog method excludes capitalized words from the difficult category, no matter how long they are.

Writers capitalized many words in The Collegian sample which usually are not. Examples include use of "Program Officer" and "Financial Manager" as titles for persons working at UMass.

Use of lower-case letters in all such examples would increase the percentage of difficult words and the overall fog index.

The Collegian writers are not alone in the fog. High readings on the index also are found for two of the major 1974 news stories in other newspapers.

The New York Times of May 1 carried the report of the release of the White House tape transcripts. The fog index of the story is 13.2, slightly above the difficulty line. The Springfield Union report of Richard M. Nixon's resignation as President on Aug. 9 gets a 16.8 on the fog index, much above The Collegian reading.

William Densmore, The Collegian managing editor, says: "The only thing to do is better editing."

The fog index is a good way to gauge how hard a newspaper is to read, according to Densmore. The use of it can bring unexpected results, however.

The country's leading journalism review magazine, the Columbia Journalism Review, scored a very high 17.4 on the fog scale with a sample of the cover stories in the November-December 1974 issues.

Summer counselors needed: Applications now being taken

Applications are now being accepted for student group leader positions in the 1975-Summer Counseling Program. The program will operate from June 3 through July 31, 1975. Ten sessions for fall entering freshmen will be held, along with five transfer programs.

Training sessions for the thirty selected counselors will be held during the latter part of the spring semester and the week of June 3 through June 6. All positions require residence in an assigned residence hall and meals in the dining hall for the nine-week period. Summer counseling positions require full time participation. Summer school courses cannot be taken.

Qualifications for counselor positions include successful work experience, a positive attitude toward University life, knowledge regarding academic course planning, high energy levels, a willingness to accept job performance standards and to attend the spring training sessions.

Interested and qualified students may obtain an aapplication from the Student Development Center, 102 Berkshire House. Applications must be returned on or before February 7, 1975. Selections will be announced during spring break.

WFCR 88.5 fm
IS — PUBLIC RADIO
Designed to serve the community with programs for all listeners.

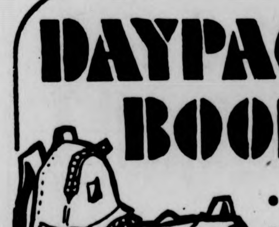
HOLIDAY SALE
SELECTED
SWEATERS/SHIRTS/PANTS
20~50 % OFF
AMHERST ONLY
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st./amherst
Fairfield Mall/chicopee



DAYPACKS & BOOKBAGS
- Camptrails
- Cannondale
- Himalayan
- National
- Mountain Products

PROTECT YOUR BOOKS AND SUPPLIES FROM THE WEATHER... AND GIVE YOUR ARM A REST!
A GREAT SELECTION NOW IN STOCK..
University Store
Campus Center
·GW·

MDC Classifieds really work learning experiences in israel

year of study for college students

If you desire advanced Judaic/Hebraic and Israel study, or intend to pursue a career in Jewish teaching or Jewish communal service, a year of study at the co-educational Hayim Greenberg College is for you. ■ The curriculum includes Hebrew Language, Literature, Bible, History, Education, Philosophy, Sociology, Talmud, workshops and field trips. ■ Credits for courses are offered by leading universities with Judaic or Hebraic Departments. ■ Generous scholarships available.

For information on Hayim Greenberg or other educational programs contact:

WZO
WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION
Department of Education & Culture
515 Park Avenue, N.Y.C. 10022.
(212) 752-0600 ext. 384/385

XEROX
First Draft to Finished Thesis
'each copy looks' typewritten
Rapid Reproductions
Monday - Friday 9am - 9pm
Saturday 9am-7pm
Sunday 11am-7pm
75% Rag paper available
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 N. PLEASANT ST. 549-0566

Rape line
545-COPS

Sports hotline
5-2210

Appearing
TONITE:
Walnut
Band
Tomorrow:
Aces & Eights
at Rusty Nail
Inn
Rte. 47. Sunderland
665-4937

Bikeway plan will serve UMass

Staff Photo by Chris Bourne

"I hope the bike path they build in Amherst is better than this (expletive deleted) one."

By HUGH OWEN
Staff Reporter

A plan to serve commuter and recreational bicycle traffic in Amherst is being formulated by the office of the town planner as an alternative means of non-polluting transportation.

The bikeway, plan, according to Wendy Lindquist, a UMass student working as bikeway planner, will meet the transportation goals the Select Committee on Goals has set for Amherst.

One of the goals of the bikeway plan is to link the various villages in Amherst, facilitating commuter traffic from areas of high population density to the center of Amherst and UMass. Eight village centers with a concentration of population and services are to be connected.

Part of Linquist's master bikeway plan will include proposals for the section of the five - college bikeway that will connect UMass and Amherst and Hampshire Colleges.

The state has designated the five - college area as one of three to receive bikeways. Others are a designated Concord - to- Cambridge route and one for Martha's Vineyard. The state has received a federal allocation of $1.4 million to be used for their construction.

Three different types of bikeways are to be used in the Amherst plan. They will share the roadway with other vehicles, use road shoulders as bike lanes and follow paths separated from the road.

The specific type of bikeway to be used will depend upon bike counts to be taken this fall, traffic volume and speeds and the existence of sufficent right of way to allow construction of paths.

Bikeways laid out on town land, conservation land, right of way along power lines and telephone, sewer and water easements in Amherst will be used specifically for recreational use. Their purpose is to provide cyclists with routes for day trips in Amherst.

Funds for the bikeway plan probably will come from four sources, according to Linquist:

—The National Highway Act of 1973 allocates funds to states for repairs to roads which are found to be sub-standard. One such road in Amherst is Route 9.

—The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides money to states for commuter routes.

—Amherst has capital and maintenance budgets previously used solely for sidewalk repairs that will now incorporate bikeway construction.

—The subdivision of land for new houses may in the future require bikeways to be included in the development plan.

Bicycles have become an alternative mode of transportation in the United States quite rapidly, resulting in bikepaths being built in many cities.

Mt. Holyoke senior now serving in New Hampshire legislature

SOUTH HADLEY (UPI) — Weekend trips are traditional for New England college students, but not the type that led Katie Hanna down the campaign trail to the New Hampshire legislature with more votes than two incumbents, one her high school principal.

Actually, Ms. Hanna, 21, a senior at Mt. Holyoke College, one of the academically prestigious seven sisters, is used to it. Last year, while her classmates were off on social visits, she made weekly treks home in a longshot campaign that saw her beat Keene, N.H.'s mayor for a delegate spots to the state constitutional convention. Before that she was a delegate to the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

Nevertheless, when the state House of Representatives convenes in January, she'll look like everyone's little sister among a group of older men. But then, that's the way she planned it.

A liberal Democrat in a staunchly conservative GOP state, she won apparently by taking her cue from the McGovern and McCarthy 1972 and 1968 presidential primaries, in which the two liberal Democrats attracted unexpectedly sizeable votes by grassroots campaigning.

New Hampshire, with the largest legislature in the western hemisphere, and the smallest legislative districts, may be one of the few places where Ms. Hanna could have met her campaign goal of knocking on every voter's door.

Once there, always in a skirt and sweater, never jeans, she sold her image as the girl next door, unless the constituent wanted to talk issues, in which case she was more than happy to oblige.

"The original plan was for me to run as the good kid down the block and win on my smile," she said. "After a while, however, I couldn't stand it so I started talking issues."

Hanna, who stressed land use planning and tax relief for the elderly in the only state in the nation without sales or income levies, said that most voters didn't want to talk issues. Others, she said, only wanted to discuss her age and tax.

It was at the constitutional convention, to which she was sent by a 3-1 margin over Keene Mayor James A. Masiello, that she argued successfully for an 18-year-old age requirement for gubernatorial candidates.

The resulting publicity, plus that given her as the nation's second youngest 1972 Democratic convention delegate, made some constituents wary, she said. She dealt with the problem by stressing the contributions a young woman could make in a male dominated body whose members averaged 67 years of age during the last session.

She said she's looking forward to the session, although there may be one problem.

"Most of the real caucusing is done after the close of the session at one of the bars," she said. "I imagine I'm going to have to carry proof of age with me."

> 'The original plan was for me to run as the good kid down the block and win on my smile...
>
> however, I couldn't stand it so I started talking issues.'

Town of Amherst

1975 ELECTION CALENDAR

Official Public Notice	Dec. 9, 1974
Additional Notice	Feb. 5, 1975
* Last Day to file Town Nomination Papers for Certification	Feb. 14, 1975
Caucus Call	Feb. 17, 1975
* Last Day to Register before Caucus	Feb. 12, 1975
Town Caucus	March 4, 1975
* Last Day to File Town Meeting Member Nomination Papers	March 11, 1975
* Last Day to Register Before Election	March 19, 1975
TOWN ELECTION	April 8, 1975
Town Meeting Warrant Closes	March 31, 1975
TOWN MEETING	May 5, 1975

(*Up until 4:30 p.m., in Town Clerk's Office, Town Hall)

Town offices to be filled at town election (plus town meeting members): Moderator for one year; selectmen, two for three years; school committee, one for three years; elector, Oliver Smith Will, one for one year; Jones Library Trustee, two for three years; Housing Authority, one for five years.

Town Election, April 8, 1975 will be held in the seven precincts with the polls being open from 12:00 noon to 8 p.m.

Town Meeting, May 5, 1975 will be held in the Anherst Regional Junior High auditorium at 7:00 p.m.

Keep Your Eye

on don call

Amherst's First Optician
for all your Optical Needs

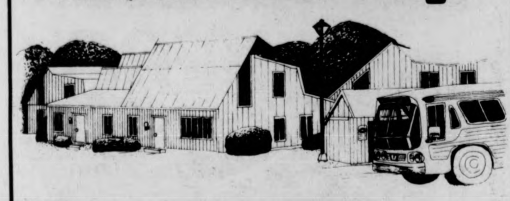
LOWEST PRICES
in the area
SHOP & COMPARE
56 Main St. 253-7002

The NEW Pufften Village



"New management working for your comfort"

CONVENIENT LOCATION NEAR UMASS
FREE BUS SERVICE
CLEAN, SECURE SURROUNDINGS
FREE CABLE TV IN ALL UNITS
1,2 & 3 BEDROOM APARTMENTS STARTING UNDER $200
PUFFTON I - all utilities included
PUFFTON II&III - heat included

1040 N. Pleasant Street, Amherst 549-0145

PUFFTON VILLAGE

why does a man join Maryknoll?

There are probably as many answers as there are individual Maryknoll priests and Brothers. Some men are deeply moved when they hear of babies dying in their mother's arms because of hunger or disease. Others are distressed by the growing antagonism and separation between the rich and the poor nations. More are concerned about the great injustices that have been inflicted upon the poor by those who possess wealth and power to an excessive degree. Others look to learn from peoples who have grown up with a different mentality than that which is theirs. All feel that the only solution to the crises that threaten to split men asunder is the love of God as shown in the life of His Son, Jesus Christ. This love of God urges men to go forward and be missioners so men can love one another. What could be your reason for joining Maryknoll?

If you keep saying you want to do something with your life – here's your chance to prove it

I do want to do something.

For information, write or phone to: UOM
MARYKNOLL MISSIONERS, 50 DUNSTER RD.
CHESTNUT HILL, MA. 02167 (617) 232-8050
Dear Father:
Please send me information about becoming a Maryknoll Priest ☐ Brother ☐ Sister ☐
Name ____
Address ____
City ____ State ____ Zip ____
Age ____ Phone ____

Staff Photo by BNS

Claudette Saunders, a senior from Rockland, and her father, Edward, left, talk with Asst. Dean Lawrence Johnson of the School of Business Administration after she received a second $3,000 grant from the American Cyanamid Company. Claudette entered UMass through the CCEBS program of which Dr. Johnson is a founder.

$3,000 grant to CCEBS student

By Black News Service

Being awarded a $3,000 grant is "terrific" for a college student. There may not be an adjective to describe a second, completely unexpected grant of the same size.

Ask Claudette Saunders, a senior business major at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst.

Claudette entered UMass through its CCEBS program (Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black Students) and took advantage of the tutoring and financial help offered her. In May, 1974, she received a $3,000 grant for a minority student from the American Cyanamid Company of Wayne, N.J.

So, she sat down and wrote a thank you note to American Cyanamid, expressing the desire to go on to graduate school and the need for a summer job. She was surprised by a second $3,000 grant, this time not for a minority student to be selected by UMass officials, but instead especially designated for her.

Claudette was also offered a summer job (for last summer), but she turned it down becuase she had already accepted a job at a hometown bank she had worked at in previous years, and felt it would be unethical to leave the bank for American Cyanamid.

Claudette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Saunders of 805 Hingham St., Rockland. She entered UMass in 1969 and took the 1972-73 academic year off, for financial reasons. She is majoring in urban and regional management through the UMass School of Business Administration, and hopes to be a "policy maker."

South Africa: In retrospect

By Black News Service

The history, as recorded by the western world, of South Africa began around 1488-1600 with the Portuguese and 1652 with the Dutch East India Company. They established themselves on the land of the predominantly Bantu people, initiating a "company" system of control and exploitation.

The white population (1652-1795) composed of Dutch, French, and German ancestry became known as Afrikaners. They united, or had to, in order to maintain strength and protection against the indigenuous black — the beginning of apartheid. The Afrikaners were Calvinists, extreme conservatives, liberal believers of the Bible, who believed that they were God's chosen people-divine rights. The policies they adopted were very similar to Hitler's: antisemetric, race supremacy, and fascist — (communism because it allowed the fraternizing of races.) The fact that the Afrikaners have a deep belief, conviction, dedication to race superiority, and that it is their duty to suppress black people, is one of the major causes for no progress being made, or foreseen, in the advancement of the black masses.

Around 1795 the British became interested and conquered the Cape Colony.

During 1800-1902 (Boer War 1899-1902) there was a conflict between the British and the Afrikaners which caused the Great Trek — a movement of a large group of Afrikaners to the interior rather than be ruled by the British. In 1910 they agreed to become a united South Africa, the Union of South Africa.

The social structure has whites (4 million) as first, coloreds (2 million-mulatto) as second, asians (one half million) as third, and the indigenuous (16 million) as fourth class citizens. The apartheid system determined one's social status, that is, whites controlled all, the coloreds and asians were middlemen, and the blacks were the baisc, cheap resource. The land, 87 per cent (good, fertile) was reserved for the whites while the remaining 13 per cent (arid, poor, unproductive) in isolated, widely scattered areas were set aside for the black peoples — Bantustans. The rule of 18 million by 4 million is maintained through balkanization, pass systems, police statehood, dehumanization, and numerous other methods as means of controlling, and manipulating the people.

South Africa is wealth; it is the richest, economically most developed country on the continent. It possesses vast natural resources — diamonds, gold, coal, etc. but most importantly the underpaid African, whose labor provides the ruling European minority with highest per capita in Africa and the fourth in the world. Many countries (specifically the U.S. and European Common Market participants) investments and involvement contribute to its perpetuation. The accounts and documentaries on the life style and conditions of black miners and fellow workers should make one who is at all human despise the action and existence of such a government. (See How Europe Underdeveloped Africa-Walter Rodney) the Military has the latest and best in equipment, well-trained personnel, and is supported materially and politically by many of the world's leading powers.

Resistance has existed since the coming of the white men. The Africans did not allow themselves to be duped and pushed away as easily as most historical information implies. They fought long and hard, but weapon superiority won out. Nevertheless the struggle goes on. These people started by fighting for their respective ethnic groups. However, in 1912 the African National (People) Congress A.N.C. was formed as a way of protesting non-violently and as one voice. After an incident in Sharpville in 1960-1969 Black lives lost in peaceful demonstration — the passive movement became one of armed revolt and the formation of the Pan-African Congress — P.A.C. Many Africans and their groups have different ideologies, interpretations, interests, etc. (A.N.C. vs R.A.C.) of what is necessary for liberation and how to approach it.

As a black man in this country, South Africa is extremely significant to me. I see all activities of the two countries' governments as one; the similarities and interrelationships were astounding.

Bowmar

6292561700 now only

$79.95

MX90 "Professional" Bowmar Brain™

Eight function, feature packed electronic calculator with dual memory, square root, automatic reciprocal, automatic percent, and powerful Omni-Constant. Algebraic number entry sequence and extra large 10-digit display for greater accuracy. Worldwide 115-230V adapter-charger.

Features:
- Dual memory, (memory plus, memory minus, memory accumulate)
- Extra large LED 10-digit display
- Full floating decimal
- Automatic %, √x, 1/x
- Omni-Constant (The automatic constant with a brain)
- Rechargeable and AC operation
- 115/230 V switchable worldwide adapter/charger
- Algebraic operation with + – exchange available at the

UNIVERSITY STORE
Campus Center

The Bowmar Brains™
We're Always Thinking

CHRISTMAS CARDS

HALLMARK, CASPARI,
GORDON FRASER,
ALFRED MAINZER

A. J. Hastings

45 S. Pleasant St.
AMHERST, MASS.

FACES OF EARTH
STOCKING STUFFERS
$1.00 AND UNDER INCENSE
BODY OILS
BELLS
BUBBLES
SOAPS
BANDANAS... IN 8 COLOURS
PLASTIC BOXES
BEADS free string
SUPER STUDS
ROLLING PAPERS & CLIPS...
LETTER OPENERS
...AND WE'VE GOT THE STOCKINGS TOO...
NEXT TO THE AMHERST POSTOFFICE
FACES OF EARTH
NOW OPEN 9:30 – 9:00

The Dial Tone
Discotheque

Mon., Tues., Wed. Nites are
Beer Nites 25¢
Plus specials on pitchers, bottles and all drinks.

TUES. NITE
is Oldies' Nite

THURS. NITE
is Ladies' Nite

HAPPY HOUR
every nite, 6-8:30

DJ's play what you want to hear — 7 nites a week, 8:30-1:00.

Rte. 5, North Hatfield
Dance Floor Game Room

274 With this coupon and a $5 purchase. Free! 3 Oz. Pkg. Stop & Shop Cream Cheese Limit one pkg. per customer. Good Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

270 With this coupon and a $5 purchase. Maxwell House Coffee 1 lb. Can All Grinds 89¢ Limit one can per customer. Good Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

271 With this coupon and a $5 purchase. 49 oz. Tide Detergent 49 Oz. Box 79¢ Limit one box per customer. Good Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

272 With this coupon and a $5 purchase. Snow Crop Orange Juice 100% Orange Juice from Florida 16 Oz. Can 59¢ Limit one can per customer. Good Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

273 With this coupon and a $5 purchase. Fleischmann's Corn Oil Margarine 1 lb. Pkg. 49¢ Limit one pkg. per customer. Good Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

Any or all coupons may be redeemed with only one $5 purchase

All week savings on the rib roast... and on porterhouse... and on coupons and on...

ONE OF THE STOP & SHOP COMPANIES Stop & Shop SUPERMARKETS

To our Jewish friends... Happy Chanukah May this joyous festival of lights bring happiness to you and your family.

Lemon Juice	Golden Crown	32 oz. Btl.	49¢
Verifine Applesauce		35 oz. Jar	59¢
Crisco Oil		38 oz. Btl.	$1.89
Minute Rice Mixes	Assorted Flavors	3 7 oz. Pkgs.	$1
Stop & Shop Dry Milk		20 qt. Pkg.	$3.49
Lime Liquid Detergent		Sweetheart 22 oz. Btl.	55¢
Buitoni Spaghetti Twists		4 15 oz. Cans	$1
Cranberry Sauce	Stop & Shop	4 16 oz. Cans	$1

Swanson Dinners Chicken, turkey or Salisbury 11½ oz., Meatloaf 10¾ oz., or Chopped Sirloin 10 oz. Pkg. 59¢

Roman Lasagne		22 oz. Pkg.	$1.19
Celeste Deluxe Pizza		10 oz. Pkg.	89¢
Baby Lima Beans	Fairlane	10 oz. Pkg.	27¢
Birds Eye French Fries	Crinkle Cut 16 oz. Pkg.		39¢
Seafood Platter	Taste O'Sea	9 oz. Pkg.	75¢
Haddock Dinner	Taste O'Sea	9 oz. Pkg.	65¢

Natural Ice Milk Light N' Lively ½ Gal. Carton Ass't. Flavors $1.09

Birds Eye Awake		12 oz. Can	39¢
Aunt Jemima Waffles		10 oz. Pkg.	59¢
Coffee Lightener	Poly-Perx	16 oz. Carton	27¢
Sara Lee Cakes Banana, Orange, Deviled Food, Choc. or German Choc.		10 oz. Pkg.	99¢
Hendrie's Popsicles		36 oz. Pkg.	89¢

American Slices Kraft Processed Cheese Food 12 oz. Pkg. 89¢

Light n' Lively Yogurt	Asst. Flavors	3 8 oz. Cups	89¢
Cracker Barrel Variety Pack		10 oz. Pkg.	$1.09
American Cheese Loaf	Land O'Lakes	2 lb. Pkg.	$2.49
Kraft Velveeta		1 lb. Pkg.	89¢
Cream Topping	Reddi Whip	7 oz. Can	69¢
Whole Milk Mozzarella	Calabro	16 oz. Pkg.	$1.39

Daisy Bread 3 Loaves $1 1 Pound loaf — Sliced White

Flavored Eng. Muffins Cinn. Raisin, Cheddar Cheese, Bacon or Blueberry flavored.	Stop & Shop	2 11 oz. Pkgs.	$1
Honey Wheat Bread	Stop & Shop	2 16 oz. Loaves	$1
Cracked Wheat Bread	Stop & Shop	2 16 oz. Loaves	$1
Countrystyle Donuts	Stop & Shop Plain or Cinn.	11½ oz. Pkg.	55¢
Stop & Shop Lemon Pie		19 oz. Pkg.	83¢
Pound Cake	Stop & Shop Gold or Marble	13 oz. Bag	59¢

Available in stores featuring a Service Deli Dept.

German Style Bologna Nepco Bavarian ½ lb. 59¢

Nepco Salami	German Style Bavarian	½ lb.	69¢
Nepco Liverwurst	German Style Bavarian		99¢ lb.
White American Cheese	Land O'Lakes	½ lb.	59¢

Fresh Mushroom Pizza 1 lb. Size Stop & Shop Sold In our Meat Dept. 99¢

Macaroni & Cheese	Stop & Shop	1 lb. Pkg.	59¢
Delmonico Potatoes	Stop & Shop	1 lb. Pkg.	59¢
Macaroni & Beef	Stop & Shop	1 lb. Pkg.	89¢

When you spend dollars for beef, make sure you get great beef... Stop & Shop beef. It's naturally aged for tenderness and flavor, guaranteed fresh, juicy and delicious... or your money back. No other supermarket can match the consistency of quality in our great beef. Taste for yourself.

QUALITY PROTECTED Stop-Shop beef

"Quality-Protected" Beef Naturally Aged

Beef Rib Roast Large End $1.19 lb. 6th & 7th Ribs Bone-In Beef that's naturally tender, juicy and flavorful.

Beef Loin Porterhouse Steak $1.69 lb. Great beef! Naturally tender beef! "Quality-protected" beef at Stop & Shop!

Beef Rib Steak Large End 4th & 5th Ribs Bone-In $1.29 lb.

Simply Super – Uniformly good everytime

Regular Ground Beef 89¢ lb. Simply Super regular ground beef contains not more than 28% fat.

White Gem Chicken Parts Sale!

Chicken Breast U.S. Grade "A" 89¢ lb.

Chicken Thighs U.S. Grade "A" Moist, flavorful and tender. 79¢ lb.

Drumsticks U.S. Grade "A" Great with barbecue sauce. 99¢ lb.

Self-Service Deli! Child Mild Franks 1 lb. Pkg. 89¢

Child Mild Bologna	8 oz. Pkg.	59¢
Gem Beef Salami	8 oz. Pkg.	65¢
Oscar Mayer Weiners	or Beef Franks 1 lb. Pkg.	$1.09
Oscar Mayer Bacon	Sliced 1 lb. Pkg.	$1.59

Catch these values! Cod Fillets Frozen Great with Stop & Shop French Fries. 79¢ lb

Dressed Smelts	Frozen	79¢ lb
Cooked Fish Cakes	Taste O'Sea 1 lb. Pkg.	69¢
Cooked Deep Sea Treats Taste O'Sea 1 lb. Pkg		99¢
Peeled & Deveined Shrimp Laura's Pride 60-70 Count	20 oz. Bag	$2.99

Available in stores featuring a service deli.

Save 50¢ Per Lb. this week in our Service Deli!

		Regular Price	Sale Price
Roast Beef	"Quality-Protected" Beef	$3.96 lb.	$3.46 lb.
Imported Honey Glazed Ham	Stop & Shop	$2.76 lb.	$2.26 lb.
Roasted Turkey Breast	White Gem	$3.96 lb.	$3.46 lb.
Stop & Shop Meat Loaf		$1.98 lb.	$1.48 lb.
Chinese Style Pork Roll	Stop & Shop	$3.16 lb.	$2.66 lb.

In our Service Deli... We give you Press 'N Seal Bags to keep cold cuts fresh longer!

The cold cuts and cheeses you have sliced to order will stay fresh and tasty in our waterproof, air-tight Press 'n Seal Bags. And you can use these strong plastic bags again and again... to store hot and cold foods — even hot soup! Crush cracker crumbs in them. Turn them into dandy tobacco pouch, shaving kits, bait bags, make-up kits, change purses Many more helpful, useful ideas printed right on each bag!

Stop & Shop Potato Salad We make this ourselves... in our own kitchen. 39¢ lb.

Greek Style Rice Pudding Great values from our Service Deli Department. 59¢ lb.

Starts Mon., Dec. 9 – Sat., Dec. 14

In fairness to all of our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any item except where otherwise noted. Items offered for sale not available in case lots, or to other retail dealers or wholesalers. Most items specially sale priced; some at our everyday low prices. Bakery prices effective Monday thru Saturday.

Savings on Health & Beauty Aids.

Crest Toothpaste 8¾ oz. tube Limit 3 tubes per customer 69¢

Lavoris Mouthwash 40 oz. bottle 99¢

Trac II Blades Gillette 5 Count Package 69¢

Shave Cream Edge Bonus Pack 2 7 oz. Cans 69¢

Right Guard Deodorant 6.5 oz. Can 69¢

Baby Shampoo Stop & Shop 16 oz. Btl. 49¢

Stop & Shop Aspirin 2 for the price of 1 2 100 Ct. Btl. 17¢

Knee Hi Stockings	Mesh or Opaque 3 pairs	$1
No Nonsense Panty Hose	Regular	79¢ pair
L'Eggs Panty Hose	Special 4 pair pkg.	$4

Give holiday gifts in the best of taste.

$10 Gift Certificate

Stop & Shop Gift Certificates are the gifts everyone can use. They're redeemable for thousands of quality items at any Stop & Shop supermarket any time through December 31, 1975. Make your holiday gift shopping easier. Buy Stop & Shop Gift Certificates in $5, $7.50 and $10 denominations at our customer service counters. Today, more than ever, good food is a welcome gift.

Fresh Florida Citrus Sale!

Tangerines 12 for 59¢

Indian River Juice Oranges 5 Lb. Bag 69¢

Indian River White Seedless Grapefruit Natural goodness! 8 for $1

Fla. Green Peppers Serve in a salad or fry and make a submarine sandwich. 29¢ lb.

Fla. Tomatoes A great buy at this low price. 29¢ lb.

Holiday Cactus Plants 3½" Pot 99¢ ea.

Holly Plant For Someone Special! 4" Pot $1.99 ea.

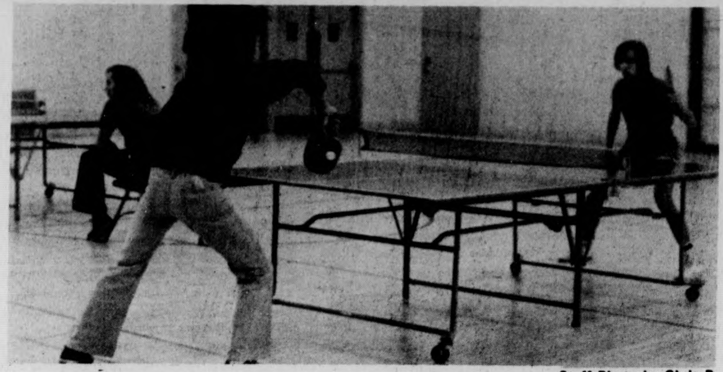
Teacher certification available for grads

The Division of Continuing Education in cooperation with the Teacher Education Council of the School of Education, announces a program for post-baccalaureate students leading to teacher certification in elementary and secondary education.

The program offers certification in the areas of agricultural education, foreign languages, music, home economics, physical education, interdisciplinary education, elementary education, urban education, math, social studies, science, English, international education, cooperative education, early childhood education, and bilingual-bicultural education.

Most of these areas require a two-semester commitment, with course work taken the first semester and student teaching completed the second semester. Prospective students are reminded that this is not a graduate program but is designed only for teacher certification.

Deadline for applications for admission to the spring program is Dec. 20, although late applicants will be considered on a space-available basis. Further information is available from Ruth Greene, 106 Hills North, telephone 545-3410.



Staff Photo by Chris B

Somsak Naviroj (left) makes a vain attempt to return a shot by Mike Blauer the semi-finals of the UMass Table Tennis Tournament, which was held Saturday at WOPE. Blauer won the Men's Singles and Lyn Russel won t Women's Singles.

MDC classifieds sell!

Career workshop scheduled for intersession

On January 13-17, a group of faculty, in collaboration with the Resource Network, and a number of participating students, will sponsor a workshop, in the Campus Center, entitled, MAKING A LIFE, MAKING A LIVING: Career Development, An Obligation of the Changing University?

This is an opportunity for faculty, staff, and students to focus together on an issue critical to the University's future.

The design of the week is such that participate may choose to come for just a morning or an afternoon, for two full days, or for the entire week. Also built into the session, for those who would like to carry their involvement with the subject into the spring semester, is the opportunity to help create and implement a new system for career counseling and placement involving the whole University. (University deans have already received a memorandum from Sally Freeman, the director of the Student Development Center, to this effect.)

The title of the opening address--JOBS AND THE LIBERAL ARTS TRADITION: CONFLICT OR COEXISTENCE?--indicates the sessions point of departure. There will be a nationally recognized speaker talking on the general topic and a member of the faculty commenting with special reference to the local situation. The following list of sample issues gives some idea of the range of topics to be raised.

--What should be the responsibility of departments toward career advising?

--What difference will growing, numbers of "non-traditional" students make to the role of faculty?

--Must educators choose between preparing students for "a good life" and preparing them for a career?

--How can students, in their concern about careers, help make the University as effective an institution as possible?

--Should there be an opportunity for faculty to consider "retooling" for changed student needs?

--Has the University been overbrought or oversold as a life-long income producer?

--How is career development affected by the University's responsibility to affirmative action and equal opportunity?

turn to page 17

Outing club sponsoring free-climbing advocate

American climbing has been in the throes of a major revolution during the last 2 years. With the introduction of new equipment, attention has swung from big aide routes to free-climbing.

Henry Barber, a 20 year old Boston student, is one of a small group of American rock climbers who has brought a new level of keenness and dedication to free climbing. He is a climber of superior ability with a singular approach to rock climbing. Some even consider Barber a prophet of the new attitudes to climbing.

A major concern for him is maintaining aesthetics, preventing piton damage and preserving the mountains. When asked why he has such an appetite for hard climbing, Barber replied "I like to climb, but I don't think the competitive factor is important, I just like the freedom of climbing, the flow of it. And it doesn't have to be 5.10".

During the course of one year Henry Barber has done about six hundred routes - most 5.8 and upwards. If you would like to meet this amazing man, this new breed of climber, come to the Outing Club meeting tonight at 7:30 in the S.U.B.

Did You Know that THE VILLAGE SKI SHOP 32 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON

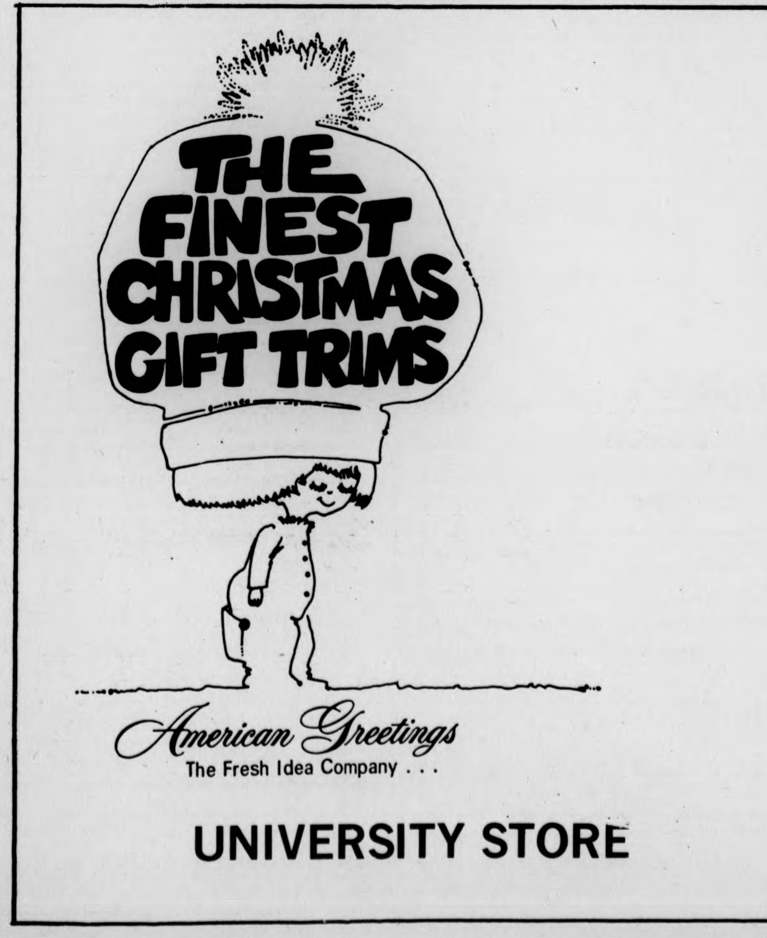
SKIS: Carries Spaulding, Volkl, K-2, Dynamic, Head

BOOTS: Nordica, Caber, Lang

BINDINGS: Solomon, Marker, Look, Besser

SALE!! 74 Models Sideral Skis by SPAULDING and FORMIDABLE 50% off

THE VILLAGE SKI SHOP Downstairs in Western Auto



FACES OF EARTH
GIVING SHOULD BE AS MUCH FUN AS RECEIVING AND WE'VE GOT SOME FUN GIFTS...
MUGS soup size too...
CARVED WOODEN BOXES
COLOURFUL CANDLES some drip some don't some smell good
INDIAN PRINT BED-SPREADS
WALLETS FROM MOROCCO AND JAPAN
JEWELRY
SILVER & TURQUOISE PLANTS AND PLANTERS
NEXT TO THE AMHERST POSTOFFICE
FACES OF EARTH
OPEN 9:30-9:00

Goodbye Alumnus

To the Editor:

As a graduating senior this semester, I had promised myself to write an essay-of-sorts summing up my experiences over the past four years here. Now my time is almost up, and I just thought I would tell you some of my thoughts about things here.

First of all, to the women of the UMass community, I must tell you that I did in fact receive an education in feminism, although sometimes I was against learning, and at other times I learned without realizing it. My education was largely through one woman, but also because of the oftentimes inescapable logic presented by women with regards to our "liberal" and "liberated" society. The injustices which have been perpetrated against the female sex just do not make sense. I for one am aware of this. It is hard to discard my chauvinistic background, but I am learning. More or less the same illogical and inhumane treatment has been extended to our Third World brothers and sisters, and I just wish that more people could be aware of the wastefulness, ignorance, and stupidity of denying fellow humans "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

One thing which I have seen much of but still do not understand is vandalism. Why people destroy, steal, throw stuff out windows, and generally make life more miserable for others is something I cannot grasp. There are many other topics I would write about, but because of space limitations, I cannot. Subjects such as the dining commons, the infirmary, athletics and jocks, social clicks, dormitory life, and student politics are all relevant and controversial current topics on campus, but no matter what I might say about them, who would listen?

People can never completely agree on any controversial subject, and only time can iron out problems. So with this reasoning behind me I tend to adopt a non-committal attitude that ignores the confusion around me. Deplorable, you say? Perhaps so, but I am not alone. I am representative of the new "apathy" and "discouragement" of the 1970's. With everything in shambles around us, can you blame me? At least I have finally taken the time to write this one and only "contribution" to the Collegian in four years.

Many years from now, when I look back on my college days, I won't remember classrooms, exams, or papers, but I will always cherish the memories of the many friends [and even some people who were not friends] I made. From rapping all night with my roommate about Nixon, girls, whiskey, penal systems, music and other stuff; to watching unbelieving while a kid took a shit in my room; to getting high as a kite; to a catstrophic "relationship"; to a case of frosties in one day; to blue collar summers and Dostoyesvsky autumns — these are the memories I will always carry with me. As to getting an education, UMass succeeded almost despite itself. At least I know how to roll a joint!

UMass is a "circus" because as my Random House dictionary says, a circus is "a large public entertainment featuring performing animals, clowns, feats of skill and pageantry, etc." An almost perfect description of UMass. Because there are all kinds of people here, I tend to regard UMass as a microcosm of society in general, hence the subtitle to this letter.

I clearly remember four years ago when my father said to me "Well Bob, I guess you are starting out on a new adventure in life." If only he knew...

Bob Shay

A farewell to arms ?

To the Editor:

In regard to your letter on December 2, Mr. Sacks, you should definitely look into your facts.

First, there is no National Firearms Act of 1938. The National Firearms Act was passed on June 26, 1934. This act applied to the registration, taxation, and inter state transportion of rifles not hand guns. Nowhere does it say anything about the regulation of hand guns.

Many states now have laws concerning the control of hand guns. The Taylor law of New York, for example, provides for the registration of newly made hand guns and the transfer of hand guns between private parties. The problem is that although the laws now could partially control the illegal use of hand guns, they are generally not enforced.

But think about it, if you are a "professional criminal" you wouldn't buy the high priced target pistols which are normally sold over the counter, but a cheap black market variety, usually of foreign manufacture.

Tell me Mr. Sacks, how by disarming the general public will you prevent hand guns from falling into the criminal's hands?

If you will look back through history, the first thing taken away from a people moving into a police state was their right to bear arms. If you don't believe this look back to the time Hitler was taking over Germany.

Lastly, the second article of The Bill of Rights states, as you have said, "a well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." You are wrong though, as to its interpretation. William O. Douglas, in 1961, stated that the article also applied to the individual citizen.

Instead of trying to take away yet another right of the people, let us try to enforce the already adequate laws on the books.

Thomas Knecht

S.P.O.N.G.E. replies

To the Editor:

Collegian, Susan Fernalc John Rivera and Betty Londergan listen to what is happening to our city of Boston. Don't accuse us of being socially "unaware" in regard to forced-busing in Boston, because you impress us as being totally unaware of what Boston is made of. Do you people know why there is such strong opposition to forced-busing in Boston? Don't take the "unaware" position of blaming all the violence by anti-busing people due to their prejudices and racist attitudes.

What you people fail to realize are the motives and life styles of people in neighborhoods like South Boston and Dorchester. If you think that poor housing, poor education, poor environments and meager incomes are only limited to "minorities", look again at the people of South Boston and Dorchester. It's working class people who happen to be white and working class people who happen to be black...poor people...both of whom are very hard pressed: neither of whom have got much leverage on anything. They are both competing for a very limited piece of pie, the limits of which are being set by the larger limits of class which allow them damn little if anything.

The thrust of our argument centers on the uncontestable fact that suburbia has fashioned a law designed uncontestable to ease pharisaic consciences, as it postulates absurdly that a Boston school with 51 per cent non-white student population is in violation of the Racial Imbalance Act while a suburban school with 0 per cent or 1 per cent non-white student population is in compliance with the law.

We appeal to the common sense of people to stop and reconsider. Will shipping blacks to white schools and shipping whites to black schools bring about quality education? Shouldn't we work within the system rather than using forced-busing which tends to create more harm than good. Stop and think who is behind forced-busing and why! Call us S.P.O.N.G.E. or anything else you please, but at least consider what we have to say and more important, why!

William Donovan
Joseph "Hipcheck" Horrigan
Mark Shea

Expression repression

To the Editor:

It seems that in just about every branch of artistic form that comes out, it cannot get away with the omission of criteria for its moral, sexual or whatever-it-may-be content. And I'm not talking about the two most controversial cartoonists around here. What I have in mind are the visual arts that were meant for public enjoyment, not to slander society.

Normally, the poet, photographer or artist gets his own train of thought about how he perceives his subject. The idea of its beauty or grossness is his and his alone. The trouble is, a lot of people are just too inflexible and consider only their own morals when seeing the works. I have seen numerous art exhibits taken down because the fact that the artist found beauty in a penis or breast had its moral values placed in front of its artistic value.

As a member of the Spectrum, I have read works from past issues about subjects that may be considered morally uncouth, but the wording and expressionisms produced amazing effects. In a society like today's, namely in the view of our generation, it is just natural to have access to these relevant experiences that ideas naturally flow from them. When you pick up an issue of the Spectrum, just remember the purpose why such a thing was written, drawn or photographed. That's for the very same reason that I don't like people laughing at John Denver's music, calling his mountain stuff wishy-washy. They should talk! When someone does his own thing, you've got to accept him for how he does it.

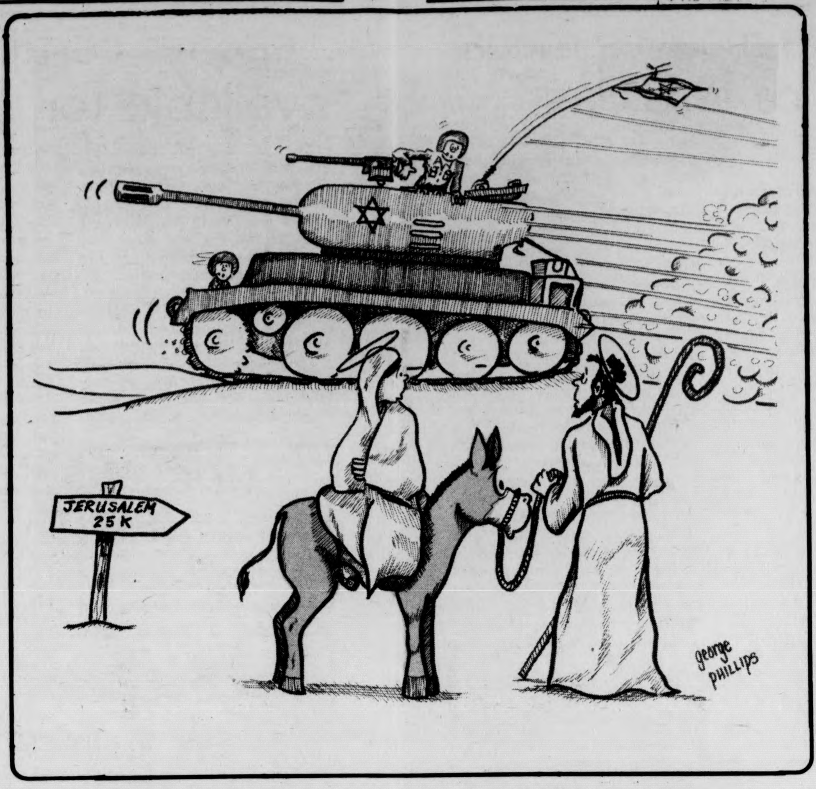
Linda Sherksnis

A question

To the Editor:

I would like to ask Bill Drummond if he has ever studied crop rotation while starving to death?

Patrick Walker



U.S. wrongly accused?

By ERIC FLEET

The Third World Nations are smothering in the vile corruption of their own excrement. Millions of innocent people are starving to death, victims of defunct political, economic and social systems. In an attempt to hold their people in servitude, the dictators have used the United States as a scapegoat, blaming "U.S. imperialism" for their economic failure. They have been joined by the jealous nations of western Europe and their affiliated institutions in a massive character assassination based on jealousy, greed and hate. It is a time for America to let the truth be known and stop taking such abuse from people we have helped so much in the past.

The U.S. has been generous beyond all imagination in dealing with hunger. Between 1965 and 1972, 84.4 per cent of the grain donated to poor nations came from America. The Soviet Union, Canada, Australia and the other grain producing countries contributed the remaining 15.6 per cent, and yet they have the audacity to demand more from this country. The truth is that the American farmer makes up 1/10 of 1 per cent of our population yet feeds 25 per cent of the world! One quarter of the earth's population eats American food and the forces of international jealousy dare to demand more, let alone blame America for hunger.

The majority of Third World nations are run by corrupt regimes which have no desire to share their wealth with their own poor. These dictators have a financial stake in perpetuating starvation and poverty and will continue to do so. Whenever the masses become discontented they find a scapegoat to detract from their own responsibility. General Amin of Uganda is a fine example. Not too many months ago he expelled all Asians from his country, claiming that they, his country's most prosperous citizens, were responsible for poverty. Now, a new scapegoat must be found. During the Biafran War, America sent tons of wheat to Nigeria. The grain was sold in the black market to the ruling class. In India, Mrs. Ghandi has spent billions in the development of atomic bombs, and still she expects America to feed her people.

For Americans to send grain to these countries, who are now reaping what the rulers have sown, would be to support the oppression of millions. We would only be aiding the dictators in passifying their vassals for a few months longer.

Suicidal rates of proliferation are also forced upon the people by the ruling classes in order to prevent class mobility and obstruct economic progress among the peasants. Latin American countries presently enjoy an economic growth rate of 5.7 per cent per year. Yet, the populations germinate at rates of 12 to 15 per cent annually. No wonder poverty cannot be eradicated. All countries receiving American aide should be required to implement extensive birth control programs among the people. If this is not done, the populations will continue to grow while the economies stagnate and even bigger famines will take place in future years.

America should demand social justice in return for wheat. Ruling cliques should be made to either share with their people. For America to feed these people at a subsistance level is only to prolong their struggle for justice. If the rulers reform, our aid will booster a growing society and speed its way to development. If they refuse, our denial to beat them in their crime will speed the necessary revolutions which must take place and inevitably will come to pass.

In reference to the World Food Conference in Rome, Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz is reported to have told a joke going around the city about the Pope's stand on birth control. Supposedly, a mythical Italian woman was heard to say, "He no playa the game, he no maka the rules." Certainly, Mr. Butz is guilty of an indiscretion and nothing more. What should be met with outrage is the attempt of the archbishop of New York to blow the incident out of proportion for the benefit of the political party he favors. As a Catholic and a Conservative Republican I must disown the statement made by the good Cardinal Cooke. "If Mr. Butz can speak that way and remain in your cabinet," declared Cardinal Cooke, "Catholics, Italo-Americans and the starving people of the world will know how poorly they are esteemed by your cabinet." Terrance Cardinal Cooke is a good friend of the Kennedys and a known Democrat. For him to abuse the church through partisan politics is a disgrace, and he should be duly reprimanded.

Eric Fleet is a Collegian Commentator.

Interested in the Collegian?

There will be a meeting Tuesday night for all interested in working on next semester's editorial pages. We are looking for writers, cartoonists and layout people to give us new ideas and more input. Come and meet a few of the new editors and give us your ideas. The meeting will be held in the Colonial Lounge, at the Student Union, at 7:00.

Tomorrow Zamir Nestelbaum casts the future of Wilbur Mills as Ambassador to Uganda.

Dean Tucker

TOC: Take our cash

Contrary to printed rumor T.O.C. does not stand for Top of the Campus... it stands for Take Our Cash. Besides probably being the only local drinkery where one could die of old age between ordering a drink and having it served, students are forced to insult themselves by becoming "members" of that prestigious institution for the nominal fee of one dollar in return for which we receive mediocrity.

Last Thursday night the Collegian held its annual editorial elections. They are tedious, tense, and more boring than a class taught by Dean Albertson. This year they were held in one of the rooms in the Campus Center meeting room complex. [Down the escalator]. These rooms have no windows, too much heat, all white walls and rude flourescent lights.

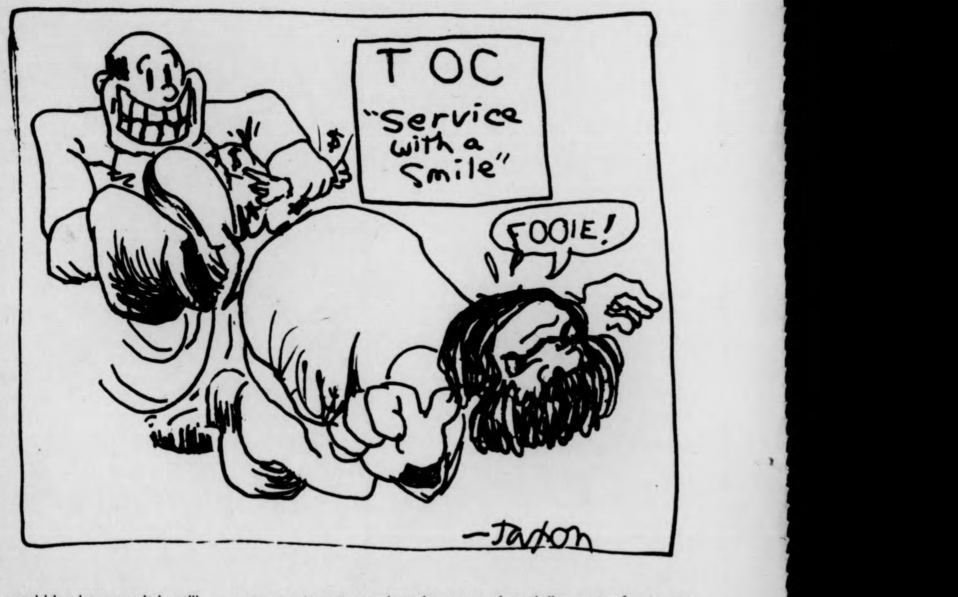
They are a claustrophobics nightmare... and when people sit in them for three and a half hours for an election they are ready to go OUT to drink.

Not out to have a couple of cocktails, cross your legs and ponder the state of the world, No, out to celebrate the passing of editorships to a group of people who like those on the way out will in one years time have put in a full days work plus school, given up most of their personal lives, lost girlfriends, gone broke, seen their cum. drop and aged three years in 9 months. So the group is ripe to get all screwed up; falling down, mad/happy drunk because for some it is over, for others it is just beginning. Some feel like they will conquer the world others wish they could have while editors... but it doesn't matter. The elections were over, the paper at the printers and we wanted to celebrate.



Some people suggested Mikes... a good idea because it is still the only saloon in town where twenty people can arrive at the same time get a drink in five minutes and celebrate, really celebrate, without some pompous ass telling you how to behave. Mikes place is a veteran of thousands of UMass celebrations. They know how to handle a crowd without stifling it.

There were not enough cars for twenty people, so the idea was scrapped...

When the group of twenty student journalists were vomited from the elevator and herded into the big bold glass and cement room [that says something in itself] the well polished staff reacted like Sonny Barger and the Hell's Angels just rode into town on their motorcycles. Security went up and the familiar "humor them" look was attached to the normally painted on smile, and the smile became more painted on when our first order, five pitchers of beer and a tray of glasses, was placed. The beer lasted ten minutes... people who had lingered after the election began to arrive and get cheers, more tables were pulled up... the cry for beer went out... money was on the table in piles... someone finagled a bottle of champagne [seven dollars a ripoff] from the barmaid. That lasted two minutes from cork time to emptiness... and we wanted more, more beer, more bubbley, more. We waited. The snotty cocktail waitress, who eventually ripped us off for at least six dollars, said "you'll have to wait your turn." We waited through a set of fifties tunes played by the worst band in the area while a few overstuffed conventioneer types sipped their Gibsons and talked about the big sales meeting or other such bull droppings. Our waitress, and we should have had three because we were drinking and spending like there were forty of us disappeared to consult the tie wearing manager about the horrible drunkgetting Collegian people who were hollering and screaming now because we had waited for an incompetent waitress to bring us our beer, or our money or some semblance of service. A second bottle of champagne came and went in a slurp... but no beer, and no service.

Some people suggested Mikes... a good idea because it is still the only saloon in town where twenty people can arrive at the same time get a drink in five minutes and celebrate, really celebrate, without some pompous ass telling you how to behave. Mikes place is a veteran of thousands of UMass celebrations. They know how to handle a crowd without stifling it.

There were not enough cars for twenty people, so the idea was scrapped...

When the group of twenty student journalists were vomited from the elevator and herded into the big bold glass and cement room [that says something in itself] the well polished staff reacted like Sonny Barger and the Hell's Angels just rode into town on their motorcycles. Security went up and the familiar "humor them" look was attached to the normally painted on smile, and the smile became more painted on when our first order, five pitchers of beer and a tray of glasses, was placed. The beer lasted ten minutes... people who had lingered after the election began to arrive and get cheers, more tables were pulled up... the cry for beer went out... money was on the table in piles... someone

Lo and behold Miss cute britches ballette the waitress tells us that the place is out pitchers. Moments before we sent her away with three or four empties but they got lost in the twenty foot distance between our table and the service bar. She still has our money, but we don't want it, we want beer. We would have spent a hundred fifty dollars there if the hired help was smart enough to sense a celebration. People even began to join our crowd... we were the center of it all.

It comes from all quarters of the world that a bunch of journalists is a bunch of fools, but not a bunch of big fools. The pitcher trick did not work, in fact it brought indignation from even the dumbest. So Miss cute britches sidles away, getting mad now because she is an amateur in the presence of professionals, still with our money, but we don't want it, we want beer... and comes back to tell us the T.O.C. is out of beer; can you believe it. We get our money back minus six dollars and then leave for the Blue Wall.

We just got shut off, and it cost us six dollars to find out that the best minds of the T.O.C. management knew how to take care of the students, who were all bonafide members of the T.O.C. when they came to their club in their building, on their campus to have a good time. They shut us off. That's how to take care of students. Screw them.

The T.O.C. is a curious sort of organization. It is located in a building that is being paid for by the students, but will be owned by the state when the note is paid off. The T.O.C. is part of Campus Center Food Services who also operate the Hatch, the Coffee Shop, a catering service and the Blue Wall among other things. When the Campus Center was planned it was hoped that Amherst would become a Las Vegas east, but it flopped worse than the World Football League. The food service establishments are carrying the weight for the building note, with the help of students who pay an obnoxious over sixty dollar a year fee to use it, even if they never do.

The myth that we will become a convention center is talked about, but that is all. It is kept alive by the attitude maintained at T.O.C.

It is true that the prices there are moderate, there is a discount for students who dine there, but the student dining is not encouraged. The discount is mentioned in parenthesis on menus and ads. The money is still made from outsiders... faculty, staff etc. who pay full price.

The moderate price of dinners at the T.O.C. is maintained because the students who flood the Hatch, Coffee Shop etc. are subsidizing the T.O.C. with revenues from those places. The T.O.C. offers the non-student good dining at moderate prices at the expense of students who are subjected daily to the poison in the Hatch, or Coffee Shop.

Lunchtime at the Coffee Shop is packed with students. A hamburger, small milk, yogurt, salad and fresh fruit costs $1.89. You have to wait in line for it, and sit at a trash laden table to eat it. The T.O.C. has a daily special for $1.95 served. It is hot, and usually good. The catch at T.O.C. is the "quickie lunch" where one can stand in line cafeteria style and get Hatch/Coffee Shop fare at slightly inflated prices, served by yourself at a unclean table. Its the same old crap... once out of the elevator economy minded students are shuttled to a back room for more of the same.

Why isn't the quickie meal served in the regular dining room. Perhaps because a bunch of students there would be a discouragement to the conventioneers, or President Wood who drops in from time to time, or anyone else that expects deluxe service... at the expense of students who are subtly kept away, or in the case of the Collegian people kicked out of a place they have paid stock in.

The Collegian moved itself to the Blue Wall, where despite the crowd not only were welcomed, but encouraged to have a good time. The management knew what was going on, and the bartenders did too.

In retrospect the Blue Wall was probably the place to go in the first place... but we pay for the other dump too. We should get to choose, not be treated like dirt.

Dean Tucker is Executive Editor of the Collegian

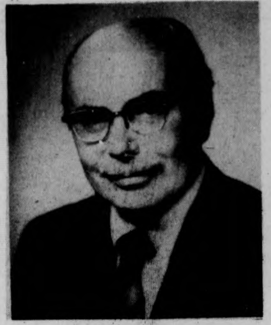
Fraternal Dump Assoc. sponsors bottle bill

The UMass Fraternal Dump Association has gone on record as a sponsor of the Bottle Bill Legislation to be introduced in the legislature by State Rep. Lois Pines.

Thomas P. Driscoll, director of the UMass chapter FDA, today conceded the failure of FDA's Litterbug Amnesty Program, and called for strong government measures to control non-returnable bottles, which account for a large, visible share of the state's litter.

A similar proposal in last year's legislature was unsuccessful. This year's bill is supported by a broad-based coalition of ecology-minded groups, including the Mass. Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG)

Container legislation has been successfully implemented in Oregon and Vermont in the past several years, but is being strongly resisted by labor and manufacturing interests. FDA researchers have concluded that the benefit to the public of such laws strongly outweighs any minor economic dislocation which might occur. Savings would be great of natural resources, energy and public expenditures to control litter, they say.



Robert J. McCartney

Library announces exam week schedule

MAIN LIBRARY

December 1, Sunday, 10 a.m. to 12:00 midnight; December 2, Monday through Friday, December 6, 8 a.m. to 12 midnight; December 7, Saturday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; December 8, Sunday, 10 a.m. to 2 a.m.; December 9, Monday through Wednesday, December 18, 7 a.m. to 2 a.m.; December 19, Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; December 20, Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; December 21, Saturday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

MORRILL LIBRARY

No change in regular hours

MUSIC LIBRARY

Regular hours through Tuesday, December 10th. December 11-13, Wednesday-Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.; December 14, Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; December 15, Sunday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.; December 16-18 Monday-Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.; December 19, Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.; December 20, Friday, 8:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.; December 21, Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PHYSICAL SCIENCES LIBRARY

Regular hours through Thursday, December 19. December 20, Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; December 21, Saturday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

PHYSICS LIBRARY

No change in regular hours.

The Fixer free here Tuesday

The Fixer, which won the National Society of Film Critics Award, will be screened on Tuesday, December 10 in CC 101, at 9:00 p.m.

Starring Alan Bates and Dirk Bogarde, the film is set in Kiev during the Czarist era in Russia.

The Fixer was adapted from the Bernard Malamud novel and was directed by John Frankenheimer. The screening is being sponsored by Hillel and admission is free, although donations will be accepted.

Para presents de Chardin film

The Psychical Awareness & Research Association will present a film and tape presentation of Teilhard De Chardin's, PEHNOMENON OF MAN tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m., in Herter Hall, room 231.

This presentation is a cooperative production of the 'Phenomenon of Man Association'' and the "Fillmore Foundation".

Phenomenon of Man presents a graphic introduction to the ideas contained in De Chardin's works which revolutionized and awakened the academic and religious communities to man's relationship to the universe.

Para is dedicated to the study, exploration, investigation and unfoldment process of man through the PSI faculty. Meetings and programs are held monthly, open to the public for a nominal donation. Anyone wishing further information, may contact Claudette L. Kiely of Granby.

Sports
hotline
5-2210

Sooner or later you'll come to
BEAU Britches

Graduate receives medal for service to UMass

Thirty-three years ago Robert J. McCartney received a bachelor's degree from what is now the University of Massachusetts-Amherst. This week he received The University Medal for Outstanding Service for his dedication to UMass.

At the UMass Campus Center where the award ceremony was conducted Wednesday, Dec. 4, Mrs. McCartney, Norma, accepted the award for her husband who was hospitalized at Peter Bent Brigham in Boston. From his hospital bed, McCartney spoke via telephone hook-up to the group assembled to honor him in Amherst.

The medal was authorized by the UMass Board of Trustees in 1972 to bring special recognition to persons who have given "significant and exceptional service" to the University. Eligible to receive the honor are students, alumni, faculty, administrators, staff, legislators, government employees, and friends of UMass.

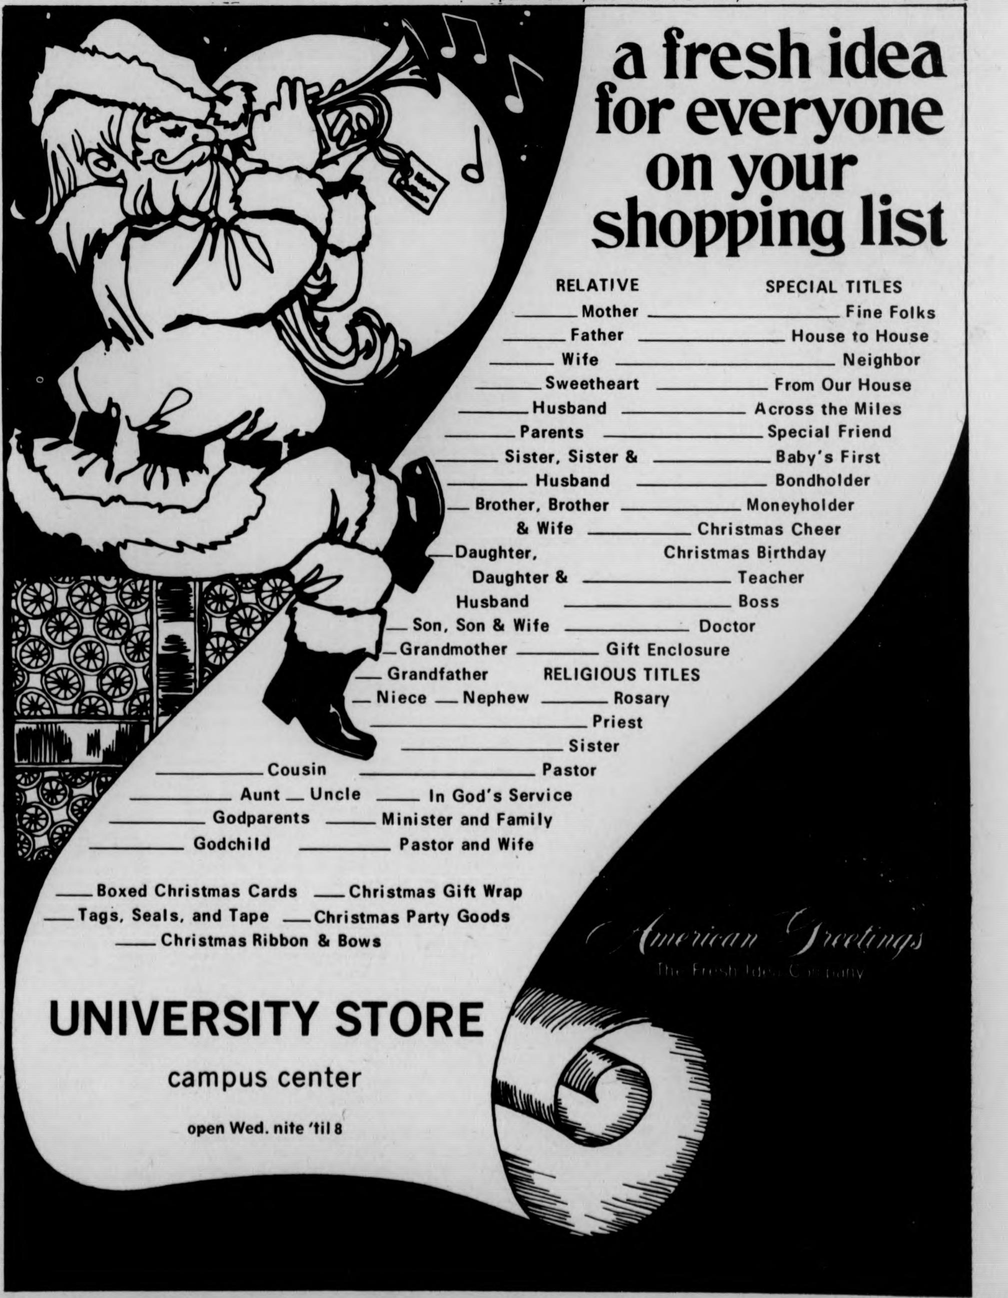
McCartney has been several of those from the late 1930's when he began as a student through to the 1970's when he served as secretary and director of university relations and now as the president's assistant for liaison service.

Having graduated in 1941, he spent four years with the Army Signal Corps and then returned to UMass for graduate school. He became news editor of UMass in 1948, and was director of publications and news from 1953 to 1956. During those years he founded and edited "The Massachusetts Alumnus" magazine still published today and mailed to thousands of UMass graduates throughout the world.

McCartney moved to the University of Maryland where he was director of university relations from 1956 to 1964., when he returned to UMass as secretary and director of university relations. As secretary he worked closely with the Board of Trustees, and as director of university relations he coordinated communications in news, radio, and television.

In July, 1973, McCartney was named assistant to the UMass president for liaison service, and as such has been President Robert Wood's representative on the Amherst campus.

The New Record Shop
197 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-5394



a fresh idea for everyone on your shopping list

RELATIVE ____ Mother
____ Father
____ Wife
____ Sweetheart ____ Husband
____ Parents
____ Sister, Sister & Husband
____ Brother, Brother & Wife ____ Daughter, Daughter & Husband
____ Son, Son & Wife ____ Grandmother ____ Grandfather
____ Niece ____ Nephew ____ Cousin
____ Aunt ____ Uncle
____ Godparents
____ Godchild

SPECIAL TITLES
____ Fine Folks
____ House to House
____ Neighbor
____ From Our House
____ Across the Miles
____ Special Friend
____ Baby's First
____ Bondholder
____ Moneyholder
____ Christmas Cheer
Christmas Birthday
____ Teacher
____ Boss
____ Doctor
____ Gift Enclosure

RELIGIOUS TITLES
____ Rosary ____ Priest
____ Sister
____ Pastor
____ In God's Service
____ Minister and Family
____ Pastor and Wife

____ Boxed Christmas Cards ____ Christmas Gift Wrap ____ Tags, Seals, and Tape ____ Christmas Party Goods ____ Christmas Ribbon & Bows

American Greetings
The Fresh Idea Company

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
open Wed. nite 'til 8

Reunion

AHORA

Hoy Lunes en Southwest

George Washington, piso 19

Muy Importante!!

SKI AND SAVE

STUDENTS SAVE EVERY DAY AT BROMLEY ... especially Jan. 6-10, 13-17, Feb. 3-7, Mar. 17-21, 24-28. 50% OFF!!!

4-DAY OPTIONS: lifts only, $18, lifts and lessons, $22, lifts, GLM lessons and all equipment, $30.

For more on our inflation fighter deals for students, fill in the coupon below.

Name
Street
City
State
Zip

bromley southern exposure··constant grooming bromley vermont

47 mountain road manchester, vermont 05255

Christmas Cards

American Greetings
The very special way to remember . . .

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center

Tax revenues slump

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher fuel prices and a slumping economy trimmed sharply the rate of growth in state tax revenues for 1974, the federal government reported yesterday.

The Commerce Department said tax income for all 50 states totaled $74.1 billion in 1974, compared to $68.1 billion in 1973. That worked out to an 8.9 per cent jump for 1974, compared to a 13.7 per cent growth the previous year. The totals did not include income from federal programs and other sources, such as lotteries.

Since the prices that states must pay for goods and services go up along with everything else, the fact that the 1974 growth in tax revenue was below the 10.9 per cent rise in prices during the same period means state governments are generally under pressure to make ends meet.

Federal tax receipts for the 1974 tax year, which ended June 30, were $264.9 billion, a jump of 14 per cent over the previous year.

The sharpest blow to the states was in gasoline and fuel taxes which normally provide them with about 12 per cent of their tax revenue.

With sharply higher gasoline prices and the Arab oil embargo, motorists cut back on consumption.

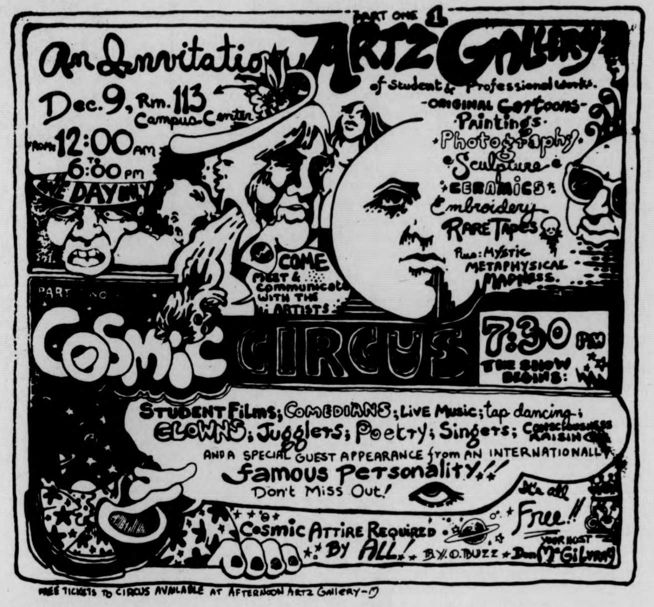
Thus, revenues from fuel taxes increased by only 1.8 per cent to $8.2 billion, even though income from drivers' licenses fees jumped nearly 3 per cent.

In the 1973 tax year, income from fuel taxes had increased 12 per cent.

General sales tax revenues, by contrast, were up 14.2 per cent, largely because they are a fixed percentage of the inflated costs of goods. They totaled $22.6 billion, or 30.5 per cent of state tax income.

But the economic slump took considerable steam out of state income taxes, which normally account for 31 per cent of state tax revenues. Individual income taxes were up 9.2 per cent to $17 billion, compared to a 20 per cent increase in 1973. The 22.8 per cent rise in corporation income taxes paid states in 1973 slowed to a 10.9 per cent rise for 1974 and a total of $6 billion.

Connecticut, with a 4.4 per cent drop in revenue to $1.1 billion, was the only state to suffer a decline.



PART ONE 1
An Invitation
ARTZ GALLERY of Student & Professional Works.
Dec. 9, Rm. 113 Campus Center from 12:00 AM to 6:00 PM
-ORIGINAL Cartoons-Paintings
Photography Sculpture
CERAMICS Embroidery
RARE TAPES
Plus: MYSTIC METAPHYSICAL MADNESS.
COME MEET & Communicate WITH THE ARTISTS
PART TWO COSMIC CIRCUS
7:30 PM THE SHOW BEGINS:
STUDENT FILMS; COMEDIANS; LIVE Music; tap dancing; CLOWNS; Jugglers; Poetry; Singers; Consciousness RAISING AND A SPECIAL GUEST APPEARANCE from AN INTERNATIONALLY famous Personality!!
Don't Miss Out!
It's all Free!!
Cosmic ATTIRE REQUIRED BY ALL!
YOUR HOST Don McGilvray
FREE TICKETS TO CIRCUS AVAILABLE AT AFTERNOON ARTZ GALLERY

Cartoonist Don McGilvray is sponsoring a day of activities for all today at the Campus Center, room 113. Beginning at 12 is the "Artz Gallery," a collection of photography, paintings, sculpture and various student works. The "Gallery" will run until 6. At 7:30, the Cosmic Circus begins, featuring jugglers, clowns and cosmic entertainment. There will be a special guest appearance from an "internationally famous celebrity." It's all free, and all are welcome!

College Calculators
End of Semester Sale!
Save Now on all Machines!
Texas Instrument SR-50
only $137.95
SR-10 $59.95
SR-11 $69.95
Melcor 535 $103.95
Comparable to SR-50 & Parenthesis!
Commodore
"986GLR" — 4 function, per cent, constant, large green display, only $39.95
"987GLR — 4 function, per cent, constant, M+, M-, MT, MR, exch. key, large green display only $52.95
"Novus 850" — 4 function, 8 digit hand held machine, battery oper., only $29.95
All Machines (except Novus) include 1 year man warranty — 2 month replacement warranty if defective, AC adaptor, and carrying case! I carry all machines at discount prices, call me first.
Bob Crowell 549-1316
Sale Ends 12/13/74

UMass drinking problem

cont. from p. 1

Public Safety, a special legislative commission investigating drunk driving is considering the feasibility of repealing the lower drinking age.

On campus, though, Averill maintains that the problem is the same as it has always been, "only our awareness of it has increased.

"If you draw a graph to the last 25 years, with the exception of four or five years in the late 60's when there was an emphasis on mind-expanding drugs, there would be a fairly straight line.

"Certainly with the availability of liquor having increased, there is more intensive use of it. But the number of people using it is still the same."

The availability of liquor at the University of Massachusetts has indeed increased. The campus center's drinking establishment boasts a booming beer business—a volume increase of about 112 per cent since the lowering of the drinking age. Its gross profits on all liquor has shot up 47 per cent during that time (to about $600,000 per year;, according to Phil Amico, food services director of the campus center.

UMass management feels that the 2,700 gallons of beer served in the center each week "probably tops all other bars on the entire eastern coast of the United States."

Amico says the university has one of the largest on-campus beverage operations in the country.

With the majority of the patrons being students, it would seem to create problems for the local town police.

Amherst Police Chief Donald M. Maia says a drinking problem among a substantial number of college students "hasn't shown its head" as far as his department is concerned.

"They're (students) not coming off the campus as much as they did in the past, there's more drinking going on at the university that would have been off-campus before the drinking age was lowered," Maia says.

"I don't think it is a problem in this community. At least it hasn't come to our mind at this point in time."

The UMass Department of Public Safety sees things in a different light.

"It's not a problem to them because we're picking up the slack," said one UMass officer.

"Fifty to 60 per cent of the dorm damage is alcohol-related...most broken windows caused by people with too many cocktails.

"And with the decriminalization of public drunkenness, some people get the vague idea we're having a picnic. What's happened is that we've turned into a regular cab service for the weekend drunk."

While the state highway fatality records are not reflective of the university vicinity, most accidental deaths occurring on campus have reportedly been linked to drinking.

"For someone walking around in a stupor at this place, it's dangerous...don't kid yourself," insisted a dormitory janitor.

"Falling out of the balcony of a high rise tower; getting trapped in an elevator or suffocating in bed is all very possible here when somebody gets looped."

Mrs. Evelyn K. Duston, director of health education for the UMass infirmary, believes that a considerable amount of injuries and illnesses are related to drinking—but adds that hard data is lacking to confirm this.

"We see a lot of students coming in with alcoholic-related problems, but it's just not going into the record," Mrs. Duston says.

"Too much of a moral issue is involved. Denial is a very big problem. Physicians will frequently explain away or cover-up any kind of behavior when somebody is drunk because it's a big decision to lay on somebody in our culture.

"It's not easy to say to somebody 'you're an alcoholic.' Nobody wants to label some one as such until they're long over the line, approaching a gutter drunk."

Yet, according to several studies conducted—only five per cent of America's ten million labeled alcoholics are skid row derelicts.

Dr. Robert W. Gage, UMass vice chancellor for student affairs, says he is disturbed by "the preoccupation of so many people upon alcohol; a slavish dependence by students.

turn to page 17

Spirit Haus
Special MILLER cans $5.89
360 College St., Rte. 9
OPEN Til 11 Daily

The HP-35 Electronic Slide Rule.
Performs all basic arithmetic, trig and log calculations automatically. Has an Addressable Memory, displays 10 digits in fixed decimal or scientific notation, automatically positions decimal point throughout its 200-decade range. Cost, $225.*
*All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.
HEWLETT hp PACKARD
available at the UNIVERSITY STORE campus center, open Wed 'til 8.

The Canon F-1.
Images are what it's all about.

Photographic equipment can be a trap. Sometimes, you can get so involved with it that you lose sight of your real purpose—making photographs.

The Canon F-1 can help you forget about equipment and concentrate on images. It was designed, and functions, as an extension of your photographic vision. It's responsive in a way that you must experience to appreciate. And since it was conceived as a system camera, every part works together with effortless smoothness, from the more than 40 Canon FD and FL lenses to the over 200 accessories.

The heart of the camera is it's central spot metering system. With it you can use anyone's exposure system, no matter how critical, since it only measures the central 12% of the finder area—regardless of the focal length used.

So if you're spending too much time lately worrying about your equipment, it's time you stopped, and took a good look at the Canon F-1 system, and Canon's other fine cameras—the automatic, electronic EF, the full-feature FTb, and the TLb. If you're interested in images, Canon's your camera.

Canon®
A System of Precision F-1
Canon USA, Inc., 10 Nevada Drive, Lake Success, New York 11040
Canon USA, Inc., 457 Fullerton Avenue, Elmhurst, Illinois 60126
Canon USA, Inc., 123 East Paularino Avenue, Costa Mesa, California 92626
Canon USA, Inc., Bldg. B-2, 1050 Ala Moana Blvd., Honolulu, Hawaii 96814
Canon Optics & Business Machines Canada, Ltd., Ontario

OMETRICS
Astrological Services
Box 341
Amherst, Mass. 01002
phone: 549-6743
549-0005
LIFE~PATTERN chart analysis comparisons classes, lectures research, etc.
5 MONTH 15 page written projection $15.00

UMass drinking

cont. from p. 16

"People unconsciously see this as a temporary solution to the problems of discomfort," he says.

"I think students today are faced with more unpleasant realities of the competitive society they're placed into.

"The crucial part of turning to alcohol is the acceptance of competition and more socially acceptable forms of risk taking."

Dr. Gage says alcohol was not as pervasive in the protest days of the Vietnam War era "because they were economic good times when people could afford to take risks"—using marijuana and mind-expanding drugs as a primary high.

Why has alcohol drowned out the use of psychedelic drugs?

"Alcohol is cheaper, legal and safer than speed and LSD," says Mrs. Duston. "The dangerous drugs seem to have gotten people scared." She adds that pot is still popular, though.

Several students at Room to Move, (RTM) the drug drop-in and counseling center for UMass, also agree that heavy dependence upon alcohol as the choice drug reflects the retreat of student activism.

"It's part of a depressive mood," says RTM director Ronald C. LaFrance.

"Alcoholism and problem drinking is purely symptomatic of the times. A lot of things students should have control over...like money, food and courses...they don't.

"The major social norm on this campus is to drink at least three or four days a week to a heavy level of intoxication."

Since the drinking age was lowered, "bonafide party nights" have progressed from weekend evenings to a Wednesday through Saturday night routine as local bands attract students into the campus center, LaFrance suggests.

And now with 25-cent beer specials being offered at several area bars at the beginning of the week, one can find the college drunk frequenting the campus even on these "off-nights."

Last semester RTM handled an average of 20 alcohol-related problems a month.

"A problem," as defined by counselor James E. Byrne, "is when your drinking adversely affects you socially, financially, emotionally or morally.

"When you talk about alcoholics, though, you're not normally talking about your 18-year-old college drunk. Most of them will grow out of it before they hurt themselves or somebody else.

But if the trend in alcoholism holds nationwide, then I think the University of Massachusetts is going to produce more than its 4.5 per cent share of alcoholics."

While the drinking problem at the university is not acknowledged elsewhere in the Five-College Area where 30,000 students live, UMass sociologist Peter Park thinks it is merely better hidden at the smaller schools.

"My impression is that the problem is just as pervasive in the more prestigious schools," Park says.

Career workshop offered

cont. from p. 11

--To what extent does the University encourage faculty and staff to be responsive to student needs?

--What sense of control do students, staff, and faculty have over their work, education, and future development?

--What responsibility does the University have for creating new careers for new social conditions?

--Can the University community set an example for other institutions in its response to social change?

All staff, faculty and students are welcome. For more details on the program and registration information, please call the Resource Network, 224 Berkshire House (50851-50333) Judy Davis.

Resident students who plan to participate must sign up for housing immediately (by Wednesday, December 11) with their Head of Residence (if the dorm is going to be open) or with the area director's office if their dorm is going to be closed during January. For more housing information, call Marjorie Lenn, Office of Residential Life (51960).

The HP-80 Financial.
Performs virtually all time/money calculations in seconds. Has a 200-year calendar, an Addressable Memory. Lets you make new kinds of management calculations that enable you to make better decisions. Cost, $395.*
*All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.
HEWLETT hp PACKARD
available at the UNIVERSITY STORE campus center

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

From Our Beer and Wine Shoppe
Schlitz Beer
case of 24 12 oz cans $5.50

Champagne	Chateau Suzanne	24 oz btl	1.89
Paul Masson	Rosé	half gallon	3.29
Rose Garden	Liebfraumilch White Rhine	23 oz btl	1.89
Paul Masson	Rosé Burgundy Chablis	qt btl	1.99

Mountain Farms Mall Hadley
Finast® SUPERMARKETS
Prices Effective thru Dec. 7
We Reserve the Right To Limit Quantities

FACES OF EARTH gift ideas
FOR THE PERSON WHO HAS EVERYTHING.. .. OR WANTS EVERYTHING.
GLOBES That spin
RUGS
TEA SETS
WICKER BASKETS
JEWELRY Turquoise... silver, opals,
•COME IN AND LOOK AROUND... WE'RE OPENED LATE TIL CHRISTMAS!
NEXT TO THE AMHERST POSTOFFICE
FACES OF EARTH
OPEN 9:30-9:00

notices

Campus group meetings, non-profit events. To list notice of your group or event fill out free form at The Collegian office, 2nd floor, UMass Student Union. Mail notices to "news editor."

ALPHA PHI OMEGA:
Important meeting; election of officers and initiation of new brother. All brothers are requested to attend, 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall, please use basement entrance.

ATTENTION: INTER-VARSITY:
Don't forget the Christmas party tonite! Rm 811-815 CC at 7:30. Come and celebrate the Lord's birthday!

AUDITIONS:
Auditions for the Roister Doisters production of the off Broadway comedy hit "Adaption-Next" will be held Mon., and Tues. 12-9 and 10 starting at 6:30 p.m. in 165-169 CC and Wed. 12-11 in 168-170 at same time.

COMMUTERS' GENERAL MEETING:
There will be a general meeting of the Commuter Assembly at noon today in the Commuter Lounge. Free coffee and donuts will be served. All are welcome.

GAMMA SIGMA SIGMA:
Meeting tonite at 6:30 in rm. 902 CC. All sisters and pledges please attend. Also we will have a meeting next Mon. 12-16 at 6:30 in rm. 901 CC.

GAY-LINE:
The Student Homophile League and the Gay Womens' Caucus offer confidential counseling and referrals for Gay-related issues in person or by phone, 545-0154, 413B SU Mon-Thu 8-11 p.m.

INNKEEPERS:
Important meeting, raffle, elections Mon. 12-9, 7 p.m. 227 Chenoweth, beer and munchies.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSIONS:
Professor Sheldon Frankel of the University of Puget Sound Law School will be available to speak to students on law school admissions in Berkshire House from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Dec. 11.

MUSIC THEATRE GUILD:
There will be a meeting at 5:30 tonite in Herter 209 to elect three Production Staff

turn to page 20

Finast
COUPON VALUES THE FINAST WAY
Save ... With These Valuable Coupons from Finast!

FREE One 10¾ oz can Campbell's Tomato Soup With This Coupon & Purchase of $5 or More Limit one Coupon per Cusotmer Valid thru Dec. 14 H749 F

FREE One 26 oz ctn Finast Salt Plain or Iodized With This Coupon & Purchase of $5 or More Limit one Coupon per Customer Valid thru Dec. 14 H750 F

Save 15¢ With This Coupon On One quart jar Kraft Mayonnaise Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H717 M

Save 30¢ With This Coupon On One package 100 ct Tetley Tea Bags Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H715 M

Save 25¢ With This Coupon On One 10 lb bag Pillsbury Best Flour Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H716 M

Save 10¢ With This Coupon On One 14 oz pkg Keebler Coconut Chocolate Drop Cookies Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H720 M

Save 12¢ With This Coupon On One 16 oz package Pillsbury Hungry Jack Mashed Potatoes Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H718 M

Save 10¢ With This Coupon On One 5½ oz pkg Scalloped Betty Crocker Potatoes Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H719 M

Save 10¢ With This Coupon on One 8 oz btl Pfeiffer Caesar Dressing Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H721 M

Save 15¢ With this Coupon On 4 pkgs - 3¼ oz Jello Pudding Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H722 M

Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 64 oz ctn NuSoft Fabric Softener Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H723 M

Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 9 oz ctn Klean 'n Shine Polish Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H724 M

Save 12¢ With This Coupon On one 16 oz ctn Liquid Woolite Cold Water Wash Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H725 M

Save 10¢ With this Coupon On One 6 oz ctn Wizard Solid Air Freshener Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H726 M

Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 157 oz ctn Concentrated all Detergent Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H727 M

Save 13¢ With This Coupon On One 22 oz btl Lux Liquid Detergent Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H728 M

Save 12¢ With this Coupon On One 4 oz can Right Guard Deodorant Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H758 M

Save 12¢ With This Coupon On One 7 oz can Gillette Dry Look Men's Hair Spray Valid thru Sat., Dec. 14 H759 M

B&M Pea Beans
Brick Oven Baked Pea Beans 3 16 oz cans 1.00

Tomato Catsup
Del Monte Fancy Tomato 38 oz btl 79¢

Chunk Tuna
Del Monte Light 6½ oz can 45¢

Fabric Softener
Finast 4 quart btls 89¢

Goff Cat Food
All Varieties 5 7½ oz cans 1.00

Finast Soup Cream of Mushroom .. 5 10½ oz cans 95¢
Vegetable Soup Campbell's 5 10¾ oz cans 95¢
Tide Detergent 25¢ Off Label ... 84 oz pkg 1.80
Rug Cleaner 1-Hour Carbona ..... 24 oz can 1.39

Stock Up on Frozen Food the Finast Way
Sausage Pizza
Celeste - For Snacks or Parties 23 oz pkg 1.89

Chopped Sirloin, Salisbury Steak, Turkey
Swanson Dinners .... 11½ oz pkg 69¢
Apple Pie Pet Ritz .... 20 oz pkg 59¢
Strawberries Kern Sliced ...... 16 oz pkg 55¢
Green Beans Finast Reg Cut or French Style 3 9 oz pkgs 89¢

Sunrise Fresh Dairy the Finast Way
Cottage Cheese
Finast 16 oz ctn 59¢

Orange Juice Finast ..... half gal 69¢
Pillsbury Biscuits Sweet or Buttermilk 2 8 oz ctns 27¢
Corn Oil Margarine Finast 1 lb pkg 63¢

Health and Beauty Aids the Finast Way
Hair Spray
Miss Breck 13 oz can 79¢

Playtex Tampons .... box 30 1.69
Denture Tablets Polident .. box 40 99¢

We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities

Quality Meats from the Best Meat Men in the Business!
Pork Loin Assorted Chops (Formerly Called Quarter Loin Pork Chops) 98¢ lb
Equal Amount of Sirloin Hip & Center Cut Chops

Formerly Called Pork Roast Rib Portion
Pork Loin Blade Roast Bone In 76¢ lb
Formerly Called Pork Roast Loin Portion
Pork Loin Sirloin Roast Bone In 86¢ lb
Formerly Pork Roast Rib Side 7-Rib 4 to 6 lbs
Pork Loin Blade Roast Bone In Half lb 88¢
Formerly Pork Roast Loin Side 4 to 6 lbs
Pork Loin Sirloin Roast Bone In Half lb 98¢
Formerly Country Style Pork Ribs
Pork Loin Ribs Country Style Bone In lb 98¢
Formerly Pork Roast Rib Side 7 Rib
Pork Loin Top Loin Roast Boneless lb 1.38

Pork Shoulder Arm Picnic 68¢ lb
Fresh Tender, Tasty Pork - Bone In
Formerly Called Fresh Pork Shoulder - Bone In

Formerly Fresh Spare Ribs
Pork Spare Ribs Bone In .... lb 98¢
Formerly Beef Stew
Beef for Stew Boneless Chuck ..... lb 1.29
Formerly London Broil
Beef Shoulder Steak Boneless Chuck .. lb 1.59
Formerly Fresh Pork Butt
Pork Shoulder Roast Blade Boston Bone In .... lb 88¢
Formerly Ground Chuck
Ground Beef Chuck 5 lbs or more 95¢ ... lb 99¢
Formerly Boneless Blade Steak
Top Blade Steak Boneless Beef Chuck .... lb 1.59

Boneless Beef Chuck Shoulder Roasts
Tender, Juicy Family Favorite
1.28 lb
Naturally aged for tenderness and flavor.

Treat Your Family To Mr. Deli Favorites!
Imported Ham half lb 89¢
American Cheese ... lb 1.29
Dandy Loaf Carando ...... lb 89¢
Liverwurst Kahn's A/C .... lb 89¢
Roast Beef .... qtr lb 79¢
Available in Stores with Mr Deli Dept

Iceberg Lettuce
FIRST O' THE FRESH
Fresh Crisp Heads 3 hds $1.00
Jumbo Celery 3 bches $1.00
California Lemons .. 6 for 49¢ Red Radishes .... 6 oz cello 10¢

In-Store Bake Shop
Hard Rolls French dozen 69¢
Rye Bread or Pumpernickle 1 lb loaf 55¢

Prices Effective thru Saturday, December 14, 1974

ONLY THE NAME IS THE SAME
BRITTANY MANOR
Now court-appointed management, on site, professional personnel and maintenance staff.
GUARANTEED security deposits held in an interest bearing escrow account.
Only one month deposit required with 4 months or more lease available from Feb.-May.
All-modern conveniences, tennis, 2 pools.
FREE UMass bus service from property.
Large, one, two, three bedroom apartments from $200.00. Call 256-8534 (or take the free bus).
Summer rentals available at reduced rates.
Rent now and save! Rent an apartment for second semester and get $25.00 off your first month's rent!
DEALING STRAIGHT — A PLEASANT CHANGE!

NO PARKING THIS STREET

Staff Photo by Ed Minson

Parking tickets: What me worry?

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay
To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday - Friday.
The deadline is 3:45, two days before the day your ad is to appear.
The rates are:
Daily — $.30 per line*
Weekly — $.25 per line*
Monthly — $.20 per line*
*Two lines on form approximate one line.

FOR SALE

Used guitars bought and sold. The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops, 549-1728.

Coats: Midi suede coat; midi dungaree coat; rabbit fur jacket and navy blue leather jacket. Call Margie 546-7649.

Skiis, Spalding 205 Siderals, regularly $170, will sell for $45. Call John 1-863-9426. Keep calling.

Stuffed animals, one-half price. $3-$11. Up to 3 ft. Seeing is believing. Keep you warm at night. Good for the erotic minded. Call 584-4731.

Waterbed — complete. Guaranteed. Queen size. $100. Call Pete 665-3084.

Live Xmas trees, choose and tag at our Tree Farm, any size, $7.77. L. Blizniak, 133 Bay Rd., Hadley. Open eves. also.

Applications being accepted. R.N. — 3 p.m.-11 p.m., 4 evs. per wk.; LPN, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 4 days per wk; Nurse aides, part and full time, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Apply in person, Amherst Nursing Home, 150 University Dr. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Exit USA. Need $. B.O. for '67 Ford conv. Blue Star skis 205 w-bindings and h. m. furn. Call or come see Bob,, 16 Swiss Vill. 253-5707. Leave Jan. All items ex. cond.

Two F78X14 snow tires, used 3,000 mi. Mtd. on Chevy rims. $20. each. 6-7781 eves.

Zenith color TV. 19", exclt. cond. $225. Octagonal water bed includes: frame, liner, bag, heater. $175. 253-5795.

One-half carrot perfect diamond ring plus M&F wedding bands. Never been worn. Willing to sell at wholesale price. Call Jim 546-5750.

High performance bike parts. Cotterless cranks, Deralleurs stems, hubs, pedals. Call Andrew 586-2645.

Typewriter. Just serviced. Call 549-6356.

10 speed French racing bike. Brand new. Sam Benoto Cazenave $100. 549-6620.

Snow tires 650-13, two for $30. Ski boots, Reiker buckle, 10 and one-half, $40. Call after 4:30. 253-3324.

Skis, K2-3, 195 CM, $120. Never used. Reg. $180. 256-6424 evenings.

Zenith 19" B&W TV, ex. cond. $50. Call Jon after 5 at 253-2806. A real buy!!!

Two Seiberling four ply rayon cord snow tires, size A78-13 (Pinto size). Used two seasons, $25. Also women's fur coat, $25. Call Kathy 256-8210.

Hard shell guitar case, fits SG perfectly. $15. John 6-5424.

Marantz 2230 received, 3 years on guarantee. Two AR3 speakers — Dual 1215S turntable & cover, Shure M75ED type, one-half cart, all top cond. Reas. 323-4416 or 323-4823.

All types of stereo components, 8 per cent over cost. Sound and music. 247-5870 or campus center, Mon. and Wed.

Sony HP465 Amp., Garard Turn, Sony turner, all mint shape. Ask $225. Need cash. Call Steve 253-7421.

Blow dryer for hair, good condition, best offer. Call 546-4738.

65 VW Bug new: radial tires, starter muffler brakes, king pins, 60 horse, body and engine good. Call Lennie 773-8838 $650.

One pair CCM Mustangs size 7, one and a half Y.O. Good shape. $20.00 Call Ed 64626.

HEATING STOVE. Horizontal, heavy construction. Burns 24 inch wood 584-7304.

Alden ocean shell-portable oarlock riggers high and low sliding seats, spruce spoon oars, complete $375. 567-3700.

One silver necklace with diamond chip, $30, and a smoky topaz ring $50-$75. Call 546-9916. Willing to bargain.

2 6.95x14 (D78-14) Studded snow tires, good. Call 665-4202 after 6 p.m. $35.

Used hockey skates, tacks CCM six and one half, 5-2188.

FOR SALE

100 PER CENT GOOSE DOWN QUILTS, all HAND MADE to order, best quality material, all double stitched, variety of colors. Nadine. 268-3239.

Goose Dwn. Jacket, Men's Sm. Bought new, never worn. Orig. $60, sell 4 one-half pr. or best offer. Call 546-5103.

One pair studded snow tires, almost new, 14". Exc. cond. 1 pr. 8.25-14 snows. $50 and $30. 549-0842. Keep trying.

Ladies beige suede coat, size 10-12, one season old. Cost $100. Best offer. Call Patricia between 7-8 a.m. or leave Tel. at 345-2512.

Refrig., 3 cu. ft., hardly used. Best offer. 549-0393.

Knissi White Stars 210 c.c. Supermatic bindings skies, used only 8X. $45.00 incl. size 12 boots. Call 253-2941.

Used Hart metal skis, $20. Buckle boots, sz. 8, exc. cond. $25, poles $4. Everything for $45. Pat 545-0025 a.m. or 538-7595 after 6 p.m.

For Sale: Integral systems Amp, Ace Audio Preamp, both immaculate. 665-2369.

600 MARVEL COMIX 4 sale. $200 or best offer. 1963-70. Fine cond. Mike. 546-5253.

Gibson Les Paul Gold Top, 2 yrs. old. $325 or Best offer. Call 549-0873.

Calculator Unisonic Vx 1/x Memory $40 or Best offer. Call Denny 253-5385.

Martin 12 string D12-35. Call 584-2554 after 8 p.m.

Advent 201 cassette tape deck with a built in Dolby. New $300, sell for $175. Gary. 665-4197 eve.

Five cu. ft. fridge, $90. Call Barb. 546-9875.

Car battery, new 22FC Sears Diehard 12V. Call 549-6483.

Smith Corona typewriter, needs cleaning and new ribbon. Electric with manual return. $25. Call Bob 549-1316.

For Sale — 1 pr. Lange Competition Ski Boots, excellent condition. Used 2 seasons. Also 1 pr. Lange Spoilers. Will sell separately or together. Call Dick 545-2642. Rm. 415.

Raleigh 10 speed Campagnolo Stronglight, 23 and one-half frame, $200. Call Andrew 586-2645. Cotterless cranks, 531 tubing. Great touring bike.

Pedal steel guitar, double-neck vintage Harlin Bros. Model, w-case. Call David 546-6571 anytime. Keep trying.

Sony TC-66 portable cassette recorder, 2 mo. old, rarely used, like new, cost $70. Will sell for $50 or B.O. I need the $. Call Doug 65495.

Nikkor lenses - 35mm f2, $150, 105 mm f2.5 $125, 200mm f4.5 $150. All practically brand new. 586-3250.

Raleigh Pro. all campagnolo, including brakes. Frame 23 inch. New. $525. 586-3250.

1967 Opal Gas Saving. Carolyn 253-9305.

Ski equipment: Boots, size 8 for $10, 200cm wood skis for $5, 200cm metals, w-size 8 boots and bindings for $20. Come to Collegian and ask for Dennis in photo. If not there, leave message.

Muskrat Fur Coat, red wool cape, baby carriage and stoller in one, two mobiles, infant seat, Jolly Jumper. 549-3969.

AUTO FOR SALE

1960 TR3-TR4 engine. Good shape, many xtras, but needs radiator. $500. 665-4183.

1966 Pontiac. Very rble. call 256-0278.

— 8 — 8 —

70 Gremlin. Very good condition, new tires. 6 cyl. std. 3 spd. 20 mpg. local. Call for info. $975 or B.O. 256-0544.

'67' Sunbeam Alpine excel. cond. Must see. $600. 567-0184.

1969 Ford Galaxcy. Candyapple red, ex. cond. Call 549-1310.

64 Chev. Wagon, good runner, 6 cyl. automatic, power steering, $195. 253-7241.

66 Mustang 6 cyl., 3 spd. new trans. and clutch. Sticker. Will sell $395. 253-7241.

66 Chev. 4 dr., automatic, 6 cyl., runs well, will sell for first $295. 253-7241.

'65 Chevy Impala Wagon, reblt. trans., snows, runs like a top. $225. Call 256-8669.

AUTO FOR SALE

'64 Chevy II, 6 cyl., st., gd. cond. $150. 323-7507.

'64 VW Sunroof, excellent condition. Rebuilt engine, snow tires. 253-2607.

'66 VW, rebuilt engine, new brakes, tires, transmission. $450. Sally. 545-0883 days.

1971 VW Bug, runs fine, but needs body work, brake job and stuck plug. Compression OK. $500 or best offer. 545-2221, 9-4:30. Leave name or 5-3147 anytime.

'67 Austin Healey. Sprite. $375. Joe. 6-6361.

1966 Mustang, $200 or best offer. Good running condition. Call Diane 545-0082.

1964 Econoline Van, $275. '69 Honda $275 or $500 for both. 253-7193 after 5-6.

'67 TR4A. New eng., radials, paint, batt., AM-FM. Must sell to stay in school. A steal at $1200. Call Lisa 253-3549.

'64 Dodge Station Wagon. Runs except needs new distributor. Have done work on engine. Kinda nice car. Best offer. Kelly 586-2645.

'73 Toyota Hilux Pick-up. Excellent condition. Automatic. Northfield 498-5995.

1963 Rambler, 6 cyl. Best offer. Call 253-9659. Denis.

'73 Honda Civic, 30 mi-gal. Silver. 14,000 mi. Excel. cond. $1850. Call 665-3409.

Van — '71 Ford Supervan. Fixed for camping. Just like home. $2100. 665-3084.

'68 Catalina Conv., dk. green w-black int., am-fm, ps-pb, loaded. Studded snows. $795. or B.O. Call 6-5080 eves.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Must sell my 73 and one-half Honda 350 imm. Will take $750 or best offer by Dec. 24. Also have 450CL $775. 546-5086 eves.

FOR RENT

Couple needed for large rm. $100 plus util. in household with four other people. Washer, dryer downstairs. No phone. Try us at night. Located near C. Dickinson Hosp. 349 Prospect St., Northampton.

Two bedroom, carpeted, appliances, on bus route. No pets. $220 incl. utilities in Sunderland. 665-2562.

OFFICE PRIME LOCATION. Furn., util. Also basemt. area. Shop or storage. Immed. occupancy. 253-9884 ample parking.

2 bdrm Cliffside Apt. $185 mo., util. incl. $100 sec. deposit. Jan. 1 - Sep. 1. 665-3139.

Attractive furnished apt. to rent over Break Puffton Village. Price neg. Call morn. or evenings. Al Lou 549-2854.

2 rm. apt. Northfld, no dogs. Single, $100 married couple, $135. Electricity. 549-0387. Privacy.

Beat high rent - 22 mi. North - Northfield; 2 bedrm. duplex, carpeted, washer, dryer hookups. Stove refrigerator, dishwasher. Assume lease thru June 30. $160 mo. plus security dep. Call 546-0984.

Farmhouse, 5 bdrm., semi-furn., ww, mod. kit., one and one-quarter acres. $270 plus util. 617-544-6303.

Four room apt. Two bedrooms in Amherst on S. East St. $165 per mo., no util. inc. Call 323-7893.

Jan. 1. Large 3 bdrm. apt. in colonial house. Sunderland. $190 per mo. plus utilities. 665-3219.

1 bdr. apt., E. Hamp. $120. 586-4026 eves.

Room 15' X 16' to rent. Large house with fireplace in Conway. 369-4077 or 773-8749. Maria.

Apt. for rent, one bedrm, kitchen, living rm. 2 mi. to UM. $153. Call 549-1582 after 9 p.m. Available Jan. 1.

Rm. for Jan. in Apt. Fem. Joan. 256-6621.

Room to rent for January — Call 253-9827.

Apt. for intersession. $135. 253-3777.

Looking for 3 non-smoking older quiet-livers to share No. Amherst home. Private bedrooms w-cable TV. Share one and one-half baths, kitchen, laundry, den, living room, parking. All utilities paid. On Campus bus route. $100, $120 and $140 per mo. Call 549-1223 or write Box A, N. Amh., Mass. 01059.

FOR RENT

Furn. apts. One, two, two and a half rms. Modern, air cond., pool, parking, TV, near shopping, utlities inc. Lease to June 1975. Amherst Motel (opp. Zayre's).

Looking for a nice place to live during the January break? You can have your own room in a beautiful house on Rocky Hill Rd., in Hadley. Contact Fred at 253-7692. Price negotiable.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. Cliffside. $190 per month includes utilities. Available Jan. 1. 665-2829.

1 bedroom apt. at Cliffside, Sunderland. $160 per mo. with utilities. Available Jan. 1. Call 665-3243 after 8.

For intersession. Own rm. in furn. apt. on bus rt. Rent negotiable. 253-7752.

On busline, pets OK. 2 bedroom. $215.00. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Easthampton, 3 rm. apt. $110 plus util. Call 256-0584. Leave name.

Two bedroom cliffside, $180 month, util. incl. Available Jan. Call 665-2542 after 5 p.m.

ROOM WANTED

F wishes own room in apt. W-F on bus route. Call Susan — 546-5368.

Looking for room in house or apt. for Jan. 1. Prefer Sund. or bus route. Can spend $75 per mo. Have cat. Call Miles 665-4946.

Rm. in apt. or house within walking distance of UMass. Wanted for Jan. Call Edie, rm. 314. 545-0791. Leave message.

Female looking for room-roommate-apt. for 2nd semester. Call 546-8444.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Couple recently married seek apt. in area in $150 to $165 range. Will consider room with kitchen priv. Bill. 545-2304.

Your own tiny rm. in dntn. apt. $45 plus util. no phone; drop by a.m., 6 p.m., late p.m. 513 Main Street 2fl., Near High St. - RRXX

F roommate wanted for 2 bdrm. apt. near Amherst Ctr. $100. incl. util. Call 256-8763 after 5 p.m.

F. for Brandywine. $70 mo. 549-2645.

Roommates — one or two people to share 2 bdrm. apt. Call 785-1413 days or stop by 156-E Brit Manor. Eves. after 7 p.m.

F roommate wanted, own rm. in lovely, old, furnished hse. in Conway. 20 min. to campus. Wash-dry. Call Judith: 369-8361 or 369-4024.

Housemate wanted, female preferred, 25 or older. 2 mi. from UMass, rural setting. 549-2657. (4 bedroom cape)

3 bedroom house in Florence. Quasi-country setting. $70 mo. plus util. Call 584-1149.

Share house in Hadley, own room. Please call 586-2815. Available January 1.

Need couple — People to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Belch. Pets okay. Available Jan. 1 or Feb. 1. Call Linda 323-4004. On bus route.

Grad. 2nd senior seek M-F grad for rm. in house nr. campus. $60 plus. Quiet. 253-5275; 5-0060.

F to share 3 bdrm. apt. in house, 1 mi. from UMass. $83 a mo. Call 253-3598.

Grad looking for one or two rmates. Split $185, util. pd. On bus rt. 665-4708.

M wanted. Amherst house, own rm. near campus. Call 253-3325.

Quiet male, pref. grad or upperclass. No dope or tobacco. For own room in Riverglade at $120 per mo. Soon as possible. No lease. Call 256-8020 between 12 and 2 in afternoon.

On busline, pets ok. Own room. $107.50. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Interested musicians, new music ensemble situation — The daily problems of cellists, double bassists, tuba, euphonium, saxophonists, trombonists — Call 584-6077 between 8-9 p.m. only.

WANTED TO RENT

Study Carrel in Library, 12-9 — 12-18. Call Doug 253-7818 anytime. Keep trying.

Responsible couple seek 1-2 bdrm. rural hse or apt. w-in 15 mi. UMass. No pets; will assume lease. Please call 549-1332 after 6.

Amherst two bedrm apt. $185 range. 665-3025.

2 Males for Jan. Brittany Manor 253-7848.

Need own rm. in apt on bus rt. Jan. 27 - May 30. $60-$80. Quiet F. 546-7288.

Art student needs studio or sm. apt. $80 or less a mo. 665-2737; 669-3973.

WANTED

Wanted any bands wishing to play for publicity on Dec. 6. Please contact Janet 6-5697, Bob 6-5778 or Ted 6-5694. Please leave a message.

A single lens reflex camera. Call Leon after 6:30 p.m., 773-8838. Xmas Bread.

Feminist women bass, piano, guitar for R and B Band. Call Maria 739-9349 after 6.

Two large advent speakers, 546-4426.

Want to buy used 35 mm SLR for under $100. Prefer Pentax. Call Erath at 549-1269 and leave infor.

BOB STILL WANTS TO BUY YOUR AILING OR DECREPIT CAR! Any make, model, year. Unload your headache for fast $ 253-7241.

Old pedestal drawing table. An easel also. Call 253-9276.

Wanted: Responsible person to fly with 3 small boys from Bradley Field to Salt Lake City, Dec. 14. Return Jan. 14. Will pay full fare, round trip. 549-6273.

1-1-75. 4 bdrm. abod, quiet responsible stdnts. Will do upkeep. Pref. on bus route. $350 max. Call 665-3224; 665-7089.

Wanted: 5 or 10 spd. bicycle. Reas. cond. Call John 549-0056 eves.

HELP WANTED

Can you draw? Do you have a sense of humor? The editorial pages need five cartoonists to do campus humor. Call Dean Tucker 5-3500.

Person wanted to feed wonderful cat and water plants - Approx. 12-21 1-5 near campus on Bus. Route. Renumeration after 6, 549-2812.

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Chicago anytime. Call 584-2554.

I need a ride from Amherst to Holyoke and back, Mon.-Fri. next semester. Will share driving cost. Call Kathy 253-7723.

West to warm climate or to Fla. Will share expenses. Call Bob. 256-6445.

To: Atlanta after Xmas. Share $ plus. 546-6575.

One rider to Fla. over Xmas break. $40. 532-0784.

Ride needed to Philly, Dec. 13 or 14. Will share $. Nancy 61485.

Ride needed to Iowa (Chicago is close enough) before Dec. 18. Will share expense, driving. Cindy 549-2616.

I need · ride: Atlanta · after Xmas. Will share $ etc. 546-6575.

North toward Cape Breton, N.S. Leave after 1-3. Share driving and expenses. Ginny Box 439 Hampshire. 542-5682.

RIDERS WANTED

Two riders wanted — Leaving for Florida (St. Augustine), end of Dec., returning end of Jan. Share driving & expenses. Sally. 586-4219

Share driving exp. to Orl. Florida, Dec. 18. Call 586-2815, eves.

TRAVEL

SAVE RENT — Scenic Northfield. Attractive 2 and a half rms., privacy. Single $100; couple $135. Electricity. 549-0387.

Bermuda Spring Vacation. From $199. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Low price trips to Mexico, Florida, Caribbean. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Charter flights to Europe and California. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Ski the Canadian Rockies — Banff $388.00. Call Campus Travel Center. 545-0500.

INSTRUCTION

DOG TRAINING. Obedience, problem dogs, protection and security. 549-1342 days and eves. VALLEY K-9.

Classic guitar lessons avail. thru UMass Prep. Div. by Neil Anderson. Hartt College grad. 545-2434 for info.

Guitar lessons, folk blues country, Brooks, 584-8144.

PERSONALS

HOP BROOK COMMUNE — GAY PEOPLE. In the country. P. O. Box 723, Amherst.

To Super Sportswriter. Happy Birthday. You deserve it. Glenn.

M C F · FARMER · Umieville won't be the same when you're gone.

May you have a semester of Ripe Potatoes! Who else et al.

I want to worship the devil. Show me how. Sincere. P.O. Box 193 Amherst.

Congrats to Jan grads. Janis Bergman, Jane Feizani, and Ellen Newell. We will miss you. Love Susan, Donna and Loretta.

McGarth Happy 19th Birthday you fruit loop! Love from your intimates in 604 and 606.

Wend, Happy 1st Anniversary · wanna try for another? Your Capricorn.

To the Popcorn Kid — happy birthday from 3N Field. Good luck and best wishes.

Need home for male altered cat for over intersession. Will make financial arrgt. Call Andrea 546-7415.

Need Money! Will take over anybody's job during vacation. Call Chris 6-8394.

ENTERTAINMENT

YES. Concert tickets. New Haven, Dec. 10. Limited supply. Call now. 323-4581. Excellent seats.

SERVICES

Professional guitar repairs by guitar-maker Michael Millard. Mon., Wed., Fri. at The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops. 549-1728. Free estimates.

Passport Photos. Call Joe, nights at 549-6598. 24 hr. service.

Passports — Fast service. Lang's Photo. Hours 9-6. Tel. 253-3148.

Campus Clubs and Organizations, Do you want to publish high quality newsletter, pamphlet, magazine or booklet??? Let the Message Company help you write, layout, design and print it!! Reasonable fees. Contact Jerry at 253-9869 for information.

CAR REPAIR HASSLES? Bob will still fix it right. No job too small. Foreign or domestic. No big overhead. 253-7241.

Cross country ski base prep sanding $2.00; hot swix $4.00. Some pick up and del. Call 253-9459.

Ometrics Astrological services, 5 month projection, personal analysis, etc. Write Box 341, Amherst or call 549-6743 or 549-0005.

MOVING? Need help. One man and van will help. Experienced, reasonable rates. Call Bounce 549-0613.

LOST

Lost — Young female blue point Siamese cat in the vicinity of Brittany Manor. Reward. Call 253-2584.

Favorite floppy XXL Norm Thompson hat, N. Pleasant St. Tues. Reward 549-0790.

CALCULATORS

Calculator Sale — College Calculators offers lowest prices anywhere. All models available! Texas Inst., Hewell Packard, Unicorn. All machines new and guar. with 2 month replacement warranty... Before you buy a calculator, call me. I can beat any price anywhere ... Look for my posters around campus for details. Then call Bob Crowell at 549-1216.

MISCELLANEOUS

Auditions for the Roister Doisters Production of the Off-Broadway hit "Adaptation Next" will be held Mon. and Tues., December 9 and 10 starting at 6:30 p.m. in 165-169 cc and Wed., December 11 in 168-170 cc at the same time.

Wednesday is our last publication day. Today is the final deadline for all classifieds. Have a good intersession.

notices

cont. from p. 18

Head positions and decide which Gilbert and Sullivan production will be done this spring. All members please attend.

OUTING CLUB:

For all you rock climbing enthusiasts and anyone interested at tonite's meeting the amazing Henry Barber will appear. The time: 7:30, the place: S.U.B.

PE G4:

Orienteering will meet Tues, 12-10 at 9:30 in AVH Room. If you wish a grade or to know how grading will be done - come.

STAFF NEEDED FOR CHILD CARE IN JANUARY:

Staff needed to care for children during Feminist Conference during the 3rd week in January, Tues-Sat. If interested contact Beaty Blain, 545-2466 by 12-11.

STAR TREK LIVES!:

Meeting tonite rm. 903 CC at 7:00. Come join the fun!

FOUND:

Ring (black onyx) at the Newman Center. Call 6-6777.

LOST:

Dog, black female Shepherd-Labrador with silver choke chain. Please call 628-3292. Keep trying!

LOST:

Gold watch - Bulova, has engraving on back. Reward, contact Corrine 545-3420.

LOST:

I left my book bag in your car when you picked me up hitchhiking and gave me a ride to Hampshire at 2:00 Thurs. Give me a call at 546-6618 or return it to 409 Dickinson Dorm, UMass.

LOST:

Silver bracelet - circles linked together, has great sentimental value, please return to Karen, 546-5252.

LOST:

Wool cap, brown and white with some yellow, a tassel of brown and white, handmade. Lost a week ago near Southwest (?). Reward, call Tim, 546-9938.

CANOE WANTED:

Desperately needed; one used damaged canoe in any condition. Will pay. Please contact Rick McManus at 546-9550, Wayne D'Agostino at 253-9419 or Prof. D. Harris at 549-2833.

NAIADS:

Important meeting today about next semester. Come 4:30-6:30.

WMUA

Here's what will be on WMUA, 91.1 FM, today:

The disc jockeys today are Marc Bauman in the morning until 10, followed by Scott Bacherman from 10-2. Charles Mann hosts Uujamadrum, four hours of soul from 2-6. Vinny Peruzzi goes from 7-10, Ken Irwin from 10-2, and Jude Kaitz goes through the night until 6.

8:30 a.m., High Tides, Jeff Jawer explains what will be happening. Tomorrow, Jeff will explain, is a good day for research.

qq6:15 - 7:00, Off the Hook, Eilish Broderick hosts a discussion with Mark Berman (next semester's WMUA Station Manager) and Scott Bacherman (Program Director.) Other guests will include News Director Tom Kolodziejak and Black Affairs Director Barry Williams.

7:00 - 7:15 p.m., Quarter Banana, Poetry in its highest form.

7:15 - 10:00 p.m., Musical Flashbacks, Vinny Peruzzi hosts the next-to-last program of the series. Tonight, a special presentation - the years 1955 to 1962 in review. Eight years of gold.

10:15 - 11:15 p.m., Focus, Ken Mosakowski will interview Steven Sacks of "People vs. Handguns" and will play exerpts of Middlesex County Sheriff John Buckley's speech when he was at Project Io's Political Campaigns Seminar.

WMUA News is broadcast at 7, 8 and 9 a.m., and at -, 6 and 10 p.m. News headlines can be heard at 8:30 a.m.

Rape line
545-COPS

Shumway's
Wallpaper & Paint Store, Inc.
320 COLLEGE STREET
Bold and Bright Colors

ACROSS
1 Impartial
5 Challenger
10 Pharmacy: Abbr.
14 Attract by wiles
15 Harden: Var.
16 Capital of Italia
17 Preposition
18 Optical devices
20 Sameness in sound
22 Prankish
23 Public disturbance
24 Appeal
25 Quicker
28 Counterpoised
32 - -- carte
33 Surgical thread
35 Strong will 36 Poem: Var.
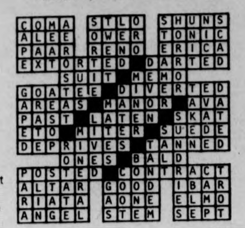
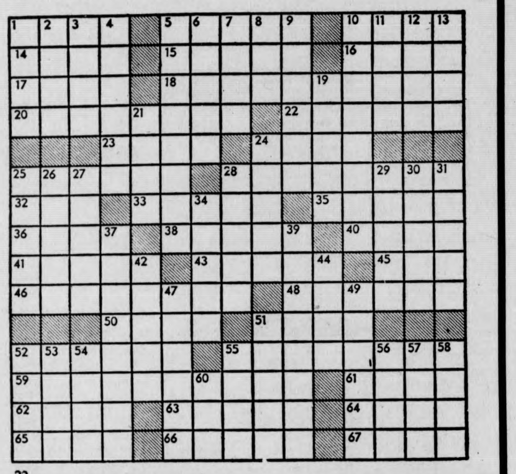
38 Removed moisture
40 Center of authority
41 Like - ---- from the blue
43 Land mass
45 Fruit drink
46 Distinct
48 Movie maker
50 Overhang
51 At liberty
52 Golfer's concern
55 Household appliances
59 Kent cathedral city
61 Woody plant
62 Cupid
63 Tint
64 Alaskan governor
65 Nevada tourist center
66 Spirited horse
67 Firearms: Slang

DOWN
1 Deception
2 Same: Prefix
3 Ore of Labrador
4 Common talk
5 Took an indirect route
6 Concerning
7 Govern
8 Previous to
9 Convince anew
10 Shows irreverence
11 Indian language
12 City in Iowa
13 Impetuous
19 Not dirty
21 Digits
24 Jury
25 Electrical unit
26 Assused person's defense
27 Greek island
28 City of Idaho
29 Dairy product
30 Baffle
31 Dissuade
34 Overused
37 California city: 2 words
39 Satisfied by payment
42 Minute quantity
44 Cravats
47 Turns outward
49 Written speech symbol
51 Counterfeit
52 Disfiguring mark
53 Submissive
54 Soon
55 Harmony
56 Work: Prefix
57 Study
58 Cambodian monetary units
60 Small amount

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:





ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By Stella Wilder

MONDAY, DECEMBER 9 — Born today, you have what amounts to a genuine talent for organization. Gifted with a completely logical mind, you should be able to succeed in almost any kind of business or profession — providing you do not go so far as to fail in sensibility by going overboard in sense. You thrive in any activity that requires meticulous planning and scheduling. You are particularly adept at maneuvering people and their lives — fortunately — in a way which, in general, they do not resent.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Make it a point to be noncommital today. If you give away your position now you may be unable to catch another's interest later on.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Avoid what could be the serious consequences of an argument with higher-ups. Keep your adverse opinions to yourself. Cooperate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — A day when duty must come first. You may be tempted to shirk responsibility in favor of personal pleasure; refuse to succumb.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Honor is served when modesty wins a minor battle. Don't allow yourself the luxury of a slackened pace — at least not for the time being.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — The directives given you on the employment scene at morning may not become clear until much later in the day. Make an effort at compromise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — To move ahead with only half-knowledge would be a serious mistake. Make certain you have all the information you need to get a project off the ground.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You accidentally may cause damage to another's property this morning. Should this be the case, move immediately to make repairs. Offer compensation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Prove yourself worthy of another's confidence. Act on what you know — but in no way give away the source of your present information.

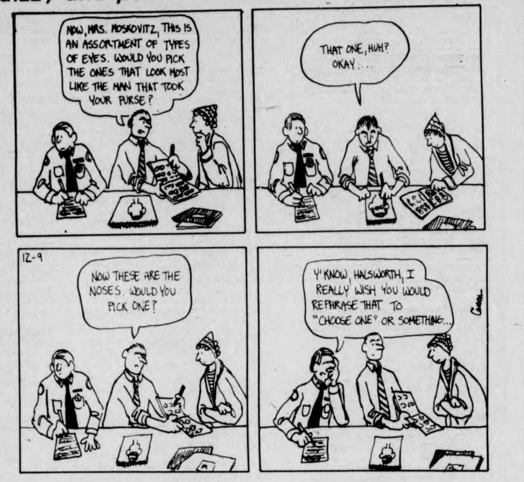
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — There is much to be gained later by being hospitable today. Extend the hand of courtesy even if you can't feel friendship. Look ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Those seeking solace may find themselves weeping on your shoulder today. Make it a point not to ignore any who come to you for help. Give support.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You have an ingrained sense of honor. Employ it now when you are tempted to absent yourself from your place of duty without sufficient cause.

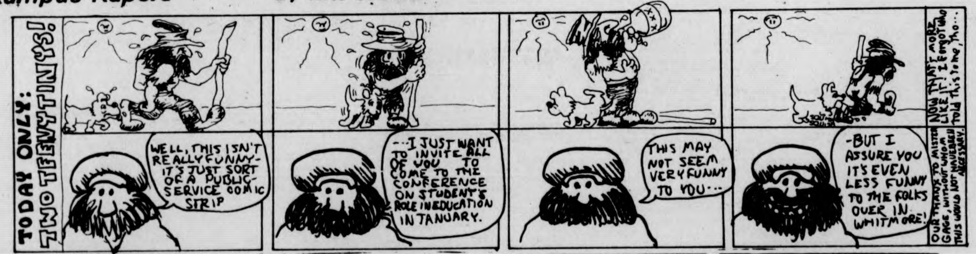
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — There may be inconvenience attached to success to day. Put up with it graciously; it will be well worth it by day's end. Get an inside track.

dizzy and paul- By Jim Carson



NOW, MRS. MOSKOVITZ, THIS IS AN ASSORTMENT OF TYPES OF EYES. WOULD YOU PICK THE ONES THAT LOOK MOST LIKE THE MAN THAT TOOK YOUR PURSE?
THAT ONE, HUH? OKAY...
12-9
NOW THESE ARE THE NOSES. WOULD YOU PICK ONE?
Y'KNOW, HALSWORTH, I REALLY WISH YOU WOULD REPHRASE THAT TO "CHOOSE ONE" OR SOMETHING.

Kampus Kapers By Kris Jackson



TODAY ONLY:
SPECIAL!!!
WELL, THIS ISN'T REALLY FUNNY... IT'S JUST SORT OF A PUBLIC SERVICE COMIC STRIP
—I JUST WANT TO INVITE ALL OF YOU TO COME TO THE CONFERENCE ON STUDENT'S ROLE IN EDUCATION IN JANUARY.
THIS MAY NOT SEEM VERY FUNNY TO YOU...
—BUT I ASSURE YOU IT'S EVEN LESS FUNNY TO THE FOLKS OVER IN WHITMORE!

PEANUTS
DUCK, BIG BROTHER! HERE COMES ANOTHER DAY!!
12-9

B.C. by johnny hart

I HAVE HERE A HANDY DANDY LITTLE ITEM WHICH PEELS POTATOES, DISSOLVES YOUR BEARD AND ROTATES YOUR TIRES.
CAN IT STAMPEDE A HERD OF CRIPPLED YAKS?
NO.
THEN WHAT GOOD IS IT?
PETER'S CUT-RATE STORE
12-4

THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart

SPIN SPIN SPIN
CRUNK
SWILL TIME!
I WONDER IF FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT HAD DAYS LIKE THIS?

Walton decides not to retire

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Bill Walton is not quitting professional basketball and "he will be back in the lineup as soon as he is healthy," the Portland Trail Blazers announced Sunday.

"I got word from club officials today that Walton is not retiring, said John White, publicity director for the NBA team. "He will play as soon as he is healthy. I can't tell you when that will be."

Outgoing club president Herman Sarkowsky came to Portland Saturday and got together with Walton and ironed out any problems that might have existed.

Walton had returned to Portland from a trip to Los Angeles where Los Angeles Lakers team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan looked at a bone-spur near Walton's ankle that has had the former UCLA three-time All American out of action.

While in Los Angeles, the story broke that Walton was disenchanted with pro basketball. The source was Walton's friend and advisor Sam Gilbert, a Los Angeles area contractor who has been an adviser to many former UCLA stars.

But White said Sunday, "He never really was considering not playing."

Walton, according to Coach Lenny Wilkens, had been depressed over his injury, described as rather common, not serious, but painful. Walton, 6-11, said he couldn't cut or run as well as he liked because of the injury and the Blazers left him at home on a recent road trip.

He received permission to go to Los Angeles to see Kerlan, who had treated him at UCLA. Kerlan arrived at the same conclusion about the injury as had Portland team physician Dr. Frank Smith.

For $10,000 they break your arms. For $20,000 they break your legs. Axel Freed owes $44,000
Held Over! 3rd Week
The Gambler
7 & 9 James Caan "The Gambler" R RESTRICTED
Paul Sorvino Lauren Hutton
Produced by Irwin Winkler and Robert Chartoff
Directed by Karel Reisz Jerry Fielding
Russ Meyer says: "In my films, you know where you're at in fifteen seconds... the first 15 seconds!"
AND "The Immoral Mr. Teas" "Girls of the Wild Wild West"
Starts at 7:00
NOW SHOWING AT CONVENIENTLY LOCATED CAMPUS Cinemas
DOLLAR NIGHTS MON & TUES ALL SEATS $1
ALAN BATES in KING OF HEARTS
This wacky, beautiful film has awakened, become a giant, and turned the movie world upside down.
There is one reason for this phenomenon: people love the King
7 & 9 HELD OVER!

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE ACADEMY OF MUSIC NORTHAMPTON
—NOW— 7:00 & 9:00
For $10,000 they break your arms. For $20,000 they break your legs. Axel Freed owes $44,000
The Gambler
R James Caan
Mon.-Tues. — Dollar Night

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR 584 9153
"GONE WITH THE WIND"
Limited Engagement
"Consistently hilarious and brilliant."
The Groove Tube — 5:30-7:15-8:45
RICHARD HARRIS · OMAR SHARIF JUGGERNAUT
THE GREATEST SEA ADVENTURE IN HISTORY HAS JUST BEGUN!
PG Now In It's Final Week
Juggernaut — 6:15-8:45
Twi-Lite Hr — 5:45-6:15 Only — $1.25
The Trial of Billy Jack
Trial of Billy Jack — 5:30-8:30
No Twi-Lite Hr
Attention — Times Change Daily

Television Tonight

5:00 THE RAYMOND BURR SHOW "The Helping Hand." (3)
THE REAP MCCOYS (18)
THE BIG VALLEY "Devil's Masquerade." (22)
MISTER ROGERS NEIGHBORHOOD (24) (57)
F TROOP (38)
THE FLINTSTONES (56)
5:30 GREEN ACRES (18)
VILLA ALEGRE (24) (57)
GOMER PYLE "Gomer Overcomes The Obstacle Course." (27)
HOGAN'S HEROES (30)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (40)
GILLIGAN'S ISLAND "Beauty Is As Beauty Does." (56)
6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
TWELVE O'CLOCK HIGH (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24) (57)
PETTICOAT JUNCTION (27)
NIGHTLY NEWSREEL (30)
DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "Bad Reception In Albany." (38)
BONANZA "Unseen World." (40)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
ERICA (24)
MOVIE "Who Stole The Body." '27)
BEWITCHED (38)
ZOOM! (57)
6:45 HUMAN GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT (24)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES (8)
DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "Dear Mrs. Petrie Your Husband Is In Jail." (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
TO TELL THE TRUTH (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
UNTOUCHABLES (56)
THE SCIENCE AND ART OF FOOTBALL (57)
7:30 NEW PRICE IS RIGHT (3)
POLICE SURGEON (8)
WILBURN BROTHERS (18)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES Peter Marshall, host (22) (30)
ANTIQUES (24)
THE ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW (38)
POLKA With Frank Knight (40)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 AFTER DINNER SHOWCASE "World At War: Red Star 1941-1943." (3)
THE ROOKIES "The Assassin." (8) (40)
PASTOR'S PERSPECTIVE (18)
IT'S A STEAL Keith Silver, host (22)
AN EVENING OF CHAMPIONSHIP SKATING (24)
BORN FREE "The Raiders." (30)
BEVERLY HILLBILLIES (38)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
SPECIAL OF THE WEEK "In Performance At Wolf Trap." (57)
8:30 SAFARI TO ADVENTURE (27)
GREEN ACRES (38)
DINAH! (56)
9:00 MAUDE (3)
NFL MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL GAME (8) (40)
THE OTHER SIX DAYS (18)
NBC MONDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES Conclusion of "My Fair Lady." (22) (30)
IN PERFORMANCE AT WOLF TRAP (24)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
GREAT PERFORMANCES (56)
9:30 RHODA (3)
PHIL SILVERS AS SERGEANT BILKO "Bilko Acres." (27)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
10:00 MEDICAL CENTER "Kiss And Kill." (3)
CHALLENGE OF TRUTH (18)
WASHINGTON STRAIGHT TALK (24)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
MOVIE "Die Monster Die." (38)
HOLLYWOOD'S GOLDEN YEARS "The Bachelor And the Bobby Soxer." (56)
10:30 CONNECTICUT REPORT (18)
WOMAN (24)
PORTUGUESE AROUND US (27)
10:45 THE BIG NEWS (22)
WHNB-TV REPORT (30)
11:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (18) (22) (27) (30)
CAPTIONED ABC NEWS (57)
11:30 MOVIE "Invitation To the Dance." (3)
THE TONIGHT SHOW STARRING JOHNNY CARSON (22) (30)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN "The Rink." (27)
LAUGH CLASSICS (3)
11:45 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
12:00 ACTION NEWS (8) (38)
12:15 COLLEGE FOOTBALL 1974 HIGHLIGHTS (40)
12:30 DON KIRSHNER'S ROCK CONCERT (8)
1:00 TOMORROW Tom Snyder, host (22) (30)
1:15 NEWS, WEATHER (3) (40)
2:00 NEWS (22) (30)

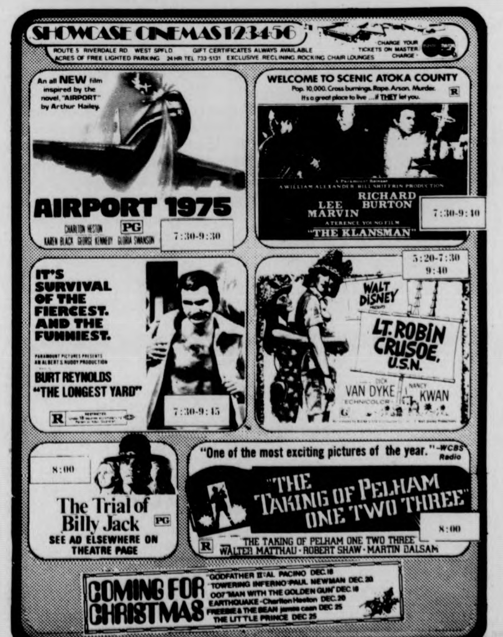
AMHERST Cinema AMITY ST. 253-5426
THE KING LOVES THE PEOPLE!
Come early, stay late, enjoy THE KING AND HIS LOYAL SHORT SUBJECTS
BAMBI MEETS GODZILLA · THANK YOU, MASK MAN (Lenny Bruce)
KING OF HEARTS
This wacky, beautiful film has awakened, become a giant and turned the movie world upside down
There is one reason for this phenomenon: people love the King
EVES: KING OF HEARTS — 7:00 & 9:00
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES · ALL SEATS $1.00



SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
GIFT CERTIFICATES ALWAYS AVAILABLE · EXCLUSIVE RECLINING ROCKING CHAIR LOUNGES · CHARGE YOUR TICKETS ON MASTER CHARGE
AIRPORT 1975 PG 7:30-9:30
WELCOME TO SCENIC ATOKA COUNTY Pop. 10,000. Cross burnings. Rape. Arson. Murder. It's a great place to live ...if THEY let you. R
LEE MARVIN RICHARD BURTON "THE KLANSMAN" 7:30-9:40
IT'S SURVIVAL OF THE FIERCEST. AND THE FUNNIEST. BURT REYNOLDS "THE LONGEST YARD" R 7:30-9:45
WALT DISNEY LT. ROBIN CRUSOE, U.S.N. DICK VAN DYKE NANCY KWAN 5:20-7:30 9:40
The Trial of Billy Jack SEE AD ELSEWHERE ON THEATRE PAGE 8:00
"One of the most exciting pictures of the year." "THE TAKING OF PELHAM ONE TWO THREE" 8:00
COMING FOR CHRISTMAS

The budding Buffalos

The entire city of Buffalo, New York, could very well be the next sport's dynasty; the football Bills have compiled a 9-4 record in the NFL, the basketball Braves are 16-6 in the NBA (and own a 1½ game lead over the New York Knicks and a 3½ game margin over the defending champion Boston Celtics), and the hockey Sabres (20-4-4 for 44 points) lead the second place Boston Bruins by 14 points.

The Bills have already assured themselves of a playoff spot. These are the same Buffalo Bills that, as the New England Patriots know too well, defeated the New Englanders by a total of three points in two games. If so much as an athletic supporter had snapped, the Patriots might now sport the Bills' 9-4 record, with Buffalo inheriting New England's 7-6 mark. The mere fact that the Bills won both close games, however, indicates that they are winners and, since the Bills' starting quarterback (Joe Ferguson) is only playing in his second season and O.J. Simpson, almost the entire offensive line, receivers and defensive secondary are young, the Bills will be winners for an alarmingly long time.

In basketball, the Braves start the same five men who took the World Champion Celtics to six close playoff games last year before succumbing to two foul shots with no time remaining in the sixth game. As a testimony to their depth this year, the Braves have accumulated half their league-leading, 17-7 record with starters Ernie DiGregorio and Jim McMillen on the shelf. The Braves have two ex-rookies of the year (DiGregorio and Bob MacAdoo), and these men have played in a total of only three full NBA campaigns. Since none of the other starters (McMillen, Randy Smith and Gar Heard) have been in the league very long either, John Havlicek had better play ten more seasons for the Celtics to give the latter a scratch, scramble and rambling chance (as Johnny Most is wont to say).

Switching to the wonderful world of hockey, the Sabres' entire first line (featuring Giles Perreault and Rene Robert) is both young and talented. If the line can be salvaged from the grasps of the expansion draft, it alone could spell years of victory in the famed Adams division of the NHL (a rather long phrase to spell).

One could look at things this way: since the Celtics, Bruins and Patriots (when they're healthy) are all contenders, and all are in the respective divisions the Buffalo teams are in, there are all the makings of one nasty, little inter-city rivalry between Buffalo and Boston.

West: "I might like to become a coach."

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Former Los Angeles Superstar Jerry West is thinking about turning to coaching.

He says he especially gets that feeling when he sits in the stands and watches a basketball game.

"I sit there and watch...and I think I would like to have a team that could do certain things that other teams are not doing now.

"I really think I might like to become a coach."

West discussed the subject during a weekend round of appearances in his honor at West Virginia University, where he was an All-America player for the No. 1 ranked Mountaineers in the late 1950s.

He said he had been offered a coaching job in the American Basketball Association but turned it down earlier this year.

West said he decided to end his brilliant pro career with LA this year because "I felt like I had played enough."

He plays golf now every chance he gets, he said. West is a scratch golfer and has a 14-year-old son who plays to an eight handicap and hopes to turn pro someday.

West Virginia University proclaimed 1975 "Jerry West Year" at the campus.

A proclamation was announced at WVU Basketball Reunion Dinner honoring West and other former mountaineer stars.

A crowd of 300 gave West a standing ovation when the proclamation was presented by Lysander Dudley, head of development at the University.

"Jerry, I know of no individual who has the love or affection of the people of West Virginia more than you do," Dudley told West.

Sports Staff meeting Wednesday at 4:00.

Film Times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC —
The Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
AMHERST CINEMA —
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
CAMPUS CINEMA —
Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
Mr. Teas; Girls of West - 7:00
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
MT. FARMS 4 —
Gone With The Wind - 7:00
Groove Tube - 5:30 - 7:15 - 8:45
Juggernaut - 6:15 - 8:45
Trial of Billy Jack - 5:30 - 8:30
SHOWCASE —
Airport 1975 - 7:30 - 9:30
Klansmen - 7:30 - 9:40
Longest Yard - 7:30 - 9:45
Lt. Robin Crusoe - 5:20 - 7:30 - 9:40
Trial of Billy Jack - 8:00
Taking of Pelham - 7:30 - 9:30

It's official as UVM trustees vote to kill football program

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The 77-year football history at the University of Vermont came to an official end Saturday as its trustees voted to kill the program and save $200,000.

Money was the official reason, but student apathy played a large part.

"Student interest in football is almost non-existent," said trustee Francis R. Peisch. "Only the alumni care."

The trustees voted 12-7 to approve an administration decision to drop football as part of a budget cutting package. They rejected a plea from Athletic Director Denis Lambert to merely deemphasize the sport.

"They made a terrible decision," said football coach Carl Falivene after the vote. "The personality of this university is going to change, regardless of what the students and faculty say."

The football players had sought to rally support for the program in the six weeks between the announcement of the university's plans and the trustee vote, but failed.

Only 1,300 of the university's 8,000 students signed a petition backing the sport, and student leaders joined the faculty in supporting the football cut as an alternative to further reductions in academic programs.

School officials said two alumni, who had planned to leave the school between $700,000 and $1 million, had notified the university it would not receive any money.

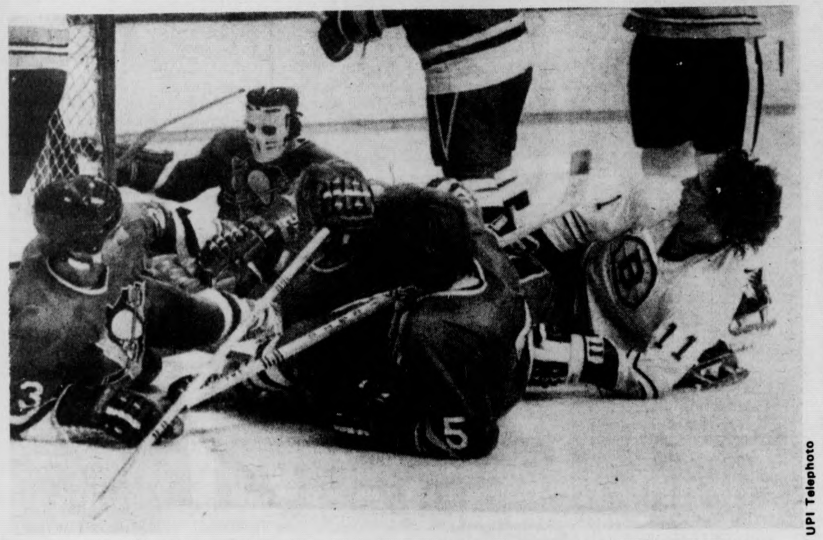
The $1.3 million package of reductions approved by the trustees included the elimination of several graduate programs and budget cuts for almost every academic department. The trustees rejected a recommendation to eliminate a nursing program.

"I guess we all expected it," said Rocky Thompson, a sophomore flanker from Newburgh, N.Y., who had cried in the locker room following the team's last game. "The economy the way it is, they had to cut something, and football did cost a lot of money."

Players with scholarships will be allowed to use them to complete their education, but Lambert and Falivene said they thought most of the players would transfer to other schools.

The team's star quarterback, junior Bob Bateman, urged the trustees to keep the sport. "We love the game," he said. "It's not the scholarship money." Bateman, does not have a scholarship.

Vermont finished last in the Yankee Conference this year with a 4-6 overall record and the lowest athletic budget in the conference. Attendance in 10,000 seat Centennial Field ranged from 3,500 to 9.500.



UPI Telephoto

What seems like a rest period actually resulted in a goal here as Terry O'Reilly (not shown) scored for the B's. Andre Savard (11) assisted.

Attention Collegian Sports Staffers

Sports Editor-elect Ben Caswell will appear at a meeting for all Collegian sports staffers Wednesday at 4:00 in the Collegian office. Steak and Brew Thursday night at 6:00 for all.

JV skaters fluked over by RPI

By TOM CROWLEY
Sports Staff

A flukish third period goal negated a 3 goal third period comeback as the UMass JV hockey team lost to the RPI JV's 9-7 last Friday at Troy, N.Y.

A shot from Bob Driscoll of RPI hit the top bar on the goal crease and fell in. RPI scored an insurance goal but the eighth goal by RPI broke the junior pucksters backs. Bill Sherlock added an insurance marker late in the game.

All the scoring in the first period took place in a two and a half minute span.

Brent Miller scored for RPI at 12:09 and Don Armstrong knocked in a back hander for the Engineers a minute later.

UMass then got on the board as forward Pete Garibotto notched one from in front. Linemates Chris Crown and Ed Stuber got the assists.

Garibotto then got a penalty and RPI scored on a power play at 14:43 to end the scoring for the premiere period at 3-1.

In the second period, Bill Cupolo scored on a breakaway at 3:40 as two minutemen players fell down. Then UMass responded with three cons[illegible]tive [illegible] Ga[illegible]otto s[illegible] his second of the [illegible] at 7[illegible] on a long slapshot from the goalie's right. Kevin Thompson got the assist. UMass then scored a power play goal by Kevin Sullivan on a wrist shot. The score came at 12:01 with assists to forward Bill Devine and defenseman Dan Saunders.

Faking out the goalie and sliding it underneath him, Bill Flynn tied the score at 4-4 at 14:54 with forward Steve Sikalis and defenseman Dan Mark assisting.

RPI then went on a three goal scoring spree of their own. Bill Sherlock scored at 15:36 on a breakaway. Armstrong scored again. This time on a tip in at 18:55. RPI scored right after the face off as Pat Valiquette scored six seconds later.

In the third period, the JV skaters answered with their own 3 goal spurt and set the stage for the fluke goal.

UMass scored two goals 1:16 apart. Jon Archer faked the goalie John Coundon in for starter Gary Feceau, and slid in a back hander. The goal at 5:28 had Dave Drake on the assist. Then Bill Devine scored on a breakaway and made the score 7-6. Kevin Thompson had the assist. During both of the goals, each team only had 4 skaters.

Steve Sikalis tied the game at 7-7 when rebounded Dan Mark's shot. This score came at 13:21 and RPI was down two men.

Make A Gift!
BEADS — EARWIRES — RAWHIDE
CANDLE WAX — WICK — SCENT
THE MERCANTILE
9 E. Pleasant, Amherst
GIFTS — TOYS — CARDS
CLOTHING at Lower Prices
JEWELRY — MUGS — PLANTERS

UMass basket-box

UMass: Burke 1 4-4 6, Murphy 9 4-5 22, Mayfield 5 1-4 11, Eldridge 4 0-4 8, Endicott 3 1-3 7, Town 5 0-0 10, Duarte 2 1-2 5, Claiborne 0 2-2 2, Stokes 0 0-0 0, Johnson 0 0-0 0, Pyatt 1 0-0 2, Totals 30 13-24 73

URI: Williamson 3 3-5 9, Wright 0 2-7 2, Soares 1 2-2 4, Taylor 5 0-1 10, Cizynski 2 1-2 5, Hughes 0 0-0 0, Lopes 5 4-4 14, Wildes 0 0-0 0, Levane 1 0-0 2, Minetti 3 2-4 8, Bird 0 1-3 1, Smith 1 3-4 5, Totals 21 18-32 60.

Fouled out: Soares, Mayfield, Cizynski

UMass	32	41	73
URI	21	39	60

JV hoopsters victors in 86-84 barn burner

By MIKE BERGER
Sports Staff

When they (UMass) were good, they were really good and when they were bad, well... In summary, the J.V. victory over Springfield (86-84) was a game that saw nervous first year players making rookie mistakes on defense (total of 49 fouls called), missed easy shots, bad passes, and poor execution. On the other hand, UMass displayed a 7-minute stretch which demonstrated a tenacious defense, great offensive and defensive rebounding and nice execution.

The 1st half ended sluggishly for UMass in a 44-40 deficit, as Springfield shot close to 50 per cent from the field. However, coming out of the locker room in the second half, UMass exploded for a 28-15 spurt contributed by a quintet of Bill Byrd, Dave Strader, Joe Martenz, Mike Pyatt and Rick Taylor. With approx. 7 minutes to go in the game and ahead by 15 points, Coach Gaudette rested his regulars and brought in a fresh group. Unfortunately, Springfield got hot and UMass, continuously threw the ball away. The result was an 86-84 lead with 1 minute to play. A controversial travelling violation gave the ball to Springfield with 30 seconds to play. Springfield missed 2 chances and UMass' Chuck Stovetsky came down with the rebound for a climatic victory.

Stuff Shots: Outstanding contributions were seen from freshmen Mike Pyatt (21 points), Chuck Steveskey (14 points), and Bill Byrd (20 points).

Coaches Wilk and Gaudette, respectfully, for Springfield and UMass agreed that officials were a major factor in the outcome of the game. Wilk maintains that Springfield outplayed UMass for 33 minutes and that UMass was very suspectible to a zone press. Meanwhile Coach Gaudette while pleased with the victory commented that quite a deal of work in blocking out, execution of offensive plays, team communication, and team defense were needed before the team could really jell. All in all a worthwhile lesson for both teams as each realized what it's like to be way behind, and to be in a pressure situation.

Bruins nip Pens' 3-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Bobby Orr's goal at 15:33 of the third period Sunday snapped a tie and led the Boston Bruins to a 3-2 win over the Pittsburgh Penguins in a National Hockey League game.

Boston center Gregg Sheppard won the faceoff and passed cleanly back to Orr who took a slapshot from the blue line that beat Pittsburgh goalie Gary Innes on his far side.

The Bruins took a 1-0 lead at 7:16 of the first period when Bobby Schmautz scored on a pass from John Bucyk. It was Bucky's 700th career assist.

Pittsburgh took a 2-1 lead in the first period on goals by Lowell MacDonald and Ron Shock.

Terry O'Reilly tied the game for Boston at 7:02 of the middle period after Andre Savard took a rebound from a Carol Vadnais shot and passed to O'Reilly in front of the net.

1975 KAWASAKIS
ARE HERE!
SAVINGS NOW ON ALL
74's IN STOCK
VALLEY MOTORSPORTS INC.
348 KING ST., NORTHAMPTON 584-7303

COLLEGETOWN BARBER SHOP
183 No. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-9884
The SCIENTIFIC APPROACH to HAIR
WATCH ON TV FOR FREE LITURATURE available from your local RK dealer. See HAL at Collegetown. Christmas Gift Packs in stock.
NBC
JEOPARDY
CBS
GAMBIT
NBC
HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
RK
SCIENTIFIC HAIR CARE CENTER

Steelers end Pats hopes, 21-17

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Franco Harris ran for 136 yards and a touchdown as the Pittsburgh Steelers benefitted all game from excellent field position to whip the New England Patriots 21-17 Sunday and clinch the AFC Central Division Championship.

With the victory Pittsburgh raised its record to 9-3-1, 2½ games ahead of Cincinnati--which lost 23-19 to Detroit--with one game left for each club.

The Steelers, who led 21-10 until late in the game, started three of their scoring drives from inside the New England 38 yard line, taking advantage of a fumble, a short punt and shaky play by the New England special teams.

Harris, who has 927 yards on the season, put the Steelers on top 4:25 into the second period with a two-yard burst. The touchdown, which gave Pittsburgh a 9-7 lead, came five plays after defensive back Mel Blount had scooped up a Mack Herron fumble at the New England 19.

Roy Gerela added field goals of 40 and 27 yards, Lynn Swann caught a seven yard touchdown pass and L.C. Greenwood tackled Patriot Quarterback Jim Plunkett for the other two points. The Patriots' points came on a 17-yard pass from Plunkett to Herron, a five-yard run by Herron and a 20-yard field goal by John Smith.

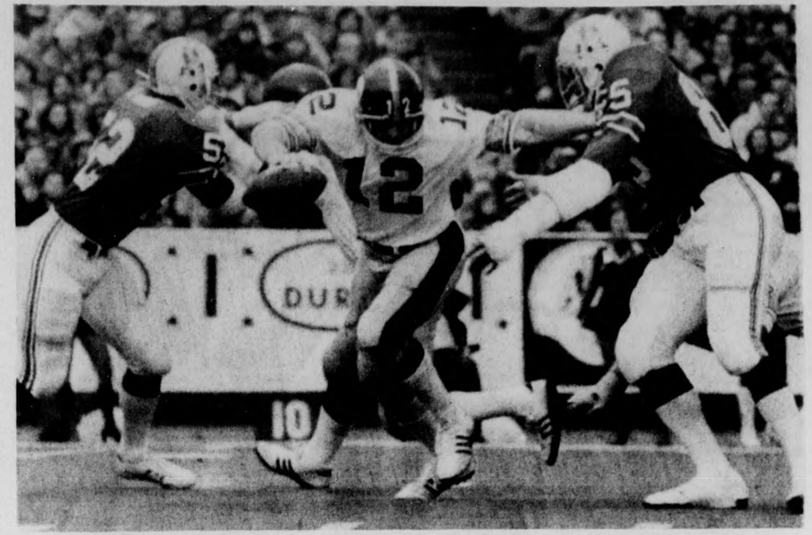
The Patriots, who chose to kick with a gusty 35 mph wind to start both halves, took a 7-0 first period lead but their offense blew away along with the wind advantage.

The Steelers, taking the ball on their own 36 late in the first period, drove 41 yards to the New England 23, their longest march of the day. The first quarter ended and kicker Gerela rode the ball 40 yards through the uprights, aided by the tail wind.

Pittsburgh went ahead to stay 3:35 later after Blount picked up, dropped, and regained Herron's fumble deep Patriot territory. Defensive end Donnell Smith blocked Gerela's conversion try and the Steelers led 9-7.

Four and a half minutes later the wind killed the Patriots. A Dave Chapple punt traveled just 16 yards to the New England 29 and Gerela turned the advantage into a 27-yard field goal. Smith's field goal late in the quarter brought New England to within two at 12-10.

New England, which eliminated itself from the playoffs with the loss and is now 7-6, was dormant through the second half at least until the game was out of reach. The Steelers iced the game when Swann returned a Chapple punt 15 yards to the Patriot 38 and later scored on a driving catch on the right side of the endzone.



IT'S DOUBLE TROUBLE for Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw as he tries to escape grasps of Patriots Steve King (L) and Julius Adams (R). Bradshaw failed and was thrown for a 10 yard loss.

Red-hot Jets upset Bills, 20-10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Namath, playing probably his last game in a New York uniform, threw a 36-yard touchdown pass to Jerome Barkum with four minutes remaining Sunday as the Jets stretched their winning streak to five games with a 20-10 upset of the playoff-bound Buffalo Bills.

Veteran Linebacker Ralph Baker put the game out of reach with 2:05 remaining when he returned an interception 67 yards for a touchdown.

Baker picked off a deflected pass at the Jets' 33 and chugged down the right sideline untouched for the clinching TD.

Buffalo guard Reggie McKenzie and Jet Defensive tackle Carl Barzilauskas were ejected in the fourth quarter for fighting.

Namath, who said before the game it was "doubtful" he would return to the jets next season, capped a 72-yard drive by throwing to Barkum, who made a leaping catch between two defenders on a third-and-10.

Buffalo led 10-6 on Joe Ferguson's 41-yard to TD pass to J.D. Hill and John Leyroldt's field goal with 6:25 to play when Namath, who earlier a 19-yard TD pass to Rich Caster, connected with Barkum after being stunned by a vicious tackle two plays earlier.

The Jets, who lost seven of their first eight games, gained their sixth victory, while Buffalo, which clinched a playoff Berth last week, dropped to 9-4.

After a scoreless first half, Ferguson, who threw very little in the first half, caught the Jets napping on a third-and-one and fired to Hill on the New York 25. The Bills receiver spun away from Rich Sowells and raced in for the score.

Namath brought the Jets back with a 19-yard TD pass to Rich Caster, but cornerback Robert James blocked Pat Leahy's extra point attempt and Buffalo held on to a 7-6 lead. Leypoldt, who earlier missed on attempts of 40 and 45 yards, connected with 6:25 to go in the game after punter Greg Gantt fumbled on his own 22.

Lions stay alive, 23-19 over Cinci

CINCINNATI (UPI) - Greg Landry fired an eight-yard touchdown pass to Charlie Sanders with just 29 seconds remaining to rally the Detroit Lions to a 23-19 upset over the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday, keeping the Lions' Slim playoff chances alive for the NFC Wild Card Berth and killing the Bengals' playoff hopes.

Detroit's game-winning drive of 73 yards in five plays came after Cincinnati fullback Ed Williams had scored a touchdown on a two-yard burst with only 1:27 to play, lifting the Bengals to a 19-16 lead.

But Landry quickly moved the Lions into scoring position and climaxed the desperation drive with a perfectly thrown eight-yard pass to Sanders in the end zone.

The Lions, upping their record to 7-6, also scored touchdowns on an 18-yard reverse by Ron Jessie and a three-yard run by Altie Taylor. Erroll Mann added a 42-yard field goal, his longest of the season.

In order for detroit to win the Wild Card spot, Washington must lose to Los Angeles Monday night and next Sunday against Chicago and Dallas must fall to Oakland next Saturday.

BICYCLE STORAGE
Why drag that bike of yours home at the end of the semester? End the hassle, the potential rip off and the ravages of winter by storing it at PELOTON, INC., 1 East Pleasant St. Ask about our winter maintenance and FREE safety check. Storage charge is $5.00 for three months or longer up to sixteen weeks. Phone us: 549-6904.

ALLIED MOTOR PARTS
Doctor up your car with • Complete Domestic
& V.W. Parts
319 Main St., Amherst 256-8341

College hoopsters rolling on

(UPI) - North Carolina State and UCLA scored expected victories Saturday, but Indiana and North Carolina achieved the day's big triumphs.

The top-ranked Wolfpack got its Atlantic Coast Conference, was off to a good start with a smashing 101-72 victory over Virginia, while rival North Carolina successfully invaded Houston's Hofheinz Pavilion with a 96-87 victory over the 18th-ranked Cougars.

Phil Spence, a 6-foot-8 forward forced into the center by Tom Burleson's graduation, supposedly was the Wolfpack's Achilles heel this seaosn. But he continued his excellent play in the middle Saturday and scored a game-high 26 points in State's fourth straight victory of the season.

David Thompson, coming off an ACC record 57-point performance, added 24 points as the Wolfpack had little difficulty in ruining Virginia Coach Terry Holland's Conference debut.

North Carolina, meanwhile, flexed the muscle the fifth-ranked Tar Heels are depending on to unseat N.C. State. Mitch Kupchak, a strong 6-10 center, scored 31 points to lead all scorers, but also shut out Houston's 6-10 Maurice Presley in the second half, aided by 6-10 Tom Lagarde and Walter Davis. The Tar Heels' freshman Guard Phil Ford scored 22 points, while Louis Dunbar led Houston with 26.

It was only the Cougars' fourth loss in Hofheinz Pavilion in six years.

UCLA's Marques Johnson, coming back from a mild case of hepatitis, scored 13 points Saturday in leading the second-ranked Bruins to an 82-51 victory over Oklahoma State. The 6-6 sophomore was playing in only his second game of the season and shared high-scoring honors for the Bruins with sophomore guard Jimm Spillane. Another Sophomore, Walter Olinde, had 10 points.

Indiana breezed to a surprising 98-74 rout of Kentucky. The third-ranked Hoosiers ran up a big enough lead to send in the subs for the last nine minutes against the 11th-ranked Wildcats. Kent Benson led the Hoosiers with 26 points, while Scott May added 25 and Steve Green 15.

But Kansas bounced back from that defeat Saturday by crushing 20-th ranked Iowa, 89-54. Reserve Center Danny Knight scored 17 points to lead the Kansas attack.

Sixth-ranked Southern California demolished previously unbeaten Utah, 102-82, as Trojans' forward John Lambert scored a career-high 29 points. It was the third straight victory for USC and the Trojans have scored more than 100 points in each game.

No. 7 Alabama defeated East Carolina, 99-86, and eight-ranked South Carolina lost to Oklahoma 90-86.

Ninth-ranked Marquette used a balanced scoring attack to bury outmanned St. Mary's of California, 93-66. Bo Ellis and Earl Tatum each had 17 points, while Lloyd Walton added 16, Freshman Butch Lee 15 and Jerry Homan 14.

Now There's A Difference At Mt. Sugarloaf!
Court-appointed management with resident manager.
GUARANTEED security deposits held in an interest bearing escrow account.
ONLY one month security deposit required with 4 month or more lease.
Located on FREE UMass bus line.
Dishwasher, self-cleaning range, disposal, air-conditioner, and plenty of closet space.
Two bedrooms at $220 — ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED.
Conveniently located on Rte. 47 off Rte. 116.
Call 665-3856 ... or take the free bus.
Rent now and save! Rent an apartment for second semester and get $25.00 off your first month's rent!
Take A Few Minutes To See The Difference!

NFL Scores

Minnesota 23 Atlanta 10
Dallas 41 Cleveland 17
Sunday's Results
NY Jets 20 Buffalo 10
Detroit 23 Cincinnati 19
Philadelphia 20 NY Giants 7
Pittsburgh 21 New England 17
New Orleans 14 St Louis 0
Miami 17 Baltimore 16
San Diego 28 Chicago 21
Oakland 7 Kansas City 6
San Francisco 7 Green Bay 6
Denver 37 Houston 14

Cagers down URI in home debut, 73-60

By STEVE DECOSTA
Sports Staff

UMass is a team of almost unlimited potential.

Rhode Island is a team of the future.

So when the Minutemen opened their home season against the Rams Saturday night the immediate deficiencies of both squads were readily apparent. Suffice it to say that UMass is a little further along the road, resulting in a 73-60 winning margin.

Eight first-year men took the floor in the contest, including four starters, as Ram coach Jack Kraft went with three freshmen. The result was a dull, low scoring first half, which saw the Minutemen limp to a 32-21 lead.

In the first twenty minutes, the young Rams missed six of eleven free throws, shot 32 per cent from the floor, and committed a ghastly number of 14 turnovers, resulting mainly from a UMass full-court zone pass.

The Minutemen played their best defensive game of the young season, drawing applause for their efforts which allowed URI very little penetration and forced the Rams to shoot from the periphery for most of the night.

While the defensive looked surprisingly good, the offense continued to look almost equally-surprising not so good.

Sure, UMass hit half of its field goal attempts, but that finely patterned offense that has become a trademark of UMass teams of the past just didn't exist.

The attack was basically one of non-movement and a case of being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

But, despite it all, the Minutemen did put 73 points on the board and a win is a win is a win.

Alex Eldridge, in his Cage debut, drew the oohs and aahs of the 4200-plus in attendance with his authoritative drives to the hoop. The freshman finished with eight points, several key steals, and a place in the hearts of Cage fans.

And then there was John Murphy. The 6'8 senior is not what you'd call flashy, but he gets the job done. Almost anonymously, Murphy poured in 22 points with a 9 for 16 shooting performance.

Steve Mayfield and Jim Town were the only other Minutemen in double figures, with eleven and ten points respectively.

The Rams were led by a pair of veterans. Nelson Lopes fired in 14 points in a reserve role, while Noel Taylor added 10.

The game was the conference opener for UMass, while the Rams dropped to 0-2 in the YanCon and 0-3 overall. The Minutemen now stand at 3-1.

The Minutemen host Holy Cross in the second leg of a three-game home stand tomorrow night. The Crusaders are perfect on the year at 3-0.

TICKLING THE TWINE — Bill Endicott continued his disappointing season to date by hitting only three of nine shots for seven points.

Jack Leaman has shown high regard for freshman Derick Claiborne, sending him in at crucial junctures in both of the last two games.

In their final game before the semester break, the Minutemen entertain Siena next Saturday night. That contest should not turn out to be as much of a lark as some expected. A recent issue of Basketball Weekly named Siena as the fourth best college division team in the country.

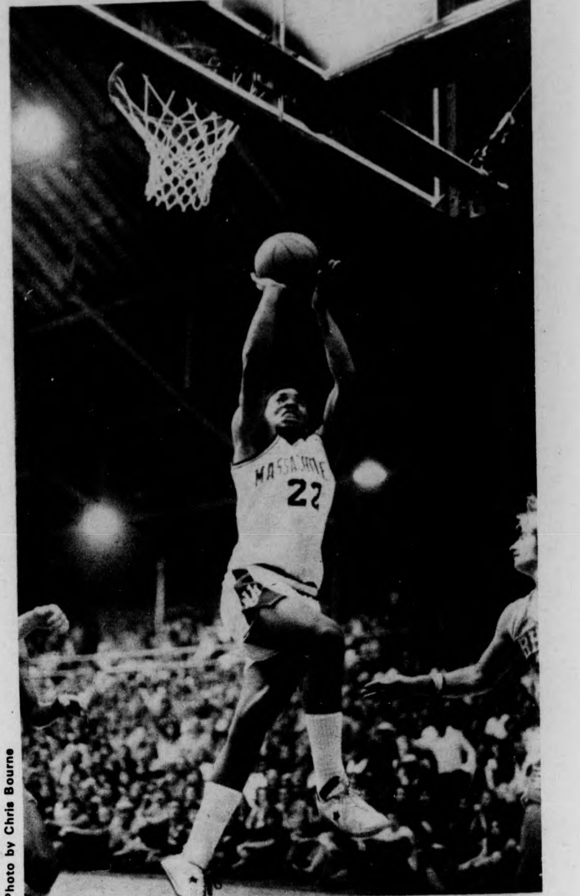

Photo by Chris Bourne

Freshman Alex Eldridge, in an impressive home debut, races in for an uncontested layup.

Skaters defeat Middlebury, 8-5

By RICH SEVIERI
Sports Staff

UMass ended a four game losing streak with a four goal explosion in the third period against previously undefeated Middlebury for an 8-5, victory Saturday afternoon at Orr Rink.

UMass had lost their fourth straight on Friday night, when Norwich scrapped back from a 3-0 deficit to post a 4-3 win over the Minutemen.

It looked like an instant replay or the Norwich game when UMass jumped out to a quick two goal lead over Middlebury, and gave up two sloppy goals to tie the score before the end of the first period. The Minutemen, who had a three goal lead at the 13 minute mark on Friday night only to lose, scored two goals in the first five minutes against Middlebury.

Bob White scored from in close, and Mike Ellis blasted in a 60-foot slapshot to give UMass it's quick lead against the Panthers. Bob Connerty and Newell Woodworth countered with markers for Middlebury. And when Jim Lyons received a five minute major for butt ending late in the period, UMass was in trouble.

Outstanding penalty killing by Burns, Conners, and Merchant up front, and Ellis, Mittiens, and McCormack on defense, and a number of fine saves by goalie Bruce Gledhill (playing in his first game since the season opener) and the Minutemen survived the five minutes unscathed.

Bob White scored his second goal of the game a minute after the penalty was killed to put UMass back in the lead.

Chris Lamby dug the puck out of the corner to White who cut around one defenseman and fired a hard backhander past the stick side of Middlebury goalie Jim Brimsek (nephew of ex-Bruin great Frank Brimsek). The all freshman line of the White twins on the wings and Lamby at center was flying all afternoon. Every shift on the ice they had good scoring chances.

Lamby scored his team-leading sixth goal of the year at 18:54 with assists going to Ellis and Mintiens for a 4-2 UMass lead.

Billy Harris scored on a partial breakaway at 00:48 of the third period. There would be no third period doldrums that have plagued UMass throughout the young season on this day. Billy Stuart scored twice in the period, and Mike Merchant had an unassisted goal late in the game.

UMass sprinted into a 3-0 lead against Norwich on Friday night and then played lethargic hockey until the final five minutes of the game.

Steve Nims scored at 6:45, and Chris Lamby tipped home a pair of goals twenty seconds apart in the middle of the period.

Norwich's goalie Jeff Peacock, who was knocked slightly unconscious after Lamby's second goal, was unbeatable the rest of the night.

Mike Stevenson scored the game winner for Norwich at 13:36 of the third period. UMass put the pressure on for the final minutes of the game, but couldn't put the puck past Peacock.

Photo by Bill Howell

Freshman winger Bob White (10) watches puck crash into the twine past Middlebury goalie Jim Brimsek.

Matmen with two wins

By JOHN BOCK
Sports Staff

Christmas came early to the UMass wrestlers and Coach Homer Barr as they brought their season record to 3-3 with wins over MIT (25-13) and Wesleyan (45-9) on Saturday at Wesleyan. This closes out the first semester of wrestling for the Minutemen as they turn into students and prepare for upcoming exams.

The end of wrestling for this semester happened none too soon because at the rate of two injuries a match UMass wouldn't be able to put a full team on the mats come next week. Against URI Minutement Tim Fallon (142) and Steve Jabaut (150) were made unavailable. Fallon has torn ligaments in the ankle and a knee problem, while Jabaut incurred a displaced vertebrae at the base of his neck. Couple this with injuries to Bill Fickert (190), Cliff Blom (158), Tom Smith (167), and Tom O'Connell (190) and there goes the lineup. Saturday saw Fickert break his ankle in the match with Wesleyan. Blom is still recuperating with the torn knee ligaments and Smith tore some cartilage in his chest against Yale and it has been a reoccurring problem.

Despite the injuries UMass was relatively impressive against the Engineers. They won 7 of ten bouts and had a pin and a superior decision. Winners for UMass included Greg Tallon at 126, Russell Chateauneuf at 134, Kevin Griffin at 150, Blom, Smith, Preston Kise at 190, and heavyweight Dennis Fenton.

Outstanding bouts were wrestled by Minutemen Griffin, Blom, Smith, Kise, and Fenton. Griffin rallied from a two point deficit to pin MIT's Joe Scire at 7:41 in the third period. Cliff Blom displayed a mastery of takedowns, on the way to a 5-2 decision over John Thain. Tom Smith had quite a few TD's of his own as he bested Peter Haag 12-4 in a match characterized by Smitty's willingness to give Haag the escape in order to get the takedown.

Bill Fickert broke his ankle while wrestling against Wesleyan and was not available for the MIT bout, so 167 pounder Preston Kise stepped in and did the job. Kise held MIT's Darwin Fleischaker to a draw on his feet and then proceeded to escape and ride the Engineer out for a 3-0 decision. Kise's riding ability earned him the point for riding time.

At heavyweight UMass' Dennis Fenton made his record 2-0 against the biggest heavyweight in New England - MIT's 340 pound Erland Van Lithedejude. Last year Fenton beat him 6-1 and this year he was the 3-1 winner of the bout. Neither man scored on takedowns and both were penalized for stalling. Fenton escaped in the second period and rode the gentle giant out in the third.

Wesleyan University is not going to win too many matches this year. They only have five men out for the sport and thus forfeit five weight classes every time they wrestle. Minutemen Sachon (118), Tallon (126), Griffin, Spaulding (177), and Fenton picked up forfeits for UMass while Mark Vanchesi (134) and Frank Kenney (167) collected pins over their opponents. Vanchesi, in his first varisty bout, pinned Rich Kozlowski at 3:46 in a wild bout that finally ended with Mark catching the man on a roll. Unfortunately Vanchesi suffered a torn tendon during the bout and goes on the disabled list. Frank Kenney, also in his varsity debut, decked Jim Washington at 5:21 of the third period as he caught him with a headlock.

Walgren files suit in Amherst to increase student representation

By BILL DOYLE
Staff Reporter

Eric Walgren, organizer of the Amherst Human Rights Party, has filed suit against William Fields, UMass Dean of Students and Amherst town meeting moderator, to reapportion the town meeting membership to allow more students to be represented.

Walgren, 35, a 1965 Amherst College graduate and 1968 Rutgers Law School graduate, made the announcement in a press conference along with Paul Besnia, 19, resident of 309 James House, yesterday at the WMUA studio.

The Human Rights Party is an unincorporated political association for the purpose of encouraging student participation in Amherst town government.

At present there are only 6 town meeting seats held by students, out of the 240 seats, Walgren said.

"Students comprise about 60 per cent of the population of Amherst, but hold only 3 per cent of the seats," Walgren explained.

Walgren said the college students in Massachusetts are recognized by state law as holding the option of claiming habitation of their college town for purposes of registering to vote.

"For a variety of reasons," Walgren said, "student inhabitants of Amherst have not registered to vote in proportion to non-student inhabitants. As a result the Amherst town meeting is 'mal-apportioned', meaning that the student inhabitants do not have town meeting representatives in proportion to their numbers."

Walgren stated that the US Constitution requires that all representatives to the legislatures of local governments be apportioned according to population instead of registered voters.

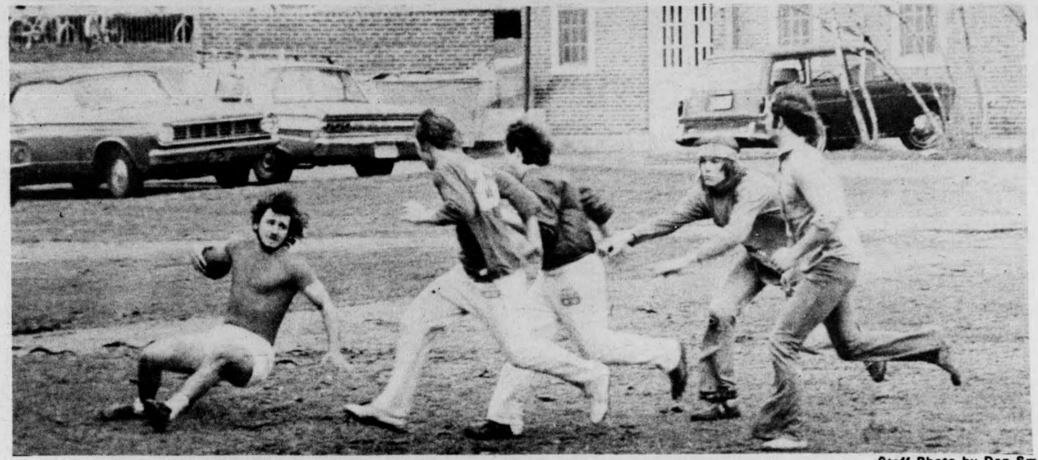
"Thus", Walgren said, "a precinct in a Massachusetts town must receive town meeting seats according to its per cent of population in relation to the total population of the town."

Contrary to law, Walgren emphasized, but in accordance with the Representative Town Meeting Act of the town of Amherst, 240 town meeting members are apportioned among 7 precincts according to registered voters.

"The town has had actual and full knowledge of its legal duty to reapportion since December 1, 1972," Walgren said.

turn to page 3

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545 3500
VOLUME CII, ISSUE 64 AMHERST, MA TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1974



Staff Photo by Dan Smitn

Tom Quine, pursued by a bevy of linebackers from Baker Dorm, goes down for a loss in a recent Mud Bowl held in Central Stadium.

Alcohol and academia - Do they mix?

This is the second three-part series. Former Collegian investigative and political reporter Mark Vogler will take a close look at the drinking scene in the Five College Area.

The UMass graduate--now a free lance writer--decided to xplore problem drinking after a summer's learning experience. He was convicted twice during a two-month period of driving under the influence of alcohol.

By MARK VOGLER

Ted started drinking "for the high" at 13, helping himself to a supply of hard liquor from his father's bar.

Life of Horrors

Thirteen years later, a self acclaimed alcoholic, he tried desperately to shake off a life filled with horrors.

"I had myself to the point where I couldn't stop throwing up in the morning," he said in retrospect, recalling his bout with the DT's (delirium tremens).

Without warning, and in a sudden state of confusion, frightening hallucinations would take hold of him.

"The walls around me would be breathing, the refrigerator would be floating...and the only way to stop it was another drink.

"Demon Was Bottle"

"It got to the point where I actually believed I was possessed by a demon..and the demon was the bottle."

Life went on like this for William (Ted) Smith until June 4, 1973 - a turning point - when he swore to never drink again.

So far he has managed to survive in a world without alcohol. But he will be the first to admit that the comeback has not been easy.

At 27, Smith is now on the road to recovery, using his own experience to warn others of the dangers involved in alcohol abuse.

Alcoholism is one of the nation's leading health problems behind heart disease and cancer. It is the underlying cause of thousands of deaths annually attributed to cirrhosis of the liver, certain kinds of heart disease and even brain damage.

Law officials consider alcohol abuse to be a national killer.

In half of all murders in the United States, either the killer or the victim - or both - have been drinking, and at least half of all automobile deaths each year are attributed to alcohol.

These grim statistics are available from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's national Institute on Alcohol Abuse.

Smith is currently working on a master's degree in alcohol counseling at the University of Massachusetts.

"My trying to help other people is helping me," he said.

"Not Social Toy"

"Alcohol is not a social toy, it is a very dangerous drug which can only be handled responsibly."

Of the 23,000 students at the UMass campus, 10 per cent are problem drinkers- potential alcoholics. Health officials estimate that 80 to 90 per cent of the college population consumes alcoholic beverages.

Yet, only a minority of those students experiencing a problem will admit it. Room to Move (RTM), the UMass drug drop-in and counseling center of which Smith is a member, handles an average of only 20 problem cases a month.

Hard to Admit

"It's really hard to admit you have a problem. You get into a really big self-denial thing where it's all inward," Smith pointed out.

"I guess I really never learned how to drink...I'd gulp it down, sort of like double-fisted drinking. I almost used to say that my ideal death would be to drown in a vat of beer."

Fortunately for Smith, he is alive today to tell his own story.

Growing up in Worcester, he drank his way through school, downing as much as half of a pint of whiskey a night.

First Auto Accident

His first of five car accidents came at the age of 17 and he noted he held in the liquor "pretty well."

"It was Palm Sunday eve in late March..the roads were very slick..I smashed into another car and the doors blew open," he recalled.

"I landed 75 feet from my own car and ended up with a black and blue mark on my shoulder. The car was just about demolished. My friend hurt his back and nobody was injured in the other car...in all, I was very lucky."

Heavy drinking was responsible for poor grades and Smith's dismissal from St. Anselm's College when he was 19.

In October of 1968, he volunteered for the U.S. Army where he steadily advanced-not in rank-but in a problem that was getting out of hand.

"When it came to the brass of the Army and the amber of the bottle, it was the amber that always won," Smith said.

When he was 23, Smith admits, he could not live without liquor. However, he was reassured by an Army psychiatrist that he would not become an alcoholic if he "stuck to Army food and did my work."

Departing from the Army in the summer of 1970 he decided to enroll at UMass, a liberal, permissive campus which brought out the drinking in him even more.

"I had short hair. Everybody thought I was a fed (narcotics agent). It was really hard to make friends, so I felt alienated," Smith said.

"In the Army, I drank out of boredom. Here, it was out of loneliness."

But when the loneliness wore off he reigned as "King Ted, the Tequila Monster."

"I was getting into serious blackouts by now and urinating all the time...different mornings I would get up and my bed would be soaking wet," he said.

turn to page 6

Staff Photo by Joe Martins

Is alcohol the bane of some student's existence? Evidence seems to point in that direction.

inside:

The Black Athlete on this campus -- does discrimination exist in the locker room or office? See page 7.

Teamsters may be putting pressure on local liquor stores boycotting Gallo wines. See page 11 for details.

weather:

today and tomorrow. Daytime highs mostly in the 30s and 40s. Overnight lows in the 30s to low 40s cooling to the 20s to low 30s.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS

Jerry Lazar
Editor-in-Chief

Bill Densmore
Managing Editor

Geoff Kurinsky
Business Manager

Dean Tucker
Executive Editor

Mike Kneeland
News Editor

Dave Eibel
Sports Editor

Steve Ruggles
Photo Editor

Mike Kostek
Below the Salt Editor

Sherwood Thompson
Black Affairs Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

E. Patrick McQuaid
Five College Editor
———
Fred Gosiewski
State National Editor
———
B.J. Roche
Life-Style Editor

Bill Parent
Assistant Executive Editor

Kathy Sheehan, Frits Geurtsen
Assistant News Editors

Steve Saraceno
Assistant Sports Editor

Dennis Conlon
Assistant Photo Editor

Betsy Harkins
Circulation-Production Manager

Janice Lazzaro
Advertising Manager

David Sokol, Fred Weiss
Assistant Salt Editors

Cal Whitworth
Assistant Black Affairs Editor

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal views of the authors.

The Collegian subscribes to the Associated Press and United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9
Newsstand price:		10 cents
Faculty, staff:		5 cents

On-campus delivery guaranteed by 10 a.m.

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee.

Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow 2 weeks for delivery start.

The office of the DAILY COLLEGIAN is on the second floor of the Student Union on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone: 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass 01082. THE DAILY COLLEGIAN publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods or holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

SOC unanimously recommends no further action to set up bank

By LAWRENCE KORNFELD
Staff Reporter

The Student Organizing Committee, which has been authorized by the Student Senate to investigate the issue of a Student Union bank, unanimously recommended a halt to any further action to set up the bank.

This recommendation was made in a report to the Student Senate by the SOC, last week.

The report said; "...the process by which the bank proposal has been brought forth and carried almost to fruition is so inadequate in terms of student power as by itself to be reason enough to warrant a re-evaluation of the entire matter."

The report also charged; "No consideration has been given to whether or not the business, profit making aspect of a bank in the Student Union would be, or could be, carried on in a manner in the interests of students."

It noted that the following were also lacking:

a. A study of the student need for a bank

b. A guarantee that the bank will mean a lower Campus Center fee

c. Consideration of the bank's effect on the campus environment

The report listed 15 "unanswered questions" on the issue. Among them were the following:

a. "If the bids are invited are they to be open and competetive, or with some bank having an inside track?"

b. "What is the Board of Governors power over this matter, and are they aware of their power?"

c. "Where did the proposal for the bank in the Student Union originate?"

d. "What is the rental being contemplated for the bank?"

e. "...how much of a reduction in the Campus Center fee is planned as a result (of money from the bank's rent)?

The SOC complained of conflicting answers to the last three questions.

A proposal was made in the report that the bank be owned and operated cooperatively by the students.

Among the guidelines listed as "minimal specifications necessary for a commerical bank in the Student Union to be considered, on the balance, a net asset to students;" are the following:

a. That two full students be on it's Board of Directors, with full voting powers.

b. That ten per cent of it's total loans and investments be placed in the student controlled credit union.

c. "The bank shall make a concerted effort to hire University students and should follow Affirmative Action policies."

d. That it's lease be for only one year and that the lease require approval of the grad and under grad Student Senates and Stockbridge Senate.

Bicentennial Comm. urges campus input

By ROBERT SHEMELIGIAN
Staff Reporter

The University Bicentennial Committee is urging campus-wide involvement in efforts to organize programs celebrating our nation's 200th birthday.

The committee urges all portions of the campus community including students, faculty, professional and non-professional staff, and administrators "to think of innovative ways in which the University may best mount a distinctive and appropriate Bicentennial effort."

"Your Bicentennial Committee has a coordinating and advisory role," said chairperson, John W. Lederle. "We are trying to stimulate the departments on their own."

The committee is asking that each department, through a reallocation of its funds, create special courses, symposia, lectures, seminars, and media projects "that would contribute to a recognition of the American heritage and a consideration of America's future."

Both State and Federal funds are being sought for the Bicentennial effort along with a reorganization of money the university already has.

The university is complying with the national divisions of the Bicentennial effort. They are Heritage 76, Horizon 76, and Festival 76. Programs affiliated with Heritage 76 will focus on the American past and how it affects the present. "Programs should grow out so elements of the American tradition, the American Revolution, America's national

Police report

By ROBERTA MARTONE
Staff Reporter

A fight involving 25 to 30 people occurred at 2:00 a.m. Monday, in lot 63 (near Worcester Dining Commons), according to UMass police.

Six of the involved parties alledged reciprocating charges according to Captain Joyce of the UMass Police Department.

The case is currently under investigation. Complaints will probably be issued in court, said Joyce.

Other security problems this weekend included a car accident and stolen motor vehicles.

A two-car accident at University Drive, at the Southwest mall, Sunday, resulted in $575 worth of damages. There were no personal injuries, according to Police reports.

Two cars were stolen, and two others recovered this weekend, Joyce said.

Off-campus housing

The Off-Campus Housing Office will be open Monday, January 6th through Friday, January 31st. This office will be responsible for compiling listings of many available rental units (houses, apartments, rooms) within the Amherst area (ie. within a 20 mile radius of the UMass campus). An attempt will be made to match the student's needs and finances to area housing that best fits those needs and means. Information on roommates, leases, furniture, and other renter's concerns will also be available.

The Off-Campus Housing Office is funded by the Commuter Assembly and the Financial Aid Office with space made available by the Commuter Student Affairs Office. It will be located in Room 229F Whitmore and will be open from 9 a.m. through 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. If you have questions about housing, or need to locate housing, please stop by or call 545-2300 or 545-2145.

Staff Photo by Bob Gamache

Dreams of Santa Claus bring all those long awaited toys and games will soon be a reality with Christmas just a few weeks away.

Chick Corea

On November 30, WMUA held a taping session at the Julia Sanderson Theatre in Springfield. Tomorrow, WMUA will be airing the live performance of Chick Corea-Return to Forever.

Don't miss this fine performance, recaptured on tape, Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. The Gary Burton Quintet was also taped at the Sanderson Theatre. WMUA will soon be providing details of time and date of that airing.

Collins wants janitors on State Rep. James G. Collins (D-Amherst) has said he wants to see 96 janitors being laid off by UMass stay on the job. But he said he fears the administrative decision to lay off the janitors in January to save $32,000 is "fairly firm."

Collins said he will be speaking to campus Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery today for the second time since Friday.

The announcement that about 30 janitors would be without work for one week and 60 for two weeks in January came Friday. The administration says the lay offs are necessary because dorms maintained by the workers will be closed in January for fuel conservation.

H. Jack Littlefield, the man in charge of physical plant operations also said the money saved would help keep dormitory rents down because the janitors are payed out of student trust funds.

STATION MEETING

Election for

Tech Trainer

Tues., Dec. 12 at 8:00 p.m.

Rm. 172 C.C.

Women & Third World People

are encouraged to attend.

— TONIGHT —

JOHN MORGAN

THE PUB

EATING & DRINKING

AMHERST

MassPIRG claims 13 banks state misleading rates

AMHERST (AP) - A consumers group says 13 banks in Massachusetts continue to state their interest rates in misleading ways despite being warned about the practice a year ago.

Officials of the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG) said yesterday the banks are in apparent violation of state and federal truth-in-leading statutes. They urged Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn to take immediate legal action.

Herbert Goodwin of the attorny general's Consumer Protection Division said the agency had conducted an independent probe of the banks named by MassPIRG. He said the evidence was being studied to see if legal action is merited.

Ronald E. Bogard, executive director of MassPIRG, said his group identified the 13 banks through a follow-up survey of 155 banking offices that were found to be quoting misleading interest rates on loans a year ago.

The follow-up investigation showed that nearly all of the 155 earlier violators were now following the law, Bogard said, but 13 were continuing to confuse customers by offering what seemed to be bargain rates for installment loans.

In those cases, he said, the banks generally were stating an interest rate figured by the "add-on" or "discount" method - a flat comparison of total interest with total principal. For example, a one-year $100 loan with $10 interest added on was said to carry a 10 per cent interest rate.

In contrast, the legally required method of calculating the rate is the "actuarial" method. It takes into account the fact that the principal is gradually paid back through the entire period of the payments. But that method, a person charged $10 interest on a $100 installment loan would be regarded as paying several percentage points more than 10 per cent.

MassPIRG lawyer Jonathan Z. Souweine said there is nothing inherently wrong with one method or the other. When the two are used interchangeably, however, they make comparison shopping for credit virtually impossible.

Banks were warned a year ago not to use "add-on" or "discount" rates by both the attorney general's office and the state banking commissioner.

turn to page 6

Globe Bureau views presidency

By HUGH OWENS
Staff Reporter

"One delegate said he had a feeling 'the real candidate for '76 isn't here as a candidate,'" reported Robert Healy, referring to the Democratic mini-convention held last weekend in Kansas City.

"None of the present crop of presidential candidates took part in shaping the compromise: they didn't want to get burnt," continued Healy. Florida Governor Rubin Askew, who worked to shape the party program was a possibility Healy cited for a '76 presidential candidate.

Healy appeared along with "Boston Globe" Washington Bureau members David Nyhan, Sal Micciche, and Steve Wermiel last night in the conclusion of a six-lecture series entitled "The Presidential Crisis: View from the Press." The series was presented by the "Boston Globe" and the UMass journalistic studies program with the cooperation of the Five Colleges.

Healy, who was present at the past weekend's convention, said "What was accomplished out there was pretty important. They (Democratics) had some of their basic arguments and solved them. It was pretty important for them because in '72 the Democratic convention was pretty destructive. You had groups not representing the country as a whole. This year the blacks and women were pretty mature, and what they wanted done was in a political sense, and the party is in good shape for '76."

Jerome Mileur, Assoc. Prof. of Political Science, who was part of the UMass panel questioning the "Globe" members, asked what happened to the forecast by the press of a "bloodletting convention."

Nyhan replied there were "no punches thrown out on the political floor" because "the party heads didn't want the women, black and liberal caucuses walking out, so they went along with the reforms."

Mileur further asked if the Democrats could rally for '76, to which Nyhan responded "They did a good job on the (platform) process, got the party back together again," but "dont't have a leader."

On the question of George McGovern and his position as presidential candidate for '76 Micciche answered "While the convention didn't applaude McGovern they gave backing to McGovern's plans."

To this response Mileur said "It sounds like you're saying McGovern lost but the McGovernites won."

Healy replied "Yes."

Nyhan, speaking in reference to the Republican convention which met in Washington during the weekend, said "When the Republicans met in Washington it was like a show that closed last week. There was no line outside the box office because there was nothing going on inside."

Micciche added there were 43 persons representing the Republicans at the convention, and they decided what was best for the party. He continued, however, that the "Republican party in '76 will be the party Jerry Ford wants it to be."

The difference between the objectives of the two conventions, Nyhan explained, was "the Democrats met at Kansas City to decide who to bring into the party," while "the 43 Republicans met in Washington over the weekend to decide who's going to spend the bread."

Prof. Howard Ziff, director of journalistic studies at UMass, the panel moderator, said it appears to him the Republicans have one thing the Democrats do not — a candidate.

A situation occurred in Kansas City where it appeared the blacks, women, and liberals were going to walk out of the convention. Nyhan said he thought Senator Kennedy, who was present, would get up in front of the convention and make the regulars listen to reason, but did not. He continued "What this party needs is a leader to get up in front, and no one did. I see no leadership."

Asst. Prof. of Journalism Ralph Whitehead and Collegian Managing Editor Bill Densmore were also part of the panel present in Thompson 106 last night at the 8 p.m. discussion.

Questions were received from the audience following the panel discussion, and an informal gathering was held after the meeting in Campus Center Rm. 1002.

Staff Photo by Bob Norcott

The Boston's Globe's Washington Bureau-- From left to right: Sal Micciche, Stephen Wermiel, Robert Healy and David Nyhan.

University Women's Conference to be held in January

By MARY VORDERER
Staff Reporter

The University Women's Conference will be held during January in order to share and examine issues that affect all women in the community and at the University whether staff, faculty, students or wives.

The purpose of the conference will be not only to share knowledge of issues that affect women but also to hopefully create the positive conditions necessary for achievment of women's goals through cooperative action. Through contact with other women ideas can be developed to create a university community that realistically meets the needs of women.

Scheduling is for Tuesday, January 21 through Saturday, January 26 in the Campus Center. Workshops on the first four days will focus on issues and sharing knowledge that affects women. Saturday's workshops will be devoted to planning for action on issues and ideas raised during the week. Workshops will be facilitated by UMass staff faculty, students and other women.

The following is a list of topics and workshops planned thus far. Specific, detailed scheduling will be available in January. Although many proposals for presentations have been submitted, those women who would like to facilitate a presentation should contact the person coordinating particular issues as soon as possible.

HEALTH ISSUES, contact persons, Althea Smith 545-0883, or Janet McDonald at 546-4332. Women and Alchohol, Feminism vs. Childbirth and Breastfeeding, Psychological origin of women's problems and feminist counseling, Breast self-exam, Psychosocial origins or women's problems, and Massage Masturbation: self-knowledge in sexual relationships.

EMPLOYMENT ISSUES contact person, Sally Freeman at Student Development Center 545-0333. Women and the New Depression, Economic aspects of sexism-employment discrimination and Career counseling and development for women.

EDUCATION ISSUES contact person, Jean Leppaluoto, Provost's Office, Whitmore 545-2554. Third World Women: Survival at the University and the Poor Women's Task Force at Everywoman's Center, The "Dawn-Bringing of the Puerto Rican Women, Sexism and Language, The Formation of a Woman's Group, Racism workshop for white feminists, Admissions for women, The older woman student, Educational alternatives on campus, Academia and the feminist, Women in graduate study, and Working against sexism in our classes.

SURVIVAL ISSUES contact person, Jo-Leslie Hirsch, Central Area Student Affairs 549-0912. Small claims court, Assertiveness training, Women and values clarification, Women and housing, Self defense, Organizing food co-ops, Women in crisis, Gestalt art, Single parenting, and Alternative life styles.

COMMUNICATION ISSUES contact persons, Barbara Melrose at 253-2098 or 545-2403 Erika Wollaur 546-4305. Effective public speaking, Video and newspapers, Film, Small group communication, and Cross-cultural communication: foreign and American women.

CREATIVITY ISSUES contact person Arlene Ryan at 545-1922. American Indian Women, Water color, Weaving, Rya knot tying, Creativity workshops, Films, Art as a political tool, Theatre of spontaineity.

ALTERNATIVES AND...contact person Sheila Watson 549-4452.

Designing alternative structures, Non-Heirarchical model of structure, Socialist feminism, Power and leadership, Local politics, Panel on brands of feminism, Women in power (panel of University staff) and Women and the maritocracy.

The 1-3 hour workshops will run from 9 to 9 daily. In order to reach more women, some workshops may be repeated during the week. Credit is available for undergraduates of one credit for every 15 hours of workshops attended. There is no pre-registration or fee for attendance. Daycare will be offered free for the length of the conference. For those women returning to campus early to attend the conference housing will be available in Southwest. Arrangements can be made by contacting Margie Posner at 546-4554. University buses will be on a partial schedule for those women living in the area.

Tomorrow at 1:00 there will be a meeting in the Campus Center to discuss planning and administration of the conference. If any woman has time between now and January, help is needed in daycare, housing, publicity, and other areas of administering the conference. Any further questions can be directed to Everywoman's Center, Goodell Hall, 545-0883.

Walgren claims underrepresentation

cont. from p. 1

Walgren explained that the complaint is "step two of a process," that began with the filing of an election complaint by Walgren, two years ago, against the town of Amherst to hold primary elections during the spring semester and not during intercession.

The complaint calls either for an order to reapportion or to re-draw the precinct lines so that they contain equal numbers of inhabitants including dormitory and off-campus student inhabitants, which shall have approtioned to them a percentage of the fixed 240 town meeting seats.

The suit was filed in Federal District Court in Boston.

TODAY'S STAFF

Mary Vorderer
Issue Editor

Bob Norcott
Bob Gamache
Darkroom

Art Sesnovich
Tom Crowley
Sports

Glenn Poster
Ad Layout

The Collegian is a school. Participation for the purpose of learning all aspects of newspapering is open to all readers, although primarily for students. Visitors are always welcome to our offices: 2nd floor, UMass student union.

Ehrlichman memo denounced as 'charade' during trial

Defendant sought to blame Mitchell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special prosecutors yesterday denounced a long-lost Watergate report written by John D. Ehrlichman last year as a "charade...the ultimate in pulling the wagons up around the White House" to protect President Richard M. Nixon and his closest aides.

The hand-written report, supposedly drafted for Nixon in mid-April of 1973, painted John W. Dean III and John N. Mitchell as the real villians behind the bugging and its cover-up, while absolving the White House inner circle of any blame.

Prosecutor James F. Neal erupted when Ehrlichman's attorney sought to introduce it into evidence at the cover-up trial, now in its 11th week.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Neal termed it "phony...one co-conspirator giving a self-serving statement to another co-conspirator so they could rely on it if things ever came unstuck."

"A charade to help protect each other once the cover-up started falling apart—that's what it certainly appears to be," Neal said. "It's the ultimate in pulling the wagons up around the White House and shoving Mr. Mitchell out."

Ehrlichman attorney William S. Frates, who revealed recently the report had just been found buried at the bottom of a box of papers at the White House, protested it was a "good faith report" written at the former President's request. He said it was "the clearest evidence that John Ehrlichman was not trying to cover up" but was laying all the facts out for Nixon.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, troubled by damaging hearsay references in the report to other defendants now on trial with Ehrlichman, said he would rule today whether to let the jury receive it as evidence.

Taking the witness stand in his own defense-the third of the five defendants to do so-Ehrlichman said that within hours of the June 17, 1972, Watergate arrests, Nixon press secretary Ronald Ziegler asked him of the whereabouts of E. Howard Hunt Jr.

The reference was puzzling, since Hunt no longer worked for the White House and his connection to the bugging was not known until two days later, the same day Ziegler publicly dismissed Watergate as a "third-rate burglary attempt."

Ehrlichman did not elaborate, but his testimony appeared to indicate that Ziegler either knew of or suspected Hunt's involvement in the bugging almost immediately.

He also denied using the CIA to stall a crucial early phase of the FBI's Watergate investigation. But he said Nixon told him on July 6, 1972, that he believed CIA officials were "covering up" their activities and that a vigorous FBI probe might be "to the jeopardy of the national interest."

Before Ehrlichman ever took the stand, Frates complained his client was "not getting a fair trial" because Sirica on technical grounds had forbidden three witnesses from testifying in Ehrlichman's behalf.

Liddy asks his conviction be overturned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — G. Gordon Liddy, who helped engineer the Watergate burglary, asked the Supreme Court yesterday to overturn his conviction on grounds U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica made important trial errors.

The court probably will decide early next year whether to grant Liddy's appeal and schedule his case for oral argument and a written decision.

Liddy is the only one of the original Watergate break-in defendants who has not cooperated with the Watergate prosecutors. He was sentenced to an indeterminate term of from six years, eight months to 20 years in prison and a $40,000 fine for conspiracy, burglary and attempted wiretapping.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia affirmed Liddy's conviction, and said any errors by Sirica during the trial were unlikely to have influenced the jury's decision in the case.

Thousands of miners idled by new strike

By United Press International

Thousands of the country's 120,000 coal miners due to return to work after settlement of their nearly month-long strike were kept idled yesterday by a strike by 6,000 mine construction workers.

As is their custom, the miners declined to return to work at deep-mine and stripping operations picketed by the construction workers, who like the miners are members of the United Mine Workers but are not covered by the miners' contract.

Mine closings resulting from picketing by the construction men were reported in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Virginia, Illinois and Indiana. Most mines were operating in Ohio and West Virginia, according to UMW spokesmen.

Negotiations on a separate pact for the construction workers, who build new mines and perform construction repairs at established mines, were to resume later in the day at Washington. A union spokesman said some progress was made in an all-night session which recessed at 7 a.m. EST yesterday.

The shutdown was widespread in Pennsylvania, where a union miner was killed in an underground accident in his first day back on the job. The mishap occurred at U.S. Steel Corp's Maple Creek No. 2 mine near Bentleyville, south of Pittsburgh.

The Washington County coroner's office said Arthur Gaudiano, 60, Uniontown, Pa., was operating a mine locomotive pushing six loaded coal cars on an upgrade in the Cherokee shaft of U.S. Steel Corp's Maple Creek No. 2 mine near this community south of Pittsburgh.

The shuttle cars jumped the track, crushing the operator, the coroner's office said.

The coroner's office said the company was cited for improper maintenance of the track. It said six cars were too many for the operator to keep under complete control.

Yesterday was the deadline for return to work of the country's coal miners, who last week ratified by a vote of 44,754 to 34,741 a new three-year contract granting them a 64 per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits. They showed up for work wherever there were no construction pickets.

Greek Parliament convenes for first time in 7 years

ATHENS (UPI) — The Greek parliament met yesterday for the first time in seven years and its 300 members swore allegiance to the new republic the voters overwhelmingly chose Sunday over monarchy.

From exile in England, 34-year-old King Constantine said he hoped history would justify his people's decision to abolish the throne.

Before the Sunday referendum the king had said he would return to Greece as a private citizen if the referendum went against him. He made no reference to this in his statement yesterday.

Parliament was dissolved in 1967 following a military coup. It was inactive throughout the seven years of military dictatorship that ended last summer.

In the Sunday referendum, 3,244,748 or 69.2 per cent of the ballots were cast for a republican form of government. Monarchical democracy drew 1,445,857 votes or 30.8 per cent.

Although the republican side had been expected to win, the low percentage won by the royalists indicated a guarantee of future unity and stability, government officials said.

King Constantine said in a statement from his residence outside London, "True normality, progress and prosperity for our country demand that national unity must come first.

Rockefeller support rises for Senate vote

Confirmation due this afternoon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller received strong Senate support yesterday in favor of his confirmation, with a Democratic leader predicting he will be overwhelmingly approved.

Rockefeller was hailed in Senate debate on his nomination as "highly qualified" to be vice president and Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he expected no more than "a baker's dozen" votes against the nominee.

Assistant Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd, Rockefeller's most critical antagonist during his confirmation hearings, announced he would vote for the former New York governor.

"I'd say he will win overwhelmingly here," Byrd said.

The Senate vote on Rockefeller is set for today at 3 p.m. EST while the House Judiciary Committee is expected to give its approval tomorrow or Thursday. Final House confirmation is expected next justice.

Opposition to Rockefeller came from Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., who said he could not support the nominee because of his gifts and loans to political associates, his views on government spending, and role in the publication of a derogatory book on his 1970 gubernatorial opponent, Arthur J. Goldberg.

Scott said he had "serious doubts" over "the potential conflicts of interest" arising out of Rockefeller's vast wealth.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., also said he would vote against Rockefeller because of the nominee's traditional support for strong defense spending and the use of "covert operations" by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Abourezk said he also was troubled by Rockefeller's views on nuclear arms and the use of antitrust laws to break up monopolies.

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Rules Committee which conducted an unprecedented three-month probe into Rockefeller, said the investigation had uncovered nothing that would bar the millionaire Republican from assuming the vice presidency.

Cannon said that suggestions that Rockefeller place his stocks and other holdings into a "blind trust" - as the nominee has pledged to the Judiciary Committee - were "meaningless" because of the vastness of his fortune.

Cannon said the committee had concluded that Rockefeller had exercised "poor judgment" in asking his brother Laurance to help publish a critical book about Goldberg, a former Supreme Court justice

WFCR 88.5 fm
IS — PUBLIC RADIO
Designed to serve the community with programs for all listeners.

CHRISTMAS GIFT TRIMS
American Greetings
The very special way to remember . . .
UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Open Wed. Nite til 8.

Favors delay in tax reform

Dukakis emphasizes balanced budget

Compiled from Wires

NEWTON — Massachusetts must concentrate on balancing its budget and delay reforming its tax system, Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis said yesterday.

Any major effort in the state to shift the tax burden from high-income residents to those in low and moderate brackets will have to wait two or three years, Dukakis said at a meeting of the Massachusetts Newspaper Publishers Association.

At the same time, Dukakis reaffirmed his commitment to avoid new state taxes next year by balancing the budget even if it requires pruning state programs and the state labor force.

Dukakis said he would do his best to avoid the need for new taxes, "but we are faced with tremendous fiscal and economic problems." He said he would submit a preliminary budget to the legislature in late January, but would reserve the right to submit amendments and a possible tax increase at a later date.

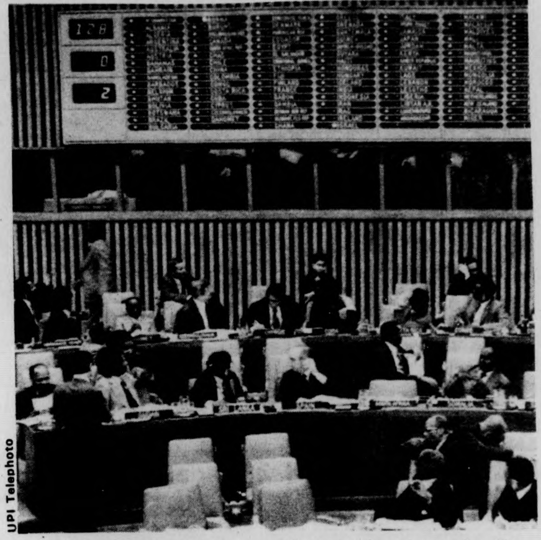
"I hope we can avoid massive layoffs," Dukakis said. In response to a reporter's question, he said that some officials in his new administration are already fielding inquiries from workers worried about their jobs.

The governor-elect said, however, that state taxpayers cannot afford $100 or $150 apiece in new taxes to make up the projected budget deficit of more than $300 million.

"Our people are living with the worst peacetime inflation in history and we must show businesses that we are not kidding and that we can live without our income," Dukakis said.

Asked if he favors a program of tax relief for low and moderate income residents, Dukakis said, "I don't see any prospect for the development of a tax program shifting burdens from one area to another" for the next two to three years.

Dukakis said he expects to keep state aid to local communities at its present level, with some modest increases over the next few years, despite his statement last week of possible massive cuts in state programs.



UPI Telephoto

The United Nations voted yesterday to make the Middle East a nuclear free zone. The vote, as can be seen on the scoreboard, as 128 to 0, with 2 abstentions. Israel and Burma abstained.

Christmas hiring in state declines

BOSTON (AP) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, unless you are looking for temporary work in a Massachusetts retail store, says the state Division of Employment Security.

"We would normally expect 3,000 to 4,000 people to be hired in the eastern part of the state for Christmas trade in sales and warehouse positions," said John Rappolla, deputy DES director, "but this year we haven't been able to find it."

A soured national economy, combined with a short Christmas shopping season because of a late Thanksgiving, has resulted in a hiring cutback by hard-pressed merchants.

Many Boston-area retail store presidents declined to discuss their Christmas sales. Several who would were guardedly optimistic.

Stanley Feldberg, president of the Zayre department store chain, said "We've got to cram a lot of business into a shortened season. Things are looking OK, but at the moment, every day is crucial...

"We know we've got two things running against us — consumer attitude, which is dismal, and the impact of the economy, which is factual."

Christmas hiring at the other retail giant, Jordan Marsh, is following last year's policy, according to vice president Lee Slayton.

The stores' optimism was countered by Rappolla. "They have the same policy, they just don't have the same numbers," he said. "We have not seen the increase in job placements that we would normally see in the Christmas season."

Two oil executives reaffirm plans to build N.E. refinery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic conditions which are forcing oil companies to cancel their refinery expansion plans will have no effect on efforts to construct a refinery in New England, according to the testimony of two area oil executives.

"There are favorable economics for construction of refining capacity on the East Coast and New England," Herbert A. Sostek, an executive in the New England Energy Co. venture seeking to construct a refinery in Sanford, Maine, told the Federal Energy Administration yesterday.

N.R. Dorrance, vice president of In-O-Ven Corp., which is planning a refinery in Connecticut, said that the decreasing growth of oil consumption cited by several companies in cutting back their refinery construction plans "doesn't bother us at all."

Our plans are for a refinery in an area that is starved for fuel at a reasonable cost, Dorrance said in a statement submitted to the FEA as it opened three days of hearings on the problem of expanding domestic refinery capacity. Additional growth in demand would only be "frosting on the cake" Dorrance told the panel.

The testimony of Sostek and Dorrance contrasted sharply with that of Fred Dennstedt, vice president for refining for Exxon Co. U.S.A. He argued that inflation, oil price controls, the uncertainty of imports, and a tapering off of demand have resulted in profit margins that "are clearly inadequate to justify the higher level of investments and operating costs faced by refiners planning new facilities."

Sostek said New England energy already has spent $2.5 million on engineering for its proposed 250,000-barrel-a-day refinery. The hearing's lead-off witness, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said limits should be placed on the size of any oil refinery built in New England region.

"The largest refinery in this country has only about 250,000 barrels a day capacity," McIntyre said. "Why should we in New England end up centralizing activities in a 400,000-barrel-a-day refinery?"

Boston longshoremen strike, closing docks

BOSTON (AP) — Work at Boston's nearly-deserted docks was halted yesterday by picketing dockworkers striking for a better guaranteed annual wage clause in their contract.

About 1,000 members of four International Longshoremen's locals, without a contract since Sept. 30, went on strike at midnight Sunday night.

Boston's last longshoremen's strike, in sympathy with a New York City walkout, lasted two weeks in 1971.

No new negotiations were scheduled after the Boston Shipping Association's latest offer was rejected by union members 464-4 over the weekend.

The picket lines were honored by 10 other unions, according to a union spokesman. About 40 men picketed port facilities in the East Boston, South Boston and Charlestown sections.

The picket lines were honored by 10 other unions, according to a union spokesman. About 40 men picketed port facilities in the East Boston, South Boston and Charlestown sections.

news r'dup

Kissinger silent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon described their seven hours of talks yesterday as satisfactory and helpful, but neither would say specifically what they talked about.

The marathon session forced Kissinger to cancel plans to appear before a House committee to urge a delay in halting U.S. military aid to Turkey.

"I am satisfied with the talks," Kissinger told reporters later. "We reviewed the whole range of bilateral relations and also exchanged ideas on the next step toward peace in the Middle East."

S. Africa changes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The South African army announced its ranks to black soldiers in still another move away from strict race separation, known as aparthied.

Maj. Gen. J. R. Dutton, acting chief of the army, told a news conference the black soldiers will be allowed to carry arms and will be paid the same as equivalent ranking whites. For the time being, he said, there was no plan to create black officers and the highest rank to which Africans could advance was sergeant major.

The army's step comes on top of other recent shifts from strict separation of South Africa's 18 million blacks, 4 million whites, the 2 million of mixed race and 650,000 Asians.

Rape study may pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of lobbying by women's groups, Congress is expected to pass legislation this week authorizing the National Institute of Mental health to study ways to curtail rapes.

This would be the first major national effort to deal with the crime of rape, said Mary Ann Largen, coordinator of a national rape task force for the National Organization for Women.

The legislation would authorize $20 million for the first two years for a rape study unit within the NIMH.

The NIMH study would include research on the ways to curtail the crime itself, help the victims and their families and rehabilitate the offenders.

Hub students fight

BOSTON (AP) — Four white girls were injured, one requiring brief hospitalization, during racial fighting at South Boston High School yesterday.

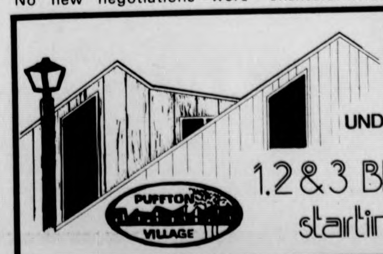
Alice McDonough, 16, of the South Boston section was treated for facial cuts at Boston City Hospital, then released. She was hit with a padlock by a black girl, according to school officials.

Assault complaints were sought in South Boston District Court against two black female juveniles, police said.

"These boots are waterproof!"

* Before you go home see our selection — all types of boots for either sex: Fryes, Dunham "Waffle Stompers", Clarks of England, Tretorn, Desco and more!

BOLLES SHOES
*2 Locations
*8 MAIN ST., AMHERST
*HADLEY VILLAGE BARN SHOPS, Rte. 9, HADLEY



Pufftion Village
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT 549-0145
1.2 & 3 BEDROOM APARTMENTS starting under $200 a month

Classes and cocktails?

cont. from p. 1

Smith's alcohol problem peaked to the stage where he was drinking heavily, but not eating anything. By now the problem had become apparent to him.

After several trips to the infirmary, totally run down and suffering from malnutrition, he started on antabuse-a drug that causes nausea, palpitations and anxiety at the first whiff of liquor.

He stayed dry for seven weeks before he took a drink and got sick. Giving up antabuse, he went two more weeks without a drink.

A final binge and Smith wound up in the emergency ward of St. Vincent's Hospital of Worcester from where he was transfered to the counseling ward of Rutland Heights Hospital.

"There, a mental wreck, I swore if I could stop, I could put my life into helping others," he said.

"It's taken me a year and a half to get my priorities in order: the right amount of food and proper diet, the right amount of sleep and the right type of clothing - everything I ignored when booze was Number One in my life."

Today Smith weighs a healthy 140 pounds, a great difference from when he had a fatty liver and weighed 170 pounds.

Smith has been jailed on several occasions, frequently misplaced and smashed up a few automobiles, beaten up girl friends, made enemies of friends for no apparent reasons and has often made a public spectacle of himself - all because of alcohol.

From Day to Day

For Ted Smith, the worst is over. Or is it?

"Sometimes I get the urge for a drink, and if I do I just say to myself "having gone all this time without one, just wait 24 hours and see how I feel."

Banks misleading

cont. from p. 3

MassPIRG lawyer Jonathan Z. Souweine said there is nothing inherently wrong with one method or the other. When the two are used interchangeably, however, they make comparison shopping for credit virtually impossible.

Banks were warned a year ago not to use "add-on" or "discoutn" rates by both the attorney general's office and the state banking commissioner.

MassPIRG said it found the deceptive practices were constinuing by having college students solicit loan information from banks over the telephone. The research group said it had notified the 13 banks of its findings, suggesting to them that "prompt remedial action" was in order.

The 13 offices cited by MassPIRG include:

Harvard Trust, Belmont; Lynn Institution for Savings, Lynn; Worcester County National Bank, Auburn and Worcester; Worcester County Institution for Savings, two Worcester offices; Guaranty Bank and Trust Co., Worcester; Blackstone Valley National Bank, Millbury; City Cooperative Bank, Holyoke; Chicopee Savings Bank, Chicopee; Chicopee and Berkshire Bank and Trust Co., North Adams and Stockbridge.

Officials of most of the baaks had no immediate comment. A spokesman for Berkshire Bank and Trust said his institution was reviewing the study, but added that its employes had been fully briefed on the truth-in-lending provisions.

The Dial Tone
Discotheque
Mon.. Tues.. Wed. Nites are
Beer Nites 25¢
Plus specials on pitchers, bottles and all drinks.
TUES. NITE
is Oldies' Nite
THURS. NITE
is Ladies' Nite
HAPPY HOUR
every nite, 6-8:30
DJ's play what you want to hear — 7 nites a week, 8:30-1:00.
Rte. 5, North Hatfield
Dance Floor Game Room

MERRY CHRISTMAS
HEWLETT-PACKARD

The HP-65 Fully Programmable.
The world's only fully programmable pocket calculator. You can write, edit and record programs up to 100-steps long. You can take advantage of HP pre-recorded programs, so you gain the speed/accuracy benefits of programming without writing your own. Performs 51 pre-programmed functions. Cost, $795.*
*All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.
HEWLETT hp PACKARD
available at the UNIVERSITY STORE campus center

MDC classifieds sell!

TONITE:
Aces & Eights
Wed. - Fri.
Cricket Hill
at Rusty Nail Inn
Rte. 47
Sunderland
665-4937

FOR LIGHTNING FAST DELIVERY ON ANY OF OUR DELICIOUS PIZZAS OR SUBS CALL THE HUNGRY-U, PIZZA PATROL

THE HUNGRY-U

50¢ OFF
Large Pizza
Offer good only on Deliveries; Dec. 12 - 20

25¢ OFF
Small Pizza
Offer good only on Deliveries; Dec. 12 - 20

The exploitation of the black athlete at UMass

Anyone who has objectively followed athletics at the University for the past several years can attest to the fact that it has been one of the most racist athletic departments in the country. The basketball team under Coach Leaman reflects this racism very openly. For the past eight years they have had one Black super star on the team who was responsible for them 1) winning the Yankee Conference 2) going to the first round of the NIT and 3) then losing which apparently is enough for Jack Leaman to get his contract renewed. These super Black athletes have been Billy Tindall, Julius Erving, Al Skinner, and now Alex Eldridge. They accomplished this mission and are directly responsible for UMass' national reputation.

At Saturday's game I witnessed an event that told me that things were not going to get any better and that the Black athlete was being exploited and utilized as a tool at UMass. A Black disabled member of the team was turned away at the door by one of the ticket managers and told that there were no more seats, and he could not enter because he was not playing that night.

The athlete, Glen Cooper has given two knees to the UMass athletic department. This is the same athletic department that allowed Artie Harris, who was rated as a potentially great football player, to be expelled from the school for a crime that he was eventually cleared of. As a result of Artie's suspension from school and from the team, he transferred to another school and was killed in a plane crash. It was the same department that expelled Earl Brown from the football team for a crime he was never convicted of. It was the same department that didn't know how to handle Tom Gilliams. Sure it can be said that Tommy had problems but his greatest dilemma was that he wanted to play basketball and Jack Leaman did not allow him to do so for one year which all but destroyed Tom Gilliams both emotionally and academically.

black affairs

At present there are seven Black athletes on the UMass basketball team. Coach Leaman is once again trying to win with his quota of one Black star playing at a time. This is no reflection on the white athlete who is also a cohesive part of the unit. If you have even followed basketball here you have witnessed the double standard. One for the White and one for the Black athlete.

If a black ballplayer makes a mistake he is immediately taken out of the game and severely reprimanded and is not allowed to play in the next game. If a white ballplayer vakes the same mistake he is allowed to continue playing until he gets it together. An example of this double standard has been clearly observed in the manner that Billy Endicott has been handled this season. His play has been extremely poor yet he is allowed to continue to start. When Mike Stokes misses a shot he is taken out of the game immediately. John Murphy very rarely runs the offensive pattern and he shoots the ball at will. This is overlooked and encouraged by Coach Leaman, however, when Greg Duarte takes a shot out of Coach Leaman's pattern he is taken out of the game.

In a game last year Mike Stokes who was rated as the best guard in the Philadelphia high school system shot a phenomenal 10 for 12 from the field scoring 20 points all in the second half. Mike saw no playing time in the next seven games. In another game Greg Duarte went 6 for 6 from the field and was taken out of the game with over thirteen minutes left to play. Could it be that Coach Leaman knows the capabilities of his black ballplayers and is unjustly denying them playing time at the expense of his white ballplayers? Certainly both Mike Stokes and Greg Duarte have shown through their dedication and play that they should be in the starting line up.

Under Jack Leaman's system which is at least outdated, UMass has not won any big games in the past few years. Last year they lost all of their big games to Providence, B.C., UConn, and Jacksonville in the Garden. Neither Duarte nor Stokes played in any of these games. Both of these talented young men plus the UMass student population is being shortchanged. Greg and Mike have suffered the psychological effects of sitting on the bench for a team that they both have a valuable contribution to make.

This article is not an attempt to cause dissention on the UMass basketball team but rather to make the campus community aware of these racist actions and hopefully they can begin to encourage Coach Leaman and company to become more just, humane and professional in his handling of the Black athlete at UMass...

The argument here is not against recruitment because we all know that Asst. Coach Wilson has done an outstanding job even though he had very little to attract the athletes to this school except for the fact that a couple of Black players made the pros with Julius Erving leaving in his junior year. What is being questioned is potentially powerful resources that Coach Leaman has riding the bench. Go to a varsity practice or drill and you will see what I am talking about. As a stauch basketball supporter and follower I call upon Coach Leaman to come forward and prove himself.

Labels for Less Sportswear
for Women and Juniors
25% to 50% off reg. price
hours 10-6
Fri. til 9
Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Immediate availability at Puffton Village
549-0145 UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT
PUFFTON VILLAGE
FREE CABLE TV in all units

Plan Your Holiday Parties Early at
The Rusty Scupper
Rte. 9, 529 Belchertown Rd.
Our wood shed room is available for banquets, special occasions.
Contact
E. J. CALLAHAN or KEN HAWKINS
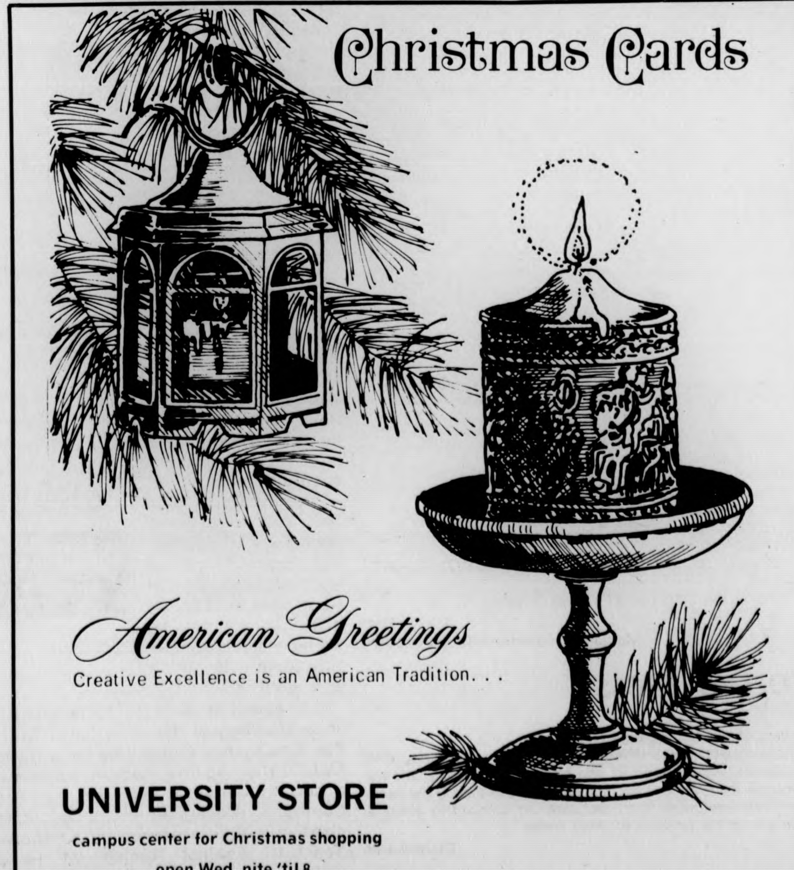
256-8551



Christmas Cards
American Greetings
Creative Excellence is an American Tradition. . .
UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center for Christmas shopping
open Wed. nite 'til 8

Super Pizzeria
Specializing in — Pizzas
(large and small)
Spaghetti
Grinders
(the meatiest roast beef grinders in the area)
Free Delivery — now in Sunderland also!
Open 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
17 Montague Rd.
N. Amherst
549-0626
Next to the N. Amherst Post Office

Letters to the editor

U.S. should feed its own first

To the Editor:

This is in reference to the numerous editorials and articles appearing in the COLLEGIAN supporting the idea that it is America's responsibility and moral obligation to feed the rest of the world. These articles generally badger the student into feeling guilty for not donating to their cause. As a student who didn't put a penny into the campaign to feed the world, I would like to say I don't feel the least bit guilty.

I think feeding those that are unable to feed themselves is an excellent idea, b[illegible] have set our priorities in the wrong order. My understan[illegible] that the money that has been collected recently on [illegible] is going overseas to feed the victims of famine. Wh[illegible] the hungry children in our country? What about the Ind[illegible] reservations in New Mexico? What about the kid with the [illegible] in the streets of Harlem? Their hunger is just as real and [illegible] [illegible]ly. If you don't think there are people dying of hunger [illegible] today, just ask a coroner in any large city or in Appa[illegible]

The victims of hunger that are dying in Africa or Asia are merely following through with a pattern that has been with them for ages. Their ancestors lived and died following the same pattern. In most cases this is all these people have ever known. They're happy in their ignorance of better things. It's when we go into these areas and feed them that they realize there might be a better life. Suddenly they are unhappy and will not be satisfied. That's what starts bloodshed.

In contrast, the hungry in America are surrounded by affluence. They are constantly tantalized by the very same things they so much desire. Frustration breeds anger. The key to solving our nation's racial and social problems is to give the poor Americans what they so need to survive: food, clothes and shelter.

Surely this cannot be as Herculean a task as feeding the rest of the world.

Thank you for allowing me to express my opinion.

Dennis M. Wagner

Science and law symposium to be held

To the Editor:

There is clearly a need to awaken ourselves to the "biological revolution" whose progress is not too far from hitting home.

The miraculous biomedical innovations, such as the organ transplants, mind and mood changing drugs, and the "mercy killings" that you grew up to on a diet of Ben Casey and Dr. Kildare are here to stay. These advances, along with countless others are setting-off a flurry of interest and speculation about where biomedical science and technology are taking us.

The adverse affects of drugs like thalidomide promoted public demand for more thorough investigation and control over the products of our new scientific knowledge. The disclosure of severely deformed infants being "allowed" to die in a New Haven hospital and the arrest of a chief medical resident from Boston City Hospital for obliging a mother's request for an abortion have provoked legal and moral concern for instituting some mechanism of social control. The issues of totalitarian, genetic and behavioral, manipulation reminiscent of Huxley's Brave New World or Orwell's 1984,(where techniques will become available allowing people to manipulate others for purposes they consider 'important') are moral questions that challenge the human imperatives of life, health and death.

The biological revolution is a radical development in man's control over himself. The rate of this scientific change and its pervasive effects have elicited a heightened awareness for the need to anticipate the social problems which will arise. The capability of abusing and misusing man's knowledge is never more evident than in the areas of biomedical research. Because of this I believe that we should be more informed about the "biological revolution" so that we do not do to our bodies and minds what we have already done to our environment as a result of scientific technology.

A Symposium of Law, Science and Ethics, as part of the January Law Conference, will be held during the January intersession to discuss these topics. The Symposium, to be held January 21st and 22nd at the University, will allow students and faculty to share their views on such contemporary areas as genetic engineering and counseling; behavior control and modification; population policies; abortion; sterilization; human experimentation; behavior, I.Q. and race. Panels and group discussions led by faculty from many departments will be offered.

One credit is available to all students attending for both days. Registration will be at the Legal Studies Office, 112 Hampshire House, December 10 and 11.

Any students or faculty interested in additional information should call me, Skip Singer at 5-2000 or Prof. John Bonsignore at 5-3536.

Skip Singer

Don't eat at Henri's

To the Editor:

This letter is written and sent to several organizations and individuals to register our complaints against our former employers: Henry Parris (former owner), Jim Pieri (present owner) and Norman Brown (manager) of Henri's Steak House Inc., Amherst, Massachusetts.

We, the undersigned, do hereby condemn the firing practices of this enterprise for being unjust to its employees. This injustice is exemplified by emphasis on individual appearance and personality rather than job performance as cause for employee dismissal. In addition, such firing is frequently executed on the spot with no prior warning or discussion with the employee. This on the spot dismissal is never accompanied by back wages and the employee is never reimbursed for an additional four hours work if he or she has come prepared to work only to be told of his or her dismissal.

We do acknowledge the lack of legal basis for our complaints but in the interests of better business and better working relationships between management and labor we felt our grievances should at least be known. Unlike a great segment of the American labor force, most restaurant workers are without organized representation and legal protection. Therefore, it is crucial that labor protest unfair management practices when they occur and if such practices persist should then initiate union activity.

If restaurant employers would rather not be faced with unionization of their businesses and would like loyalty and cooperation on the part of their workers then their relationship to their employees should strive for honest communication and equitable treatment. Management such as that practiced by Messrs. Parris, Pieri and Brown is in complete opposition to this doctrine.

In the interest of fair business policies and better working conditions for all we do call for the abolishment and condemnation of practices like those exhibited by Henri's Steak House Inc. It is management, such as this, which most effectively undermines the integrity of American business.

Therefore we hope that members of the community, sympathetic to this issue, will refrain from patronizing or working for this establishment. Join us in our protest of unfair business practice.

Janet Bernstein
Donna L. Fox
Venessa Maria Lewis et al 7 Signatures

Mackimmie intersession program corrections

To the Editor:

This article is in response to several previous notices in the Collegian which have been in error.

Pre-registration for MacKimmie Humanity House intersession program will be today from 12 noon until 10:00 p.m. Students wishing to take part in the program must enroll at this time. A five dollar course fee will be charged. The program will run from 1-13-75 through 1-26-75 in MacKimmie Humanity House.

Any questions you have can be answered during the pre-registration period. Come to the main lounge of MacKimmie House in Southwest to enroll or further inform yourself about the program today from 12 noon until 10 p.m. The following is a list of proposed courses for the intersession program:

BLACK WOMEN IN PRISON
THE DYNAMICS OF WHITE RACISM
THE POLITICS OF BEING A WOMAN
SURVEY OF MINORITY RIGHTS IN THE LEGAL SYSTEM MASCULINITY--DEBUNKING THE MYTH
APARTHEID--SOUTH AFRICA
THE IMAGE OF BLACK WOMEN IN CONTEMPORARY THEATRE
THE STUDY OF CAPITALIST DEVELOPMENT

Ashton Hart
Mackimmie Intersession Committee

Corrections of "distorted facts"

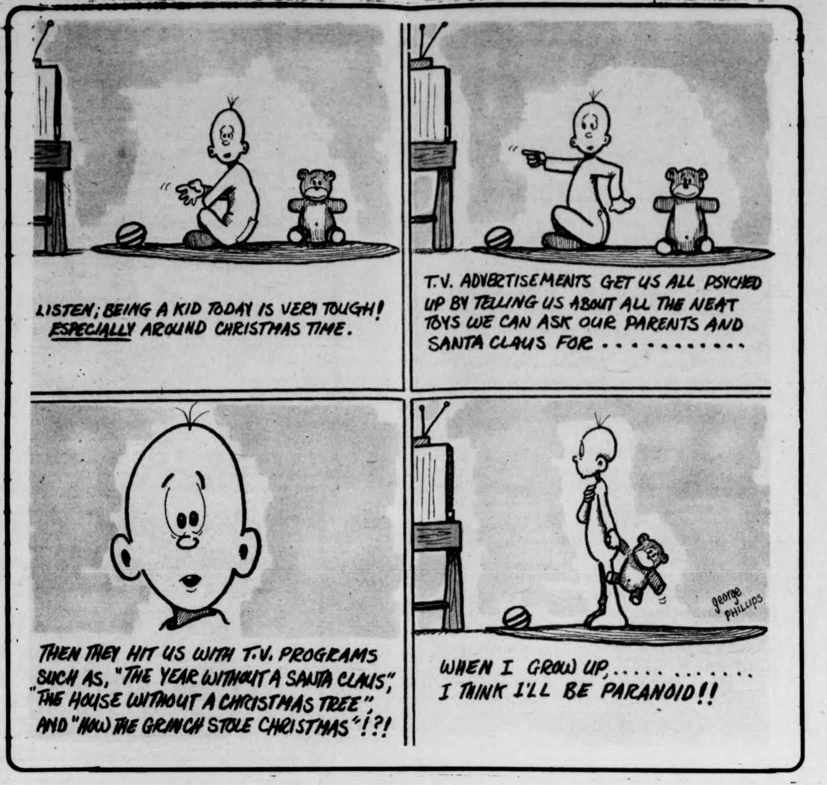
To the Editor:

I was stunned by the angry tone in David Schwartz's letter "Facts Versus Distortions." Please accept these two corrections of his facts.

(1) The Stern gang was a Jewish organization and not Arab, as his letter states. It was never subsidized by either the British or American governments. In fact, the British actually executed members of the Stern gang.

(2) The correct number of Jews who died in Europe during WW II lies somewhere between six and ten million as I said. We will never know the exact number of people who perished in the death camps, but I definitely don't feel that this astounding event is "irrelevant to the position of Jews today".

Diane Karsh



LISTEN; BEING A KID TODAY IS VERY TOUGH! ESPECIALLY AROUND CHRISTMAS TIME.
T.V. ADVERTISEMENTS GET US ALL PSYCHED UP BY TELLING US ABOUT ALL THE NEAT TOYS WE CAN ASK OUR PARENTS AND SANTA CLAUS FOR ....
THEN THEY HIT US WITH T.V. PROGRAMS SUCH AS, "THE YEAR WITHOUT A SANTA CLAUS", "THE HOUSE WITHOUT A CHRISTMAS TREE", AND "HOW THE GRINCH STOLE CHRISTMAS"!?!
WHEN I GROW UP,.............
I THINK I'LL BE PARANOID!! george PHILLIPS

Equality:

Support through action

Education should be a certain awareness. Along with that awareness there is the ideal of care for a fellow person.

Whatever happened to the moratoriums, earth days, and demonstrations? There are still worthwhile causes, perhaps more understated by calm. We remain in the "ivory tower," comfortable.

An idea that warrants our attention as people seeking change is that of quality education for all, race regardless.

On November 30, a rally in support of integrated schooling was held on the Boston Common. Among the 5,000 people attending the rally was Mrs. Coretta King. In a speech to the crowd, she stated, "As soon as the first stones were thrown at buses of black children, it was no longer a peaceful protest against busing. The issue is racism, not busing."

Twenty years ago, the Supreme Court declared "separate but equal" to be unconstitutional. Yet here, now in 1974, we still live in the ignorance of prejudice. Is there any solution?

One group is striving to heighten our understanding of the situation in Boston. The Emergency Committee for a National Mobilization Against Racism is sponsoring a second demonstration on the Boston Common, December 14. The demonstration will be preceded by a nationwide Teach-In Against Racism at Harvard University on Friday, December 13.

The Committee has the support of a wide variety of people, ranging from Gary Trudeau, creator of Doonesbury, to Ron Dellums, state representative from California.

We support it. It has won the endorsement and approval of representatives from colleges all over New England.

We are seeking your endorsement. In the words of the President of the SGA at Roxbury Community College, Willie McKinney, "We must be about the mission of removing one of the standard obstacles that so often are a barrier to people of color in their pursuit of quality education. Let our voice be heard. Every citizen should be able to walk the street in peace and not in fear. We must come together, give our support to insure that every citizen be given an equal right to have access to equal opportunities and a first class education."

Someday we will be the lawmakers and enforcers of our society. We will also be raising children in the society which we make for ourselves. We owe it to our children of the tomorrow as well as today's children to not only strengthen our awarenesses, but do something about the race problems facing us.

We are on the final level of our education, but now the trip has just begun. Now there is no excuse for inaction. As Rap Brown so aptly put it, "If you're not part of the solution..."

ANSWER THE RACISTS!

FRI., DEC. 13/7 PM: COME TO THE NATIONAL TEACH-IN AGAINST RACISM

With
Thomas Atkins Julian Bond William Owens

HARVARD UNIVERSITY/Business Schl.
BURDEN HALL AUD./SOLDIERS FIELD RD., ALLSTON TEN MINUTE WALK FROM HARVARD SQ. CAMBRIDGE

SAT., DEC. 14 NATIONAL MARCH AGAINST RACISM

ASSEMBLE: NOON / The Fenway / Behind Museum of Fine Arts
MARCH to BOSTON COMMON for RALLY / 1:30 PM
DEFEND BOSTON'S BLACK STUDENTS! END RACIST ATTACKS!

Zamir Nestelbaum

Wilbur Mills exposed

"The University Distinguished Venereal Persons (DVP) program is proud to bring in, as its last speaker of the semester, the illustrious Wilbur Mills, former Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and presently Ambassador to Uganda. Ambassador Mills is also President of Uncle Wilbur's Productions which produces South American firecrackers. Mr. Mills, as you no doubt know has achieved notoriety of late for his philanthropic dealings with one of our friends from South of the Border. We will entertain questions from the floor aimed at Mr. Mills."

Q: "Mr. Mills...."

Mills: "Call me Wilbur. Call me Will. But just don't call me late for dinner."

Q: "Wilbur, we've heard so much about your escapades of late and your exhaustion and the bickering about your Chairmanship, indeed your membership...."

Mills: "Lies! Lies! Every one of them. Our taxes will go up BUY! SELL! BUILD HOUSES and then HOTELS!!"

Q: "YYess.... Well can you explain what you were up to?"

Mills: "Why er yes. I was involved in a top secret high level, national security operation in ferrin diplom'cy with Argentina. You see, my instructions from Dr. Kissinger were to entertain our guest from the Pampas and to keep her company during this delicate operation."

Q: "What operation! With a stripper?"

Mills: "Ms. Foxxe happens to be a late escort of Juan Peron!"

Q: "OH!"

Mills: "And if you buy that I got some real estate for sale in Florida!"

Q: "Mr. Mills, I see you've expanded your field to take in Uganda!"

Mills: "Yes! Yes! President Ford has appointed me to as part of his National Amnesty Program. He also muttered something about 'damn Taxes'! I take it my mission is to raise taxes in Uganda. That oughtta alleviate our national debt!"

Q: "That would be tribute! That hasn't been done since Roman times."

Mills: "Well yes, Idi Amin (President of Uganda) and I have made a deal. He'll collect taxes for us, and I'll supply him with a lifetime supply of Arkansas cornpone. It's a fair trade. I've done it in Congress for years."

Q: You'll probably have a good working relationship with Amin, then?"

Mills: "Yes, he's a lot like I am... Strong, powerful and with a taste for the good life. It's not any man who can make all of his peasants wear their underpants on the outside and change the national language to Swedish. It's remarkable what he's done. And I'm proud that President Ford has asked me to be the American representative to deal with him. We'll see eye to eye."

Q: "What about your latest venture - this South American firecracker business?"

Mills: "Yes my Uncle Wilbur's Productions. We are producing firecrackers and other exploding devices in our plant in Buenos Aires. But don't worry, they have no lead paint on them so kids can eat them if they want."

Q: That's horrible. How can you advise little children to play with Argentine Firecrackers?"

Mills: "I did! And it was quite a BOMBSHELL!! Ho! Ho! Ho! Ho! snicker snicker."

Zamir Nestelbaum is a Collegian Columnist

Fred Weiss

Enemies with the same foe

The bright orange of his hardhat mirrored the image of the sun, while the eyes of his fortieth year slumped deep in the sockets. A fleshy chin did little to detract from his massive frame. The roundish girth above his belt didn't minimize the steel of his shoulders. Al Sita was a laborer in New Jersey, and the year was 1972.

"McGovern, McGovern, he wants to give the blacks everything. He's gonna stop the war. Everybody is gonna have a thousand bucks a year, while I'm breaking my hump every day. McGovern, you can take your McGovern and stick.."

It was only through time that I began to better understand these men of steel. There were many workers building the United States Postal Center in Jersey City. Hundreds. They'd come everyday in their cars, from different places in Jersey. Few had ever been to college, and yet they knew the kind of things that you don't learn out of text books. The simple act of trying to balance their budget was much more important than any Koynsian economy.

The alienated middle class, these men had become prime candidates for Nixon's silent majority. Working with them over three summer vacations, the questions would shoot forth: "Freddy, why do they burn down the schools? Just answer me that one question. Why do they burn down the schools?" The question was said earnestly, by men who couldn't understand what they perceived to be purely destructive acts. "If someone doesn't want to go to school, they should leave. But how does burning down the school end the war?"

I never could understand how these men became so conservative. Basic Political Science 101 would show that people who are getting oppressed should unite to oust the oppressors. Weren't these lower-middle class workers resentful over the political inequality in this country? "I don't like Nixon" Al would answer, "But let me tell you this, he's getting us out of Vietnam and he's not taking any crap from you kids."

Like millions of other Americans, Al was playing a numbers game. Trying to stretch a salary that doesn't grow as fast as inflation. Al lives in suburbia, made the big exodus from the smog of Jersey City to "give my kids a better life". To get to the job he drove sixty miles a day.

Al did vote for Nixon, as did most Americans. Nixon won, America lost. As the Watergate scandal was about to break full force, I came back to work for a few weeks and I needled Al Sita. "You sure picked yourself a winner Al baby!" I said once during lunch. "They all do it", was Al's response, buying the Nixon defense much the same way that he bought the Agnew indictment of the media a year earlier. "The only politicians who aren't crooks, are the one's who ain't been caught!" He emphasized as if he started to do an Archie Bunker imitation.

Yet as the days went on, Al's sense of betrayal came to the surface. He'd laugh at the Watergate headlines in the Daily News, but sometimes he'd pull me aside and say, "You know Freddy, we hated Nixon all along. Why can't the Democrats give us a candidate we can respect, not like that McGovern?"

Confused, there were no answers. For the same reason that I couldn't make him understand the frustrations that made possible certain irrationalities that came out of the anti-war movement, I couldn't fully explain why we are on different sides of the fence.

However, after three years of working with Al, and other construction workers, I had a certain real respect for them that was lacking in my view of many of the second guess, all rhetorical sages of the new left. The political consciousness of these men would be an important issue in determining the future course of this country. Despite tough talk and crude jokes, most of these guys had a lot of heart. They also shared more common decency towards each other than you'll find in the back rooms of many of the "progressive" movements.

They have no time to deal in theory; their lives depend on a constant adjustment to reality. Now that both the students and the hard hats realized that Nixon was no good, maybe, just maybe they could find the room to see something good in each other. Perhaps they could work out a mutual dialogue of understanding.

It won't happen if the new left keeps talking down at the workers as if only the new left has the key to class consciousness. And it won't happen if an elite group feels that their cause is so holy that they try to co-opt any co-operation unless they can have complete submission to what they consider "proper ideology".

As the unemployment lines get longer, and we move on towards 1976, the potential for such a productive dialogue increases. After that will come the hard but necessary political coalitions that provide perhaps the only opportunity to unite this country once again.

There was a picture in the paper of George McGovern speaking to the Democratic Min-Convention in Kansas City the other day. Al probably picked up a copy of the paper and saw the grim faced McGovern urge Democrats on to progressive politics. Somehow it is doubtful that Al was cursing or laughing this time. It is even possible that Al read about McGovern's speech while standing on the unemployment lines.

Fred Weiss is a Collegian Columnist

Editorial meeting tonight

There will be a meeting tonight at 7:00 in the Colonial Lounge for all those interested in working on next semester's editorial pages. We are looking for cartoonists, writers and layout people. Come and meet the editors, have a cup of coffee.

Alternatives

SOP intersession

The Student Organizing Project is offering an Intersession Program for academic credit, with grants of up to $125 to participants. SOP Research Coordinator Nesta King stated, "We can accept up to thirty students, and we are providing the grants for students who could not otherwise involve themselves in our program."

Students involved in the program will work on a variety of projects and research topics. These include working for improved housing with the SOP Housing Research Group, and for improved financial aid for students through the Financial Aid Task Force. Some participants will be involved in creating and putting together a Whole University Catalog, which will list resources and alternative learning experiences available at UMass. Others will participate lobbying effort around issues affecting students' interests. Other topics will include the problems of student workers, women students, and Third World students on campus.

An integral part of the Intersession Program will be learning organizing skills relating to communications, research, and the legal system. The focus of the program will be the experience of working with a community of people on the common goal of developing the foundation for a student union here at UMass.

The program will run from January 6 to January 24, without cost. Free housing is provided. Applications can be obtained at the Student Organizing Project office (428A Student Union Building), the Campus Center Information Desk, CASIAC, the Everywoman's Center, the Southwest Women's Center, New Africa House, the Center for Racial Understanding, and Student Volunteer Services. Applications will be accepted at the Student Organizing Project offices until 5 p.m., Friday, December 13th.

Upward bound

Upward Bound is a pre-college program designed to generate the skills and motivation necessary for success in education beyond high school among high school students from low-income backgrounds who have inadequate secondary school preparation.

Projects must make arrangements to include a curriculum designed to develop creative thinking, effective expression and positive attitudes towards learning needed for post-secondary educational success.

Almost all Upward Bound students are residents on college, university, and secondary school campuses for 6 to 8 weeks in the summer. During the academic year the Upward Bound Caseworkers continue to meet the student's needs providing counseling, tutorial sessions during the week, and periodic cultural enrichment programs.

Presently the program is in need of academic tutors. If you have skills in Math, English, Biology, History, Spanish, etc. and would like to volunteer some of your time to Upward Bound students please contact our office at 205 New Africa House on the UMass campus.

The office telephone number is 545-0250. Tutoring sessions can be arranged to be offered on or off campus. The Upward Bound Program encourages bi-lingual, bi-cultural students frrm the Hispanic community to come to aid our Spanish-speaking students. Upward Bound needs your assistance and participation.

notes & quotes

Volunteering

Are you having trouble finding classes that sound interesting for next semester? Or have you been dissatisfied with your classes lately? Perhaps helping out at an agency where you are really needed and are providing services for some one else while gaining some practical knowledge and skills would be a better type of learning for you.

The following agencies need and want Outreach interns for next semester. The Springfield Welfare Office needs people to do social work. The Easthampton Community Center needs people to organize activities, set up a recreation program, and set up arts and crafts programs. The Youth Resource Bureau needs people to do counseling with high school aged people.

Belchertown State School needs people to work in sensori-motor, Physical therapy, communication disorders, and many other activities. Family Planning Council needs women to aid in staffing and handling some phone counseling. A group home for the mentally retarded needs people to work in outdoor activities, arts and crafts.

The HCAC preschool program needs interns. CSIA in Springfield needs people to work in placing childrin in foster homes, especiaaly Spanish-speaking people. The Western Mass Student Service Center needs someone interested in educational change.

Northampton Nursing Home needs someone to do reality therapy with elderly people. Everywoman's Center needs someone to work on writing and publications. The Amherst Common School needs people to work with children.

For more information on these and other internships, pllase call Outreach at 5-2021 or 2024 and ask for Kathy or Wanda. We can only take a limited number of people so come soon.

Lectures

Biochemistry

Dr. Luther Williams of the Department of Biological Sciences at Purdue University will speak on Repression Control Elements for Expression of the Isoleucine, Valine, and Leucine Operons and the Structural Genes for the Branched-Chain AminoAcyl-tRNA Synthetases at 4:00 p.m., today in Room 203, Graduate Research Center Tower.

Coffee will be served.

Dr. Georg Stoffler of Berlin will speak on the Localization of Proteins on the Surface of the Ribosome of Escherichia coli by Immunoelectronmicroscopy at 11:15 a.m., today in Room 201, Morrill IV.

JFK assassination

A new analysis of the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy will be presented at the December meeting of the Hampshire County Democratic Association tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Keynote speaker for the event will be David R. Joyce, a history student at UMass who has just completed a major research project examining the JFK assassination.

The meeting, to be held at the World War II Vets Club on Conz Street, Northampton, will be presided over by Mrs. Jay Judge of Southampton, chairwoman of the Democratic association.

The public is invited.

Music

Michael Cooney at Hampshire

Hampshire College will host a folk music concert Thursday featuring Michael Cooney. Proceeds from the concert will support the Five College Folk Festival each spring.

Michael Cooney has been on the national folk music scene for many years. He is an accomplished musician who plays guitar, banjo, concertina, and jews harp with talent and expertise. He often sings the songs of Leadbelly and Malvina Reynolds, as well as Irish ballads and drinking songs.

The concert will be held in the Hampshire College Dining Commons, at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50.

Local news

Northamp mayor considered by Dukakis

An aide to Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis confirmed by phone yesterday that Northampton mayor Sean M. Dunphy is being considered for a cabinet post in the new administration, probably Secretary of Communities and Development.

David Sugarman, Dukakis' chief press spokesman told The Collegian:

"He's been recommended by a number of people in groups," Sugarman said, adding that he was not sure if Dunphy has any "inside track" with Dukakis.

Sugarman said Dunphy would be a good candidate because "he's had experience in local-state relations."

A past president of the state League of Cities and Towns, Dunphy is a three-term mayor of Northampton. The secretariat for which he has most often been recommended is involved with funding for urban renewal and industrial development in Northampton.

Sugarman said he did not know when Dukakis would announce the appointment to Communities and Development.

Phonothons raise over $35,000

Two UMass Phonothons have raised over $35,000 in pledges from alumni.

The Phonothons were conducted in Springfield and Amherst during the Fall. A total of 230 volunteer callers reached more than 3,700 UMass graduates in the two areas.

In Springfield 52 per cent of those reached pledged an average of $20.01 to make up $17,530. Thirty-nine pledged a total of $4000 qualifying them for membership in the Second Century Club, an organization of select givers.

In Amherst 47 per cent of those reached agreed to give a total of $17,853 or an average pledge of $18.29. Forty Second Century Club members pledged $4,300.

The funds are contributed to alumni scholarships, special programs in academics, library acquisitions, fine arts, athletics and the marching band, campus access signs and the Institute For Man and Environment.

Phonothon chairmen were Edmund J. Struzziero, class of 1950, for Springfield, and Dr. William J. Mellen, class of 1949, for Amherst.

Forest research society first UMass chapter formed

Students majoring in wood science and technology at UMass have formed the first UMass student chapter of the Forest Products Research society, with a charter granted by F.P.R.S. International Headquarters at Madison, Wis.

Officers of the chapter are Michael Hill of Ashfield, chairman; Paul Whitehouse of Tewksbury, vice-chairman; Allan Bessette of Chicopee, secretary; Roger Sherman of Wakefield, treasurer; and Bradford Armstrong of Winchester, activities chairman. Dr. R. Bruce Hoadley, associate professor of wood science and technology is faculty advisor for the 34 students and six faculty and staff enrolled as charter members.

The Forest Products Research Society is an international organization with membership embracing education, government, and industry sectors of the forest products industry. The new student chapter will serve as the primary student organization representing wood technology majors in the Department of Forestry and Wildlife Management at UMass.

N. England Center Series

The New England Center presents a workshop in Transpersonal Psychology, Spiritual Psychotherapy and Meditation next weekend led by Joseph Dellagrotte PH.D. and Ronald Leifer M.D.

Participants will experience techniques of Zen, Psychic Concentration, and Meditation and will explore the subconscious mind through music, dreams, hypnosis and other altered states of consciousness. For more information write The New England Center, Box 575, Amherst, Mass., 01002. or call 549-0886.

Spirit Haus
Special MILLER cans $5.89
360 College St., Rte. 9
OPEN Til 11 Daily

TONIGHT
SPRINGFIELD CIVIC CENTER
BACHMAN-TURNER OVERDRIVE
SPECIAL GUEST STARS
BOB SEGER
$6.00 adv. — $6.50 at the door. open 7 — show 8
The Box Office Opens at Noon, And Will Remain Open thru Showtime.
BEAVER PRODUCTIONS, INC., 8200 Hampson St., New Orleans, La. (504) 524-1696

You Be The Judge
— RENT NOW AND SAVE! —
Planning to make a move for the second semester? Come see us first. We offer all the advantages of off-campus living, plus a $25.00 reduction on your first month's rent.
— court-appointed management with professional, on-site personnel.
— short term leases available for the second semester.
— with only one month's security deposit if you qualify.
— security deposit guaranteed in writing and held in an interest-bearing escrow account.
— this offer is good for applications made from Nov. 18th through Dec. 20th, 1974.
— DEALING STRAIGHT — A PLEASANT CHANGE! —
Summer Rentals Available at Reduced Rates.
Brittany Manor
Brittany Manor Drive, Amherst
Tel. 256-8534
Mount Sugarloaf
Rt. 47, Sunderland
Tel. 665-3856

Local liquor stores boycotting Gallo feel Teamster's pressure

By STEVE ROWLEY
PNS

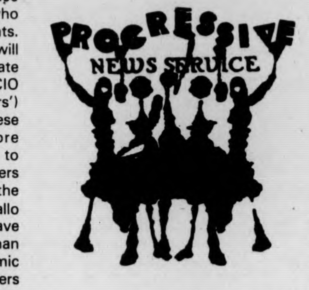
On November 5, Local 404 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters sent the accompanying letter to those liquor stores in Western Massachusetts which are honoring the United Farmworkers boycott of Gallo Wines.

The letter attempts to threaten the store owners into returning Gallo Wines to their shelves. Carmin Napoli, President of the local, said there are over 3500 Teamster members in the area who patronize business establishments.

It is hoped, he says, "That it will not be necessary to communicate with them as well as other AFL-CIO members as to (the store owners') specific actions regarding these products... should (the store owner) decide to continue to discriminate against the Teamsters Union due to pressures from the UFW AFL-CIO by keeping Gallo wines off the shelves, (he) will leave no other recourse other than exercising all legal and economic action available to the Teamsters Union."

This letter, according to one store owner in Amherst was accompanied by verbal threats of having his liquor license revoked and of a boycott of beer deliveries to his store. Another liquor store owner, upon questioning the local's lawyer was told a meeting could be arranged between Gallo representative Roger Liss and local UFW supporters.

Liss is involved in public relations work for the winery. The attorney's aim was to have such a debate convince the store owner of his injustice to the Teamsters Union. Nevertheless, Liss was unable to make the proposed meeting. A store supervisor for another liquor mart in Chicopee said that his copy of the letter was also accompanied by verbal threats. These included threats of violence against his workers, a Teamster boycott of his store and a ban on deliveries of all liquor to his store.



In hopes of convincing the store owners of their injustice to the workers now employed by Gallo, Mr. Napoli's letter stated the following:

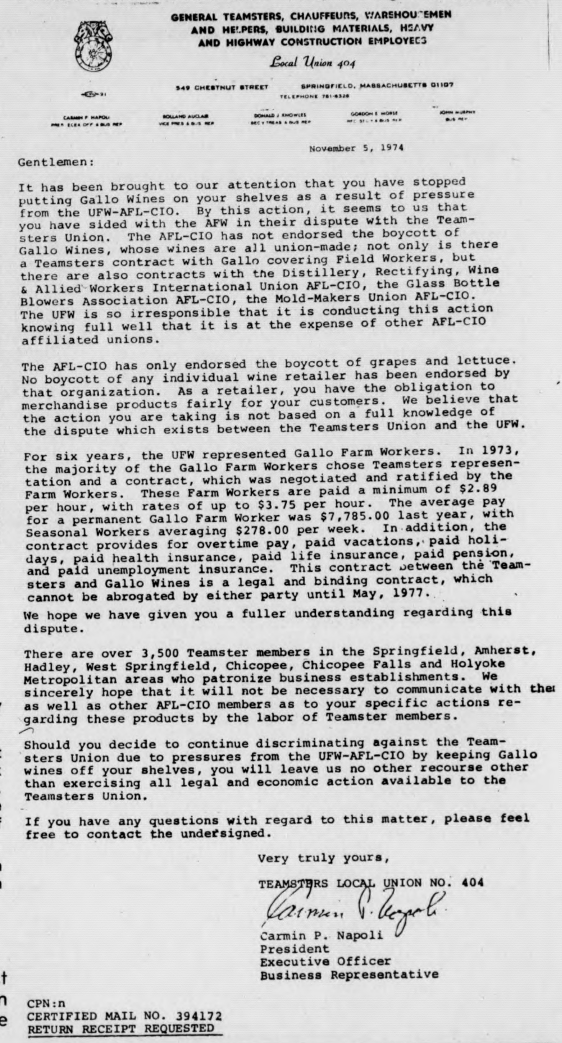
"For six years the UFW represented Gallo Farm Workers. In 1973 the majority of the Gallo farm workers chose Teamster representation and a contract was negotiated and ratified by the Farmworkers. These Farmworkers are paid a minimum of $2.89 per hour, with rates of up to $3.75 per hour. The average pay for a permanent Gallo Farmworker was $7,785.00 last year, with seasonal workers averaging $278.00 per week. In addition, the contract provides for overtime pay, paid vacations, paid holidays, paid health insurance, paid life insurance, paid pension, and paid unemployment insurance.."

While the letter stated that the contract was "negotiated and ratified by the farmworkers" a statement by Chris Hartmire of the Farmworker Ministry differs. He explained that "Gallo farmworkers were never given the opportunity to ratify the Teamster contract. They were striking for renewal of their UFW contract when Gallo made its deal with the Teamsters."

Hartmire argues as well that "contacts inside Gallo... say that the winery's actual wages are $2.48 an hour." He says that although Gallo contends its permanent workers averaged last year $7,785 annually, seasonal workers $278 per week, the UFW challenges Gallo show how these averages were computed. A Gallo check stub now in the possession of the UFW show that a Gallo field worker took home only $1.10 for 27 hours of work."

The minister said under UFW contract those benefits which the Teamsters offer are also available. He stated that in addition to these the UFW offers pesticide controls, job security protection against labor contractors, toilets and drinking water in the fields, and worker participation in contract negotiations and grievance procedures.

All store owners contacted said they would take a wait-and-see policy with regard to the threats.



GENERAL TEAMSTERS, CHAUFFEURS, WAREHOUSEMEN
AND HELPERS, BUILDING MATERIALS, HEAVY AND HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION EMPLOYEES
Local Union 404
549 CHESTNUT STREET SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS 01107
TELEPHONE 781-6326
CARMIN P. NAPOLI PRES. EXEC OFF & BUS REP
ROLLAND AUCLAIR VICE PRES & BUS REP
DONALD J. KNOWLES SEC'Y TREAS & BUS REP
GORDON E. MORSE REC SEC'Y & BUS REP
JOHN MURPHY BUS REP

November 5, 1974

Gentlemen:

It has been brought to our attention that you have stopped putting Gallo Wines on your shelves as a result of pressure from the UFW-AFL-CIO. By this action, it seems to us that you have sided with the AFW in their dispute with the Teamsters Union. The AFL-CIO has not endorsed the boycott of Gallo Wines, whose wines are all union-made; not only is there a Teamsters contract with Gallo covering Field Workers, but there are also contracts with the Distillery, Rectifying, Wine & Allied Workers International Union AFL-CIO, the Glass Bottle Blowers Association AFL-CIO, the Mold-Makers Union AFL-CIO. The UFW is so irresponsible that it is conducting this action knowing full well that it is at the expense of other AFL-CIO affiliated unions.

The AFL-CIO has only endorsed the boycott of grapes and lettuce. No boycott of any individual wine retailer has been endorsed by that organization. As a retailer, you have the obligation to merchandise products fairly for your customers. We believe that the action you are taking is not based on a full knowledge of the dispute which exists between the Teamsters Union and the UFW.

For six years, the UFW represented Gallo Farm Workers. In 1973, the majority of the Gallo Farm Workers chose Teamsters representation and a contract, which was negotiated and ratified by the Farm Workers. These Farm Workers are paid a minimum of $2.89 per hour, with rates of up to $3.75 per hour. The average pay for a permanent Gallo Farm Worker was $7,785.00 last year, with Seasonal Workers averaging $278.00 per week. In addition, the contract provides for overtime pay, paid vacations, paid holidays, paid health insurance, paid life insurance, paid pension, and paid unemployment insurance. This contract between the Teamsters and Gallo Wines is a legal and binding contract, which cannot be abrogated by either party until May, 1977.

We hope we have given you a fuller understanding regarding this dispute.

There are over 3,500 Teamster members in the Springfield, Amherst, Hadley, West Springfield, Chicopee, Chicopee Falls and Holyoke Metropolitan areas who patronize business establishments. We sincerely hope that it will not be necessary to communicate with them as well as other AFL-CIO members as to your specific actions regarding these products by the labor of Teamster members.

Should you decide to continue discriminating against the Teamsters Union due to pressures from the UFW-AFL-CIO by keeping Gallo wines off your shelves, you will leave us no other recourse other than exercising all legal and economic action available to the Teamsters Union.

If you have any questions with regard to this matter, please feel free to contact the undersigned.

Very truly yours,

TEAMSTERS LOCAL UNION NO. 404

Carmin P. Napoli

Carmin P. Napoli
President
Executive Officer
Business Representative

CPN:n
CERTIFIED MAIL NO. 394172
RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Anti-Zionist Israeli point of view presented

The events occurring in the Middle East today are of vital importance to everyone. Unfortunately we in the United States only get to hear one side of the story. That is the point of view of the Israeli government and its supporters in this country.

Not only do we hear very little of the viewpoints of the Palestinian Arabs, but we don't hear anything about the opposition movements within Israel. There are Israelis who do support the rights of Palestinian self-determination and national liberation.

There are Israelis who oppose the racist European centered culture and policy of the Israeli government. These people, Jew and Arab alike who are truly struggling for a just peace in the Middle East.

Today in room 805 Campus Center Shulamit Yarkoni, a Sephardic Israeli Jewish student, will speak on "Israel Today and the Struggle for a Just Peace". She has been active in the progressive and peace movements within Israel and will present the point of view of anti-Zionist Israelis.

This is sponsored by the UMass Committee on Poverty and Amherst Young Workers Liberation League.

WMUA

Here is what will be on WMUA, 91.1 FM, today:

The disc jockeys will be Stu MacDonald in the morning, Rocket Rick until 2, Fran Dance from 2-6, Cliff Brennan until 10, followed by Uujamadrum, with Barry Williams as host until 2 in the morning. John Haber goes through the night.

8:30 a.m., High Tides, Today the moon is in Scorpio, but tomorrow Mars enters Sagittarius. Jeff Jawer will explain what it all means.

9:00-9:30 p.m., National Lampoon

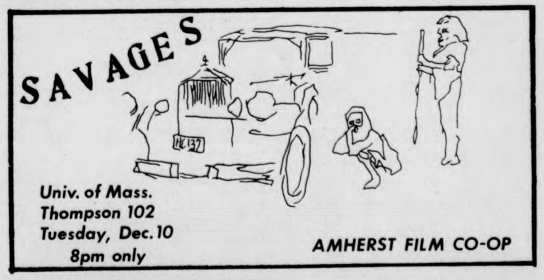
WMUA News, with up to the minute reporting of local, national and international events is broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m. and at 2, 6 & 10 p.m.

Amherst Music Group

The Christmas meeting of the Amherst Music Group will take place on Monday evening, December 16th, at 8:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Linda Greenebaum, 203 Rolling Ridge Road. The program includes both instrumentalists and vocalists. Stephen James, pianist, will perform the first movement of Schumann's Faschingsschwank aus Wien and Chopin's Waltz in F Minor. Elsa Brown, violinist, Jonathan Kramer, cellist, and Paul Larson, pianist, will perform movements 1, 4, 5 and 6 of Dvorak's Dumky Trio. Tom Keedy will sing 19th century German lieder by Brahms, Schubert and Schumann; Marion Brown will accompany him. George Ayoub and friends will perform Christmas vocal music and lead the group in singing some favorite Christmas carols. There will be refreshments at the end of the meeting.

The Amherst Music Group meets once a month and is open to all interested musicians and listeners. Musicians of every level of expertise are welcome to participate. We need all types of performers (they need not be group members). If you are interested in either joining or performing, please contact Peggy Davidson at 549-6751.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Peggy Davidson



SAVAGES
Univ. of Mass.
Thompson 102
Tuesday, Dec. 10
8pm only
AMHERST FILM CO-OP

AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST. 253-5426
THE KING LOVES THE PEOPLE!
Come early, stay late, enjoy
THE KING AND HIS LOYAL SHORT SUBJECTS
BAMBI MEETS GODZILLA THANK YOU MASK MAN (Lenny Bruce)
KING OF HEARTS
This wacky, crazy, beautiful film has awakened, become a giant and turned the movie world upside down
There is one reason for this phenomenon: people love the King
EVES: KING OF HEARTS — 7:00 & 9:00
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES • ALL SEATS $1.00

Film Times
ACADEMY OF MUSIC —
The Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
AMHERST CINEMA —
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
CAMPUS CINEMA —
Gambler - 7:00 - 9:00
Mr. Teas; Girls of West - 7:00
King of Hearts - 7:00 - 9:00
MT. FARMS 4 —
Gone With The Wind - 7:00
Groove Tube - 5:30 - 7:15 - 8:45
Juggernaut - 6:15 - 8:45
Trial of Billy Jack - 5:30 - 8:30
SHOWCASE —
Airport 1975 - 7:30 - 9:30
Klansmen - 7:30 - 9:40
Longest Yard - 7:30 - 9:45
Lt. Robin Crusoe - 5:20 - 7:30 - 9:40
Trial of Billy Jack - 8:00
Taking of Pelham - 7:30 - 9:30

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR 584 9153
In new screen splendor... The most magnificent picture ever!
"GONE WITH THE WIND"
CLARK GABLE VIVIEN LEIGH
1 G Limited Engagement! Gone With The Wind — 7:00 No Twi-Lite Hr.
"Consistently hilarious and brilliant."
THE GROOVE TUBE
2 R The Groove Tube — 5:30-7:15-8:45 Twi-Lite Hr. — 5:00-5:30 Only — $1.25
RICHARD HARRIS · OMAR SHARIF
"JUGGERNAUT"
THE GREATEST SEA ADVENTURE IN HISTORY HAS JUST BEGUN!
PG Now In It's Final Week
3 Juggernaut — 6:15-8:45 Twi-Lite Hr. — 5:45-6:15 Only — $1.25
The Trial of Billy Jack
DELORES TAYLOR TOM LAUGHLIN
4 PG Trial of Billy Jack — 5:30-8:30 No Twi-Lite Hr.
Attention — Times Change Daily

notices

Campus group meetings, non-profit events. To list notice of your group or event fill out free form at The Collegian office, 2nd floor, UMass Student Union. Mail notices to "news editor."

ADVENT WORSHIP

The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated according to the rite of the Episcopal Church on Wed., 12-11 at 12:55 p.m. in the Chapel of the Newman Center.

ADVENT WORSHIP

The Lord Jesus is coming! Get ready for Christmas at the Ark. Informal communion, supper and fellowship at 758 N. Pleasant St. Sun. 12-15 at 5:00 p.m.

ARTISTS:

A Spectrum is made of many colors. So far yours is missing. Bring us your stuff. Rm. 407 on the Student Union Balcony.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

If you've been devout all semester, come and enjoy yourself in Hasbrouck 22 starting at 7:30. Promises to be the most prosperous meeting of the semester.

FREE MOVIES

The Hellenic American Association is presenting on Thurs. 12-12 at 7 p.m. in rm. 113 CC two free films "Rendevous in Greece" and "Hill of the Gods". Have a

turn to page 13

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay

To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday - Friday.

The deadline is 3:45, two days before the day your ad is to appear.

The rates are:

Daily — $.30 per line*
Weekly — $.25 per line*
Monthly — $.20 per line*

*Two lines on form approximate one line.

FOR SALE

Used guitars bought and sold. The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops, 549-1728.

Coats: Midi suede coat, midi dungaree coat; rabbit fur jacket and navy blue leather jacket. Call Margie 546-7649.

Skiis, Spalding 205 Siderals, regularly $170, will sell for $45. Call John 1-863-9426. Keep calling.

Stuffed animals, one-half price. $3-$11. Up to 3 ft. Seeing is believing. Keep you warm at night. Good for the erotic minded. Call 584-4731.

Waterbed — complete. Guaranteed. Queen size. $100. Call Pete 665-3084.

Live Xmas trees, choose and tag at our Tree Farm, any size, $7.77. L. Blizniak, 133 Bay Rd., Hadley. Open eves. also.

Applications being accepted: R.N. — 3 p.m.-11 p.m., 4 evs. per wk.; LPN, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 4 days per wk; Nurse aides, part and full time, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Apply in person, Amherst Nursing Home, 150 University Dr. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Two F78X14 snow tires, used 3,000 mi. Mtd. on Chevy rims. $20. each. 6-7781 eves.

Zenith color TV, 19", exclt. cond. $225. Octagonal water bed includes: frame, liner, bag, heater. $175. 253-5795.

One-half carrot perfect diamond ring plus M&F wedding bands. Never been worn. Willing to sell at wholesale price. Call Jim 546-5750.

High performance bike parts. Cotterless cranks, Derailleurs stems, hubs, pedals. Call Andrew 586-2645.

Typewriter. Just serviced. Call 549-6356.

10 speed French racing bike. Brand new. Sam Benoto Cazenave $100. 549-6620.

Snow tires 650-13, two for $30. Ski boots, Reiker buckle, 10 and one-half, $40. Call after 4:30. 253-3 24.

Skis, K2-3, 195 CM, $120. Never used. Reg. $180. 256-6424 evenings.

Zenith 19" B&W TV, ex. cond. $50. Call Jon after 5 at 253-2805. A real buy!!!

Hard shell guitar case, fits SG perfectly. $15. John 6-5424.

All types of stereo components, 8 per cent over cost. Sound and music. 247-5870 or campus center, Mon. and Wed.

Sony HP465 Amp., Garard Turn, Sony turner, all mint shape. Ask $225. Need cash. Call Steve 253-7421.

Blow dryer for hair, good condition, best offer. Call 546-4738.

65 VW Bug new: radial tires, starter muffler brakes, king pins, 50 horse, body and engine good. Call Lennie 773-8838 $550.

One pair CCM Mustangs size 7, one and a half Y.O. Good shape. $20.00 Call Ed 64626.

HEATING STOVE. Horizontal, heavy construction. Burns 24 inch wood 584-7304.

Alden ocean shell-portable oarlock riggers high and low sliding seats, spruce spoon oars, complete $375. 567-3700.

One silver necklace with diamond chip, $30, and a smoky topaz ring $50-$75. Call 546-9916. Willing to bargain.

2 6.95x14 (D78-14) Studded snow tires, good. Call 665-4202 after 6 p.m. $35.

Used hockey skates, tacks CCM six and one half, 5-2188.

Broadmoor Sol. Stat. Receiver w-8 track player. Garrard TT w-cover, pick cart., 2 speakers. Nice pres. for younger kin. 665-3670 eves.

Women's Frye boots, laceups, new. Size 7. $54. Call 256-6089.

Yamaha Rec. CR-600, 30W., 3 mos. New. Save. Ron. 247-5674.

Pair Wrangler Men's Boots, 7 and one-half D, worn only once. $25. Worth $40. 538-4160.

10 spd. men's Fuji, exc. cond. $100. 549-6887.

Records of all kinds at reasonable prices. Can usually get any LP in print within a week. The New Record Shop, 197 N. Pleasant St., Amherst. 253-5394.

Muskrat Fur Coat, red wool cape, baby carriage and stoller in one, two mobiles, infant seat, Jolly Jumper. 549-3969.

FOR SALE

100 PER CENT GOOSE DOWN QUILTS, all HAND MADE to order, best quality material, all double stitched, variety of colors. Nadine. 268-3239.

Goose Dwn. Jacket, Men's Sm. Bought new, never worn. Orig. $60, sell 4 one-half pr. or best offer. Call 546-5103.

One pair studded snow tires, almost new, 14". Exc. cond. 1 pr. 8.25-14 snows. $50 and $30. 549-0842. Keep trying.

Refrig., 3 cu. ft., hardly used. Best offer. 549-0393.

Knissi White Stars 210 c.c. Supermatic bindings skies, used only 8X. $45.00 incl. size 12 boots. Call 253-2941.

Used Hart metal skis, $20. Buckle boots, sz. 8, exc. cond. $25, poles $4. Everything for $45. Pat 545-0025 a.m. or 538-7595 after 6 p.m.

For Sale: Integral systems Amp, Ace Audio Preamp, both immaculate. 665-2369.

600 MARVEL COMIX 4 sale. $200 or best offer. 1963-70. Fine cond. Mike. 546-5253.

Gibson Les Paul Gold Top, 2 yrs. old. $325 or Best offer. Call 549-0873.

Calculator Unisonic Vx 1/x Memory $40 or Best offer. Call Denny 253-5385.

Martin 12 string D12-35. Call 584-2554 after 8 p.m.

Advent 201 cassette tape deck with a built in Dolby. New $300, sell for $175. Gary. 665-4197 eve.

Five cu. ft. fridge, $90. Call Barb. 546-9875.

Car battery, new 22FC Sears Diehard 12V. Call 549-6483.

Smith Corona typewriter, needs cleaning and new ribbon. Electric with manual return. $25. Call Bob 549-1316.

For Sale — 1 pr. Lange Competition Ski Boots, excellent condition. Used 2 seasons. Also 1 pr. Lange Spoilers. Will sell separately or together. Call Dick 545-2642. Rm. 415.

Raleigh 10 speed Campagnolo Stronglight, 23 and one-half frame, $200. Call Andrew 586-2645. Cotterless cranks, 531 tubing. Great touring bike.

Pedal steel guitar, double-neck vintage Harlin Bros. Model, w-case. Call David 546-6571 anytime. Keep trying.

Sony TC-66 portable cassette recorder, 2 mo. old, rarely used, like new, cost $70. Will sell for $50 or B.O. I need the $. Call Doug 65495.

Nikkor lenses - 35mm f2, $150, 105 mm f2.5 $125, 200mm f4.5 $150. All practically brand new. 586-3250.

Raleigh Pro. all campagnolo, including brakes. Frame 23 inch. New. $525. 586-3250.

1967 Opal Gas Saving. Carolyn 253-9305.

Ski equipment: Boots, size 8 for $10, 200cm wood skis for $5, 200cm metals, w-size 8 boots and bindings for $20. Come to Collegian and ask for Dennis in photo. If not there, leave message.

'65 Chevy Impala Wagon, reblt. trans., snows, runs like a top. $225. Call 256-8688.

'63 Fairlane, 6 cyl., good cond. Best offer. Call Steve 549-1396.

'68 Dodge. $300. Good condition. Needs some minor work. Call 323-4254 after 6 p.m.

'67 VW Bug, 33 mi.-gal., eng. 40K mi., good cond. $500. Call 5-0064. Eves. 586-0243.

'68 Catalina Conv., dk. green w-black int., am-fm, ps-pb, loaded. Studded snows. $795. or B.O. Call 6-5080 eves.

Skis. New Spaulding GS, used Dynastar · men's length. Will sacrifice. 546-8719.

English Sheepskin coat w. dark brown wool and suede finish. Sz. 40-42. Call 546-2889, 369-4001.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Two people needed for furnished house, one and one-half miles to campus. Own bedroom. Good deal. Lease expires end of 2nd semester. 256-0559.

AUTO FOR SALE

'64 Chevy II, 6 cyl., st., gd. cond. $150. 323-7507.

'64 VW Sunroof, excellent condition. Rebuilt engine, snow tires. 253-2607.

'66 VW, rebuilt engine, new brakes, tires, transmission. $450. Sally. 545-0883 days.

1971 VW Bug, runs fine, but needs body work, brake job and stuck plug. Compression OK. $500 or best offer. 545-2221, 9-4:30. Leave name or 5-3147 anytime.

'67 Austin Healey Sprite. $375. Joe. 6-6361.

1964 Econoline Van, $275. '69 Honda $275 or $500 for both. 253-7193 after 5-6.

'67 TR4A. New eng., radials, paint, batt., AM-FM. Must sell to stay in school. A steal at $1200. Call Lisa 253-3549.

'64 Dodge Station Wagon. Runs except needs new distributor. Have done work on engine. Kinda nice car. Best offer. Kelly 586-2646.

'73 Toyota Hilux Pick-up. Excellent condition. Automatic. Northfield 498-5995.

'73 Honda Civic, 30 mi-gal. Silver. 14,000 mi. Excel. cond. $1850. Call 665-3409.

Van — '71 Ford Supervan. Fixed for camping. Just like home. $2100. 665-3084.

1963 Rambler, 6 cyl. Best offer. Call 253-9659. Denis.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Must sell my 73 and one-half Honda 350 imm. Will take $750 or best offer by Dec. 24. Also have 450CL $775. 546-5086 eves.

FOR RENT

Couple needed for large rm. $100 plus util. in household with four other people. Washer, dryer downstairs. No phone. Try us at night. Located near C. Dickinson Hosp. 349 Prospect St., Northampton.

Two bedroom, carpeted, appliances, on bus route. No pets. $220 incl. utilities in Sunderland. 665-2562.

OFFICE PRIME LOCATION. Furn., util. Also basemt. area. Shop or storage. Immed. occupancy. 253-9884 ample parking.

2 bdrm Cliffside Apt. $185 mo., util. incl. $100 sec. deposit. Jan. 1 - Sep. 1. 665-3139.

Attractive furnished apt. to rent over Break Puffton Village. Price neg. Call morn. or evenings. Al Lou 549-2854.

2 rm. apt. Northfld, no dogs. Single, $100 married couple, $135. Electricity. 549-0387. Privacy.

Beat high rent · 22 mi. North · Northfield; 2 bedrm. duplex, carpeted, washer, dryer hookups. Stove refrigerator, dishwasher. Assume lease thru June 30. $160 mo. plus security dep. Call 545-0984.

Farmhouse, 5 bdrm., semi-furn., ww, mod. kit., one and one-quarter acres. $270 plus util. 617-544-6303.

Furn. apts. One, two, two and a half rms. Modern, air cond., pool, parking, TV, near shopping, utilities inc. Lease to June 1975. Amherst Motel (opp. Zayre's).

Four room apt. Two bedrooms in Amherst on S. East St. $165 per mo., no util. inc. Call 323-7893.

1 bdr. apt., E. Hamp. $120. 586-4026 eves.

Room 15' X 16' to rent. Large house with fireplace in Conway. 369-4077 or 773-8749. Maria.

Apt. for rent, one bedrm, kitchen, living rm. 2 mi. to UM. $153. Call 549-1582 after 9 p.m. Available Jan. 1.

Rm. for Jan. in Apt. Fem. Joan. 256-6621.

Room to rent for January — Call 253-9827.

Apt. for intersession. $135. 253-3777.

Looking for 3 non-smoking older quiet-livers to share No. Amherst home. Private, bedrooms w-cable TV. Share one and one-half baths, kitchen, laundry, den, living room, parking. All utilities paid. On Campus bus route. $100, $120 and $140 per mo. Call 549-1223 or write Box A, N. Amh., Mass. 01059.

Studio space to share. Large and well lighted. Located in Amh. Center. Call scott 586-3659 or Lindsay 549-6345.

Furnished country house to share on Lake Pleasant, 12 miles N. of UMass on 63. Prefer considerate, graduate students, people, pets OK. Call Steve. 586-0429. Keep tryin' and tryin'.

Looking for a nice place to live during the January break? You can have your own room in a beautiful house on Rocky Hill Rd., in Hadley. Contact Fred at 253-7692. Price negotiable.

W. Wtd. house in Amh. St. Call 256-0669.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. Cliffside. $190 per month includes utilities. Available Jan. 1 665-2829.

1 bedroom apt. at Cliffside, Sunderland. $160 per mo. with utilities. Available Jan. 1. Call 665-3243 after 8.

For intersession. Own rm. in furn. apt. on bus rt. Rent negotiable. 253-7752.

On busline, pets OK. 2 bedroom. $215.00. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Easthampton, 3 rm. apt. $110 plus util. Call 256-0584. Leave name.

Two bedroom cliffside, $180 month, util. incl. Available Jan. Call 665-2542 after 5 p.m.

Four rm. apt., Puffton Vlg. Jan. 1 Sept. 1. $174 per mo. plus scty. 549-0825. Keep trying.

Sublet 2 bdrm. apt. $174 mo. Puffton Vill. Call 549-6887. Feb. 1.

Apt. sublet over intersession. 665-2487.

Two bdrm. Townhouse, Squire Vill., Sund. on UMass bus route 2v. Jan-Feb. Call 665-3684 after 6.

ROOM WANTED

F wishes own room in apt. W-F on bus route. Call Susan — 546-5368.

Looking for room in house or apt. for Jan. 1. Prefer Sund. or bus route. Can spend $75 per mo. Have cat. Call Miles 665-4946.

Rm. in apt. or house within walking distance of UMass. Wanted for Jan. Call Edie, rm. 314. 545-0791. Leave message.

Female looking for room-roommate-apt. for 2nd semester. Call 546-8444.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Your own tiny rm. in dntn. apt. $45 plus util. no phone; drop by a.m., 6 p.m., late p.m. 513 Main Street 2fl., Near High St. · RRXX

F roommate wanted, own rm. in lovely, old, furnished hse. in Conway. 20 min. to campus. Washdry. Call Judith: 369-8361 or 369-4024.

Housemate wanted, female preferred, 25 or older. 2 mi. from UMass, rural setting. 549-2657. (4 bedroom cape)

3 bedroom house in Florence. Quasi-country setting. $70 mo. plus util. Call 584-1149.

F roommate wanted for 2 bdrm. apt. near Amherst Ctr. $100. incl. util. Call 256-8763 after 5 p.m.

F. for Brandywine. $70 mo. 549-2645.

Mature M or F roommate to share 3 bedroom Townhouse. $105 per mo. Bob. 253-7241.

Need couple — People to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Belch. Pets okay. Available Jan. 1 or Feb. 1. Call Linda 323-4004. On bus route.

Grad. 2nd senior seek M-F grad for rm. in house nr. campus. $60 plus. Quiet. 253-5275; 5-0060.

F to share 3 bdrm. apt. in house, 1 mi. from UMass. $83 a mo. Call 253-3598.

Grad looking for one or two rmates. Split $185, util. pd. On bus rt. 665-4708.

M wanted. Amherst house, own rm. near campus. Call 253-3326.

Quiet male, pref. grad or upperclass. No dope or tobacco. For own room in Riverglade at $120 per mo. Soon as possible. No lease. Call 256-8020 between 12 and 2 in afternoon.

On busline, pets ok. Own room. $107.50. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

WANTED TO RENT

Study Carrel in Library, 12-9 — 12-18. Call Doug. 253-7818 anytime. Keep trying.

Responsible couple seek 1-2 bdrm. rural hse or apt. w-in 15 mi. UMass. No pets; will assume lease. Please call 549-1332 after 6.

Amherst two bedrm apt. $185 range. 665-3025.

2 Males for Jan. Brittany Manor. 253-7848.

Need own rm. in apt on bus rt. Jan. 27 · May 30. $60-$80. Quiet F. 546-7288.

Art student needs studio or am. apt. $80 or less a mo. 665-2737; 659-3973.

ENTERTAINMENT

"Savages", an allegory on sex and greed being shown by the Amherst Film Coop in Thompson 102. 8 p.m. only. Tonite.

WANTED

X-C Bindings and boots, women's 8 and one-half. Call Rosy 584-2700. X467 or X367.

Single wanted in an apartment or home. Pref. on bus line or walking dist. for Feb. 1. Neat, quiet, need peace of mind. Sue 253-7307 after 10.

One or two twin mattresses needed. Call Sandy 546-9696 or Devorah 546-9622.

WANTED

Wanted any bands wishing to play for publicity on Dec. 6. Please contact Janet 6-5697, Bob 6-5778 or Ted 6-5694. Please leave a message.

A single lens reflex camera. Call Leon after 6:30 p.m., 773-8838. Xmas Bread

Feminist women bass, piano, guitar for R and B Band. Call Maria 739-9349 after 6.

Two large advent speakers. 546-4426.

Want to buy used 35 mm SLR for under $100. Prefer Pentax. Call Erath at 549-1269 and leave infor.

BOB STILL WANTS TO BUY YOUR AILING OR DECREPIT CAR! Any make, model, year. Unload your headache for fast $ 253-7241.

Old pedestal drawing table. Ar easel also. Call 253-9276.

Wanted Responsible person to fly with 3 small boys from Bradley Field to Salt Lake City, Dec. 14. Return Jan. 14. Will pay full fare, round trip. 549-6273.

1-1-75 4 bdrm abod. quiet responsible stdnts. Will do upkeep. Pref. on bus route. $350 max. Call 665-3224; 665-7089.

Interested musicians, new music ensemble situation — The daily problems of cellists, double bassists, tuba, euphonium, saxophonists, trombonists — Call 584-6077 between 8-9 p.m. only.

Foreign Coins — I pay high prices. Tony 549-0699.

HELP WANTED

Can you draw? Do you have a sense of humor? The editorial pages need five cartoonists to do campus humor. Call Dean Tucker 5-3500.

Person wanted to feed wonderful cat and water plants · Approx. 12-21 1-5 near campus on Bos. Route. Renumeration after 6, 549-2812.

Summer camp employment — Program director, experienced, with Jewish culture background and arts and crafts director needed. Small Jewish boys overnight camp near Cape Cod. For info. call Tom at 546-5092. Good kids and pay.

Good opportunity for business-minded hardworking graduating seniors and graduate students. $600 monthly starting salary to represent a major corporation locally. Established resident capable of assuming responsibilities. Call 256-8531 a.m. for interview.

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Chicago anytime. Call 584-2554.

I need a ride from Amherst to Holyoke and back, Mon.-Fri. next semester. Will share driving cost. Call Kathy 253-7723.

One rider to Fla. over Xmas break. $40. 532-0784.

Ride needed to Philly, Dec. 13 or 14. Will share $. Nancy 61485.

Ride needed to Iowa (Chicago is close enough) before Dec. 18. Will share expense, driving. Cindy 549-2616.

To Chicago or Milwaukee. Will share $. 546-6415.

RIDERS WANTED

Two riders wanted — Leaving for Florida (St. Augustine), end of Dec., returning end of Jan. Share driving & expenses. Sally. 586-4219.

Share driving exp. to Orl. Florida, Dec. 18. Call 586-2815, eves.

California Round trip during inter. Cost $125. 253-2681 by Super Van.

TRAVEL

SAVE RENT — Scenic Northfield. Attractive 2 and a half rms., privacy. Single $100; couple $135. Electricity. 549-0387.

Bermuda Spring Vacation. From $199. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Low price trips to Mexico, Florida, Caribbean. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Charter flights to Europe and California. Call Campus Travel. 545-0500.

Ski the Canadian Rockies — Banff $388.00. Call Campus Travel Center. 545-0500.

INSTRUCTION

DOG TRAINING. Obedience, problem dogs, protection and security. 549-1342 days and eves. VALLEY K-9.

GIVE YOURSELF A PRESENT. Develop a music skill in keyboard jazz improvisation, eartraining, theory, composition, piano, recorder, Music Lit. Offered thru Music Dept. Open to all. 5-2013.

Guitar lessons, folk blues country. Brooks, 584-6144.

Math Help — Experienced teacher will tutor Math-Stat. $7 per hr. Ron. 256-8952.

Classic guitar lessons avail. thru UMass Prep. Div. by Neil Anderson. Hartt College grad. 545-2434 for info.

PERSONALS

HOP BROOK COMMUNE — GAY PEOPLE. In the country. P. O. Box 723, Amherst.

Merry Christmas to all you Dudes and Chickies — M.A.B.

John Pineau — Important news. Call Ken before Friday. 549-1211.

Jimmy — Confej to benito · feliz anniversário notalicio dezanove. — Sua Moça Bravio.

Joe Adams — You still owe us ten minutes, when you're sober! Happy Birthday! Brit and Reck.

To Mr. Elf who came to the Collegian YOU SUCK.

Two B1 Guys look for fun. Bill, Bob. 6-1177.

Dick, Fitz, Steven, Hershey and Pisson — Thanks for the great team. Sorry I was so obnoxious. D.

Muskrat — I'm late as usual but Happy 21st — TTDFN — Quack, Quack.

Good opportunity for business-minded hardworking graduating seniors and graduate students. $600 monthly starting salary to represent a major corporation locally. Established resident capable of assuming responsibilities. Call 256-8531 a.m. for interview.

My roomie, Here's your very own — Happy 21st on the 24th, merry 25th and good luck on the 27th! Love, Your Roomie.

M C F · FARMER · Umieville won't be the same when you're gone.

May you have a semester of Ripe Potatoes! Who else et al.

Congrats to Jan grads. Janis Bergman, Jane Felzani, and Ellen Newell. We will miss you. Love Susan, Donna and Loretta.

To Super Sportswriter. Happy Birthday. You deserve it. Glenn.

Need Money! Will take over anybody's job during vacation. Call Chris 6-8394.

Gay-line Referrals and counselling, Mon.-Thu., 8-11 p.m. 545-0154, 413B, SU.

Happy Birthday Su! Why don't cha gimme a call sometime?

FOR SALE

PAUL'S HERE. I've been spending money like a drunken Pentagon official and we're up to our earlobes in all kinds of nifty furniture, unusual bureaus, stoves, chairs, etc. plus we're selling cheap stuff we're sick of, especially clothing and chairs. PAUL'S OLDTIME FURNITURE* behind Aubuchon's, Amherst. 253-3611. Best wood stoves around.

SERVICES

Professional guitar repairs by guitar-maker Michael Millard. Mon., Wed., Fri. at The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops. 549-1728. Free estimates.

Passport Photos. Call Joe, nights at 549-6598. 24 hr. service.

Passports — Fast service. Lang's Photo. Hours 9-6. Tel. 253-3148.

Campus Clubs and Organizations, Do you want to publish high quality newsletter, pamphlet, magazine or booklet??? Let the Message Company help you write, layout, design and print it!! Reasonable fees. Contact Jerry at 253-9969 for information.

CAR REPAIR HASSLES? Bob will still fix it right. No job too small. Foreign or domestic. No big overhead. 253-7241.

Cross country ski base prep sanding $2.00; hot swix $4.00. Some pick up and del. Call 253-9459.

Ometrics Astrological services, 5 month projection, personal analysis, etc. Write Box 341, Amherst or call 549-6743 or 549-0005.

MOVING? Need help. One man and van will help. Experienced, reasonable rates. Call Bounce 549-0513.

LOST

Lost — Young female blue point Siamese cat in the vicinity of Brittany Manor. Reward. Call 253-2584.

Favorite floppy XXL Norm Thompson hat, N. Pleasant St. Tues. Reward. 549-0780.

CALCULATORS

Calculator Sale — College Calculators offers lowest prices anywhere. All models available! Texas Inst., Hewall Packard, Unicorn. All machines new and guar. with 2 month replacement warranty... Before you buy a calculator, call me. I can beat any price anywhere ... Look for my posters around campus for details. Then call Bob Crowell at 549-1316.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By Stella Wilder

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10 — Born today, you have tremendous powers of persuasion. Your ability to sell, whether the product be of a material or spiritual nature, is so great that you never have to fear getting your points across. You may find that actual selling is not for you, in which case, you may turn to a profession which demands the same talents; the law, for instance, would suit you well, as would upper-level teaching. Writing is another of your strengths, and you may well combine teaching, or the law, or even selling with it — much to your advantage.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) —When community projects seem to need a hand, offer yours. There are abilities you possess which no one else can hold a candle to.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) —A solid wall of argument may greet your new proposals on the employment scene or at home. You might be wise to hold back for a while.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) —Give a word of encouragement to those struggling to gain a foothold. There are new vistas opening to you — but you must be wise enough to see them.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) —There are rewards to be gained by quick action today, chiefly of a spiritual nature. Keep aware of benefits.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) —Take care of routine matters early in the day. You should find a free afternoon much to your liking — and, in the end, much to your profit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) —Though there may be a number of incentives to socialize, you would be better off sticking strictly to business throughout the day and evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) —Keep those in authority content and you may be able to make a coup late in the day. Don't worry about your motives being questioned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) —Put a period to the day's work at nightfall. Be wise and don't carry your troubles home with you. Chances for gain are high.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) —If you insist upon believing everything you hear, you are in for more trouble than you bargained for. Try to hear things selectively.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) —Be considerate in both thought and deed. Otherwise, you will be sure to overstep the bounds of propriety in one respect or another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) —Start immediately to put something aside for an approaching rainy day. You may not be able to foresee trouble — but you can avoid it through saving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) —Take a page from the child's book and enjoy a bit of adventure today. The early hours are best for new experiences; late hours are for savoring.

ACROSS

1 Burial place
5 Concealer
10 Recedes
14 Fiber source
15 Accustom: Var.
16 Happy song
17 Auto accessories: 2 words
19 Bloodsucking insect
20 Offer to give
21 Organization
23 Perfumer's necessity
26 --- Cruces, N.M.
27 Good-looking
30 With difficulty
34 WW II alliance
35 Egg-shaped
37 Indicating maiden name
38 Compound
39 Contests
41 Disabled Amer. Vets.
42 Brewery product
43 "----- Foolish Things"
44 Ascent
45 Accountant's book
47 Spread out rays
50 Exist
51 Barber's accessory
52 Skillful flattery
56 Louisiana dialect
60 Direction
61 Household accessory: 2 words
64 Grafted: Her.
65 Give consent
66 Historic periods
67 Free of bias
68 Value setter
69 Depress

DOWN

1 Suit of armor skirt
2 Evergreen genus
3 Comedian --- Sahl
4 Kills by decapitation
5 ---- -- head: Kind of battle
6 Worldwide: Abbr.
7 Owing
8 Uses poor judgment
9 Faithful
10 Mischievous
11 Ill temper
12 Fruit decay
13 Stop moving
18 Adjective endings
22 Garments
24 Love, in Rome
25 Changes
27 Asian porter
28 Situated in the axis
29 Denied: Slang
31 Asian nation
32 Smallest in magnitude
33 Pier
36 Turn away
39 Inflexible
40 Kind of garage
44 Matured
46 Order of the ----- 48 Bowman
49 Dickens character
52 Meat
53 Flannel
54 Italian commune
55 Hindu philosophy
57 Brutish person
58 Gaunt
59 Formerly
62 Craft
63 Golfer's prop

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

F	A	I	R	■	D	A	R	E	R	■	P	H	A	R
L	U	R	E	■	E	N	U	R	E	■	R	O	M	A
A	T	O	P	■	T	E	L	E	S	C	O	P	E	S
M	O	N	O	T	O	N	E	■	E	L	F	I	S	H
				R	O	U	T	■	P	L	E	A
F	A	S	T	E	R	■	B	A	L	A	N	C	E	D
A	L	A	■	S	E	T	O	N	■	N	E	R	V	E
R	I	M	E	■	D	R	I	E	D	■	S	E	A	T
A	B	O	U	T	■	I	S	L	E	T	■	A	D	E
D	I	S	C	R	E	T	E	■	F	I	L	M	E	R
				E	A	V	E	■	F	R	E	E
S	T	A	N	C	E	■	T	O	A	S	T	E	R	S
C	A	N	T	E	R	B	U	R	Y	■	T	R	E	E
A	M	O	R	■	T	I	N	G	E	■	E	G	A	N
R	E	N	O	■	S	T	E	E	D	■	R	O	D	S

24 dizzy and paul- By Jim Carson

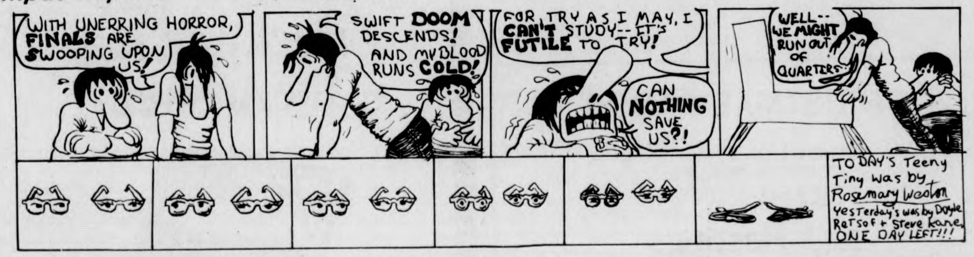
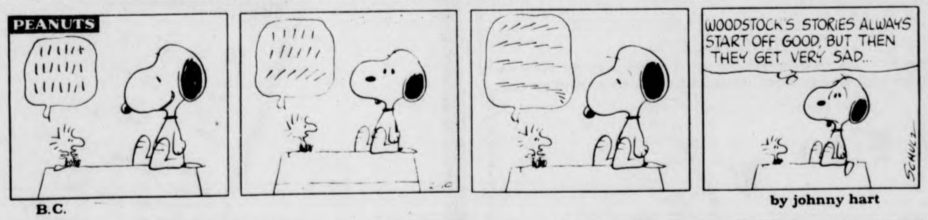
YAY! HERE COME THEIR FRIENDS TO HELP!
SHHH! DON'T CHEER FOR THEM! THEY'RE THE BAD GUYS!
BANG! BANG! BANG! GALOOP! GALOOP! BANG!
REALLY? HOW CAN YOU TELL?
BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! THUMP! BANG!
'CAUSE THE BAD GUYS ALWAYS WORE THE BLACK HATS!
BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! OUCH! BANG
WOW! THEY MUST HAVE HAD REALLY CRUMMY SELF-IMAGES!
BANG! BANG! KAPOW! BANG! GOT 'EM! BANG!
2-10
Carson

Kampus Kapers By Kris Jackson



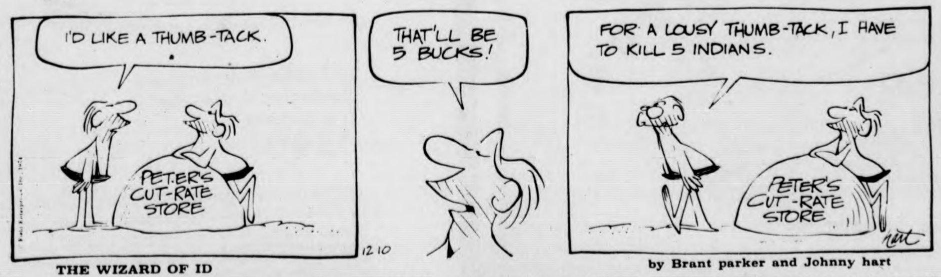
WITH UNERRING HORROR, FINALS ARE SWOOPING UPON US!
SWIFT DOOM DESCENDS! AND MY BLOOD RUNS COLD!
FOR, TRY AS I MAY, I CAN'T STUDY-- IT'S FUTILE TO TRY!
CAN NOTHING SAVE US?!
WELL-- WE MIGHT RUN OUT OF QUARTERS
TODAY'S Teeny Tiny was by Rosemary Weston
Yesterday's was by Doyle Retsof + Steve Kane
ONE DAY LEFT!!!

PEANUTS

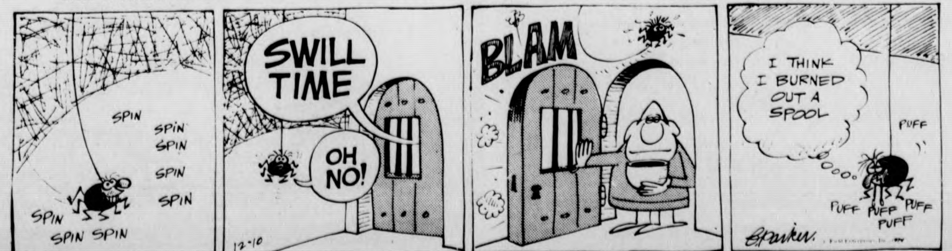


WOODSTOCK'S STORIES ALWAYS START OFF GOOD, BUT THEN THEY GET VERY SAD...
2-10
SCHULZ

B.C. by johnny hart



THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart



SPIN SPIN SPIN SPIN SPIN SPIN SPIN SPIN
SWILL TIME
OH NO!
12-10
BLAM
I THINK I BURNED OUT A SPOOL
PUFF PUFF PUFF PUFF PUFF
B. Parker

notices

cont. from p. 12

break from your studies and come to enjoy the movies. All are welcome.

LS & S DEPARTMENT

There will be an end of the semester Christmas blast for LS & S students, staff and faculty on Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Steak Out. Come and have fun! If you need a ride meet in front of Hicks at 4 p.m.

SEE "SAVAGE"

Support the Amherst Film Coop's effort on this Campus See "Savages", an allegory on sex and greed, a capsule rise and fall of civilization. At 8 p.m. only, Thompson 102, tonite.

SMALL CLAIMS COURT COUNSELING

Wed. Dec. 11 will be the last day for Small Claims Court Counseling on campus this semester. If you need counseling call MassPIRG in town at 256-6434.

SQUARE DANCE

All club members please remember to wear square dance outfits tonite. All people try to bring some food for the party, if we are to have one.

WE HAVE AN AIRPLANE

The Collegiate Flying Club has finally acquired an airplane. Want to know more-see ad in tomorrow's Collegian and come to our next meeting, Wed. nite at 7:30, rm. 903 C.C.

WORK IN PROGRESS

Southwest Theatre Ensemble rehearsal tonite 7:00 in Hampden. "Foodstamp Holiday" showing Fri. and Sat. nite at 8:00 in Hampden. Guest artist and ex-inmate Eugene Smith will appear.

FOUND

One pair of gold rimmed glasses near SBA last Friday. Turned into CC Lost and Found.

FOUND

Ladies plastic umbrella in the Collegian Office. Please claim soon.

LOST

In Organic 263A lab, TWR-1; 1105 on Tues. 12-3, mens Alsem High '73 ring, initialled R.P.D. Reward, call Rich 6-5906.

LOST

One black key case (double) Boyden Gym locker room or shower on Fri. Dec. 6, noon hour. Call 545-2263.

LOST

Blue lindy star ring in S.U. Lobby. Call 369-4022.

LOST

Picket, all metal, yellow slide rule in black case. It is very valuable to me. Contact Herb; 6-5128, 434 Cance.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Meeting, Thurs. Dec. 12 at 7 p.m. rm. 804 CC.

I HOPE YOU ALL ENJOY YOUR VACATION

Meeting during intercession.

Christmas at FACES
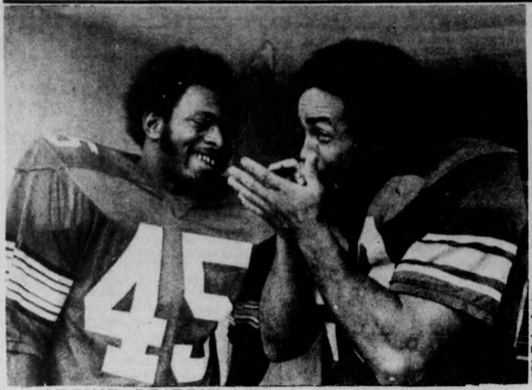
NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE IN AMHERST
Open 9:30-9:00
FACES OF EARTH



UPI Telephoto

ARCHIE GRIFFIN jokes it up with another All-American, running back Anthony Davis of USC at an all-star gathering at Miami.

Griffin earns player of the year honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archie Griffin of Ohio State, called by his coach "The best football player I've ever seen," Monday added another award to his already glittering collection when he was named college football's player of the year by the United Press International.

The 5-9, 184-pound junior running back, who only last week received college football's highest accolade--the Heisman Trophy, was an easy winner for player of the year honors in a balloting of sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation. Griffin received nearly six times as many votes as his nearest competitor, junior running back Joe Washington of Oklahoma.

Others receiving mention were quarterback Steve Bartkowski of California, quarterback Steve Joachim of Temple, quarterback Tom Clements of Notre Dame, quarterback Freddie Solomon of Tampa, running back Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh and defensive tackle Randy White of Maryland.

Griffin, who is the first junior to win UPI's top player honors since O.J. Simpson of Southern California in 1967, established a record for consistency this year which is nmatched in college history. The Columbus Comet rushed for more than 100 yards in each of his team's 11 games and set an NCAA record of 22 consecutive games in which he has topped the 100-yard barrier.

Walton returns to Portland

PORTLAND, ORE. (UPI) - Bill Walton was on hand Monday afternoon when the Portland Trail Blazers held practice.

He wan't in practice togs, but in his street clothes he was animated in his conversations with Coach Lenny Wilkens during a good part of the workout.

Walton didn't have much to say to newsmen who talked with him.

He said he didn't care to discuss anything in particular about the stories this past week that he was disenchanted with pro basketball. That report came from Walton's friend and personal adviser, Sam Gilbert, a Los Angeles area contractor and adviser to a number of former UCLA athletic greats.

Walton told one newsman he did not feel obligated to speak at this time to remarks made by others about him.

After he finished his discussions with Wilkens about basketball, he sat in a seat in the stands and read a stack of mail that had come to him through the Trail Blazer office. The nature of the mail was not disclosed.

Wilkens acknowledged that he was delighted that the Walton story of the past week was behind them.

Just when Walton Rejoins practice or game action depends on how quickly he is relieved of the pain of a bone spur near his left ankle. It hurts when he runs or cuts.

Weaver hurt in car crash

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — Baltimore Orioles manager Earl Weaver, his wife and his parents were among seven persons injured Monday in a four-vehicle collision on Interstate 70 about eight miles East of this Southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Weaver, 44, and his wife, Marianna, 39, were released after treatment at Washington hospital where his parents, Earl Sr. and Ethel, both 71, were detained in satisfactory condition.

The three other persons injured were reported in guarded condition.

State Police said a pickup truck was hit from the rear by a steelhauling tractor-trailer which in turn was hit from the rear by two automobiles. The second auto was operated by the baseball manager.

Society and sports lectures

The Sport Studies Department of the University of Massachusetts-Amherst will honor Dr. Horst Ueberhorst, visiting professor in Sport History, at a lecture and reception, Tuesday, Dec. 10.

Ueberhorst is the director of the Institute for the Study of Sport, Ruhr-Universitat, Bochum, Germany. He is concluding a semester-long stay at UMass.

The lecture "Socialization into the role of sport consumer" will be presented by Canadian sport sociologist Barry McPherson at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center.

Dr. McPherson, University of Waterloo, is a writer and researcher in the areas of sport role socialization, minority group involvement in sport and leisure patterns and aging.

The lecture will follow a reception at 3:30 p.m. in Room 1104 of the Campus Center.

Dr. Ueberhorst is the author of numerous articles and several books. The most recent book, Frisch, Frei, Stark and Treu, deals with the role of sport in the labor movement of Germany. The work has won acclaim from sport historians as an important contribution to the history of labor.

HOLIDAY SALE
STRAIGHT LEG CORDS
Famous Maker just... $6.99
AMHERST ONLY
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st./amherst
Fairfield Mall/chicopee

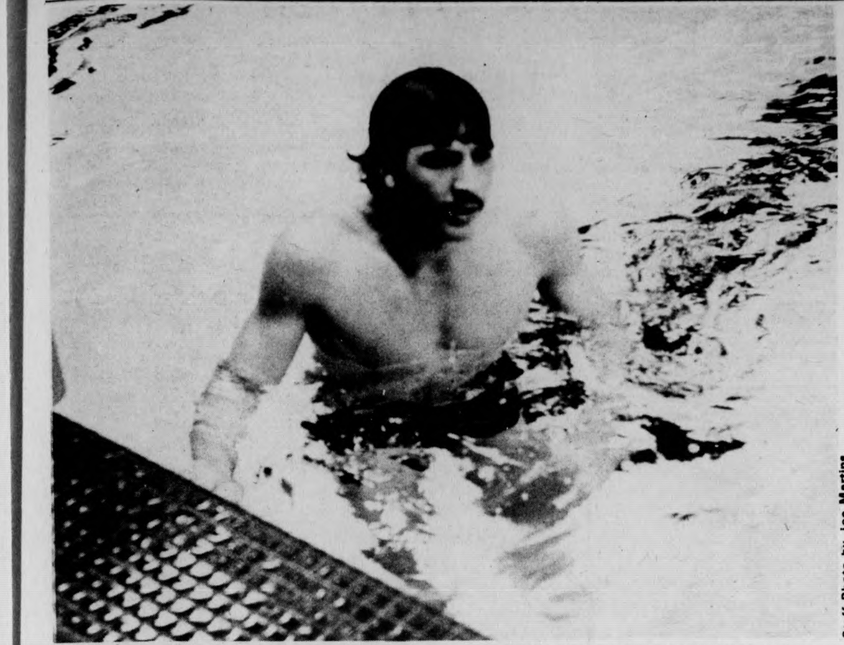
CHRISTMAS CARDS
HALLMARK, CASPARI,
GORDON FRASER,
ALFRED MAINZER
A. J. Hastings
45 S. Pleasant St.
AMHERST, MASS.

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC!
Lots Of Room To Boogie
THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
drinks ... eats ... music ...
hurray!!!
BEER & BOOGIE
Everybody Welcome!

Wed. - Sun. "ALBATROSS"
DECEMBER
18-22 "Fate"
26-29 "Fate"
New Year's Eve — "AMERICAN STANDARD"
JANUARY
2-5 "American Standard"
9-12 "Northeast Expressway"
16-19 "Big Screamin McGrew"
24-26 "Big Screamin McGrew"
31-Feb. 2 "Cleaning Living"
TUES. — No Cover
WED.-SUN., $1.00
Sunday Beer — 25c — 9 to 1:00
Rt. 202, New Salem at Truman's
Flea Market, only 12 miles
from Whitmore!
Plenty of Room to Boogie!
Phone (617) — Just Over Line — 544-6028

If you have to know the √ of a √ Rockwell has The Answer.

30R Slide Rule Memory
Electronic Calculator.
The Answer.
$59.95
Anyone who works with reciprocals, squares or square roots will be impressed with the speed and accuracy of Rockwell's 30R electronic calculator. It's a Slide Rule with a fully addressable memory, automatic constants, register exchange, sign change and automatic mark-on and discount capabilities.
UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
Open Wed. Nite til 8



Staff Photo by Joe Martins

The pensive look on the face of Dave Boucher of the UMass Swim Team could be due to the Team's 0-2 record. Dave will try and help correct that today against WPI.

Bey Melamed: Rebuilding

By BOB HIGGINS
Sports Staff

Last year, the UMass men's swim team began to turn things around after a couple of dismal seasons, and one of the main reasons for this was the work of their coach, Bey Melamed.

Melamed came to UMass last year as a graduate student in the Department of Exercise Science, in which he is still studying. When it became necessary to find somebody to fill the vacancy as men's swim coach, he was chosen, and his qualifications are quite impressive.

"I was good enough, by Israeli standards, to swim for Israel in the Olympics in Tokyo (1964) and Mexico City (1968)," he states modestly. "In Mexico City, I placed either tenth or eleventh, I'm not sure which, in the 100-meter butterfly." Not bad by anyone's standards, it would seem.

He also had an impressive collegiate career at West Liberty State College, a small college in West Virginia. He was a three-time NAIA (National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletes) champion, and still holds a record in the coach of a team that, though it is in the process of rebuilding, still does not approach any of the top teams in New England.

How does Melamed feel about this? "I feel this is a great challenge for me," he said. "The challenge is to take inexperienced swimmers who have had no coaching and help them improve."

Of course, he has no dreams of bringing them beyond a certain level. "Unless you start swimming by the age of six, there are certain things you just can't be taught." he stated. "Someone who has been swimming all his life feels certain things that someone who starts later can't learn." He then went on to point out several members of his squad who did not start swimming, at least competitively, until the past couple of years.

Of course, it is not surprising that UMass does not get a share of the nation's, or even the area's top swimmers. "Swimming here is at a true amateur level; there are no scholarships and little other money, said Melamed. "A swimmer here has to be an athletic nut, just out to try to better himself and compete," he added.

It will take time for the UMass program to develop, as it waits for, as Melamed puts it, "the snowball to start." In effect, what this means is that once the school attracts a few top swimmers and gets a reputation, more and more talent will arrive.

But Coach Melamed is not sitting around waiting for that day to come. He works his team harder than any of them have ever worked before. As last year's co-captian George Kwiecien said at the end of last season, "We were in better shape than any of us dreamed we could be. I think this was the secret of the team's success."

However, Melamed doesn't agree with this for the most part. "If a swimmer is going to improve, he's got to be determined," he said. "Nothing I do or say will help if the swimmer doesn't have the drive to improve himself."

The basic areas in which Melamed tries to help his swimmers in is style and mental work. "These are important when you're working with inexperienced swimmers. The mental work is very important. A good, experienced swimmer knows how to pace himself. It takes concentration and a lot of mental work for the inexperienced swimmer to not be tempted to start out too fast. He must learn to swim fast but stay relaxed," said Melamed.

The young coach has a refreshing attitude towards the swimming as a student-athlete. "There's no way that swimming is as important as studies," he said. "If a guy has an exam that conflicts with a meet, I say 'good luck on the exam'."

And with a program like the UMass swim team, that's the way it should be.

WMUA
8:30 a.m. — HIGHTIDES — The moon is still in Scorpio this day. Time to research, keep digging.
8:00 p.m. — STRAIGHT NO-CHASER — Interview with the "Gentle Giant." Fee-Fi-Fo-Fum.
9:00 p.m. — NATIONAL LAMPOON RADIO HOUR — "No Soap Radio" returns to the air with more clean (?) fun.
This Wednesday — Taped concert of Chick Corea—Return to Forever. Recorded at Julia Sanderson Theater in Springfield. Play back time is 8 p.m. tomorrow.
Coming up — Gary Burton Quintet — time and date to be announced later.
Listen to WMUA's LAUGH BAG — Every 3 hours beginning at 6 a.m. to sign-off.
91.1 FM

Bill Edelstein

Basket cases

Professional basketball has induced peculiar happenings to three of the best players in last year's collegiate crop.

John Shumate has had a reoccurrence of the blood clot on his lung that forced him to sit out a year at Notre Dame. Mind you, this is no ordinary injury, it nearly cost Shumate his life, much less his basketball career, and he has admitted to himself that he will probably have to suffer with the problem throughout his existence.

Still, Shumate would like to play ball for the team that made him their number 1 draft choice last season, the Phoenix Suns, but only the doctors know what future vocation will be in store for Mr. Shumate.

For Marvin Barnes (You remember Marvin. He's the guy who was trying to guard John Murphy when the latter was pumping in corner shots against Providence last year.), the decision of a career in basketball is not the concern of doctors, but is up to his own, eccentric self.

Barnes received a $1.8 million contract from the ABA's Spirits of St. Louis. Marvin then took his new-found fortune and "bought all the things he had once dreamed about." When Barnes discovered that these "things" cost him all the money he had once dreamed about, he left the team and went back to Providence to hold out for a renegotiation of his contract.

Last seen, Marvin was back with the Spirits, bringing with him the same contract and an apology to the team. If things go awry again, though. Barnes can always open his own tire-iron shop in Providence.

The third disillusioned scholar is the Portland Trailblazers', Bill Walton. Walton, of course, was the most sought-after collegiate hoopster since the awesome Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, but now the only person looking for Bill Walton is Bill Walton. The redhead, sidelined for the last six games with a bone spur on an ankle, stated his "desire to participate in nature" as the reason for the soul-searching.

It's not as if Walton is using the injury as an alibi for poor play; At one point in the season he was the league's leading rebounder and was still scoring well and playing good defense before his injury.

While Walton contemplates his future role in life, the NBA and especially the Portland Trailblazers, can only sit and stew, and hope that Bill decides playing ball has aesthetic value or is organic or something. This reporter, however, is afraid that the world of professional basketball simply might not agree with Walton as much as a bowlful of wild hickory nuts would.

One has to wonder what will become of this year's NCAA stars in next year's pro game.

Let us all pray for David Thompson.

Frazier-Ali again?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - Joe Frazier won't be in the ring this Saturday in Sydney, Australia, against Oscar Bonavena, but the former champion is keeping himself ready for a possible third go-round with Muhammad Ali.

"The bout with Bonavena is off," Frazier said Monday. "Eddie Futch, my manager, said that the people in Australia couldn't come up with the money. I've been in training now for four weeks, but that's not a total loss to me. I'm keeping my weight down, and waiting for Clay to make his move."

Frazier, who whipped Ali in an epic 15-rounder in March of 1971 and then lost to Muhammad over 12 in January of this year, is convinced the public wants to see the pair go at it for a third time.

"Sure, Clay draws crowds, but he can't draw the big money without me," Frazier said. "It takes two to tango for the big money. Look at what happened in Zaire. The ringside was $250, and the seats were empty. Look at what Clay and I did in Madison Square Garden each time."

Frazier said he had not heard from the champion, and had not contacted him.

"I don't know what's on Clay's mind," Joe said. "I just hope he makes his mind up. I'd like to know before, say, June or July. I know I can whip him again, and get the title back, but I don't need all this aggravation of waiting."

Frazier saw little if any point in Ali--or Clay as Joe always calls him -- fighting Joe Bugner or anyone else. "He's beaten Bugner before. There's nothing to be gained by beating him up again, is there," Joe asked.

Saying he intends keeping his weight down just below 220, Frazier said he would keep in shape by running and training lightly while waiting for the champion to get in touch with him.

"I'm just going to bide my time," he said, "I hope to have a nice holiday season and maybe soon I'll hear from him."

Women's track tryouts Thurs.

Try-outs for the UMass Women's Track Team will be this Thursday, December 12, at 3:30 at Curry Hicks Cage. This is for both Indoor and Spring track season.

The team is on a club-RSO status and is open to graduate students and faculty as well as undergraduates.

The team will take on either the top three finishers in each event or those who qualify in the event.

The qualifying standards are 35 seconds for the 220, 80 seconds for the 440, 3:45 for the 880, 7:15 for the mile 4'3" in the high jump, and 15 feet in the long jump.

There are no facilities for short sprints at weight events at Curry Hicks, so there will be no try outs for them.

Coaches Tom Derderian and Charlotte Lettis will start practice after intersession.

Rape line
545-COPS

EASY LIVING at PUFFTON VILLAGE
Convenintly located near UMass
549-0145
PUFFTON VILLAGE
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Vincens stars

'Cross "crusades" at Cage

By STEVE DECOSTA
Sports Staff

Sure, Holy Cross is undefeated, but don't get excited yet.

The Crusaders stand at 3-0 at this juncture, having knocked off two Ivy League opponents and a New England powerhouse, St. Anselm's.

But the Ivies in question are Dartmouth and Yale. Now we all remember Dartmouth from the Hall of Fame Tournament, and, without presuming too much, it is easy to put Yale in the same category.

Now the Crusaders begin the tough part of their schedule, namely a visit to the Cage tonight at 8.

Holy Cross is another squad that is rebuilding this year, and two freshmen should be in the starting lineup.

Mike Vicens, a graduate of the basketball factory known as Catholic Memorial, is the team's leading scorer to date.

Another freshman, Chris Potter (All-New York City last year) will join Vicens as a starter.

The Crusaders are big up ront, with 6'7 Jimmy Dee and 6'9 Marty Halsey patrolling rebound country.

The Minutemen are coming off two successive victories, and now stand at 3-1 overall. But all is not rosy in UMieland.

Oh sure, John Murphy is averaging 23 points a game, but there is only one other player in double figures—Jim Town, who is scoring at an 11.5 clip.

The biggest disappointments of the season thus far have been the other two tri-captains, Bill endicott and Jim Burke.

Endicott has scored only 25 points in four games, way down from his 14 point average of last year. His 29 per cent field goal average is far below what was expected from the senior flash.

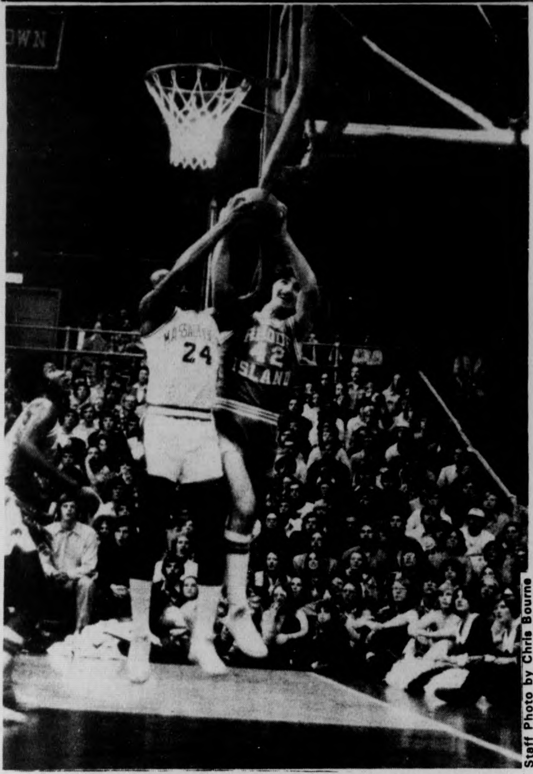
Burke has been even worse, hitting on only four of 26 two-point attempts. Only perfect free-throw shooting has given Burke his five points per game.

On the plus side for the Minutemen have been two newcomers, Town and Alex Eldridge.

Eldridge, a freshman guard, electrified the Cage crowd last weekend by taking the ball to the hoop, usually the territory of those at least four inches taller.

But UMass is a team that could break out of its doldrums at any time. Fortunately, the early part of the schedule is relatively easy.

But, let's not get overconfident.



Staff Photo by Chris Bourne

Greg Duarte and Jerry Cizynski are having a tough time settling a small question concerning a rebound in UMass' win over URI.

Gymmen at home versus Lowell Tech

By BEN CASWELL
Sports Staff

The men's gymnastics team will go against Lowell Tech this afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in their first home meet of this season.

In their season's opener last Wednesday the Minutemen romped over a poor Boston State team and today's results could show much of the same.

"We don't expect too much competition from Lowell Tech," said coach Tom Dunn. "We'll be going with a different lineup than what we used against Boston State and the better of the two will go against Army on Saturday.

Against Boston State the Minutemen had quite a few breaks in their routines and that is something that coach Dunn said the team will be striving to eliminate this afternoon. "Lowell Tech is a better team than Boston State," said Dunn. "We should win, but the scores and clean routines are what I will be looking for."

Lowell Tech coach, Dick Aronson, who will be a judge in the UMass-Army meet on Saturday, said that his team "has a couple of guys that will give UMass some competition in some individual events." If they do then they will certainly be better than Boston State who didn't have one gymnast that beat a UMass performer.

The lineup for the Minutemen will be somewhat different from the one they used at Boston State. In the floor exercise Tim Beasley, Charley Hall, Roy Johnson, and Bill Brouillet will be performing. On the pommel horse will be Chris Brown, Brouillet and Johnson again and Dave Kulakoff. The still rings will have Brouillet and Johnson, along with Dave Douglas and Peter Lusk hanging from them. Long Horse Vaulting will be Jon Brandon, Joel James, Jack Fabricante, and all-arounds' Brouillet and Johnson. On the Parallel Bars will be Andy Hammond, Tim Beasley and Brandon, Johnson and Brouillet, who will also be on the High Bar with James and Henning Geist.

FLYING FINISHES--Paul Marks is sitting out with a bad back, he will hopefully be ready for Army on Saturday..John Forshay was working out yesterday and could see possible Floor Exercise action soon...Next meet this Saturday at home versus Army at 2:00 p.m.

Inside sports

- Edelstein's basket cases
- Feature on Bey Melamed
- Walton to play

Attention!

Sports staff meeting today a[illegible].m. in Collegian office

Mermen dunked twice - face WPI

By TOM CROWLEY
Sports Staff

Coming off two tough losses, the UMass Men's Swim team is hosted by WPI in Worcester tonight at 7:30.

The mermen lost on the last relay this past Saturday to Amherst College in the battle for the city championship, 59-54. This was done despite the great performance of Ben Crooker.

Crooker set the new record in the 200 yd. free style, formerly held by teammate Joe Hebert, at 1:53.9. this was right after he had swam the most grueling event of the meet: 1000 yd. free style.

Crooker took first in the 1000 yd. event but came in second in the 200 yd. free style. Earl MacAllister got first in the required and optional diving.

UMass swept the breast stroke with Dave Boucher winning first at 2:27 and Carl Zulick finishing second. They also swept the 500 yd. free style with Ben Crooker grabbing first at 5:21 and Harry Blyden wound up second.

The score was 54-52, UMass, with the relay left and the Lord Jeffs won the relay and the meet.

The Lord Jeffs have a strong free style team, headed by Jessie Delarama who is nationally ranked.

The Amherst loss came right on the heels of a tough loss at Wesleyan College, 4-49.

Ben Crooker led the team again as the sophomore had two first place, in the 1000 yd. and the 500 yd. free style relay. Joe Hebert also got two firsts, in the 200 yd. butterfly and 200 yd free style.

UMass had three other first place finishers: Russ Yarworth in the 200 yd. individual medley, Dave Boucher in the 200 yd. breast stroke, and Duncan Lomas in the 100 yd. free style.

So tonight the Minutemen hope to capture their first win of the season against WPI at Worcester.

Sports

hotline

5-2210

Glenn Poster

Alms for the poor

As the goyim say, "This the season to be jolly," it is at this time that we bring you Poster's second annual (and hopefully last) Christmas Gift Package.

Let's start with the team you all grew to love this fall, the football squad. To head coach Dick MacPherson, with God's love, home and home series with Wake Forest on next year's schedule. This group from North Carolina had an impressive record in '74 of 0-11. They scored 74 points and allowed 300 more, including at least four straight games in which they were shut out. To Rich Jessamy we give a football to be carried around campus all day, including to classes so that he learns to hold onto it. To Fred Kelliher and Ed McAleney: a complete physical recovery so that they can come back next fall and play up to their potential because of some thing called the one-game eligibility rule. To Bob Parrott, who intercepted two passes in the Boardwalk Bowl, an open invitation to come back next year and help out in the defensive secondary. To Ron Harris we give a chance to become the Mack Herron of the team by being a running back — though he does a damn good job in the defensive backfield. And finally remember that the Jim Torrance doll will be a part of the '75 edition of the team. You wind it up and it bowls you over.

To Al Rufe, soccer coach, we give national recognition. Maybe if the Big Ten athletic directors had voted in New England, the '74 soccer team might have gone to the playoffs. To that other fall coach, namely Ken O'Brien, there's only one thing we could give. That's the Coach of the Year award for the fall season.

Moving over to the winter teams, we first turn our eyes to the hockey outfit. The natural thing to come out of Santa's bag is a rink, which we might never have with the current athletic hierarchy. To goalie Dana Redmond we give a winning game. To the senior line of Kevin Conners-Johnny Muse-Steve Nims, who on one shift in the St. Anselm's game held the puck in the attacking zone for well over two minutes, we give plenty of goals and the chance to perform in front of some pro scouts so that they can continue their careers next year. The same goes for Mike Ellis and Bill Mintiens. As a matter of fact Jim Sutherland, a scout from the Seals, lives in Amherst.

To the basketball team we give a chance to play more post-season games. The Eastern Regionals of the NCAA tournament are at the Providence Civic Center this year, but as fans of UMass who support the team, where could you have a better time celebrating victories, Providence or New York City? Anyway, to the players we have a few gifts. To Glenn Cooper one pair of healthy knees. His progress has been hampered because he had to sit out his freshman year and finally makes the varsity as a junior. He deserves a chance. To Jim Town we give a chance to star after sitting out last year because of a stupid high school transcript mistake.

To tri-captain Jim Burke who does those great commercial announcements on WMUA, the chance to do the same on the local TV stations for Community Savings Bank. And we have another present for Jim as well as the other seniors — Greg Duarte, Bill Endicott, and John Murphy the opportunity to play next year for the UMass Alumni otherwise known as the New York Nets.

Finally to those who write on these pages, we have some seasonal goodies. To Steve Saraceno, who turns out to be the hero in all his columns, we bring in a professional writer to collaborate with him on his autobiography. To Dave Eibel, who has been in charge of these pages for the past year, five nights a week of doing layout. To John Bock, who manages the wrestling team and writes about their exploits, we give a replacement as John has been their only writer for the last four years. To Ben Caswell, Eibel's successor, we give a guest appearance on Constipation With, a local Springfield production. To Scott Hayes, who went with the cross-country team to Indiana, the writer of the year award. To Rich Sevieri, who writes about hockey, a press pass to cover the games at the Boston Arena in January because nobody else will dare go there. To Steve DeCosta, who writes about every team you can think of for various newspapers, the chance to do the same for the Boston Globe. To Walt Powers, men's gym writer, a story about him in which the headline is longer than the article. To Bill Doyle, who writes nasty columns according to a football player's girlfriend, a book on the history of verbs in the English language. And finally to Glenn Poster, who also doubles as interview host on the WMUA hockey team, the play-by-play job for Red Sox' telecasts on TV 38 next season.

And to all of you who have read this far, good luck on finals so you can come back next semester to read the many misadventures of Collegian Sports.

inside:

Have a happy vacation!

THE MASSACHUSETTS
Daily Collegian

weather:

Your Friendly Portagee forecaster says today will become partly sunny with highs near 40. Westerly winds 10 to 15 MPH. Not a good day to piss into the wind!

VOLUME CII, ISSUE 65 WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1974 AMHERST, MA. TELEPHONE 545-3500

Would mean classes in January

Miller warns trimester may return

The University administration may convert the campus back to the trisemester system, making students attend regular classes in January because of lack of interest in intersession programs, a student leader said yesterday.

Martin J. Miller, chairperson of the Student Senate Academic Affairs Committee, said yesterday the administration may use lack of interest in this January's programs of proof that the campus should return to a trisemester.

"They will try to use lack of interest to show that students aren't working in January," Miller said in an interview.

Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs Robert L. Gluckstern was not immediately available to comment on the possibility of dropping intersession. Gluckstern is in charge of all academic programs on campus, including intersession.

But a University news bureau spokesman said a move away from two semesters, while not under active consideration, has been discussed in Whitmore.

"There isn't any real serious work being done about it," said Peter Glucker, the spokesman. "There has been some talk of it but nothing definite," he added.

UMass was one of many colleges and universities which originally converted to a two-semester system with a January break during the late sixties. At the time, the justification for the switch was that students would be able to pursue nontraditional and off-campus learning opportunities during January.

But for many UMass students, the January period has been an extended vacation.

At first, a variety of programs, including the School of Education Marathon, were held during the January break to encourage participation in on-campus nontraditional programs. Last year, as Legal Studies seminar series was held on campus.

But in recent years UMies have been unwilling to take programs on campus or remain in Amherst during January.

Although a schedule of courses for the 5-College programs is published and is available at the Campus Center Information Desk, there has been a reduced amount of publicity of intersession programs.

Michael Kneeland, the outgoing news editor of The Collegian, said schedule of January programs was not made available by the Provost's office for publication in The Collegian until last Friday.

turn to page 11

Parks tapped as ed head by Dukakis

From Staff and AP Reports

BOSTON -- Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis yesterday appointed a 51-year old administrator of Boston's Model Cities program to be the state's new secretary of education.

Paul Parks, 51, for seven years a member of Boston Mayor Kevin H. White's administration, succeeds Joseph M. Cronin, a Sargent-appointee who left last month to take a post in Illinois.

The post was created by Gov. Sargent under his educational reorganization. It is intended to be the chief policy-making post for state elementary, secondary and higher education, reporting directly to the Governor.

However, statutory authority for budget setting still rests with two lay boards for higher education and elementary education, so that the post, under Cronin, did not assume major authority.

Parks, who helped write the 1965 Racial Imbalance Law, has been active in community and educational affairs. In a press briefing yesterday, he strongly favored school desegregation in Boston.

One of Park's first responsibilities as the new Education policy-maker will be to oversee substantial cuts in the proposed fiscal 1976 education budgets.

In a statement introducing the new secretary, Dukakis said:

"I believe that we can arrive at a budget that will enhance education and meet the commitment of no new taxes for 1975."

Parks, during the press briefing following announcement of his appointment, said:

"In higher education, we must move from an era of expanded education facilities to one of enhanced educational quality." Parks said his first job is "to work out a budget with the various divisions of the educational system."

He said he hoped his lack of formal qualifications in education would not be held against him by professional educators -- that "we're past the point where people look at your qualifications in terms of their own self-interest."

UMass President Robert C. Wood called Parks "an outstanding leader in the community in Massachusetts for many years" and said he looked forward to working with the new Secretary.

HAPPY VACATION!

Rocky OK'd by Senate as VEEP

WASHINGTON (UPI) – The Senate yesterday voted 90 to 7 to approve the nomination of former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to be the nation's 41st vice president.

The lopsided vote came despite fears expressed by some senators that the multi-millionaire's enormous wealth would lead to unavoidable conflicts of interest.

The seven voting against Rockefeller were James Abourezk, D-S.D., Burch Bayh D-Ind., Howard Metzenbaum, D-Wis., Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and William Scott, R-Va.

Most senators, however, praised the 66-year-old Republican as a man who has "dedicated his life to public service" and many said he was the most qualified man in his party for the job.

Ahead of Rockefeller lay two more obstacles before the vice presidency: the House Judiciary Committee, which is expected to clear him Thursday, and the full House which is expected to vote final confirmation next week.

President Ford, in New York to meet with Rockefeller and members of the former governor's "Commission on Critical Choices for America," was advised of the Senate vote by telephone as he traveled by car through Manhattan to the Waldorf-Asotria Hotel.

He issued a statement saying he was "gratified by the action of the Senate...Few Americans have ever been more closely scrutinized or more thoroughly investigated by the Congress than Governor Rockefeller...I trust that similar action will be taken as rapidly as possible by the House of Representatives before final adjournment of the 93rd Congress."

The Senate vote represented the second time the 25th Amendment – under which vice presidential vacancies are filled – has been used. Last year, the Senate approved the vice presidential nomination of Gerald Ford, 92 to 3.

The nation has been without a vice president for four months since President Richard M. Nixon's resignation Aug. 9 when Ford assumed the presidency in the wake of the Watergate scandals.

Ford and Rockefeller would be the first president and vice president in history to hold office without election by the people.

Opposition to Rockefeller came from both conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats. Most gave Rockefeller's wealth as the reason for their "no" votes.

Nelson said he opposed Rockefeller because of his fear of "concentrated wealth and power."

Dean offers a challenge; Corker some housecleaning

By HILLARY MARTICK
Staff Reporter

Ken Dean, director of Residential Life, John Corker, director of the Campus Center (CC), and members of the Graduate Student Senate (GSS) calmly discussed such controversial campus issues as mandatory dorm residence, costs and maintenance of the CC, and the proposed CC bank at the Graduate Student Senate meeting Monday night.

The Senate passed motions allocating funds from the North Village Program for Families, a colloquial program sponsored by the Comparative Literature graduate department, and the prospective student credit union.

Corker said he wanted to maintain, if not reduce, the CC fee, expand the program of student-oriented facilities, and repair the physical facilities.

Dean admitted that due to the high dorm debt service, dorm residence for September '75 will be a challenge.

Dean said the University is looking into the legal and financial feasibility of levying a universal resource fee on all university students. By paying for the dorms' debt services, this fee, in effect, would give all dorm residents the possibility of living off-campus.

"I think the administration is checking every avenue and going through the various cost analysis to show how optional dorm residence could work," declared the Residential Life director.

Turning to GSS financial news, Senate members allocated $200 for the North Village Program for Families, and approved the expenditure of $200 to cover some of the operating costs of the student credit union.

Finally, the GSS unanimously allocated $150 to support the colloquial program offered by the Comparative Literature graduate department in conjunction with Other undergraduate programs.

GOODBYE...

(Note – The following should be read with the "Star Spangled Banner" playing in the background). Well, friends, the termination of classes for the semester brings a corresponding end to publication of the Collegian. On behalf of the entire staff, the Collegian wishes everybody a successful exam period and a happy vacation. The Collegian will resume publication on January 31.

Notice: Photo Staff dinner tonight. Leave office at 6:00.

Sports Staff dinner tomorrow night. Leave office at 5:15.

campus news roundup

No med admissions probe

State Rep. James G. Collins (D-Amherst) said yesterday he will not probe admissions policies at the UMass Medical School in Worcester. Collins had received complaints that the school's chancellor Dr. Lamar Soutter, favors younger applicants rather than veterans. Collins said after a meeting with campus officials he did not believe the evidence suggested discriminatory admissions. – by Sandy Carlin

Students get overtime pay

The Campus Center will award about $11,000 in back pay to 327 student employees who were denied overtime pay, personnel directory Timothy Cox said yesterday. The overtime pay is owed because of an error in the filling out of time cards made by the Center. Cox said the students would be paid from $1 to $2,500 apiece from time cards dating back to 1973. – by Avis Yuni

Library filling up

Attendance at the University Library has risen dramatically over the past week as students study for finals and papers, George Wright, associate director said yesterday. He said increased use is not in numbers of people, but in the amount of time students spend at one visit. He said last year at this time there was a shortage of study seats. The library will be open beginning Thursday. – by Cathy Kozell

Bromery addresses Senate

Campus chancellor Randolph W. Bromery will address the undergraduate Student Senate tonight at 8 p.m. in Campus Center room

Stockbridge program cut

The Stockbridge Senate will have an emergency end-of-semester meeting tonight to discuss budget cuts in the agricultural school which will force the phase out of three of its twelve programs. "The programs were phased out without any public announcement," senate president Scott Parkin said. The meeting is in CC 101 at 8 p.m. – by Bob Pacouatte

Credit Union gets room

The University Federal Credit Union Association was granted room 166 of the Campus Center last night by the CC Board of Governors. The Association, an RSO group, is coordinating the establishment of a student-run credit union on campus.

Five defendants from the Amherst area were found guilty of trespassing at a Big Y Supermarket in Springfield November 16 after a Hampden County Court heard their case yesterday. The five, Frank Dorman, Steve Rivers, Tom Booth, Val Booth and Kathleen Duffy were picketing outside the market protesting sales of non-Union products. – by Gail Sullivan

Dorsch questions records use

By LAWRENCE KORNFELD
Staff Reporter

Student Attorney Bill Dorsh and members of the Student Organizing Project have charged the University with violating the students' right to privacy by giving the tuition and fee records of all students to the state welfare department.

The records show "what your fee bill was and how you paid," according to John Fisher of the SOP.

"At best it's inappropriate, even if it's not illegal;" Dorsh said. "The University should guard that information of students with some respect."

Director of Commuter Student Affairs Helen Hill, responded; "It's a regular computer print out which is public information anyway."

Hill justified giving out the fee records of all students saying the Bursars Office doesn't have time to photostat the records of all students who apply for welfare. She added "I think the students' quarrel is with the welfare department."

SOP member Bob Gardner described it as "a low level violation of personal privacy that was done without consulting the students, that could become a much greater violation."

Dorsh and the SOP said the welfare department had no right to demand these records in the first place. "They don't trust the students enough to take their word for it the way the law requires" said Gardner.

The records are given to all welfare offices in the area by the Bursar's Office, at the request of the regional welfare office in Springfield.

Course opportunities to gain academic credit during January term

A CONFERENCE ON THE STUDENTS ROLE IN A UNIVERSITY GOVERNANCE AND CHANGE IN HIGHER EDUCATION run by the Academic Affairs Committee of the Student Senate January 13-26.

This conference is an experience for students to examine the issues that effect students at the university. This will initially provide an experimental format through which students will be offered the knowledge that is necessary for them to have in order to be effective members of the University community. Discussions will be centered around the University system and how it operates, ways in which to effect change, and the ideals of education. The conference will meet from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. A detailed schedule will be available later. There will be films, workshops, classes in specific topics, and open forum discussions about the students' role in the University governance structure.

If interested in presenting a workshop or attending, call Barbara Franzen, Marty Miller, or Dudley Phillips at 545-2645, or in person at the Academic Affairs Office, Rm. SU 403, top floor of the Student Union Building.

UMASS DEPARTMENTAL COURSE PROGRAMS

Bilingual Collegiate Program

1. Mathematics in Spanish. Dates: January 13-29.

2. Study Methods in Spanish. Date: January 13-29. Credit: none. Contact for both courses: Raul Cotto, 545-1987, 5th level Goodell Building.

Zoology Department

1. January Program in Panama: Tropical Biology. Dates: December 29-January 12. Cost: $300-$350. Credit: 3. Prerequisites: consent of Instructor and a strong background in Biology and Zoology. Limited to 11 students. (Sponsored in conjunction with the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute). Contact: Professor Alastair Stuart, Zoology, Morrill Science Center, 545-0975.

2. See attachment.

School of Engineering

1. ENGINEERING IN ACTION-A PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AND FACULTY. Theme: A HOSPITAL AS AN ENGINEERING SYSTEM. A two-day program discussing engineering concepts using the hospital as an example of how modern engineering interacts with problems of society. Discussions and lab demonstrations-experiments. Program will involve 75 junior and senior level high school students and 25 high school science faculty. Dates: January 20-21. Contact: Joseph Marcus, Engineering East, 545-0300.

Hispanic Languages and Literatures

1. Spanish 302 C-Bilingual Field Study--January Break Program in Puerto Rico. Dates: January 2-23. Cost: $235.00. Credit: 3. Limited to approximately 35 students. Contact: Professor Boudreau, Hispanic Languages and Literatures, Herter Hall, 545-2887.

Legal Studies Program

1. January Law Conference. A series of events centering on aspects of the law. Registration will be December 11-13 in 112 Hampshire House (no fee). Dates: January 13-21. Credit: by arrangement with 2 credits maximum for the entire conference. Contact: Mr. Shepherd, 545-2001 or Professor D'Errico, 545-2000, 112 Hampshire House. Examples of offerings: Police Brutality on Trial, David Ruck; Youthful Offender in Connecticut, Ellen Schall; Computer Data Banks and Privacy; African Law, Mensa-Brown; Drugs and Hyperative Children; Inside View of State Legislature, John Olver; Softening Up the Citizen-T.V. Cop and Constitution, Lester Mazor; Review of Movies on Capital Punishment, Steven Arons, Legal Services for Students, Bill Dorsch; Legal Services in the Valley Area, Steve Schwartz; Insanity of Commitment — Massachusetts Mental Health Law, Steve Schwartz.

School of Business Administration

1. BA 373-673 - International Business Operations. Course includes travel to Europe. Dates: January 3-23. Cost: $325. Credit: 3. Limited to 20 students. Contact: Professor Mary Lou Bryant at 545-2104 or Professor Ula Motekat at 545-2844.

School of Physical Education

1. PE 101 -- General Ski Program in France. Credit: 2. Contact: Peter Graham at 545-2693 or Margaret Coffey at 545-2338.

2. PE 386--Special Problems-Ski Officiating. Credit: 3. Contact: William MacConnell, Holdsworth, 545-1917.

Zoology

2. Zoology 285-810, Topics in Zoology: Coral reef associations. Travel Course to Puerto Rico. Credit: 3. Limited to 10 students. Contact Professor Larry Roberts, Morrill Science Center, 545-2010.

FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAMS

In addition to the above January activities at UMass., there are a large number of courses, workshops, and seminars that will be available in the five college area. Here are only a few of the offerings. For more complete schedule information, drop by: Provost's Office, Room 362 Whitmore or CASIAC, E-20, Machmer Hall.

Hampshire College

Dates: January 2 through January 29. Contact: January Term Office, Dakin House, D-102, 542-4848. Sample offerings: Careers and Families, Women in Unions and Union Organizing, Workshop in Greek Drama, Art-Artists Museums - Monuments, Winter Ecology.

Mount Holyoke College

Dates: January 6 through January 29. Contact: 586-3100 and ask for Winterterm Office. Sample offerings: Art in the Market Place, A Readers Theatre Production, The Dynamics of Career Decision Making, Refining Furniture, Spanish Conversation, Music Therapy.

Smith College

Dates: January 6 through January 24. Contact: Class Deans' Office, College Hall 23 or 584-2700 extension 231. Sample offerings: Tailoring, Bicycle Repair, Speed Typing, Writers from Smith, FORTRAN Programming, Introduction to Gourmet Cooking.

REMINDER: Credit for any of these courses must be negotiated through the UMass Registrar's Office. Smith College courses are not for credit.

UMASS DORMITORY

Central Area

Fine Lively and Applied Arts Program (FLAP). The FLAP Program is a 3-week (January 6-24) academic program with course offerings in the humanities and fine arts. Registration: Please preregister as soon as possible and register again on Monday, January 6 in room 114 Hills North. Credit: 3. Contact: Mr. Thomas Trotman, 545-2041. Sample offerings: Art 385A: Visual Arts Workshop: Sculpture; Art 385D: Environmental Sculpture; COMSTU 385A: The Development of the Motion Picture as an Art Form.

Northeast Area

The Northeast Area is offering colloquia, workshops and panel discussions on current interest topics and skills. The colloquia will be for one credit and will run from January 13-24. Contact: Mr. Steven Dimock, Leach House, 545-0290. Sample coloquia: Macrame, Ceramics, Racism Awareness, Music Theory, Self Defense.

Southwest Residential College

Southwest Residential College will be offering many one-credit colloquia. A listing is not available at this time but may be obtained from Nancy Kane, Room 1, John Adams Tower Lobby, 545-2803. In addition, the following two-credit workshops will be offered: "Southwest-University Without Walls Cooperative Prison Program". Readings, lectures and discussions by UMass faculty as well as inmates. January 13-24. "Boston School Crisis". Workshop will consist of a "teach-in", readings, and group projects. January 13-24. Also contact Nancy Kane for more information.

CAMPUS CENTER MEETINGS OF INTEREST

International Programs Office: Workshop on Cross-Cultural and Ethnic Studies. "Implications for Language and Ethnic Studies". The principal objective of the workshop is to provide the opportunity for faculty and graduate students concerned with language and area studies, ethnic and bicultural studies, and communication and inter-cultural studies to exchange their ideas, knowledge, and experience. People will attend from outside the University as speakers, discussion leaders, and resource persons. A report of the proceedings of the workshop will be published. Dates: January 9-11. Contact: Ann Gillespie, 545-0019 or Barbara Burn, 545-2710 in the International Programs Office, 2nd Floor, Whitmore.

University Women's Conference - sponsored jointly by the Southwest Women's Center, Everywoman's Center, and the Women's Studies Program. Dates: January 21-26. The Conference is for staff, faculty, students and wives to examine issues that effect women in this University. The Conference will meet from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. A detailed schedule of workshops will be published later. As well as workshops there will be coffeehouses, poetry readings, films, and art exhibits. The first four days of the Conference will be a sharing of knowledge and discussion of ideas. Saturday will be focused on planning for action on these issues. If interested in presenting a workshop or simply attending, contact the following people for each of the Conference Issues: Health, Althea Smith, 545-0883; Employment, Sally Freeman, 545-0333; Education, Jean Leppaluoto, 545-2554; Survival, Jo-Leslie Hirsh, 549-0912; Communication, Barbara Melrose, 545-2403; Creativity, Merrill Pellows, 545-0883; Alternatives and...Joan Sweeney, 545-0883. Housing and Day Care provided if Margie Posner is contacted, 545-4554. It is possible that credit will be awarded if several hours are spent in workshop participation. Resource Network Workshops--"Making a Life-Making a Living: Career Development--An Obligation of the Changing University?" (borrowed from the Orchard Hill Curriculum). If interested, contact: Judy Davis, 545-0851, Berkshire House.

UMASS CONTINUING EDUCATION

The Division of Continuing Education will be offering a series of 38 non-credit workshops which will take place from one to four times during the month. Sample of topics: Winter Sports in New England, Real Estate Clinic, Soldier in the American Revolution, Children's Literature, and Citizen Involvement in Public Education.

In addition, a one credit workshop entitled "Massachusetts Taxation" will be offered beginning January 9. Dr. O'Connell of the School of Business Administration is the Instructor. Contact: Peter Willner, Hills North, 545-3410. (There is a fee for each of these offerings.)

CAMPUS CENTER CONFERENCES

University Conference Services, an organization of the Division of Continuing Education, serves as the link between the academic and service areas of the University for conferences, short courses, workshops, and seminars held on the campus. Samples of Conferences which are open to the public during January are: Kiln Drying Workshop, January 13-17; Transactional Analysis for Management, January 14-16; and Economic Forecasting, January 22. For more information, contact: Mary Duchi, 545-2591.

SOUTHWEST RESIDENTIAL COLLEGE JANUARY TERM PROGRAM

Southwest Residential College will offer a January Term Program from January 13 through January 24. The Program will consist of three types of colloquia and two credit course offerings.

I. PRISON PROGRAM, OPEN TO ALL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS:

A two credit, pass-fail course that will focus upon the prisons in Massachusetts, the program will be open to all University undergraduates. Lecture-discussions will be offered by University faculty and staff presently involved with prisons as well as by State administrators of Correctional Institutions (prisons) and inmates. There will be an ongoing, two week show of prison art and visiting prisoners will discuss their own work and the realities of being an inmate artist. Inmates, primarily from Norfolk and Framingham, will lead discussions on the politics of prisons, the myth of rehabilitation and prison reform. Also, there will be productions of poetry readings, dance and theater by inmate groups. There will be required readings of the writings of many of the visiting inmate lecturers as well as other materials, announced at the registration office. Registration begins Monday, December 9, in Room 1, John Adams Tower.

II. SOUTHWEST HOUSE COURSES: OPEN TO NON-SOUTHWEST STUDENTS ON SPACE AVAILABLE BASIS:

Please contact the houses where the courses are offered for registration information.

MACKIMMIE HOUSE is offering a number of 2-credit courses on Black Women in Prison, Minority Rights in the Legal System, Apartheid in South Africa, Dynamics of White Racism, and Capitalist Development. They are also offering many colloquia on sexism, racism, Third World Community, and the Women's Movement, along with other colloquia of an anti-imperialist nature. Anyone wishing to participate in the program must pre-register on December 10, between noon and 10 p.m. in Mackimmie main lobby. Registration fee is $10.

EMERSON HOUSE is offering a series of colloquia on dorm planning and decorating, and are restricted to Emerson residents. For more information inquire at the Head of Residence apartment in Emerson.

PIERPONT (PROJECT TEN) Intersession program is primarily limited to Pierpont residents. Information will be available later this week in the P-10 office. One colloquium open to Southwest residents includes "The Bible and Contemporary Faith Movements" - register in the Project Ten Office.

PATTERSON HOUSE is offering several colloquia on Macrame, Needlepoint, Paint and

turn to page 10

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS
Jerry Lazar
Editor-in-Chief
...
Bill Densmore
Managing Editor
...
Geoff Kurinsky
Business Manager
...
Dean Tucker
Executive Editor
...
Mike Kneeland
News Editor
...
Dave Eibel
Sports Editor
...
Steve Ruggles
Photo Editor
...
Mike Kostek
Below the Salt Editor
...
Sherwood Thompson
Black Affairs Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS
E. Patrick McQuaid
Five College Editor
———
Fred Gosiewski
State National Editor
———
B.J. Roche
Life-Style Editor
...
Bill Parent
Assistant Executive Editor
...
Kathy Sheehan, Frits Geurtsen
Assistant News Editors
...
Steve Saraceno
Assistant Sports Editor
...
Dennis Conlon
Assistant Photo Editor
...
Betsy Harkins
Circulation-Production Manager
...
Janice Lazzaro
Advertising Manager
...
David Sokol, Fred Weiss
Assistant Salt Editors
...
Cal Whitworth
Assistant Black Affairs Editor

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal views of the authors.

The Collegian subscribes to the Associated Press and United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

		Year
Semester
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9
Newsstand price:		10 cents
Faculty, staff:		5 cents

On-campus delivery guaranteed by 10 a.m.

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee.

Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow 2 weeks for delivery start.

The office of the DAILY COLLEGIAN is on the second floor of the Student Union on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone: 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. THE DAILY COLLEGIAN publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods or holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

the Departments of Physical Education and Leisure Studies and Services join to bid a fond farewell to
M.C.F. & P.A.M.

May they not find themselves and their Vega up a proverbial tree . . .

(a N.W. and S.F.S. production)

We Have An Airplane!

The Collegiate Flying Club has acquired a new 1975 Cessna 150

If you have ever wanted to learn to fly, now is the time. You can save 40% over others in the area.

Any faculty member, staff member, graduate student, undergraduate student and his/her wife/husband of the Five College Community is eligible to join.

Next Meeting — Wednesday Night, Dec. 11, 1974

Time — 7:30 p.m.

Place — Campus Center UMass Room No. 903

Egg Nog
BACARDI

Spirited Egg Nog. Nice and Easy.

Stir 12 oz. Bacardi dark rum into 1 qt. chilled Borden Egg Nog. Delicious.

BACARDI® rum

© 1972 BACARDI IMPORTS, INC., MIAMI, FLA. RUM 80 PROOF.

Christmas Cards

American Greetings
The very special way to remember . . .

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center

SEASON'S GREETINGS

We have the pleasure of announcing the opening of Stanley Hyde & Co. Just in time to dress up your holiday.

We also carry men's wrap coats & blazers, handbags & leather accessories. Come on in & browse!

(617) 546-7700
Bearskin Neck
12 South Rd.
Rockport, Mass. 0196

STANLEY HYDE & CO.
Leather Merchants
Since '74

264 No. Pleasant St.
(413) 256-8525

For treatment of alcohol abuse

Room to Move serves as a national model

This is the third article in a three part series by former Collegian reporter Mark Vogler on alcoholism abuse at UMass.

By MARK VOGLER
Special Correspondent

Reputed in collegiate circles to be the party capital of western New England, UMass also ranks as a leading think tank on the ills of alcohol abuse.

Room to Move (RTM), the drug drop-in and counseling center for UMass students on the second floor of the Student Union seems to be playing a major role in advancing efforts to encourage more responsible drinking patterns among the young.

RTM director Ronald C. LaFrance reports that local high school students as well as other Five-College area residents seek alcohol help and advice from the university facility.

Now in its sixth year of operation, the center is working with health officials and administrators in putting together a national model for other schools to follow.

Two alarming facts have spurred RTM into action:

—Management claims that more beer (2700-gallons a week) is moved by the campus center drinking establishment than any other bar on the entire eastern coast of the United States.

—The decline of illicit drug use and the lowering of the legal drinking age to 18 on March 1, 1973 in Massachusetts has triggered a sharp increase in alcohol consumption.

Some authorities here estimate that drinking has become a problem to 10 per cent of the 30,000-student population in this area.

"But it's not just a problem for those 3000," suggests T. Mellor of RTM.

"It's everybody's problem" he says, "because we're lacking education as to the effects of alcohol. Most of us are underestimating the potential danger that accompanies irresponsible use of this drug."

Mellor, who coordinates the RTM Education Team, says the center is taking a "collaboration approach," in pulling together diverse segments of the campus community.

He noted that in July the University Health Services hosted a conference on campus alcohol problems. Seventeen individuals representing a number of campus agencies attended, including the Department of Public Safety, Office of Veterans, the Office of Nonresidential Student Affairs, Human Services Coordinator for Residential Life and Room to Move.

Resulting from the conference was the formation of a university task force, headed by Dr. David Kraft, staff psychiatrist at University Health Service.

The Kraft team and RTM are working on a three-year grant proposal for a comprehensive UMass Community alcohol action program.

Staff Photo by Joe Martins

William "Ted" Smith...now a Room To Move counsellor.

RTM currently offers students a 24-hour hotline, informative workshops and seminars, one-to-one group counseling, spiritual alternatives, alcohol education and referrals.

The new program will intensify the available services on campus, according to William (Ted) Smith, a reformed alcoholic and working member of RTM.

"We'd not only meet the needs of the students on campus," says Smith, "but would eventually be able to reach out to the surrounding communities and even serve the state to some degree.

"The problem seems to be manifesting itself at an earlier age, so I think there is a definite need for going into elementary schools.

"At least some youngsters will be able to figure out why daddy comes home one night and beats mommy up and the nest night brings her home roses."

Smith says alcohol's detrimental effects on family life is one area which formal education fails to address.

Education is the thrust behind the alcohol action program. Rigorous training in counseling has been proposed for everyone from the campus bartenders and bouncers to the dormitory floor counselors.

Studies done by Mrs. Evelyn K. Duston of University Health Service's Division of Health Education indicate a valid need to educate floor counselors.

The majority of those counselors questioned said they did not see a drinking problem on their floor, directly conflicting with the assessments made by respective heads of residence.

"When a problem does occur, it becomes quite apparent that the general consensus on the floor is "We don't know what to do about it," Mrs. Duston says.

"We really need alcohol education on several different levels. We have to encourage people to ask themselves how much they drink and why they drink.

"Primary education can best serve as preventive education in catching the problems while they're small."

Barry W. Averill, director of UMass Health Services, says the "two-prong approach" is the best method in dealing with alcoholism.

"We have to keep in mind that we're dealing with tradition as old as society itself. We can despair and say the problem is terrible — but I don't think that will change it," he says.

"Education is of the utmost importance. And if that fails, then comes the second approach: identification, referral and treatment of the problem.

"But you're always going to have some people who are unfitted for society — and alcohol is going to be their way out."

According to several studies conducted — only five per cent of America's ten-million labeled alcoholics are skid row derelicts.

Dr. Thomas C. McBride, a UMass physician and medical director of Hampshire College, suggests that a part of the problem is coming up with alternatives to alcohol.

"Where was the last party you've ever been to when they didn't serve any alcohol?" he asks.

"It's become so acceptable that nobody has any taboo to hide behind at all. Students are really at the mercy of peer pressure all the way through."

At a semester opening concert in September which was sponsored by the UMass Student Government Association to "promote campus unity," 2046 gallons of beer were consumed in comparison to 690 gallons of coke. One police official estimated that 5000 students attended.

McBride stresses that "too much fun is equated with the heavy useage of alcohol."

"People these days seem to get some enjoyment out of getting drunk; and nobody seems to mind it though. It's really kind of shoddy," McBride says.

"My index of digust gets pretty high when I go to a UMass football game. They are really a disgrace. Watching kids tap a keg in the stands...it's a hell of a thing to show a pre-adolescent child."

"A sporting event is something to do with health and what does on at the UMass stadium is not a very good image of athletics."

For those students who choose not to drink in the stadium, post-game parties are advertised by air planes circling overhead or by "beer bash" banners waving through the stands.

RTM is helping to create a community awareness to the alcohol problem by sponsoring workshops and seminars featuring distinguished authorities in the field.

On a panel at the university in November, Anne Demont of Rutland Heights Hospital was invited to participate. The Worcester facility is considered to have one of the most innovative programs in the country.

End of Series

Staff Photo by Joe Martins

Pouring and drinking beers...a common occurrence since the drinking age was lowered to eighteen.

ROOM TO MOVE
drop-in center

Student Senate organizes conference to improve university

Students who care enough to do something to improve UMass have shown some real initiative. The Academic Affairs Committee of the Student Senate is sponsoring, and has organized, a conference, with its own "curriculum" and "academic content", about the University.

The conference is organized for the two week period from January 13-25, to be held in the Campus Center. There is no cost and credit can be obtained for participation. The specific aim of the conference is explained below.

The H.Q. is the Academic Affairs Office, (S.U. 403). The program is open for suggestions, topics and expertise in related subjects. The conference is intended to serve student needs and wishes to be sensitive in these areas.

There is a "sign-up" book in the Academic Affairs office which is non-mandatory "pre-registration", related to a survey of interest.

"If you do not know how to govern yourself, who does? The University is giving "answers" to this question every day, whether you know it or not. The conference intends to describe both how a university operates and who operates it," said Dudley Phillips, assistant project organizer.

"If you have to miss this happening, the issues will be here when you get back. The administration and legislature never left," he added.

Send suggestions to the Academic Affairs Office, or drop by.

There will be a special newspaper which will parallel the conference, named the "Broadside". Its function is to give a commentary on the issues and to give a "transcript of the action."

"Students at this University interact within a governance system that is complex, and resistant to change. Often students feel powerless in affecting the quality of their lives here, due to their lack of training and understanding and mechanics of communication of the working system within the University. Students are presently in a position where little information about the system is made available to them through any systematic process and due to this their effect is minimized within the University Community," according to the rational of the Conference.

"Historically, students have been excluded from the decision making process of the University, but they have a need and a right to be included in the process of management and change. The University operates as a governance structure made up of faculty, students and administrators and if students are expected to function in a meaningful manner within this system, they should have more information available to them about the system and its issues which will help to develop their insight into the problems that they confront," the rationale continued.

Most topics will be dealt with through the course of one or two meetings, but several topics will be handled through classroom environments that meet daily over the two week period. These classes will be designed to meet needs in particular skill areas that more advanced students may need. The conference will be geared to relate to two target groups, first, those who are already involved but lack specific interrelated information that helps them deal most effectively with the system, and those students who are currently disenfranchised with the system who would like to become more involved but lack the mechanisms to do so.

Proposed Conference Topics include:

Teacher evaluation, the history and the student perspective; Special Programs and the change in the methods of higher education; The Department, and how its politics affect education; Lab Fees, are they a tuition raise?; The Student Affairs Office does it work for students?; Trustees, what's their role in the university structure?; Teaching clinics, how can they become more effective?; Affirmative Action, how does the university respond?; Communications, How should they be improved?; Use of Computers in Education; and Goals of the University who makes them and what are they responding to?;.

Goals of the Students how can they best be assessed and what are they?; Models of Innovation A presentation of change throughout other areas of the country; Faculty Unionization why, what and where; Student Dissent and Apathy Is it real and if so, can it be changed?; The Dynamics of Conflict politics at the University; The Political Economics of Education; and The Social Effect of Education A behavioral - approach to education.

Also The Ideal of the University; Student as Nigger; Grades vs Learning do they relate to achievement?; Alternative Learning Environments and how to create them; Researching the University; and Grant Writing A how-to-do-it seminar.

Also The University, students and the law; Current Trends in Higher Education the national perspective; The Academic Periodicals and a discussion of recent articles; The use of colloquia as a social catalyst; Collective living another method of education; The Dorm Governance System and some alternatives to the current systems; The Student Response to Faculty Unionization - student unionization; The Sociology of Education; and Community Organizing a course in inquiries into methods and issues.

TODAY'S STAFF
Walt Powers
Issue Editor

Bill Densmore
Night Staff

Fred Gosiewski
Wire Editor

Jack Haskell
Nita Pullara
Editorial Staff

Dan Smith
Photo Staff

Jay Luppold
Ben Caswell
Sports Staff

Ernie Rotman
Ad Layout

Sooner or later you'll come to BEAU Britches

Bacardi dark rum for what?

Enjoy it with cola or your favorite mixer, like ginger ale. And use it like whiskey in Manhattans, Sours, soda, water or on the rocks.

BACARDI® rum. The mixable one.

© 1972 BACARDI IMPORTS, INC., MIAMI, FLA., RUM 80 PROOF.

THE CHEESE SHOP

A "HOLE" NEW THING

fresh daily

8 VARIETIES OF DOUGHNUTS
all homemade 79¢ for 1/2 doz.

also FRUIT & NUT BREAD and BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

26 Main Street, Amherst 253-2760
Monday-Saturday 9:30-6:00

THE CHEESE SHOP

HANUKKAH CARDS

American Greetings

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Open Wed. Nite 'til 8

Infirmary
(In An Emergency)
9 549-2671

Christmas at FACES

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE IN AMHERST
Open 9:30-9:00

FACES OF EARTH

Ehrlichman cries as coverup detailed

Nixon discussed possible pardons

WASHINGTON [UPI] — John D. Ehrlichman wept on the witness stand yesterday as he described how Richard M. Nixon, himself in tears, asked him to resign last year when the Watergate cover-up began to unravel.

Ehrlichman's wife, Jeanne, seated in the front row, also struggled to hold back tears as he recalled the end of his relationship with the former president.

U.S. District Judge John H. Sirica immediately called a brief recess so Ehrlichman, one of five former Nixon aides now on trial for the cover-up plot, could regain his composure.

Questioned by his attorney, Ehrlichman described how he was summoned to Camp David, Md., on April 29, 1973 — forewarned in advance by H. R. Haldeman that Nixon would request him to resign. He said he found the president on the terrace of Aspen Lodge, the presidential quarters at the mountain retreat.

"He said in substance that this was a very painful conversation for him," Ehrlichman said. "He obviously was very emotionally upset...he broke down at one point and cried.

"He said he regretted very much having to take this step; that he felt I had tried to be his conscience. I replied that I hadn't been as effective as I would have liked.

"He said in reflection my judgment had been correct and that he would like to help me with attorney fees if I needed them. He said he had a large sum of money that he could share, but I said I couldn't accept the offer. He asked if there was anything else he could do for me."

At that point, Ehrlichman's voice began to break and his hand trembled as he reached for a paper cup of water.

Ehrlichman was the second witness at the 11-week-old trial to break down on the witness stand. The first, Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer, began to cry as he recounted how he had betrayed a friend by soliciting money from him that went toward payoffs for the Watergate burglars.

Earlier Ehrlichman testified how Nixon discussed possible pardons for the Watergate burglars as he and the former President walked along a beach near his Nixon's California estate.

He did not indicate who raised the issue, but said he advised the President — and Nixon agreed — that granting pardons to the bugging team would be a risky business.

Sirica, meanwhile, agreed to admit as evidence — with a number of deletions so as to protect the rights of other defendants — notes Ehrlichman took while investigating Watergate for Nixon in the spring of last year and a handwritten report he submitted to the President on April 14, 1973.

Ehrlichman testified that he undertook that task on Nixon's orders because the President viewed the upcoming Senate Watergate hearings as a "political threat" and wanted all the facts.

"We were walking on the beach when the subject of executive clemency was raised in the context of the fate of the people accused in the Watergate burglary," Ehrlichman testified. "That's the first occasion I first recall any conversation with the President on that subject."

He said their talk took place in San Clemente July 8, 1972.

Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn bows his head after accepting his Nobel Prize for Literature yesterday in Stockholm Sweden.

Solzhenitsyn accepts award with gratitude

Compiled from Wires

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Russian author, accepted his Nobel Prize yesterday, saying it had prevented him from "being crushed by persecutions."

Solzhenitsyn was awarded the prize for literature four years ago but remained in the Soviet Union, fearing he would not be permitted to return once he left. Last February he was arrested and forced into exile. He now lives in Zurich, Switzerland.

The famed author, in a brief but biting speech at the award banquet, thanked the Swedish Academy for granting him the prize, saying it gave him "enormous support...and prevented me from being crushed in the severe persecutions to which I have been subjected."

Solzhenitsyn's $94,000 prize for 1970 already has been paid into a Swiss account. The 1974 prizes were each worth $123,000 but some of them were divided among one or more winners.

The Communist countries refusing to attend the Stockholm ceremony were the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary and China.

Government files antitrust suit against tv networks

Nixon attempt in 1972 rejected

LOS ANGELES [UPI] — The Justice Department yesterday revived civil antitrust suits charging the three major television networks illegally monopolized broadcast time by producing their own entertainment program.

A federal court here dismissed similar suits Nov. 13 after network layers argued the litigation started in 1972 was a political reprisal by the White House for network reporting the Nixon administration regarded as unfavorable.

The court dismissed the suits "without prejudice" so they could be filed again.

Separate suits were filed against the American Broadcasting Companies Inc., the National Broadcasting Co. Inc. and Columbia Broadcasting System Inc.

The suits asked for court injunctions to prevent the networks from obtaining financial interest in any entertainment programs produced by others except for the first-run right of exhibition, prohibit syndication of entertainment programs, prohibit transmitting any television programs they produced themselves and prohibit them from using their control of broadcast time to block competition in any other field.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas E. Kauper, in charge of the antitrust division, said the department wanted to restore competitive programming in the television industry to the benefit of viewers and advertisers.

The department said the three networks spent more than $1 billion for television programs in 1973 and received revenues exceeding $1.4 billion.

The suit said the networks maintained the alleged monopoly by:

—Excluding programs in which they had no ownership interest.

—Compelling outside program suppliers to grant the networks a financial interest in programs they accepted for broadcasting.

—Refusing air time to advertisers and outside program suppliers who sought to have their own programs broadcast.

—Controlling prices paid for television exhibition rights to feature movies.

—Obtaining competitive advantages over producers and distributors of television entertainment programs and of feature movies.

Kauper said the suits do not affect news, public affairs, documentaries and sports programs.

Mills reportedly quits chairman position

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Rep. Wilbur Mills, troubled by poor health and his association with a striptease dancer, asked yesterday to be relieved as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, a colleague reported.

Rep. Joe Waggonner, D-La., who was visiting Mills at the time at Bethesda Naval Hospital, quoted the Arkansas Democrat as saying: "I want out."

"And that's exactly what he said — I want out," said Waggonner, who had undertaken a delicate mission on behalf of Speaker Carl Albert to sound out Mills on his plans now that his association with a stripper has eroded his power and prestige.

Albert had announced earlier that Mills, 65, would be giving up the chairmanship of the committee which handles taxes, Social Security and other financial matters.

Waggoner said he carefully questioned Mills as to exactly what he meant, and that Mills replied he was not physically able to continue as Ways and Means chairman but would not decide until later whether he would retain his 18-term seat in Congress.

YEAR 'ROUND EXTRA MONEY

Make money for yourself by selling Texas Instruments electronic calculators at a discount • No investment except for a sales presentation kit ($5.00) and as much time as you wish to spend • With your first sale (even if it's to yourself) your $5.00 is refunded, you have earned your commission, you have even started a scholarship fund in your own name, and we will pay up to 100% of your campus ads. If you are seriously interested in this program, write:

NATIONAL CAMPUS REPS
P.O. Box 49183, Atlanta, Ga. 30329
Send Name, I.D. Number, Complete Mailing Address, School and $5.00 for Sales Kit.

FAST • HOT • FREE DELIVERY

DOMINO'S PIZZA

December Specials

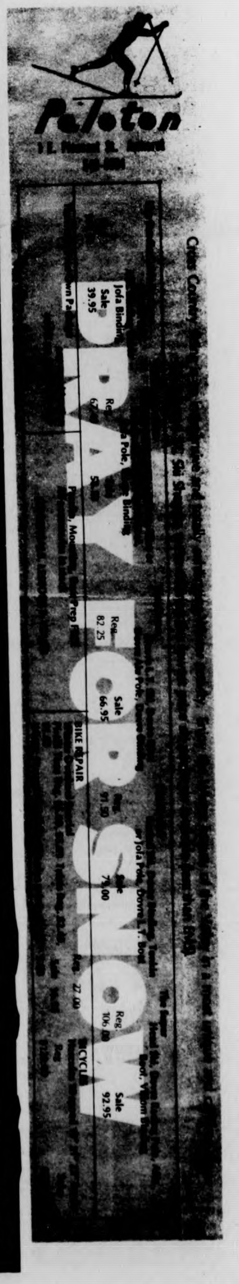
256-8587

OPEN DAILY — Mon.-Thurs., 5 p.m.-1:30 a.m.; Fri., Sat., 4:30 p.m.-2:00 a.m.; Sun., 4:30 p.m.-1:30 a.m.

Domino's has found the secret to successful pizza delivery; deliver it FAST. Deliver it HOT. Deliver it FREE. And make a QUALITY product at a REASONABLE PRICE. Domino's puts it all together ... and SUCCEEDS.

11 WED. 30¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
12 THURS. 30¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
13 FRI. 2 Free Pepsis Any Large Pizza Except Plain
14 SAT. 2 Free Pepsis Any Large Pizza Except Plain
15 SUN. 20¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
16 MON. 50¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
17 TUES. 50¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
18 WED. Buy 1 Large Plain Pizza Get 1 Small Plain Pizza FREE
19 THUR. 25¢ Off Any Large Pizza Except Plain
20 FRI. 2 Free Pepsis Any Large Pizza Except Plain
21 SAT. 2 Free Pepsis Any Large Pizza Except Plain

HAPPY BREAK DAYS



Tentative pact reached in mines

By United Press International

A tentative contract agreement for 4,000 striking mine construction workers yesterday raised hopes the country's coal production would be back in full swing next week for the first time in a month.

However, at least about 30,000 of the country's 120,000 miners were idled for the second day by construction workers picketing at coal mines. Most of the shutdown mines were in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois.

Leaders of the United Mine Workers union, which also represents the construction workers, predicted they would heed urgings to cease picketing.

"I would think those pickets would be substantially reduced later today (Tuesday)," a UMW spokesman in Washington said.

Coal companies in several states petitioned courts for restraining orders against the pickets.

The tentative contract agreement for the striking construction men, who build mining shafts, tipples and bathhouses, was reached at 2 a.m. EST Tuesday in Washington. Terms of the agreement were not announced.

The UMW bargaining council will act on the agreement today.

More Service This Fall

Peter Pan Takes You
Fast And Frequently RIGHT FROM The University Campus

TO BOSTON
Natick — Worcester — Springfield

ALSO TO NEW YORK
Hartford — Albany — All Points with New Service Direct to Hyannis and Cape Cod

New hourly service departs 7 a.m. thru 5 p.m., plus extra evening service. Natick and Boston non-stop trips every weekend.

For Tickets And Information Contact
PETER PAN BUS LINES
Campus Center Hotel
Univ. of Mass.
Tel. 545-2006
(If no answer tel. 549-6000)

CHARTER BUSES AVAILABLE TO ALL DESTINATIONS

WFCR 88.5 fm
IS — PUBLIC RADIO
Designed to serve the community
with programs for all listeners.

Christmas Gifts for the whole family stationary, pipes, tobacco, pens, sporting goods, toys and games.
A. J. Hastings
45 S. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.

Finast
COUPON VALUES THE FINAST WAY
Save ... With These Valuable Coupons from Finast!

FREE One 10¾ oz can Campbell's Tomato Soup — With This Coupon & Purchase of $5 or More. Limit one Coupon per Cusotmer. Valid thru Dec. 14 H749
FREE One 26 oz ctn Finast Salt Plain or Iodized — With This Coupon & Purchase of $5 or More. Limit one Coupon per Customer. Valid thru Dec. 14 H750
Save 15¢ With This Coupon On One quart jar Kraft Mayonnaise. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H717
Save 30¢ With This Coupon On One package 100 ct Tetley Tea Bags. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H715
Save 12¢ With This Coupon On One 16 oz package Pillsbury Hungry Jack Mashed Potatoes. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H718
Save 25¢ With This Coupon On One 10 lb bag Pillsbury Best Flour. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H716
Save 10¢ With This Coupon On One 14 oz pkg Keebler Coconut Chocolate Drop Cookies. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H720
Save 15¢ With this Coupon On 4 pkgs - 3¼ oz Jello Pudding. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H722
Save 10¢ With This Coupon On One 5½ oz pkg Scalloped Betty Crocker Potatoes. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H719
Save 10¢ With This Coupon on One 8 oz btl Pfeiffer Caesar Dressing. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H721
Save 12¢ With This Coupon On one 16 oz ctn Liquid Woolite Cold Water Wash. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H725
Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 64 oz ctn NuSoft Fabric Softener. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H723
Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 9 oz ctn Klean 'n Shine Polish. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H724
Save 13¢ With This Coupon On One 22 oz btl Lux Liquid Detergent. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H728
Save 10¢ With this Coupon On One 6 oz ctn Wizard Solid Air Freshener. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H726
Save 30¢ With this Coupon On One 157 oz ctn Concentrated all Detergent. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H727
Save 12¢ With this Coupon On One 4 oz can Right Guard Deodorant. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H758
Save 12¢ With This Coupon On One 7 oz can Gillette Dry Look Men's Hair Spray. Valid thru Sat. Dec. 14 H759

B&M Pea Beans — Brick Oven Baked Pea Beans 3 16 oz cans 1.00
Tomato Catsup — Del Monte Fancy Tomato 38 oz btl 79¢
Chunk Tuna — Del Monte Light 6½ oz can 45¢
Fabric Softener — Finast 4 quart btls 89¢
Goff Cat Food — All Varieties 5 7½ oz cans 1.00
Finast Soup Cream of Mushroom .. 5 10½ oz cans 95¢
Vegetable Soup Campbell's 5 10¾ oz cans 95¢
Tide Detergent 25¢ Off Label ... 84 oz pkg 1.80
Rug Cleaner 1-Hour Carbona ..... 24 oz can 1.39

Stock Up on Frozen Food the Finast Way
Sausage Pizza — Celeste - For Snacks or Parties 23 oz pkg 1.89
Chopped Sirloin, Salisbury Steak, Turkey
Swanson Dinners .... 11½ oz pkg 69¢
Apple Pie Pet Ritz .... 20 oz pkg 59¢
Strawberries Kern Sliced ...... 16 oz pkg 55¢
Green Beans Finast Reg Cut or French Style 3 9 oz pkgs 89¢

Sunrise Fresh Dairy the Finast Way
Cottage Cheese — Finast 16 oz ctn 59¢
Orange Juice Finast ..... half gal 69¢
Pillsbury Biscuits Sweet or Buttermilk 2 8 oz ctns 27¢
Corn Oil Margarine Finast 1 lb pkg 63¢

Health and Beauty Aids the Finast Way
Hair Spray — Miss Breck 13 oz can 79¢
Playtex Tampons .... box 30 1.69
Denture Tablets Polident .. box 40 99¢
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities

Quality Meats from the Best Meat Men in the Business!
Pork Loin Assorted Chops (Formerly Called Quarter Loin Pork Chops) 98¢ lb
Equal Amount of Sirloin Hip & Center Cut Chops
Formerly Called Pork Roast Rib Portion
Pork Loin Blade Roast Bone In 76¢ lb
Formerly Called Pork Roast Loin Portion
Pork Loin Sirloin Roast Bone In 86¢ lb
Formerly Pork Roast Rib Side 7-Rib 4 to 6 lbs
Pork Loin Blade Roast Bone In Half lb 88¢
Formerly Pork Roast Loin Side 4 to 6 lbs
Pork Loin Sirloin Roast Bone In Half lb 98¢
Formerly Country Style Pork Ribs
Pork Loin Ribs Country Style Bone In lb 98¢
Formerly Pork Roast Rib Side 7 Rib
Pork Loin Top Loin Roast Boneless lb 1.38
Pork Shoulder Arm Picnic 68¢ lb
Fresh Tender, Tasty Pork - Bone In
Formerly Called Fresh Pork Shoulder - Bone In
Formerly Fresh Spare Ribs
Pork Spare Ribs Bone In .... lb 98¢
Formerly Fresh Pork Butt
Pork Shoulder Roast Blade Boston Bone In .... lb 88¢
Formerly Beef Stew
Beef for Stew Boneless Chuck ..... lb 1.29
Formerly Ground Chuck
Ground Beef Chuck 5 lbs or more 95¢ ... lb 99¢
Formerly London Broil
Beef Shoulder Steak Boneless Chuck .. lb 1.59
Formerly Boneless Blade Steak
Top Blade Steak Boneless Beef Chuck .... lb 1.59

Boneless Beef Chuck Shoulder Roasts
Tender, Juicy Family Favorite
Naturally aged for tenderness and flavor
1.28 lb

Treat Your Family To Mr. Deli Favorites!
Imported Ham half lb 89¢
American Cheese ... lb 1.29
Dandy Loaf Carando ...... lb 89¢
Liverwurst Kahn's A/C .... lb 89¢
Roast Beef .... qtr lb 79¢
Available in Stores with Mr Deli Dept

Iceberg Lettuce — Fresh Crisp Heads 3 hds $1.00
First O' the Fresh
Jumbo Celery 3 bches $1.00
California Lemons.. 6 for 49¢ Red Radishes........ 6 oz cello 10¢

In-Store Bake Shop
Hard Rolls — French dozen 69¢
Rye Bread or Pumpernickle 1 lb loaf 55¢

Prices Effective thru Saturday, December 14, 1974

Quincy police get machine guns

QUINCY [AP] — Quincy police will be given an undisclosed number of machine guns and shotguns to fight crime in this Boston suburb, the mayor said yesterday.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon said, "We are serving notice on anyone who decides to commit a crime, whether it's running a red light or committing an armed robbery, that they will be dealt with severely."

Police Chief Francis Finn cited robbers' recent use of sawed-off shotguns and said the high-powered weapons would give his men an equal chance in fighting crime.

Unmarked cars on organized crime, night surveillance and burglary duty will carry the shotguns, according to the mayor. The machine guns will be stored at police stations for use in emergency situations.

Hannon said the city would pay for the weapons, which he said would "put people on notice that if they're coming to Quincy to commit crimes, we'll be ready for them." He said armed robberies have increased by 33 per cent in the last year.

John W. Roberts, executive director of the Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts, said "the introduction of heavy weaponry into the arsenals of local police departments dramatically illustrates both the need for state weapons standards and the need to involve the citizenry in the process of setting policy on police operations."

Marijuana enlarges breasts?

BOSTON [AP] — Heavy longterm marijuana smoking may feminize a small percentage of the people who use the drug, according to two Harvard Medical School surgeons.

Drs. John Harmon, chief surgical resident at New England Deaconess Hospital and Menelaos Aliapoulios, a surgeon at Cambridge Hospital said the drug probably affects both sexes.

They said they are currently studying and treating 16 men whose breasts apparently became enlarged as a result of smoking marijuana. Tests and examinations have ruled out other causes, the doctors said.

They said male rats injected with marijuana's psychoactive ingredient, THC, undergo feminizing changes, as do some patients who use the heart muscle stimulant digitalis.

"So, if a woman smoked marijuana, even heavily, she might have one chance in 100, say, of increasing her breast size," they said.

N.Y.S.E. Volume Profile
UP 965
UNCHANGED 445
DOWN 423

DOW JONES AVERAGE 30 Industrials
Closed at 593.87
UP 13.93
Dec. 10, 1974

news summary

Parks appointed

BOSTON [AP] — Boston Model Cities director Paul Parks was named today as the state's new scretary for educational affairs.

The announcement came in a pre-taped television news conference by Gov.-elect Michael S. Dukakis, who appeared with Parks.

Parks, a black, has been in the forefront of the drive to implement the federal court order requiring school desegregation and forced busing in Boston.

He will replace Educational Affairs Secretary Joseph Cronin, who will take a similar job in the state of Illinois.

Senators denounce PLO

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Reflecting disenchantment with the United Nations, 71 senators yesterday declared the Palestine Liberation Organization "a direct threat" to U.S. foreign policy. They called on President Ford to rally American allies in resisting "political and economic blackmail."

Strike continues

BOSTON (AP) — No settlement was in sight yesterday as Boston's port facilities remained closed in a strike by the International Longshoremen's Association against the Boston Shipping Association.

Union officials disagreed about the national effects the strike would have.

Longshoremen's President Thomas Gleason hinted that ILA members in 34 other ports from Maine to Texas might strike in sympathy with Boston members if the strike here continues.

Buses collide

BOSTON [AP] — Two buses taking students to English High School collided Tuesday morning, injuring 31 of the teenagers, none seriously.

A school department spokesman said there were 60 to 65 students on the buses when they collided near the school. The 31 were treated at Children's Hospital and discharged.

A spokeswoman at the hospital said the most serious injury was a sprained neck.

If you want to play the percentages, Rockwell has The Answer.

20R Electronic Calculator with Memory and Percent. The Answer.
$49.95

Rockwell's 20R Electronic Calculator with memory and percent capabilities puts the answers at your fingertips. This simple-to-operate machine can also handle discounts and mark-ons automatically and has a built-in memory that can carry out 2 separate calculations at the same time, and then intermix them. It's The Answer for most business problems.

UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
Open Wed. Nite til 8

The preppie speaks

By BILL DENSMORE

Nobody's perfect and readers surely get tired of a publication which calls other kettles black or gets on a moral soapbox. Nevertheless one of the most serious problems on campus has passed by this paper's Board of Editors virtually without comment.

That problem is booze. Not that it exists — that isn't the problem. Nor is the problem on campus how people choose to deal with alcohol. At least that certainly isn't the problem for this paper.

I am not advocating a return to the moral absolutism of Prohibition. We support and defend the 18-year-old drinking age as strongly as the spring day it took effect one-and-one half years ago. It is not the function of the state to organize individual action which has no direct effect on others.

The problem is counselling. For student alcoholism (which I believe is rare) and student alcohol abuse (which I believe is prevalent) are the most obvious and pressing example of the need for better counselling on this campus.

If there is any way the UMass-Amherst administration can be useful, it is by setting itself up as the willing advisor to student rather than parent. Some administrative areas, like the University Health Services, are wholly dedicated to the needs that students express, as opposed to what society needs of students. This, is the true mission of a University.

Of 78 new positions the UMass-Amherst administration has requested in the fiscal 1976 budget, only in the case of three can it be argued in any way that the new positions will provide counselling for students.

One is in the Vice-Chancellors' office, one in Admissions and one is in Financial Aid. Yet only the Financial Aid position includes direct contact with students.

The fiscal 1976 budget for the Amherst campus reflects a 6.8 per cent funding increase for academic programs, a 19 per cent increase in academic support programs and a 24 per cent increase in physical plant operations, mostly fuel price increases.

Yet services for students will only be funded 6.9 per cent more than this year — a total of $4.2 million dollars out of a total Amherst campus budget of just under $72 million. All the other student services outside of Whitmore — the Campus Center, the Student Union, the dorms, Health Services — are paid for by student fees. They are not allowed to hire more personnel for counselling or anything else because they must balance their budget so there will be no fee increases.

President Wood once said in an interview with this editor that the function of educational administration so that "somebody who wants or needs something gets a straight answer."

He said the function of administration is to provide courses, career and professional opportunities and advising. He said an administration should make people feel like they are people.

"The real question is if when you're clear as a student about what you want, that there is some way to achieve it," he said.

The sad thing is that what Wood says sounds exactly like the aims of the Student Organizing Project. By his own words, this campus is not meeting the needs of a majority of students if they feel they are getting the runaround, or can't help, or are afraid of being out of a job, or simply don't know what they're doing in UMieland.

Do you know what you're doing?

If you don't, be sure not to talk to David A. Booth, a political science professor and chairman of the faculty senate. He won't help you.

Both told this editor last month over the telephone that quality faculty with adequate support services — meaning paid slaves to do their typing — is the meat and potatoes of a campus. Never mind student services.

"All the rest is the means to an end," he said, asked to comment on why there are no new positions for counselling in next year's budget request. Where does he want more growth? "I would say faculty is where we want to see more growth take place," he said.

And then, incredibly, he made this remark "off the record." He said:

"I don't see why more money needs to be put into more student services when students don't appreciate the services."

Remember, David Booth is spokesman for the faculty senate, one of the groups on campus which is supposed to advise and counter the administration, not become its mouthpiece.

Even Ken Dean, the head of residential life has sold out to the attitude in Whitmore and the President's office that academics get money instead of student services.

"We're not going to build any more dorms or dining halls," he said in another interview. "You're looking at a no growth budget in terms of people."

Remember, Ken Dean is the man in charge of running the dormitories and dining commons. But he says he wasn't even consulted when the new budget was made up last spring. Asked if he agreed with the budget's priority on academic support services instead of student counselling and service, he said:

"I haven't seen the damn thing and nobody told me anything about it." Of course that was two months ago. Maybe now he has seen the budget that he was supposed to have had a hand in putting together.

And we wonder why students get shafted.

How could students get more money? Says Dean: I would think the chancellor making a great change in his priorities would be all that's necessary to make that possible."

Perhaps the most clear demonstration of the administration's lack of interest in developing student counselling and services are contained in the public minutes of a November 12 meeting of the Trustee Committee on Student Affairs, headed by trustee Alan Shaler.

Present at the meeting were UM-Amherst Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Dr. Robert W. Gage, Mr. Thomas Doolan, UMass-Amherst admissions director and the President of the Graduate Student Senate, James Lindsey. From the Boston campus were several administrators, including Chancellor Carlo L. Golino, according to the minutes.

The first portion of the meeting was devoted to reviewing progress towards the major recommendations of the 1971 report on the Working Committee on Counseling, Advising and Support Services, (the so-called Gage Report).

The group began by noting the relative success of affirmative action, admissions programs and limited success at attracting women to non-traditional studies programs.

Here are excerpts from the minutes:

"Dr. Gage was asked about the status of financial aid to middle-income students. He replied that, while the situation had improved, securing financial resources had proved to be a difficult problem..."

"Chairman Shaler asked what Affirmative Action had to do with counselling and advising which, he said, should be the focus of the report. He reiterated that an end to the 'in-house' approach to counseling is imperative, and that counseling services should place an emphasis on "outreach."

"Dr. Gage was asked how many new positions had been added to the staff since the Gage Report. He answered that none had been added — the staff had been reorganized in an effort to improve services..."

Mind you, this is over a period (since 1971) when perhaps 300 new faculty were added to the campus, and a proportionate number of staff support positions.

Gage went on to say, according to the minutes, that affirmative action and the merger of personal and career counseling are the areas of greatest success over the last few years. He went on:

"The area which he (Gage) felt least satisfied, he added, was in the recruitment of low-income, minority and non-traditional students; this was due, he continued, to a lack of resources.

"Speaking on the positive side, Mr. Preston (Student Affairs staff) cited the change in the philosophy of the student affairs staff; on the negative side, he cited the inability to generate greater funds for Student Affairs purposes.

The minutes go on the report that Boston chancellor Golino said there was "nothing done" in student counseling and advising from 1971 until his arrival on that campus in 1973.

Maybe this isn't typical, but this editor in over five years on campus never had access to a counsellor or advisor who he felt could provide access to campus programs, or even describe what alternative programs are available. Everyone knows the CASIAC advising office is pitifully understaffed. You have to wait in line to talk with someone about changing a major.

So we all go out and get smashed. And no wonder, if this is the way life is going to be.

One of the things about being managing editor of The Collegian is that you get to talk to a lot of administrative types. And they have to listen because they know you have the power of the press behind you. You try to use it responsibly, not to rock the boat unless it needs rocking.

Well I'm sick of being objective and fair and accurate. I think a tremendous injustice is being done to the students who attend this University.

A couple of the myths are:

— the myth that a University education per se somehow prepares us to go out and get a job. There are a lot of experiences associated with going to a University, and going to class is maybe one third.

— the myth that this campus is non-traditional and innovative and doesn't want to be like Harvard. The goal of academics and faculty and educational administrators is academic excellence and never mind whether the students care if they're being taught by John Kenneth Galbraith or Milton Friedman. Why does President Wood want a law school and a medical school and sexy graduate programs? Because he wants to make a name for UMass around the country and for himself. And the only way you do that is by establishing an institution dedicated to academic excellence.

— the myth that the function of a University is to prepare students to fill society's jobs and roles. As a practical matter, this one is true in a state institution, however distasteful this may be to UMies who wish to challenge the world as it stands. We get our money from the State Legislature. And the State Legislature, though operating with the best of intentions, is not about to challenge the institutions of society.

The myth that the function of a University is to prepare students to fill society's jobs and roles is an especially insidious one because it actually strikes at the heart of the academic process.

We are not here to live up to the expectations of society. We are here to challenge them. The only justifiable reason for having great Universities in the United States, in my view, is to harbor the leftovers of society. The people that couldn't make it.

And more to them. Because those are the people who are the future of this country. They are change. The ones who can't hack the system and are so sick of the political rhetoric that they reel when they think of leaving the academic community head on.

Then there are a few who challenge, who try to change things. Pity them. There's is a miserable, fruitless and depressing life. For one iota of change, for one bright light, for one indication that man is essentially good and won't self distruct — they go on. For them we need the Universities.

The function of administration is to reflect the fears and concerns of students, to give them credibility and communicate them to the outside world. All students need is a little support — a ray of support — the confidence that somebody up there in Whitmore once was as scared and inexperienced and frustrated as them. I see that in some administrators. But somehow it gets lost in the rhetoric and the bureaucracy.

What I am looking for is a very simple thing. It is a willingness to try, to be open to new ideas however far out. What I want to hear from an administrator is this:

"Well that isn't our view of what a University is for, but let's try it out and see if it works."

I'm asking an administrator to face up to the realization that maybe what seems best is not what the Legislature is willing to pay for. What seems best may not be what the citizens of Massachusetts will support.

I'm asking an administrator to say, "I'm going to do this even if it costs me my job because it's what the students want and I agree with it."

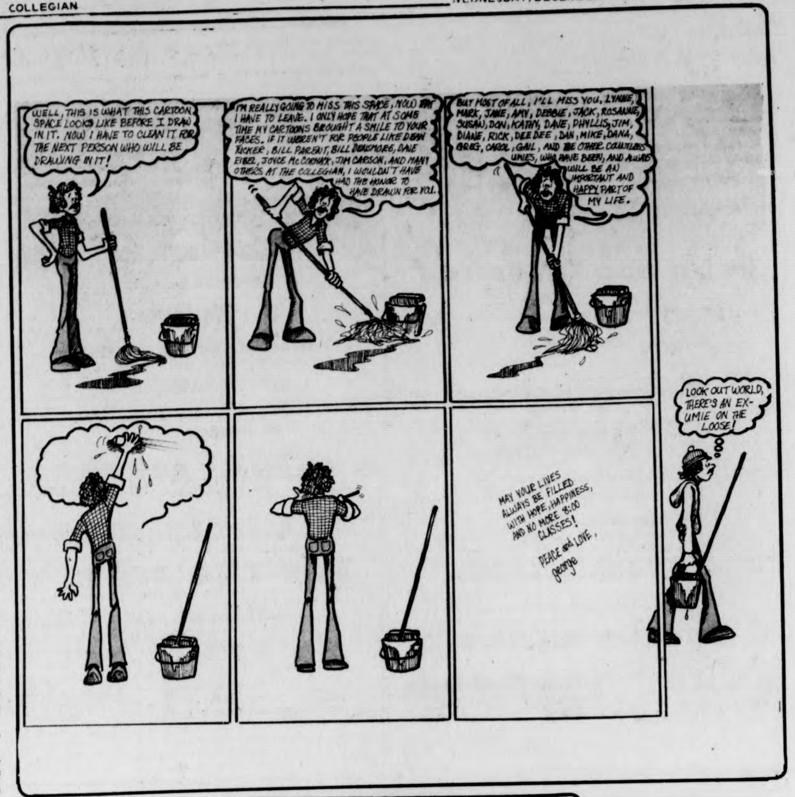
That's what a University is all about. Even if it is state funded.

I can't help coming back to what President Wood said:

"The real question is if when you're clear as a student about what you want, is there some way to achieve it?"

I don't see the kind of leadership which will challenge society on this campus. So why should I bother? I think I'll get a job this spring if the economy is OK and go to work for the system. And you wonder why booze is a problem?

Bill Densmore is the outgoing Managing Editor of The Collegian



WELL, THIS IS WHAT THIS CARTOON SPACE LOOKS LIKE BEFORE I DRAW IN IT. NOW I HAVE TO CLEAN IT FOR THE NEXT PERSON WHO WILL BE DRAWING IN IT!
I'M REALLY GOING TO MISS THIS SPACE, NOW THAT I HAVE TO LEAVE. I ONLY HOPE THAT AT SOME TIME MY CARTOONS BROUGHT A SMILE TO YOUR FACES. IF IT WEREN'T FOR PEOPLE LIKE DEAN TUCKER, BILL PARENT, BILL DENSMORE, DAVE EIBEL, JOYCE McCORMACK, JIM CARSON, AND MANY OTHERS AT THE COLLEGIAN, I WOULDN'T HAVE HAD THE HONOR TO HAVE DRAWN FOR YOU.
BUT MOST OF ALL, I'LL MISS YOU, LYNNE, MARK, JANE, AMY, DEBBIE, JACK, ROSANNE, SUSAN, DON, KATHY, DAVE, PHYLLIS, JIM, DIANE, RICK, DEE DEE, DAN, MIKE, DANA, GREG, CAROL, GAIL, AND THE OTHER COUNTLESS UMIES, WHO HAVE BEEN, AND ALWAYS WILL BE AN IMPORTANT AND HAPPY PART OF MY LIFE.
MAY YOUR LIVES ALWAYS BE FILLED WITH HOPE, HAPPINESS, AND NO MORE 8:00 CLASSES!
PEACE and LOVE, george
LOOK OUT WORLD, THERE'S AN EX-UMIE ON THE LOOSE!

Bill Parent

Good-bye Camelopard

The late George Frazier had a word for it, he took it from the Spanish - the word was Duende. In English, as so many things are it is a hard word to define. It connotes distinct individual character, not necessarily class because someone could have no class at all and still that may be their duende. Frazier could only describe it through illustration i.e. Ali has duende but George Foreman does not, Hemmingway but not Steinbeck, John Kennedy but not Ted, Joni Mitchell displays duende but not so with Judy Collins. That is the uniqueness of character that is duende. Incidently Frazier had it but Mike Barnicle does not.

And as I sit here watching the last Collegian of the year come out while the outgoing editors clear their desks of memos, telephone numbers, columns and memorable photos there is one person I watch pack it all up for good with a smile of sadness. For when this man leaves there is going to be a gap in the staff which will never be filled again. For if it is possible to love and hate a person for the same unmistakable personality that person has duende.

Dean Tucker is that man and I'll be damned if I'm going to let it go unnoticed.

At the T.O.C. his name brings disgust. At Ware River News where the Collegian is printed the words Dean Tucker bring fear and trembling only equaled in history to the first rumblings of the San Francisco earthquake. At his home in New Hampshire the mention of his name probably spurs a "Never heard of him, go away," type answer.

I first met Dean as a scared aspiring commentator. Tucker was sitting in his office a dark, bearded, fearsome, character with deep circles under his beady black eyes. He was surrounded by an ocean of papers and overflowed Campus Center ashtrays of Pall Mall butts. He read my commentary, blew his nose and told me to have one in same time next week. He then turned back to his typewriter swearing at the worn ribbon. I backed out of the office swearing I would never return to such arrogance, an act I must have repeated fifty times in the past year. But I kept coming back. I came back and got to know the man, got drunk with him, sat up all night draining bottles of Almanden, talking politics, talking women, talking journalism. I yelled at him over his desk and I listened as he called me everything from a journalistic hack to a preppie frat boy. But those experiences are all mine and mine alone.

But who is this guy Dean Tucker? This guy who thrives on making people hate him. This guy who keeps American Tobacco, Anheuser Busch, and Bayer Aspirin in business?

Some say a frustrated Hemmingway character, an Oliver Hardy or Curly, maybe a Neal Cassidy or a snotty Art Buchwald. None of these or all of the above.

I remember the time he came back from the Senate elections and wrote a column comparing the body to a circus company and Rick Savini to the male sexual organ. Or the time he told a bunch of Kappa Sigs they were just frightened jocks. Once he answered a call for Bill Densmore from some high administration person and told them to do something obscene with the phone.

There are some classic Tucker remarks too; after waiting ten minutes for a beer at the T.O.C. he went up and told the maitre'd that he had a nice place but that they should serve booze. When Dean first met B.J. Roche, the woman who is replacing him as executive editor, he asked her to the wrestling matches.

Dean has just a few things in this world he treasures above all else in this world, two of which he put up over his desk - one is a Nat Hentoff quote about fighting the battle worth losing and the other is a capias for his arrest from the Orleans Police Department.

So this is a good-bye to Dean Tucker as he leaves this mess. A good-bye to a respectless, fat, bearded beer drinking, sexist, who hits people low so that they will hit him back. A good-bye to one of the few student revolutionaries left who was nurtured in New Hampshire, kidnapped by the Coast Guard, arrested in a peace march or two during the sixties, and beat up by a woman of ill repute on Forty Second Street.

Good-bye duende.

Good-bye Dean Tucker, I'll see you again unless someone shoots you in the head first.

Bill Parent has been Dean Tucker's Assistant for the past year and is the new Editor-in-Chief of the Collegian.

Ed McQuaid

Fear of failing

Alone. Sitting alone at a desk cluttered with papers, open books, and bitten styrofoam coffee cups. Torn sugar packets and amber stained spoons; aborted term paper drafts crumpled, lying in some forgotten corner of the desk; thoughts, momentary meditations logged down in some notebook, never to be recorded in print, never to be read again.

A continuous sea of book titles and typed words begin to fade and blur; a stream of consciousness becomes a blizzard of heavy, tearing eyes and steaming coffee. I let my arms dangle and lean my head against the windowpane.

Within the past few hours I have become the resident expert on T.S. Eliot. Anything and everything written by or about the man was passed through my hands and eyes. By now my fingers are too well acquainted with the typewriter keys. I turn to them and pound out the last few lines of my paper.

"Perhaps the most fascinating aspect of Eliot's poetry is the symbolic..." My hands think for me now; they are dismembered from the rest of my body; they are a power source in themselves.

Dawn. The paper is concluded along with immeasurable hours of art history study and preparation for a final in zoology dealing with dental structure and oral hygiene. I drain the last drop of bitter, acetic coffee and leave for final classes.

People pass by weary-eyed, trudging through imaginary snow. There is no Christmas spirit in the advent of finals. Bartlett hall; three flights of stairs. My boots get heavier with each step. The first of several chains are broken. I watch the term paper lay on his desk. A slight breeze from the heater flips the leaves over gently one by one. His hand takes hold and places them under a brief case. They are gone from my sight; from my thoughts.

Somehow I manage to crawl the short, though seemingly endless distance to Herter Hall and collapse into a comfortable upholstered, lecture chair. My eyes slowly drop shut.

"I'm sorry the projector isn't working," comes an all-too-familiar-voice. I rub the sand from my eyes and perceive the form, the abstract form, of Dr. Abacus Groinvault, professor of Comparative Art History.

I must gather my thoughts together then. He passes out the blue books. Let me see; Ti Watching Hippotomus Hunt, Old Kingdom, ah, Naumberg Cathedral sculptures, 1250 to 1260. Notre-Dame, third Dynasty, no, Classical Greek, I mean, Archaic, no. That's not right. Maybe he won't ask that one anyway.

"As we only have one projector working, I shall show you one slide and you must remember all the details until I show the next one. Or, I can show you one and describe the other. Or, I can show you one and you can guess what the other one is. Either way it involves a lot of guess work on your part."

The first slide flashes before me. I squint. Never seen that one before. A rather gloomy looking picture though. Somehow I remember the title The Waste Land. Yes, that must be it. I label the painting The Waste Land, artist: T.S. Eliot; fourth dynasty, I don't know. They never read that stuff anyway. Fourth dynasty will do.

An essay question. What now? Let's see: "Briefly compare the sculpture of Michelangelo to any of his contemporaries. You may employ his painting in your essay also." I hesitate and bring a worn pencil to my lips. I begin: "The art of Michelangelo flows with the same harmony as the poetry of T.S. Eliot. Perhaps the most fascinating aspect of Eliot's poetry is the symbolic...."

The exam is over. By now I am wide awake and quite proud of myself on my performance. I am surprised that I know my material so well.

Feeling quite confident I stroll happily over to Morrill laboratories for my zoology final. I stop at the campus center and grab a fresh cup of coffee. I breath deeply the reviving steam and sip it slowly, enjoying every last drop.

I don't bother to look over my notes for one last time. I observe everyone else hurriedly scanning endless pages of anatomy notes. I am prepared; why should I worry?

The familiar blue books are passed out. I am amused at the startled expressions on various faces. I smile and turn to the first question. It is a list of selected essays; choose three out of five. What could be easier? I'll relate them all to one central theme.

"The maximall, mandible," I cross that out and start again. "The Zygomatic process, maxamil," I scratch that one hastily. "The jaw bone"; yes, that's good, I settle for that. After all, that's what it is. I continue: "The jaw bone is a most useful element of the facial structure. Without it one could not recite the poetry of T.S. Eliot. For example, the most fascinating aspect of Eliot's poetry is the symbolic..."

E. Patrick McQuaid is a Collegian Columnist

Letters to the editor

Where should we go?

To the Editor:

I'm scared. I'm Jewish and I'm really Fuckin' Scared.

I'm only 22, I used to not really be able to appreciate what life was like without Israel, without a "Homeland". Sure, I'd read about the Holocaust, I'd even been to Yad V'Shem and teared up somewhat. Sure, I'd "known" about the Russian pogroms and the Inquisition and that even the Chinese had massacred Jews for just being Jewish.

But I was comfortable in America. Fairly comfortable materially, although (Mom and Dad being in the shoe business) a hell of a long way off from being "Upper Middle Class Jews" and fairly comfortable socially. Being Jewish never, in my mind, set me apart from anyone else, it never really mattered except instead of celebrating Christmas we celebrated Chanukah (sometimes) and we could wet our toes in some of our Ethnic Background if we wanted to. I only had occasional direct affronts to my being Jewish. They were isolated and quickly passed off.

The wars go on. I cheer on Israel, somehow I'm Jewish and I intellectually "know" why I do. The Arab "Oil Weapon". (Read: Multinat'l Corporate Propoganda appears. I'm very Socialist oriented. I'd consider "Joining Up" if it weren't for Socialist Organizations pro-abortion and anti-Israel stands, even though I consider myself philosophically more radical than most of the socialists I know. Their arguments affect me, the "Palestinians" (Read: Southern Syrians) have indeed been shat upon. The Yom Kippur War breaks out, I get involved and Reaffirm my support and my doubts.

Now. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the U.S. Military makes blatant Anti-Jewish slurs, Spiced with "ya" know's as if we did. I finally realize how historically short the period of Jewish comfort have been, "the Arabs" get it together.

Yasser Arafat wants Israel replaced, replaced with a New Palestine. All well and good, I think, if it weren't for one thing. There would then be no Israel. Where could I go, when, and not if, the new programs start?

Richard Berman

Pathways save grass

To the Editor:

Doesn't anyone on this campus know how to use a pathway? I don't think too many do.

In the beginning of this semester the Physical Plant boys spent a lot of time and worked hard putting down blocks of sod in front of Worcester D.C., in the front of the Campus Center, and in a few other spots. These new additions were to add some brightness, some GREEN, some beauty, and a little oxygen to UMass. And what happens to it? Within days people walk right over this expensive sod, not even giving it a chance. It's bad enough when the weather is nice, but that stuff really takes a beating on rainy days.

If this senseless and unnecessary destruction continues, they might as well put Astroturf down around campus. It is not such a big sacrifice to walk around grass and use the path.

As asked to Stickboy "What do you like better, grass or Astroturf?" The reply was "I don't know, I never smoked Astroturf." Save the Quad, not pave the Quad. We need to clash with all the concrete and cement on campus a little greenery. In time. UMass will look like it did back in the 20's and 30's.

Russ Hinghay

Not the worse problem

To the Editor:

While the rest of the world goes hungry, or homeless, or naked; as the recession worsens, inflation rises, and unemployment climbs; as people die from gunshot wounds, painful diseases, overdoses, and tragic accidents, we, too, here at the University of Massachusetts have our problems.

After all, what could be more heart-breaking, more pressing, more tragic, than that poor freshman girl living in Orchard Hill who must listen to "such obscene noises as 'people going to the bathroom'."

I have written to my congressman about this problem, and he agrees that something must be done. Meanwhile, he has asked us all to be very, very quiet.

Stephen W. Doran

Lesser of two evils

To the Editor:

In reply to Richard Berman's letter of 11-21-74

(I wish here not to defend abortion, the arrest in the development of the human fetus, per se, but to realize its necessity in man's social development.)

From the time man groped and grovelled in tiny bands through the tropic jungles, he has been preoccupied with actualizing for himself (and his group) a society governed by all the ideals to which he aspired. Whether this man existed as a rebel splitting from his natural society to form a microcosm for his followers, or lived as a philosopher attempting to explain and repair the nature of humanity, man has been actively searching for an earthly Utopia.

Through history the regeneration of society into a semblance of Utopia, has been a painfully slow process; and ever more disheartening in that man has so great a climb before him in attaining "heaven on earth." In the time between those dark green jungles of yesteryear and the cold concrete jungles we frolic in today, man has been warring, raping, robbing, torturing, burning; and most of all, hating; and least of all, loving. Killing and destroying in creating a world of peace.

And still we continue to kill-for peace-so that our progeny, our children, may live in a loving world. But mankind is a child, growing and learning. Mankind may have matured physically, that is, technologically, but our strength in wisdom has not developed enough so that we may shoulder ourselves from out of our miseries. Yet you Richard, and others of like convictions, advocate the sanctity of human life. No corner of this earth, and no soul within it has become sacred. We are still foolish children. We war, we kill.

May you well chorus the end of abortion as a beginning to the end of sin. Bullshit, I say. What perverted reward can you receive when you shout "See those children?" I saved them from abortion!" and point a proud (?) finger at slivers of flesh and bone starving in the streets.

Abortion is an evil, yes. But until mankind grows in wisdom and strength enough to protect the sanctity of all life, abortion will be the lesser of two evils.

Nicoli Nikonczuk

Ms. Richmond is hurting in logic

To the Editor:

As I was reading the letter to the Editor by Ms. Richmond on Wednesday afternoon, I was bewildered by the fact that she felt like a fat, rich American. But alas, I realized that she must have, in someway, gotten off of the meal-plan. Under these circumstances, she would be able to save about $150 on meals, and since she could actually eat what she bought, her figurative fatness could become real. How stupid of me!

Now really. I'm sure all the students at Hamlin retain a basic perspective on world problems v. the minor ones. As a matter of fact, a large number of students are here at the university to better enable themselves to handle national or world problems at a later point in time. The question that now surfaces is whether we should allow ourselves to be shafted by a "professional administration" whose job it is to efficiently house and feed those of us who pay for these services.

The letter by Ms. Richmond is hurting terribly in logic. It's logic implies that because the White House has admitted recession and because people are starving to death at the rate of 10,000 a day, we should join the administration in their cute little game called "collective handsitting" when the nature of the problem hints of any self-interest.

Without attempting to again clarify the specific issue at hand, I will simply assure Ms. Richmond that the students at Hamlin are not really upset at having to move next semester. The general consensus here at Hamlin was that it would be much too noisy to habitate Hamlin during a major renovation. We are only upset at the manner in which the relocation of 170 students is being handled.

What surprises me the most about the letter by Ms. Richmond was that it was written by someone who obviously feels that all of one's energy should be constructively channeled. I wonder why Ms. Richmond wastes her time at Economic discussions and writing misinformed letters when she should be out repairing her neighbor's roof.

Drew Ryan

FACES OF EARTH
STOCKING STUFFERS
$1.00 AND UNDER INCENSE
BODY OILS
BELLS
BUBBLES
SOAPS
BANDANAS IN 8 COLOURS
PLASTIC BOXES
BEADS free string
SUPER STUDS
ROLLING PAPERS CLIPS
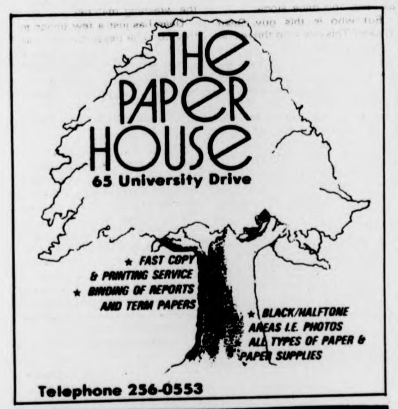
LETTER OPENERS
...AND WE'VE GOT THE STOCKINGS TOO...
NEXT TO THE AMHERST POSTOFFICE
FACES OF EARTH
NOW OPEN 9:30 ~ 9:00

Help us help you.
Use Zip Code.
Your Postal Service

UNIVERSITY OF PARIS-SORBONNE
SUNY/New Paltz Philosophy Year
Qualified undergraduates in philosophy and related majors can earn 30 to 32 credits; regular courses at Paris-Sorbonne (Paris-IV). The SUNY Program Director will help students secure housing, arrange programs and assist them in studies throughout the year. A four to five-week orientation and intensive language review will be held at the start. September 15 to June 15. Estimated living expenses, transportation, tuition and fees $3200 New York residents, $3700 out-of-state. for information, applications, write Professor Larry Holmes, Department of Philosophy, FT 1000, State University of New York, New Paltz, New York 12561. Tel (914) 257-2696.

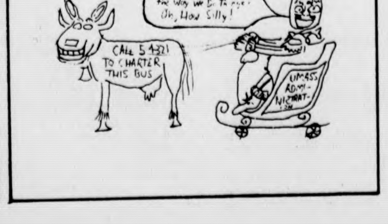


THE PAPER HOUSE
65 University Drive
★ FAST COPY & PRINTING SERVICE
★ BINDING OF REPORTS AND TERM PAPERS
★ BLACK/HALFTONE AREAS I.E. PHOTOS
★ ALL TYPES OF PAPER & PAPER SUPPLIES
Telephone 256-0553

Television Tonight

6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
I SPY "Oedipis At Cononus." (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24)(57)
PETTICOAT JUNCTION "Kathy Jo's First Birthday." (27)
NIGHTLY NEWSREEL (30)
DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
BONANZA "Journey To Terror" (40)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
THE BLACK EXPERIENCE (24)
MOVIE "The Rat Trap" (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
ZOOM! (57)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES Bob Barker, host (8)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "Teacher's Petrie." (18)
THE BIG NEWS 90 (22)
READY OR NOT (24)
TO TELL THE TRUTH Garry Moore, host (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
UNTOUCHABLES "The Underground Court" (56)
WOMAN "The Marriage Savers" (57)
7:30 SECRETS OF THE DEEP "Under The Caribbean." (3)
$25,000 PYRAMID (8)
THAT GOOD OLE NASHVILLE MUSIC (18)
THE WAY IT WAS (24)
THE NEW TREASURE HUNT Geoff Edwards, host (30)
DRAGNET (40)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 THE WALTONS "The Visitor" (3)
THE ODD COUPLE "Oscar In Love." (8) (40)
CHURCH WITH A VISION (18)
SIERRA "The Fawn" (30)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
THE WAY IT WAS (57)
8:30 PAPER MOON "Green Goods." (8) (40)
ONE REACH ONE (18)
OLGA (24)
ANIMAL WORLD (27)
DINAH! (56)
RELIGIOUS AMERICA (57)
9:00 MOVIE "The Professionals" (3)
THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO "The Twenty-Five Caliber Plague" (8) (40)
CHRISTMAS SPECIAL: "The Christmas Carol" (18)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
IRONSIDE "Speak No Evil" (30)
SOUL! (57)
9:30 AN HOUR WITH JOAN BAEZ (24)
10:00 HARRY O "Reasons To Kill" (8) (40)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
MOVIN' ON (22) (30)
BRUINS WRAP-UP (38)
HOLLYWOOD'S GOLDEN YEARS "Cornered" (56)
NOTHING BUT A MAN (57)
10:15 MOVIE "Godzilla vs. the Thing." (38)
10:30 CHRISTMAS SPECIAL "The Story" (18)
SOUNDSTAGE (24)
THE JOE HYDER SHOW (27)
11:00 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (8) (18) (22) (27) (30) (40)
CAPTIONED ABC NEWS (57)
11:25 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
11:30 WIDE WORLD SPECIAL "The Dick Cavett Show" (8) (40)
THE TONIGHT SHOW STARRING JOHNNY CARSON (22) (30)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN "Work" (2#)

Student Organizing Project
INTERSESSION PROGRAM
·Academic Credit
·$125 Grant
·Free Housing
·Jan. 6-24
·Learn useful skills
·Help your fellow Umie
·Choose your own topic
Apply by Dec. 13 SOP, 428A Student Union
A PROGRAM TO RESEARCH & ORGANIZE FOR CHANGE IN THE UNIVERSITY



Something Wrong In the Way we Do Things. Oh, How Silly!
CALL 5-4321 TO CHARTER THIS BUS
UMASS ADMINISTRATION

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY
From Our Beer and Wine Shoppe
Schlitz Beer
case of 24 12 oz cans $5.50
Champagne Chateau Suzanne 24 oz btl 1.89
Paul Masson Rosé half gallon 3.29
Rose Garden Liebfraumilch White Rhine 23 oz btl 1.89
Paul Masson Rosé Burgundy Chablis qt btl 1.99
Mountain Farms Mall Hadley
Finast SUPERMARKETS
Prices Effective thru Dec. 7
We Reserve the Right To Limit Quantities

WMUA

8:30 p.m. — HIGHTIDES — Mars enters Sagittarius today. The future is now.

10:15 p.m. — WE THE PEOPLE — Timely interviews, forums, discussions every second and fourth Wednesday.

11:00 p.m. — BMCP — Barry Williams takes you on a journey through the world of soul and meditative readings.

Join THE LAUGH BAG in our third week. More clues, lots of fun and prizes.

Tonite at 8:30 p.m. — Chick Corea's Return to Forever Concert taped by the MUA staff, Nov. 30 at Springfield's Sanderson Theatre. Don't miss it!

91.1 FM

More letters to the editor

Education cruel enticement

To the Editor:

I'm glad to see that someone is finally taking a sensible attitude toward the role of the United States as food producer for the world. Mr. Wagner should be commended for finally expressing the opinion which I'm sure many of us hold. Bringing the knowledge that there are better ways of life elsewhere to people in underdeveloped countries only makes them want more than they have. This constitutes a cruel enticement, and the practice should be ended immediately, for the sake of humanity.

Furthermore, why should we continue to torture the poorer members of our own society with promises of a prosperity that most of them will certainly never achieve? A much simpler, and much less expensive way to end the problem of hunger in this country is to cut back funds for education and development in poverty-stricken areas. By doing this, and by restricting the flow of people and information into and out of such areas, the inhabitants will gradually forget that there is a better way of life than theirs. They will accept starvation and death as natural parts of life, and will eventually die out, thus eliminating all poverty and its related crime and suffering from our population. In addition, the funds saved by this course of action could be put toward much more worthwhile causes.

Undoubtedly, if Mr. Wagner were in an important position, he would be nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize. It's time more people realized that the greatest threat to world peace is a well-fed, educated lower class.

Kevin Erkkila

Facing realities

To the Editor:

Re: the letter written by Bernard Devidow.

First of all, Bernard, I can understand why you cannot argue whether it is the woman's right to determine to have a child, because it is a decision to be made by the two people responsible for the pregnancy. And what do you mean, sir, by saying that the answer to "...why should women who get pregnant go thru the pain of having a child just to give it away" should be obvious? You say "this child has at least as much right to live as the woman has the right to have it". That's a very nice statement. Now let's face the realities.

There's only one good reason why a woman or a couple should have a child--because they want to. A child has the right to come into this world knowing he or she is wanted and will be loved. A woman shouldn't have to "go thru the pains of having a child" because you, or anyone else thinks she should pay her dues.

There are lots of unwanted children in this world. Some of them are suffering because they carry the emotional and physical scars of knowing they weren't wanted. And there's still a stigma attached to illegitimacy, and it's probably people like you who keep this "stigma" flourishing.

There's a bundle of children and adolescents living in orphanages because no one wanted them. Is this the kind of life a child has the right to, Mr. Devidow? Think about it.

A.M. Griffin

Education in slumberland

To the Editor:

This is a letter expressing my sincere gratitude to a few people on campus for making this semester one of the least memorable experiences of my entire life.

First I would like to thank my economics Prof for helping me catch up on all the sleep I missed.

Second, the guy who lived next to me all semester who played the Grateful Dead and the Who at levels beyond all human listening capabilities and was the reason I lost all the sleep I caught up on in Economics.

The author of my philosophy text should not go unnoticed. He made me realize what a problem illiteracy is today.

Finally, I would like to thank that person on the Board of Trustees with the white cement fetish who has made this place such a swell sight.

James Brett

What's the U.S.E.

To the Editor:

The U.S.E. is the Union of Student Employees. The Union of Student Employees is presently no more than an idea. The idea is to organize student workers in the Campus Center in order to protect against cutbacks in hours, our pay rates, and our jobs. The establishment of a group which would be recognized by the state government as a legal bargaining agent is the only way to guarantee some sort of security in these areas.

In dealings with the management of the Campus Center this semester, the student employees have run smack into an impenetrable attitude of negligence, insensitivity, and hostility. We are all familiar with the overtime crisis; a situation which was only solved after front page headlines and the possibility of a Federal lawsuit. Management has demonstrated a sluggishness in its efforts to correct some of the health and safety hazards that exist in the restaurant and bar areas of the Campus Center. Finally at the beginning of the semester, management consciously overstaffed the Hatch and the Coffee Shop, knowing they might have to cut back people's hours or, in fact, eliminate whole shifts. They did this completely disregarding the fact that all students are ineligible for both unemployment insurance and/or welfare. When cuts in hours finally came they were implemented without any prior notice to the students involved, or without any regard to financial need.

The management has not bargained in good faith with employees determined to improve their working conditions; they have broken promises, failed to uphold their end of compromises, distorted truths and misrepresented issues.

The management of the Campus Center will continue to ignore the rights of its student work force as long as that work force remains powerless.

It is clear that we can no longer depend on the good faith of management to protect our interests. Our only security lies in the procurement of a legal contract. We can only obtain this contract through the formation of a Campus Center student workers union.

Michael Bardslay
Milton Kerstein
Michael R. Bell

Choral appreciated

To the Editor:

At a time when our newspapers contain much discouraging news I'd like to take this opportunity to comment on a "bright note" on our campus. On Nov. 24 the congregation of the College Church in Northampton, Mass. had the privilege of listening to selections from Handel's Messiah - performed by the University Chorale. The performance was beautiful and much appreciated by everyone present - as shown by their applause. The tremendous enthusiasm of the Chorale members and their director, Dr. Richard du Bois, towards their music was a pleasure to witness. We can all take real pride in having such a distinguished, hard working group at the University. I hope the Chorale will always be an active group on this campus and wish them an enjoyable concert season. For a musical treat I suggest taking in one of the Chorales' local concerts - they'll lift up your spirits for sure.

Bob Spousta

Got a gripe?
Send it in a letter
to the editor!!!

Careful separation needed

To the Editor:

I would like to know whether the note which appeared in your December 10 issue announcing the lecture by an "anti-Zionist Israeli" reflects the opinion of the editorial staff of the Collegian*?*

This note states (among other things): "There are Israelis who oppose the racist European centered culture and policy of the Israeli government." Beside being a blatant lie and a distortion of facts nobody in this paper seems to be willing to take responsibility for it. Since this note is neither a letter to the editor nor a paid advertisement. I would suggest to the board of editors to make a careful separation between facts and opinions in the future issues of the Collegian.

Jehuda Greener

Commentary

The jig is up

By ROBERT SHEMELIGIAN

It's time. The bartender is yelling "last call," or, in other words -- "the jig is up."

Let the students finding themselves backed against a wall with piles of work to do and no time to do it, take a little comfort in their plurality. Procrastination seems to be the UMass way of doing things. The term "delay," is engraved in the vocabulary of people affiliated with campus construction or the physical plant. If these people are to be reprimanded, however, students are not the ones to do it.

People procrastinate in different ways and in different degrees. Some do it very little, and it is these people that will probably have a much better chance of survival in the real world, but the experience of putting something off is not unfamiliar to anyone.

Upon examination, the act of procrastination reveals itself to be hedonistically desirable. There is a unique pleasure to putting off doing anything that might better oneself academically for the sake of a couple of quick beers. There is a feeling of relief that accompanies the thought of "I don't have to worry about it until tomorrow." In short, to delay is probably the easiest thing in the world to do.

There are those who think explanations of human voices don't make them better. Surely there are many who are disgusted in themselves for merely putting off that physics journal until the last day. One may find these Sunday Catholics just leaving the dorm at 3 a.m. in search of that bottomless cup of coffee, or knocking on the dealer's door in need of about 25 crossroads. All that can be offered in the way of condolences is a fearful reminder that it will all be over anyway in about 10 days, or, in the words of a commentator's roommate, "its just one test in one course in one semester of your whole college career."

One could look at apathy positively. It is a special breed of students that would go after a fourth free game on the "King Cool" pinball machine rather than attack that annoying thirty page philosophy thesis.

There are many reasons for student apathy and academic procrastination, but the simplest explanation lies in the problem of the unfortunate student trapped in an atmosphere of an unfulfilling education. What could be more futile than a university that hands out degrees like fliers to future gas station attendants and factory workers. Of course students who devote all their energies to career planning instead of a desired education will fare better.

Remember UMies, "people who are not serious about the college learning experience don't deserve to reap the benefits that society has offered to them through the priceless opportunity of higher education." These are words that will be shoveled to future dropouts and college graduates who were not so much concerned with career planning. The people saying them are sugar daddies who are sending their kids to Yale before breaking them into the business. It's these puritanical Poor Richards and their children, and their children's children that the national testing institutions will base their optomistic statistics on the high income of college graduates compared to non-college graduates.

Does anyone know if the physical plant is still accepting applications for help?

Robert Shemeligian is a Collegian Commentator

Speed kills

Sports hotline
5-2210

PAYSAVER DISTRIBUTORS
THE CATALOG/SHOWROOM/WAREHOUSE
Introducing the Sansui® SR-212
Manual Turntable with Automatic Return
159.95
FREE! $29.95 Audio Technica with AT12E cartridge when you purchase the SANSUI SR-212.
The SR-212 ... for people who don't stack records, but like the idea of an automatic turntable. It features a stable four-pole synchronous motor, full-size aluminum alloy die-cast platter, statically-balanced s-shaped tubular tone arm with skating force canceler, signal to noise ratio of 45dB, wow and flutter at 0.1 per cent. Complete with walnut grained wooden base and hinged dust cover.
1351 Main St. SPRINGFIELD
1504 Northampton St. HOLYOKE
'Hamp Plaza NORTHAMPTON
87 Main St. GREENFIELD
BURT'S MINI-PAYSAVER Century Center WEST SPRINGFIELD
705 MEADOW ST. CHICOPEE your BANKAMERICARD welcome
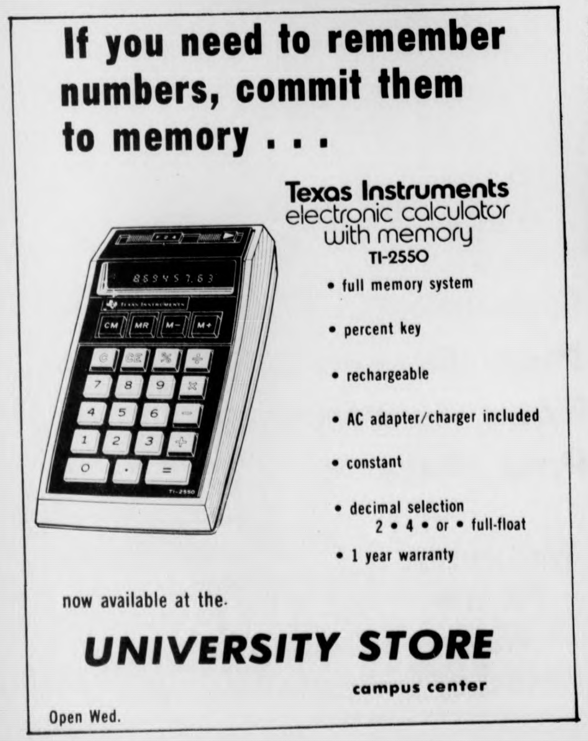
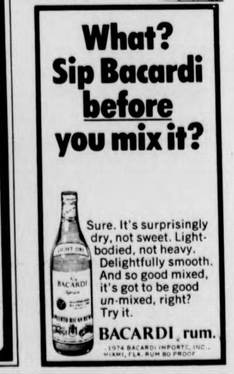
master charge



If you need to remember numbers, commit them to memory . . .
Texas Instruments electronic calculator with memory TI-2550
- full memory system
- percent key
- rechargeable
- AC adapter/charger included
- constant
- decimal selection 2 • 4 • or • full-float
- 1 year warranty
now available at the
UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Open Wed.

AMERICAN PARTS
AUTO PARTS
Christmas Specials Holiday low, low prices now!
all offers good until Dec. 31, 1974
Give him the tools the professional would buy.
Blackhawk HAND TOOLS
18-PIECE SOCKET SET set includes 3/8" reversible ratchet $16.75 reg. $39.63 SAVE $22.88
9-PIECE METRIC SET $7.85 reg. $16.53 SAVE $8.68
3/8" drive sockets 6mm to 14mm
ANTI FREEZE TESTER $1.44 reg. $2.85 ball type for ethylene glycol
POWEREADY LIFETIME BATTERIES
POWEREADY Lifetime Batteries are unconditionally guaranteed to last as long as you keep your car.
SCRAPER-SQUEEGEE with snow brush.....24" $1.13 reg. $2.00
SHOP WHERE THE PROS SHOP
ALLIED MOTOR PARTS
319 Main St.
AMHERST 256-8341



What? Sip Bacardi before you mix it?
Sure. It's surprisingly dry, not sweet. Light-bodied, not heavy. Delightfully smooth. And so good mixed, it's got to be good un-mixed, right? Try it.
BACARDI rum.
1974 BACARDI IMPORTS, INC., MIAMI, FLA. RUM 80 PROOF

MUA and the inner space race

By P. J. PROKOP
Staff Writer

The University of Massachusetts radio station, WMUA is feeling the pinch for space.

The station, since its inception in 1949 has been located in 42 Marston Hall. In the past 25 years WMUA has expanded and become a vital communications media serving the campus and the public. In January of 1972 WMUA's power was increased from ten to 1,000 watts, enabling the station to reach parts of Vermont and the Berkshires.

WMUA has long outgrown the 1,369 square feet of space they have in Marston. It is estimated by WMUA's Chief Engineer Gary McAuliffe, that the station needs at least 6,000 sq. ft. of space to operate efficiently and allow for future expansion. The extensive record library containing 25,000 albums and tapes (with an additional 50 arriving weekly) which requires 1,000 feet of space is now squeezed into 50 feet of space. This problem extends through all parts of the station, with no space being adequate to serve the station's needs.

Another major consideration in WMUA's demand for a move is the lack of a central location. "Isolation of WMUA is detrimental to us now," said Marc Berman, Station Manager of WMUA. Berman went on to say, "We provide public service, news and educational programming. WMUA has ceased to be a station concerned primarily with entertainment. This is illustrated in our increase in Black Programming (for which WMUA has the distinction of being the only station in Western Mass. to offer such programming), the Sunday News Collective which offers greater news coverage and more Women's programming. With an entire staff of eighty people, the station cannot operate in the amount of space now allotted to it."

"The present location of WMUA inhibits people from being involved in the station. We would like to see the station moved to the Campus Center, a central location where accessability to the station would be greatly improved. We once had space allotted to us in the Student Union, but due to financial problems and budget cutbacks we were unable to meet the deadline for moving the station, and thus lost the space to another RSO group," said Scott Bacherman, Program Director of WMUA. "We feel that WMUA has grown to the point that it should be considered as a major media source and should be on top of the list for prefered space in the Campus Center," added Berman. "WMUA, due mainly to its location, has been alienated from the rest of the campus community."

Essential to the success and co-ordination of WMUA are people like Barry Williams, Third World Affairs Co-ordinator, Mike Kolodziejczak, New Director, and Elish Broderick, Public Affairs Director. According to Backerman, the proglem is that only certain people are carrying the work load because, due to the station's location, there is not enough access for everyone to share the responsibility equally.

"We don't want 'stars' on WMUA. We want dedicated people with a sense of responsibility to serve the listening audience with something of value to them, people with an interest beyond just programming and playing music," said Berman and Bacherman.

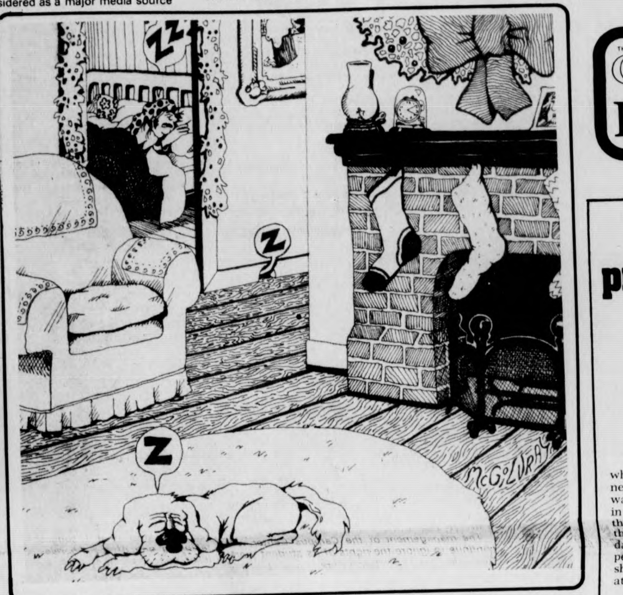
WMUA needs room to move.

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

Program Director Scott Bacherman and Station Manager Marc Berman are responsible for keeping the airways live at radio station WMUA.

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

Scott Bacherman and Marc Berman know that WMUA's record library can get crowded at times, making life difficult for those who work there.



THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Collegian LIFE/STYLE

RECIPE EXCHANGE

By SUE KIERAS
and SUE DUCHIN
Staff Writers

Fred makes fantastic popcorn. And do you know he makes even better fondue? Fred says, "Its simple. All I do is mix it in one pot over my hot plate." And if you smelled its aroma drifting through the corridor you'd wish Fred had invited you up for sup. Incidentally this dish is a great time saver for those of you in the midst of finals, and a great pacifier to make it through them.

SWISS FONDUE

From Fred of Cance

Ingredients:
1 lb. shredded Swiss cheese
3 tbs. flour
1 garlic clove
2 cu. white wine (dry)
1 tbsp. lemon juice
3 tbsp. brandy
2 loaves French bread-cut in cubes

Rub cooking pot with garlic; pour in wine and set over moderate heat. When wine is heated (not boiling), add lemon juice. Meanwhile, sprinkle diced cheese with flour, and add to the pot when wine and lemon are heated, stir until cheese melts. Bring it to a brief bubble and add brandy. Lastly, throw in one of your favorite spices.

Keep the fondue simmering on low heat. Spear the bread cubes with a fork - then dunk and swirl them in the fondue.

Note: Buy your cheese in the People's Market - you will cut the cost in half, in comparison to a Cheese Market.

The NEW Puffton Village
"New management working for your comfort"
CONVENIENT LOCATION NEAR UMASS
FREE BUS SERVICE
CLEAN, SECURE SURROUNDINGS
FREE CABLE TV IN ALL UNITS
1,2 & 3 BEDROOM APARTMENTS STARTING UNDER $200
PUFFTON I - allutilities included
PUFFTON II&III - heat included
1040 N. Pleasant Street, Amherst 549-0145
PUFFTON VILLAGE

HOLIDAY SALE
SELECTED
SWEATERS/SHIRTS/PANTS
20~50 % OFF
AMHERST ONLY
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st./amherst
Fairfield Mall/chicopee

© 1974, Playboy
January PLAYBOY
An exclusive interview with John Dean brings the Nixon White House into focus; George Plimpton finds being a Playmate photographer is all it's cracked up to be; Richard Rhodes looks at the expensive lure of cocaine; and Brigitte Bardot proves age has nothing to do with beauty. Plus, a 14-page pictorial on the Playboy Mansion West, an encore visit from the past year's Playmates, and lovely Lynnda Kimball in the centerfold gives promise of a fantastic new year. On sale now!

Why everybody's pretending they're us.
There was a time when the EARTH* negative heel shoe was the only shoe in the world with the heel lower than the toe. In those days the other people who made shoes just laughed at us.
But things have changed. And now that you love our Earth brand shoes so much, the shoe companies have stopped laughing and started copying.
But what they don't understand is this. Merely lowering the heel of a shoe isn't enough. And imitating the outside of our shoe isn't enough.
Just because a shoe looks like the Earth® shoe doesn't mean it works like the Earth shoe.
It took many years to perfect the Earth brand shoe. To get the arch just right. To make the toes wide, comfortable and functional. To balance the shoe. To mold the sole in a special way so that it will allow you to walk in a natural rolling motion. Gently and easily, even on the hard jarring cement of our cities.
And the Earth shoe is patented. That means it can't be copied without being changed. And if it's changed it just isn't the Earth shoe.
So to be sure you're getting the Earth brand shoe, look on the sole for the Earth trademark and U.S. patent #3305947.
You'll be glad you did.
Shoes, sandals, sabots and boots for men and women. From $23.50 to $42.50.
*EARTH is a registered trademark of Kalso Systemet, Inc.
©1974 Kalso Systemet, Inc.
Kalsø earth shoe
264 North Pleasant St. Amherst, Mass. 01002 (413)256-8911
14 Story Street Brattle Arcade Cambridge, Mass. (617) 492-6000
Amherst Store Hours
Mon. - Sat. 10 - 5:30; Fri. 11 to 7

For only 35¢ you can introduce Mom to your new roommate.
A maximum of 35¢ buys you a 1-minute direct-dialed (station-to-station) call to anywhere outside of Massachusetts in the continental United States. Between 11 pm and 8 am. Rates do not apply from coin phones or on calls to points within Massachusetts.
New England Telephone

notices

ALCOHOL DISCUSSION GROUP

Persons interested in any area related to alcohol are encouraged to attend. C.C. 803 at 7:30 p.m.

ALPHA ZETA PLEDGES

All pledges must submit their proposed pledge project to the pledge Chairperson. If you haven't, please contact Stn. 6-6373.

BIBLICAL EXPLORATION

Free, open, exploratory encounter with the Bible: Your own perceptions and experience are taken seriously. UCF invites you to take a fresh look, tonight from 10-10:55 p.m. in 316 Hampshire House. For information or transportation, call 545-2661.

BOB COVEN'S AUTO COURSE

Bob Coven's basic auto colloq tonight in C.C. 917 at 6 p.m.

BREAD & WINE

Life-death, mystery-meaning, abstraction-concrete reality — in the sharing of this simple candle-light Communion — in-the-round some of those distinctions vanish in the immediacy of experience. UCF invites you to be with us, 316 Hampshire House, 11-11:20 tonight.

BRIDGE

Bridge Lessons in C.C. 902 at 6 p.m. Bridge Game in C.C. 804-808 at 7 p.m. All welcome.

DANCE FREE

DANCE FREE has to do with people and movement. If you like to move to music your own way and if you like people, please come.

DEPTS OF MICROBIOLOGY AND BIOCHEMISTRY

Joint seminar. Wednesday, Dec. 18 in 201 Morrill IV, 11:00 a.m. Dr. Georg Stoffler, Max-Planck Institut fur Molekulare Genetik Berlin, Germany will speak on "Localization of Proteins on the Surface of the Ribosome of Escherichia coli by Immunoelectromicroscopy."

ECKANAKAR DISCUSSION

An open discussion on the ancient science of soul travel will be Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. Look up room number on C.C. daily schedule.

FREE FILM

Hille is sponsoring the prize winning documentary film Memorandum Thurs. night in C.C. 101. Free.

GAY COFFEE HOUSE

Gay Coffe House at 8 p.m.-11 p.m. in Hampden Dining Commons, SW, near Munchies. Free entertainment, refreshments served. All are invited.

GAY WOMEN'S CAUCUS

Meeting Thursday with the Pioneer Valley Gay Union in room 911-915 at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

HAPPY HOUR

Happy Hour, last day of classes, Wednesday, Dec. 11 4-8 p.m. Hampden Student Center in SW. Free Band.

NUKES KOOKS

Last meeting before break: very important, please attend. C.C. 901 at 7:30 p.m.

PRISON THEATER

Southwest Theater Ensemble is developing a work in movement, puppets and improvisation for students and prisoners. Guest black artist and ex-inmate, Eugene Smith, appears with ensemble Friday and Saturday in Hampden.

ROLLING STONES

gether no moss-spin off your creative energies towards SPECTRUM. We are open to all your ideas, 407 S.U.

SCIENCE FICTION SOCIETY

The Science Fiction Club wishes the entire campus the very merriest of holidays and a Happy New Year.

SKI CLUB MEETING

The last Ski Club meeting of the semester is tonight in Thompson 106 at 8:00. Ski films and door prizes are on the agenda plus other important ski info. Everyone welcome.

SKI PATROL

Final meeting of this semester on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in C.C. Will make arrangements for intersession trip.

SKIERS

Attention skiers going to Sugarloaf & Sugarbush important meeting Weds. in Thompson 106 at 8 p.m. Trip details, car pools and final deposits. Mandatory meeting.

SPECTRUM

Meeting of Poetry staff Thursday at 1 p.m. in Office.

STOCKBRIDGE STUDENT SENATE

A meeting. Speakers: V Chancellor Robert W. Gage and Dean Arless A. Spielman. Today in C.C. 101 at 8 p.m. Topic: "Phasing out of majors from Stockbridge School of Agriculture and position of Stockbridge present and future in University plans."

Course opportunities...

cont. from p. 2

Collage, and Social Structures, Introduction to Audio-Visual Techniques, and Women's Identity. Register in the Head of Residence apartment in Patterson House this week.

CANCE HOUSE is offering colloquia in leathercraft, Beginning Guitar, Beginning Chess, Recorder, and Basic Photography and Dark Room Technique. Registration for CANCE RESIDENTS will be Monday evening from 6:00 to 9:00 in Cance main lobby. If room is left in these courses after Monday's registration, there will be a registration, open to all students on Tuesday evening from 6:00 to 9:00.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CONFERENCE will include presentations on health, employment, education, survival, communications, creativity and alternatives. Workshops will be running all day, every day from January 21 to the 26th on the 8th floor of the Campus Center. Registration will take place at the workshops, and for those who wish to receive credit, the program carries one University credit. Child care will be available, (contact Beaty Blaine 52403) and housing will be available (Margie Posner in Emerson 546-4554). The Conference is being sponsored by the Everywoman's Center, The Southwest Women's Center and Women's Studies.

OUTDOOR WORKSHOP IN CROSS-CULTURAL COMMUNICATION (one-credit colloquium) involves students from diverse racial-ethnic-cultural backgrounds meeting in a natural outdoor environment where they will exchange facts, values, and feelings about their cultural heritage. A natural environment and healthy physical activity (touring and downhill skiing) are essential ingredients for the course. Registration in John Adams Lobby after receiving permission of the instructor, Jeff Bacal. He can be reached at 50134 or 253-7957.

MYTHICAL CONSCIOUSNESS Instructor: Jim LaMacchia, One Credit, Mon., Tues., Wed. Thurs., 1:30-3:30 Pierpont. The present age is dominated by the language of scientific rationality, but man has not always conceived of reality in these potentially alienating terms. This course will explore the dynamics of myth and metaphoric language, and posit them as possible alternatives to contemporary "rationality." We shall attempt to establish the creative possibilities for human consciousness embodied in the multi-dimensional language of myth. In addition to an exploration of a theory of mythology, we shall closely examine the Jungian approach to the "hero myth" as a means of delineating the archetypal pattern of self-actualization. By examining both ancient and modern instances of myth in literature, this course will explore the varied ways in which the artistic imagination has utilized mythical language and archetypes. Readings: Homer: The Odyssey; Dante: The Inferno; Hesse: Demian; Joyce: A Portrait Of The Artist As A Young Man; E. Pound: Selected Poems & Cantos

Registration for this course in John Adams Tower Lobby.

MODERN JAPAN One credit, Mon.-Thurs., 9:00-11:00 a.m.

A survey of Japan since World War II, including contemporary Japanese politics, literature, art, and the psychology of contemporary Japanese in comparison to westerners. Registration in John Adams Lobby.

LOCAL ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS One credit, Mon.-Thurs., 1:00-3:00 p.m. Details of this colloquia have not yet been finalized, but will be available at the registration office, John Adams Lobby, after Wednesday, December 11.

Kentfield Hardware, Inc.

63 SOUTH PLEASANT ST.

Suppliers of:
- STUDENT NEEDS
- HARDWARE
- SPORTING GOODS
- PAINT
- ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

Hours: Monday-Thursday & Saturday — 8-5:30
Fridays — 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.

Serving Your Needs for over 100 Years

ONLY THE NAME IS THE SAME

BRITTANY MANOR

Now court-appointed management, on site, professional personnel and maintenance staff.
GUARANTEED security deposits held in an interest bearing escrow account.
Only one month deposit required with 4 months or more lease available from Feb.-May.
All-modern conveniences, tennis, 2 pools.
FREE UMass bus service from property.
Large, one, two, three bedroom apartments from $200.00. Call 256-8534 (or take the free bus).
Summer rentals available at reduced rates.

Rent now and save! Rent an apartment for second semester and get $25.00 off your first month's rent!

DEALING STRAIGHT — A PLEASANT CHANGE!

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay

To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday-Friday.

The deadline is 3:45, two days before the day your ad is to appear.

The rates are:
Daily $.30 per line*
Weekly $.25 per line*
Monthly $.20 per line*
*Two lines on form approximate one line

FOR SALE

Used guitars bought and sold. The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops. 549-1729.

Coats: Midi suede coat, midi dungaree coat, rabbit fur jacket and navy blue leather jacket. Call Margie 546-7640.

Skis: Spalding 205 Siderals, regularly $170, will sell for $45. Call John 1-863-9426. Keep ca... 3.

Stuffed animals, one half price, $3-$11. Up to 3 ft. Seeing is believing. Keep you warm at night. Good for the erotic minded. Call 584-4731.

Waterbed complete. Guaranteed. Queen size $100. Call Pete 665-3084.

Live Xmas trees, choose and tag at our Tree Farm, any size $7.77. L. Blizniak, 133 Bay Rd., Hadley. Open eves. also.

Applications being accepted. R.N. 3 p.m.-11 p.m., 4 eves. per wk. LPN 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 4 days per wk. Nurse aides, part and full time, 7 a.m.-3 p.m., 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Apply in person, Amherst Nursing Home, 150 University Dr. 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

High performance bike parts. Cotterless cranks, Derailleurs, stems, hubs, pedals. Call Andrew 586-2645.

Typewriter. Just serviced. Call 549-6355.

10 speed French racing bike. Brand new Sam Benoto Cazeneve. $100. 549-6620.

Snow tires 650-13, two for $30. Ski boots, Reiker buckle, 10 and one half, $40. Call after 4:30. 253-7?24.

Skis K2-3, 195 CM, $120. Never used. Reg. $180. 256-6424 evenings.

Zenith 19" B&W TV, ex. cond. $60. Call Jan after 5 at 253-2805. A real buy!!

All types of stereo components, 8 per cent over cost. Sound and music. 247-5870 or campus center Mon. and Wed.

Sony HP465 Amp., Garard Turntable, Sony tuner, all mint shape. Ask $225. Need cash. Call Steve 253-7421.

Blow dryer for hair, good condition, best offer. Call 546-4738.

65 VW Bug, new radial tires, starter, muffler, brakes, king pins. 50 horse, body and engine good. Call Lannie 773-8838. $550.

One pair CCM Mustangs size 7 one and a half Y.O. Good shape. $20.00. Call Ed 64626.

HEATING STOVE. Horizontal, heavy construction. Burns 24 inch wood. 584-7304.

Alden ocean shell-portable oarlock riggers, high and low sliding seats, spruce spoon oars, complete $375. 567-3700.

One silver necklace with diamond chip $30 and a smoky topaz ring $50-$75. Call 546-9916. Willing to bargain.

2 6.95x14 (D78-14) Studded snow tires, good. Call 665-4202 after 6 p.m. $35.

Used hockey skates, racks CCM, six and one half. 5-2188.

Broadmoor Sol. Stat. Receiver w/8 track player, Garrard TT w/cover, pick cart., 2 speakers. Nice gras. for younger kin. 665-3670 eves.

Women's Frye boots, laceups, new. Size 7. $54. Call 256-6089.

Yamaha Rec. CR-600, 30W, 3 mos. New. Save. Ron 247-5574.

Pair Wrangler Men's Boots, 7 and one half D, worn only once. $25. Worth $40. 538-4160.

10 spd. men's Fuji, exc. cond. $100. 549-6887.

Records of all kinds at reasonable prices. Can usually get any LP in print within a week. The New Record Shop, 197 N. Pleasant St., Amherst. 253-5394.

Muskrat Fur Coat, red wool cape, baby carriage and stroller in one, two mobiles, infant seat, Jolly Jumper. 549-3969.

Ski boots, women's Kastinger Plastik, size 6, ex. cond. Call 5-7363.

Upholstered maple rocking easy chair, 2 matching end tables, $60. New electric hair cutting kit, $15 w/all accessories. 253-9856.

Telephone answering machine, easy hook up, $130 unit, only 3 months old. Your cost $80 or best offer. Call 253-9856 for demo.

Delmonico 5 cu. refr. $65. Large refinished trunk $55. Refinished oak cabinet 6'X15"X36". Large 4 draw. bureau $50. Call 549-6037.

Five cu. ft. fridge, $90. Call Barb 546-9875.

Car battery, new 22FC Sears Diehard 12V. Call 549-6483.

Martin 12 string D12-35. Call 584-2554 after 8 p.m.

Pedal steel guitar, double-neck vintage Harlin Bros. Model w/case. Call David 548-6571 anytime. Keep trying.

Sony TC-60 portable cassette recorder, 2 mo. old, rarely used, like new, cost 170. Will sell for $50 or B.O. I need the $. Call Doug 65495.

Sansui AU505 Amp., exc. condition, $125 or B.O. 584-1584.

Skis: New spaulding GS, used Dynastar, men's length. Will sacrifice. 546-8719.

English Sheepskin coat w/dark brown wool and suede finish. Sz 40-42. Call 545-2889, 368-4001.

FOR SALE

100 PER CENT GOOSE DOWN QUILTS, all HAND MADE to order, best quality material, all double stitched, variety of colors. Nadine 268-3239.

Goose Down Jacket, Man's Sm. Bought new, never worn. Orig. $60, sell 4 one half pr. or best offer. Call 546-5103.

One pair studded snow tires, almost new, 14". Exc. cond. 1 pr. 8.25-14 snows, $50 and $30. 549-0842. Keep trying.

Refrig. 3 cu. ft., hardly used. Best offer. 549-0393.

Kneissl White Stars 210 c.c. Supermatic bindings, skies used only 8X. $45.00 incl. size 12 boots. Call 253-2941.

Used Hart metal skis, $70. Buckle boots, sz. 8, exc. cond. $25, poles $4. Everything for $45. Pat 545-0025 a.m. or 538-7595 after 6 p.m.

For Sale: Integral systems Amp., Ace Audio Preamp, both immaculate. 665-2369.

600 MARVEL COMIX 4 sale. $200 or best offer. 1963-70. Fine cond. Mike 546-5253.

Gibson Les Paul Gold Top, 2 yrs. old, $325 or Best offer. Call 549-0873.

Calculator: Unisonic Vx 1/x Memory $40 or Best offer. Call Denny 253-5385.

Smith Corona typewriter, needs cleaning and new ribbon. Electric with manual return. $25. Call Bob 549-1316.

For Sale: 1 pr. Lange Competition Ski Boots, excellent condition. Used 2 seasons. Also 1 pr. Lange Spoilers. Will sell separately or together. Call Dick 545-2642, Rm. 415.

Raleigh 10 speed Campagnolo Stronglight, 23 and one half frame, $200. Call Andrew 586-2645. Cotterless cranks, 531 tubing. Great touring bike.

We're having a sale today at PAUL'S OLDTIME FURNITURE. We're moving next month and we've got to make room. Some stuff we'll give away. Behind Aubuchon's in the alley. 253-3511. We'd like to wish you a happy holiday and everybody knows there's no sanity clause.

Nikkor lenses: 35mm f2, $150; 105mm f2.5, $125; 200mm f4.5, $150. All practically brand new. 586-3250.

Raleigh Pro, all campagnolo, including brakes. Frame 23 inch. New. $525. 586-3250.

1967 Opel Gas Saving. Carolyn 253-9305.

Ski equipment: Boots, size 8 for $10; 200cm wood skis for $5; 200cm metals w/size 8 boots and bindings for $20. Come to Collegian and ask for Dennis in photo. If not there, leave message.

PAUL'S HERE. I've been spending money like a drunken Pentagon official and we're up to our earlobes in all kinds of nifty furniture, unusual bureaus, stoves, chairs, etc. plus we're selling cheap stuff we're sick of, especially clothing and chairs. PAUL'S OLDTIME FURNITURE, behind Aubuchon's, Amherst. 253-3511. Best wood stoves around.

AUTO FOR SALE

68 Dodge $300. Good condition. Needs some minor work. Call 323-4254 after 6 p.m.

67 VW Bug, 33 mi./gal., eng. 40K mi., good cond. $500. Call 5-0064. Eves. 586-0243.

1963 Rambler, 6 cyl. Best offer. Call 253-9659. Denis.

Van — 71 Ford Supervan. Fixed for camping. Just like home. $2100. 665-3084.

1963 Chev. II. Gd. running cond., must sell, leaving state. $250 or B.O. Call Jim 584-8294.

'60 VW Bus, rebuilt engine, good condition, must be seen! Best offer. 256-8908.

'64 Dodge Station Wagon. Runs except needs new distributor. Have done work on engine. Kinda nice car. Best offer. Kelly 586-2645.

'73 Toyota Hilux Pick-up. Excellent condition. Automatic. Northfield 498-5995.

1964 Econoline Van, $275. '69 Honda $275 or $500 for both. 253-7193 after 5-6.

'67 TR4A. New eng., radials, paint, batt., AM-FM. Must sell to stay in school. A steal at $1200. Call Lisa 253-3549.

1971 VW Bug, runs fine, but needs body work, brake job and stuck plug. Compression OK. $500 or best offer. 545-2221, 9-4:30. Leave name or 5-3147 anytime.

'67 Austin Healey Sprite. $375. Joe 5-6361.

'64 Chevy II, 6 cyl., st., gd. cond. $150. 373-7507.

'64 VW Sunroof, excellent condition. Rebuilt engine, snow tires. 253-2607.

'63 Fairlane, 6 cyl., good cond. Best offer. Call Steve 549-1395.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Must sell my 73 and one-half Honda 350 imm. Will take $750 or best offer by Dec. 24. Also have 450CL $775. 546-5086 eves.

FOR RENT

Couple needed for large rm. $100 plus util. in household with four other people. Washer, dryer downstairs. No phone. Try us at night. Located near C. Dickinson Hosp. 149 Prospect St. Northampton.

Two bedroom carpeted, appliances, on bus route. No pets. $220 incl. utilities in Sunderland. 665-2562.

Share 10 room house with large pond on 10 acres. Seclusion. $80 plus utilities. Geo. 1-862-3662 evenings.

Room in Apt. No lease or Sec. Dep. $140 per mo. for couple, $120 for single. Call 253-7731.

Ideal for Grds. or Faculty. Study, bedrm. and bath room. Near UMass. Call 549-0323.

Male wanted for own rm. in 4 br. apt. Furnished. On bus rt. Swiss Village 253-5820. Call Bob.

Rm. in quiet fmhouse. Mature nonsmoker, 2 and one-half mi. from U.M. Util. plus rt. $80. Resp. people only. Call bet. 6-7 p.m. 256-0623.

Rm. in 2 bdrm. apt. F or couple pref. $77.50 or $90 per mo. inc. util. [illegible]

2 bdrm. Cliffside Apt. $185 mo. util. incl. $100 sec. deposit. Jan. 1 - Sep. 1. 665-3139.

Attractive furnished apt. to rent over Break. Puffton Village. Price neg. Call morn. or evenings. Al Lou 549-2854.

2 rm. apt. Northfld, no dogs. Single $100, married couple $135. Electricity. 549-0387. Privacy.

Beat high rent. 22 mi. North Northfield. 2 bedrm. duplex, carpeted, washer, dryer hookups. Stove, refrigerator, dishwasher. Assume lease thru June 30. $160 mo. plus security dep. Call 545-0984.

Furn. apts. One, two, two and a half rms. Modern, air cond., pool, parking, TV, near shopping, utilities inc. Lease to June 1975. Amherst Motel (opp. Zayre's).

Four room apt. Two bedrooms in Amherst on S. East St. $165 per mo., no util. inc. Call 323-7893.

Apt. for intersession $136. 253-3777.

Looking for 3 non-smoking older quiet livers to share No. Amherst home. Private bedrooms w/cable TV. Share one and one-half baths, kitchen, laundry, den, living room, parking. All utilities paid. On Campus bus route. $100, $120 and $140 per mo. Call 549-1223 or write Box A, N. Amh., Mass. 01059.

Room 15' X 16' to rent. Large house with fireplace in Conway. 369-4077 or 773-8749. Maria.

Apt. for rent, one bedrm., kitchen, living rm. 2 mi. to UM. $153. Call 549-1582 after 5 p.m. Available Jan. 1.

Rm. for Jan. in Apt. Fem. Joan 256-6621.

Room to rent for January — Call 253-9827.

Studio space to share. Large and well lighted. Located in Amh. Center. Call Scott 586-3659 or Lindsay 549-6345.

Furnished country house to share on Lake Pleasant, 12 miles N. of UMass on 63. Prefer considerate, graduate students, people, pets OK. Call Steve 586-0429. Keep tryin' and tryin'.

W. Wtd. house in Amh. St. Call 256-0669.

TO SUBLET

Two bedroom apt. on busline, rt. 9, $215 per mo. Call late, 10 p.m. or after. 323-4365.

One bedroom, Cliffside, $160 per month, utilities included. Avail. Jan. 1. Call 665-3367.

1 bedroom apt. at Cliffside, Sunderland, $160 per mo. with utilities. Available Jan. 1. Call 665-3243 after 8.

For intersession. Own rm. in furn. apt. on bus rt. Rent negotiable. 253-7752.

On busline, pets OK, 2 bedroom, $215.00. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Easthampton, 3 rm. apt. $110 plus util. Call 256-0584. Leave name.

Two bedroom cliffside, $180 month, util. incl. Available Jan. Call 665-2542 after 5 p.m.

Four rm. apt., Puffton Vlg. Jan. 1 - Sept. 1. $174 per mo. plus actv. 549-0825. Keep trying.

Sublet 2 bdrm. apt. $174 mo. Puffton Vill. Call 549-6887. Feb. 1.

Apt. sublet over intersession. 665-2487.

Two bdrm. Townhouse, Squire Vill., Sund. on UMass bus route 2v. Jan-Feb. Call 665-3684 after 6.

ROOM WANTED

Room in house or apt. wanted. Under $75 per mo. Call Donna at 323-4041.

F. needs room in apt. for 2nd semester. Can pay $75 pr. month. Call 1-734-2488. Please keep trying.

F wanted to share N. Amherst house, own room, two and one-half miles from UMass. $82 per mo. plus elec. Grad student preferred. 549-0079.

Looking for a couple to share house with same cooperative living in Montague. $138 plus one-half util. Call 367-9880. Dennis or Diane.

Large rm. available in nice apt., 5 min. walk frm. campus. Good for musician or student. Big kitchen, good cook. 549-6425 p.m.

Two people needed to share rm. in So. Amh. apt. on bus line, heat incl. $67 per mo. 256-8712.

ROOM WANTED

F wishes own room in apt. W.F. on bus route. Call Susan 546-5368.

Looking for room in house or apt. for Jan. 1. Prefer Sund. or bus route. Can spend $75 per mo. Have cat. Call Miles 665-4946.

Couple or roommates to share bdrm. in house near campus. 549-6089.

Grad seeks roommate for 2nd of 2 bedrooms at K. Philip. $102 per mo. util. incl. Call 665-4331. Morn. or eve.

Roommate(s) wanted Jan. or Feb. 1. Twnhse. 253-9784.

Roommates, male or female, wanted for Tranquil residence at Squire Village. $55 per month plus elec. Call 546-5306.

Room in Conway Farmhouse available Dec. 15. $85 per month. Call 1-369-4026.

Male wanted to share 2 br. Townhouse. Cooperative living. 256-8098.

Rm. in apt. or house within walking distance of UMass. Wanted for Jan. Call Edie, rm. 314. 545-0791. Leave message.

Female looking for roommate apt. for 2nd semester. Call 546-8444.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Your own tiny rm. in dntn. apt. $45 plus util. no phone, drop by a.m., 5 p.m. late p.m. 513 Main Street 2fl., Near High St. RRXX

F roommate wanted, own rm. in lovely old furnished hse. in Conway 20 min. to campus. Wash dry. Call Judith 369-8361 or 369-4024.

Housemate wanted, female preferred, 25 or older. 2 mi. from UMass, rural setting. 549-2657. (4 bedroom capel)

3 bedroom house in Florence. Quasi country setting. $70 mo. plus util. Call 584-1149.

F. for Brandywine. $70 mo. 549-2645.

Mature M or F roommate to share 3 bedroom Townhouse. $105 per mo. Bob. 253-7241.

Need couple — People to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Belch. Pets okay. Available Jan. 1 or Feb. 1. Call Linda 323-4004. On bus route.

Grad. 2nd senior seek M-F grad for rm. in house nr. campus. $80 plus. Quiet. 253-5275, 5-0060.

F to share 3 bdrm. apt. in house, 1 mi. from UMass. $83 a mo. Call 253-3598.

Grad looking for one or two rmates. Split $185, util. pd. On bus rt. 665-4708.

M wanted. Amherst house, own rm. near campus. Call 253-3326.

Quiet male, pref. grad or upperclass. No dope or tobacco. For own room in Riverglade at $120 per mo. Soon as possible. No lease. Call 256-8020 between 12 and 2 in afternoon.

On busline, pets ok. Own room $107.50. 323-7418 after 5. Keep trying.

Two people needed for furnished house, one and one-half miles to campus, own bedroom, good deal, lease expires end of second semester. 256-0569.

WANTED TO RENT

Study Carrel in Library, 12-9 — 12-18. Call Doug. 253-7816 anytime. Keep trying.

Responsible couple seek 1-2 bdrm. rural hse or apt. w-in 15 mi. UMass. No pets; will assume lease. Please call 549-1332 after 6.

Amherst two bedrm. apt. $185 range. 665-3025.

2 Males for Jan. Brittany Manor. 253-7848.

Need own rm. in apt. on bus rt. Jan. 27 - May 30. $80-$90. Quiet F. 546-7269.

Three bdrm. house or apt. under $200 per mo. Call Donna at 323-4041.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Happiest Hour you ever saw on the last day of classes, Dec. 11, 4-8 p.m. HAMPDEN STUDENT CENTER in SOUTHWEST (FREE BAND)

WANTED

X-C Bindings and boots, women's 8 and one-half. Call Rosy 584-2700, X467 or X367.

Single wanted in an apartment or home. Pref. on bus line or walking dist. for Feb. 1. Neat, quiet, need peace of mind. Sue 253-7307 after 10.

One or two F roommates for 2 bedr. Th. $65, util. incl. 546-9681.

Own room in apt. or hse. w/other F on bus rte. No pets. Approx. $80. Call 256-0696. Keep trying.

Would like to buy used TV for Xmas present. Cheap! Call 253-3779.

Skis, 175-180 CM, price $30-$80, fiber, metal fiber, w/ or w/out bind. Ph. 546-2417, Rm. 112, Dereck.

Enjoy — Enjoy Happy Hour — Last day of classes — Dec. 11, 4-8 p.m. Hampden Student Center (SW).

Interested musicians, new music ensemble situation — The daily problems of cellists, double bassists, tuba, euphonium, saxophonists, trombonists — Call 584-6077 between 8-9 p.m. only.

Foreign Coins — I pay high prices. Tony 549-0899.

1-1-75. 4 bdrm. abod. quiet responsible stdnts. Will do upkeep. Pref. on bus route. $350 max. Call 665-3224, 665-7069.

Wanted: Responsible person to fly with 3 small boys from Bradley Field to Salt Lake City, Dec. 14. Return Jan. 14. Will pay full fare, round trip. 549-8273.

WANTED

Wanted any bands wishing to play for publicity on Dec. 6. Please contact Janet 6-5697, Bob 6-5778 or Ted 6-5694. Please leave a message.

A single lens reflex camera. Call Leon after 6:30 p.m. 773-8838. Xmas Bread.

Feminist woman bass, piano, guitar for R and B Band. Call Maria 739-9349 after 6.

Two large advent speakers. 546-4426.

BOB STILL WANTS TO BUY YOUR AILING OR DECREPIT CAR! Any make, model, year. Unload your headache for fast $. 253-7241.

Old pedestal drawing table. An easel also. Call 253-9276.

HELP WANTED

Can you draw? Do you have a sense of humor? The editorial pages need five cartoonists to do campus humor. Call Dean Tucker 5-3500.

Person wanted to feed wonderful cat and water plants. Approx. 12-21-1-5 near campus on Bus Route. Renumeration. after 6. 549-2812.

Summer camp employment — Program director, experienced, with Jewish culture background and arts and crafts director needed. Small Jewish boys overnight camp near Cape Cod. For info call Tom at 546-6092. Good kids and pay.

Good opportunity for business-minded hardworking graduating seniors and graduate students. $600 monthly starting salary to represent a major corporation locally. Established resident capable of assuming responsibilities. Call 256-8531 a.m. for interview.

Houseboys needed — spring semester (Can get excused from meal ticket). For more info. Call SDT 545-0526 or Nancy 546-7194.

Leaving your job over inter? I will take it over for a month. Call Bill at 6-7096 between 3-4 or 9-10! All at p.m. Need $. Please Help.

Earn extra money selling Texas Instruments Electronic Calculators. For more info, see our display ad elsewhere in this issue. National Campus Rep.

RIDE WANTED

Ride wanted to Chicago anytime. Call 584-2554.

I need a ride from Amherst to Holyoke and back, Mon.-Fri. next semester. Will share driving cost. Call Kathy 253-7723.

One rider to Fla. over Xmas break. $40. 532-0784.

Ride needed to Iowa (Chicago is close enough) before Dec. 18. Will share expense, driving. Cindy 549-2616.

To Chicago or Milwaukee. Will share $. 546-6415.

RIDERS WANTED

Two riders wanted — Leaving for Florida (St. Augustine), end of Dec., returning end of Jan. Share driving & expenses. Sally 586-4219.

One rider to Fla. over Xmas break. $40. 522-0784.

California Round trip during inter. Cost $125. 253-2881 by Super Van.

TRAVEL

SAVE RENT — Scenic Northfield. Attractive 2 and a half rms., privacy. Single $100, couple $135. Electricity. 549-0387.

Bermuda Spring Vacation. From $199. Call Campus Travel 545-0500.

Low price trips to Mexico, Florida, Caribbean. Call Campus Travel 545-0500.

Charter flights to Europe and California. Call Campus Travel 545-0500.

Ski the Canadian Rockies — Banff $388.00. Call Campus Travel Center, 545-0500.

INSTRUCTION

DOG TRAINING. Obedience, problem dogs, protection and security. 549-1342 days and eves. VALLEY K-9.

GIVE YOURSELF A PRESENT. Develop a music skill in keyboard jazz improvisation, eartraining, theory, composition, piano, recorder. Music Lit. Offered thru Music Dept. Open to all. 5-2013.

Guitar lessons, folk, blues, country. Brooke 584-6144.

Math Help — Experienced teacher will tutor Math-Stat. $7 per hr. Ron 256-8952.

Classic guitar lessons avail. thru UMass Prep Div. by Neil Anderson, Hartt College grad. 545-2434 for info.

PERSONALS

Phyl, Max, Day, Meg. Thanks for all. See you in Jan. TC

Santa comes thru the chimney and we'll stop him at "The Upstairs". Ha, ha, downstairs. — Love Den and Bubs.

Taking interviews for the Globe and the Sheraton from now until Xmas — Call Laine and Mary at 549-0473.

HS — Waiting for a maximumly close Jan. Ltil HS.

To whoever found my wallet Friday afternoon. $5 reward. Call at night 546-7479.

BUS DRIVERS!! Merry Christmas. Enjoy yourselves at the party.

Skinbeat. Hope you enjoy working in Worcester next semester. And good luck in the future.

Janet N. An early birthday wish for all the love and happiness in the future. Thanks for the coffee on Saturday mornings. BH.

GLK — Always my favorite business manager. EAH.

Happy Hour — Last day of classes, Dec. 11, 4-8 p.m. HAMPDEN STUDENT CENTER (Free Band). Come and enjoy. (In the great Southwest).

PERSONALS

HOP BROOK COMMUNE — GAY PEOPLE in the country. P.O. Box 723, Amherst.

John Pineau — Important news. Call Ken before Friday. 549-1211.

To Mr. Elf who came to the Collegian: YOU SUCK.

Two B1 Guys look for fun. Bill Bob 6-1177.

Dick, Fitz, Steven, Hershey and Pisson — Thanks for the great team. Sorry I was so obnoxious. D

Muskrat — I'm late as usual but Happy 21st — TTDFN — Quack, Quack.

Good opportunity for business-minded hardworking graduating seniors and graduate students. $600 monthly starting salary to represent a major corporation locally. Established resident capable of assuming responsibilities. Call 256-8531 a.m. for interview.

My roomie: Here's your very own Happy 21st on the 24th, merry 25th and good luck on the 27th! Love, Your Roomie.

M.C.F. FARMER — Umieville won't be the same when you're gone.

May you have a semester of Ripe Potatoes! Who else et al.

To Super Sportswriter: Happy Birthday. You deserve it. Glenn.

Need Money! Will take over anybody's job during vacation. Call Chris 6-8394.

Michael — Happy Birthday (24th) from 1 hot drek and 2 hot noodles!

Brit — You're a crazy little bugger of a roomie. I could say more, but I won't be nasty! Happy Birthday! Rack.

Penthouse Associates wishes to you a joyous holiday season and cordially invites you to come before you go. Good luck Madame 2.

Jean Art: The paper doesn't publish tomorrow so have a Happy Birthday a day early. Bridget the St. Bernard.

Doug — From the sea of life one drop looks for another. Always search and dream but most of all be. Wayne.

Puta Quach ne qui quech ne cama — Happy Birthday. Another Sagittarius.

Coblinski: Happy early 5th. This has probably been both — the hardest yet the happiest year yet. Love you lots.

S. Bag. Goodby and good luck. Love Helen, Hank and Friends.

Two Madrigal dinner tickets for 12-13, $16 plus cost of a D. Bob 253-7241.

Marty, Before I leave — Merry Xmas. Love, Sam and Moe.

Jo Jo G. Welcome to the shining world of womanhood. Happy Birthday. Mic (The Alcoholic).

Judi Sam — Keep your head to the sky. All my love, Pooh.

The Mad Crappers Strike! Chi of first victim. Plein De Merde.

Congratulations! Phyl and John. Peace, happiness and a never ending love affair to you both. As always, Terry.

SERVICES

Professional guitar repairs by guitar-maker Michael Millard. Mon., Wed., Fri. at The Guitar Workshop, Amherst Carriage Shops. 549-1729. Free estimates.

Passport Photos. Call Joe, nights at 549-6598. 24 hr. service.

AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR. Specializing in Saab and other foreign cars. Call Guy 256-6110.

Happy, Happy Hour — The last day of classes, Dec. 11, 4-8 p.m. HAMPDEN STUDENT CENTER in SOUTHWEST — FREE BAND.

Campus Clubs and Organizations, Do you want to publish high quality newsletter, pamphlet, magazine or booklet??? Let the Message Company help you write, layout, design and print it!! Reasonable fees. Contact Jerry at 253-9068 for information.

CAR REPAIR HASSLES? Bob will still fix it right. No job too small. Foreign or domestic. No big overhead. 253-7241.

[illegible] sal base prep sending $2.00; hot swix $4.00. Some pick up and del. Call 253-9466.

Ometrics Astrological services. 6 month projection, personal analysis, etc. Write Box 341, Amherst or call 549-6743 or 549-0005.

Theater Dept. needs to borrow phones (after 20s past type but before current model), 16-23 Dec. Donation of any old phones appreciated at any time. Call Maggie (5-3490) or deliver to Theater office in F.A.C., 9-5, Mon.-Fri.

LOST

Lost — In Organic 263 Lab, Twr-1, Rm. 105, Tu. 12-3-74, Men's ring, Salem High '73, initialed R.P.D. Reward. Call Rich 6-6000.

Slide rule — Yellow with black case, pocket. Herb. [illegible] Canoe.

One black key case. Boyden gym, Friday, Dec. 6 noon. 545-22[illegible]

CALCULATORS

Calculator Sale — College Calculators offers lowest prices anywhere. All models available: Texas Inst., Hewlett Packard, Unicorn. All machines new and guar. with 2 month replacement warranty. Before you buy a calculator, call me. I can beat any price anywhere. Look for my posters around campus for details. Then call Bob Crowell at 549-1316.

New fully war. Tex. Inst. SR-50's. Call 253-3479. $130.

THE PUB

EATING & DRINKING

AMHERST

DINNER N' SHOW

Every Wednesday

Charcoal Broiled
Sirloin Butt Steak
Choice of Potato
Tossed Salad
Bread & Butter
Ice Cream
$3.50

Veal Parmigiano
&
Spaghetti
Tossed Salad
Bread & Butter
Ice Cream
$3.50

Ticket Price Included In Special.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
ROUTE 9 - HADLEY

SHOWS STARTING NIGHTLY AT 6:00

NOW THRU TUES.
1. Harry & Tonto
2. Groove Tube
3. Banana's & Where's Papa
4. Trial of Billy Jack

NEW!!

SR-16

Texas Instruments electronic slide-rule calculator adds, subtracts, multiplies, divides; calculates square roots, squares, summation, reciprocals, natural logs, e to the x, also has a memory and rechargeable batteries case and recharger included.

$99.95

UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER

OPEN WED. NITE

Trimesters may return

cont. from p. 1

"They should have gotten it in earlier," Kneeland said.

Miller said the schedule was brought in earlier and was lost by the paper.

Intersession programs may also have become an unwitting victim of the fuel shortage and energy crisis which has caused heating bills at UMass-Amherst to skyrocket over the last year and are forcing the campus to make a $2.5 million dollar deficiency budget request to the Legislature in January.

Last January, intersession programs were pared to only two weeks so that the campus could be closed down the rest of the month to conserve fuel. The closing came at the height of last winter's oil and coal shortage.

This January, H. Jack Littlefield, director of physical plant operations, has already announced that nearly all dorms on campus will be closed and unavailable for student residence.

The dorm closings make it almost impossible for a potential intersession participant to live in a University dorm, forcing them to find alternative housing for only a few weeks until the dorms open for the second semester.

Miller, in warning that intersession may be dropped, said only increased participation in the few programs offered this January will save the program.

MARTIN MILLER

Need food stamps for intersession?

The Food Stamp office in the basement of Munson Hall is planning to remain open during intercession. Office hours will be 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A representative from the Welfare office will be available in the Food Stamp office to assist in the application procedure for anyone interested in applying.

Service for O'Rourke to be held tomorrow

A Memorial service for Professor John O'Rourke of the UMass Sociology Department who died suddently last Friday is being held tomorrow at 11:00 a.m. in the Memorial Hall here on campus. The service will be an opportunity for those who knew him to pay a silent tribute.

Jay Demerath, Chairman of the Sociology Department announced yesterday that a special memorial fund has been established for the O'Rourke children and that contributions may be sent in care of the First National Bank of Amherst.

Make A Gift!

BEADS — EARWIRES — RAWHIDE
CANDLE WAX — WICK — SCENT

THE MERCANTILE

9 E. Pleasant, Amherst

GIFTS — TOYS — CARDS
CLOTHING at Lower Prices
JEWELRY — MUGS — PLANTERS

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The HP-35 Electronic Slide Rule.

Performs all basic arithmetic, trig and log calculations automatically. Has an Addressable Memory, displays 10 digits in fixed decimal or scientific notation, automatically positions decimal point throughout its 200-decade range. Cost: $225.*

*All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.

available at the UNIVERSITY STORE campus center, open Wed 'til 8.

Four Seasons

Package Store

RUSSELL ST., HADLEY

at the Mt. Farms Mall

TUBORG BEER
12 oz. N.R.
$5.89
case

Riunite Lambrusco
$1.79 fifth

Four Season's Special Blended WHISKEY
80 proof
1/2 gal. $8.79
qt. $4.49

Henri Philippe Fruit Flavored BRANDIES
70 proof
qt. $4.99
fifth $3.99

SCHMIDT'S BEER
$5.19
12 oz. N.R.
case

FALSTAFF BEER
12 oz. N.R.
$5.89
case

VINATE SPANISH WINES
Red - White - Rose
$1.29
24 oz. bottle

BURNS SCOTCH
80 proof
1/2 gal. $9.79
qt. $4.99

Wine Paradise Of The Valley

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By Stella Wilder

Wednesday, December 11

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — A job well done will bring you congratulations from friends and foes alike. Accept the accolades with grace — but don't expect them often.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The present situation may bring you face to face with difficulties you cannot solve alone. Have a friend standing by.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Lightness of heart makes difficult things easier. Don't expect others to take on responsibilities that have been delegated to you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — The amateur's nonprofessional approach may be very beneficial. Take the time and trouble to listen to one of little experience.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Keep your mind open to suggestion. If you insist upon having your own way you may do yourself more harm than good. Discover new methods.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You know best what will serve you over the next few days. Use your own judgment and all should go as you have planned.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — An exciting and interesting day is in store for the Gemini who looks ahead far enough to see where he's going. Carry yourself proudly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — A day for letting your hair down, whether at home or on the employment scene. Enjoy yourself with family and friends late in the day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Though you may not realize it now, difficulties arising this morning make things easier for you tomorrow. Believe yourself gifted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — A day which can be conquered by patience and firmness. Don't be discouraged by early morning failure; success is the outcome of the afternoon's efforts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Physical and mental relaxation is required periodically if you are to get the best from both quarters. Don't hesitate to point out an error.

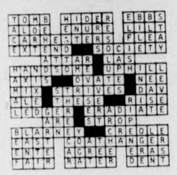
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Make an effort to broaden the base of your experience.

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS
1 U.S. golfer Dave
5 Measuring device
10 Hit hard
14 French girl friend
15 Reacted to reveille
16 Poetic preposition
17 Agreeable people: 2 words
19 Bit of information
20 Highly regarded: 2 words
21 Gymnast, e.g.
23 Hills of sand
25 Have dinner
26 American Indians
29 Latest
34 Breakwater
35 Short for Scrooge
37 Chou ----: Chinese VIP
38 Letter
39 Strings of beads
41 Monastery superior: Abbr.
42 Huge person
44 Wing-like parts
45 With regard to: 2 words
46 Follower
48 Burned-out piece
50 Capacity unit: Abbr.
51 Certain deer
53 Series of quick steps
57 Military zones
61 Back
62 External: Anat.
64 To leeward
65 Prefix with Arabia
66 Against: Prefix
67 Tear
68 Ant
69 Extensive

DOWN
1 Three Wise Men
2 Egyptian god
3 Spanish rivers
4 Evade again
5 Exploded chart section: 2 words
6 Eat away
7 High rock
8 This: Spanish
9 Siesta enjoyer
10 Not detachable
11 Vide ----: See before
12 Printer's term
13 Habitation
18 Marshy place: Var.
22 Netherworld god
24 Furtiveness
26 The ending
27 Well-made
28 Islam supreme being
30 "---- Christie"
31 African antelope
32 Sword
33 River of Italia
36 Cereal husk
39 Fastening device
40 Feeble
43 Ruled out
45 As a substitute
47 Slip by
49 Skin sensation
52 In reserve
53 TV star Jack ---
54 Adjective prefix
55 Adolescent year
56 Canucks or Red Wings
58 Trieste measure
59 Quality level
60 Pier
63 Sugar product

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved



TOMB HIDER EBBS
ALOE ENURE LILT
CARHEATERS FLEA EXTEND SOCIETY
ATTAR LAS HANDSOME UPHILL
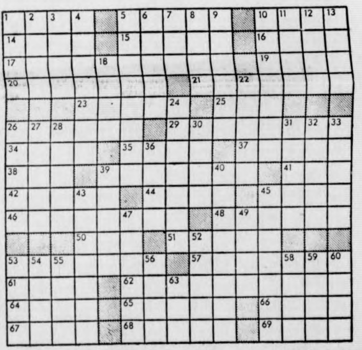
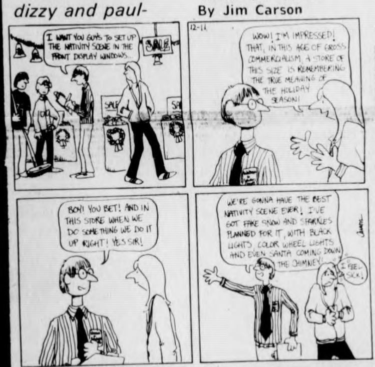
AXIS OVATE NEE
MIX STRIVES DAV
ALE THESE RISE
LEDGER ERADIATE
ARE STROP
BLARNEY CREOLE
EAST COATHANGER
ENTE AGREE ERAS
FAIR RATER DENT



dizzy and paul-

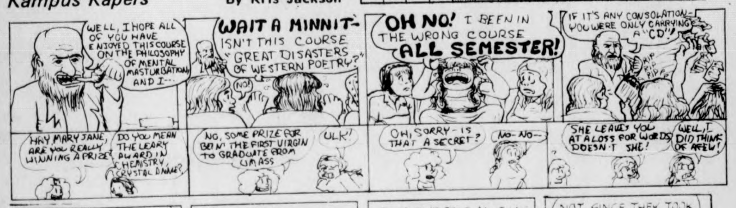
By Jim Carson



I WANT YOU GUYS TO SET UP THE NATIVITY SCENE IN THE FRONT DISPLAY WINDOWS...
SALE
12-11
WOW! I'M IMPRESSED! THAT, IN THIS AGE OF GROSS COMMERCIALISM, A STORE OF THIS SIZE IS REMEMBERING THE TRUE MEANING OF THE HOLIDAY SEASON!
BOY! YOU BET! AND IN THIS STORE WHEN WE DO SOMETHING WE DO IT UP RIGHT! YES SIR!
WE'RE GONNA HAVE THE BEST NATIVITY SCENE EVER! I'VE GOT FAKE SNOW AND SPARKLES PLANNED FOR IT, WITH BLACK LIGHTS, COLOR WHEEL LIGHTS AND EVEN SANTA COMING DOWN THE CHIMNEY!
I FEEL SICK!

Kampus Kapers

By Kris Jackson



WELL, I HOPE ALL OF YOU HAVE ENJOYED THIS COURSE ON THE PHILOSOPHY OF MENTAL MASTURBATION AND I--- WAIT A MINNIT- ISN'T THIS COURSE "GREAT DISASTERS OF WESTERN POETRY?"
NO!
OH NO! I BEEN IN THE WRONG COURSE ALL SEMESTER!
IF IT'S ANY CONSOLATION- YOU WERE ONLY CARRYING A "CD"!
RIP RIP RIP
HAY MARY JANE, ARE YOU REALLY WINNING A PRIZE?
DO YOU MEAN THE LEARY AWARD IN CHEMISTRY, CRYSTAL DNME?
NO, SOME PRIZE FOR BEIN' THE FIRST VIRGIN TO GRADUATE FROM UMASS ULK!
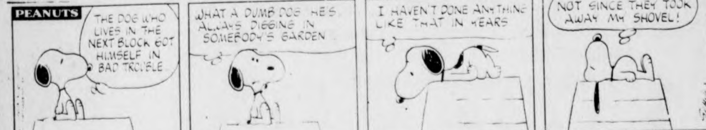
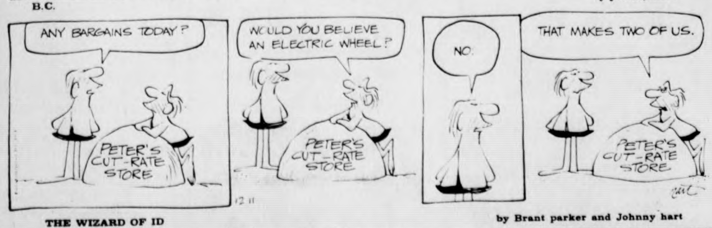
OH, SORRY - IS THAT A SECRET?
NO- NO-
SHE LEAVES YOU AT A LOSS FOR WORDS DOESN'T SHE!
WELL, I DID THINK OF A FEW!



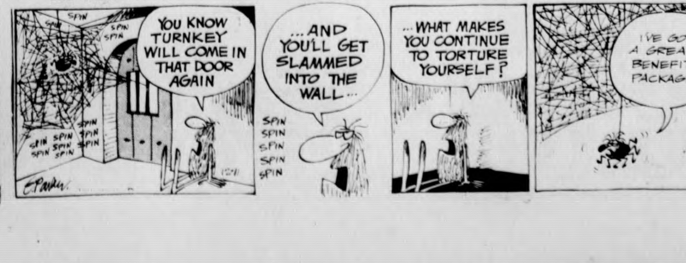
PEANUTS
THE DOG WHO LIVES IN THE NEXT BLOCK GOT HIMSELF IN BAD TROUBLE
WHAT A DUMB DOG HE'S ALWAYS DIGGING IN SOMEBODY'S GARDEN
I HAVEN'T DONE ANYTHING LIKE THAT IN YEARS
NOT SINCE THEY TOOK AWAY MY SHOVEL!

B.C. by johnny hart



ANY BARGAINS TODAY?
PETER'S CUT-RATE STORE
WOULD YOU BELIEVE AN ELECTRIC WHEEL?
12-11
NO.
THAT MAKES TWO OF US.

THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart



SPIN SPIN SPIN
YOU KNOW TURNKEY WILL COME IN THAT DOOR AGAIN
12-11
...AND YOU'LL GET SLAMMED INTO THE WALL...
...WHAT MAKES YOU CONTINUE TO TORTURE YOURSELF?
I'VE GOT A GREAT BENEFITS PACKAGE

John McGrail: A sleeper

By JAY LUPPOLD
Sports Staff

Who ever would have thought that a kid who didn't even finish in the top seven on his team at Stoughton High School would eventually end up at UMass as one of the best young runners in New England?

Not many, but you can bet that the University of Massachusetts and everyone else connected with the school is happy that sophomore John McGrail is here.

McGrail is a distanceman, a two-miler in winter track and the three and six mile in the spring.

Last spring he set the freshman records in the three and six mile with times of 13:56 and 29:11, respectively.

"Running was only in the back of my mind when I came up here, I just thought of trying out for the team and making the JV's," he said.

Coach Ken O'Brien, surprised more than anyone at the way McGrail just popped up, says of his prize young harrier, "When John came up here he was one of the quietest kids on the team, but now he is setting the example with his great enthusiasm. He very rarely complains, he's always pushing. John is a well-rounded young man and is destined to be successful".

For training during the season John runs about 15 miles a day in two separate sessions. During the off season he "slows down" to only about ten a day, and that's including a two week vacation from running.

John, like just about everyone else on the team credits co-captains Bill Gillin and Randy Thomas. "They're the co-captains and they deserve it, the other members on the team look up to them for the leadership. They keep us loose and set a good example for all of us", McGrail said.

Staff Photo by Scott Hayes

John McGrail

Gillin and Thomas did something right, but the praise goes both ways, "John is probably one of the hardest workers on the team and has a lot of endurance, a fine runner and person", Gillin pointed out.

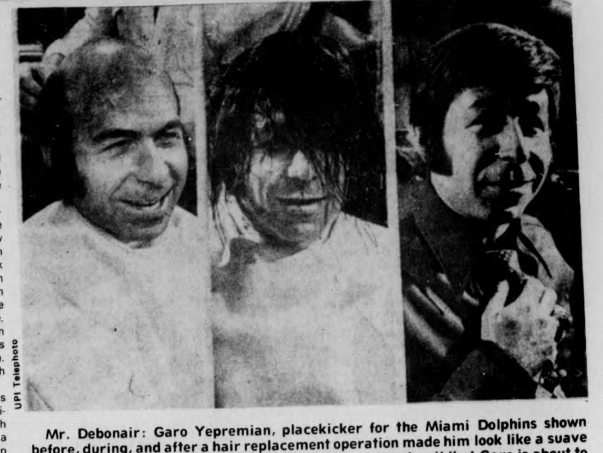
Last fall McGrail finished 16th in the New Englands in cross country, 50th in the IC4A's, and finished 106th in the Nationals.

Last winter he finished second in the Yankee Conference in the two mile with his top time in the event, 9:10.8.

But nobody is perfect, including "Mac" when he bombed out in the New Englands and didn't even qualify. But he came right back in the spring finishing second in the two mile for second place in the YanCon and second for the New Englands in the six mile. And believe it or not, it was in the six mile that McGrail thinks that the "tide turned" for him. Then he went out and took 8th place in the IC4's.

Thus far this fall McGrail has finished 4th in a five mile tri-meet against Providence with his best time to that date with a 24:09, then fifth in a YanCon meet. He came in 6th in the New Englands with his best, a 23:54. McGrail finished 15th in the IC4A's.

The upcoming winter season McGrail thinks the team is definitely improved and thinks it will come down to UMass and UConn for the title.



UPI Telephoto

Mr. Debonair: Garo Yepremian, placekicker for the Miami Dolphins shown before, during, and after a hair replacement operation made him look like a suave businessman again. Although nothing is certain, rumor has it that Garo is about to sign with Universal Pictures.

Dennis Fenton: tough wrestler and ferocious defensive lineman

By PETER McDONNELL
Sports Staff

To really know Dennis Fenton you have to go back to last winter and the New England Wrestling Championships.

The University of Rhode Island had been heavily favored to take it all, but in the semi-final and consolation rounds, UMass began chipping away at their lead until only one point separated the two teams going into the final match of the day. That match pitted URI's Ray Miro against a freshman from UMass, Dennis Fenton. The two had met three times earlier in the season with Miro winning two by pins and one by decision.

Dennis Fenton

Fenton came through with his greatest performance, decisioning Miro 13-4 and giving UMass a share of the New England title.

The quiet, 6'3", 240 lb. Fenton is also a standout in the defensive line for the Minutemen football squad. Although he'll tell you that the only reason he's starting is due to an early season injury to Ed McAleney, it's hard to believe that the team would be unable to find a spot for a man of his ability.

His list of outstanding wrestling achievements goes back to tenth grade at Springfield Classical High School where he was the best in Western Mass. and sixth in the state in the 185 lb. class.

A year later, he finished second in both the state and New England, while maintaining his title in Western Mass.

As a heavyweight in his senior year, he attained his goal of being number one not only in the state but also in New England.

Through high school wrestling tournaments held on the campus, Fenton became acquainted with coaches Homer Barr and Dick MacPherson. He chose to accept an athletic scholarship from UMass over a host of other schools because of the location and atmosphere of the campus as well as the opportunities available in both the wrestling and football programs.

His only complaint is the hectic pace.

"It can be a little difficult when your first wrestling meet is three days after the end of the football season and spring football starts only two weeks after the wrestling season is over."

Collegian
sports

Which Bacardi for screw-drivers?

Bacardi light rum's subtle flavor won't overpower or get lost in Screwdrivers, Bloody Marys, Martinis or tonic. Just use it like gin or vodka.

BACARDI® rum. The mixable one.

©1973 BACARDI IMPORTS, INC., MIAMI, FLA. RUM 80 PROOF

XEROX BULK RATE

Gnomon Copy Service, in Amherst, is offering a bulk rate of two cents flat for Xerox copies. To qualify, an order must meet the following conditions: (a) 5 or more copies of each original (b) unbound originals only (c) two-sided copies* (d) $5.00 minimum (e) allow 24 hours. Orders meeting these conditions will be Xeroxed for two cents per copy. Collating and choice of regular, three-hole, legal, or colored paper are free. 25% rag paper is ½ cent extra per sheet. Gnomon is open 7 days a week. Phone 253-3333.

*For copying onto one side only, add ¼ cent per copy.

Now There's A Difference At Mt. Sugarloaf!

Court-appointed management with resident manager.
GUARANTEED security deposits held in an interest bearing escrow account.
ONLY one month security deposit required with 4 month or more lease.
Located on FREE UMass bus line.
Dishwasher, self-cleaning range, disposal, air-conditioner, and plenty of closet space.
Two bedrooms at $220 — ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED.
Conveniently located on Rte. 47 off Rte. 116.
Call 665-3856 ... or take the free bus.
Rent now and save! Rent an apartment for second semester and get $25.00 off your first month's rent!

Take A Few Minutes To See The Difference!

The Big Y

LIQUOR SUPERMARKET

NORTHAMPTON
ROUTE 5 NORTH KING ST BIG Y SHOPPING CENTER

SPRINGFIELD
16 ACRES BRECKWOOD BLVD. WILBRAHAM RD.

BIG Y SHOPPING CENTER — MEMORIAL DRIVE, FAIRVIEW

MUNICH
24 12 oz. N. R. Bottles
3.79

NORTH MT. TABLE WINE
Chamblis – Burgundy – ½ gal.
3.29
case of 4 gallons $11.99

SCHENLEY'S O.F.C. WHISKEY 86.8 Proof – quart
6.89

MATEUS ROSE WINE
Imported From Portugal Fifth
2.29

LOUIS the V COLD DUCK CHAMPAGNE Fifth
1.79

NUYEN'S FRENCH BRANDY
Imported • 80 Proof • Qt.
4.99

FELLOW'S VODKA
80 Proof • ½ Gal.
7.59

D' Amour Flavored Brandys
70 Proof • Full Quart
4.99

GILBEY'S GIN
80 Proof • ½ Gallon
8.88

Red Lion Cocktails
Manhattan or Martini
48 Proof — ½ Gallon
4.99

A Hewlett-Packard pocket calculator is a gift for a lifetime.

The HP-35 Electronic Slide Rule.
Performs all basic arithmetic, trig and log calculations automatically. Has an Addressable Memory, displays 10 digits in fixed decimal or scientific notation, automatically positions decimal point throughout its 200-decade range. Cost, $225.*

The HP-45 Advanced Scientific.
Performs 44 scientific functions including vector arithmetic, rectangular to polar conversion, mean and standard deviation. Has 9 Addressable Memories. At $325,* it's the pre-programmed calculator for all scientists, engineers and students of science and engineering.

The HP-65 Fully Programmable.
The world's only fully programmable pocket calculator. You can write, edit and record programs up to 100-steps long. You can take advantage of HP pre-recorded programs, so you gain the speed/accuracy benefits of programming without writing your own. Performs 51 pre-programmed functions. Cost, $795.*

The HP-70 Business.
Performs all sorts of general business, interest, financial management, lending, borrowing and saving calculations—precisely, quickly, easily. A Financial Memory Bank lets you enter numbers in any order and change them anytime. Has 2 Addressable Memories and a very affordable price, $275.*

The HP-80 Financial.
Performs virtually all time/money calculations in seconds. Has a 200-year calendar, an Addressable Memory. Lets you make new kinds of management calculations that enable you to make better decisions. Cost, $395.*

*All HP pocket calculators have Hewlett-Packard's patented RPN logic system with 4 Memory Stack. Prices exclude state and local taxes.

Make this a special Christmas. Ask for an instrument crafted to last your working lifetime and designed to solve the problems you can expect to encounter throughout that lifetime.

All models in stock:
UNIVERSITY STORE
Campus Center
Open Wed. nite 'til 8

HEWLETT hp PACKARD
Sales and service from 172 offices in 65 countries
Dept. 0000, 19310 Pruneridge Ave., Cupertino, CA 95014

UM JV's nip Cross, 87-85

By RON ARENA
Sports Staff

In a tension-packed, nail-biting overtime battle, the UMass J.V.'s, behind a 30-point performance from Mike Pyatt, edged the Holy Cross sub-varsity 87-85 last night at the Curry Hicks "Cage".

With the score tied at 85-all, the Crusaders had possession of the ball with a minute left and planned to hold for a last shot. But enter Pyatt who stole a pass and was fouled racing to the basket with 17 seconds left. Pyatt sank two crucial freethrows and then a tough defense held Holy Cross from scoring to secure the victory.

The Crusaders jumped out to a quick 16-6 lead in the first half before the Minutemen stormed back to knot the score at halftime, 43-43. Joe Spallino led the surge with 8 points, hitting three outside shots.

Led by an 8-point explosion by Don Byrd, UMass raced to its biggest lead in the second half, 6 points. But with the aid of turnovers, "The Cross" came back. Then with UMass trailing by a 78-77 score, Pyatt, as he did in overtime, sank two clutch freethrows, but Holy Cross sent the game into overtime hitting one of two foul shots. The visitors had a chance to win it in regulation time, but a final shot missed the mark, creating the script for overtime heroics.

Pyatt hit 10 of 18 field goals and sank 10 free throws for his 30 points. Byrd (7-11) and Spallino (6-8) also hit double figures for the home squad with 14 and 12 points, respectfully.

Coach Gaudette had praise for others as well though. Although scoring only 4 points each, he applauded the defensive efforts of two relatively inexperienced players, John Bingham and Proctor Daniels.

Coach Gaudette gave playing time to 13 players claiming, "If they practice for me they'll play for me. Even if some get in for only two or three minutes, it's experience, and the next time they get in, they won't be as nervous." He also added that even though he's trying to win, he feels it is important to get these players in.

The game marked the second straight 2-point victory for the J.V.'s, so very quickly in their college careers they have been introduced to that spur-of-the-moment feeling known as pressure.

UMass skates after the puck tomorrow night at Merrimack

Orioles' T. Davis named as best DH

MANCHESTER, N.H. [UPI] — Tommie Davis of the Baltimore Orioles, who hit .289 with 83 runs batted in last season, Tuesday was named winner of the second annual American League designated hitter award, sponsored by the Manchester (N.H.) union leader.

Davis, a 15-year veteran, received five of the seven votes cast by a panel of knowledgeable sports personalities, including baseball greats Casey Stengal and Bob Feller.

Davis, who appeared in 155 games with the American League east champions, led all designated hitters with 623 at-bats. He also hit 11 homers.

Detroit's Al Kaline, closing out his 22-year career, received the other two votes. He batted .262 in 146 games, with 64 runs batted in and 13 home runs.

Davis succeeds Orlando Cepeda, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, as the top designated hitter.

Bill Brouillet and Roy Johnson - gymnast co-captains providing leadership; ability

By BEN CASWELL
Sports Staff

An elected captain of any team is someone who is respected by the team, someone who can provide the team with some kind of leadership, and someone who has the ability to be a top competitor in that sport.

Bill Brouillet and Roy Johnson are those someones on the men's gymnastics team.

Brouillet was the squad's second best all-around performer last year and this year as a senior should be the team's number 1 all-arounder. Bill is strongest in his floor exercise and in the parallel bars although his performances in the other events are not lacking.

Staff Photo by Dennis Conton

Bill Brouillet

Roy Johnson did not compete last year, being side-lined with a dislocated elbow. As a sophomore two years ago his strongest events were the high bar, the pommel horse, and the long horse vault. He will be competing all-around this season along with other co-captain Brouillet.

Bill and Roy both feel that their roles as captains are basically ones of communicating with the team and with the coach on various aspects of practice and meets. "We're like a medium between Tom and the team," said Brouillet.

Both gymnasts have been somewhat hampered by injuries this year. Roy's left shoulder was bothering him for a while, enough so that he had heat treatments to take care of it, and now it seems to be in good shape. Bill has a case of arthritis in his right shoulder that is really a day to day thing.

Regarding the situation that the gymnastics team is in for the future, both men felt that it was quite unfortunate. "If the part-time coach is good enough, things could be O.K.," said Johnson, "but this season has got to be like any other season, and we can't let that affect us."

Gymnastics seen as a minor sport did not really seem to matter to Bill and Roy. It is their sport and that is what is really important to them. "Sure a big crowd in the cage is nice," said Roy, "it makes me do better, but I don't need the glory, I enjoy gymnastics for the greater personal satisfaction that I get out of it."

As the season approaches these men are working hard to make it a successful one. They are doing that because gymnastics and being co-captain means very much to them. In that light they are certainly men that their team can respect.

Staff Photo by Dennis Conton

Roy Johnson

Smokin' Joe wants another crack at Ali the champion

PHILADELPHIA [UPI] — "...And when I mean just fight to the finish," Joe Frazier said, "I mean just keep right on fighting from the start. No rounds, either. The way they used to fight back then, 'way back then."

Frazier was elaborating Tuesday on his challenge to Muhammad Ali to meet him in a third fight, and to fight this one out to a finish, until one man drops.

Ali said Monday that such a bout was fine with him and "Let's do it."

"If Clay wants to stop every three minutes to rest, that's ok with me," Frazier said. "He'll need it, not me. I'm younger than him, I'd have more going for me. My stamina is better than his."

For the record, the longest glove fight "'way back then" was April 6, 1893, when Andy Bowen and Jack Burke went 110 rounds in New Orleans — and the bout was a draw when neither man could continue after seven hours and 19 minutes!

Frazier, with no opponent in sight now that Australian promoters could not come up with the money for a planned Dec. 14 bout in Sydney against Oscar Bonavena, is keeping in shape and waiting for definite proposals from Ali's camp.

Joe Frazier, shown here at the weigh-in in a previous fight says he wants another shot at Muhammad Ali.

"He's stalling me," Joe insisted. "He knows that when he hears Joe Frazier's name called, his heart skips a beat. No matter where he goes he hears my name and he gets all excited. That's because he knows Joe don't stop and he knows that the public wants to see the man who whipped him twice. They want to see his pants dusted again."

Of Ali's win over George Foreman, Frazier merely says "He got lucky and poor George just fought himself out. He knew how to maneuver and he got lucky 'cause Foreman whipped himself by fighting stupid."

And so the war of words continues. What next? How about fighting to a finish with bare knuckles, fellows?

Back on Dec. 3, 1855, James Kelly and Jonathan Smith fought for six hours and 15 minutes in Fiery Creek, Victoria, New South Wales, but even the ring record book doesn't say who won — or why.

Have a HAPPY

GET CAUGHT UP IN THE SPIRIT

The Art Shop HAS CHRISTMAS FIXIN'S

233 n.pleasant st. in the carriage shops

MAKE YOUR OWN CHRISTMAS CARDS with our · blank cards, in colors · wood & linoleum blocks · inks · paints

FACES of EARTH

DREAMING OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS?

A LITTLE SNOW BEFORE CHRISTMAS NEVER HURT ANYONE

SILVER SPOONS $5.95

NEXT TO THE AMHERST POSTOFFICE
FACES of EARTH
NOW OPEN 9:30 – 9:00

"These boots are waterproof!"

• Before you go home see our selection — all types of boots for either sex: Fryes, Dunham "Waffle Stompers", Clarks of England, Tretorn, Desco and more!

BOLLES SHOES

•2 Locations
•8 MAIN ST., AMHERST
•HADLEY VILLAGE BARN SHOPS, Rte. 9, HADLEY

FRENCH BICYCLE SALE

GREAT PRICES ON GREAT BICYCLES
The Lowest price
XC Ski Packages Available

	Reg.	Sale
Reald Touring 20	$125.00	$112.95
Touring 5	$112.00	$99.95
Paris-Sport 500 23" only	$150.00	$129.95
23" only	$135.00	$112.95
Casenave Alpine	$135.00	$118.95
Casenave Prestige	$145.00	$124.95
Follis	$145.00	$129.95
Follis GL 72 Sewups	$200.00	$179.95
Follis Touring GL 72	$185.00	$159.95
Lejeune Tour De France Reynold 531	$325.00	$245.00
Paris Sport 1000 Reynold 531	$325.00	$280.00
Paris Sport 1000 Frames Reynolds 531		$125.00
Gitane Tandem	$325.00	$250.00
OTHER SPECIALS
Hercules	$120.00	$99.95
The Perfect 10 speed
Vista 5 speed		$99.95
Vista 3 speed Deluxe	$99.95	$89.95
Vista 3 speed	$89.95	$65.00

Peloton
1 E. Pleasant St. Amherst
549-6904

THE FINEST CHRISTMAS CARDS

American Greetings
The Fresh Idea Company

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
open Wed. nite 'til 8

Oh my God! Holy Cross Crusades by Minutemen 68-62 in SHOCKER

By STEVE DeCOSTA
Sports Staff

For the first time in nearly three years, a UMass basketball team lost a game in Curry Hicks Cage, bowing to Holy Cross 68-62 last night.

Freshman Mike Vicens wreaked havoc on the Minuteman defense, hitting nine of twelve field goals and ten of fourteen from the line for a game high 28 points.

The less than capacity crowd of 4000 was disappointed by a UMass offense that shot a miserly 39 per cent from the floor.

The Minutemen broke to a quick seven point margin, and maintained the lead for most of the first half.

But the Crusaders came storming back to score the final ten points of the half to lead 33-30 at intermission. UMass was never able to recover.

Holy Cross advanced its margin to as many as 13 points in the second half, and a half-hearted UMass comeback attempt was much to little, much to late.

Bill Endicott led UMass with 17 points, including nine in the final three minutes.

The Minutemen were plagued by an inconsistent offense which, on occasion, saw just about everybody standing around.

Only near the end of the contest did an offensive pattern emerge, but it was at a time when the Minutemen should have been shooting quickly to try and cut their deficit instead of playing catch around the periphery.

John Murphy had his worst shooting night of the season, making only four of 16 shots from the floor for 12 points overall.

Jim Burke and Alex Eldridge tallied nine apiece for UMass.

The Minutemen were awesome under the boards, outrebounding the Crusaders 55-28, but to no avail.

Vicens was the dominant force in the game, as he spun past Burke, Greg Duarte, or whoever had the thankless task of guarding him at the time, for countless, easy lay-ups.

Bill Doran, an 18-year-old sophomore, chipped in with 18 Crusader points, including 12 in the second half to help hold the Minutemen at bay.

Holy Cross suffered from foul trouble, as three starters picked up their fourth personals early in the second half. But superior bench strength, in the form of Doran, Jimmy Dee, and Ed Reilly, picked up the slack.

The Minutemen now face the task of regrouping before a Saturday night encounter with Siena, the nation's fourth rated college division team.

UMass now stands at 3-2 overall, and Saturday night's game is the finale before a two-week intersession layoff.

TICKLING THE TWINE — Jim Burke's consecutive free throw string ended at 17, after he had converted his first five in the game.

Arnold Johnson drew rave responses for a five-minute performance in which he garnered four points. He was the only Minuteman who showed any authority in moving toward the hoop.

— — — — —

UMass: Murphy 4 4-4 12, Town 2 2-3 6, Mayfield 1 1-4 3, Eldridge 4 1-2 9, Endicott 7 3-3 17, Burke 2 5-6 9, Duarte 1 0-1 2, Claiborne 0 0-0 0, Pyatt 0 0-0 0, Johnson 2 0-0 4, Stokes 0 0-0 0, Totals 23 16-23 62

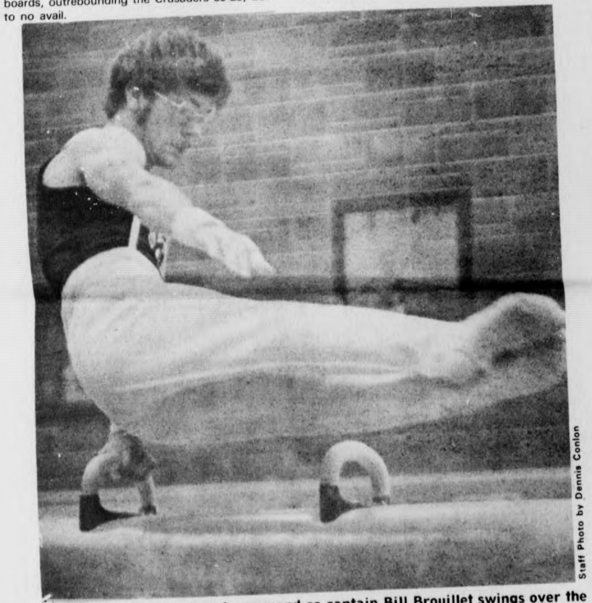
Holy Cross: Carballeira 3 5-7 11, Vicens 9 10-14 28, Halsey 1 0-0 2, McAuley 0 2-2 2, Potter 1 2-2 4, Doran 9 0-0 18, Dee 0 0-0 0, Gooch 1 0-0 2, Reilly 0 1-4 1, Downer 0 0-0 0, Totals 24 20-31 68

Fouled out: Burke, Potter

UMass	30	32	62
Holy Cross	33	35	68

Staff Photo by Dan Smith

Minutemen John Murphy and Derick Claiborne are surrounded by unfriendly Crusaders as they vie for a rebound with from left to right: Marty Halsey, Mike Vicens and Bill Doran. As went everything else on the night the Minutemen were unable to win out as Holy Cross went on to defeat UMass, 68-72. It was the first loss in nearly three years at the Cage for the Minutemen.



Staff Photo by Dennis Conlon

Top UMass all-around performer and co-captain Bill Brouillet swings over the pommel horse in yesterday's meet. Brouillet led the Minutemen over Lowell Tech for their second win of the year. Next meet is Saturday versus Army.

Minutemen pucksters move on to tackle Merrimack

By GLENN POSTER
Sports Staff

After snapping a four game losing streak at the expense of Middlebury on Saturday, the UMass hockey team travels to North Andover tonight to take on the top team in Division 2, namely Merrimack.

The Warriors were rated as the team to beat in a pre-season poll. And so far the theory has held as evidenced by a 6-1 overall record, including 5-0 in the division. Coach Tom Lawler's men handled New England College with ease stomping them into the ground to the tune of 12-0. Bill Pieri got the shutout credit as he did when his teammates poured in eight goals on American International. Other division teams which had to play Merrimack because of scheduling reasons were Salem St., and Norwich twice. In battles with Division 1 teams, the Warriors defeated Dartmouth and lost their only game in a tough encounter with Providence 2-1.

The big line for the Warriors has Bill Dunn centering for Mike Reynolds and Rick Curran. Dunn has nine goals in seven games while Reynolds has lit the red light 10 times. Reynolds also has 10 assists to lead the team in scoring.

The top two defensemen are Rick Kerivan and Paul Dunn. (Merrimack has a brother act too). And Pieri will most likely start in goal as he has played all the games thus far.

For UMass there is no question that a victory tonight would turn the season around. Coach Jack Caniff is leaning toward Bruce Gledhill as the starting goalie based on a fine performance Saturday afternoon. Gledhill played his first sixty minute game and though he was beaten for five goals, two of the scores by Middlebury in the third period came on power plays. The Minutemen were killing penalties just about that entire stanza anyway. Tonight Billy Harris and Carl Burns will be up front on short-handed situations.

The freshman line of Chris Lamby centering for the White brothers, which connected for three goals in the last game returns intact. Bobby White banged in his first two goals of the season and Lamby, the leading scorer on the team, netted his sixth in as many games.

ICE CHIPS — The next "home" game for the Minutemen will be Saturday night against Army. The Cadets are a former Division 1 team, so there promises to be plenty of action. ...Seeing as this is the last paper of 1974, for those of you who are planning on going to games over intersession here is the schedule: Jan. 16th Yale at Orr Rink, Jan. 18th at New Haven, for those of you who will be in the Boston area: Jan. 20th Babson at Natick, Jan. 22nd Northeastern at the Arena and Jan. 25th Boston St. also at the Arena. The first game following vacation will be Jan. 29th vs. Hamilton at 4:00 p.m. at Orr Rink.

Sports meeting

There will be a meeting for all Collegian sports staffers in the Collegian office today at 4:00 p.m. All present staffers and any other interested people are urged to attend.

The Collegian sports staff dinner will be held Thursday at the Steak and Brew. Cars will leave from the Collegian office at 5:15.

Football meeting

There will be a football meeting Thursday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in room 249 Boyden Gymnasium. All potential 1975 varsity football players including last year's underclassmen should attend.

Gymnasts rip Lowell Tech, Army next

By BEN CASWELL
Sports Staff

In their second ho-hum meet of the year the UMass gymnastics Minutemen crushed their competition.

The Minutemen beat Lowell Tech 149-115 yesterday as they dominated the meet in every event.

Again, as was the case with Boston State last week, UMass was up against mediocre competition and what coach Tom Dunn was looking for was the fourth scorer that will be essential in league performance.

Our fourth score was way out of there today," said Dunn.

In the Minutemen's first 2 meets only three scores counted. In UMass league competition four scores will be counted and the Minutemen will need depth that they have not gotten thus far.

Lowell Tech provided more of a challenge than Boston State but still they were not in the same class as UMass. The Minutemen out-scored Lowell Tech in every event and UMass co-captain Bill Brouillet was the all-around leading point scorer with a score of 51.15.

Peter Lusk's rings, Roy Johnson's high bar, and Bill Brouillet's long horse vault were performances that Coach Dunn singled out as the most impressive of the afternoon.

Lusk scored a 9.0 in his still rings routine even though a mistake midway in his performance forced him to "alter" his routine somewhat.

Co-captain Roy Johnson had the third highest individual score of the day with the 8.75 that he received in the high bar.

Bill Brouillet also hit 9.0, his score coming in his long horse vault. It was the second time in as many meets' that Brouillet was the all around winner.

"We didn't look all that bad," said coach Dunn. "I can't see Army being much better, but we can't be sure."

"It's going to be very close against Army," continued Dunn. "According to our performances, we've both had two meets against easy teams, it appears that Saturday's will be a tight one."

UMass' big problem could be keeping in the league limit of 12 performers that was instituted this year. Last year 15 gymnasts were allowed to compete in a meet but that number has been cut by three this year.

Coach Dunn still has some decisions to make regarding who will go against Army this weekend. Paul Marks could be seen in the all-around if his back is in good shape. Just his rings score is something that the team could benefit greatly from is he should be ready to go.

Freshman John Forshay is another possible for Saturday as he looked good and healthy in work-outs earlier in the week.

Coach Ned Crossley and his cadets from West Point are hoping to break a two year UMass winning streak. Last year the Minutemen went down to New York and defeated Army 157-148 in what coach Dunn termed a "really hot" performance. The year before UMass beat West Point here again by a wide margin of 156-145.

FLYING FINISHES — Saturday's meet will be in Boyden Auxiliary Gym and will get underway at 2:00 p.m...-catch you there...

Scott Hayes

Fanatical football finale

It's been a long and enjoyable National Football League seaso with its share of upsets and exciting games. This collection of picks, marks the last issue of The Collegian in 1974 as well as the fourteenth and final week in pro football's regular season. So, for the last time (or at least until next year) here are Hayes' hopeful predictions.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS 28; CINCINNATI BENGALS 23

There's little incentive left for the Bengals, and Steelers will march toward their AFC Playoff battle against Buffalo.

MINNESOTA VIKINGS 17; KANSAS CITY CHIEFS 9

Kansas City won't be as lucky this week, as they were last Sunday, facing Oakland's number three quarterback. Fran Tarkenton, Vikes' number one passer will be running the show.

OAKLAND RAIDERS 27; DALLAS COWBOYS 24

Oakland was willing to sacrifice victory in Kansas City just to make sure the team would be ready for the Cowboys and upcoming playoffs. Stabler will resume leadership of the Raider offense and that's enough for the Cowboys' sixth loss. Sunday, December 15

LOS ANGELES RAMS 21; BUFFALO BILLS 17

Coach Chuck Knox won't be gambling on fourth down with the Rams deep in their own territory this week, and Bills just aren't strong enough to stay with LA.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS 20; CHICAGO BEARS 6

Redskins will be waiting to take NFC Eastern Division honors, should the Cardinals lose their third straight game.

HOUSTON OILERS 27; CLEVELAND BROWNS 10

The Oilers finish with a respectable 7-7 record while Cleveland ends the worst season in Brown history with another loss.

DENVER BRONCOS 31; SAN DIEGO CHARGERS 21

Optimist John Ralston came to the Broncos three seasons ago and turned the Broncos into contenders. This year was a successful one for Denver and 1975 looks even better.

DETROIT LIONS 28; PHILADELPHIA EAGLES 14

Lions are much improved since the start of the season, and former UMass QB Greg Landry has proved a capable leader. The Eagles had high hopes for this season, but they barely achieved mediocrity.

GREEN BAY PACKERS 14; ATLANTA FALCONS 3

Packers should have little trouble overcoming problem-riddled Atlanta.

MIAMI DOLPHINS 30; NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS 21

The Dolphins use this one to prepare for playoffs and it's hard to believe the Pats, who started off so well, will finish 7-7.

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS 21; SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS 20

The big thing at stake here is second place in the NFC West. Look for Saints to surprise Norm Snead and 49ers.

NEW YORK JETS 35; BALTIMORE COLTS 17

This may be Joe Namath's last game in a Jet uniform, so you can count on his teammates to provide a happy going-away present.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS 21; NEW YORK GIANTS 7

The Cards must win this contest to wrap up NFC Eastern Division title, and against hapless Giants, winning should come easy.

PLAYOFF PREDICTIONS

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS 24; MINNESOTA VIKINGS 20
OAKLAND RAIDERS 28; MIAMI DOLPHINS 21

Sunday, December 22

BUFFALO BILLS 17; PITTSBURGH STEELERS 16
WASHINGTON REDSKINS 27; LOS ANGELES RAMS 24

Sunday, December 29

AFC CHAMPIONSHIP — OAKLAND RAIDERS 27; BUFFALO BILLS 21
NFC CHAMPIONSHIP — ST. LOUIS CARDINALS 28; WASHINGTON REDSKINS 27

Sunday, January 12

SUPER BOWL IX — ST. LOUIS CARDINALS 34; OAKLAND RAIDERS 30
LAST WEEK: 11-2 .846 including 3 exact spreads
SEASON: 109-53-1 .669 including 11 exact spreads

ISSUED WITH COLLEGIAN 12/11/1974

RENE DESCARTES JOURNAL OF PHILOSOPHY TM APPROVED BY THE ROYAL ACADEMY
25¢
PHIL-FUN
42
SEPT 012345
DESCARTES
GIVE IN, DESCARTES! OF WHAT SIGNIFICANCE IS YOUR OWN PUNY EXISTANCE WHEN YOU CEDE TO ME ALL THE WORLD OF SENSE? in this issue: THE DEMON DECEIVER!
I CEDE NOTHING, MONSTER! I HAVE YET TO CALL ON... GOD!

I on the Arts - Thanks Through the Ranks

by Sir Real

What was rumored for so long is finally coming true. General Manager and English General Mike Kostek has announced he is stepping down to a reduced post at the paper, as well as two minor-major trades. The first deal is David 'goo-face' Sokol, basis to Little Fire, a local fleecing concern for a pair of broken drumsticks and five free beer tickets at the Bluewall. "What a deal," exclaimed the reclusive Kostek. "What a steal! We unloaded this old stiff and got some very useful tools in return. David is 23, you know, and frankly was hurting us with his high salary, his outside Advocating and clubhouse lawyering.

In the day's major event, Wayne Dejnak was returned to the Montague Highway Department where he had been acquired two years ago on a trial basis. "We're really lucky that they're taking him back," said Kostek, "He's going to be in fast company there with all the great people they have there, but I hear they'll find a place for him on their coffee break detail."

Dejnak had been tenatively swapped for a small bag of leaves, "We told them it was dope," said Kostek. "and they went coo coo. Still, Dejnak was the best we could get, and he just didn't work out. They can keep the leaves."

by Mike Kostek

Here's a good year gone. My ride in the saddle has been a salty one, full of the stuff that gives humans and life reputations both great and terrible. But it's time to go. My ha-ha hasty thanks go out to the finest, most talented and farthest-ranging staff on the Collegian.

In the Totally Gone section, we have two cases of note. The deadwood — ah, great public servants being clear — ah, retired are two loyal and fascinating Joes.

Wayne Dejak has spent an all-too brief year here after moving over from Greenfield Community College, and the Montague Highway Department, where he was baseball star and junior foreman, respectively. Wayne has been doing a number of things for Below the Salt. Some of which are good, including his perceptive and wacky record reviews and Duck's D.I.T.S. & D.A.T.Q. (Duck Introduces The Salt & Duck Answers The Questions). Never known to duck an assignment, Wayne got his nickname one morning out duck hunting. He was waiting by the side of a pond, waiting for some mallards. Seeing some fly overhead out of range, he lifted his hands to his mouth, "Quack!" said Wayne. "Quack, quack!" Someone on the other side of the pond heard all this, stood up and shoot Wayne in the hand. I guess he forgot to duck.

David Sokol is quite another story. Self-billed as a "loving, sensitive, benign, existential ferbam great guy," David has overcome his varied handicaps to become the paper's first Vice Editor. After coming from Boston University, David has been a stalwart music staffer for a year and a half, and his love for various English strains of rock & other is legend. In between grinding slime into his joysack, David's love for music permeates all. "Better a day without sunshine than a day without music," he says. He carries around the second largest record collection (next to the Big Boy's) on the staff, and has been one of the finest friends both I and the paper will ever have. David, a sociology major, is putting his studies into practical effect with an Actual People Fleecing program with a local band called Little Fire as henchmen.

But thanks through the ranks:

Don McGilvray & Kris Jackson — two fantastic humans whose overall talent and spirit are boundless.

Bill Howell & Debbie Schafer — Amazing photogs. Howell is the finest camerman I've seen here, and Debbie can do the do too.

Fred Weiss & Ed Smith — Books & etc. Thanks for keeping things flying and helpfully trying.

Gina Starodoj — for putting her interest into action, something far too few do.

Tyla Michelove — for a smooth blend of work and good feelings that stay everfecund.

And the main crazies who really carried the ride: Andy MacKenzie, John-Jack Cahill, Ken Blanchard, Paul Kontrimas, David Miller, Craig Roche, David Santos, Ross Nerenberg, John Wicheta Wassell, Ed 'tv eye' Fleischer, Jeff Howard, Marla Richmond, Kit Browne, David Letters, E. Pat McQuaid, Linda Sherksnis, Mike Tiberio and the rest. Listen, this is it! THURSDAY NIGHT, 201 GREENOUGH, UMASS. A HOLIDAY BELOW THE SALT PARTY.

BB
all wrapped up
BBBBBB

The Final Word

by Daniel Finneran

Two philosophers and the bricklayer with thanks to
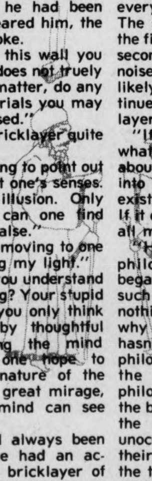
George Herrieman



Once upon a time there were two philosophers who spent their days arguing about the true nature of the world. One day they came upon a bricklayer just putting the final touches on a wall he had been building. As they neared him, the first philosopher spoke.

"You realize that this wall you seem to be building does not truely exist. Nor, for that matter, do any of the tools or materials you may have thought you used."

"Huh?" said the bricklayer quite honestly.

"I was simply trying to point out that one cannot trust one's senses. Everything is an illusion. Only through the mind can one find reality; all else is false."

"Would you mind moving to one side, you're blocking my light."

"You fool! Can't you understand what I've been saying? Your stupid wall doesn't exist, you only think you see it. Only by thoughtful contemplation, using the mind sans senses can one hope to discover the true nature of the world. It is all one great mirage, only the unaided mind can see through it all!"

"Has your friend always been like this, or has he had an accident?" asked the bricklayer of the second philosopher.

Amused, the second philosopher replied; "No, he's always been like this. However, I am happy to tell you that your wall does indeed exist. What we sense is what is real. Our senses do not lie, they do not lead us astray. If our senses were false what would become of..."

But before the second philosopher could finish the first philosopher began to refute everything the second nad said. The second joined in and refuted the first, the first again refuted the second, and somewhere in all the noise they refuted themselves. It is likely that they would have continued for days had not the bricklayer spoken.

"If you want to convince me that what you say is true, just back up about twenty feet and take a run into the wall. If the wall doesn't exist then everything will be fine. If it does then I'll be happy to pay all medical expenses."

"Huh?" said the two philosophers. Whereupon they began to give many reasons why such a suggestion would prove nothing. Each one telling the other why the bricklayer's suggestion hasn't shaken their respective philosophical foundations. And in the middle of the first philosopher's restatement of why the bricklayer is just plain wrong, the bricklayer picked up two unoccupied bricks and gave them their freedom in the direction of the two philosophers.

"Have at you." said the bricklayer.

Below the Salt
11 December 1974
Volume Two, Issue Fourteen

"We respect diversity and uphold the right of students to their own language."

Just like a porkchop in bondage, boing

The Kibitzers

Kris Jackson
Kit Browne
Mike Clary
Bill Howell
Daniel Finneran
David Miller
Jackie Cahill
Ken Blanchard
David Santos
Craig Roche
Ross Nerenberg
Ed Fleischer
Bill Parent
Maria Richmond
Jeff Clayton
David Letters
Karen Miller
Stuart Sojcher

Mike 'apres moi le delude' Kostek
Editor, Music & Most Other
David 'lemon pieface' Sokol
Deadwood Vice Editor
Tyla Michelove
Ass. & Ascendent Editor
Fred Weiss
Asst. & Books Editor
Wayne Duck Dejnak
Lame Duck Editor
Don McGilvray
Business Man. & Boats Of Note
Paul Kontrimas
Film
Gina Starodoj
Art
Andrew MacKenzie
Funny Business & Holy Stuff
E. Patrick McQuaid
2-Time Loser & Nothing At All

Below The Salt is a weekly fine art - real world magazine of the UMass Daily Collegian, student newspaper, Amherst, Mass.

"The truth was doomed to die. It was being downtrodden, was being drowned, burned, ground to ashes. But look — it has survived, it lives, it has been printed, and nobody ever will be able to wipe it out."

Below The Salt has been the kind of magazine that would print peculiar work. We pledge to uphold this tradition, but can't promise everybody's peculiar work will fit. Your's must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces to the line. The deadline for each Thursday's edition is noon the previous Tuesday; but you can write to us anytime.

Duck's D.I.T.S. & D.A.T.Q.

Ben Atkins' dilemma: Should I have another cough drop or should I listen to the new Hub & The Tubs.

Ken Blanchard says tha' a hand in the right place is worth two in the bush.

Andy MacKenzie, Below The Salt's very own Sacred Cowboy, has just found out that all shampoo made from the yucca plant is ail imported from Yuccavania.

John Cahill's 9 o'clock problem: "Aw gee daddy, can't I finish playing Ron Carter's "All Blues" one more time?"

SOJCHER PIX

by Stuart Sojcher

In Hollywood at this time, the major motion picture studios are probably listening to Frank Sinatra sing "It Was A Very Good Year" for the umpteenth time while the money from this year's films continues to roll in. Indeed "it was a very good year" for the film industry, as according to Variety, profits were the highest since 1946. Films such as The Sting and The Exorcist are still doing well. However, as far as quality goes, 1974 was far from being an outstanding year. Compiling a 'top ten' of the worst films of the year is easier and more enjoyable than selecting the year's best. There is an incredible amount of trash to choose from, showing that when the country suffers hard times people go to the movies. For the most part movies are still fairly cheap and provide mindless entertainment. According to the ads for That's Entertainment, "Boy do we need it now."

The following is my 'top ten' — good, bad and 'what should have been.'

The best: (not in any real order excepting the first)

Chinatown — Roman Polanski returns from the depths to create a 1930's Raymond Chandleresque, The Big Sleep, film noir mystery—thriller that rings of contemporary problems. Jack Nicholson is superb as J.J. Gittes, a smooth and tough private investigator and his love interest, Faye Dunaway, gives her best performance since Bonnie and Clyde as a provocative "femme fatale." The cinematography, music, setting, acting and direction combine to make this film the year's best.

The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz — Richard Dreyfuss creates a comic, arrogant and dramatic character in the person of Kravitz, the Jewish boy on the make. Dreyfuss is extraordinary in the title role and a supporting cast led by Joe Silva and Jack Warden is excellent. This could be the year's second best.

My Name Is Nobody — Produced by the master of the spaghetti western, Sergio Leone, this movie did not receive a great deal of recognition but it's the sleeper of the year. Starring Henry Fonda as a famous gunfighter and Terence Hill as 'Nobody', the film concerns myths and legends becoming history. The gunfights are spectacular, the music is enjoyable and the movie is simply a lot of fun.

Love And Anarchy — Directed by Lina Wertmuller, this Italian film is the story of an uneducated farmer who attempts to assassinate Mussolini in the 1930's but finds himself falling in love with two prostitutes. Characterized by marvelous acting and good dialogue, Love And Anarchy is a film not to be missed.

Harry and Tonto — A warm and humorous film starring Art Carney as a seventy-two year old retired schoolteacher who travels across the U.S. with his cat, Tonto. Occasionally a bit maudlin, this Paul Mazursky film is still well worth seeing especially for a beautiful scene where Carney meets his first love from years back and they slowly dance in each others arm while the camera observes them from afar.

The Last Detail — Jack Nicholson once again dominates the screen in this tale of two Navy 'lifers' escorting a young sailor who had attempted to steal forty dollars from a charity box. On the surface the film appears very cold and hard edged, but director Hal Ashby is successful in conveying a sense of pathos and compassion. Again Nicholson is superb.

The Three Musketeers — Director Richard Lester changes the classic Dumas story around and plays it for laughs. A fine cast includes Michael York, Charlton Heston, Richard Chamberlain, Raquel Welch and Faye Dunaway. For pure entertainment it's a great movie and the sequel which should be released soon will probably be just as enjoyable.

Blazing Saddles — Mel Brooks' hilarious parody of the old West may offend some but it's incredibly funny.

That's Entertainment — This is a collection of MGM's classic musicals with such stars as Judy Garland, Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly appearing in some of their best films and discussing them. A fascinating look at the way "they used to make movies."

The Longest Yard — Burt Reynolds stars in this Robert Aldrich film about an ex-football player who must endure prison life in order to understand the meaning of self-respect, pride and friendship.

Honorable Mention: Sugarland Express, The Chinese Professionals DON'T Look Now.

The Worst:

Law and Disorder — A ridiculous plot, horrible dialogue and overacting combine to make this the worst movie of the year along with...

The Trial of Billy Jack — The box office receipts are tremendous but why anyone would want to throw out three dollars for such a pretentious piece of filmmaking is beyond me.

Ash Wednesday — Elizabeth Taylor stags in this soap opera about a woman who undergoes plastic surgery in order to win back her husband. Well Liz still looks as good as ever.

Bring Me the Head of Alfredo Garcia — Is this really a Sam Peckinpah film?

Mame — The idea behind this film was to bring the family picture back onto the scene, but isn't Lucille Ball a bit old for doing this sort of thing especially when the camera lens is covered with vaseline to disguise her age?

Escape To Nowhere — Critics called this a "Hitchcock-like thriller" but I thought that thrillers were supposed to be exciting.

Gold — This film lasted for five days at Campus Cinemas and only seventy-six people showed up for two shows, on dollar night.

The Tamarind Seed — Julie Andrews and Omar Sharif star in this tale of espionage and romance, but who really cares?

Airport 75 — They should have kept this one in the hangar.

Earthquake — Can you imagine Ava Gardner who's around fifty years old to be the daughter of Lorne Green who is also around fifty? Anyway, the special effects are okay.

Honorable Mention: Billy Jack, Frankenstein, Walking Tall, Dracula, Daisy Miller, The Destructors and Return of the Dragon. This list could go on and on.

Best—Worse movie of the Year — Death Wish. Just wait until the sequel comes out, then they'll be some real action. Maybe they'll let the audience shoot along with Charles Bronson.

Bomb of the year — The Great Gatsby. So what else is new?

●

Best Actor of the year — Who else but Jack Nicholson, with Richard Dreyfuss an extremely close second.

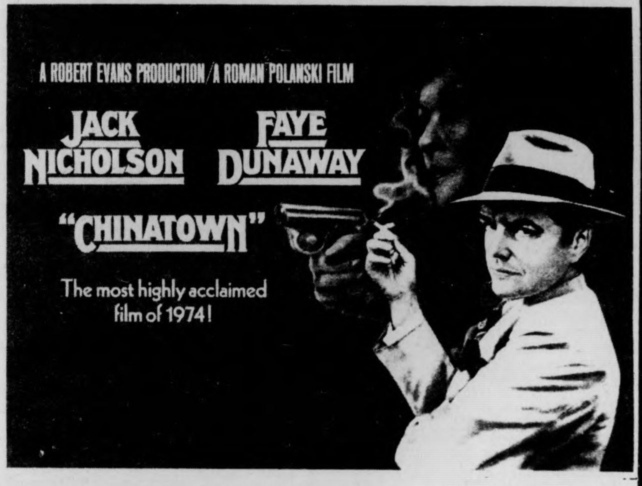
Best Actress of the year — Since there are few females in movies these days, this is rather easy but until another movie comes out with a woman who does more than look good. Faye Dunaway is the winner along with Mariangela Meleto of Love and Anarchy.

THE FLIX

The Ten That Should Have (come to this area) — The Conversation — Supposed to be superb. Badlands — Same thing. (The rest should be at least interesting as the directors are known people.) Armacord — By Fellini. Stavisky — By Renais. The Phantom of Liberty — By Bunuel. Lacombe Luciene — by Malle. Lancelot of the Lake — By Bresson. Scenes of a Marriage — By Gergman. (Lenny and The Godfather II) Should get here eventually.

●

And finally, the most unusual — Zardoz. If anyone figures this film out they're a genius.



A ROBERT EVANS PRODUCTION / A ROMAN POLANSKI FILM
JACK NICHOLSON FAYE DUNAWAY
"CHINATOWN"
The most highly acclaimed film of 1974!

"... for the most part, movies are fairly cheap & mindless entertainment ..."

All of us film farts would like to wish you a Merry
Christmas

Bell's Pizza House
UNIVERSITY DRIVE
PIZZA
GRINDERS
SPAGHETTI
256-8011
Short lunch hour?
Why not try the short lunch hour place?

VILLAGE INN
DRAKE
DRAKE
Fine food and drink.
Like a symphony of love!
VILLAGE INN

Come one and all to hear
The Singing Friars
at
The 7:30 Mass.
Saturday, December 14
A Concert following in the front lounge of the Newman Center.
Donation for Concert — 50c

Castaneda: Juan For The Road

TALES OF POWER
by Carlos Castaneda
Simon and Schuster

Reviewed by
Your Sacred Cowboy

Even as a long-time spiritual dilettante of the Richard Alpert-Baba Ram Dass school, believing as I do that in the long run it makes no difference which 'path' or method one chooses, be it chanting, meditating, or writing book reviews, I have nonetheless been doubtful, or at least puzzled by the Castaneda books. Up until the third book of the series (Tales of Power is the fourth) I had more or less written them off as 'spiritual pornography', that is, I figured Castaneda to be one of the many who are cashing in on the rising interest in spiritual pursuits by writing kozmic adventure books about Buddhist monks, American wanderers in India, etc., cramming them with as many references to auras, third eyes, and astral planes as possible. (For a really solid example, pick up almost any of the "Rampa" series — T. Lobsang Rampa's "autobiographical" accounts of how he developed his powers in a Tibetan monastery and used them to battle Communism, or whatever).

The first Castaneda books, being based so solidly on the idea of achieving realization through the (wow, man) hallucinogenic experience, seemed naturally to fall into that category. However, if they were being written for that purpose I think Castaneda earned whatever he made from them; it would have been so easy to just write about clear white light and the simple wisdom of the Master or any of the usual experiences. But his experiences are confusing, often terrifying; his teacher, Don Juan, is both demanding and devious (very much like the traditional Zen master who sort of 'tricks' his disciples into enlightenment), and at the end of each episode Castaneda assesses himself as being actually worse off than before. It is certainly unusual to end a book about spiritual seeking by having the author-protagonist break off his discipleship and run away in sheer horror and total disorientation, as he did at the end of the first book, The Teachings of Don Juan.

All right, let's submit the above paragraphs as evidence that It Just Might be true. Another factor that leads one to distrust Castaneda is the simple fact that these books have been a continuing series, and this again brings up the concept of writing to fill a commercial need: A never-ending soap-opera for the spiritually inclined? However, there is some justification for the series structure: One, apparently these were being written down and published more or less as they occurred. (Throughout the books Don Juan continually teases Castaneda about his persistent note-taking and analyzing), which also accounts for their abruptness and, with Castaneda's consistently objective reporting of his own apparent stupidity in dealing with Don Juan's teachings, gives the books a very convincing sense of spontaneity. A second interesting thing is that Tales of Power is apparently the last in the series; Castaneda completes his apprenticeship with Don Juan and becomes a "man of knowledge" in his own right.

Tales of Power is by far the most coherent of the four books. In it Castaneda completes his last tasks, but more important, he receives a full explanation from Don Juan for all of the apparently senseless things that happened during his apprenticeship, and a lot of apparently loose ends are tied together. Interestingly enough, Don Juan at this point denounces the hallucinogenic experience that was the focal point of the first books, saying that he wouldn't have used the "power plants" at all if Castaneda hadn't needed to be shocked loose from his conventional perception of reality. "The plants are excellent for that, but very costly. They cause untold damage to the body."

Castaneda evokes a great longing and sadness as he records the last events, the day when Don Juan tells him, "This journey is our last journey together." Don Juan speaks a moving, though humourous benediction to Castenada before conferring the final experience of knowledge on him, and he speaks, peacefully, of his own small purpose in the universe, saying that he "...will now be like dust on the road; perhaps it will get in your eyes again someday." An interesting phrase, that perhaps it is only when something obstructs our vision that we become conscious of seeing.

VISIONS

Summing up the Semester's Art
by Gina Starodoj

If you've ever complained that there isn't anything different, fun, or peculiar to do around here, you missed at least thirty-five visual chances this semester to do it.

If you don't like my writing about 35 shows you didn't see, you are not alone. I wish I could have printed information and pictures on every show in the area in hopes of exposing people to more art and more art to more people, but... the old reliable complaints: my time and paper's space.

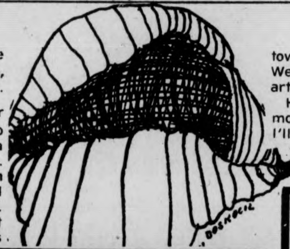
If contemporary art is your interest, Smith College's Video as an art form the U Mass student show and print show, New Africa House's Homage to Duke Ellington and Pedro Alcantara's graphic work plus B.F.A. and M.F.A. thesis shows would give you a good idea of what is happening.

For those interested in the history of art the shows of Hans Hoffman, the Bauhause, Egyptian art at Smith as well as the permanent collections of Smith, Amherst, and Mt. Holyoke museums have invited you to get your noses out of H.H. Arnason and H.W. Janson.

If the Fine Arts Are a little too fine for you there were several photography exhibitions. Kick yourself in the ass if you missed the photographs of Edward Curtis at MHC. Springfield MFA had photos of the West from the George Eastman House. Also, cartooning may be more your speed. We saw the old and the new in cartoon art this semester. The World of Pogo at SMFA Vaugh Bode, and Kris Jackson working live at U. Mass.

Last, but not least, the category for those of you who art up a tree and do not like art at all. You can absorb a great deal about history through art. MHC recently exhibited Mexican graphics that dealt with the political struggles of Mexico from 1839 to 1973. Edward Curtis's photographs dealt with the Indians and the attitudes towards the Indians of the American West when photography was a new art.

Hopefully next semester will have more high quality exhibits. Maybe, I'll get Goo to go to some!



THE CHEESE BARN
at Mountain Farms Mall 584-6735
Take home a gift box for "Mom & Dad." Pack your own! Choose what they like from over 100 kinds of cheese, coffee beans, gourmet foods, teas, fine preserves, and over 75 kinds of crackers.

THE LODGE at harvard square ®
ROUTE 9 • HADLEY
OPPOSITE McDONALDS
MON-FRI 10-9
SAT 10-6
BAC
MASTERCHARGE
Capezio Leotards
20% OFF these prices
$7.
$9.
$6.
$5.75
boat neck
V-neck zipper-front short-sleeve
sun-back
Tights all colors and sizes $4.25

The Rusty Scupper
Again features
Steak & Alaskan King Crab Legs
For your dining pleasure.
Rte. 9, 529 Belchertown Rd., Amherst

Year long summary on Books

The Best Books: A Holiday Summary

by Frederic C. Weiss
Book Review Editor

One hundred years ago, books were a common Christmas gift. In those days, before television, movies, and records bombarded our senses, for some, books provided, the only escape from an otherwise monotonous existence. If you have ever taken the time to look through some old books at an auction or bookstore, more often than not you will read the inscription, "To Billie from Aunt Nellie, Merry X-Mas."

For many, books have lost their value as gift material. Public libraries are more common now, and the media takes you places that previously you could only read about. And yet there is a certain pleasure in owning your own copy. Of being able to take your own time reading it; underlining a favorite passage for future reference, or letting the book take on the characteristics of time. It is fun to open up a Horatio Alger book from the turn of the century, and see an old newspaper clipping used as a book mark, or a coffee stain, left long ago remaining now as a silent witness to time.

Being a person who enjoys books, when I was fifteen I used to hang around the old bookstores on Fourth Avenue in New York. For any of you who live near the city, or are planning a trip to New York in the near future, such a stop should not be missed. There are over a dozen bookstores within a five block radius that starts on Fourteenth Street and Fourth Avenue, and stretches down towards Greenwich Village. It is in these bookstores that the past remains as a living museum. These relics are not kept from you in glass panels. Rather you can look through them and catch the delights of the past, as well as pick up some bargains from the recent future.

If you cannot get down to New York, there is a fine second hand bookstore in Springfield named Johnsons. The old bookshop contains a fine assortment of books, and if you look around, you might catch a real bargain.

What might be most fun of all is just to go through old barns, or stop off at auctions. Unfortunately due to the highly competitive market for both antiques and old books, too often Professionals from the big cities get to these places before you can, and they buy up all the really nice things. Still, occasionally you can pick up a first edition of Grimm's Fairly Tales, or Robinson Crusoe.

Believe it or not there are some fine bookstores in the Amherst area. The Lord Jeff is by far the most enjoyable to simply browse through. The proprietors rarely give you a hard time, and the atmosphere is quite homey. But there are few bargains here, with only a minimal amount of books put on sale.

The University Bookstore has no soul, and the atmosphere there is not the best, simply because the books mix in with the radios, T.V.'s and t-shirts in an atmosphere of buy... buy... buy. HOWEVER you really can pick up quite a few bargains there. The bookstore is big enough to attract the attention of clearing houses, who often will send up a shipment of really fine books for a fraction of their original cost. It is a good idea to stop by the University Bookstore once a week or so, simply to see what books are available on sale. Certain weeks they put out tables and tables of books, most of which are gone by the end of the week.

An example of the quality of the books on sale are the Art books. They make fine gifts, and are top quality. A History of American Painting by Ian Bennett, consists of 236 pages of Americana from Copley to Warhol, the only gripe being that there should have been a few more color pictures. The book is one that must go for around twenty-five dollars normally, but it is on sale for around ten dollars. The Norman Rockwell Illustrator is on sale for eight dollars. Rockwell is one of the finest painters to ever hit the American scene, and this book is full of samples of his work for the Saturday Evening Post. Rockwell has a talent for capturing the subtle aspects of the American drama. The best of these samples can be found in this book.

For three dollars you can pick up really well done books about Roman or Greek Mythology. These books are perhaps the steal of the entire sale. For the price, you cannot beat them. If you like history, the book sale has loads of American Heritage specials, one of which, The History of World War II, is going for ten dollars. While I don't always agree with the political interpretation that American Heritage gives American History, they really do know how to assemble the best pictures and writers of the time period that they are trying to portray. If you don't know what to get your father, and he is a history buff, this book might just do the trick.

The New York Times Book Review
Best Seller List

Fiction

This Week		Last Week	Weeks On List
1	CENTENNIAL, by James Michener. (Random House, $12.50.) Historical fiction about the American West: strong on history, weaker on fiction.	1	15
2	SOMETHING HAPPENED, by Joseph Heller. (Knopf, $10.) The mind of a corporate man: a coruscating read.	2	7
3	THE PIRATE, by Harold Robbins. (Simon & Schuster, $8.95.) Another machine-tooled Robbins fantasy, set in the Middle East.	3	8
4	THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION, edited by Nicholas Meyer. (Dutton, $6.95.) Holmes redivivus and 100 per cent entertaining.	5	12
5	TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SPY, by John le Carré. (Knopf, $7.95.) Thinking-man's thriller involving the hunt for a Soviet "mole."	4	25
6	THE DOGS OF WAR, by Frederick Forsyth. (Viking, $7.95.) Utterly convincing in detail but hollow account of an African coup d'état.	6	22
7	HARLEQUIN, by Morris West. (Morrow, $7.95.) Dirty machinations in the business world; a superior thriller.	7	5
8	LADY, by Thomas Tryon. (Knopf, $7.95.) She's an enigma and the suspense builds as the truth is slowly revealed.		1
9	JAWS, by Peter Benchley. (Doubleday, $6.95.) Long Island resort townfolk vs. big man-eating shark.		39
10	THE EBONY TOWER, by John Fowles. (Little, Brown, $7.95.) Five exercises in the storyteller's art by the man behind "The French Lieutenant's Woman."		1

General

This Week		Last Week	Weeks On List
1	ALL THINGS BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL, by James Herriot. (St. Martin's Press, $8.95.) Yorkshire veterinarian goes smilin' through life.	1	9
2	A BRIDGE TOO FAR, by Cornelius Ryan. (Simon & Schuster, $12.50.) The Ryan touch applied to a bungled World War II action.	2	10
3	TALES OF POWER, by Carlos Castaneda. (Simon & Schuster, $7.95.) The mysterious guru, Don Juan, leads his pupil down further paths to self-knowledge.	3	5
4	ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN, by Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward. (Simon & Schuster, $8.95.) Dogged investigative reporting on the Watergate story.	4	28
5	THE MEMORY BOOK, by Harry Lorayne and Jerry Lucas. (Stein & Day, $7.95.) A number of techniques for improving your memory.	5	24
6	THE PALACE GUARD, by Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gates. (Harper & Row, $8.95.) Personality and power inside the Nixon White House.	10	3
7	THE BERMUDA TRIANGLE, by Charles Berlitz. (Doubleday, $7.95.) Mysterious disappearances of ships and planes in the Atlantic—and theories why.	7	4
8	THE WOMAN HE LOVED, by Ralph G. Martin. (Simon & Schuster, $9.95.) The Windsor love affair, well retold.	6	17
9	STRICTLY SPEAKING, by Edwin Newman. (Bobbs-Merrill, $7.95.) Witty broadside against the debasement of English.	8	2
10	MORE JOY, edited by Alex Comfort. (Crown Publishers, illustrated, $12.50, non-illustrated, $7.95.) Sexual liberation in the boudoir.	9	12

Based on reports from more than 250 bookstores in 110 communities throughout the United States. Weeks are not necessarily consecutive.

BOOKS NOT TO BUY. While you browse through books like All the President's Men by Woodward and Bernstein, Victor Marchetti's The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence, or Peter Benchley's best seller, Jaws just remember that they are all coming out in paperback early next year. So if you just want the book to read, it might be worth your while to wait an extra month or two.

A Random Sample of Some of this Year's Books Worth Buying

For anyone who knows an aspiring writer, Writer's Market 75 ($10.95) is a real treat. It gives you all the information that you need to sell that secret poem, or that fantastic movie plot. In all, 5,202 markets are listed, and the only information that isn't really provided is "how to develop a better writing style." Nonetheless, Writer's Market is a great book for any writer to keep on his desk, perhaps on top of the unfinished manuscripts that remain the difference between fantasy and fame.

Bits of Paradise, 21 uncollected stories of F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald ($7.95, Scribners), is full of some of the lesser known, but in some cases really well written stories by this most famous writing family. For the Fitzgerald fanatic, this book might be the answer to your shopping list.

The Glory and The Dream* ($20.00 Little, Brown) is William Manchester's achievement over time. Manchester has tried to write A Narrative History of America from 1932-72, and for the most part he has succeeded. The book is 1394 pages, and can best be described as "popular history", short in sociology or ideology, but long on facts and pithy summations.

If nothing else, Manchester deserves some praise for endurance. He must have spent a lot of time in the back pages of every major newspaper and magazine in this country. Despite the temptation to dismiss Manchester's work, it must be pointed out that for the most part the book is interesting. Don't look at it as a book, rather consider it a historical almanac. You can open it up to any page and be greeted by nostalgia or enlightenment. Any book that goes from the depression to Watergate in 1300 pages, and is clearly written, is an accomplishment in itself.

For the big spenders, The Unknown Leonardo, (McGraw Hill, $35.00) is the ultimate coffee table book. Edited by Professor Ladislao Reti, the best portions of the book are the paintings, and samples of Leonardo da Vinci's projects. The book is full of Leonardo's plans for things like bicycles, cannon's, canals, and buildings, as well as his more famous pictures. Personally, I don't think that the book is worth the price, but if you've got a lot of money, and you have a close friend who is into the Italian Renaissance, physics, painting, anatomy, or any of the other characteristics of Leonardo da Vinci's creative life, you might want to pick it up. It is a massive collection, perhaps too massive. There are 549 black and white pictures, 206 in two colors, and 116 full color pictures.

"The book is the work of ten of the world's leading Vincian scholars", or so the publishers advertise. Still, perhaps it would have been worthwhile if McGraw Hill traded in one of the scholars for a professional layout person. The book is so jammed with pictures, and the narrative passages are so cut up and out of sequence, that frankly, it is tough to read in many spots A book this expensive shouldn't be an eyesore, but too often the layout is so terrible that it is. Despite this, the book is so full of quality prints that any person interested in the topic would appreciate and should look into The Unknown Leonardo.

Go East Young Man,* The early years of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas (Random House, $10.00) is a solid, very readable and touching political autobiography. Robert W. Creamer's Babe, The Legend Comes to Life (Simon & Schuster $9.95) is quite simply the finest and most compelling study done yet on Babe Ruth and the American sports scene during the first half of this century. A very literary book that takes a character who has for too long been exploited in the "jock ethic" and brought him back to life.

What would Christmas be without Art Buchwald to kick around anymore? This year we have Buchwald's "I am not a crook" ($6.95 G.P. Putnam) a very funny response to the Watergate seventies. If you know someone who likes political satire, you can't go wrong with this book.

Dear Kids, One Man's Journal About the things He's come to Believe* ($3.50) is a perfect stocking stuffer. A very beautiful journal about one man's conflict in values between the competitive ways of his youth and what he is beginning to realize about the importance of peace and relaxation as he reaches middle age. Relevant and eloquent, a very nice gift for someone who you care about but are not getting along with particularly well.

The Poster in History (McGraw-Hill, $17.50), Just something to see. Colorful and amusing. Very artistic, but nothing too heavy. Max Gallo has put together this book about Posters, and it makes a smart gift for almost anyone. From bicycle ads to war propaganda, this book has it all, and in brilliant color that seems to jump out from the pages. The posters are at times frightening in their beauty as you are given a view of early propaganda techniques. In living color, a smiling Nazi holds out his hand to greet you, and shows you a white "crest" grin. The caption reads: "Germany is really your friend." Another Nazi propaganda poster shows a German soldier without his hat on, smiling broadly and holding a happy little French girl: "Faites cinfidance au soldat Allemand!" (Trust the German Soldier!).

This is but a brief list of books worth looking into. There are many, many others. Cornelius Ryan's A Bridge too Far (Simon & Schuster $12.50) is a gripping World War II thriller that has all the critics raving, or The Seven-Per-Cent Solution "by" Nicholas Meyer (Dutton, $6.95) where Sherlock Holmes and Sigmund Freud come together, on a case, much the same way Batman and Superman used to in the comic books. A real sleeper in this year's book crop is Alexander the Great (Saturday Review Press, $14.95) by Frank Lipsius. It is a thoughtful and provocative biography of Alexander, the Macedonian King who quickly conquered half the world before reaching the age of thirty and then died at the age of thirty-three (33), before he could conquer the other half. Lipsius' study into Alexander's life makes for some good Christmas reading.

Reflections, or quotations from the various books of Herman Hesse seems to be a bit much, but if you know someone who is really into Hesse, this paperback ($2.65) would no doubt be appreciated.

A College Album* (McGraw-Hill $8.95) is a fun book to have around. It features some of the more provocative [illegible] around the various colleges around the country. There are some funny shots of the Mt. Holyoke and Smith woman during the first quarter of this century, and the most motley picture of two UMies dated 1870.

This article cannot give you a complete summary of all the books on the market this season. But I do hope that it has served to wet your appetite for books. If you are interested in knowing more about what books are available these days, pick up a copy of The New York Times Book Review every Sunday, or The New York Review of Books. Better still, take a walk through a bookstore or two and browse. One thing is certain: too often lost in these days of the electronic media, books deserve a better fate. Make a personal statement, and give at least one book to someone during the holidays season.

* Means available at the University Bookstore.

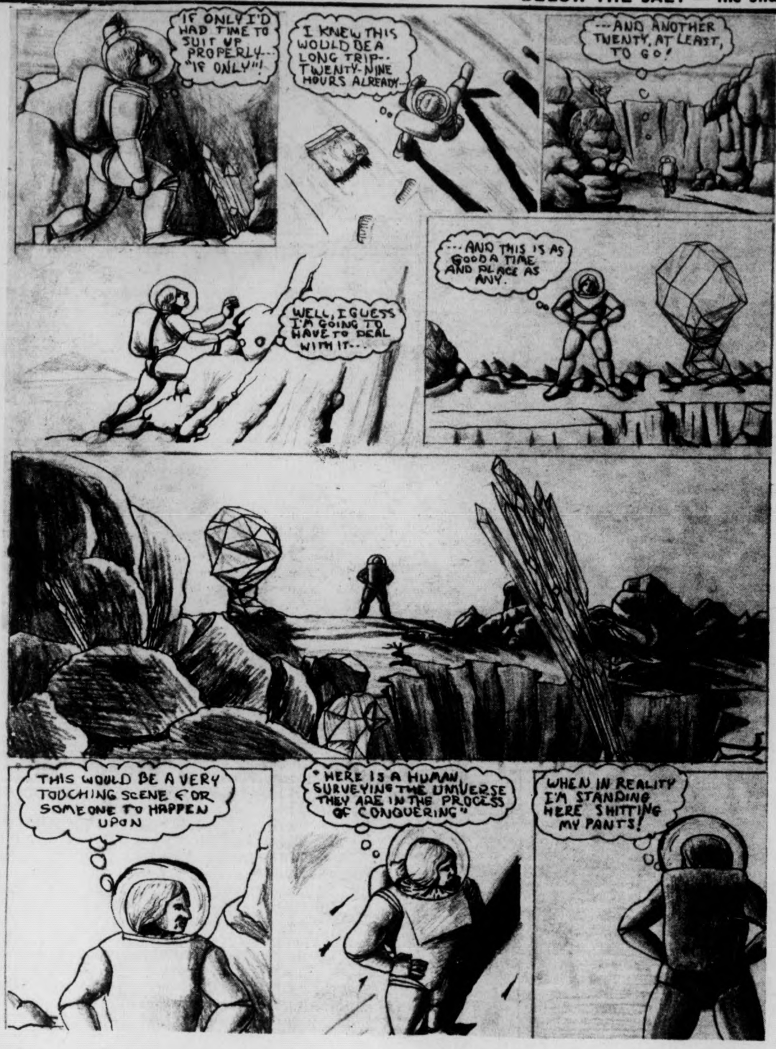
Hi Everyone
FOR PROMPT, DEPENDABLE SERVICE, JUST CALL US...
CHIMNEY & FURNACE CLEANING
NO TRICKS ALL TREATS
OUR WORK IS GUARANTEED!



IF ONLY I'D HAD TIME TO SUIT UP PROPERLY... "IF ONLY"!
I KNEW THIS WOULD BE A LONG TRIP-- TWENTY-NINE HOURS ALREADY--
---AND ANOTHER TWENTY, AT LEAST, TO GO!
WELL, I GUESS I'M GOING TO HAVE TO DEAL WITH IT---
---AND THIS IS AS GOOD A TIME AND PLACE AS ANY.
THIS WOULD BE A VERY TOUCHING SCENE FOR SOMEONE TO HAPPEN UPON
"HERE IS A HUMAN SURVEYING THE UNIVERSE THEY ARE IN THE PROCESS OF CONQUERING" WHEN IN REALITY I'M STANDING HERE SHITTING MY PANTS!

Goodnight Ringo

GOODNIGHT VIENNA
Ringo Starr
(Apple SW-3417)
Total Playing Time:31:32

This is a markedly, one might almost say awesomely, uneven album. Although it never reaches the heights of pop which comprised most of Ringo, it contains some nice stuff, but the album as a whole lacks sufficient force or inspiration to make it a totally satisfying package. Ringo does his best work when he is surrounded by good material — his personal contributions are primarily vocals and personality (the latter usually in evidence.) No matter what the material is, he and Producer Richard Perry are able to provide an attractive gift-wrapping for it; however, as we must all have learned by now, the finest arrangement won't do diddly squat for non-existent material. And non-existent is the word for too much of what appears here.

Side One of Goodnight Vienna starts off well enough with the title tune, "Occapella", and "Oo-Wee". "Goodnight Vienna" is the opening Lennon rave-up, with plenty of horns and double-timed piano, also accordian by Carl "Weddings and Bar Mitzvahs" Fortina; "Occapella", [illegible] Allen Toussaint tune, low-keyed but smooth and delicate, with particularly nice backing vocals; "Oo-Wee" is one of Ringo's Hollywood "what you done to me" numbers, very good of its type and assisted greatly by Dr. John on electric ivories. All of these are well-constructed, but more important, they rest on material which is solid (though not profound). Things start to turn funny with Roger Miller's (!!!??) "Husbands and Wives." Now, this album is not Sentimental Journey, so what's the point? The interpretation of the song is not parodistic (although the vocals are quite poor); nothing is done to enhance the song in any way, and it certainly doesn't stand up on its own, so (once again) what's the point? The side ends with Elton John's "Snookeroo", another number which is quite effective — again, due to the quality of the material and to E. J. himself on piano.

Side Two is barely redeemed. Harry Nilsson's "Easy For Me" and a "Goodnight Vienna" reprise constitute the worthwhile material — the former because of the quality of Nilsson's writing generally, and because of the lush string-piano writing which fits it so well. And but really, what good are most reprises? "All By Myself" and "Call Me" open the side, and both deal with ordinary rock song emotions in ordinary ways. ("A High Standard of Standardness" — R. Crumb.) Now, one shouldn't expect something new with every song, but what can be expected is an attempt to do something creative with the old. Here we are treated to "I'm standing all by myself — Ain't got nobody else — All by myself — I don't need nobody" and "We tried but we didn't make it — Now we don't ever have to fake it." Hum? Hoyt Axton's "No No Song" is cute but is based on a joke — the one about the guy who has gone on the wagon — and what happens when the joke wears off? Finally, "Only You" — the current single (another Why) — is quite thin and unenergetic. Like "Husbands and Wives", it borders on parody but never becomes it, and it's not a good genre follow-up to "You're Sixteen." In the cases of all of these songs, with the exception of the last one, the arrangements are very finely done, with particularly nice work coming from Jesse Ed Davis, Nilsson, Billy Preston, and Dr. John, but the surface won't create a substance where there was none before.

Ringo's present position is somewhat tenuous. It's clear that his present musical leaning is that of a stylist of sorts — a role which depends almost completely on the selection of strong material. That material is largely absent on Goodnight Vienna: I personally hope that he finds it soon.

—David Miller

Oldtime planet dreams

WAITRESS IN A DONUT SHOP
MARIA MULDAUR
(Warner Bros.)

Maria up-to-date; not for Mother.

The first chord of the first song on the album, "Squeeze Me," sets the mood for the rest of the album. You can only picture dear Maria slipping a black lace nylon leg out from behind the curtain. Then that beautiful seductive voice that beckoned us to the oasis all summer long strips us of any misconceptions we may have previously had pertaining to the innocence of the former Maria DiVito.

One can only think back to last summer when Maria was interviewed by Rolling Stone. She kept insisting that she didn't like the image of being a sleazy lady and that she was sorry that she had portrayed that in her first solo album. But she must have changed her mind and returned to the ways of the flesh. Even the cover of the album is seductive, unlike that saintly face that appeared in the center of the first album. That's the way it is, I guess, Maria Muldaur is not the kind of girl you bring home to Mom.

But still Maria Muldaur is a classic female vocalist. In this album she goes back repeatedly to forties swing arrangements with sassy brass with light semi-bluesy piano, and you can tell she is having a good ole time singing the ballroom big band tunes.

"Gringo en Mexico," a Wendy Waldman piece, is a castanet compliment to the writer of the song. We should all be glad for one thing — that Maria brought Wendy into the limelight.

"Cool River" is a nice southern mandolin-voice arrangement. Maria really doesn't add much to past versions of "I'm a Woman." "Sweetheart" and (are you ready for this?) "It Ain't the Meat it's the Motion" (no kidding) are more forties type excellently done. Muldaur would be an addition to any big band of the era. "You don't like my peaches papa — let my peaches be", she sings in "If You Haven't Any Hay," — nuff said.

In my opinion, the best song on the album is "Oh Papa" which was written for Maria about her ex-husband Geoff Muldaur. It is a tremendous song that no one else will ever be able to do quite so tenderly, ever.

Her "Brickyard Blues" is the best version done yet. And believe it or not the album ends with a gospel tune. Saints be praised, there is hope: "Traveling Shoes" is like finding a set of Rosaries in a brothel.

I keep thinking back to lines in the album like "I met a man he was big and fat — most girls don't like to see them like that. But I like to see them big and tall — the bigger they are the harder they fall."

Even though you could never bring Maria home to Mom, even Mom would like the album. It's a Christmas present and a half.

—Bill Parent

SEPTOBER ENERGY
CENTIPEDE
(RCA CPL 2-5042)
Playing Time: 85:15

This is one of those albums which, by its very nature, seems destined for an exceedingly undeserved obscurity. Imagine fifty-odd jazz musicians (very odd in some cases, but fifty will do — fifty people, one hundred legs. Centipede, get it?) in assemblage, performing a composition written especially for them by pianist Keith Tippett, loosely based on a poem by Julie (Driscoll) Tippett, the whole thing produced (and excellently) by Robert (King Crimson) Fripp, and you'll have no idea at all what this "insane travellingcircus"is all about. Thirteen violins, six cellos, five trumpets, four alto. four tenor and three baritone saxes, four trombones, three drum sets, one guitar, five vocalists, six basses and a piano later (plus some doubling up on other instruments of course; they wanted a full sound, by golly), I'm still wondering how to describe this music — it winds up and down, from solo to symphony, from tiny to tidal, from simple melody to hard-core, big-band dissonance. Some of it is charted, some of it is improvised, most of it is born, and it is to the credit of both composer and producer that this album never gets over-balanced in any one direction, and never relies on sheer force of numbers to support the music, tied very nicely, albeit somewhat loosely, together by Julie Tippett's theme-outline.

The only other thing I can think of to further recommend this album to you would be to actually list all the big-name jazz folks connected with this piece (just the names of the composer and producer should give you some idea of the range) and there's too many of them to do that. If you're interested in progressive music of any kind, scope this one out before it disappears forever. One of the year's best (A+)

—Your Sacred Cowboy

★★★★★FIND OF THE YEAR★★★★★
Glen Sherley
(Mega M31-1006)

I found this one at Ruby Vine's Railroad Salvage in Turners Fall for $1.98 (so you know it's got to be from the bottom of the barrel). God only knows when it was released but it's the best country album I've ever heard. Glen Sherley is an ex-con who has been helped along in his singing career by Johnny Cash, who he calls "the man". This album was recorded live in prison and it beats any prison album ever down before. If you don't think country music relates to anything, take a listen to this album and those screaming prisoners. This album is real country, not the hip watered down stuff that pollutes our airwaves these days. Prison life on vinyl.

—T.V. Eye

W.C. Fields forever indeed

by Mike Kostek

The Great Radio Feuds
W.C. Fields, Don Ameche, Edgar Bergan & Charlie McCarthy
Columbia KC 33241 time 46:45

The Further Adventures Of Larson E. Whipsnade & Other Tariddles
W.C. Fields
Columbia KC 33240 time 46:17

Poppy
W.C. Fields
Columbia 33253 time 44:37

At last the man they call the Great One is wellserved on record. These three items are from Field's personal collection, having lain dormant in his maid's attic for nearly thirty years. These are recordings of various radio shows, mainly from the Lucky Strike and Chase & Sandborn Shows of the 1930's. Don Ameche served as announcer and straight man, and is fine at both. Guest interlopers are ventriliquist Edgar Bergan and his talking, squawking Charlie McCarthy.

While it is unclear what posessed anyone to put a ventriliquist on the radio (sure can't see his lips move), the 'feud' that developed between Fields and McCarthy captured a sort of perfect radio representation for Fields's bombasts and diatribes. This wooden, unreal near-child is precisely the best sort of target for Fields: it is a source for good wood jokes, close enough to precocious child to be Fields' natural enemy, a witty and quick counter-attacker in Bergan's clever mouth, but moreover, his non-humaness represented one of the bothers, both real and imagined, that plagued Fields' rascallian life. The bare bones of the feud — woodpecker jibes and proboscis pokes — are strictly secondary, as is the rest of the scripted 'comedy material' on here, to the personality of William Claude Dunkerfield, perhaps the greatest comedian of all time. It is the manner of delivery, the ad-libs, the improbable occurrences, non-sequiturs and mind excursions, all shaded with his playing of conventional societal morality against the drunken and shady nature of himself and story subjects that make these records keystones in American comedy. Fully as delightful as his films, Fields' comic timing, delivery, that incomparable voice ranging far and wide over far-blown syntax, is used both precisely and preposteriously. His asides about the show or the lines he just blew are always funnier than what the script said. The Firesigh Theater has nothing on W.C. for word play or range of story material.

Ameche, W.C. Fields, Mc Carthy and Bergan mix it up on the radio in sessions that are truly classic.

Two of these three records are various sketches from the radio shows while the third, 'Poppy, is a radio recreation of Fields' hit Broadway play and movie. The production is quite good, but still suffers from a stiffness that binds Fields like the Marx Brothers in Room Service and a number of other W.C. films as well. Of prime interest though are the other two, The Great Radio Feuds, and The Further Adventures Of Larson E. Whipsnade & Other Tariddles. Both are better than the only other radio record available, W.C. Fields On Radio which is poorly recorded and contains mainly one-liner snatches and restricting sketches.

This landslide of cultural enrichment from the Loveable guttersnipe would be an event any time, but the Present Possibilities of this group at this Holiday time is, uh, staggering. I thank you.

"Total awareness." Huh? I said "Total awareness!" Huh

In Concert: Genesis
Orpheum Theatre, Boston, Mass.
December 9, 1974

Ninety minutes of Gary Gomes-Jeff Clayton 'phoned in banterings concerning Monday evenings' Genesis concert just couldn't be distilled into less than a book.

This was Genesis' third major Boston appearance and they're now more sophisticated, and intergrated than ever, and truly represent the culmination of British "art rock". Comparison of Genesis with the late King Crimson, the Who, Zappa, and a Clockwork Orange spewed forth from our two frenetic correspondants.

The entire performance consisted of a complete presentation of their latest (Gomes hints "best") and most ambitious opus, The Lamb Lies Down on Broadway and a re-worked and slower version of "Musical Box".

While the Who tell little passion plays of working class people, Genesis, in dealing with middle class beings, fantasize in a more symbolic, suggestive, Freudian and interpretable manner. Peter Gabriel, now leather-clad, takes his voice to new zones, and drummer Phil Collins is more amazing and central than previously.

Even the rowdies in the crowd were passified by the group, the performance and the artsie visuals and props, which included a plastic eight foot penis from which Gabriel emerges.

It's a big laugh in the face.

—David "no name" Sokol

DAVE MASON
(Columbia PC 33096)
Playing Time: 32:04

Lord knows I've tried; I've tried to justify him. When he put out the incredibly half-assed It's Like You Never Left I said, well, he just switched labels and probably had to throw it together in a hurry. But with this, his second release on Columbia, he has made a commitment to punk-rock that will be hard to back out of. His lyrics have reached a new level of insipidness (Give me some affection, Give me some direction, You know you're my connection) and there are many other indications of general lassitude. His song-writing, once clever enough to stand on its own, has sunk to the level of using string and horn arrangements to fill out hollow material. Likewise, the value of redoing a song — "Every Woman" — from the album previous (which he did last time with "Headkeeper") is dubious, to say nothing of doing a cover version of Hendrix's version of "All Along the Watchtower" (Remember Dylan, Nelly?) And even Led Zeppelin put more meat into "Bring it on Home", for Chrissakes. (D+)

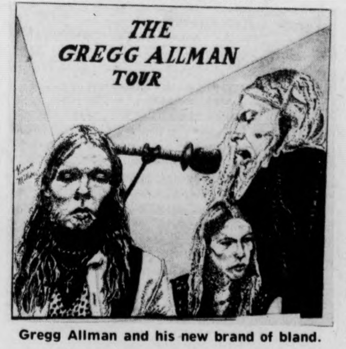
—Your Sacred Cowboy

EXPLORES YOUR MIND
AL GREEN
(Hi SHL 32087) time 30:19

Al's still keeping the same time with his famous non-stop beat, but he makes things go by just fine by wrapping his husky voice around enough songs in enough great ways to keep 'em flying. This isn't as urgent or as prime as his early hits (Let's Stay Together, etc.), but the man and the musicianship are compelling enough as to make it a good time one more time.

A 'don't push it too far' B-.

THE GREGG ALLMAN TOUR
(Capricorn 2C 0141) time 70:40



Gregg Allman and his new brand of bland.

It's now evident that the real jugularipper in the Allman Brothers Band was Duane, as since his departure the band has gotten progressively mellower, both individually and collectively. Gregg's solo Laid Back revealed a new sort of precisely worked blues that tended to grand scale overwork. This overpriced two-record collection continues Gregg's diluted fashion, bringing it to new heights of stately cumbersomeness with up to fourteen people in his backing band and a twenty-four piece orchestra. The band, featuring Tommy Talton and Scott Boyer from Cowboy, specializes in clean clean licks that build to no real climax, seemingly made to avoid being bad rather than daring to be adventureously good. The orchestra gets, uh, laid back, way way back in the rear of it all, zumming its way over Allman's romantic passages. The two cuts by Cowboy are an interesting change, and contain more real character than most of Gregory Lenoir Allman's music on here.

A 'well-done bland blend' C.

BACKTRACKIN'
THEM featuring lead singer
Van Morrison
(London PS 639) time 28:19

This is a fine second sequence of primal tracks from Van's early days. Them was Van's first recording band, and they were a wild bunch from Ireland working in the same R&B root service branches as 1965 contemporaries Rolling Stones and Animals. The best over-all picture of Them, with their hits ("Gloria", "Here Comes The Night") can be found on the excellent Them featuring Van Morrison, lead singer packages found on Parrot. Backtrackin' is the more obscure side of Them (several trax never available on this continent before), and subsequently more of a Real Van Fan already item. Anyone initially interested in Van's old days and ways should try the first one first.

Items of Interest: a blown-out crazed version of Simon & Gar's "Richard Corey", a solid working of "Baby Please Don't Go", a full-storm Van vocal on "Don't Start Any Now" and "Mighty Like A Rose", "Brown-Eyed Girl's" predecessor.

A 'wild night' B.

SO...WHERE'S THE SHOW?
JO JO GUNNE
(Asylum 7E-1022) time 33:55

More dirt-dripping rockacious charm from Jo Jo, whose main attribute has always been Jay Ferguson's strong melodies and good taste mixed in a stormy hard rock manner Ferguson, working in the late Spirit with the talented likes of John Andes, Randy California, John Locke and Ed Cassidy, fit in well as a part of a real group that produced an excellent blend of airy rock that hasn't been approached yet.

However, fronting his own group isn't quite as successful a proposition. Jay writes and sings all the tunes, but isn't shifty enough to get the diversity and fluidity needed over 34 minutes. As a result, this joins the three previous Jo Jo Gunne albums in the run-of-the-till good rock rack. Decent, but no great addition to the genre. Good bets: "Where Is The Show?, "S&M Blvd." and "I'm Your Shoe".

A 'just rock & roll' C+.

HANG IN THERE
HOLLY NEAR
(Redwood Records)

Holly Near, who appeared on Orchard hill a month ago, is a young second generation folk singer who plays what was once called protest music. The subject matter here is mostly Viet Nam and humanity in general with a shake of feminism in the eleven songs, nine of which are Holly's. Everything works reasonably well — her backing band (piano, drums, bass, guitar, violin, a few horns) is sympathetic and arranged well. Holly's singing reveals a voice with fine depth and a number of interesting facets, but her inexperience shows in her mannered, stilted phrasing that shows how unsure she is in following some of the folkies before her. "High school Joan Baez" sez Sokol. Not exactly, but ease and grace as well as a style of her own should come in time. Holly says she's not interested in being a Star with all of the life perversions that follow, so she's selling her music herself in a very commendible manner at Redwood Records, 565 Doolin Canyon, Ukiah, Cal., 95482.

A 'hang in there Holly' B-.

JOHN DAWSON WINTER III
JOHNNY WINTER
(Blue Sky-Columbia PZ 33292)
time 37:49

No, this isn't it. This is the dullest crank-out Winter album in quite a while, with the thin raunch of Still Alive and Well the only real dumb competition. Nothing's very interesting on here. Allen Toussaint's "Mind Over Matter" is catchy, and "Raised On Rock" is firm, but this is a let-down after the interesting and useful Saints & Sinners.

A 'Michael Charles Kostek II' D.

— Mike, 'if I thought it would do any good, I'd stand on the rock where Hendrix stood' Kostek.

ARTISTRY — DEODATO (MCA)

You know how some artists are better live than in the studio? Well this is not the case with Deodato.

This album, recorded live at the Mississippi River Festival, contains a few previously recorded cuts and some new numbers. Deodato, himself, gives a feeble performance throughout the album, but two songs stand out. The first "Rio Sangre" starts off with a floating bass line and bursts into that familiar Deodato style, but it still manages to be laid back and shakey. From the second side comes a live version of "Super-Strut", probably the best cut on the album, but when compared with the studio version is shallow and weak. The fact that Billy Cobham doesn't play on this album definitely took a lot of energy away from this song. It's the fine guitar work of John Tropea that rescues it from the depths of oblivion up to just mediocre. And mediocre stands out as best on this album.

—Dave Provost

MAGMA– KOHNTARKOSZ

by Your Sacred Cowboy

Kohntarkosz
Magma
(A&M SP-3650)
Playing Time: 41:01

Picture: A tomb; huge, dark, oppressive, like you might imagine the inside of an Egyptian pyramid to be. Inside, . perhaps thousands of devotees are gathered to pay tribute to One whom they both love and fear. Incense flavors the darkness; They sway with the hypnotic swelling and receding of the ceremonial — arcane, beautiful, brutal. It builds, aggravating love and fear into moments of frenzy where they fuse into a kind of black ecstacy — a superconciousness and an unconciousness. Tension and release, tension and release, and release...they sink, finally, into the bliss of Mantra and then Silence...

This, in essence, is "Kohntarkosz", a thirty-minute composition which is the focal point of the album, and beyond the subjective description above, I am almost totally at a loss for words. How about this: "Kohntarkosz" is a composition that few people outside our generation will be able to relate to, and that is an irony — listening to it, one would never associate it, by the wildest stretch of imagination, with rock (or jazz, or anything else for that matter, except perhaps Wagner) and yet there are no instruments used on this cut which the rock listener hasn't heard a thousand times before: Drums, electric bass, electric piano & organ, electric guitar, vocals. No string or horn arrangements; not even a synthesizer. Yet Magma has created an expression that it totally unique in the history of music, but which echoes and re-echoes with a primal something known to even our most remote ancestors: a sense of needing to placate, by self-immolation, if necessary, an apparently hostile universe.

The power of their music is not based on speed or size (that is, large-scale arrangements), but on relentless rhythmic pressure — I am almost unable to listen to this album in any prone position; the tension has me standing in minutes, sometimes without my noticing it. Magma is rock heated past the melting point.

Magma is a French-based group, led, or rather driven, by drummer Christian Vander. Vander was something of a child prodigy, and a devotee of John Coltrane from the age of eleven. Perhaps "devotee" isn't strong enough — he lived for John Coltrane, and almost died for him. On the night that Coltrane died, Vander was psychologically shattered to the point where he could do nothing for several years. He finally found his purpose again; in his own words, "I was going to try, in all humility, to go on playing and to pursue Coltrane's path. My music is not like Coltrane's; it's mine, but it is the same quest, the same course. My music comes from deep Polish and Baltic forests...It is deeply rooted in the German music, Russian opera, "universal" music, and tragic music as well. This is why my music is not like Coltrane's, but we are certainly soulmates."

Vander writes nearly all of the group's material, and created the language, kown as Kobaian, in which all of their lyrics are written. Since no translations of the lyrics are included with the album, and since Vander claims that the language came to him in a vision at the age of sixteen, I though it might be interesting to get an expert opinion on the language's structure and roots, if any. So I took one of their albums and its Kobaian lyric sheet to Professor Heny of the UMass. Linguistics Department, and while he didn't have time to complete an 'in-depth study' (He is interested, however, and is going to study it further) he did give me his initial reactions. He said that the language was heavily influenced by the sound, although perhaps not the structure of German, and that a lot of the words didn't seem to have 'specific' meanings — indicating that the language is perhaps more conceptual than practical. He also said that there seemed to be a lot of unnecessary embellishments and sounds for the sake of sounds. One thing that struck him in particular was the consistency in the pronunciation, even in rapid singing, suggesting that they really do speak the language frequently. He concluded by adding that there is a graduate student from France in his department who has seen Magma on stage — he says they appear to converse in the language.

Kohntarkosz is Magma's second album to be released here; the fourth they've recorded. In many ways Kohntarkosz is much more accessible than their previous release, Mekanik Destruktiw Kommandoh (A&M SP-4397). The band had more members then, and a large horn-section was utilized, making for an even more complex sound than that of the present album, although there is certainly no less vitaliy here — Kohntarkosz is simply more compressed and subtle, not as operatic in style. Magma's first three albums deal with a science-fictorial history of the planet Kobaia, inhabited by a group of Earthmen who emigrated there in search of a place to set up their Utopian society, and their confrontations with native Earth. Kohntarkosz is something of an aside to the main narrative, containing, in addition to the title piece, an elegy to Coltrane and a Tolkien-inspired, terrifying, "Ork Alarm". The latter was composed by Jannik Topp, a bassist with the ability of a Miroslav Vitous and the guts of a Jack Bruce (Tony Williams period). He and Vander are the main sources of the band's ferocious intensity. Vander himself must be a maniac or better — his playing is fierce, searing.

"...I cannot leave anything to chance with my music. Too many "musicians" play for themselves, for a few critics and promoters, not really caring for the people who listen to their music. By being proud of our music and our work, we hope to persuade people that they also have the right and the duty to create, so that we can be together, and the more we are, the stronger we will be. To try to help each other on the way to our own spiritual realization. Hopefully, when people leave a Magma concert they will have heard something that might help them to sort out the mystery of their own life..."

—Christian Vander

Amen to that, and I'd like to conclude by saying that I intend to order their first two albums from France, and that I think I would walk to Boston, if necessary, to see them play.

Lawful behavior erupts at UMasss

MOTT THE HOOPLE LIVE
(Columbia PC 33282)
Total Playing Time: 54:12

Recorded live in London just a year ago and during Mott's Broadway stint last May, this latest MTH release has little to recommend it other than a generous total playing time, something which the tireless and humble Below The Salt reviewers lovingly calculate for you. The sound on this live recording is only fair, often cluttered and distorted, and the material is pretty unexciting, culled mostly from Mott and earlier. The versions of the Beatles "Get Back" and of Jerry Lee's "Whole Lotta Shakin' Going On" are trite and bashing. Even the quieter tunes grate on.

A "hardly meat quivering" C.

I FEEL A SONG — GLADYS KNIGHT AND THE PIPS
(Buddah BDS 5612)
Total playing time: 34:44.

One of the most consistent and popular AM radio-soul-pop groups in the biz, Gladys and the boys have racked up a remarkable string of hit singles. Although their basic sound hasn't changed significantly since their Motown days, they are continually able to inject emotion and sincerity into almost all that they attempt, be it one of their many Jim Weatherly interpretations ("Best Thing That Ever Happened To Me", "Once In A Lifetime Thing", "The Need To Be") or in their cover versions of pop-soul hits.

Despite suspiciously jivey cover 'art', I Feel A Song, like Imagination before it, is filled with strong, not far from easy-listening performances, with only a live recording of "The Way We Were" not up to snuff. Of note is some real nice Staple Singeresque vocal interaction on "Don't Burn Down the Bridge." B.

IT'S... JACK THE LAD — JACK THE LAD
(Elektra 7 E-1014 Total playing time: 43:39

A fine selection and collection or rocky English pub-folk from this Lindisfarne spin off. Although The Lad writes all of their own material, there's a significant taste of the traditional here which blends tastefully with the interesting and catchy melodies and an occasional bit o'funk. A Maddy Prior (Steeleye Span mistress) guest vocal on "Song Without A Band" frosts the cake.

A "not too folked-up" B+

HELL — JAMES BROWN
(Polydor 2-9001) 2 records
Total Playing Time: 68:20

Very likely the Godfather's most ambitious recording OF ALL TIME, Hell reflects a knowing blend of pessimism, humor, and soul dynamite. There's a wealth of highlights here, including a 14 minute version of James' mighty "Papa Don't Take No Mess" (lacking the overdubbed crowd sounds of the single), a reworked Latin-like "Please Please Please", the title track, a great anti-bullshit testification, as well as two recent chart-disco favorites, "My Thang" and "Coldblooded." Lots and lots hot stuff with side one alone worth the price of admission.

A "soul classic". A-

GIVE RECORDS

A MOVEABLE FEAST — FAIRPORT CONVENTION
(Island ILPS 9285)
Total Playing Time: 47:41

When Sandy Denny returned to the Convention after a partially successful solo career attempt, the group regained much of the vocal versatility limited by her departure. Recorded live only months after Sandy's return to the group, A Moveable Feast is a fair representation of the F'port's current stage doings which include instrumental and traditional jigs and reels, as well as songs from the Sandy-less period sung by the boys in the group, and, of course, the Sandy Denny songs. It is the latter which are easily the best here with both "Matty Groves" and the exquisite "John The Drum" standing out in their beautiful folk simplicity. The anti-war "Sloth", originally from Full House, the album recorded directly after Sandy left the group, is given a stunning new life here. Tight.

Only on the soul standard "Something You Got" does Fairport sink below par with the vocal trade-offs sounding a little too much like Taylor-Simon for comfort. Otherwise, this feast is highly tasteful.

A "quasi-Angel delight" B+

FIRE — OHIO PLAYERS
(Mercury SRM 1-1013)
Total Playing Time: 36:31

The funky, rhythmic and pulsating discotheque thang known as progressive soul has suddenly grown to new levels of popularity, the result of repeated successes by groups like Kool and The Gang, Earth, Wind and Fire, The Isley Brothers, and the Ohio Players. The players, who have already hit big with such power packed movers as "Funky Worm," "Jive Turkey" and "Skin Tight" keep it right on coming throughout this excellently produced and recorded record, one ideal for smoke, drink and parrrrrrrty. The Players have a refined roughness and toughness and sound a bit like Sly and the Family Stone at times. Fire shows them consistently able to shift gears with ease, with their up-tempo funkifiers blending nicely with their more sedate mello-dious ballad-types.

A "disco-delic" B+

THE LAMB LIES DOWN ON BROADWAY — GENESIS
(Atco SD 2-401) 2 records
Total Playing Time: 95:12

Due to year-end deadlines and the like, it's too early to say anything really in depth about this just-released double record set by one of rock's most ambitious bands. There's a hell of a lot going on here, and this is immediately more powerful than the successful Selling England By The Pound. Early flashes to Foxtrot and Nursery Cryme. Watch for further details, this is going to be a monster.

—David "intellectual formaldehyde" Sokol

DUKES BIG 4 — DUKE ELLINGTON (Pablo 2310703)
TAKE LOVE EASY — JOE PASS & ELLA FITZGERALD (Pablo 2310702)
VIRTUOSO — JOE PASS (Pablo 2310708)
THE TRIO — OSCAR PETERSON (Pablo)

Four brand new releases from Pablo Records, all produced by Norman Granz, are the most exciting things to happen to jazz in a long time. Give 'em a listen and you'll be sure to include them in a "Ten Best" list for 1974. Besides featuring well-known jazz all-stars, all four albums feature Joe Pass, undoubtedly one of the greatest guitarists in jazz history.

My favorite is Duke's Big 4, an absolute gem featuring Duke Ellington on piano, Joe Pass on guitar, Ray Brown on bass and Louis Bellson on drums. It contains six Ellington standards and a Bellson original, all played with a swing feel. The informality of the session comes through loud and clear, and gives a perfectly spontaneous flavor to the improvisations, de-emphasizing "arrangement". And that's what jazz is all about, isn't it? And rally now, does anything need to be said about the musicians?

Take Love Easy pairs Joe Pass with singer Ella Fitzgerald, proving once and for all that "two's company, three's a crowd". This beautiful album of slow ballads showcases the best that these two talents have to offer, and underlines their sometimes uncanny ability to be "in tune" to each other. Each anticipates the other in a way so musically sympathetic that it has to be heard to be appreciated.

For an uncompromising album consisting of fifty minutes of solo guitar, get Joe Pass: Virtuoso. In each of his twelve solos, Pass explores chord melodies, executes incredible single-note runs, and, in general, boggles the mind. When he decides to, he swings — I mean really swings — in a manner I've only heard Art Tatum do on solo piano. The Pass-key is genius with taste.

The last album in this series is The Trio, with Oscar Peterson on piano, Joe Pass on guitar and Niels Peterson on bass. I haven't heard this release yet, but judging by the quality of the aforementioned three, it can't miss. And I can't think of a better guitarist to team with Oscar's full speed-ahead inventiveness than Joe Pass Barney Kessel, and Herb Ellis included. Thank you, Pablo Records.

—Ken Blanchard

1974 No more

NEWS FOR YOUTH

What was did — 1974 + wise

1. Kohntarkosz — Magma
2. Planet Waves — Bob Dylan
3. Odds & Sods — The WHO
4. Fulfillingness' First Finale — Stevie Wonder
5. Roxy & Elsewhere — Zappa & Mothers of Invention
6. Before The Flood — Bob Dylan & The Band
7. Feats Don't Fail Me Now — Little Feat
8. Hatfield & The North — Hatfield & The North
9. Good Old Boys — Randy Newman
10. Preservation Act 2 — The Kinks
11. Mo' Roots — Taj Mahal
12. Grevious Angel — Gram Parsons
13. Super-Sonic Sounds — Sun Ra
14. Everything You Know Is Wrong — Firesign Theater
15. Slow Dancer — Boz Scaggs
16. For The Last Time — Bob Wills & His Texas Playboys
17. Rock N Roll Animal — Lou Reed
18. The Lamb Lies Down On Broadway — Genesis
19. Roller Maidens From Outer Space — Phil Austin & FT
20. Hell — James Brown
21. Distant Hills — Oregon
22. KC 32746 — Crowbar
23. Starless & Bible Black — King Crimson
24. Normal — Martin Mull
25. Court & Spark — Joni Mitchell

What was dead:

1. Too Much Too Soon New York Dolls
2. Reggae — Herbie Mann
3. Cheech & Chong's Wedding Album
4. Light Shine — Jesse Colin Young
5. On The Beach — Neil Young
6. Burn — Deep Purple
7. Welcome Back My Saps To The Jive That That Never Slacks — EL&P
8. Home Home On The Road — New Riders Of The Purple Sage
9. Smiler — Rod Stewart
10. Ian Page

Concerts Not Forgotten;

Cecil Taylor, Jazz Workshop, Boston
Bruce Springsteen, Sanderson Theater, Springfield
Gentle Giant, Sanderson Theater,
Randy Newman — Ry Cooder , Sanderson
Song Performance:
Archie Shepp, Voices Of New Africa & UMass Jazz Workshop on Duke Ellington's "In A Sentimental Mood"

Sure Shots of '75: Bruce Springsteen, Little Feat, Gentle Giant

Funny kind of middling year, with no real Force except for the rock-jazz extensions (Magma, Henry Cow, King Crimson, Hatfield & The North) who just might be looked back at as the Yardbirds of their day. Blues & Howlin' Wolf is to the 1974 Rolling Stones as jazz and John Coltrane are to the 1974 Magma. The blues-rock cycle is completed and the jazz-rock birge has begun. Space is the Place. Think, don't stink.

—Mike Kostek

A long year with many memories. As best as I can see, the following, in order were and will be the tops of 1974. Keep in touch.

1. Hero And Heroine — Strawbs
2. Before The Flood — Bob Dylan-The Band
3. The Lamb Lies Down on Broadway — Genesis
4. Fulfillingness' First Finale — Stevie Wonder
5. Planet Waves — Bob Dylan
6. Mo' Roots — Taj Mahal
7. Peace On You — Roger McGuinn
8. Feats Don't Fail Me Now — Little Feat
9. Odds and Sods — Who
10. Kohntarkosz — Magma
11. Roxy and Elsewhere — Frank Zappa and The Mothers
12. Hatfield and The North
13. Learn to Love It — Jesse Winchester
14. Preservation Act 2 — Kinks
15. Good Old Boys — Randy Newman
16. Court And Spark — Joni Mitchell
17. Rock Bottom — Robert Wyatt (Import)
18. Now We Are Six — Steeleye Span
19. Kimono My House — Sparks
20. Paradise And Lunch — Ry Cooder
21. Normal — Martin Mull
22. Starless And Bible Black — King Crimson
23. Okie — J. J. Cale
24. Hell — James Brown
25. A Moveable Feast — Fairport Convention

—David Sokol

A. SIGHS OF PLEASURE

The Marble Index — Nico (1970 style)
The Tale of the Giant Rat of Sumatra — The Firesign Theatre
Roller Maidens From Outer Space — Phil Austin (and the FT)
Everything You Know is Wrong — The Theatre
Live At the Opera House — The Pointer Sisters Walls And Bridges — John Lennon
(strike Mind Games from last year's list)
From the Mars Hotel — Grateful Dead
The History of the Bonzos — The Bonzo Dog Band
Sally Can't Dance — Lou Reed
Court and Spark — Joni Mitchell

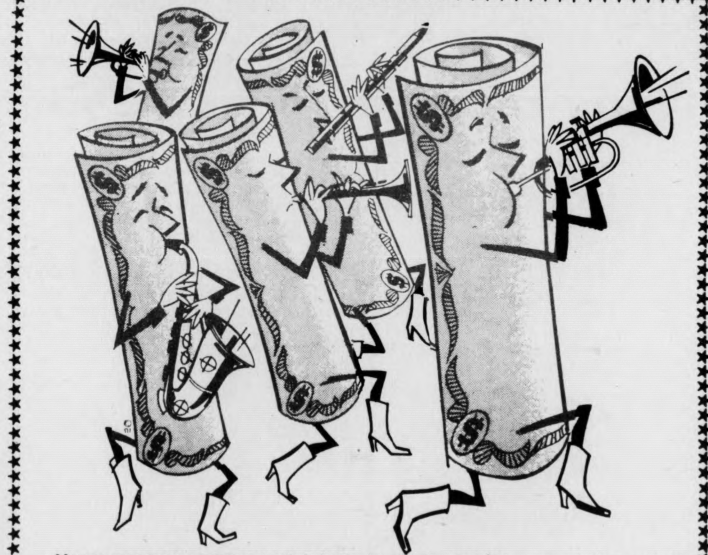
B. Sighs of Resignation (necessarily a random sample)

The Hagers — by the bozos of the same name
Barry Goldberg — Grebdlog Yrrab
Mirror Image — Blood, Sweat, and Tears

C. SHOE SIGHS

"Don't need a gun to blow your mind." —John Lennon
"Maybe someday you'll have a wife, and then alimony." —Lou Reed
"We are under attack from Superior Consciousness." —David Ossman

—David Miller



Money money money was certainly the big winner in 1974, as music became the wealthiest Art Business in history, with sales topping 5 billions.

BEST OF 1974
GROUPS

1. Starless & Bible Black — King Crimson; Hero & Heroine — The Strawbs
2. The Power & The Glory — Gentle Giant; Kohntarkosz — Magma
3. Caravan & The New Symphonia — Caravan
4. Hatfield & The North
5. Distant Hills — Oregon
6. Turn of the Cards — Renaissance
7. Spyglass Guest — Greenslade
8. Red — King Crimson
9. Tales of Topographic Oceans — Yes
10. Live — Genesis
11. A New Life — Marshall Tucker Band; Where We All Belong — Marshall Tucker Band
12. Now We Are Six — Steeleye Span
13. Exotic Birds & Fruit — Procol Harum
14. Odds & Sods — The Who
15. Warchild — Jethro Tull
16. Osibirock — Osibisa
17. That's The Rub — Wishbone Ash
18. Soft Machine Seven — Soft Machine
19. Welcome Back, My Friends, To the Show That Never Ends — EL&P

SOLO ARTISTS

1. Echoes Of a Friend — McCoy Tyner
2. Tabernakel — Jan Akkerman
3. Court & Spark — Joni Mitchell
4. Lane Changer — Michael Fennelly
5. Somethin's Happening — Peter Frampton

IMPORT OF THE YEAR

1. No Pussyfooting — Fripp & Eno
2. Bedside Manners Are Extra — Greenslade

BEST CONCERTS OF THE YEAR

1. King Crimson — Steeleye Span — Providence 6-30
2. Gentle Giant — Springfield 10-31
3. EL&P — Providence 7-29

DISAPPOINTMENTS

1. Journey To the Centre of the Earth — Rick Wakeman
2. Phaedra — Tangerine Dream

JUNK

1. Hamburger Concerto — Focus
2. Concert - Focus — Springfield 10-31

—David Santos

Mine own selection — guess the artists and win the big prize (no order)
Musa (Ancestral Streams) — Stanley Cowell
Musique du Bois — Phil Woods
Solo Concerts — Keith Jarrett
In Memorium-Modern Jazz Quartet
All Blues — Ron Carter
Love and Understanding — Jimmy Heath
Interstellar Space — John Coltrane
A Flower for All Seasons — Eddie Daniels
Court and Spark — Joni Mitchell
Introducing the Eleventh House — Larry Coryell
REISSUE OF THE YEAR — Max Roach Plus 4
See you at Birdland. Jack Cahill

DUCK'S TOP TWENTY OF THE YEAR
(May I have the envelope please)

1. Apprentice (In A Musical Workshop), Dave Loggins
2. Bachman-Turner Overdrive II, BTO
3. Mother Lode, Loggins & Messina
4. Court & Spark, Joni Mitchell
5. Holiday, America
6. Richotte's Zoo, Charles (Rene) Richotte
7. Odds & Sods, Who?
8. Quah, Jorma Kaukonen & Tom Hobson
9. Mind Over Matter, Robert Klein
10. Zewer Rats, Freddie Lego
11. Felix Cavaliere, F.C.
12. Blue Jean Country Queen, Linda Hargrove
13. Unborn Child, Seals & Crofts
14. It's My Shovel, Hub & The Tubs
15. Serenade, Neil Diamond
16. Not Fragile, Bachman-Turner Overdrive
17. Is It In, Eddie Harris
18. Sabbath, Bloody Sabbath, Black Sabbath
19. Hot Cakes, Carly Simon
20. Clam & Duck (Sing America's Favorites), George Pervere & Me

Really Shitty Albums To Buy Your Favorite Enemy

1. Born Again, Rare Bird
2. Bob Neuwirth, bn
3. Robert Lamm, Skinny Boy
4. Good Day, Lighthouse
5. ARS Goes To The Bathroom, Atlanta Rhythm Section
6. Clam & Duck (Sing America's Favorites) George Pervere & Me

Sacred Cowboy's
Platters that Mattered
1974

1. Kohntarkosz — Magma
   Distant Hills — Oregon
2. Echoes of a Friend — McCoy Tyner
   Henry Cow
   Hatfield and The North
   Solo Concerts — Keith Jarrett
   Starless and Bible Black — King Crimson
   Septober Energy — Centipede
   Genesis Live
   Love in All of Us — Pharoah Sanders
   Sweet Earth Flying — Marion Brown
   Everything You Know Is Wrong — Firesign Theater
3. Wichi-tai-to — Jan Garbarek
   Seven Songs — Michael Gibbs & The Gary Burton Quartet
   Piano Improvisations — Chick Corea
   Illuminations — Carlos Santana & Alice Coltrane

A smile and a wink to:
Gentle Giant, Stevie Wonder, Hammer & Goodman, Rahsaan, Little Feat, The Who, Stomu Yamashta, Sun Ra & 'Trane, and all those wonderful people at the Heaven-on-Earth barracks in West Virginia.

Nosedives: Frank Zappa, Dave Mason.

PLUS

+++++++++++++

1. Court and Spark — Miles of Aisles, Joni Mitchell.
2. Ful fillingness' First Finale, Stevie Wonder.
3. Paradise and Lunch, Ry Cooder.
4. Good Old Boys, Randy Newman.
5. It's Only Rock and Roll, Stones.
6. Solo Concerts, Keith Jarrett.
7. Learn to Love It, Jesse Winchester.
8. Mysterious Traveller, Weather Report.
9. Sam Lovejoy's Court Victory, Humanity.
10. Richard Nixon's resignation, Insanity. Humanity.

MINUS

----

1. Jerry Ford's Presidency, IT & T, Dairy, etc.
2. Journey to the Center of the Earth, Rick Wakeman.
3. Bob Neuwirth, Bob Neuwirth.
4. Elton's Greatest Hits — more money-,$$$$$$$$$$$$$$.
5. no new CSNY product, lazy overpaid men.

This is the only list you can trust, don't pay no attn. to others. Believe me cause I'm always right and I never lie. And don't take off your shoes.

+ + Craig Roche +

"The Top Ten Albums Released in 1974 or Who is Joe Pass and Why is He Playing All Those Wonderful Things For Us"

1. Duke's Big 4 — Duke Ellington, Joe Pass, Ray Brown and Louis Bellson
2. Seven, Come Eleven — Herb Ellis, Joe Pass
3. Take Love Easy — Ella Fitzgerald and Joe Pass
4. Bright Moments — Rahsaan Roland Kirk
5. The Trio — Oscar Peterson, Joe Pass and Niels Peterson
6. Headhunters — Herbie Hancock
7. Chapter Three, Viva Emiliano Zapata — Gato Barbieri
8. Hymn of the Seventh Galaxy — Return To Forever featuring Chick Corea
9. Introducing the Eleventh House — Larry Coryell
10. Court and Spark — Joni Mitchell

Honorable Mention:
Virtuoso — Joe Pass
Guitar Player — Tal Farlow
Looking Thru — Passport
Mr. Congeniality:
Frank Zappa, for Roxy & Elsewhere

—Ken Blanchard

con't. on page 10

Something ventured - nothing buzzed

by David Sokol

Eldorado —
Electric Light Orchestra
(United Artists UA-LA339-G)

When the Move broke up in 1972, there were promises from its splintered factions that new musical vistas weren't beyond their grasps, and we heard all sorts of mystical references to things like 'classical-rock fusions.'

Move leader Roy Wood conceived of the Electric Light Orchestra but stayed with it only long enough to establish Jeff Lynne as the leader of the group. Wood then went off on his own, pulling a Rod Stewart-like deal of recording both on his own and with a group.

Unlike Stewarty and the faces however, Wood's Wizzard was his own group and one for which Wood did all of the writing, lead singing, and directing. Wizzard's second album Eddy and the Falcons, has just been released in the States, and is full of Roy Wood's own updated and electrified 1950s rock, complete with tear-jerkers and greased up rocking' rollers. Although he doesn't achieve the same high degree of eclecticism which was so apparent on Boulders (where Wood wrote, produced, and played all the instruments — everything from guitar, bass and drums to 'cello, baritone and keyboards), Eddy is certainly well done and mandatory for all remaining Move loyalists.

Eldorado is getting the usual United Artists hype about being the record to turn the music world upside-down, about being the first 'rock - symphony' and so forth. "Well, if employing a chorus and orchestra is enough to constitute a symphony, then Eldorado certainly is one, but it doesn't take much thought to remember several rock pieces (by Procol Harum, Siegel-Schwall, The Beatles...) which also incorporated chorus and orchestra but weren't as ostentatious as to be called by the name of symphony.

While Eldorado is undoubtedly Lynne's most ambitious work to date, it is plagued by the same lack of individuality and originality which has marked and marred ELO's previous three albums. Because Eldorado pretends to be an epic, it is all the more disappointing and a source of frustration. Be it in Lynne's lifting of classical riffs (as in "From the Sun to the World" among others) or his blatant rock rip-offs ("Ma Ma Ma Belle" was second-hand Stones, and even the enjoyable "Showdown" sounded like a hybrid of chartbusters 'I Heard It Through the Grapevine" and "Brother Louie"), there has always been so much that wasn't new in ELO's music as to cloud and often hide their occasional flashes.

Jeff Lynne is in here, somewhere, but seems to be trying to hide under various big name guises by sounding like Bowie ("Eldorado"), Lennon ("Mister Kingdom" or was that "Across the Universe"), Harry Chapin ("Poorboy") and the gratefully dead Moody Blues ("Overture"). For the being who has never heard the above, Eldorado is an interesting rock sampler. But for the continually optimistic Move fanatic, this is just another in a series of Electric Light flickerings. Its occasional high points are interesting and catchy but aren't enough to overcome the pretentions. The orchestra is used well, but the music... Where's that new music, Jeff? You promised.

Deadwood author Sokol is still waiting for thumbthing from ELO leader Jeff Lynne (on right).

Below the Salt photo by Doug Trueblood.

Steady-state servo-mechanisms

MORE BEST OF'74

THIS YEARS FEAST: FROM SOUP TO NUTS
COCKTAILS: Good Old Boys — Randy Newman
HORS D'OEUVRES: Rock n Roll Animal — Lou Reed
SOUP: Feats Don't Fail Me Now — Little Feat
SALAD: Stranded — Roxy Music
MAIN COURSE: Secret Treaties — Blue Oyster Cult
DESSERT: Here Come the Warm Jets — END
COFFEE: Waterloo — Abba
AFTER DINNER MINTS: It's Too Late to Stop Now — Van Morrison Suzi Quatro Quatro — Suzi Quatro Kiss
THIS YEARS BOTULISM DISEASED CROP: CONSUME AT YOUR OWN RISK
Anka — Paul Anka.
Dicky Betts, Gregg Allman, Wet Willie, zzz...
Journey to the Center of the Earth — Rick Wakeman
On Stage — Loggins & Messina
It's Only Rock and Roll — Rolling Stones

—TV Eye

THE EXCLUSIVE
STOP-THE-PRESS
PICKS OF ROSS NERENBERG
1974 HIGH-NOTES AND LOW-NOTES

A Tasty Baker's Dozen
1. Stormbringer (Deep Purple)
2. Preservation Act 2 (The Kinks)
3. Caribou (Elton John)
4. War Child (Jethro Tull)
5. Bad Company (Bad Company)
6. Welcome Back My Friends....(EL&P)
7. 461 Ocean Boulevard (Eric Clapton)
8. The Hoople (Mott The Hoople)
9. From The Mars Hotel (Grateful Dead)
10. It's Only Rock 'n Roll (Rolling Stones)
11. Street Party (Black Oak Arkansas)
12. Journey To The Centre Of The Earth (Rick Wakeman)
13. Get Your Wings (Aerosmith)

HONORABLE MENTION
1. Sabbath, Bloody Sabbath (Black Sabbath)
2. Burn (Deep Purple)
3. Mott The Hoople Live (Mott The Hoople)
4. Not Fragile (Bachman-Turner Overdrive)
5. Odds and Sods (The Who)
6. Exoctic Birds And Fruits (Procol Harum)
7. Fulfillingness' First Finale (Stevie Wonder)

THE GARBAGE PAIL
1. Shock Treatment (Edgar Winter)
2. Tales From Topographic Oceans (Yes)
3. Nightmares (J. Geils Band)
4. Shinin' On (Grand Funk)
5. Walking Man (James Taylor)
6. Hamburger Concerto (Focus)
7. Smiler (Rod Stewart)
8. On The Beach (Neil Young)
9. Last, and most certainly least, all bubblegum music geared towards the average eight-year old.

Ten Worst Singles of 1974
1. "The Night Chicago Died", Paper Lace
2. "Having My Baby", Paul Anka
3. "I'm Leaving It All Up To You", Donny and Marie Osmond
4. "You're 16", Ringo Starr
5. "Mocking Bird", Carly Simon and James Taylor
6. "Waterloo", Abba
7. "Rock the Boat", Hues Corporation
8. "Radar Love", Golden Earring
9. "I Shot the Sheriff", Eric Clapton
10. "The Streak" & "Wildwood Weed" (no difference)

Albums I Wouldn't Mind Hearing More Of
1. Court and Spark, Joni Mitchell
2. Ladies Love Outlaws, Tom Rush
3. Hang In There, Holly Near
4. John Denver's Greatest Hits (Oh, shut up, I like it)
5. On Stage — Loggins and Messina

—Marla Richmond

In Concert:
New Riders Of The Purple Sage Sanderson Theater, Springfield
December 3

From the moment that the New Riders Of The Purple Sage hit the stage at the Sanderson Theater last Tuesday night, the crowd let it be known that they were on their side. With no backup group to draw away attention or enthusiasm, the Riders delivered a very creditable performance. The first set consisted of fifteen numbers, beginning with 'I Don't Know You," and rolling along with the likes of 'Lonesome L.A. Cowboy," "Panama Red," and R.B. Greaves' "Take A Letter, Maria." It culminated with a light show, during which hundreds of light beams encircled the theater, traveling 'round and 'round in a circular motion. After a well-earned break, they returned to do fourteen more numbers, including "Glendale Train," a song shouted for all evening. The Riders had the crowd on their feet several times, and made their exit amid the crowd's wild applause and thankful shouting. Brought back for an encore, they performed an additional two songs. At evening's end, the Riders had been onstage for nearly three hours and had made their way through a total of thirty-one tunes. When was the last time you heard any group of musicians go through a set of that many songs?

The Riders are molded in the same basic tradition as that of their discoverers, the Grateful Dead. Their down-home music is the focal point in their show. There are no over-worked stage theatrics or long, drawn-out solos. The audience's attention is drawn, not merely to one or two men in the group, but to all five; Buddy Cage, Skip Battin, David Nelson, John Dawson, and Spencer Dryden. With the Dead "in retirement" for a year, the New Riders Of The Purple Sage should be able to make their musical presence better-known in the world. For if you can't see the Dead, what better thing is there to do than see their proteges?

—Ross Nerenberg

WARCHILD — JETHRO TULL
(Chrysalis)

Being an avid Tull fan, I went crazy at the prospect of a new Tull album and tour. And yet, as much as I am overjoyed to have them back, Warchild represents the first disappointment I have ever experienced from Tull. My disappointment lies not in the fact that Warchild is a bad album, but comes from the overall apathetic nature and predictability that so distinctly marks the lp. From the opening beats of the title cut, to the closing number, "Two Fingers," you can almost predict to the letter what is going to transpire. Which I may add IS NOT what we've come to expect from Jethro Tull.

The apathetic nature of Warchild is best evidenced by Ian Anderson's lyrics. For the first time, they are penetratable at initial listenings. Where it took weeks and months to TRY to understand A Passion Play or Thick As A Brick, it now takes a few days. However, it's from the lyrics that we gain some insight as to what is ailing the band these days. Several references are made to A Passion Play and the critics. Other lyrics seem to be a self-parody. What we can get from the lyrics is that Anderson must feel trapped by the image of himself and Jethro Tull as a rock band. You know — Tull must come out with religious-social commentary essays and on stage — it's Ian the madman with the flute.

Out of these "requirements", Anderson [illegible] the band have become too mechanical [illegible] stage) and with this disc — too lazy to challenge themselves. Strange isn't it? The same person telling us in "Wind Up" — success-yeech" is now a victim of it.

I really don't want to be totally negative about Warchild because there are a few positive things about it. Musically, the album is consistent. Yes, they are shallow if compared to other Tull songs and a bit commercial, but overall they are very good. Standouts are "The Third Hurrah" (A Steeleye Span influenced number), "Ladies" (one of Ian's better soft songs), "Sealion", "Two Fingers" ("Brick-Aqualung riff Tull"). Also, Ian's production abilities have advanced again.

In summary, Warchild is a good album. It doesn't come up to previous Tull works due to the absence of any of the wonderful qualities that made Stand Up, Benefit, up to "A Passion Play" so excellent.

A "Gets better with every listening" B-

—David Santos (Who else?)

STORMBRINGER — DEEP PURPLE
(Warner Bros. PR 2832)

For those of you who wrote off Deep Purple after their rude dismissal of vocalist Ian Gillan (Jesus Christ on Superstar) and bassist Roger Glover, it's time to re-evaluate the group. For while the loss of Gillan may have initially shown itself via duller concerts, the addition of David Coverdale and Glenn Hughes has greatly improved the group's sound on record.

On their last U. S. tour, the Purple, backed primarily by Savoy Brown, played to one sell-out crowd after another, climaxed by the big California Jam. Their stage act seemed repetitious and uninspired at times, owing probably to the fact that Coverdale and Hughes were going through the big-time concert circuit for the first time. Nevertheless, the crowds came and listened, as the two gained invaluable experience for use on future tours.

Now, Deep Purple has released their second post-Gillan album. Burn, released in early '74, was a huge money-making success, but Stormbringer is composed of even better material. It brings across Purple's new sound in a much better way than Burn, as the band is now more aware of their own musical strengths and weaknesses. Ritchie Blackmore plays his Fender Stratocaster guitar like a wizard, Ian Paice proves his worth on drums, and Jon Lord chips in with his usual fine keyboard. Hughes plays bass and shares vocal honors with Coverdale. All nine songs on the album complement each other perfectly, making it tough to pick the very best. "Holy Man" features Hughes doing a fine solo-vocal job. "High Ball Shooter" showcases a Lord organ solo, and "The Gypsy" unveils another one of Blackmore's stellar guitar solos. The album closes with "Soldier of Fortune," a slow, serious ballad sung by Coverdale.

Deep Purple have taken another definite step upwards in the rock-music world with Stormbringer. Flip it onto your stereo, turn up the volume, and enjoy. And enjoy. And enjoy...

—Ross Nerenberg

One for the few

Lenny: Still paying dues

ON STAGE:
LENNY
Written by Julian Barry
Starring Marty Brill reviewed by Mike Clary

Time Magazine labeled him a "sicknik." Audiences flocked to his performances. The mercurial Lenny Bruce injected into the system an alien remedy and it was immediately rejected. For the most part a satirical humorist, he in the end, became blatantly vicious. The questions remain open. What spirit possessed him? What caused the artist's death.

Truthful to his dictum, all his humor was based on "destruction and despair." In the years of Camelot such delving was the anethema to certain success. New morality was not in vogue at the birth of the 60's and Bruce did not attain his sought after position until after his death. Only in the climatic violence that closed the decade did Lenny begin tempting the listeners and gain the receptive air his message ultimately required. Achieving this final recognition cost the man first, any conception of inner peace, and in the end, his life. In Bruce vernacular, he "paid some dues." Whether the paying of dues was justifiable or [illegible] is now irrelevant; what is important is the [illegible] that his prematurity cost him heavily.

Since his post-mortem rise to fame, various attempts have been made to properly eulogize him. Several publications give a brief overview of his words and life. The recent biography is most significant. Aside from the potpourri of available books, there remains Julian Barry's play "Lenny", and the Bob Fosse film of the same title.

An intuitive study of Bruce's life, "Lenny" is currently running at the Charles Playhouse in Boston. A free evening would be well rewarded by giving the play consideration.

"Lenny" shocks, surprises and absorbs the audience. An explosive performance by Marty Brill deserves an unreserved "well done." Such a bravura portrayal by an actor who at last count was entrenched in the mediocrity of TV sitcoms and talk shows suggests potential rarely seen. Although some scenes balance precariously on an inherently weak script, Brill is catalytic in redeeming them. One such sequence is Bruce's first encounter with his future wife. Seemingly doomed from initiation, Brill applies a sheen which salvages an important but stricken dialogue.

Barry appears to have perceived Bruce's essence correctly but loses in transferring this essence to the stage. Glossiness and raucus bombardment detract from the concepts Mr. Bruce tried to pervey. Having few barriers, touching on too many levels, Barry left room for overacting, and gaudiness. In some scenes, the Boston production manifests both. Overshooting the target results in the loss of some powerful ammunition. Complete success necessitates rigidity in some instances. Consider weight lost where he carries us through the Bruce bit on Gary Powers, traitors and patriotism. Control is not negotiated, the audience misinterprets the message and retreats in laughter from the belly rather than the mind. Contrasting this is the piece questioning the validity of the Lone Ranger. No contextual loss is available and the message is received, albeit tardry. Lenny Bruce wrote the material aired. The thoughts and lines are his. Barry transfers them to the stage, and frequently tends to forget whose material this is. Bruce's philosophy is sometimes replaced with Barry's misrepresentations.

Limitations are placed on the cast, as some portray three or more characters. Congratulations are offered to all members. Specifically beneficial are Ron Hunter, Ann McMerry, and Sid Ben Zali. Multifaceted Hunter supports all characters well. McMerry as Lenny's mother stabilizes the weakness evident when Lenny returns home with his wife to be. Carrying a total of four parts, Ben Zali is convincing in all. Success's secret is founded on the coordination of the brilliant cast in this disturbingly intense drama.

Again, the acting of Brill is awesome. Bruce's life was overstocked with frustration, loneliness and remorse. Brill smoothly takes the audience on a journey through desolation. Originally a carelessly ascerbic young comedian, Bruce metamorphed to a tragic clawing addict. The final scene grabs at the vitals — Bruce is slowly disintegrating from the injustices he so contempted. Brill so effectively absorbs the Bruce persona that one leaves the theater feeling he has been the victim of a well placed kick, the tactical kick so feared in street encounters. Verbal acrobatics are replaced with stumbling incoherency. Bruce becomes the victim of those he so caustically victimized. The pathos of the final court scene tugs at the heart strings — attribute this to Brill, a true professional, who at last has staked claim on his profession.

—The Process—

THE PROCESS
Chapter Three
by E. Patrick McQuaid

Someone must have been telling lies about student number 6008893. Yes, indeed, this must be the reason for his nocturnal arrest; he has been traduced. He was confused and decided to write a letter to 6008893 senior; it had been five years since he had last seen his father.

"Today I was arrested. Or, perhaps it was yesterday: I can't be sure. The note from the police department says: 'You are officially under arrest as of today. Appear in court tomorrow. Sorry, but that's how it is.' Which leaves the matter doubtful: it could have been yesterday."

At his first hearing atop the library he was told that he would be notified as to the date of his trial but he must be prepared to take the stand at any time, any place. This made number 6 extremely paranoid and he observed everyone he met with scrutiny.

When they came for him they appeared just as mysteriously as with his initial encounter with them. He had gone for breakfast at McManus's at three a.m. with his friend, Josef K. He, like many students, was to have no recollection of that meal the next day. Nevertheless, they had parked the car in 30, across from Whitless building. K. walked to the campus center and 6 headed for the South West sector.

He stepped from the parking lot and strolled across the grass among a few small pine trees. He stopped between two trees to button up his jacket when a hand appeared from each tree and took hold of each of his arms tightly. He was startled and feared that he was being mugged; he wasn't relieved to find it was the police either.

They held him closely, so close that he felt like the three of them were one massive block of flesh. They moved hurriedly together and 6 had difficulty in keeping their pace. At times he felt like he was being dragged, yet he walked freely of his own will. "Where are we going?" he asked of them.

There was no reply from either. 6 began to breath heavier and fog formed in front of his face; he noticed that there was no mist from the inspectors' breath. He did not question them any further.

His focus of attention moved from his arrestors to his surroundings. He was on the outskirts of the Southwest sector and crossing University Drive in direction of the stadium. His predictions were correct; they entered the stadium, which surprisingly was well-lighted for that time of night.

What was more astounding was that once inside he found it difficult to move for it was packed with people. All the seats were taken and more were added out on the field around a small clearing where rested a colossal desk and two smaller ones to each side of it. To this small area he was led and made to sit and wait.

He scanned the crowds and saw several faces that he had seen before, but none that he was

continued on p. 12

HOME COMFORT
RESTAURANT
Serving natural, organic and ocean foods
CANTONESE FAVORITES
Wed., Dec. 11, 5:30 - 8:30
New Low Prices!
THIS WEEK'S SPECIALS
Thursday — Bouillabaisse
Friday — Shrimp Creole
Saturday — Fresh Haddock and Ratatouille
Thursday — free film: Peter Simon's World — color slide show and talk by author of two controversial books on photography.
Tel. 774-3930

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC!
Lots Of Room To Boogie
drinks ... eats ... music ...
hurray!!!
BEER & BOOGIE
Everybody Welcome!

THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
Wed. - Sun. "ALBATROSS"
DECEMBER
18-22 "Fate"
26-29 "Fate"
JANUARY
2-5 "American Standard"
9-12 "Northeast Expressway"
16-19 "Big Screamin McGrew"
24-26 "Big Screamin McGrew"
31-Feb. 2 "Cleaning Living"
New Year's Eve — "AMERICAN STANDARD"
Rt. 202, New Salem at Truman's
Flea Market, only 12 miles
from Whitmore!
Plenty of Room to Boogie!
TUES. — No Cover
WED.-SUN., $1.00
Sunday Beer — 25c — 9 to 1:00
Phone (617) — Just Over Line — 544-6028

Enter Stage/West

Juicy roles covered by amusing jams

Masquerade

Directed by John Ulmer
Music and Lyrics by Thomas Babbitt

Cast: Eric Tavaris, Maryin Brasch, Michael Forella, Stephen Daley Roy Brocksmith, Ray Gill, Vinnie Holman, Chip Lucia, and Heidi Mefford.

Appearing at the Stage-West Theatre in West Springfield until Jan. 4.

-reviewed by Frederic C. Weiss

How easy is it to describe a musical that is so similar to the work of Oscar Wilde (The Important of Being Earnest and William Shakespere (Romeo and Juliet), and ends the show by drawing on audience participation to sing a final melody to describe life, love and the contentment of, "A Pizza Pie"? But Masquerade is all of these things, and furthermore one heck of a fine show.

Unlike many shows that appear at various community theatres throughout the nation, this musical, written by John Ulmer and with music and lyrics by Thomas Babbitt premiered at Stage-West in West Springfield this weekend. Due to tight scheduling, the cast for Masquerade did not get to use the stage for practice till the end of last week (because That Championship Season was still playing). In ways this hurt the production, because the actors didn't always seem to be totally at ease with the set. Still, such a problem is only temporary; by next week, the show will definitely be tighter and better all around. Besides for the opening night loose ends, the show for the most part was excellent.

Based on Carlo Goldoni's A Servant of Two Masters, the musical deals with the common themes of youthful love, family misunderstandings, and the secret subplots that only the audience comprehend, while they laugh at the consequential confusion.

Taking place in renaissance Italy, Masquarade gives insight into the possible tragedies that can result from amorous misunderstandings. Still, the play never loses a sense of ease that makes it enjoyable.

The center of the confusion is Truffaldino, a clever servant who tries to make more money by working for two separate masters. Little does he know that his two masters not only know each other but are lovers. By the simple act of mixing up personal articles of his masters, he is put in the awkward position of having to explain the irregularity. Rather surprised by the intense interest that each master shows in the article of the other, Truffaldino decides to tell the whole story. At this time he proceedes to explain how the "personal article" belonged to his former master who how so unfortunately, died.

Both of the lovers, fearing that the other is already dead, decide to commit suicide. Yet while Shakespere never dreamed of being so thoroughly coopted, the play keeps a sense of movement despite its lack of originality.

Much of this is a credit to the actors; for the most part, they are excellent. Most notably Eric Tavaris, as Truffaldino. Tavaris is a veteran of sixteen Stage-West productions, and more than any of the other actors he seemed totally at home on stage. Quite honestly, the part of the clever servant Truffaldino is a juicy one, filled with humor that draws on innocence, and a keen interjection of modern political parody. But Tavaris takes full advantage of his role with superb gestures,and delivery of his lines. At times during the play, Truffaldino parodies Richard Nixon, not only in the content of his lines, but in their delivery. When he tells the audience that now he will tell the "whole story", and that previously he had withheld the truth for purposes of "security", the audience broke out with laughter. But when several minutes later he got into another jam where his clever and amusing story contradicted reality, he told the cast and the audience that he was glad they asked "that question", and that now he would tell the "whole story". Consequently, the entire audience went wild.

Masquerade is an energetic production that mixes spoof with musical comedy. By the time that you read this review, no doubt the show will be even more worth catching, because the tensions and awkwardness of the opening night will have long since been resolved.

Both John Ulmer, the director and the members of the cast deserve credit for being willing to experiment with the musical and try to combine the morality of rennaisance Italy with the energy of the twentieth century pop culture. Granted, Masquerade draws a bit too much on the works of Shakespere and Wilde, for that matter the cast of Hair. But most of the audience was enjoyed the show too much to really care.

Masquerade may not be a production filled with cultural enlightenment. But it is an evening of amusing entertainment. For some people that is quite enough. Masquerade will be at Stage-West in Springfield till January 4.

continuing process from p. 11 friendly with. A voice came over the loud speakers demanding that everyone rise. Awed by these circumstances, 6 did not stand and was sharply reprimanded by several nearby policemen.

"Ah, 6, glad to see you. Things look bad, I'm afraid." 6008893 turned and looked into the Chaplinesque face of his advocate. "Bad, what can be done?" The advocate lowered his head and then spoke slowly, "There's only one man who can help you now, one man." "Who?" asked 6. "Orson Welles, and he's not interested."

Needless to say, he rose. There was a dead silence from which could only be heard the squeaking shoes of the approaching judge. 6 stretched his neck, but in vain; he could see nothing but the backs of heads, all neatly cropped hair and stiff blue collars.

What appeared first to 6 was a thick cloud of smoke; he did not smell the tobacco until after the arrival of the magistrate. His form took up what little space was left provided for his passage but people were quick to step aside and on top of each other at the sight of him. The thick bearded, pipe toking collosus took to the platform and sat behind his befitting desk. He tapped his pipe on the bench and order spoke for itself. In one swift, obedient move everyone sat, except for 6 who was still awed by the presence of this giant.

A small man with a smaller voice then cried out, "Here ye, hear ye, this court is now in session, the honorable Judge Fizz presiding the case of number 6008893 versus," he hesitated, "uum, anyway, how do you plead?" Every head turned to 6 and he said, "Why, innocent, of course." There was an immediate breakout of laughter. The entire crowd was in calamity over 6's

PIZZA-RAMA
355 College St., Rt. 9, Amherst
specializing in
PIZZAS, HOT OVEN GRINDERS
and SPAGHETTI
STORE HOURS: Sun.-Thurs., 11 a.m.-Midnight
Fri., Sat., 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Call 253-3808
FREE DELIVERY
between 5 p.m.-Midnight, every night
Best Food in Town — and the Lowest Prices

appearing at the hide-a-way
John Lee Hooker
and Home Cooking
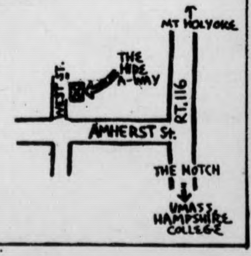
WED. NITE ONLY — Cover 3.
A fantastic double bill!
THE HIDE-A-WAY
off Rt. 202 in Granby
Just 1 Mile off Rt. 116
Tel. 467-8393



Appearing
Wed., Thurs.
& Fri.
CRICKET HILL
at Rusty Nail Inn
Rte. 47
Sunderland
665-4937

Music of 74
by Dee Greaze

Dee Greaze speaks his peaze

Dee Grease ponders: Should I really do this ding for dee editor? ....wam zam thank you Fats Domino and away.

Greaze viewing the Collegian office before deadline quickly dabs they keys with vaseline and flies:

What a year! All the fine sounds abounds is with a bit of grease — course He IS listening through the ears of greaze.

"Rock the Boat" yawls for number one top 40 listening with lots of competition from Motown and Philly.

Last year The Three Degrees rated high with a Greaze review and they shore nuff topped the charts in soul, pop and my top 40.. and they same soft wish to those for this year coming.

The pleasure of the OHIO PLAYERS, Kool and the Gang, Betty Davis, Cornell Dupree, Graham Central Station receiving recognition took Dee Greaze to sauna.

...seeing as Greaze was soooooo clean he cruised to glitter generation and wished he'd never fired the lean off top.Wam — Wam wam — David Bowie's first Boston appearance was 'original' and fair funk. Come about again and David thinks he is a real greasser — and fails so badddddiddly. Flashing on the Glitter Greaze can only moan.

Greaze can digg theatre — but wished the music could maintain. It seems that those jivy dudes sit or act or play, but never both.

GREAZE FLASH: biggest bummer of 74: thoesssse artists acting as musicians pretending to excite audiences with music and falling on faces — just like Dean Tucker and three hundred pounds of rising dough in a VW.

It is Not that Greaze cannot look through the window panes to 'EXPERIENce' glitter — it's probably that he may see too clearly — sorry glitter freaks — this was Truly a low year.

But Never for the BLUEs....ah yes, did'nt BB King blowwwwww your mird on the tube — same with Wolf... and never think about late Friday or Saturday without recalling Little Richard — who will be exciting you in Framingham this week.

With the intense R & B and rock reviving packing the houses one has to realize: GOMES WAS RIGHT — the music of today finds its roots in yesterday — and that is today...

Elton John....about as funky as Fabian.

Never forget Country and Wester... filling the juke boxes across the country and reLATING to the people. We all get a heart on — so why the message or rock music — lay out that silly line. Charlie Pride and Rich UnderSTAND. C & W forecast the future one bottle of taquilla better than sad hype layed out by your super rock who demands — 6-9 dollars and lauff as they take you in.

Never question the power of a small club and a funky time: Babe Pino will be back to shake you down — same with Dee Greaze and funky rock and rooooool.

The time is near — '74 brought us closer to understanding that music of today is FUNK — pure funk.

Too bad James Brown played into the soundtrack trick, But Stevie Wonder (FINGERTIPS) shore did take us away. Same with the Stylistics, Funkadelics and maybe Arthur Brown and his do you believe — drum machine.

Sokol, Kostek, and you other jive dudes, lay out re — re — relax, turn off your glitter rock, psycho music and return to mother...R & B is here to stay...It was meant to be that way.

In long, you just read it, in short the answer for pleasure listening is a happy return to the basics where music rings and sings.

Last years yunes (rock) will bore while everlasting funky bumping sliddddddding greazzzze off the mind will give you more. — NOW MORE THAN EVER.

The process ends?

statement. His mouth hung open in bewilderment. Judge Fizz merely cleared his voice and only the echo of laughter was heard. A dead silence and number 6 stepped to the bench.

The magistrate's firey eyes glared at him as though 6 were looking into two furnaces. He voice bellowed out like a megaphone in shrill, deep tones that shook the linings of his listeners' boots. "6008893, you are a carpenter?"

"No, I am a student." Again his words were followed by laughter. Fizz brought his pipe to his lips and struck a match that brought the place back to order. "Perhaps," began 6, "perhaps, some carpenter by a similar number is the man you are after. I am innocent! And charges...what are the charges?"

"It says here that you are charged with two crimes, one parking in a tow zone..." "But I don't own a car!" "Are you daring to say that the court is wrong! Be still! And two, you are guilty of a wasted life. Have you anything to say?"

"I have only this to say: guilty or not, and to this second offense I am guilty, I cannot pay your fines. If I pay them I shall, in essence, be making a statement on this system. I shall be agreeing that, yes, this is the way things should be, and I don't think that everything is right here. I offer no alternatives; I'm not a rebel, or out to change things; but I most assuredly do not agree with things as they are now. It would be a greater crime if I were to accept the rulings of this court."

"Do you realize what you have just done?" asked the judge. "Yes," answered 6, "I have taken the full responsibility of my life upon myself. I am responsible. I accept this."

With a quick relighting of his pipe, the judge blew out a vapor of smoke and pronounced 6 not guilty. "You have come to a realization that all men must make. You are free; now go!" As though the command of Moses, the crowd moved in two halves, clearing a path for 6 and his two escorts. They moved as rapidly as they had entered, and in the same block like procession with each at 6's side.

It was beginning to drizzle but this didn't seem to bother the two policemen at all. They pulled their high trench coat collars up a little higher and proceeded to escort 6 to his tower in the South West sector. They didn't take the elevator, they walked up thirteen floors and stopped.

Screaming could be heard and they left the stair well and entered the floor. 6's friend, Josef K., was being dragged to an open elevator that was dark and appeared to be minus a car. "What's going on!? demanded 6. "I am to have an accident," stated K. "But see, I shall put this masking tape across my mouth so that you nor anyone else shan't hear my cries. This way you won't feel guilty at doing nothing and there will be no apathy on your part." He placed the tape across his mouth and demonstrated how his screams could no longer be heard. He nodded as if to approve for 6 and then stepped into the darkness and disappeared.

6008893 then felt his escortsuhands rise from his arms to his shoulders. The darkness of the shaft came closer and closer. He could see the wires and cables running up and down the open shaft; he could hear the electrical sounds. He no longer felt the firm grip of authority at his arms and shoulders. He felt free. Number 6008893 then fell into the abstract order of things.

FILE NUMBER 6008893 - WITHDRAWN - NEW NUMBER: 0000000

Feed the EARS
Nourish the HEAD Spread the BREAD
Give the Christmas gift that makes it for everyone.
RECORDS and TAPES
This advertisement courtesy of Record World Magazine

Back by Popular Demand
COME AND HUDDLE WITH...
THE CHEERLEADERS
Starts at 7:00
Oh! Calcutta!
X
EVERYTHING YOU'VE EVER HEARD ABOUT OH! CALCUTTA! IS TRUE!
NOW SHOWING AT CONVENIENTLY LOCATED
CAMPUS Cinemas
RT. 9 HADLEY IN ZAYRE'S SHOPPING CNTR.
Held Over!!
7 & 9
Shown at 7:00 & 9:15
DOLLAR NIGHTS
MON & TUES
ALL SEATS $1
ALAN BATES in
KING OF HEARTS
"Chinatown"
R
Jack Nicholson Faye Dunaway
The most highly acclaimed Film of 1974.

AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST. 253-5426
The scenes make 'Last Tango in Paris' look like a sixth grade dancing class. -RKO General Radio
Sometimes pornographic generally subversive, but always brilliant. -Martin Mitchell, After Dark
This four-letter ode to amorality is socked across winningly. -Bruce Williamson, Playboy Going Places
R
You'll never see it on TV
Eves: Going Places — 7:00 & 9:05
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES • ALL SEATS $1.00

FINALS SCHEDULE
★ THURSDAY, DEC. 12
S.U.B. 7 & 9:15 75¢
"BILLY JACK"
★ SUNDAY, DEC. 15
S.U.B. 7 & 9:15 75¢
"THE WAY WE WERE"
★ MON. - WED., DEC. 16, 17, 18
S.U.B. 7, 8:30, 10 $1.00
"MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR"
★ THURSDAY, DEC. 19
S.U.B. 7, 8:45, 11 75¢
"WEST WORLD"

The New Record Shop

197 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst 253-5394

Film Times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC —
Juggernaut — 7:00-9:00
AMHERST CINEMA —
Going Places — 7:00-9:05
CALVIN —
Harry & Tonto — 7:00 & 9:00
CAMPUS CINEMA — Cheerleaders &
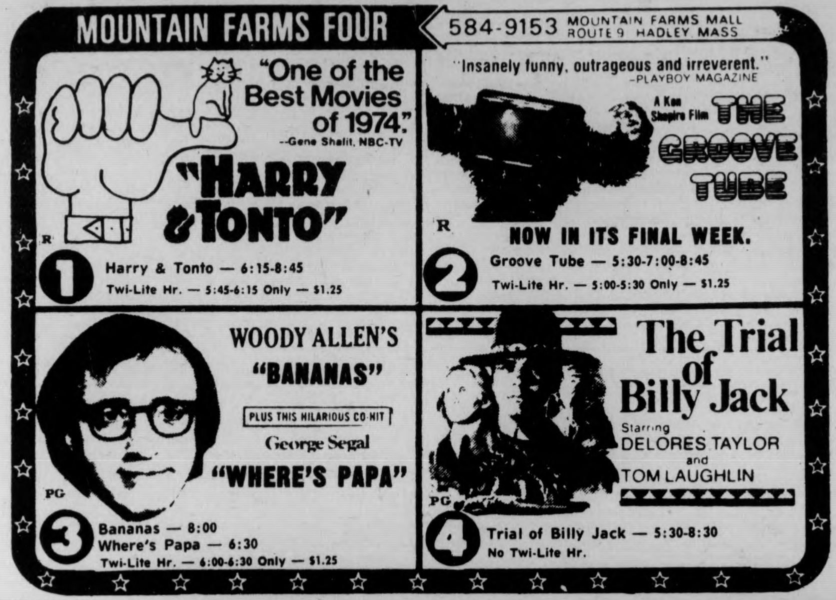
Oh Calcutta — 7:00
King of Hearts — 7:00 & 9:00
Chinatown — 7:00-9:15
MT. FARMS 4 —
Harry & tonto — 6:15-8:45
Groove Tube — 5:30-7:00-8:45
Bananas — 8:00
Where's Pape — 6:30
Trial of Billy Jack — 5:30-8:30



MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASS

"One of the Best Movies of 1974."
--Gene Shalit, NBC-TV
"HARRY & TONTO"
R
1 Harry & Tonto — 6:15-8:45
Twi-Lite Hr. — 5:45-6:15 Only — $1.25

"Insanely funny, outrageous and irreverent."
—PLAYBOY MAGAZINE
A Ken Shapiro Film THE GROOVE TUBE
R
NOW IN ITS FINAL WEEK.
2 Groove Tube — 5:30-7:00-8:45
Twi-Lite Hr. — 5:00-5:30 Only — $1.25

WOODY ALLEN'S
"BANANAS"
PLUS THIS HILARIOUS CO-HIT
George Segal
"WHERE'S PAPA"
PG
3 Bananas — 8:00
Where's Papa — 6:30
Twi-Lite Hr. — 6:00-6:30 Only — $1.25

The Trial of Billy Jack
Starring
DELORES TAYLOR
and TOM LAUGHLIN
PG
4 Trial of Billy Jack — 5:30-8:30
No Twi-Lite Hr.

TRY-OUTS
THE BLACK EGG
by Mungu Abudu directed by Paul Carter Harrison
Thursday, 7:00 p.m. Friday, 10:00 a.m.
203 Fine Arts Center

DECEMBER 19, 20, 21
AFTER THE FALL
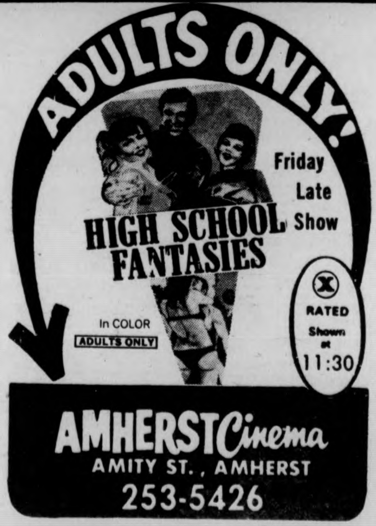
by Arthur Miller presented by the Department of Theater in the new STUDIO THEATER, FINE ARTS CENTER
8:00 p.m. 5-3511
For Tickets and Reservations

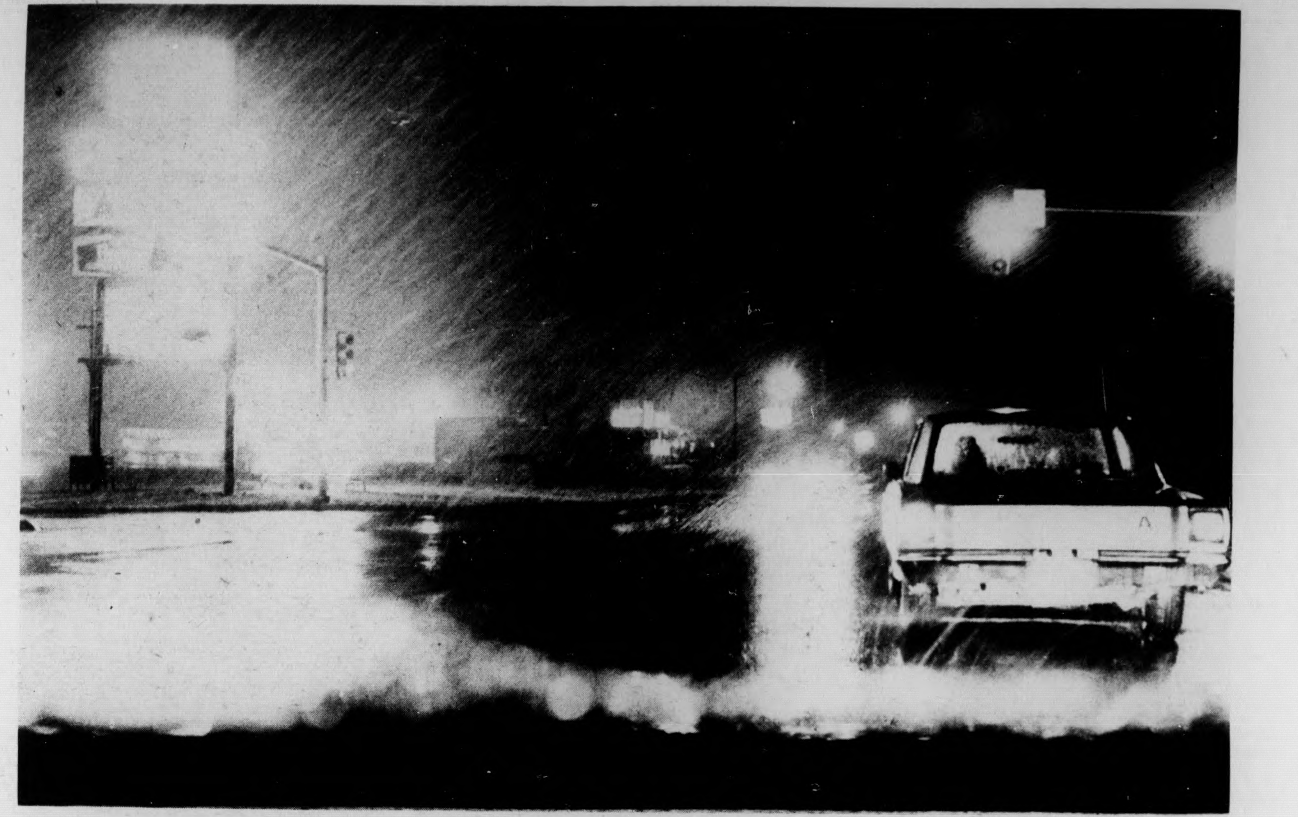
Butterfield Productions presents:
FELLINI'S
SATYRICON
TONIGHT
7, 9, 11 SUB

CALVIN Theatre
KING ST., NORTHAMPTON 584-2310
"One of the Best Movies of 1974."
—Gene Shalit, NBC-TV
"HARRY & TONTO"
A FILM BY PAUL MAZURSKY
"HARRY & TONTO" starring ART CARNEY
ELLEN BURSTYN as Shirley GERALDINE FITZGERALD
LARRY HAGMAN and CHIEF DAN GEORGE
PAUL MAZURSKY and JOSH GREENFELD
PAUL MAZURSKY
R
Eves. Harry and Tonto 7:00 and 9:00
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES • ALL SEATS $1.00

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
7:00 & 9:00
"JUGGERNAUT"
RICHARD HARRIS · OMAR SHARIF
BRITANNIC



ADULTS ONLY!
HIGH SCHOOL FANTASIES
Friday Late Show
In COLOR
ADULTS ONLY
X RATED
Shown at 11:30
AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST., AMHERST
253-5426



BELOW THE SALT photo by Bill Howell

WEEKENDS IN FILM

repiled by Paul Kontrimas

AIRPORT '75. No better, no worse than Airport '72. Starts this weekend at the Showcase Cinemas in West Springfield. ++

BANNANAS — At the Mt. Farms Cinema.

THE CHEERLEADERS. A better than average skin flick, that is, if the average is Pippi Longstocking. It's fun, though, and that's what counts, right? Don't forget to bring your overcoat. Billed with Oh! Calcutta! at the Campus Cinemas. +++

CHINATOWN — At the Campus Cinemas.

GODFATHER II — Starts December 18 at the Showcase Cinemas.

GROOVE TUBE. This video-vision is relatively unchanged from its origin as a video tape excursion done by a couple of people from the Mass. Communication Department at Boston University. When it was deemed to have commercial potential by Hollywood film companies, and only after it received an underground popularity by playing at such small houses as the Video Theatre in Cambridge, it was slightly altered and lengthened for release as a full-length film. Reports are that it's still worth a look! And that the short vignettes that compose the bulk of this film are still quite humorous. At the Mt. Farms +++

HARRY AND TONTO — At the Mt. Farms. A contemporary saga of an old man and his cat who travel across the country searching for a new outlook on life. Slight rip-off of Steinbeck's Travels with Charley formula, but when was the last time you saw a decent film about old age? Art Carney, as Harry, will most likely win an Oscar because he's getting old. But he also does a fine job. ++++

* * *

JUGGERNAUT. "A brilliant British madman loads a 1200-passenger British ocean liner with seven bombs. Object: ransom. Directed by Richard Lester as a clockwork thriller, the clockwork being the defusing of the bombs by Richard Harris." Now playing at the Academy of Music. ++

LAST TANGO IN PARIS. The people at the Globe Cinema have located one of the unedited unspliced prints of this film. A good time to catch a good film.

KING OF HEARTS. One of the most overrated and deceptive films of all time. This is a sentimental, unreal 'isn't life too bad' oversimplification that does all the thinking for you. You don't have to do a thing but sympathize. At the Campus Cinema. ++

KLANSMEN. Tense social intercourse between an Alabama town sheriff and part-time Ku Klux Klansman (played by Lee Marvin) and an eccentric town aristocrat and part-time dance instructor at Arthur Murray Studios (portrayed by Richard Burton). A timely film.

OH! CALCUTTA! Built up as one of the raunchiest films in a while, but it isn't. Based on the fleshy Broadway play, it teases more than it exposes. But it's teamed with The Cheerleaders at the Campus Cinemas so you might as well take it in. ++

THE LONGEST YARD. A fleeting macho action flick where Burt Reynolds shows his cell block how much fun it is to be in prison. Eddie Albert acts as warden, for all you Eddie Albert fans. Robert Aldrich directed. At the Showcase Cinemas in West Springfield. ++

MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR. The films that feature the Beatles acting talents are similar to the albums that feature Robert Redfords' singing talents...out to lunch.

SUSAN DOSKOCIL

TAKING OF PELHAM, AND A ONE, UND A TWO, UND A THREE. Technology takes off in the form of a high-jacked New York City subway car. A film well done, depicting the helpless New Yorker and their city's provocative sense of comedy. Walter Matthau and Martin Balsam. At the Showcase, in W. Springfield. +++

TRIAL OF BILLY JACK. Sequel time again, kiddies. This time it's courtroom adventure with Billy and his organic disciples. If you liked Billy Jack you'll probably like this, but I thought Billy Jack was out of date vomit, so perhaps you should see this yourself and judge. It has just been released, partly for commercial reasons. If you don't believe me, check out the jacked-up prices when you see it. Playing at the Mountain Farms Four. ++

THE WAY WE WERE. Barbara Streisand and Robert Redford in a misty-eyed, love story. But, Barbara is Barbara, and not entirely serious, which makes this cute little story better than average. At the SUB 7 and 9:15, Sunday. ++

WESTWORLD. Science fiction died in the early sixties, and this filmic mistake is keeping it dead. +

CONCERTS

(T indicates tickets available at Ticketron in CC Hotel lobby)

UMASS

University Chorale, Annual Winter Concert — Dec. 11, Bowker Aud. (free).

SPRINGFIELD

NRBQ — Billy Joel — Dec. 13, Sanderson T.

David Bromberg — Johnathan Edwards — Dec. 15, Sanderson T.

Richie Havens — Dec. 21, Sanderson T.

Shawn Phillips — Jan. 1, Sanderson T.

PITTSFIELD

Keith Jarrett — Dec. 14, Berkshire Community College (7:30 & 10)

BOSTON

Yes — Dec. 11, Boston Garden, T.

Mighty Clouds of Joy — Dec. 11-15, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

Charles Mingus — Dec. 11-15, Jazz Workshop

Skyhook — Dec. 11, Jack's, Cambridge

Billy Joel — Dec. 12, Paul's Mall

Fat — Dec. 12-14, The Club, Cambridge.

Spider John Koerner — June Millington — Dec. 12-15, Passim Coffeeshop (8:30 & 10:30)

The Eighty Six Thousand Four Hundred Second Party (with NRBQ, Johnathan Edwards, Duke & The Drivers, Travis Shook & The Club Wow, Mr. Fingers, Normal Bigelow, Joel Zoss, etc.) — Dec. 13, B. U. Case Center (benefit).

* * *

Gino Vanelli — Ron Douglas — Dec. 13-15, Paul's Mall.

Dynamic Superiors — Dec. 13-19, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

Harold Melvin & The Blue Notes — Dec. 16-22, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

The Miracles — Dec. 20-26, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

The 11th House featuring Larry Coryell with Alphonse Mouzon — Dec. 27-29 & 31, Jazz Workshop Commodores — Dec. 27-Jan. 2, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.

Blue Oyster Cult — Dec. 28, Orpheus, T.

Tavares — Dec. 30-Jan. 5, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

The Ambitions — Jan. 6-12, Sugar Shack (10 & 1 a.m.)

Alvin Lee & Company — Jan. 10, Orpheum T.

Joe Walsh — Jan. 17, Orpheum T.

John Mayall — Feb. 21, Orpheum T.

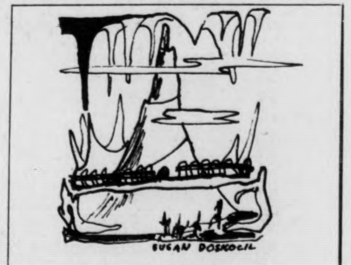
—lovingly compiled for the last time by David "for the last time" Sokol

LOCAL MUSIC

John Lee Hooker — Home Cookin' — Hide-A-Way, Dec. 11
Sweet Pie — Steak Out, Dec. 18, 19
Sweat Band — Bluewall, Dec. 11-14
Mitch Chakour — Rusty Nail, Dec. 14, 15.
N.R.B.Q. — Rusty Nail, Dec. 19-21.
Bill Colwell — Hide-A-Way, Dec. 13, 14.
Real Tears — Steak Out, Dec. 11-14, 31.
Margo Fender — 5th Alarm, Dec. 11-15.
Cricket Hill — Rusty Nail, Dec. 11-13.
Home Cookin' — Hide-A-Way, 11, 12.
Time Being — T.O.C., Dec. 12-14.
Sambo Strut — Steak Out, Dec. 20, 21.
Real Tears — Rusty Nail, Dec. 17, 18.
Air Born — Rusty Nail, Dec. 16.
Discotheque at the Hatfield Dial Tone — 7 days a week.
Home Cookin' — Hotel Monat, Dec. 15.
Aces & Knights — Rusty Nail, Dec. 22.
Air Born — The Pub, Dec. 20, 27, 28, 29.
Doc Sullivan — The Pub, Dec. 12, 13 (3-6 p.m.)
D.J. Sullivan — The Pub, 13.
John Morgan — The Pub, Dec. 17.
Great Pretenders — The Pub, Dec. 14, 15, 21, 22.
Bill Steele — Chelsea House Cafe & Folklore Center (West Brattleboro, Vt.), Dec. 13, 14.



ART

U Mass Herter Hall The Great Glass Bubble Exhibit, M.F.A. 1st year show in sculpture.

Munson Hall Annex — glass blowing demonstrations Wed. Dec. 11, 7 p.m.

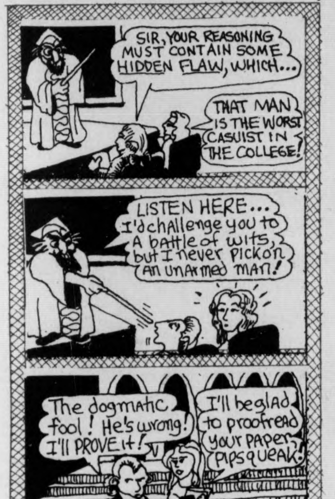
New Africa House Latin American graphics arts by Pedro Alcantara — through Dec. 13.

Smith College Egytpians art from Boston MFA.

The Seeyle Years through Jan.

Jean Dubuffet prints through Dec. 20.

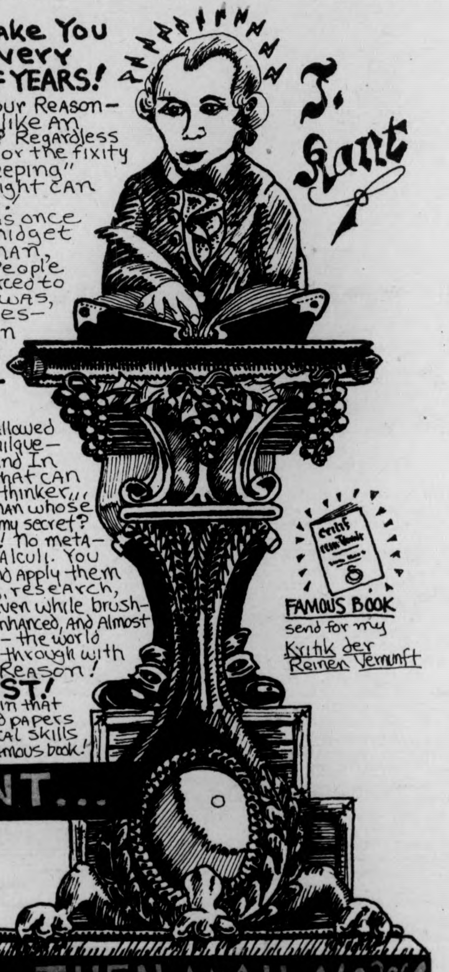
THE INSULT THAT MADE A MAN OUT OF 'MANNY'



SIR, YOUR REASONING MUST CONTAIN SOME HIDDEN FLAW, WHICH...
THAT MAN IS THE WORST CASUIST IN THE COLLEGE!
LISTEN HERE... I'd challenge you to A battle of wits, but I never pick on an unarmed man!
The dogmatic fool! He's wrong! I'll PROVE it!
I'll be glad to proofread your paper, pipsqueak!
Darn it! I'm sick of being the class whipping boy! All right! I'll take A term off and read Kant's free book!
Thanks to Kant, I'm A new man! Tomorrow I'll mail Prof. Poop A copy of my brilliant new paper!
There's Poop now, And he's lecturing Gladys again!
Lay off, Poop! I've been named to your old chair! You don't teach here Anymore!
GOSH, MANNY! you must be pretty smart!

PROF. I. KANT, "The Sage of Königsberg", Says:

Don't Be Half A Man!



I. Kant
Critik

FAMOUS BOOK

send for my Kritik der Reinen Vernunft

Let ME SHOW How I Can Make You FULLY RATIONAL In Your Every Judgement—In A Matter OF YEARS!

Consider honestly! Are you proud of your Reason—or are you satisfied to go on living like an animal, irrational, only HALF HUMAN? Regardless of your soul's shameful condition—or the fixity of an adult's mental habits—the "sleeping" rationality that is your human birthright can make you truly a man—almost, A GOD! Believe me, I know—because I was once a superstitious, dogmatic mental midget ridden by every neurosis known to man, all but dead from the neck up! People laughed at my intellect when I was forced to admit that the wisdom of Socrates was, to me, only so much Greek. I was hesitant to express opinions,,, at a loss in conversation,,, afraid of invigorating debate!

HOW I CHANGED FROM A "FEATHERLESS BIPED" TO A MAN!

One day I discovered a method that that allowed me to make the transition from a confused milquetoast mentality to "The Most Powerful Mind In Europe"—a fundamental tool of analysis that can help turn you, too, into a deep, insightful thinker,,, in every particular a creative scholar,,, a man whose mind will shape intellectual history! What's my secret? "CRITICAL DOCTRINE"—the natural method! No metaphysical manifestoes. No algorhythms or calculi. You just do as I did. Simply take my methods and apply them to the problems of the day, in your teaching, research, "bull" sessions, departmental meetings—even while brushing your teeth! Your rationality is instantly enhanced, and almost before you know it, dilemmas have dissolved—the world makes sense—and your intellect is shot through with the perfection that is the divine gift of Reason!

MY SECRET BUILDS MINDS FAST!

Just hours a day is all it takes to build a brain that all but splits your skull,,, turn your published papers into oracular thunderbolts,,, hone dialectical skills that won't quit! Mail coupon today for my famous book!

DO YOU WANT...

DEEP INSIGHT?
Penetrating analysis of knotty problems

DIALECTICAL MASTERY?
The Ability to blow AWAY your every opponent!

BROAD GENERALIZATIONS?
UNIVERSAL METAPHYSICAL LAWS!

FIRM FOOTING?
Complete freedom from dialectical fallacy!

WEIGHTY THOUGHTS?
Pensées to make the office cringe in envy!

ASSURED TENURE?
A lifetime ride with the school of choice!

...THEN MAIL NOW!

Here's the kind of mind I want:

- ☐ Deeper Insight
- ☐ Broader Generalities
- ☐ Heavier thoughts
- ☐ DIALECTICAL VICTORY
- ☐ Firm Footing
- ☐ $ Tenure $

IMMANUEL KANT
UNIVERSITY PROF OF MATH & PHILOSOPHY
Königsberg, East Prussia

I enclose 10¢. Show me how CRITICAL METHODOLOGY can give me a mind to be minded!
— NO OBLIGATION —

PRINT NAME ______________________
ADDRESS ______________________
DEGREE ______________________
GRANTING INSTITUTION ____________

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
TELEPHONE 545-3500
Collegian
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE 1 AMHERST, MA. THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1975

weather

Today will be variably sunny with the highs in the depressing 30s. Accompanied by darkness the nighttime will drag the low temperatures into the low 20s with Friday being a bit more frigid than today.

School of Ed scandal

Related stories page 10

Dean Allen quits; Gentry 'resigns'

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

The seven-year roller-coaster administration of School of Education Dean Dwight W. Allen, 44, came to an abrupt end yesterday when Allen quit after discussions with top campus administrators.

Allen submitted his resignation to Whitmore administrators the day before the results of a preliminary UMass audit into alleged mismanagement of funds at the School were to be made public at a press conference by Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery.

The press conference this afternoon is expected to include findings that:

—The University cannot "verify" as real people the recipients of two School of Ed checks totaling $3,000. The checks were cashed.

—Up to $80,000 in funds intended for a federally funded Model Cities program in New Haven administered by the School were diverted to an unauthorized account.

Allen has been on sabbatical leave at the University of Lesotho, Africa doing research. He flew back Tuesday to discuss the funds probe with superiors.

Accompanying the announcement that Allen had resigned was a statement by University spokesman Peter Mucker that Assoc. dean for special programs Aaron A. Gentry had also "resigned" his School of Ed post.

However, it became known yesterday, and was confirmed by an administration source that in a memo dated Jan. 24 to school officials, University assoc. Provost David C. Bischoff said that Gentry had not exercised "sufficiently sound judgement" in his post.

Bischoff then ordered acting School of Education Dean Earl Seidman to fire Gentry. It is not known if Seidman carried out the order. Bischoff is the academic official responsible for the operation of the School.

Allen was not asked directly to resign, according to one Whitmore official. Rather, the outgoing Dean reached his decision during a four-hour evening meeting with Chancellor Bromery, assoc. provost Bischoff and other administrators Tuesday night.

Allen made the decision to return from Africa "a couple of days ago" according to the administrator. The decision to return followed weeks of transatlantic phone conversations with campus officials.

The top academic official on campus, Vice-Chancellor Robert L. Gluckstern, said in an interview late yesterday he did not know who he will choose to succeed Allen. He said no decision would be made until after Allen has a chance to meet privately with the School's 100 faculty.

What was to have been a private meeting between Allen and the School's faculty yesterday afternoon was cancelled when about 300 grad students and some reporters asked to get in. Gluckstern said the meeting would have included Allen's announcement of resignation and the results of Whitmore's preliminary audit. He said the meeting was postponed because there was danger it would become "a circus."

He said Allen would try to meet again privately with faculty and that non-faculty would be asked to voluntarily exclude themselves.

Gentry, 30, came to UMass at the same time as Allen after directing a community action project in Pasadena, California. He was director of the Pasadena Study Center there. In 1970 he was awarded a PhD from the UMass School of Education. He received his BA from UCLA. He has run special programs and most federal grants at the School since 1972.

Dwight Allen, nationally-known Ed head, relaxing yesterday after resignation

Wood, Dukakis clash on budget

By BILL PARENT
RDC Staff

Governor Michael Dukakis and UMass President Robert Wood have come head to head in a clash over the Governor's proposed budget cuts for the University. In early December Dukakis put forth a target figure of $87.5 million for higher education costs which fell $30.7 million short of the Board of Trustees request of $118 million.

Wood called the cut "a strike at the heart of UMass" and has assured that he will "not stand by silently while a great resource of the Commonwealth people, built over decades is wasted just to fit theoretical targets artificially established."

By mid-December the confrontation between the two men became clear as Dukakis cited an over abundance of administrative personnel at the Universities.

"There seems to be a proliferation of administrative as opposed to teaching positions," said Dukakis. "I don't think the University of Massachusetts is immune from this administrative proliferation at very high salaries."

Wood rebutted Dukakis by outlining the ramifications of such a cut in more realistic terms. Wood cited the budget of $87.5 million as comparable to the budget of three years ago before soaring fuel costs, pay raises to meet inflation, and the opening of the new Boston campus, and that such a figure would barely pay for the Amherst campus alone.

The most serious result of the slash though, appears to be massive layoffs and a cut in student employment by fifty percent.

"This would mean that lower and lower-middle income students would not be able to attend," Wood said.

The decision of whether or not the budget remains as Dukakis has proposed, lies now in the state Legislature. Both men have been quiet in the recent past, waiting for House Speaker Bartley to sound the bell this spring for round two.

Students file suit to rescind dorm policy

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

Four students here have filed a class action suit against university officials in Federal District Court in Boston seeking to rescind the mandatory dormitory policy for those students under the age of 21.

A hearing is expected to be scheduled next week asking for a temporary restraining order that will permit John Pepi and James Jordan, two of the plaintiffs, to register for this semester.

The university has said Pepi and Jordan can not register for this semester until they pay $660 for room and board. Both have refused to pay on the grounds that they can save money by not living on campus and that they receive no educational benefits for living in a dorm.

The suit was filed Monday by attorneys Thomas Lesser and David Kaplan of Northampton on behalf of Pepi, Jordan, Stephen Leiter, Karen Zimmerman and all other undergraduates on campus.

Leiter and Zimmerman are presently not "affected by the university policy, but are forced to live on campus" said Lesser.

Named as defendants are all those responsible for the dorm policy and registration — Joseph P. Healy, chairman of the UMass board of trustees, UMass President Robert Wood, Chancellor Randolph Bromery, Ralph Jones, registrar and Kenneth Dean, head of residential life.

In an affidavit filed with the suit, Pepi states that dormitory living was "extremely overcrowded and unsafe". He states a radio, watch and tape recorder were stolen from his room.

Lesser said that a major contention of the lawsuit is that UMass is violating the "equal protection clause" of the Constitution by enforcing a dormitory residence requirement that permits married students, seniors, those over 21, and those who obtain special exemptions not to live in dormitories.

Pepi said students have repeatedly tried university channels but have not succeeded in changing the policy.

Bromery has said the university is studying changing the policy with a target date of Sept. 1976 when the dorm residency will be voluntary.

Robert Gage, vice chancellor for academic affairs said the university will be making a decision some time next month. According to Gage two committees have been studying the financial structure of the dorms payments and housing in general.

Gage said that "whatever the solution is, it will be as the dorms are filled."

Gage said the suit has not deterred the university from their planned course of action and "we are working as fast as we can to have the decision be in effect by next September."

Credit Union receives strong student support

By JAN ALEXANDER
Staff Reporter

The University Federal Credit Union received favorable response from UMass students concerning the establishment of a campus credit union, according to U.F.C.U.A. President Peter Birnbaum. [illegible]

"What's your number?" "000000 O." "I'm sorry but the zeros don't register until next week..."

Miller claims article 'misleading'

By RICHARD WRIGHT
MDC Staff

A controversy has erupted over an allegedly inaccurate news story about dropping intersession which appeared in the December [illegible] Collegian. [illegible]

Martin J. Miller

Bromery announces budget cuts

Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery has announced that all operating units at UMass will get a [illegible] per cent cut in their supplies and expense budgets. [illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

Open new vistas of hope for her.

[illegible]

Sisters of the Good Shepherd

[illegible]

Name
Address
College

Bromery 'extraordinarily pleased'

Mrs Dubois joining faculty

Mrs. Shirley Graham Dubois, widow of Dr. W.E.B. Dubois, and herself the author of [illegible] books in the area of black history and biography, will join the UMass faculty in February. She will be a Distinguished Visiting Lecturer in the department of Afro-American Studies which bears the name of her late husband. [illegible]

Mrs. Shirley Graham Dubois

Complaints spur rebirth of parking regulations

By CHRIS BALLARD
MDC STAFF

[illegible]

Police have suspect in dorm robberies

By ROBERTA BOOKTONE
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Edwards discontinues faculty hours at pool

By JUDY FRIEDLAND
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

David [illegible]

Bomb explodes in State Department building

More threats hit Washington offices

[illegible]

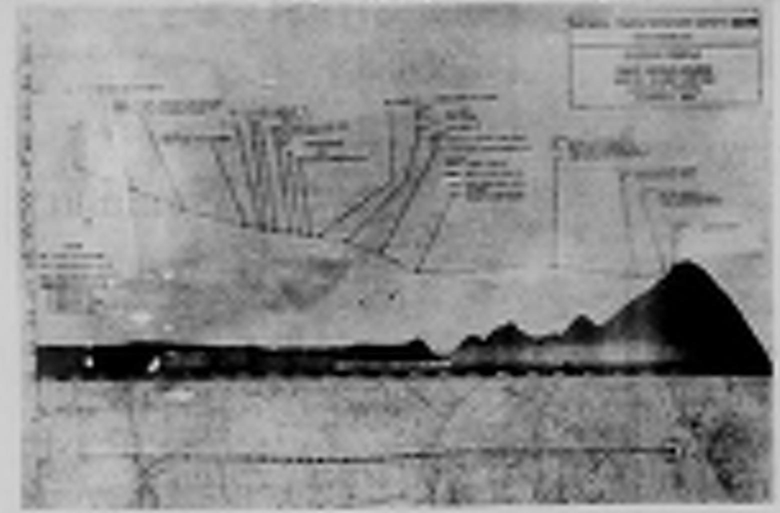


Chart released by the federal investigators yesterday shows the flight path of the airplane that crashed into the side of a hill on December 1 of last year. The chart shows that the plane was below the level of the hill three miles before it hit it.

Dulles Airport revised traffic controls after airplane crash

[illegible]

Drug expert claims marijuana beneficial

[illegible]

Rhodes proposes House CIA study

[illegible]

STORM WARNING!

An economic storm and the winds of war will soon strike America...and wise Americans will prepare for it. [illegible] "How To Protect Yourself During The Coming Depression And Third World War".

[illegible]

Audio Books, Inc.

[illegible]

Name

Street

City State Zip

Landry's Back To School Sale

[illegible]

MUNICH BEER – 79¢ a six pack [illegible]

SCHLITZ BEER – $5.50 per case [illegible]

ALL WINE – 10% OFF List Price

Farm Fresh VERMONT MILK – 72¢ – ½ gal. $1.43 – gal.

½ Gallon SNOW'S ICE CREAM $1.49 [illegible]

Cabot's Vermont CHEDDAR CHEESE – $1.49 lb.

ALSO WEEKLY SPECIALS ON MEATS & PRODUCE

LANDRY'S MARKET

713 Main St., Amherst

253-5387

Open: [illegible]

House, Senate Democrats unite policy-making

Ford sees 'nothing' to compromise with

[illegible]

the economy

Figures amplify decline

By United Press International

[illegible]

Federal food stamp rolls climb sharply

[illegible]

Economist predicts oil glut

[illegible]

Speeches to earn John Dean $13,500

[illegible]

news summary

Levi hearings end

[illegible]

Grain cancelled

[illegible]

Cambodia ships hit

[illegible]

EMPORIUM INDIA

at the Carriage Shops

welcomes you back with

Cotton and Crepe

[illegible]

Emporium [illegible]

MEDICAL SCHOOL ASPIRANTS

[illegible]

Doctor charged with manslaughter

Prosecution rests case in abortion trial

[illegible]

Five area nuclear plants ordered closed for tests

[illegible]

Vermont senate halts probe of Civil Liberties Union

[illegible]

in new england

Globe fooled

[illegible]

Public jobs aided

[illegible]

SUMMER JOBS for JUNIORS
IN PHYSICS, CHEMISTRY AND ENGINEERING

[illegible]

PIZZA-RAMA

[illegible]

"EXTRA SPEEDY DELIVERY"

[illegible]

[illegible]

dah call

[illegible]

ICE.

[illegible]

Three R's become three A's; angry, apathetic, alienated

[illegible]

Program to help teachers learn "mainstreaming"

[illegible]

WMUA

THURSDAY, JANUARY [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] — RIVER VALLEY ALMANAC — [illegible]

[illegible]

91.1 FM

Center sponsoring 'days–weekends' for women here

[illegible]

FURNISHED APARTMENTS
FOR RENT
1½, 2 & 2½ ROOMS
$190. – $200. – $210. per. mo.
[illegible]
Amherst Motel and Apartments
[illegible]

creative conveniences, inc. ◆◆◆ RIGHT IN YOUR ROOM!

3 cu. ft. 50% more space rent a refrigerator.

[illegible]

call now 256-8433

[illegible]

RSO and 5-College group listing

[illegible]

NUGENT'S
SALE
½ off original price of all fall & winter
merchandise.
EVERYTHING MUST GO
Campus Plaza
[illegible]
Tel. 256-8106

Turn to page [illegible]

Staff Photo by Dennis [illegible]

Query dates back to December

By BILL [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Although administrators denied that yesterday's resignations were the result of probes of mismanagement of funds at the School of Education, a series of newspaper articles since December have placed the School under increasing pressure.

The articles, published in the Daily Hampshire Gazette, have resulted in planned probes by Hampshire-Franklin County District Attorney John M. Callahan, Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti, the FBI and HEW into allegations of misuse of funds.

Since December, the newspaper has written stories which report that former assoc. dean at the School of Education, Robert H. Suzuki, had raised questions about use of funds at the School. Suzuki, who until December handled the accounting books at the School, alleged mismanagement of funds in several federally funded programs.

At first, the Gazette stories talked about [illegible]

[illegible] $32,500 from Malcolm X College in Chicago and the City of Worcester intended for use in a State House Model Cities program administered by the School were diverted into an unauthorized discretionary fund.

- Claimed that $50,000 in funds earmarked for the $300,000 HEW-funded "Career Opportunities Program" was used to pay expenses unrelated to the program, called COP for short.

The paper said some of the $50,000 was used to fund retreats for School of Education faculty to Montreal, Mexico, Florida and California and paid for such personal items as a suitcase, a blender and a tea kettle with four cups.

In addition to the stories in the Gazette, a state agency report on another federally funded program at the School released January 10 found over $12,500 in "unallowable" expenditures in a $153,000 grant which was supposed to be used for training guards in Massachusetts county jails.

[illegible] charged to the grant.

- A total of $2,500 in excess of the budgeted amount in another step of the grant was siphoned off for payment to a "technical assistant" but was voided when discovered by auditors and explained as an "administrative oversight."

The Commission report said all three actions were authorized or performed by School of Education Assoc. Dean Atron A. Gentry, "principle investigator" — or head of the grant.

Gentry's name has been mentioned repeatedly as the administrator of grant programs called into question by The Gazette. He is one of the administrators of the COP program, which HEW administrator Nathan D. Dick said earlier this month will be the focus of investigations into mismanagement of funds at the School.

Also listed as an "investigator" in several grants now being eyed for mismanagement of funds by state and federal investigators was School of Ed faculty member Glen Abraham.

Abraham resigned his post last week and was reported to have left Amherst last weekend to take a job in Texas.

When stories about mismanagement of funds at the School first began to appear in The Gazette, administrators sought to convey the impression that they were only an indication of personal and policy conflicts between School administrators.

They said the amounts involved were small and involved no personal gain.

But over the last week, several administrators had indicated in private interviews that they believed a small group of administrators were responsible for the misused money and were tarnishing the image of the School.

Earlier this month, DA Callahan said he would probe funds misuse at the School after UMass issued the results of an internal audit. The audit was to be released today.

"The follow-up should be done by a criminal investigative agency with fraud experience — but that's not to say that any is involved," Callahan said last week.

In a Jan. 9 press release, Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery said he would take corrective actions "required to maintain the highest standards of management procedures within the institution," should the UMass audit reveal improprieties.

"If wrongful or unethical acts have been committed, I am prepared to take whatever firm action is necessary to maintain the public trust," Bromery said.

Continuing local newspaper coverage of the problems at the School caused State Sen. John W. Olver (D-Amherst) to comment at a Jan. 17 legal studies seminar on campus to remark,

"I don't think the probe of the School will tarnish the image of the University any more than the activities of the School tarnish the image of the University."

[illegible]

Dean Allen

The man in the controversy

[illegible]

Bromery, Wood appraise resignation

[illegible]

CARGO • [illegible] Road, Northampton
[illegible]
Our entire stock of [illegible]
(Tailor Tees only) and an average markdown of [illegible]
[illegible]

Mandatory dorms spark suit

cont. from p. 1

UMass officials have said the reasons for the residency requirement is the necessity of paying bondholders who have financed the construction of the dorms and dining commons. The annual mortgage payment for dorms is approximately $3.2 million and the annual debt service on dining halls is approximately $800,000, according to [illegible].

[illegible] says "the dorms will never be empty". He said the Amherst area housing market can only absorb 10 per cent of the students living in the dorms.

The Amherst board of Selectmen early last month sent a letter to the Chancellor urging "the university to be guided by the principle that all existing dormitories should be fully occupied, thereby keeping to a minimum the numbers of students seeking housing off campus." Town officials are concerned that a voluntary dorm residency may increase rents and "disrupt" the long range planning goals the town has adopted.

Textbook annex hours posted

Thurs., Jan. 30, 9-9
Friday, Jan. 31, 9-9
Sat., Feb. 1, 10-4
Mon., Feb. 3, 9-9
Tues., Feb. 4, 9-9
Wed., Feb. 5, 9-7:30
Thurs., Feb. 6, 9-7:30
Fri., Feb. 7, 9-5
Sat., Feb. 8, 10-2
Mon., Feb. 10 thru Thurs., Feb. 13, 9-7
Fri., Feb. 14, 9-5
Starting Tuesday, Feb. 18 open 8:30-4:30 daily Mon.-Friday

Photo by [illegible]

Chris Lundbury (R), student organizing project member, serving summons for Chancellor Bromery to Sidney Myers, university attorney.

Dynamite Diamonds
FREDERICKS
[illegible]

Infirmary
On the Emergency?
☎ 545-[illegible]

Stuff it.
Rent
your own refrigerator . . . just pennies a day.
★ Inexpensive $40.00 Per Academic Year ★
$20.50 Per Semester ★
★ Free delivery & pick-up at door of dorm
★ Deposit refunded at pick-up time
★ [illegible]
★ [illegible]
CONTACT
[illegible]
mini [illegible] kool
[illegible]

"TIMES THEY ARE A CHANGING"
IN THESE TIMES WHEN PRICES ARE GOING UP UP UP!
Make sure you get the most for your $ at:
ALLIED MOTOR PARTS
SPECIAL SALE
10% - 50% OFF
JAN. 31 - FEB. 7
[illegible]
[illegible]

UMass prof hunts heat leaks

By [illegible]
Staff Correspondent

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Jon DeBrois, Mark Levine, and Prof. Joseph O'Bryne (left to right) time developing print taken with infrared light camera.

The recently developed technique of thermography, a concept that enables cameras to detect heat, is currently being applied to check for heat leaks in the University's [illegible] buildings.

Prof. Joseph O'Byrne of the Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Dept. and Chairman of the Subcommittee on Energy Conservation is heading a team of investigators that is attempting to locate the points of heat emission from buildings by analyzing the data obtained with an infrared light camera.

O'Byrne, speaking at a press conference yesterday afternoon, explained the project. "First, we establish a reference temperature on the surface we are dealing with. This was accomplished by instigating a program in which students went around to buildings checking temperatures.

"One of my students, Mark Levine, has recorded the internal temperatures of all the rooms on the second and third floors of Whitmore. On Tuesday evening, (it is best to do this on a cool, dark night) we photographed Whitmore and are now attempting to correlate the exterior temperature with that of the interior. We also went up to the 19th floor of Kennedy dorm and scanned the campus for heat leaks in roofs from poor insulation, cracks, and so forth."

John DeBrois of the Sol-R-Tech Corp. of Hartford, Vermont – a company that does research on solar heating – is working with O'Byrne on the heat emission project. DeBrois demonstrated the [illegible] portable photography system that promises to be an invaluable asset to researchers in the energy conservation field.

"By using infrared light, the light areas on the photos correspond to warmer parts of the building," DeBrois explained while exhibiting a photo of a man smoking a cigarette. "The isotherms are referenced against some known temperature and we can determine an [illegible] accurate relevant temperature."

Prof. O'Byrne added that although the sewage plant, a mile from the shooting, wasn't visible to them in the darkness, "we could track the sewage lines to where the plant was clearly detectable."

"Incidentally," O'Byrne quipped, "we found that the coldest room in Whitmore was that of the Chancellor."

Hampshire chairman calls it quits

By [illegible]
and JOHN [illegible]
Special Correspondents

The founder and first President of Hampshire College, Franklin Patterson, resigned officially from the school's Board of Trustees early this month.

The resignation was not publicly announced until the Jan. [illegible] Trustee meeting in New York, even though Patterson's letter of resignation was dated Nov. 20, 1974. President Charles Longsworth said that Patterson had planned to announce his decision at the Dec. 14 Trustee meeting when it was disrupted by students seeking admission to the closed meeting.

Contacted at home, Patterson said he resigned "to make room for others...It's all come to a time when I no longer want to carry those [illegible]

[illegible]

Internships

There are three internships available in New York for this semester. Positions range full-time from the arts to the media to city government to international affairs. Housing is available for the four month period (February 3-May 31) at a reasonable fee. If you are interested contact Richard Seibel at the phone no. 545-[illegible]

"Pirates of Penzance" casting begins

Auditions for UMass Music Theatre Guild's production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" will be held Monday, February 3 and Tuesday, Feb. 4 starting at 6 p.m. in the Colonial Lounge, Student Union.

All interested in auditioning should come prepared with any song. Piano accompaniment will be available if desired.

"Pirates of Penzance" will be performed April 3 through 6 in Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall. Rehearsals will begin on the Sunday following auditions. Those cast are required to attend rehearsals during the Spring recess.

The show will need a cast of [illegible] – 10 leads and 22 chorus members. Twelve female and 20 male parts will be cast.

Includes:
- Roundtrip Air
- Transfers and Baggage Handling
- Seven nights accommodations
- [illegible]
- [illegible]

BERMUDA — $199.00

contact:
Campus Travel Center
2nd Level Campus Center
545-[illegible]

Weekly Departures February [illegible] – April [illegible], 1975.

WINTER SALE
SAVE UP TO 50%
JEANS / PANTS SWEATERS
the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
204 n. pleasant st. amherst
Fairfield Mall chicopee

RSO and 5-College group listing

cont. from p. 9

Spectrum is the undergraduate Arts Magazine of UMass. Membership is open to all UMass undergrads. Meetings are held at various times throughout the year. Spectrum is published once each year. It features student artwork, fiction, photographs, poetry, essays, etc. Interested people should go to 407 Student Union Building, or call [illegible].

Student's International Meditation Society (SIMS), has approximately 400 members. Its officers are Eric Schwartz, 327 Lincoln Ave., [illegible] and Ruth Harrington, 327 Lincoln Ave., 549-6708. SIMS offers information on the Science of Creative Intelligence and the technique of Transcendental Meditation (TM). Also available is information concerning courses for academic credit in the Science of Creative Intelligence that are sponsored each semester by the university. An introductory meeting concerning these courses will be held early in the semester. Introductory lectures on Transcendental Meditation are given every Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Machmer W-26 at the university. A special presentation will be held Tuesday, February 11, 1975. (Location to be announced.)

Undergraduate Business Club holds activities such as luncheons, speakers on business topics, book exchange each semester, field trips and social activities. Dues are $3 per year. Elections will be held sometime in the middle of February. The Business Club office is on the bottom floor of SBA.

Staff Photo by Rick Leonard

Eerie shadows cast by this lone telephone pole during snowstorm.

the SHOE-BIN
FAST BREAKS
$5.00
By Converse

Day care available to community

Beginning February 1, the Saturday Day Care will once again be made available to the Amherst community and to the surrounding [illegible] [illegible] campus for children ages 2.9 to 6 years.

For many parents, Saturdays involve work, classes, studying [illegible]

[illegible]

Student Supplies
and [illegible]
at
A. J. Hastings
[illegible] N. Pleasant St.
Amherst

HUNGRY-U
PIZZA SUBS
We deliver Free
call:
256-8914 or 256-0473
[illegible] University Dr. [illegible] N. Pleasant St.

SPREAD THE WORD!
— [illegible] —
Space available for TAG SALE
and FLEA MARKETS
every Tuesday [illegible]
[illegible] a.m. - [illegible] p.m.
[illegible]

Shapiro takes on dual role

Dr. Seymour Shapiro has been named acting dean of the faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery has announced.

Dr. Shapiro, head of the Botany Department, will serve as acting dean through the spring semester, during which time a search committee is expected to recommend a permanent dean to take office in September of 1975.

The present dean, Mac V. Edds, Jr., has left the post for an appointment at MIT.

Named head of the Botany Department and professor of botany in 1964, Dr. Shapiro has served as acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

He has frequently served as a moderator and advisor to the Chancellor on major campus issues, and as faculty liaison with students during time of crisis. He is known as an outstanding teacher, scholar and administrator.

His significant and exceptional service to the University was recognized last year when he was awarded the University Medal for Outstanding Service.

The Faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics is one of the three divisions of the UMass College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Shapiro will assume his new post Jan. 26.

YE CURLING IRON
FOR GUYS & GALS
243 TRIANGLE ST. - 549-4942

Music anyone?
La di da

Those interested in vocal and instrumental music may study with the artist teaching faculty and assistants of the University of Massachusetts—Amherst Music Department this spring semester by registering through Jan. 31 for private and class instruction in the Preparatory Division.

Private instruction is offered in piano, strings, woodwinds, brass, percussion and voice. Class study is available in recorder, piano, and music literature and listening skills. A course in basic musicianship will provide supplemental training in music theory, ear-training, sight-singing and composition. As an expansion of the program private guitar lessons are now offered.

Performance opportunities will be available to students through participation in solo and chamber music recitals. The UMass Music Department in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education sponsors the program.

An informative brochure and registration form may be obtained from Preparatory Division, Department of Music, Division of Continuing Education, Hills House North, UMass, Amherst, 01001; telephone (413) 545-2013.

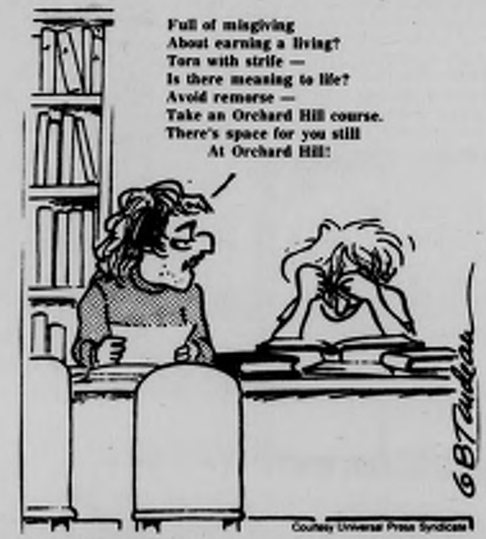
Orchard Hill Registration Mon. - Fri. 9 - 5 101 Field House

ART AND SOCIETY

CITIZENSHIP AND SOCIAL CHANGE

WOMEN AND SOCIETY

MAKING A LIFE, MAKING A LIVING



Full of misgiving
About earning a living?
Torn with strife —
Is there meaning to life?
Avoid remorse —
Take an Orchard Hill course.
There's space for you still At Orchard Hill!
GB Trudeau

Courtesy Universal Press Syndicate

POLITICAL HISTORY OF BLACK PEOPLE

ETHNIC STUDIES

SCIENCE TECHNOLOGY AND SOCIETY

SOCIETY AND THE OUTCAST

Over 50 3-credit courses to choose from.

Almys* YOU'RE IMPORTANT TO US!

mountain farms mall
Rte. 9 Hadley Open 10am - 9:30pm

Save 50%
special from famous maker
Men's Lined
winter jackets
$19.90 originally to $40

LADIES COAT SALE

All Coats in stock.
1/3 OFF
regular prices

Save 2.99 to 6.99
Boys' 8 to 18
winter jackets $12.99
regularly 15.98-19.98

FOOD SCIENCE & NUTRITION
102
(Formerly 190)
WORLD FOOD HABITS
Will be offered:
MWF 12:20 p.m. Bartlett Auditorium
SCHEDULE NUMBER TO BE ANNOUNCED

Many options available

Women's studies program

The Women's Studies Program was established in Fall 1974 as a pilot project leading to the proposal for a full major in 1976. It provides an opportunity for students to formulate an individually designed plan of study in consultation with a faculty sponsor, which may include regular courses offered at the University and in the Five Colleges, independent study, and field work on the campus and in the community. At present a program in Women's Studies may be approached in either of two ways:

1) A student may earn a Certificate in Women's Studies which would be equivalent to the recognition of a minor concentration (this is in addition to a regular major). This requires the completion of the basic interdisciplinary course and the advanced seminar in Women's Studies, as well as 18 additional credits in Women's Studies which may be earned through courses chosen from a large selection listed in the Women's Studies catalogue; field work and independent studyare also encouraged.

2) A student may major in Women's Studies in conjunction with BDIC. The plan of study must be acceptable to both BDIC regulations for the major and the Women's Studies Program. Majors must take 36 credits in Women's Studies as well as the basic and advanced seminars.

The Women's Studies Program offers opportunities for practical field work experience in a variety of placements, arranged to suit the student's needs. Within the context of a large university, the Program is committed to the creation of a highly personalized experience emphasizing ongoing contact between sponsors and students.

Individual members of the advisory staff are available to counsel students at any stage of their program. Participation at all levels of the Program is encouraged by the Policy Board, the decision-making body, composed of faculty, staff, undergraduate and graduate students, and community resource people.

A detailed Women's Studies course description catalogue is available in the Women's Studies office, 508 Goodell; telephone: 545-1922. Please feel free to drop by.

MDC classifieds sell!

LIQUOR SUPERMARKETS
★ SPRINGFIELD BRECKWOOD BLVD. - WILBRAHAM RD.
★ NORTHAMPTON 'HAMP PLAZA — RTE. 5, NORTH KING ST.
★ FAIRVIEW NEXT TO BIG "Y" - MEMORIAL DRIVE
from our well-stocked LIQUOR, BEER AND WINE SHOPPES

CANADIAN RARE WHISKEY Half Gallon 80 Proof $8.79
OLD MR. BOSTON OLD ENGLISH MARKET GIN Half Gallon 80 PROOF $8.49
TUBORG BEER CASE OF 24 12 OZ. CANS $5.29
SCHLITZ BEER CASE OF 24 12 OZ. CANS $5.49
J & B SCOTCH WHISKEY 86 PROOF FIFTH $6.89
FELLOWS GIN QUART 80 PROOF $3.79
CARLINGS BEER CASE OF 24 12 OZ. N.R. BOTTLES $4.89
ALMADEN TABLE WINES CALIFORNIA MOUNTAIN HALF GALLON $2.99
RIUNITE LAMBRUSCO FIFTH $1.79
ICEBOX MARTINI OR MANHATTAN COCKTAIL HALF GALLON $6.79

KENTFIELD HARDWARE & GIFTS

Hi Students!
KENTFIELD HARDWARE
has what you need:

Paint
Brushes
Rollers
Turps
Light bulbs
Extension cords
Hangers
Picture hooks
Picture wire
Window shades
Curtain rods
Tools
Hot plates
Coffee pots
Appliances
Toasters
Mirrors
Towel bars
Fixtures

...and hundreds of other items. Come browse through the store that has been satisfying student needs since 1908.

THE LARGEST HARDWARE STORE IN THE AREA
KENTFIELD HARDWARE

Bill Parent

From the note pad

It always works out that way. All the big stories happen when you don't have a paper to put out. [illegible]

[illegible]

Bill Parent is Editor-in-Chief of the Collegian.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

UMIES
by McGilvray
UMIES!!

The computer excuse

By DUDLEY PHILLIPS III

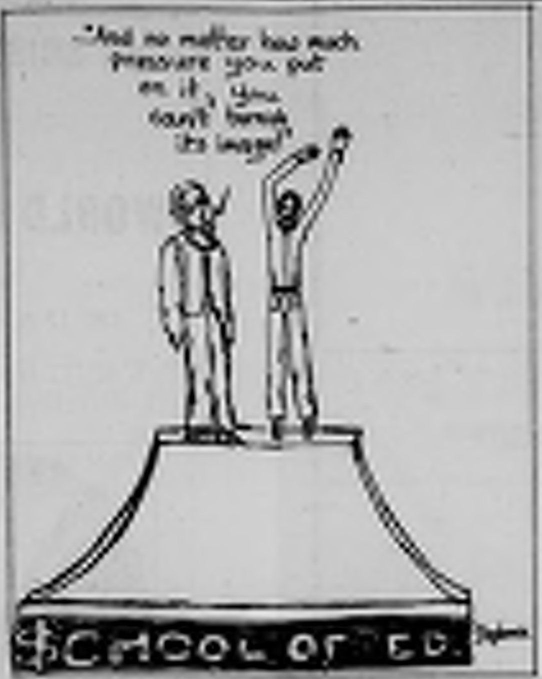
Down in Whitmore the other day, I saw the computer smiling. It seems the trouble is that he had been doing the things he was trained for and everyone began blaming him.

[illegible]

Dudley Phillips is a Collegian Commentator.

Notable quote

"Do you know where I will be on Jan. 20, 1977? I will be standing on the inaugural stand with the President of the United States [illegible]" Ron Ziegler, press secretary to former President Nixon, February [illegible], 1974, in the Washington Post.



"And no matter how much pressure you put on it, you can't tarnish its image!"
$CHOOL OF ED.

A timely exit

The resignations of Dwight W. Allen as Dean of the School of Education along with his associate dean for special programs, Atron A. Gentry, are events of significance for the entire University community, not because of the acts themselves, but because of their timing.

[illegible]

Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the board of editors.

The Collegian welcomes letters to the editor, provided they are typed, sixty spaces to a line, double spaced, and include name, address and phone number. Unsigned letters will not be printed.

E. Patrick McQuaid

Degree or no degree

For time immeasurable, a thick gray vapor has shrouded the subject of education. [illegible]

[illegible]

E. Patrick McQuaid is a Collegian columnist.

Letters to the editor

Give grass a chance

To the Editor:

Does anybody on this campus know how to use a pathway? I don't think too many do. [illegible]

[illegible]

Twelve pains of buses

To the Editor:

In Kurt Vonnegut's movie, "Between Time and Timbuktu", shown Wednesday night in the S.U.B., there was a sequence in which the protagonist was thrown into the future. [illegible]

[illegible]

A waste of paper

To the Editor:

[illegible]

J. F. Kennedy Lower House Council

Registry offenders beware

To the Editor:

I have just recently suffered a harrowing experience in the Hampshire County District Court and thought it a benevolent gesture to relay it to all those not fortunate enough to be invited to attend similar legal proceedings.

[illegible]

Socialistic equality

To the Editor:

(The following song is dedicated to those people who have ever had to wait over a half hour for the bus, especially in the evening. It is sung to the tune of the Twelve Days of Christmas and the bus routes are interchangeable. [illegible])

"In the first hour of waiting, UMass gave to me:

Twelve cars a passin',
Eleven feet a-dancin',
Ten fingers frozen,
Nine people waitin',
Eight dollar shades,
Seven folks a-bitchin',
Six Out of Service.

Five North Amherst Stadiums.

Four Campus Shuttle's,
Three Southwest's,
Two Sunderland's,
But no Orchard Hill Bus can I see!"

[illegible]

Tech Hi-Fi's Back To School Sale

CODE

N — NEW Equipment (D) — Demo Equipment (U) Used Equipment

RECEIVERS

	List	SALE
TOSHIBA SA 500 (N)	$360	$240
YAMAHA CR 500 (U)	$350	$175
NIKKO (D)	10% off
CONCORD CR 50 (N)	$150	$105

AMPLIFIERS

	List	SALE
INTEGRAL SYSTEMS Mod 10 (D)	$350	$175
NIKKO TRM 500 (N)	$180	$140

SPEAKERS

	List	SALE
OHM B (N)	$450	$300
OHM C (N)	$350	$225
OHM D (N)	$240	$160
OHM E (N)	$160	$125
CENTURA V (N)	$105	$60
WALD (N)	$80	$40
FISHER PLANEX (N)	$260	$100
BOZAK SYMPHONY (U)	$1400	$500
EPI 90's (D)	$180	$140
PIONEER PROJECT 60 (D)	$160	$120
RECTILINEAR V (U)	$660	$500
AR 3AX (U)	$580	$300
EPI 201 (D)	$300	$200
ESS AMT 1 (U)	$638	$368
ESS AMT 3 (U)	$870	$550

TURNTABLE

	List	SALE
TOSHIBA SR 80 (N)	$350	$175
THORENS TD 160C (N)	$230	$175
THORENS TD 165C (N)	$200	$150
BENJAMIN — MIRACORD 760 (N)	$267	$190
BENJAMIN — MIRACORD 770 (N)	$347	$270
LENCO L75 (N)	$250	$125
PHILLIPS 407 (N)	$170	$100
PHILLIPS 212 (N)	$240	$175

ALL TURNTABLES Complete With Base Dust Cover and Cartridge.

TAPE DECKS

	List	SALE
CONCORD CD 3000 (N)	$360	$275
TOSHIBA 415 (N)	$200	$140
DOKORDER MK-50 (N)	$269	$199
TEAC 360S (U)	$380	$250
ADVENT 202 (U)	$140	$75

HEADPHONES

	List	SALE
KOSS 711 (N)	$40	$25
KOSS WU - 1 (N)	$50	$32
PICKERING (N)	$40	$20

CARTRIDGES

	List	SALE
EMPIRE MC 1	$50	$15
STANTON 681 EEE	$82	$49
SHURE TYPE III	$75	$60

OTHER SPECIALS

	List	SALE
ROLECOR RECORD PLAYER (N)	$99.95	$50.00
ASSORTED BLANK TAPES	½ Price
REPLACEMENT NEEDLES	25% Off
KLEENEZE	$5.00	$2.00
CABLES	25% Off

These and other unadvertised specials make this the best sale in the area.

tech hifi
Quality Components at the Right Price
259 Triangle St. Amherst 549-2610
186 Main St. Northampton 586-2553

EMS

Eastern Mountain Sports, Inc.

SPECIALISTS IN QUALITY, LIGHTWEIGHT BACKPACKING, SKI TOURING AND MOUNTAINEERING EQUIPMENT

Located on Route 9 at the Amherst-Hadley Town Line (413) [illegible]

Winter Equipment CLEARANCE SALE

Jan. 27 - FEB. 8

20 - 25% off Off

ALL SKI PKGS.
DOWN JACKETS TENTS
DOWN SLEEPING BAGS
DOWN GLOVES & MITTENS
WOOL SHIRTS
ICE AXES
SNOW SHOES

Sarge appoints Breyer to board

By LAWRENCE [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Stephen G. Breyer, professor at Harvard Law School, was appointed to UMass Board of Trustees by Governor Sargent over intersession.

Breyer will replace George [illegible] of Dorchester, Chairman of the Trustee's Finance Committee, whose term expired.

The Board of Trustees has 26 members and ultimate authority over all policy decisions made at the university. The full Board meets once a month, hears testimony from members of the administration, and makes it's decisions based on that testimony.

Breyer teaches anti-trust law, administrative law, and economic regulations at Harvard. He is also on the faculty of the Kennedy Institute of Politics and the faculty of public administration.

The 36-year-old Breyer received his law degree from Harvard Law School in 1964 and also holds degrees from Stanford and Oxford Universities.

Roister Doisters present:

"Adaptation/Next"

Roister Doisters Drama Society will perform the Off-Broadway hit comedy "Adaptation/Next" by Elaine May and Terrence McNally at 8 P.M. on Thursday, January 30, Friday, January 31 and Saturday, February 1 in Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall.

Roister Doisters Drama Society, a UMass group, is the oldest student dramatic organization in the country. Membership is open to anyone in the five college community.

"Adaptation/Next" consists of two one-act comedies. "Adaptation" by Elaine May involves four characters who, within the format of a television game show, play a total of [illegible] roles while portraying the life of one person.

"Next" by Terrence McNally deals with a 48-year-old man who is drafted and receives his physical examination from a female sergeant who won't listen to his complaints.

Tickets for "Adaptation/Next" are on sale on the Campus Center Concourse daily. They will be sold at the theatre starting at 8 P.M. on the evenings of performance.

Tickets are $1.50 for all students of any school or college with proof, [illegible] for others.

Roister Doisters will sponsor an Open House on stage after the Saturday night performance. Everyone is welcome.

[illegible]

Cinema

Now Open! Shows Daily
[illegible]
WALT DISNEY'S
Swiss Family Robinson
[illegible]
Children $1.25 All Shows

THE LODGE ®

Route 9 - Hadley
Next to McDonald's
Mon.-Fri.
10:00 - 9:00
Sat. 10:00 - 6:00
584-9690

THE LODGE ®

S A L E

Denim overalls with detachable bib Adult sizes $8.95 reg. $14.00 Kid's sizes 8-20 $7.95 reg. $12.00	Heavyweight Flannel Shirts $5.95 reg. $9.00	Men's Dress Pants $4.95 - $8.95	Assorted sale Jeans $6.95
	Kid's sweaters 1/3 off	Denim suede boots for women $13.00 originally $24.00	Levi Panatela cords $9.95

An established tradition of quality casual clothing, fair prices and the friendliest of services.

Sign up now!

Course additions

[illegible]

continued

Eastern Mountain Sports, Inc.

SPECIALISTS IN QUALITY LIGHTWEIGHT
SKI-TOURING AND MOUNTAINEERING EQUIPMENT

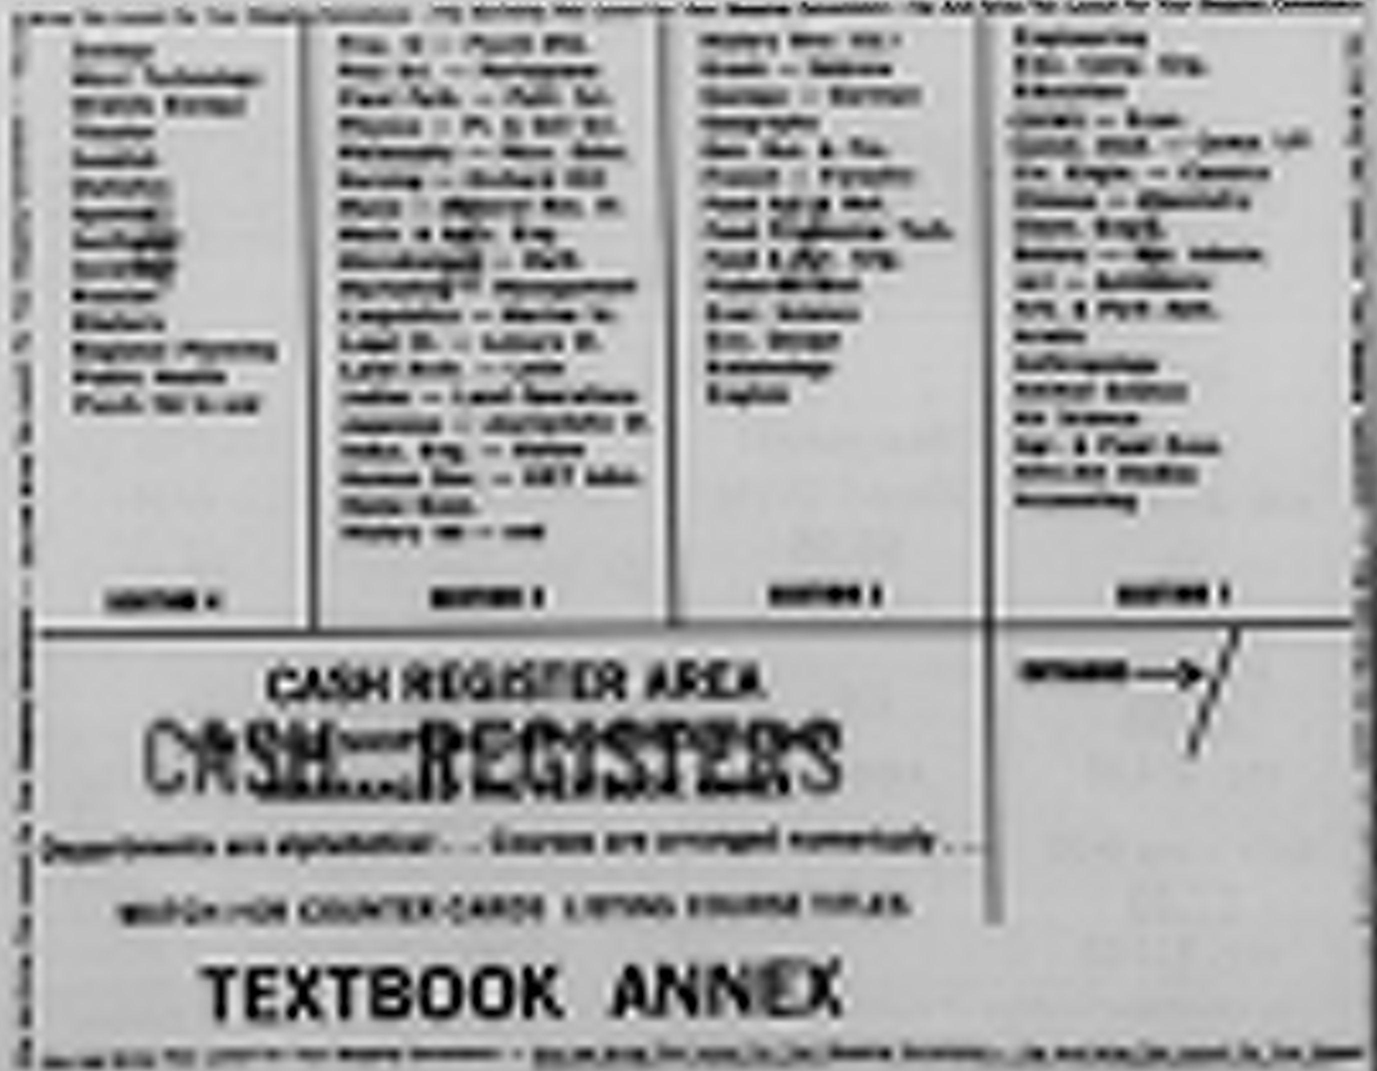
WINTER
CLEARANCE SALE

JAN. 27 - FEB. 8

Savings on all ski packages, ski racks, down parkas, down mittens and gloves, down sleeping bags, tents, ice axes, snow shoes, wool shirts, sweaters, packs, knickers.

SEVERAL ITEMS AT SPECIAL
WINTER CLEARANCE PRICES.

Eastern Mountain Sports — Amherst



CASH REGISTER AREA
CASH REGISTERS
Departments are alphabetical — Courses are arranged numerically
WATCH FOR COUNTER-CARDS LISTING COURSE TITLES.
TEXTBOOK ANNEX

Aides needed for Nature Workshop

[illegible]

A Naturalist Aide helps two young children discover nature.

韓 林 chinese restaurant

homemade mandarin cuisine dine with our ethnic treats and out of the way foods in chinese cookery

the han lin

SW Assembly emphasis on committees

[illegible]

Grand Opening
Sat. Feb. 1 2 p.m.
New
PAUL'S OLD TIME
ANTIQUES

Conference concludes

Academic excellence won't do

[illegible]

Flynn: State must regain confidence

[illegible]

Vietnam subject of film, speech

[illegible]

Library hours

MAIN LIBRARY
Thursday, Jan. 30th	8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Friday, Jan. 31st	8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 1	CLOSED
Sundays starting Feb. 2	10:00 a.m. to 12:00 Midnight
Mon.-Thur. starting Feb. 3	8:00 a.m. to 12:00 Midnight
Fridays starting Feb. 7	8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Saturdays starting Feb. 8	9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.
MORRILL LIBRARY
Thursday, Jan. 30th	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Friday, Jan. 31st	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 1	CLOSED
Sundays starting Feb. 2	2:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.
Monday-Thur. starting Feb. 3	8:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. starting Feb. 7	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
MUSIC LIBRARY
Thur. & Fri. Jan. 30 & 31	9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 1	CLOSED
Sundays starting Feb. 2	2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
Mon.-Fri. starting Feb. 3	8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
Saturdays starting Feb. 8	9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
PHYSICAL SCIENCE LIBRARY
Thur. & Fri. Jan. 30 & 31	8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 1	9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Sunday, Feb. 2	2:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.
Mon.-Thur. starting Feb. 3	8:00 a.m. to 12:00 Midnight
Fridays starting Feb. 7	8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Saturdays starting Feb. 8	10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Sundays starting Feb. 9	12:00 Noon to 12:00 Midnight
PHYSICS LIBRARY
Thur. & Fri. Jan. 30 & 31	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Sat. & Sun. Feb. 1 & 2	CLOSED
Starting Feb. 3 Mon.-Thur.	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.
Friday	8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Saturday & Sunday	CLOSED

NOW TWICE AS BIG
The Mercantile
CLOTHING GIFTS
CARDS POSTERS BEADS
11 E. PLEASANT ST. 549-1396
(Next Door to Where We Were)

A complete line of Athletic Footwear
— FEATURING —
Adidas
[illegible]
Mathews Shoes
[illegible]

Cold weather getting you down?
We suggest you spend a few cold days in a nice warm darkroom.
We are this area's most complete darkroom supplier
[illegible]

Notices

[illegible]

5th
ALARM
775 Worthington St.
Springfield
NOW — SUNDAY
WILEY CRAWFORD
and TAXI
GREAT MUSIC — GREAT ATMOSPHERE
GREAT PEOPLE — GREAT TIME!
MONDAY & TUESDAY
BEER PARTY
[illegible]
Draft 25¢
WEDNESDAY
"FIRE HOUSE SPECIAL"
Drinks 70¢
Bar's Choice

UMASS WEEKEND
BUS SERVICE

Beginning Feb. 1st, the UMass buses will be rolling on Saturdays 8 a.m. – 12 mid-nite & Sundays 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Complete schedules available at the [illegible] of the Campus Center information desk.

Friday nights ride the Mid-Nite Special

(no weekend service on campus shuttle and Orchard Hill routes)

BELL'S PIZZA HOUSE
65 University Drive

ALL PIZZAS ARE NOT CREATED EQUAL —
ENJOY THE DISTINCTIVE DIFFERENCE OF BELL'S
FREE DELIVERY ON CAMPUS
[illegible]

Course listings

[illegible]

TONITE

"The Distinguished Visitors Program"

presents

in a lecture

JAMES BALDWIN

author of

BLUES FOR MR. CHARLIE

ANOTHER COUNTRY

THE FIRE NEXT TIME

TELL ME HOW LONG THE TRAIN'S BEEN GONE

TONITE

C.C. Aud. 8 p.m.

Lecture will start promptly at 8. Be there!!

Four Seasons
Package Store
RUSSELL ST., HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms Mall

MILLER'S BEER 12 oz. Cans $5.49 Case

Donelli Lambrusco $1.29 Fifth

Monte Estoril ROSE $1.49 24 oz. bottle

Four Season's Special BLENDED WHISKEY 86 Proof $8.79 ½ Gal. $4.49 Quart

Four Season's Special VODKA 80 Proof $8.19 ½ Gal. $4.19 Quart

Rolling Rock BEER 12 oz. cans $5.29 Case

Old Milwaukee BEER 12 oz. N.R. $5.99 Case

Wedding Veil Liebfraumilch 24 oz. Bottle $2.35

Wine Paradise Of The Valley

Women discuss issues

The 1975 University Women's Conference, which met here last week offered area women a chance to share and examine the issues that affect them as women in the University, whether staff, faculty, administrators, students, and/or wives.

One of the workshops offered was Women and Local Politics which was facilitated by K. Smith and Fran McNulty. They addressed such issues as elected and appointed positions and the importance of the visibility of women in local politics. Few people comprehend the importance of judicial or legislative decisions until it affects their personal lives. The cuts in Gov. Dukakis' budget will affect many women returning to school because it will adversely affect the amount of money available for day care.

Fran McNulty will be expanding on the workshop when she offers it through the Project Self series this Spring. She will focus on women becoming involved in schools and libraries and on exploring various alternatives within the existing political system. The workshop will be a meeting for eight weeks on Monday evenings from 7:30-9:30 beginning February 24th.

Registration for all Project Self workshops is now through February 7th and can be done by mail or in person at Everywoman's Center, 506 Goodell, UMass or 545-0883. All workshops are low cost ($20.00). Everywoman's Center hours are 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Mon.-Fri., and 7:00-9:00 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Collins announces office hours here

State Representative James Collins of Amherst will hold his first monthly office hours of 1975 on Saturday, February 1. From 10 to 12 Collins will be at the Amherst Town Hall and from 12 to 1:30 he will be at the campus center.

Collins, the second term legislator, last week was appointed chairman of the Special Commission on Nuclear Energy by Speaker of the House David Bartley and is excited by the appointment. "We plan on spending at least a year studying the safety of nuclear energy as well as its long and short term effects on the environment," Collins said.

Besides the energy commission Collins was reappointed to the Committee on Education and the Committee on the Fine Arts.

Dynamics of Racism
A Workshop for White Americans for info call I. Katz 5-2041 (2)

Hellenic meeting

Elections for all posts of the executive committee of the Association are going to be held on Friday, February 7 in room 901 of the Campus Center, starting at 6 p.m.

For more information about the party and the elections call 546-[illegible].

The Hellenic-American Association will hold the first meeting of the second semester on Saturday, Feb. 1 in Farley Lodge starting at 8 p.m. There will be live music (bouzouki), Greek food and drinks. The purpose of the Association is to bring together Greek-Americans and any other persons in the five college community interested in Greek culture.

Why everybody's pretending they're us.

Television Tonight

5:30 GREEN ACRES "Youth Center." (18)
VILLA ALEGRE (24) (57)
HOGAN'S HEROES "The Reluctant Target." (30)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (40)
GILLIGAN'S ISLAND (56)
6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
THE CHAMPIONS (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24) (57)
SERGEANT BILKO "Bilko's School Days." (27)
NIGHTLY NEWSREEL (30)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
BONANZA "Deserter." (40)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
ZOOM! (24) (57)
MOVIE "The George Raft Story." (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
[illegible]

BARNEY MILLER "Experience." (8) (40)
COME TO LIFE (18)
THE MAC DAVIS SHOW (22) (30)
BILL MOYERS' JOURNAL: INTERNATIONAL REPORT (24) (57)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
8:30 KAREN "Karen." (8) (40)
TWO HEAVENS (18)
ANIMAL WORLD (27)
DINAH! (56)
9:00 CBS THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE "The Family." (3)
THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO "Ten Dollar Murder." (8) (40)
SKI WITH BILL HOFFMAN (18)
ARCHER "The Turkish Connection." (22) (30)
SAGA OF WESTERN MAN (24)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
THE JAPANESE FILM "Double Suicide." (57)
9:30 GOMER PYLE "Gomer Pyle, [illegible]
[illegible]

What smells good, feels good, and looks good on . . .

Stanley Hyde Leathers!

Featuring Abascus Garments and Accessories.

Bearskin Neck
Rockport, Mass.

264 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.

UMASS

SOPHOMORES

[illegible]

TONIGHT

"DEATH IN VENICE"

7 & 9:30

S.U.B. 75¢

"DELIVERANCE"

has been postponed

to 3/13/75

SUNDAY

"JEREMIAH JOHNSON"

7 & 9:30

S.U.B. 75¢

"THE EMIGRANTS"

has been postponed

to 2/13/75

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

Your Birthday By Stella Wilder

[illegible]

OZZY & PAUL by Jim Carson

KAMPUS KAPERS by Kris Jackson

THANKS FOR NOTHING!

THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart

DO YOU HAVE A POTION THAT WILL GIVE ME PERPETUAL LIFE?
YEH, BUT IT'S EXPENSIVE!
WHAT IF IT DOESN'T WORK?
YOU GET YOUR MONEY BACK

B.C. by johnny hart

YOU KNOW YOUR COUSIN WAS REALLY DUMB?
DUMB!?
HE THOUGHT A BRANCH OFFICE WAS A LUMBER COMPANY!

WMUA

Here is what will be on WMUA, 91.1 FM, today:

Today's disc jockeys are Randy Richardson until 10, Stu MacDonald from 10-2, Steve Berger goes until 6, Ken Irwin plays music until 10, and Charlie Manz hosts Underground to close out the night. Tomorrow morning starts off with Marc Berman.

WMUA Specialties

8:30 a.m., High Tides. Jeff Jenner returns this semester to explain what the heavens will be doing. 6:45 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac. WMUA broadcasts community services. 7:00 - 8:00 p.m., Filmmaking Notes. Gary Perlmutter hosts a special one hour feature on film music. 9:00 - 11:00 p.m., Pacifica. Radio from the west coast. WMUA News will be broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m., and at 2, 6 & 10 p.m. News headlines will be broadcast at 1:30 and before High Tides.

Women's media course offered

By ANN EMERY
Special Correspondent

The Women's Media Project is a three-credit course that is offered in the Southwest Area this semester. The course, taught by [illegible] on Wednesdays from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., is designed to examine the role of women in media and teach the fundamentals of radio production.

The Women's Media Project was conceived last year to encourage women to get involved in radio, and to enable women to have more air time on WMUA.

Media is a powerful influence in our society, and has helped to present a false image of women. Women have also been excluded from production and decision-making in media. The Women's Media Project will examine the manipulative power of media, take positive steps towards solutions by teaching necessary techniques, and offer support to women entering the field of media.

Registration for the Women's Media Project is in the lobby of John Adams Dormitory. Further information can be obtained by calling [illegible].

MID-NITE SPECIAL

Ride the UMass buses
Friday & Saturday nights till 12 mid-night
beginning January 31st

Weekend Service
begins Saturday,
Feb. 1st,
8 a.m. - 12 mid-night and Sundays
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Complete schedules available on the buses and at the Campus Center information desk.

Intersession training behind.. Minutewomen swimmers ready

[illegible]

UMASS MUSIC DEPT.

The University of Massachusetts Department of Music, Preparatory Division, presents its spring program of instruction. [illegible]

[illegible]

Registration information: Continuing Education [illegible]

University of Massachusetts at Amherst continuing education

Have The New York Times delivered on campus

Contact
Joseph O'Connor
Campus News Agency, 117 Colonial Village
Amherst, Mass. 01002

or mail this coupon

[illegible]

Name [illegible]

School Address

Clip these valuable coupons and save!

Stop & Shop

Free! Campbell's Chicken Noodle Soup

Miracle Whip Salad Dressing 89¢

Ivory Soap 29¢

Softweve Tissue 29¢

Premium Saltines 39¢

Pillsbury Flour 5 lb bag 79¢

"Quality Protected" Naturally Aged Beef!

Beef Chuck Blade Steak 49¢ lb.

Ground Beef 79¢

Stop & Shop Self Basting Turkeys Toms 16-24 lbs. 55¢

Self Basting Hen Turkeys 65¢

Pork Loin Assorted Chops $1.09 lb.

Pork Loin Sirloin Cutlets

Pork Loin Countrystyle Ribs

Pork Loin Blade Roast

Navel Oranges [illegible]

[illegible]

New York dips into WFL while Patriots deal again in final rounds of draft

[illegible]

Green Bay drafts UMass' Bill Cooke story on Page 32

Division II hockey

[illegible]

YanCon B-ball

[illegible]

Joanne Burger whips through her uneven bar [illegible]

INTRAMURAL NOTICES . . .

[illegible]

The New Record Shop
[illegible] No. Pleasant St.
Amherst [illegible]

"Stop birth defects short!"
Give to the
March of Dimes

The Flint Shop

[illegible]

Women gymnasts open season with victory; whip Towson behind freshmen showings

By BEN CALDWELL

The UMass gymnastics Minutewomen opened their season last Saturday with a resounding victory over a somewhat mediocre team from Towson State.

The 101.8 to 78.7 victory sent the female gymnasts off on the right track for this year.

Women's gymnastics coach Virginia Evans said that, "I was pleased with the team's performance but I would still of course [illegible] [illegible] in uneven bars and a 9.0 in floor exercise.

Other freshwomen Pam [illegible] and Cheryl Smith also performed well in their first outings. Pam's scores counted twice and she was third in the all-around scoring. Ms. Smith also counted twice, in the balance beam and floor exercise events.

Senior co-captain Jeanne Burger finished second in the all-around scoring with her high score coming in the vaulting where she received an 8.8.

"In part our freshmen are the new story of our team," said coach Evans. "Our strong depth will be something that will be a big plus to the team."

This year's squad is one that has depth, as coach Evans said, even though there are a lot of new faces. After winning the Eastern title last year and finishing in a tie for third in the Nationals this year's squad will be following a tough act. "When they go against Penn State this weekend at College Park they'll be facing their first difficult test of the year."

Flying Female Finishes — Saturday's meet attendance was impressive for the opening meet. Next home meet is against tough Springfield College on Feb.15 at 8:00 p.m.

[illegible]

Martens sets record; high jumps seven feet

[illegible]

JV's lose heartbreaker to Housatonic

[illegible]

POTS & PLANTS

35% OFF ALL PLANTS

with this ad

This offer ends Feb. 3, 1978

Basement Shop

[illegible] N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Open 10 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Mon. - Sat.

THE TREE HOUSE
[illegible]

Peloton

[illegible]

Package Price [illegible]

[illegible]

Package Price [illegible]

[illegible]

Package Price [illegible]

[illegible]

Pucksters win three

cont. from pg. 32

UMass jumped out to a 3-1 lead over Babson after one period, and held on to win 6-4. Billy Harris had a goal and two assists in pacing the UMass attack and Steve Steele scored his second goal since being called up from the JV's in December.

UMass's four game winning streak came to an abrupt end when they ran into a hard skating, and very [illegible], Northeastern team at the ancient Boston Arena.

Northeastern grabbed a 3-1 first period lead, added four unanswered goals in the second period, and went on to beat UMass, 7-1. The Huskies first period power play goal gave UMass a short lived lead early in the first period. Dave Redmond replaced Bruce Gladish in the nets for the third period, and was sharp.

UMass lost its second game in three nights at the Boston Arena, when Boston State broke a 2-2 tie with two last period goals for a 4-2 victory.

Kevin Conners scored a picture goal to knot the score at 1-1 at the end of one period. Bob Jefferson's shot from the point at [illegible] of the second period tied the game at 2-2. UMass had a number of [illegible]

MDC Classifieds really work

[illegible]

Injuries nag hoopmen

cont. from pg. 32

[illegible]

Wrestlers split Southern tour

[illegible]

WMUA

News Dept. Meeting

Thursday, Feb. [illegible]

[illegible] p.m.

[illegible]

[illegible]

TIRE SALE

[illegible]

[illegible]

AMHERST GULF

[illegible] N. Pleasant

Gulf

[illegible]

Hamilton checks rinkmen,5-4

By [illegible]
Sports Staff

The UMass hockey team saw their dim playoff chances diminish even further yesterday at Orr Rink, as the Minutemen dropped a heartbreaking 5-4 decision to Hamilton College of Clinton, New York. [illegible]

Goaltender Dana Redmond (1) readies himself for a backhand shot off the stick of a Hamilton skater, while [illegible] look on. The skaters were [illegible] 5-4 at Orr Rink yesterday.

Records fall in swim loss

By [illegible]

[illegible]

UMass backstroker Ross Yarworth swims first leg of his team's record-breaking 400-yard medley relay performance.

Packers draft Cooke

By [illegible]

Defensive end Bill Cooke, [illegible] Green Bay Packers [illegible] National Football League draft. [illegible]

Bill Cooke

Rape line
545-COPS

Mediocrity marks break for hoop, hockey teams

Victory over Yale highlights ice action

[illegible]

[illegible]

Inside
Sports
[illegible]

B-ball slump continues over semester break

[illegible]

[illegible]

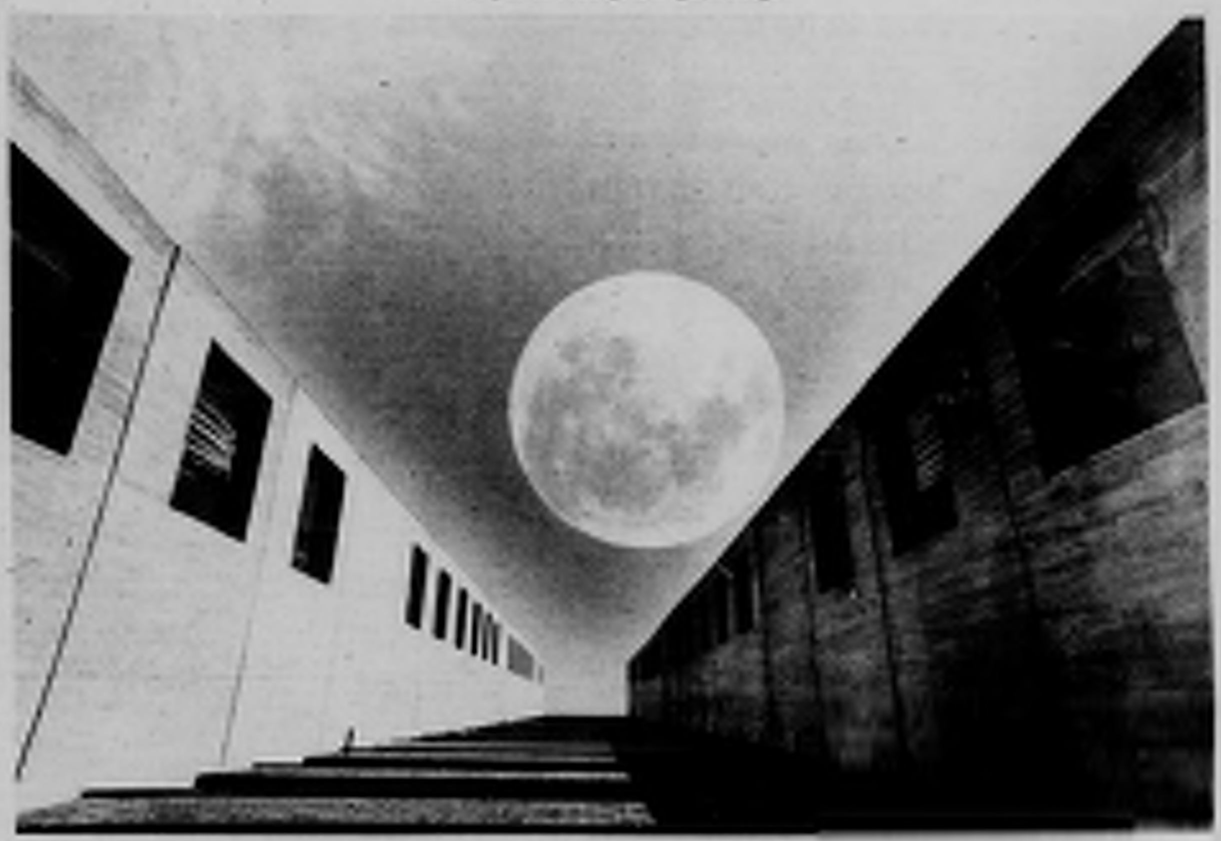
Inside: More outsiders on our side — see p. 2

THE BIG PUSH IS ON!

A continuing saga of the absurd

The Tower

— a first chapter perhaps —



by E. Patrick [illegible]

A deluge of thick flaking snow shrouded the small valley countryside. Two parallel beams of light move slowly along the sheet of glaring ice known as Route 9. A faded green and white bus was struggling to remain on the road at each perilous turn. The driver gripped the wheel tightly as he squinted his eyes, attempting to see through the heavy mass of white accumulated on the windshield. The wipers dragged monotonously across the large glass plate and he shook his head to keep awake.

His only passenger sat quietly in the last seat of the bus [illegible]

A gloved hand grasped the shift and both feet slammed down on the dual brakes. [illegible] The passenger was aroused abruptly from his repose and demanded an explanation.

"[illegible] What is going on here?" he inquired.

The green-draped figure marched to the back of the bus and reached for his passenger's [illegible] bags. "I'm sorry, but this is as far as I go!" [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

BELOW SALT
Volume Three, Issue One 30 January 1973
[illegible]

REPORT to the People

by Tyra L. Micheleva

A definition of sorts:

The name of this magazine comes from an old English tradition whereby all the family and servants sit at the table at meal time, a large bowl of the then valuable salt resting in the middle of the table. The masters, fancy and full of power, sit at the head of the table and the servants, unfortunates, at the far end. The separation of classes was marked distinctly by the salt, "above" for the masters, and "below" for the common folk. We here at UMass are not really the masters of our own lives and so as an accurate reflection of UMass we on the paper make no pretense of being the masters either.

This spirit of "below the salt" extends throughout the magazine. We will not turn anyone away if they feel that they have something to offer, however small, however unusual. We don't operate in a vacuum. The things we print are not written by gnomes trapped in an office drawer or by a clique of reporters. Eighty percent of our stories are written by someone who simply walked up to the second floor of the Student Union Building and presented us with the material. You, too, are welcome.

Below the Salt defined

You may notice that there are relatively few (bordering on nil) places to share your creations and/or thoughts with the great number of people here at UMass. Below the Salt is the place to go if you write fiction, poetry, critiques on music, theatre, dance, films, art, the mysteries of our life, the absurdity of life, or simply your special view of life. The creation doesn't have to be in the form of words, either. Below the Salt could be the place to send your best doodles or pictures. Crayons to chemicals, photographs to oils, all are thoughts expressed to be shared. Let us help you share them.

Our goal is to raise the consciousness of the people [illegible] us aware of ourselves, our [illegible] potentialities to affect the course of our own lives, to open our eyes to the world we live in, the hidden as well as the obvious. Join us if you can, read and enjoy if you're willing. If you aren't getting through let us know what you want to read about, we are your voice. If we "below the salt" aren't going to enlighten ourselves, realize our oneness, the people in power, "above the salt", sure aren't going to do it for us. The time to think is now, while experimentation is possible. The world is not going to sit back and wait for us. "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem." This is an over worked phrase to be sure, but it still applies. Communication is part of the phrase. Help us become an effective alternative. Take part in your own education.

Below the Salt

Below the Salt
30 January 1975
Volume Three,
Issue One

a peep at the people

[illegible]

"The truth was doomed to die. It was being downtrodden, was being drowned, burned, ground to ashes. But look — it has survived; it lives, it has been printed, and nobody ever will be able to wipe it out."

Below The Salt is a weekly fine art/lost world magazine of the UMass Daily Collegian, student newspaper, Amherst, Mass.

Below The Salt has been the kind of magazine that would print peculiar work. We pledge to uphold this tradition, but can't promise everybody's peculiar work will fit. [illegible]

An impassioned forward from the assistant editor

This is something that's been in the back of my mind for a semester or two. [illegible]

But let's get down to basics. [illegible] Below the Salt [illegible] music [illegible] "Everybody likes some kind of music."

More importantly, lots of people like some kinds of music enough to shell out [illegible]

[illegible]

But there is a [illegible]

We here at the Salt have been doing what we can, giving much thought to presenting the [illegible] in such a way as to stimulate further interest in the reader. [illegible]

Ordinarily it would end there. Happily, this year there is something we can do about it.

[illegible]

There are few things we enjoy more than turning someone on to something new. [illegible]

[illegible] maybe we'll come over there. [illegible]

Having, in my usual [illegible]

Andrew MacKenzie
(a.k.a. Your Sacred Cowboy, Founder —
Surrealism in Everyday Life Society)

[Sacred Cowboy will also be a continuing source of annoyance on WMUA, Tu. nights, 10-2. Zen-flagellation a specialty.]

What about you?

[illegible] Below the Salt [illegible] Pick up your invitation today.
—T.

Editor
Tyra L. Micheleva

Assistant Editor and Creative
Andrew MacKenzie

Assistant Editor and Music
[illegible]

Artist Designs
[illegible]

Eating Out
Lori Lederman

Books
[illegible]

Film
[illegible]

Existential Editor
[illegible]

Sex and Violence
[illegible]

Photography Coordination
[illegible]

Theatre
Politics
Dance
Your Name Here

ROISTER DOISTERS' DRAMA SOCIETY
presents
The Off-Broadway Comedy Hit
Adaptation
Next
Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1
8 p.m.
Bowker Auditorium
Stockbridge Hall, UMass
All Students — $1.50 Others — $2.00
For information — [illegible]
Roister Doisters will sponsor an Open House on stage after Saturday night's show. Everyone welcome.

AUDITIONS
for UMass Music Theatre Guild's
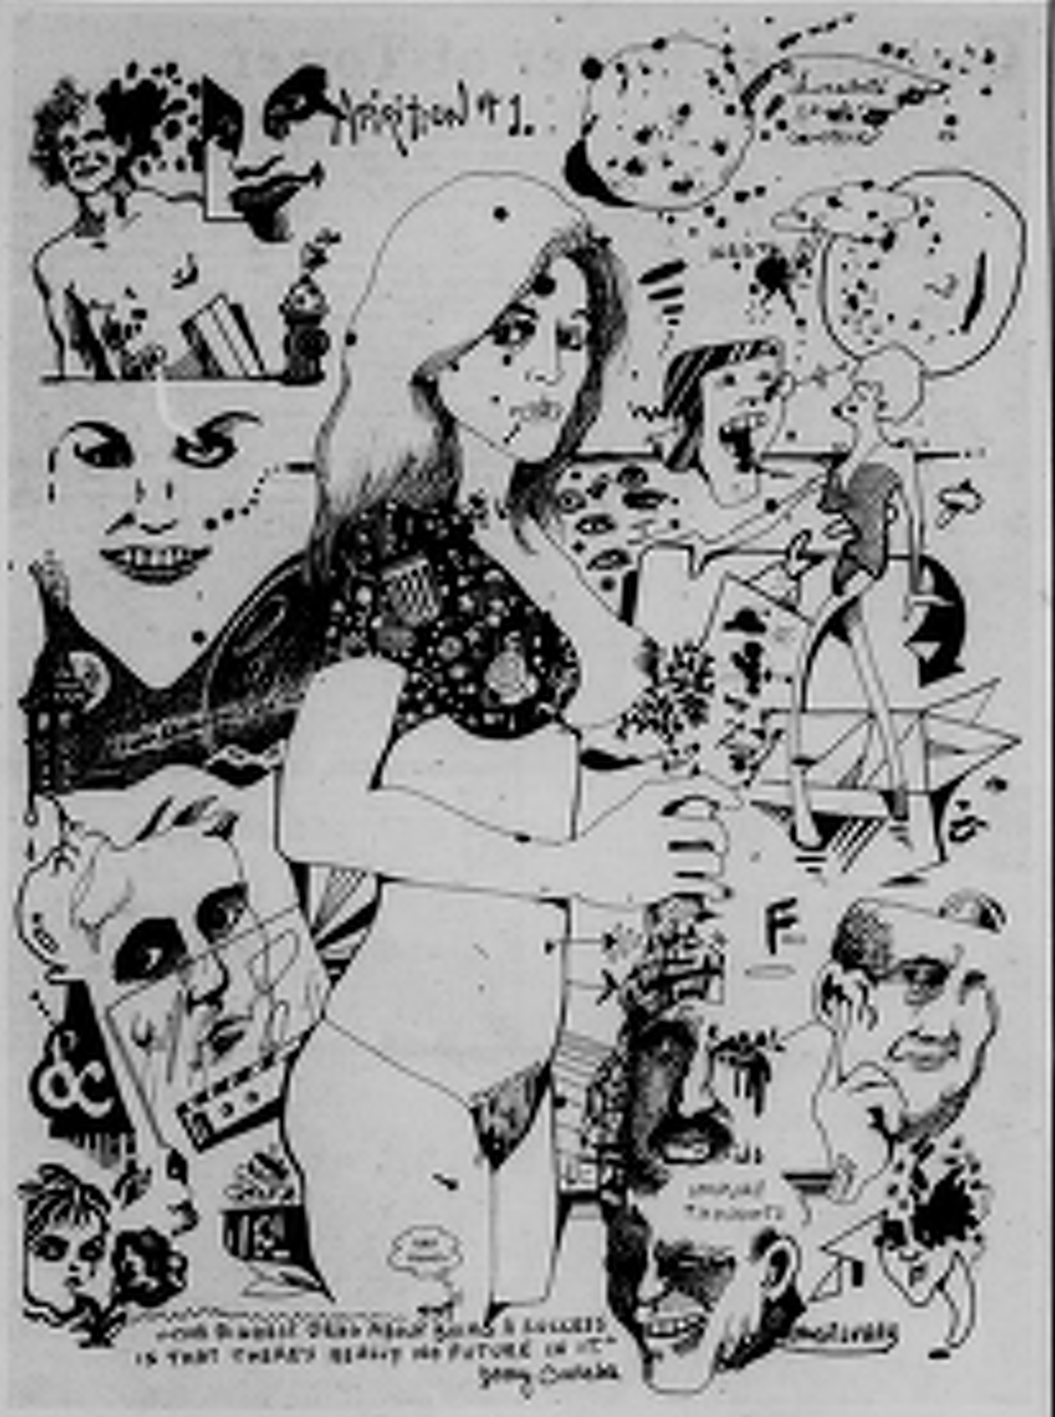
Production of
Gilbert and Sullivan's
Pirates of Penzance
Monday, February 3
Tuesday, February 4
Starting at 6 p.m.
Colonial Lounge, Student Union
Come prepared with any song, even "Happy Birthday" will do.
For more information call [illegible]



[illegible] #1.
[illegible] THE BIGGEST THING ABOUT BEING A SUCCESS IS THAT THERE'S REALLY NO FUTURE IN IT" F
&c

MAKE THE SCENE

Comfortable food Painless prices

Town House Restaurant Review

by Lori Lederman

About ten minutes from the center of Amherst [illegible]

The Town House is owned by [illegible]

The Town House is quiet and homey. [illegible]

The menu ranges from a wide variety of seafood and beef dishes to German and European specialties. [illegible]

[illegible] university of massachusetts arts council

presents

EMPIRE BRASS QUINTET
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 [illegible]
ON SALE [illegible]

OLD CLOTHING — ANTIQUES
Fantastic Selection of:
Sweaters, Jeans, Dresses,
Winter Boots and Jackets also we have Indian Jewelry
FREE WORK SHIRT
with a [illegible]
Open Daily Mon.-Sat., [illegible]
Located at:
[illegible] TRIANGLE STREET
Amherst, Mass. [illegible]

from page one

Continuing power of Tower

[illegible]

[illegible]

Back to the Salt Mine, kiddies!
BTS

[illegible]

Save 60'

2 Free

PEPSIS

[illegible]

Save 30'

1 Free

PEPSI

[illegible]

NOTHING STANDS IN THE WAY OF OUR FAST, FREE DELIVERY

DOMINOS
PIZZA

a preconceived potion

Kitty Today — Adaptation/Next

[illegible]

ADAPTATION/NEXT

[illegible]

MID-WINTER CLEARANCE

★ Hundreds of Albums Reduced

CLASSICAL JAZZ
BLUES
BLUEGRASS
ROCK
ROCK IMPORTS

as well as

★ Thousands of other albums at our regular low prices.

★ We can still get almost any LP not in our stock within one week.

(Also at our regular low prices)

[illegible]

RECORD SHOP

[illegible]

Black Music 1975

by Mike "[illegible] Prayers" [illegible]

On [illegible] in February 1920, Mamie Smith walked into the studios of the [illegible] Records and sang the first blues ever recorded. Since Afro-Americans have always, always provided America with its most powerful, lasting and only original musical culture form, and since the blues has been the basis for most of the music we listen to today (Rock & Roll, "Jazz" and their various sub-strata), it certainly is worth a look at what is shaking in black music 55 years after the first recorded blues to see where we're bound. All of the music dealt with here has been released over the last six months or so.

* * * * *

Staying true to the form are such veterans as Howlin' Wolf, Muddy Waters, Sonny Terry & Brownie McGhee, John Lee Hooker and Jimmy Witherspoon. Wolf, Hooker, Waters an' Sonny & Brownie have played several successful gigs in this area during the past two years, and their performances on record as well as on stage indicate they are still going strong as some of them enter their golden [illegible]. Jimmy Witherspoon has a new album, Love Is A Five Letter Word (Capitol ST-[illegible]; time [illegible]) that puts Jimmy in a modern soul setting with uneven results. Sometimes Jimmy doesn't fit with the funky stuff, and sometimes the arrangements don't fit him. On about four songs everything goes fine, and Witherspoon's sensual growl rolls home. It should be noted that there is very little pure blues being played by younger blacks. Most of the blues' current popularity is due to various white bands, most of whom have a huge propensity to boogie.

* * *

Closely related to blues is Gospel-Religious church music, and the largest aspect of current black music, in terms of popularity, is Soul and/or Rhythm & Blues. Yes, the word blues again, with "rhythm" added for the danceability. Add some [illegible] sweet singers most likely from the church tradition of strong, sure, pure emotion singing, and you have soul. Two of the oldest and best successful of these pure, sweet singers have been Aretha Franklin and The Temptations. Aretha's new record, With Everything I Feel In Me (Atlantic SD [illegible]; time [illegible]) is a bit different from her last few albums that carried heavy orchestral arrangements. With Everything features more of Aretha herself working to standard [illegible] arrangements. Lots of life on here. Listen to the sheer exhilaration of Aretha's "[illegible]" at the end of "You'll Never Get To Heaven" or the way she perfectly sets the vocal tempo in "Don't Go Breaking My Heart". Add top-notch session band work behind her, led by Bernard "Pretty" Purdie on drums and Cornell Dupree on guitar, and you have the Queen of Soul on top of her craft, and who can want more? Side two suffers from a general lack of distinctive songs and/or arrangements, but Aretha remains in shape throughout.

Not in such fine form are the mighty Temptations, whose work in the Seventies has been spotty and directionless compared to their powerful string of hits in the Sixties. Their new album, The Temptations (Gordy [illegible]; time [illegible]), carries on the tradition of having "five lead singers" but still doesn't quite know whether to stay with the '60's Motown sound or go with the steppin' Sly & The Family Stone electric funk sound. This also comes inside a dumb, awkward jacket that is just about impossible to close properly. Truth is, while there are still five lead singers in the group, they haven't been as overall perfectly distinctive as it was when Eddie Kendricks and David Ruffin were in the ensemble. Their loss is felt most in the funk numbers, as their voices had a way of cutting through things like "Psychedelic Shack" and "Ball of Confusion". Still, these Temps can sing, and they sing beautifully on "The Prophet" and "Firefly", which sounds suspiciously much like [illegible] "Wildflower".

Kendricks and Ruffin have just released [illegible]

[illegible] pointing after their last two excellent albums. Only a couple of songs, along with "Then Came You" (sung with Dionne Warwicke) save this from total schlock [illegible]. The Miracles (Don't Cha Love It Tamla [illegible]; time [illegible]) are doing

The mighty Temptations are still looking for a musical path in the 70's.

Duke Ellington, one of the finest ever, was at [illegible] last year.

Below The Salt photo by Kevin [illegible]

Miles Davis' space funk continues competently even without their old band leader Smokey Robinson, singing beautifully together at times, but finding at least as large a talent to replace singer-writer Smokey will be quite a task. Don't Cha is pleasant enough but lacks real depth. A new group, The Dynamic Superiors (The Dynamic Superiors Motown [illegible]; time [illegible]) are as sweet as The Miracles at times but don't sing as well in general. They are aided greatly by the songwriting and production of proven veterans Nick Ashford and Valerie Simpson. Barry White and his Love Unlimited Orchestra have been raking in the AM radio dough for a year now, and both their new albums (Can't Get Enough 20th Century [illegible]; time [illegible] and White Gold 20th Century [illegible]; time [illegible]) reflect the formula that made their singles go Top 10. Barry can't really sing very well, but his monologues, powerfully sung lines and overwhelming string direction indicate a [illegible]

[illegible] smoother styles. George Benson (Bad Benson CTI [illegible]; time [illegible]) is perhaps that label's best exponent of their quiet, laid-back music popularized in the 50's and 60's by Wes Montgomery and other "cool" cats. Bad Benson has fine, fluid and tasteful guitar playing by George with sympathetic lush backing strings, ethereal pleasant. But somehow, like most music in this genre, it never transcends its being mere [illegible] with a listener's quiet mood. It will never take him/her anywhere else. Everything is so damn tasteful and nice that [illegible]. Lulls in thought, lulls in action, lulls in spirit, lulls in Art. And through it all, Benson can pose on the back cover with his Playboy pendant. You'd never catch Cecil Taylor with that around his neck.

* * *

In more conventional modes of classical Afro-American music, we have two new releases [illegible] from two of the finest ever, Duke Ellington and Ella Fitzgerald. Duke's album (Duke's Big Four — The Duke Ellington Quartet Pablo [illegible]; time [illegible]) features the incredible line up of guitarist Joe Pass, drummer Louis Bellson, Ray Brown on bass and Duke on ever-sprightly keyboards. More superlatives may be saved by merely noting that all four play up to their potential. Ella's album (Take Love Easy — Ella Fitzgerald — Joe Pass Pablo [illegible]; time [illegible]) is another excellent record, with just Ella and Joe Pass accompanying on acoustic guitar. Pass is amazing with a million ideas and fresh fills that are sheer delights both [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] punched. Miles' keyboard play is limited, but occasionally interesting on tunes such as on the [illegible] space funk, "Rated X".

* * *

Out in farther reaches of conventionality are several albums labeled "free music". Circle is a group that had a brief but glorious existence in the early 70's. It consisted of Chick Corea on piano, Anthony Braxton on percussion and reeds, Barry Altschul on drums and David Holland on bass. Their legacy is a two record set recorded live (Paris Concert ECM [illegible]; time [illegible]) that is a mighty powerful amount of music, with forceful playing by all. Braxton especially stands out. His vocabulary of squawks and squeaks approaches that of Archie Shepp and Albert Ayler in force and dynamics. Corea has never had such fine ideas, such [illegible] figures on keyboards.

Similarly forced but much more limited is Frank Lowe's Black Beings (ESP [illegible]; time [illegible]). Featuring the hard [illegible] of Lowe on tenor sax and Art Ensemble Of Chicago member Joseph Jarman on alto and soprano, this is a pretty fairly strong record, but its excesses weigh it down. Recorded live, Lowe repeats the same pattern or the same noise too often to keep things moving. Jarman can be heard on the other speaker, giving fine support and demonstrating a much keener ear and mind to make things fly but he is mixed under Lowe most of the way. Still a promising outing.

One of the most interesting of the new albums of black music is that of the Sounds Of The [illegible] ensemble (We Move Together ESP [illegible]; time [illegible]). They are Donald Rafael Garrett, who has played bass with Messrs. Coltrane, Dolphy, [illegible], Kirk and others, and his wife Susan. Together they sing, play a number of strange and wonderful instruments. Their un-normal un-[illegible] music embraces elements from the African, Indian, Arabic, Japanese and Western cultures. They produce amazing sounds and create a beautiful blend of stone Art.

* * * * *

Conclusions? In broad terms, we have left out inclusion of the burgeoning disco scene, where the human dancing machines do it all night all right, mainly because the music they dance to is extra rhythmic Soul with a stronger, simpler edge. As for Soul, it has been jet-propelled by Sly's funk Family, which appears to be the wave of the future. The traditional Blues forms won't die, but there is a definite lack of interest, stemming perhaps from this being a different age where dance and boogie and [illegible] are Kings and Queens. Traditional bearers of classical Afro-American music are doing all right, but great as Duke or Ella, Basie and all the rest are, the youth, and the innovators definitely are across the [illegible], pushing the limits. Miles meets Sly, Corea meets Mahavishnu John McLaughlin and America meets Cecil Taylor and the rest of the world. To where, to where? There's no tool knowing for sure, but wherever, it's certain to be quite a ride.

* *

[illegible]
(Warner Brothers [illegible])

There is something wrong with this album. There is a valid reason for one to be vaguely interested in this record, but not moved in any direction. The sound is much like [illegible] Beatles, though it's lacking vocal quality and much of the [illegible].

The resemblance to the Beatles is no coincidence. Not only is [illegible] from Liverpool, but the album's producer is none other than [illegible] brother, [illegible]

[illegible]

George Harrison's Very Dark Horse

Dark Horse
George Harrison
Apple SMAS — 3418
Total Playing Time: 40:28

by David Miller

This album is marked by a couple of prominent features — the instrumental loveliness which one has come to expect from Harrison's work, and the sense of experimentation which was in evidence on his recent tour — with greatly varying results, it should be added. Given the format of the standard rock and roll record, Dark Horse has some fairly unusual features. Chief among these is the opening cut, "Hari's On Tour (Express)", which is entirely instrumental, featuring Tom Scott and the L.A. Express. Also present is a very strange reworking of the Bryant's old "Bye Bye Love", and last recalled on Bridge Over Troubled Water. Harrison has done extensive re-harmonization of the song, and has added new lyrics, which shift the emphasis of the song from love lost and mourned, to the loneliness which follows material loss and which is replaced by enlightenment. Another unusual action, surrounding the release of the album, was the release of two singles almost simultaneously — the title song and "Ding Dong; Ding Dong".

Non-Beatle George's Unusual rebounding shuffling motion.

Many people profess to be offended by Harrison's religiousness. Well, it's certainly easy to be, but I personally find his instrumental features captivating, and I don't feel preached at. Even "Ding Dong; Ding Dong", a song possessed of unusual triteness ("Ring out the old, ring in the new — Ring out the false, ring in the true") — has enough energy and a fine enough texture to keep it from going under. Harrison's vocals are somewhat surprising — his notoriously mournful voice frequently takes on a not unpleasant nasal quality, and on "Dark Horse" he does indeed sound hoarse, a foreshadowing of his vocal trouble while on tour. Worth noting instrumentally are his keyboard-guitar work on "So Sad", and Tom Scott's work throughout, particularly on "It Is He", the flute being a welcome relief from the horns.

It appears Harrison will continue in the path he's chosen. He's taking risks, and isn't afraid to fail. I want him to continue, and maybe someday get out of that karma expressed in "Simply Shady" with "The action that I've started I'll some time have to face — I influence motion rebounding back through space."

Dark Horse
George Harrison
(Apple SMAS 3418)
Playing Time: 40:08

by Your [illegible] Cowboy

A step Forward? No. A shuffle, maybe, and a faltering one, but apparently some kind of forward motion. The songs on this album show just a little more imagination, just a little more warmth, although the actual difference between this and previous material would have to be measured somewhat to the right of a decimal point.

Needless to say, however, the faults still outweigh the virtues. The songs, although, as I said, more imaginative, tend to beat themselves into the ground through excessive repetition. Witness the opening instrumental, "Hari's On Tour (Express)", which comes out punching and then (if I may so mix my metaphors) bites its tail for the remainder of the cut. Harrison's voice is totally shot, or at least in bad need of practice — Dark Hoarse? His vocal work succeeds best when he doesn't have to strain for the high notes — "So Sad" is very nicely sung and the harmonies seem to work well; this is perhaps the most successful cut on the album.

The horn arrangements, in a word, stink. (To hear Tom Scott and his boys in a more productive environment, I suggest Joni Mitchell's latest.) In fact, the arranging on this album causes the music to be exceedingly forgettable, over all (and speaking of forgetting, I realize that Patty Harrison is with Eric Clapton and it's all very amicable and all that, but was it really necessary to resurrect "Bye Bye Love"?).

His compositions here are never subtle enough to merit intensive listening, yet never light enough to be tuneful (with the possible exception of the "Jai Sri Krishna" chant-along), the latter being unforgivable for a pop songwriter, which, despite the apparent sincerity of his message, he still is. And while Dark Horse doesn't come off nearly as hollow as his last, the [illegible] Living in the Material World, Harrison still desperately needs to let someone else produce and arrange, preferably George Martin, if he can get him. (E)

Boogie On, Reggie Workman

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Trane & Rollins' Cutting Edges

by Jack Cahill

Interstellar Space
John Coltrane
(Impulse)
The Cutting Edge
Sonny Rollins
(Milestone)

The tenor saxophone has been the main jazz horn since the death of Charlie Parker, and these two tenor behemoths have been the main influence since then, with Coltrane even more so since his death in 1967.

That he produced music in 1967 that turned out to be one of 1974's best is staggering. Interstellar Space, a series of saxophone — drum duets with Rashied Ali, stands as a high point, I'm even tempted to say supreme point, in the creation of emotionally cosmic music. One thing I disliked about many late — period 'Trane recordings was the droning, bashing flailing of the rhythm sections. Creatively pioneering it was, but the sonic mixture resulted in the listener being unable to catch much of John's tenor. (Before playing [illegible] this hearing problem was one reason why he began using soprano sax.)

For the many listeners wondering where and how to get into later 'Trane, this is the album, but then again it's essential for anyone who wonders about musical boundaries. Coltrane here has stretched them at least as far as the solar system. The four cuts are named "Mars," "Venus," "Jupiter," and "Saturn." Each represents an emotion more so than a heavenly body, and John expresses each with an uncanny clarity, imitating and evoking the emotion simultaneously.

Sonny Rollins' (above) new album is "more exciting than significant" while John Coltrane stretches musical boundaries "at least as far as the solar system."

Mars, "Battlefield of the cosmic gods," is the most raucously intense track with 'Trane bellowing, crying and spitting out immense amounts of music—sounds. Somewhere in the center of all this [illegible] pandemonium, there is so much exists a core of unruffled stability, reminding me of the untouchable calmness of a military commander. You can read any number of things like this into these pieces; they are open to every listener, but in a different way to each.

"Venus" is a distinctly Coltrane paean to love. The major theme is primevally pure and basic, then the permutations grow more and more celestial, maintaining the high level of strength and beauty throughout. Coltrane's saxophone technique is unbelievably advanced, untouchable in fact, and some of his double stop runs (blowing two notes simultaneously) overlap each other, leaving you wondering if his horn was made on this planet.

"Jupiter" (supreme wisdom) and "Saturn" (life) are exactly what they purport to be in every respect. The drumming of Rashied Ali does not serve the same function as most jazz percussion. He pulses more than he accents, creating a continual but varied flow and occasionally leading the improvisation along with Coltrane.

The new Rollins release is a mighty contrast to the Coltrane. It is taken from a much-appreciated live date at the Montreux Jazz Festival and is more exciting than significant when compared to Sonny's tremendous past accomplishments. It definitely does have its points, however, and is enjoyable throughout.

Backed by guitarist Masuo, the formidable percussion duo of David Lee and Mtume, bassist Bob Cranshaw and surprise guest Stanley Cowell on piano, Sonny seems to be partially concerned with generating a [illegible] contemporary group sound. It sounds attractive, as in "First Moves" and "The Cutting Edge", but really it's the masterful blowing of Newk who, as I always insist, would fly like a bird if he played totally solo. Luckily, we get some of that here on the beautiful ballad "To A Wild Rose." There is no one who plays melodies like this with such exquisite grace and flowing freedom. His unaccompanied chorus is simply breathtaking in its choice of notes and the audience loses its collective gourd.

"A House Is Not A Home" is nice, nothing shattering, even though it fits Rollins well. Guest Rufus Harley on bagpipes, yes, sits in on "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and engages Sonny in an intriguing duel. Be aware: the sound seems to have been recorded from the PA and the electronic hiss and squeaks are occasionally quite annoying.

There is room enough in jazz for two such differing conceptions as these and much to appreciate in both, so open up.

Disc Cover/Disc Over

FACING YOU
KEITH JARRETT
(ECM 1017)
[illegible]

This album actually pre-dates Jarrett's three-record Solo Concerts box, which caused such a stir over the past summer. Facing You was recorded in late '71 but has only been available as an import until recently. Solo Concerts is a fascinating study of the ebb and flow of Jarrett's inspiration over long periods of improvisation [illegible] Facing You, a single album of eight compositions — improvisations for solo piano, is a much more essential sampling of the man's talent, and, for those who are as yet unacquainted with his work, a much more [illegible] introduction. [illegible]

—[illegible]

DANCEHALL SWEETHEARTS
HORSLIPS
(RCA Records)

Some people have said that Dancehall Sweethearts is a letdown after last year's so-called masterpiece, The Tain. [illegible]

—[illegible]

EAT YOUR WAY THROUGH SCHOOL WITH A Steak & Brew SCHOLARSHIP

Go to the head of your class by doing the bright thing. Come in to your nearest Steak & Brew and apply for a Steak & Brew scholarship.

It's easy! Simply ask for an application and fill it out. If you're a lucky winner, you'll [illegible]

Steak & Brew

SUNSHINE RECORDS
GRAND OPENING SALE
All Single Albums
$3.98 EACH
[illegible]
$1.99
[illegible]

---

words

nonconceptual convents

WORK IN AMERICA REVISITED
or
A new mystery
or SHOPTALK WITH A SIXTYSEVEN[illegible]

by David Rosenberg

I remember sitting on a bench where the Common adjoins the Park, smoking and waiting for some street car or cosmic event. [illegible]

[illegible]

non

Trees.

as [illegible]
[illegible]
you stand suspended and I as yet bewildered
[illegible] look up and lick my lips

Words

welcome words slip through your mind and find their empty way to paper never your thought merely images [illegible] in sound colored by experience
[illegible]
to
[illegible]

I stood very still, high above the [illegible] were [illegible] shining quietly.

Super Pizzeria
Specializing in —
Pizzas (large and small)
Spaghetti
Grinders (the meatiest roast beef grinders in the area)
[illegible]
Open 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
[illegible]

University of Massachusetts arts council presents
[illegible]

Double up, America.
[illegible]

Help!

Juvenile Opportunities

Extension Program

Needs Volunteers

to work with troubled youth

General Recruitment Meeting

Mon. nite — C.C. Rm. 105; 7 - 9 p.m.

Feb. 3rd

If unable to attend, come by Rm. 377, Hills S.

[illegible]

The Cheese Gift Shop

[illegible] N. Pleasant St.

A wide selection of Cheeses, Wines, and Party Supplies.

Send a Delicious Gift by TELEFOOD.

What did happen on the Cahulawassee River?
POSTPONED 3 - 13 - 75
Deliverance

Thursday, Jan. 30 7, 9:15, 11:30

S.U.B. $1.00

a new land...a new hope...a new dream
POSTPONED 2 - 13 - 75
Max von Sydow · Liv Ullmann
The Emigrants

[illegible]

SHOWCASE CINEMAS
Abby
The Godfather PART II
THE TOWERING INFERNO
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS" IS A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!"
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"

[illegible] AVE.

"Putney Swope"

Fri., Jan. 31

7 - 8:30 - 10 - 11:30 in S.U.B.

Mahar Aud. 75¢

Wait Until Dark

Audrey Hepburn

Alan Arkin

Richard Crenna

Friday, Jan. 31 7 - 9 - 11

Come See Peter O' Toole

as "J.C."

and "High Voltage Man"

in Britain's Classic Comedy Satire!

The Ruling Class

Sat. night Feb. 1

7:30 and 10:00

S.U.B.

when What's what theatre

HARTFORD

A Raisin in the Sun — January [illegible]-March 4. The Hartford Stage Company, Hartford, Conn., [illegible]

The River Niger — January [illegible] at 8:00 p.m., Bushnell Memorial Hall, Hartford, [illegible]

BOSTON

The Proposition — Every Thursday at 8:30, Friday and Saturday at [illegible] p.m., Inman Sq., Cambridge, [illegible]

The Boston Tea Party — February [illegible] at the Proposition Theatre, Inman Sq., Cambridge, [illegible]

The Little Prince — January [illegible] to February [illegible], Friday and Saturday at 8:00 p.m. (after February [illegible] curtain is at 7:30). The Boston Repertory Theatre, Back Bay, Boston, [illegible]

Preview of The Point — February [illegible]-March [illegible], Wednesday-Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Boston Repertory Theatre, Back Bay, Boston, [illegible]

Saga — February [illegible]-March [illegible], Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:00 p.m. The Cambridge Ensemble, Cambridge, [illegible]

Promenade [illegible] — February [illegible] to March [illegible] at Stage West, West Springfield, [illegible]

UMASS

Abelard and Heloise — [illegible] Drama Society, January [illegible]-February [illegible] at 8:00 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium, [illegible]

[illegible] — [illegible] Theatre Company, February [illegible] at 8:00 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium, [illegible]

Auditions for [illegible] — February [illegible] at [illegible] p.m. in the Colonial Lounge. Prepare a song. [illegible]

art

Leverett Craftsmen and Artists, Inc. Group Show — watercolors, silk screened fabric, wood sculpture, photos, and weaving. Lecture Program featuring Bob [illegible] "Surface Treatments and Embellishments", Fri., Jan. 31, 8 p.m., $1 donation. Weaving Workshop, Sat., Feb. 1 — pre-registration required.

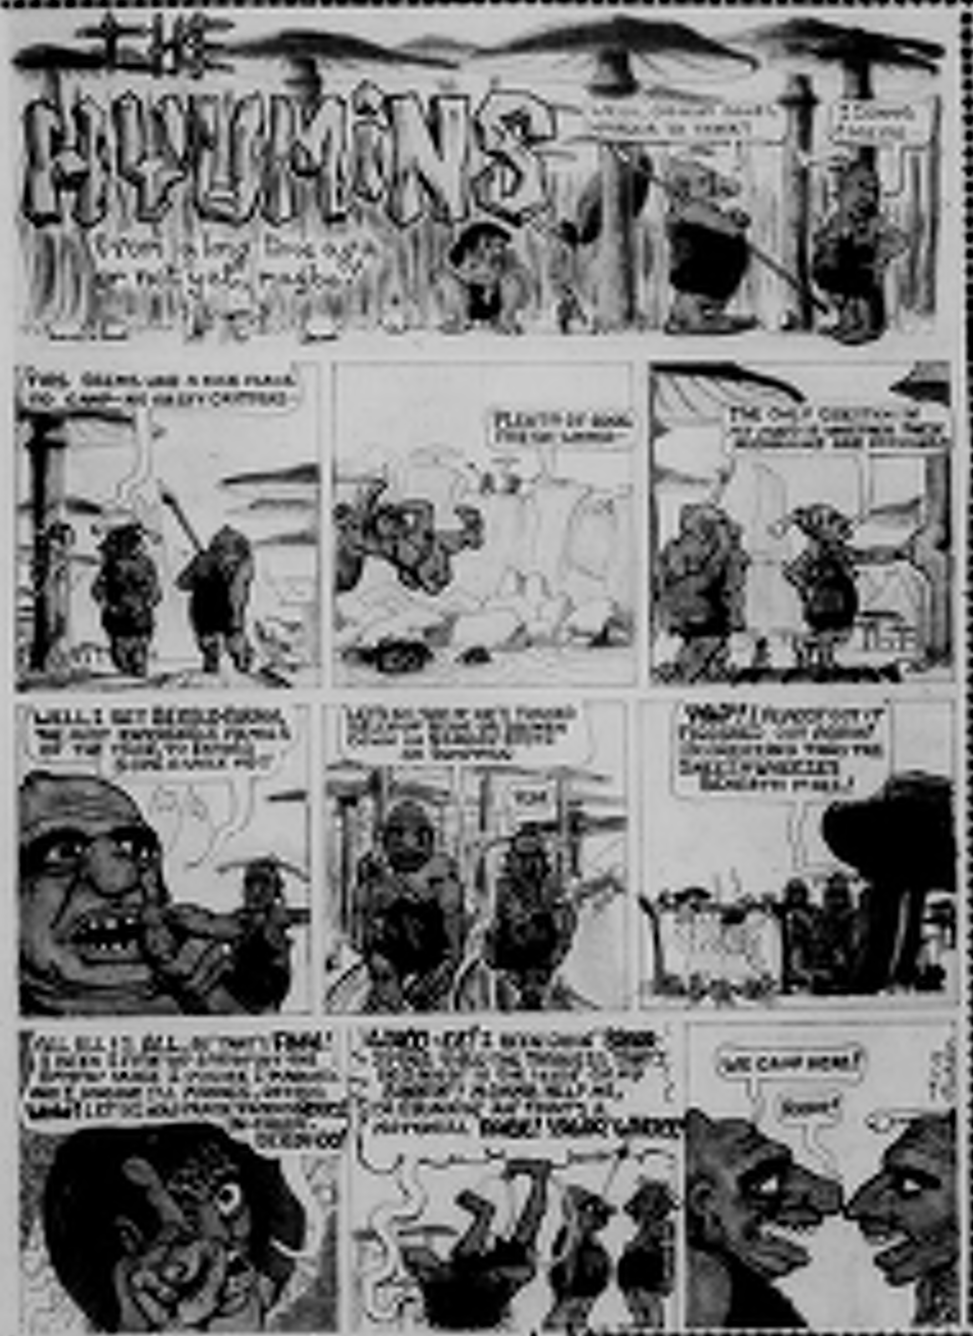
Amherst College

— American Painters of the Arctic — Feb. 1-March [illegible], gallery hours, M-F, [illegible], Sat.-Sun., [illegible]

"The Arctic as Frontier and the Romance of Science" — Leon [illegible] Williams, Professor of Art, Dartmouth, 8 p.m., Sun., Feb. 9.

Hampshire College

— [illegible] Tucker work dealing with color theory through Jan. [illegible] Frank Phillips — large photographs Feb. 1-14



THE HYUMINS
from a long time ago... or not yet maybe
THIS SEEMS LIKE A FINE PLACE TO CAMP—NO NASTY CRITTERS
PLENTY OF GOOD FRESH WATER
WE CAMP HERE?

[illegible]

Mt. Holyoke College — photo show competition exhibit to Feb.

Smith College Museum

— work from the permanent collection and an exhibit designed to show the various graphic art processes beginning in Feb.

[illegible] — Herter Hall Gallery — art [illegible]

Springfield Museum of Fine Art — Indian and Japanese Export Art for The Western Market: 18th and 19th Century through March [illegible].

[illegible] Japan through Feb. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] JONES LIBRARY, Amherst, PAINTINGS by [illegible]

Now Appearing at

THE STEAK OUT

AIRBORN

Thurs. - Sat.

HAPPY HOUR Mon. - Sat. 4:30 - 7:00

Department of Theater

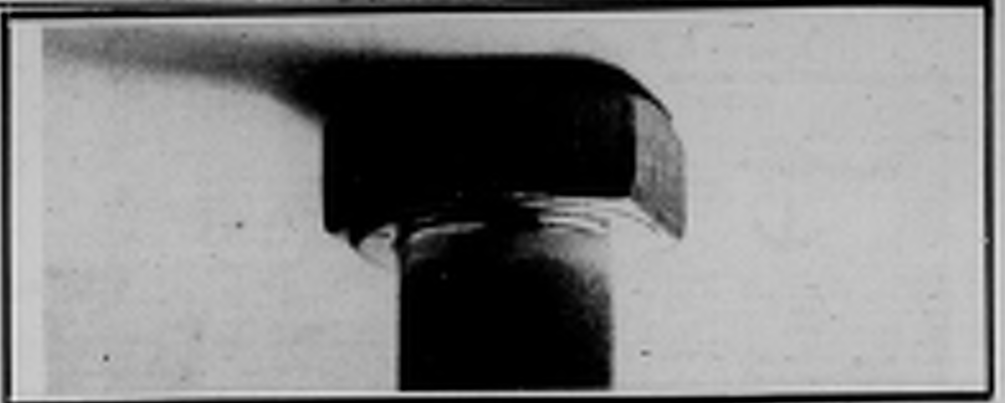
Psst! Need One More Credit

One credit in "Theater Practicum" may be just the one you need. [illegible] is a chance to get experience in Box Office, Publicity, Promotion, [illegible]. It's an opportunity to meet those "theater people" and it could serve as a "major-changer." If you're interested, meet with us tonight at [illegible] p.m. in the Theater Dept., Fine Arts Center. Or, call [illegible] at [illegible] — if no answer call [illegible] and leave your name and telephone number. Last day to add — March [illegible].

Wheel Wheel

The wheel is a [illegible] high revolving structure which has rotating wheels on both ends. The [illegible] skip rope, juggle, run with flaming batons, and do other dangerous stunts, all the while balancing the structure and using their own muscle power to turn both the wheels and structure.

It



BLAZING SADDLES

Blazing Saddles [illegible]

DRACULA

[illegible]

THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN

[illegible]

◆

CHALLENGE TO BE FREE

[illegible]

THE RULING CLASS

Peter O'Toole [illegible]

STEPPENWOLF

[illegible]

SLEEPER

[illegible]

HARRY AND TONTO

[illegible]

ends

CONCERTS

[illegible]

BOSTON

[illegible]

BEDFORD, MASS.

[illegible]

PROVIDENCE, R.I.

[illegible]

LOCAL MUSIC

[illegible]

here.

Allen considered quitting before investigation

By CHRIS [illegible]

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

Collegian

[illegible]

Weather

[illegible]

But declines details

Bromery confirms missing funds

By JUDY BOUCHER

[illegible]

Budget cuts hurt 'people' programs

[illegible]

turn to page [illegible]

[illegible]

Town seeks to curb off-campus residence

[illegible]

Demmings explains Cuban revolution as a necessity

By DEBBIE SCHAFER
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Edward Demmings EYP's guest speaker, being applauded by Barbra [illegible], hostess for last night's lecture.

Students have mixed reactions to Ed scandal

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

Weekend bus service to begin experimental operations tonight

By [illegible]

[illegible]

AUDITIONS
for UMass Music Theatre Guild's
Production of
Gilbert and Sullivan's
Pirates of Penzance
Monday, February 3
Tuesday, February 4
Starting at 6 p.m.
Colonial Lounge, Student Union

Come prepared with any song, even "Happy Birthday" will do.
For more information call [illegible]

Savini urges student activism

Budget cut to hurt 'human services'

By HILLARY MARTICK
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

turn to page 6

Tenant group will discuss new committee

By DEBBIE SCHAFER
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Staff Photo by [illegible]

SURPRISE! With dreams of college still far away, these two children play hide and seek on Boston Common.

Women's Law Center gets good response

By CINDY ROGERS
MDC Staff

[illegible]

turn to page 6

More applications expected

Ford extends amnesty program for one month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford yesterday gave some 100,000 young Americans another month to seek amnesty for evading military service during the Vietnam War. [illegible]

Ford orders payments speedup to veterans to spur economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford yesterday ordered a speedup in the payment of [illegible] million to veterans to spur the economy, and asked Congress to [illegible]

Airline pilots to stop flying planes with hazardous cargoes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

WINTER SALE
SAVE UP TO 50%
JEANS/PANTS SWEATERS
the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st. amherst
Fairfield Mall chicopee

WMUA

News Dept. Meeting

Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975

8:00 p.m.

Rm. 176 C.C.

All third world people and women are urged to attend!!!

SUNSHINE RECORDS
GRAND OPENING SALE
All Single Albums
$3.98 EACH
Latest Releases • Top Artists
LARGE SELECTION OF ALBUMS $1.99 EACH
WE ALSO BUY, SELL & TRADE USED ALBUMS
9 E. Pleasant St.
(4 Doors from The Pub)

Motion to stop trial denied

Doctor takes stand in own defense

BOSTON (UPI) — Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin took the stand in his own defense yesterday after two motions to stop his abortion-manslaughter trial were denied by the judge. [illegible]

Ford plans to reduce aid for highway fund through 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — [illegible]

Nuclear shutdowns may cause price hikes

BOSTON — [illegible]

news summary

Ford plan rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Agriculture Committee yesterday overwhelmingly rejected President Ford's plan to cut food stamp aid for the needy by [illegible] million a year. [illegible]

Thieu sees crisis

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said yesterday that South Vietnam will face a crisis by the end of the year unless President Ford gets the [illegible] million in extra Vietnam aid he has requested from Congress. [illegible]

Ban on coal urged

BOSTON (UPI) — [illegible]

Burns opposes cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

THE ARK
[illegible] N. Pleasant St.
[illegible]
SUNDAY — [illegible] p.m. — [illegible] Lord's Supper followed by dinner
WEDNESDAY — [illegible] p.m. — The Holy Eucharist celebrated on campus (at the Newman Center Chapel)
MON.-FRI. — [illegible] a.m. — Morning Prayer
[illegible] p.m. — Evening Prayer
The Ark is open Mon-Fri. from [illegible] for reading, quiet, coffee, talk, etc.
The Rev. [illegible], Chaplain

HUNGRY
CALL US
256-8914
256-0473
SUBS TOO!

ROISTER DOISTERS' DRAMA SOCIETY
presents
The Off-Broadway Comedy Hit
Adaptation
Next
Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1
8 p.m.
Bowker Auditorium
Stockbridge Hall, UMass
All Students — $1.50 [illegible]
For information — [illegible]
Roister Doisters will sponsor an [illegible] after Saturday night's show. [illegible] 翰林 chinese restaurant

[illegible]
the han lin

★Budget freeze cripples 'people' programs

cont. from p.1

[illegible] program does up its objectives, after considering the expressed needs of the Spanish speaking students already enrolled here, to meet the unique needs of the disadvantaged Spanish-speaking students. "We will not tolerate, as members of the Hispanic community, the impoundment of our program's funds," says one graduate student involved in the program.

According to [illegible], "There are several alternatives. Service may be reduced in each unit, the smaller units may be protected from the 4.3 assessment or a unit may petition for exemption."

[illegible], director of budget for [illegible], has taken no action on the 4.3 per cent assessment directive until he meets with Acting Assistant Provost for Special Programs, John Hunt. "We will have to wait until after our meeting with Hunt to see how the 4.3 per cent will affect us."

The bilingual collegiate program has a current application pending for [illegible] addition to their budget to complete the current fiscal year. However, [illegible] of the provost's office has not made the decision on the increase yet.

[illegible] said that "there was a very real possibility of a budgetary cutback next year," due to the current deficit of the state legislature.

TUNE-UPS
$10.00 plus parts
Call Tom
[illegible] older cars a specialty

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Anne Williams and Jane [illegible] are [illegible] a conceptual tap dance at the Herter [illegible] Wednesday afternoon. The [illegible] minute [illegible]

★ Savini

cont. from p. [illegible]

[illegible]

learning experiences in israel
[illegible]

Women's Law Center

cont. from p. [illegible]

[illegible]

WMUA-FM
[illegible]
First Meeting of the Semester
Tues., Feb. [illegible] p.m.
Campus Center [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] minds matter

[illegible]
MITRE

[illegible]

WEEKEND SERVICE
Student Senate Transit Service

Outbound

[illegible]

Inbound

[illegible]

THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM
[illegible]

Old
Weird Harolds
New and Used Clothing
[illegible]
NEW
[illegible] $1.00
[illegible]
S-A-V-E
[illegible]

Weekend programs on WMUA

[illegible]

UMASS MUSIC DEPT
[illegible]

[illegible]

Pulitzer prizes come under fire at Columbia campus carousel

[illegible]

So what, say you?

[illegible]

[illegible]

Some Catalyst!

A short course in the nickel candy bar. And where it went.

Beginning in the February, 1975 Reader's Digest, a new series—that amounts to a mini-course in today's economics.

"Thanks a lot!" you may say. "But I'd just as soon study Siberian rug weaving as wade through economics." Why economics? Because no subject affects our daily lives more—and is understood less.

One thing for sure, this is not going to be one of those put-you-to-sleep economics courses. No boring theories or confusing charts; no jargon-filled textbooks. We'll be telling the story of our economic system in clear, human terms, illustrating it with actual case histories ... of experiences gathered firsthand by the Digest.

If you're concerned (and who isn't) with what's happening to prices and to the economy—and why—better start boning up on these informative "lessons" appearing every month in The Digest. They're sponsored by the Business Roundtable—an organization of 150 outstanding executives of leading U.S. companies.

[illegible]

Reader's Digest

1

ADVERTISEMENT

As part of a nation of producers as well as consumers, each of us has a lot to say about the price of things we want and need

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE NICKEL CANDY BAR?

R[illegible]

[illegible]

2

ADVERTISEMENT

[illegible]

3

ADVERTISEMENT

[illegible]

POTS & PLANTS

25% OFF ALL PLANTS

with this ad

This offer ends Feb. 5, 1975

Basement Shop

274 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

Open 10 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Mon. - Sat.

State police to treat rape victims with compassion

[illegible]

Rape line

545-COPS

If there's anything we like better than launching a new submarine ...it's launching a new engineer.

And we've launched quite a few of them. Submarines are our product. Engineers design them. So whenever new engineers join us we see that they get launched properly.

TRIDENT and other on-going programs of General Dynamics offer rewarding opportunities to talented graduates in Civil, Electrical, Industrial, Marine, Mechanical, Welding and Metallurgical Engineering and Naval Architecture. To arrange a personal interview on campus, sign up with your Placement Director now. Or write to: Mr. Leo Lavoie.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS ON

GENERAL DYNAMICS

[illegible]

"Before Outward Bound, I really didn't know what I wanted to do with my life. Now, I know whatever it is, I'll do it okay."

[illegible]

Outward Bound, 3½ weeks of becoming yourself. Like it or not.

[illegible]

[illegible]

B. J. Roche

Snowjob: Executive depleted

[illegible]

ntary ● commentary ● commentary ● commen

Ideas on amnesty

[illegible]

Return from reality

[illegible]

Editorial Points

[illegible]

Notable quote

[illegible]

Thank you!

[illegible]

Letters Policy

[illegible]

Dear Tripod

The one that got away

[illegible]

Letters to the editor

Take another look

[illegible]

Support Menominee Indians

[illegible]

Unamerican graffiti

[illegible]

The CC runaround

[illegible]

Cutin

[illegible]

MDC Classifieds really work

CARLO of Naples State Street, Northampton
54th Member of the World Famous Restaurant International
B.
Our menu consists of 62 items
Y.
(Italian Food only) and an average
O. spending of $2.25
B.
Your Host, Carlo, is a special student at UMass.

FRIDAY LATE NIGHT BUS SERVICE
Student Senate Transit Service

FOR BUS INFORMATION CALL: 545-0056 or 545-2086

EFFECTIVE SPRING 1975

OUTBOUND	SA	Grad Research Center 11:55 12:55
	BR	Campus Center 12:10	Grad Research Center 12:15	[illegible] 12:16	Fearing Street 12:19	Cowles Lane 12:20	Town Hall 12:20	Univ. Park 12:25	[illegible] Street 12:25	Colonial Village 12:27
	BN	Rolling Green 12:30	Mayflower Apts. 12:32	North Street 12:34	Golf Road 12:35	Holland Glen 12:37	Arcadia Apts. 12:39	Bay Road 12:40	Quabbin Apts. 12:42	Belch. Center 12:45
	SN	[illegible]
	SD	[illegible]
	NA	[illegible]
INBOUND	SA	[illegible]
	BR	[illegible]
	BN	[illegible]
	SN	[illegible]
	SD	[illegible]
	NA	[illegible]

JUST OUT IN PAPERBACK!
JOHN GARDNER'S
"wonderful, misshapen Valentine of a novel ... the most affecting love story in ages."—Cosmopolitan
NOMINATED FOR THE NATIONAL BOOK AWARD
$1.75 wherever paperbacks are sold
BALLANTINE BOOKS

JOHN GARDNER
NICKEL MOUNTAIN

Woolco 25% Off on Weber ART SUPPLIES with this coupon only Satisfaction Guaranteed—Replacement or Money Refunded
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
Russell St., Route 9, Hadley
25% Off
Art Supplies By Weber
See our full selection
Includes Acrylic & Oil Paints, Canvas, Pastels, Brushes, Mediums, Kits, etc.
Expiration Date — Mon., Feb. 4, 1975
Woolco
Satisfaction Guaranteed—Replacement or Money Refunded
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL

Cadillacs being recalled

DETROIT (UPI) — The Cadillac division of General Motors said Thursday it has begun recalling all 1974 models — 234,300 cars — because the hoods could pop open while the cars were being driven.

Cadillac said there had been several reports of hoods opening and obstructing the driver's vision, but there were no accidents or injuries reported as a result of the defect.

The problem was caused by a secondary hood latch which may not have been aligned properly during assembly, the company said. Dealers will inspect the vehicles and make necessary adjustments at no cost to the owners.

The cars are equipped with two hood latch systems.

university of massachusetts arts council presents
WASTSA THEATER COMPANY
PRESENTS ORNETTE BY CLAY GOSS
FRIDAY FEBRUARY 7 1975
8PM BOWKER AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 umass students
ON SALE STU. CENTER, U MASS. AMHERST

Vacancies in Belchertown - UYA Program

Since September, 1971, Belchertown State School has been co-operating with the University of Massachusetts in the University Year for Action Program. This program is designed to enable university and college resources to join with community agencies, like Belchertown State School, in helping people who are faced with various social or poverty-related problems.

[illegible]

Middle East "Teach In" to be held

"Palestinians and the PLO", "Oil and the World's Economy", "Zionism", "The Big Powers and the Middle East" — these will be some of the topics dealt with in the special "Teach In on the Middle East" to be held on Sunday, February 2, in the Colonial Lounge of the Student Union.

The Teach-In will be in the format of informal, small group discussions, each group examining a different aspect of the current issues in the Middle East.

The discussions will be led by faculty members from the five college area, such as [illegible] of the Political Science Department of Smith College, [illegible] of the School of Business Administration of UMass, and others.

Town meeting member nominations due soon

[illegible]

notes & quotes

Student Volunteer Services offers courses for credit

[illegible]

NOW TWICE AS BIG
The Mercantile
CLOTHING GIFTS
CARDS POSTERS BEADS
11 E. PLEASANT ST. 549-1396
(Next Door to Where We Were)

Help!
Juvenile Opportunities
Extension Program
Needs Volunteers
to work with troubled youth
General Recruitment Meeting
Mon. nite — C.C. Rm. 105; 7 - 9 p.m.
Feb. 3rd
If unable to attend, come by Rm. 2?, Mills S.

THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
FRI. — SAT.
Clean Living
TUES. — No Cover
Sunday Beer — [illegible]
Phone [illegible] — Just Over Line — 544-[illegible]
Plenty of Room to Boogie!

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC!
BEER & BOOZE

Never Been Satisfied . . .
With University Housing . . . .
[illegible]
THE ONLY THING MISSING FROM BRITTANY MANOR IS YOU.
[illegible]
BRITTANY MANOR

SOP courses give academic credit for participation in campus activities

The Student Organizing Project is offering a series of courses this semester which will enable students to get academic credit for participating in organizing on the campus, lobbying around issues such as tuition hikes, setting up cooperatives, studying the student movement, improving housing, and other related organizing activities.

Nesta King, project research coordinator, said, "we want students to be able to get academic credit for participating in activities which serve students, and which further the goal of an organized student community and a student union." She added, "students who aren't currently active because of class pressures, but who would like to be, are people we'd like to reach."

John Fisher, SOP staff member said, "There are many on-campus activities which contribute to this goal both within and without the SOP umbrella — area governments, Women's Center, student employee organizing, the SGA, media, third world groups, the financial aid rights organization, academic department organizing and any other activities where students get together to provide each other services, or to organize."

Students already working or interested in working in any of these areas or one of their own should contact the SOP to participate in the course, which is entitled Organizing in the University: A Practicum. Meetings will be Thursdays at 3 or 4 p.m. depending on participant preference, and if there is enough interest there will be different sections of the course to deal with special skill needs.

Lobbying around issues which are of concern to students will be the topic of another practicum called The Student, Power and Politics: A Practicum which will meet Mondays at 7 p.m. [illegible], course coordinator, said, "we will have a few general skills sessions in the beginning. Group members will then choose their field of interest and pursue this independently, or as a group if others are working in that same area. Some of the topics include rent control, the proposed tuition hike, student unionization, and the proposed budget cuts."

"Students and Post Industrial Capitalism is a seminar to consider the students movements of the 60's and 70's. We will attempt to relate theory and practice of past and present student activism to experience," according to Doug Phelps, course leader and SOP staff coordinator. The format will include readings, and group discussions, and meetings will be Tuesdays, 7 p.m.

All of the courses are for three credits, and students can come to the SOP offices, 428 Student Union Building, or call [illegible] to sign up or get more information.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS FOR RENT

1½, 2 & 2½ ROOMS

$190. — $200. — $210. per. mo.

Includes All Utilities, Air Cond.

Cable T.V., Pool, Parking

Near Shopping and Theaters

Amherst Motel and Apartments

Route 9 — Opp. [illegible]

FRATERNITY RUSH

Sunday, Feb. 2nd, in room 162 of the Campus Center at 7:30 p.m.

Fraternity Rush will officially begin for Spring Semester.

All University Men interested in fraternity membership should attend.

Additional information about this rush can be obtained from the Greek Affairs Office, Room 206 Whitmore, 545-2711

Men's & Women's League being formed.

Sign Up in Bowling Alleys in [illegible] Building

Call 545-2230

Open Bowling, [illegible]

Monday thru Saturday

(except during league play)

THE LODGE

Route 9 - Hadley
Next to McDonald's
Mon.-Fri. 10:00 - 9:00
Sat. 10:00 - 6:00
584-9690

SALE

Denim overalls with detachable bib
Adult sizes $8.95 reg. $14.00
Kid's sizes 8-20 $7.95 reg. $12.00

Heavyweight Flannel Shirts $5.95 reg. $9.00

Men's Dress Pants $4.95 - $8.95

Assorted sale Jeans $6.95

Kid's sweaters 1/3 off

Denim suede boots for women $13.00 originally $24.00

Levi Panatela cords $9.95

An established tradition of quality casual clothing, fair prices and the friendliest of services.

COMEDY FLICKS

featuring

W.C. FIELDS, BUGS BUNNY, THREE STOOGES

ROAD RUNNER, PINK PANTHER

all for 50¢ 7 - 9 - 11

C.C.A. Friday, Jan. 31

I got 10% off on my [illegible] Kawasaki

10% off on all '75 Enduro Kawasaki's and used bikes through Feb. 15th.

Valley Motorsports

[illegible]

Television Tonight

[illegible]

M★A★S★H

Sunday, Feb. 2

7 — 9:30

C.C. Aud.

UMASS

WEEKEND

BUS SERVICE

Beginning Feb. 1st, the UMass buses will be rolling on Saturdays 8 a.m. — 12 mid-nite & Sundays 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Complete schedules available on the buses and at the Campus Center Information desk.

Friday nights ride the Mid-Nite Special

(no weekend service on campus shuttle and Orchard Hill routes)

Come See Peter O' Toole

as "J.C."

and "HIGH VOLTAGE MAN"

in Britain's classic comedy satire

THE RULING CLASS

Sat Night — Feb. 1

7:30 and 10:00

S.U.B.

niversity of massachusetts arts council

presents

EMPIRE BRASS QUINTET

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10

8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 umass students

ON SALE 125 HERTER HALL, U MASS, AMHERST [illegible]

CATCH — 22

plus a

Roadrunner Cartoon

Showings [illegible]

Saturday, Feb. 1 C.C.A.

Film Times

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1,2,3,4,5,6
Abby - Sat., Sun. - 1:30-3:30-5:30-7:40-10
The Towering Inferno - Sat. - 1:00-3:55-7:00-10:15. Sun. - 1:30-4:30-8:15.
Earthquake - Sat., Sun. - 2:00-4:30-7:20-9:55.
The Godfather, Part II - Sat. - 12:00-3:25-7:00-10:35. Sun. - 1:00-4:30-8:00.
Freebie and the Bean - Sat., Sun. - 2:15-4:55-7:30-9:55.
Murder on the Orient Express - Sat., Sun. - 2:00-4:30-7:15-9:40.
MT. FARMS FOUR
Blazing Saddles - 5:15-7:30-9:45.
Harry & Tonto - 5:15-7:30-9:45.
The Man With the Golden Gun - 5:15-7:30-9:45.
Challenge to be Free - 5:00-7:00-9:00.
ACADEMY OF MUSIC
The Man With the Golden Gun - 7:00-9:10.
EASTFIELD MALL CINEMA
Swiss Family Robinson - 1:00-3:30-6:30-8:45.

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 123456
ROUTE 5 RIVERDALE RD. WEST SPFLD. 24HR TEL 733-5131
·CHARGE YOUR TICKETS ON MASTER CHARGE·
Above all... It's a love story.
Alan Arkin
James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
STUDENTS
Use your Showcase I.D. for 50c off for you and a guest.
Abby

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
NOW — 7:00-9:10
ROGER MOORE
JAMES BOND 007
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN"
And this film, only here with a MON.-TUES. Dollar Night

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
Starts February 5
Mt. Farms 4 Theatres

Mat. til 2 p.m. — $1.25
EASTFIELD MALL Cinema
Now Con't. Shows Daily
1:00-3:30-6:30-8:45
WALT DISNEY'S
SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON
TECHNICOLOR® PANAVISION® G
Children $1.25 All Shows

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
① R
MEL BROOKS'
BLAZING SADDLES
From the people who gave you "The Jazz Singer"
5:15-7:30-9:45
Twi-Lite Hour — 4:45-5:15
② R
"★★★★ (HIGHEST RATING). ONE OF THE BEST MOVIES SO FAR THIS YEAR."
— Leonard Harris, WCBS - TV New York
"HARRY & TONTO"
5:15-7:30-9:45
Twi-Lite Hour — 4:45-5:15
③ PG
ROGER MOORE as JAMES BOND 007
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN"
④ G
The greatest wildlife and chase story in the history of the North!
Challenge to be Free
HE BECAME A LEGEND YOU'LL NEVER FORGET...

UP MADISON AVE!!
"PUTNEY SWOPE"
fri. jan. 31 in the s.u.b.
at 7-8:30-10-11:30

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

Your Birthday By Stella Wilder

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31 — Born today, you are one of those naturally wise persons who never attempts to force nature beyond her means, intentions, or speed. You are content to allow things to take whatever time they need for the maturation process to be complete; content to allow the inexplicable to occur so that the understandable can ultimately happen. You make every effort to study whatever issues are set before you for your decision — but you will not attempt to persuade others to take their cues from you; you realize that people are different, and you respect that difference.

An alert, intelligent individual, you are also what is commonly referred to as a "quick study."

* * *

Saturday, February 1

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — So long as you keep your activities out in the open, all should go well. This is definitely not the time for employing secret tactics.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Your most permanent and important aim may well be within your grasp. Don't lose sight of the fact that to win you must share.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — If you are sincere in your relationship with children, you can gain from them all the cooperation you need. Don't sell youngsters short.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Make sure you understand the motivation behind your determination to succeed with a new project. Otherwise, you could take a wrong turn.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Minor issues involving children may demand a great deal of your time today. Be willing to share gains with those who have served well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — If you are wise, you will make every effort to cultivate good will — especially where youngsters are involved. Court the young with praise.

LEO [illegible] — [illegible] unexplored [illegible] may demand exceptional [illegible] if you are to take advantage of it. Be prepared to put your best foot forward — and keep it there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — The whole story is not revealed by the book's cover. Get beneath the surface of events if you would gain full understanding of it!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Use your head. Be at the right place at the right time and you will be able to make the kind of gains you've been hoping for. Don't delay.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Remain objective throughout the day — even when to do so is difficult. Much emotional stress could cause you to lose your calm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Seek a source of inspiration that is close to home. Loved ones may have more than a little influence on the new direction your life takes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Don't forget the family; the [illegible]

ACROSS
1 Pythias's friend
6 Carry
10 Venetian blind part
14 Dumbfound
15 U.S. playwright
16 "Soliloquy" words
17 Settling in a new place
19 Monkeys
20 Game birds
21 Moocher
23 Does business
25 "Little ···" [illegible]
26 Needing water
27 ··· of 1812
29 Quantity of film
31 The head: Slang
33 Paid
34 Tropical American tree
36 City on the [illegible]
[illegible]
45 "Keep your ···"
47 Inverted V
49 Wing
50 Pockmark
52 Timber wolf
53 Tie fabric
54 Inlet
57 Shilling: Slang
59 Kind of eclipse
61 Convince anew
64 Meal
67 Balustrade
68 Superfluity
70 Skin disease
71 At any time
72 Kidney, for one
73 Pour forth
74 Sand mound: Brit.
75 Austere

DOWN
1 [illegible]
2 U.S.A.
3 [illegible]
4 Pure air
5 Invigorating drinks
6 Small portion
7 Patient wife
8 Actress ····· Moorehead
9 Get back
10 Pierce with a dagger
11 Ran easily
12 As grumpy as ····· 13 Irritable
18 Not awake
22 Rapid descent
24 Ice block
27 Purify
28 Water: Sp.
30 Not general
32 Reef
35 Gaius and Tiberius Claudius
37 Align differently
[illegible]
43 Emotionally revived
46 Penpoints
48 Ohio and Spanish cities
51 Vacationed
54 Wall hanging
55 Get to 56 Neighbor of Quebec
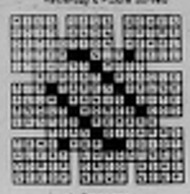
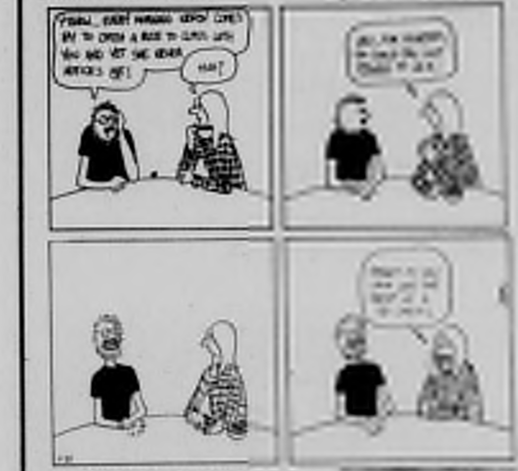
58 Mark over a vowel
60 Separately
62 Two-man bob ····
63 "Rest of [illegible]
[illegible]

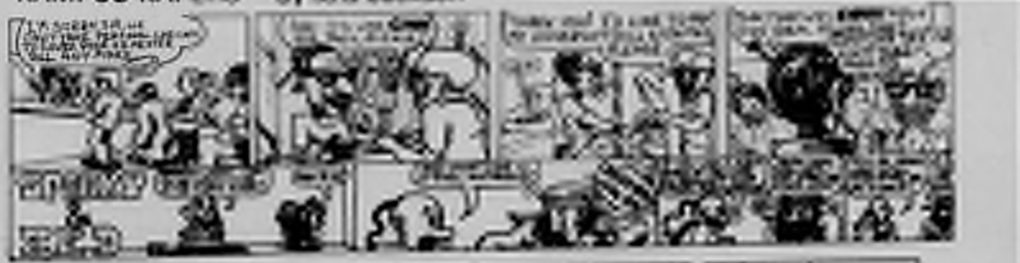
Yesterday's Puzzle Solved

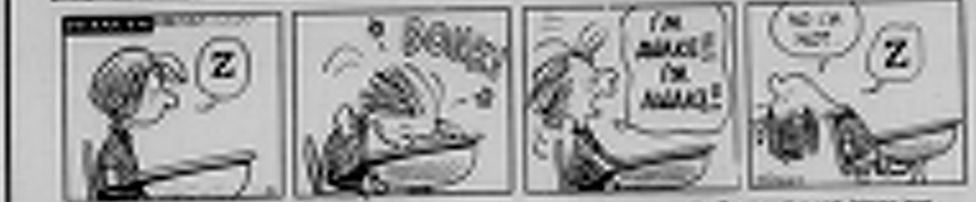


DIZZY & PAUL by Jim Carson

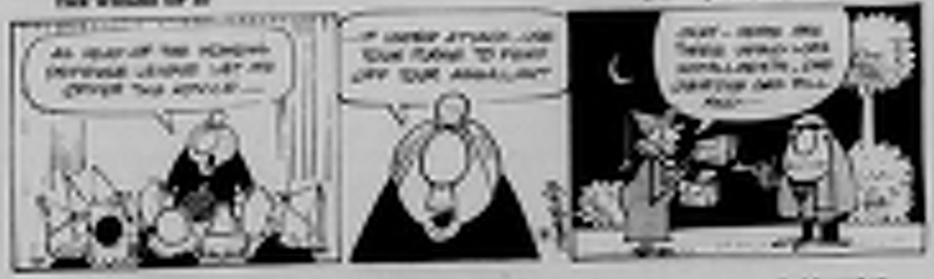


KAMPUS KAPERS by Kris Jackson

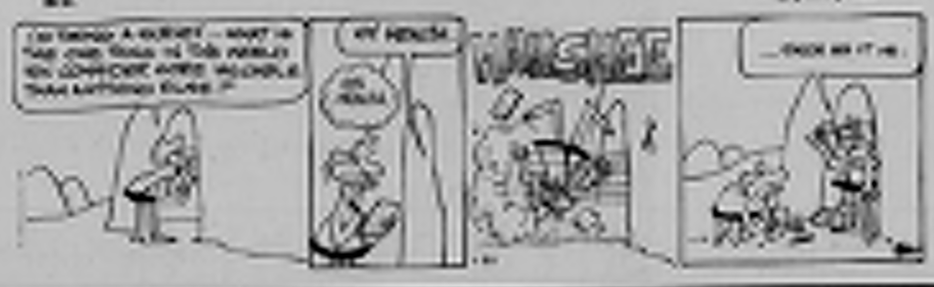




THE WIZARD OF ID by brant parker and johnny hart



B.C. by johnny hart



notices

ALPHA ZETA:
Mandatory meeting for all pledges on Tues. Feb. 4 at 6:30 p.m. in 903 CC. Please bring initiation fee and signature sheets.

AUDITIONS:
Auditions for UMass Music Theatre Guild's Production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" will be held Monday Feb. 3 and Tues. Feb. 4 starting at 6 p.m. in the Colonial Lounge, S.U.. Come prepared with any song.

BELCHERTOWN VOLUNTEERS:
The bus to Belchertown starts running again on Feb. 8. New and past volunteers are urged to come to get to know the residents of Belchertown State School. ?? Call 253-2722.

CHRISTIANS:
Looking for a close, personalized fellowship with other Christians? Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is a small group serving our Lord. We warmly extend [illegible]

[illegible]

MID-NITE SPECIAL

Ride the UMass buses Friday & Saturday nights till 12 mid-night beginning January 31st.

Weekend Service begins Saturday, Feb. 1st, 8 a.m. - 12 mid-night and Sundays 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

[illegible]

Burger balance beam ballet

Photo by [illegible]

Jeannine Burger is caught in mid-air during her third place finish on the balance beam in the Minutewomen's opening season victory over Towson State last Saturday. The men and women gymnasts travel to Penn State to take on the Nittany Lions in a dual meet this weekend.

Orr paces Bruins

BOSTON (UPI) — Bobby Orr's third hat trick of the year sparked the Boston Bruins to an easy 8-0 win Thursday night over the California Golden Seals.

Gilles Gilbert scored his second shutout of the year, the first coming last October, also against California.

REFRIGERATOR RENTALS

Phone 256-8433 for reservation

3 cu. ft.

$30 semester
$10 security
.90 tax
$40.90 cost

SCHEDULE
Friday
3-6 Southwest
7-8 Sylvan
8-9 N.E.

Saturday
9-10 Central
10-11 Orchard
11-12 Sylvan
3-4 Southwest
4-5 Orchard
5-6 N.E.
Look for U-Haul Truck

CREATIVE CONVENIENCES

Trackmen trek to NU

By SCOTT HAYES

Most sports enthusiasts will agree that winning comes as a result of practice. Tomorrow afternoon at the Northeastern track, the theory may receive some backing as the UMass trackmen challenge a powerful NU squad.

The Huskies, beaten only once in four meets, have been practicing together for the past three weeks. UMass, on the other hand, has not competed as a team for nearly two months (since December 7). More importantly, most team members have not had a formal practice in six weeks, due to intersession.

Northeastern, co-favorite along with Boston College to win the indoor New Englands, should provide a stiff test for the regrouping Minutemen. [illegible]

[illegible] prepare for the IC4A Championships, which require solid showings in two consecutive meets.

[illegible], school recordholder in the pole vault, is expected to battle [illegible] of NU, whose best is also [illegible], for first place honors. NU boasts two of New England's best sprinters in [illegible] and [illegible], who will be racing against [illegible] of UMass. In the hurdles, [illegible] and NU's [illegible], a third place finisher two years ago in the New Englands, are the favorites.

[illegible] of NU will face opposition in the 600-yard run from [illegible] and teammate John Richards. The Huskies are strong in the middle distances with six runners capable of competing in several different [illegible] [illegible] exceptional depth in the middle distance events.

Coach Ken O'Brien is simply "awaiting the team's performance after the layoff."

Northeastern holds a 3-1 record, a mark identical to that of the Minutemen. The Huskies beat Holy Cross, Boston University and St. John's, while losing to Harvard.

Correction

[illegible]

Notice

[illegible]

Winter Clearance Sale
30 - 50% off
THOMPSON'S
[illegible]

while you were away...

[illegible]

Come in and look around.
We may surprise you.

[illegible]

UNIVERSITY STORE campus center

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Joel James is flying high, as is most of the men's gymnastic team (pictured above), when the results of their one point victory over Army was posted.

UM wrestlers in tri-match

By JOHN BOCK

The UMass Minutemen travel to New London, Connecticut tomorrow for their first appearance in New England since returning from their tri-match road trip. Their opponents will be the Bears of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy and the Blue Devils of Columbia University.

[illegible]

JV courtmen overpower New Hampton 95-73

[illegible]

Gymwomen at Penn State; in double dual meet

By BILL DOYLE

The UMass women's gymnastics team travels to the wild confines of Penn State's Rec Hall to participate in a UMass first, a "double dual meet", in which both the women's and the men's gym teams will be meeting the Nittany Lions simultaneously at 8:00 p.m. Saturday.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Pitt, Penn State for men

[illegible]

WMUA
[illegible]
91.1 FM

WESTERN AUTO
[illegible]
SUPER SALE
[illegible]
WESTERN AUTO

Joe Artime (34) attempts to get closer to [illegible] with a leap through the air in last night's [illegible] UNH. Four New Hampshire defenders circle [illegible] contest won by UM [illegible].

Minutemen dominate as Murphy nets 19

By STEVE SARACENO

Those guys know how to keep things interesting. Even after UMass blew out to an early 28-8 advantage over New Hampshire last night at the Cage — thus sentencing the capacity crowd to 30 minutes of trash-time play — the Minutemen still managed to keep everyone entertained en route to an [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Pros for Coburn?

By BILL DOYLE

Tom Coburn, holder of UMass soccer records for most career goals and points, has been drafted recently by both pro soccer leagues.

On Jan. 19, the Miami Toros of [illegible]

[illegible]

"I really don't think that there's a [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Inside Sports

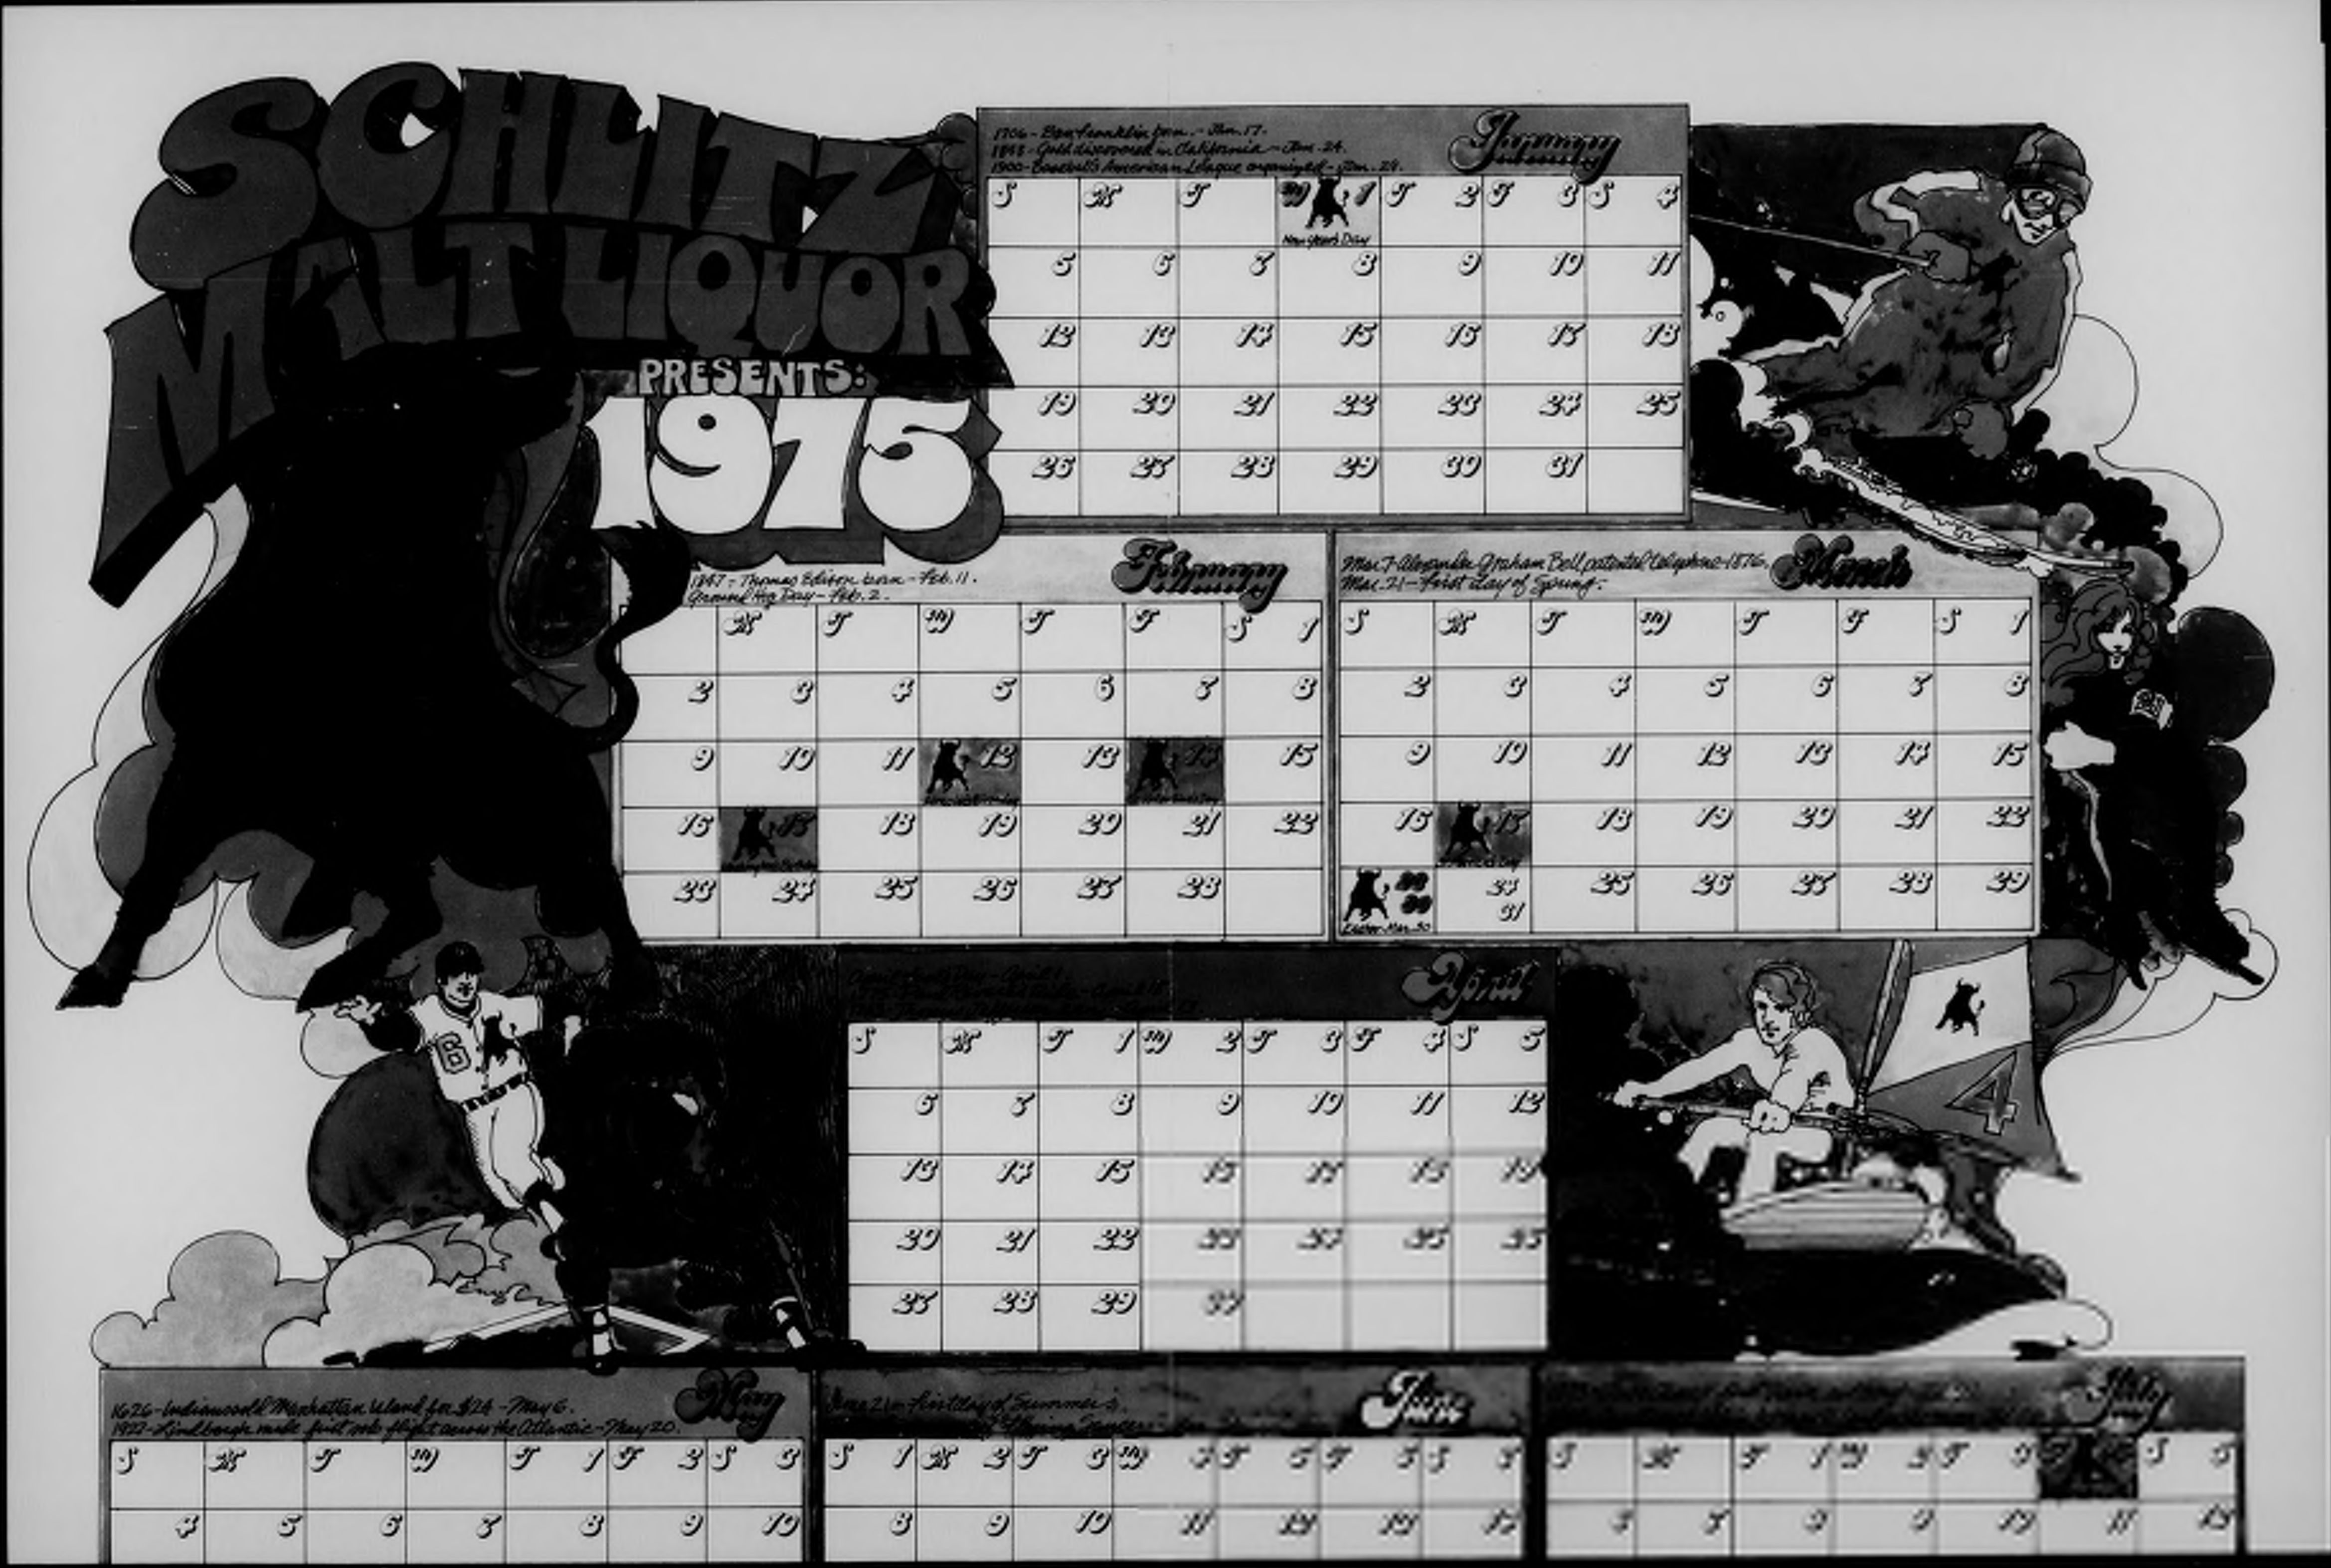
[illegible]

[illegible]

Hockey squad at Cen; host Colgate and AIC

[illegible]

[illegible]



SCHLITZ MALT LIQUOR

PRESENTS:

1975

January

1706 - Ben Franklin born - Jan. 17.
1848 - Gold discovered in California - Jan. 24.
1900 - Baseball's American League organized - Jan. 29.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
			1 New Year's Day	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31

February

1847 - Thomas Edison born - Feb. 11.
Ground Hog Day - Feb. 2.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12 Lincoln's Birthday	13	14 Valentine's Day	15
16	17 Washington's Birthday	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28

March

Mar. 7 - Alexander Graham Bell patented telephone - 1876.
Mar. 21 - First day of Spring.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17 St. Patrick's Day	18	19	20	21	22
23 30 Easter - Mar. 30	24 31	25	26	27	28	29

April

April Fool's Day - April 1
[illegible]

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
		1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30

May

1626 - Indians sold Manhattan Island for $24 - May 6.
1927 - Lindbergh made first solo flight across the Atlantic - May 20.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10

June

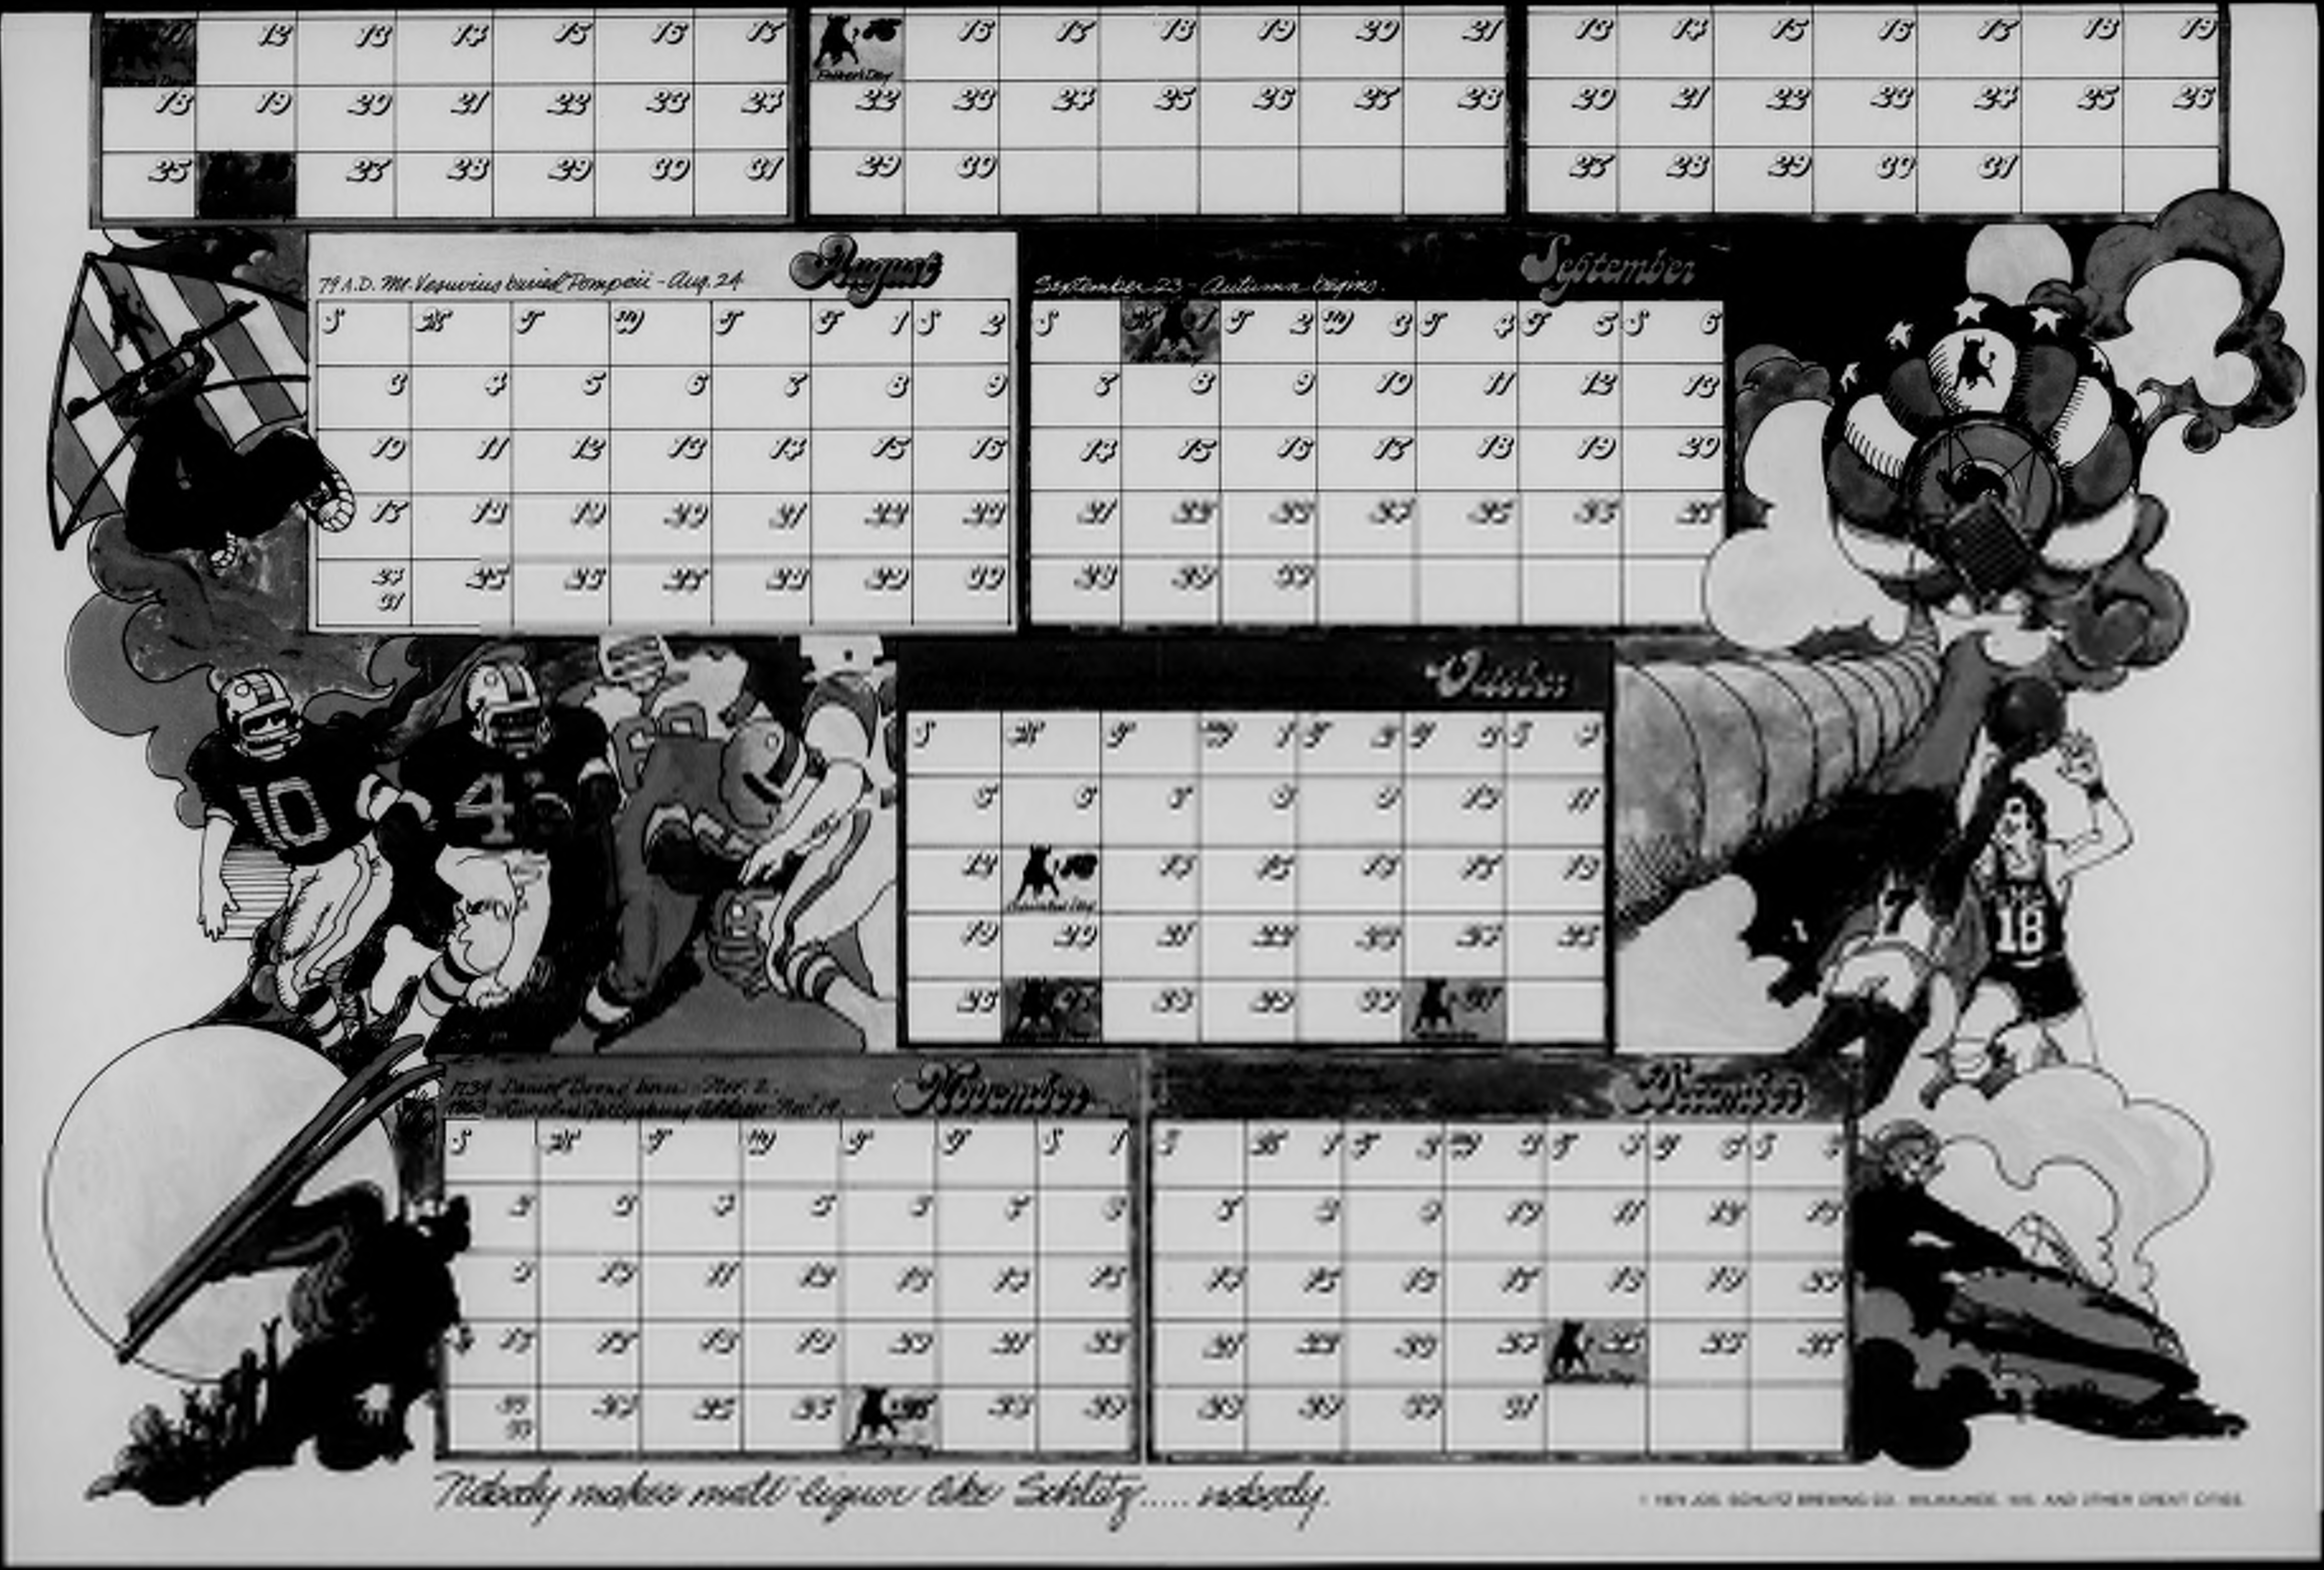
June 21 - First day of Summer.
[illegible]

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14

July

[illegible]

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
		1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12



11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25		27	28	29	30	31

15 Father's Day	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30

13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31

August

79 A.D. Mt. Vesuvius buried Pompeii - Aug. 24

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
					1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24 31	25	26	27	28	29	30

September

September 23 - Autumn begins.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30

October

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
			1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12	13 Columbus Day	14	15	16	17	18
19	20	21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30	31

November

1734 Daniel Boone born - Nov. 2.
1863 Lincoln's Gettysburg Address - Nov. 19.

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23 30	24	25	26	27	28	29

December

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

Nobody makes malt liquor like Schlitz..... nobody.

© 1974 JOS. SCHLITZ BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS. AND OTHER GREAT CITIES.

Allen denies guilt in funds misuse

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

Former School of Education Dean Dwight W. Allen, who resigned last week, says he knows of "no culpability" on his own part in allegations of misuse of funds at the School.

But Allen said he will take responsibility if audits of the School eventually show wrongdoing.

"Perhaps errors were made, perhaps by me, perhaps by others", Allen told about 140 faculty senators last Thursday at a meeting in the School of Business Administration auditorium. Also, at the meeting were Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery, Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Robert L. Gluckstern, Assoc. Provost David C. Bischoff and acting School of Education Dean Earl Seidman.

Allen said he realized that his style of leadership may "have created opportunities for excess", but he said whatever may have happened in the School were "excesses and not a matter of intention."

However, Allen said it would be foolish not to admit "that the present audit was a prime consideration in my resignation." Allen resigned last Wednesday.

Allen's comments came in a brief speech made to senators at their regular meeting after they voted to suspend regular procedures in order to hear him. After the speech, there was a "question period" where faculty senators asked Allen, Bromery, Gluckstern questions about the current allegations at the School.

Bromery told the faculty senators that he will not respond to press reports about misuse of funds at the School, and that he believes published allegations "may be the result of the attitude of one particular reporter."

"I think this institution is far ahead of responding to allegations in an outside journal, and I don't intend to get trapped into that.

Bromery said that many of the events at the School have been "turned around in the newspaper," and in reference to The Gazette, added, "but knowing the newspaper, I'm sure it was not intentional."

Political Science asst. prof. Eric Einhorn said, "We should not ignore the crusade of one particular person, nor should we ignore it on the basis of objective facts."

Howard M. Ziff, assoc. Prof. of journalistic Studies, asked Bromery if the published accounts warrented more than just an "internal" UMass audit and suggested establishing a special investigation on campus independent of the administration.

"I think if I thought the fish was that big, would," Bromery said, adding: "If I thought the public confidence would best be served by an outside audit I would have, and I still reserve the right to do that."

The disclosures by The Hampshire Gazette, a Northampton afternoon daily newspaper, that up to $120,000 may have been misused at the School were followed by announcements by Hampshire-Franklin County District Attorney John M. Callahan and Attorney Francis X. Belloti that a coordinated state and federal probe will be launched after the University completes its own investigation.

At one point, Allen was asked by Prof. Sidney F. Wexler of Hispanic Languages if he knew of "nefarious things going on at the School."

turn to page 6

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE [illegible]
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE 3
AMHERST, MA
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1975

Weather

Large orange ball slated to enter in east. Should continue uninterrupted. Arctic clothing should be worn, however.

Daniels gets retrial

By JAN ALEXANDER
Staff Reporter

A 30 year old Belchertown State School resident with a mind of a "nine year old", who was convicted in February 1973 of stabbing an [illegible] year old woman to death, will soon stand trial again.

UMass professor Benjamin Ricci, president of the Belchertown State School Friends Association, the group which paid for Daniels' defense, said this weekend that the trial "is an extremely significant case with national implications."

The state's highest court overturned the Russell Daniels conviction last month, stating in a 17 page opinion that Daniels "was a victim of a miscarriage of justice".

February 28 has been set as the hearing date for presentation of pre-trial motions under police questioning than a person of normal intelligence.

The court also said that evidence that Daniels had spent half his life at Belchertown State School was not introduced at the trial, and could have made the difference between conviction and acquittal.

"The students who got involved in this will gain national attention," Ricci said. As a result of efforts by UMass students enrolled in Ricci's "Society and the Outcast" course last April, Gov. Francis Sargent transferred Daniels from Norfolk State Prison to Belchertown.

The students' campaign for Daniels' transfer involved massive letter writing to government officials and the press. Their work culminated in a three hour wait for an audience with Sargent at the State House. At the time, the Governor refused to meet with the group, claiming they were concerned with ceremony rather than issues.

Eventually, the transfer was made through the use of a little known legal statute, and according to Ricci was "the only time this has ever happened in Massachusetts".

Daniels, who has the reputation of being a hard worker with a cheerful disposition, has spent half his life in Belchertown.

He had been released in 1972, was living on his own in an apartment in Springfield and working in the kitchen at Springfield College. Police arrested him in August for the murder of [illegible], a widow who lived in Daniels' apartment building.

After several hours of intensive questioning, the police typed out a "confession" which Daniels could neither read nor understand when it was read to him. Daniels signed the confession.

Ricci said this was "the only evidence" which the mentally retarded man was convicted on. The Supreme Court opinion stated that his retardation could make Daniels "more suggestible and subject to intimidation" under police questioning than a person of normal intelligence.

The court also said that evidence that Daniels had spent half his life at Belchertown State School was not introduced at the trial, and could have made the difference between conviction and acquittal.

Defense attorneys Howard Alperin and Beryl Cohen of Boston are expected to offer a pre-trial motion to suppress the confession as evidence, based on the argument that the statement was unconstitutionally obtained.

A similar motion was filed by Daniels' lawyer, J. Arthur Hickerson, before the 1973 trial. That motion was denied without explanation by Judge J. George [illegible], who presided over the trial. Its use was also upheld by the Supreme Court.

Hickerson, a Springfield attorney who was criticized for his handling of the first trial, said he hoped there would not be a new trial.

"I don't think they have any more to go on now than they had before," he said.

Daniels' brother Alo, claims that Springfield police have refused to follow up leads that another man besides his brother committed the murder.

"The guy is out there," Alo Daniels said. "I don't understand how they let him go out." Daniels said he is willing to go before a grand jury to tell what he knows from his own investigation.

Belchertown Superintendent William Jones says he believes Daniels can make it on his own in the outside world.

"He needs a new job, a new apartment, and to be resocialized, but he's already demonstrated he can live on his own in the community and it is my feeling he's as capable as ever of doing it," Jones said.

Staff Photo by [illegible]

The true indication of dedication. The semester is only four days old and Peter Kalas is already spending his time out of the sun and in the flourescence of the University Library.

Callahan, Belloti to continue School of Ed investigation

By DONNA RUSSO
Staff Reporter

District Attorney John M. Callahan will meet with State Attorney General Francis X. Belloti, sometime this week to continue the investigation concerning alleged misuse of funds in the School of Education. Area papers had reported the meeting would take place today, but Peter Lucas, press secretary for Belloti said last night Belloti would be in Washington D.C. today and the meeting will be held later in the week.

Callahan and Belloti first met on the issue a week and a half ago, according to Lucas, when the financial report covering the audit was first delivered to Belloti. At that time Callahan and Belloti met with John Grein from the Attorney General's office and James Gabriel, U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts to coordinate the investigation.

According to Lucas, the only material concerning the School of Ed turned over to Belloti was the financial report.

In another School of Ed development, Earl Seidman, acting dean in Dwight Allen's absence, submitted his resignation last Thursday to Associate Provost David Bischoff.

However, Bischoff said the resignation has not been accepted yet. Seidman and Bischoff said "was taking a much deserved rest this weekend", and could not be reached for comment.

Provost Robert Gluckstern, contacted by the Collegian last night said the "Cabinet is still weighing options" concerning the replacement of Seidman. The School of Ed Cabinet, which consists of seven faculty members and one graduate student, will conduct the search for the new acting dean.

According to Gluckstern, they will be looking for someone either in the School of Ed or other departments of the University "with some administrative experience". "People feel recent events show a need for administrative order", said Gluckstern.

He added the immediate search will be contained within the University.

Campus recycling project temporarily halted

By P.J. PROKOP
Staff Reporter

The University of Massachusetts has discontinued recycling paper as of Jan. 1. [illegible]

[illegible]

Firemen gently lift the unconscious form of Michael [illegible]

N.Y., D.C. Outreach program offers unique learning experience

The Outreach program at UMass is a 15 credit semester internship allowing students to work off campus on a job in their prospective field. [illegible]

[illegible]

Amherst frat gutted by fire

[illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

AUDITIONS

[illegible]

Gilbert and Sullivan's

Pirates of Penzance

Monday, February 3

Tuesday, February 4

Starting at 8 p.m.

Colonial Lounge, Student Union

[illegible]

Fast food chain here?

news analysis

[illegible]

The UMass campus may be joining the growing number of universities and colleges seeking salvation from run-away food service costs by turning to nationally franchised "quick food" services.

[illegible]

A [illegible] easy feat.

Despite money problems

Student admissions remain stable

[illegible]
Staff Reporter

Despite the economic problems of inflation and recession, the admission of incoming students at UMass this January has remained constant, according to preliminary estimates by the directors of [illegible]

[illegible]

Bike repair co-op to open

[illegible]

New environment major proposed

[illegible]

Ford to submit $349 billion budget today

Conservatives, Liberals upset

[illegible]

Legal abortions jump sharply in two years after court ruling

[illegible]

Punxsutawney Phil sees shadow

[illegible]

Oil import tax, food stamp cuts face test in Congress this week

[illegible]

Church urges CIA, FBI help

[illegible]

NOW TWICE AS BIG
The Mercantile
CLOTHING GIFTS
CARDS POSTERS BEADS
11 E. PLEASANT ST. 549-1296
(Next Door to Where We Were)

university of massachusetts arts council
presents

SENIOR
Feb 3-14
PORTRAITS sign up outside the Index Office
SU 409
Or Call
545-2874

[illegible]

Dukakis to file deficiency budget

Welfare requests to come in future

[illegible]

Wisconsin Indians agree to leave abbey

[illegible]

Antiwar group says US at fault in Viet

[illegible]

news summary

USSR protests

[illegible]

FAA reforms urged

[illegible]

CAMP COUNSELOR OPENINGS
UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS
GRADUATE STUDENTS and FACULTY MEMBERS
THE ASSOCIATION OF PRIVATE CAMPS
[illegible]
Write, Phone, or Call in Person
Association of Private Camps — Dept. C
[illegible]

— WE NEED YOU —

[illegible]

UMASS
[illegible]
AMHERST
[illegible]
MT. HOLYOKE
[illegible]
SMITH
[illegible]
HAMPSHIRE
[illegible]

Never Been Satisfied
With University Housing . . . .
[illegible]
BRITTANY MANOR

WMUA
[illegible]
91.1 FM

The same routine happens every semester. The computer doesn't know you and you have no classes. Your car was towed, you have no room and are stuck at the Amherst Motel. Don't let it get your goat. Follow this guy's example — Rock Out!

Allen denies guilt in fund misuse

cont. from p. 1

Allen said, "I was unaware of any of the activities which have been mentioned in the current investigation."

The former Dean said that he had delegated responsibility for fiscal management of the School to Asst. Dean for Administration Bob H. Suzuki. He said it was Suzuki's responsibility to keep campus administrators informed about funds use at the School.

But, Allen said, "If there was misuse of funds in the School of Education, I must take accountability even if my accountability was in delegating it."

Questions and comments from faculty senators appeared to center around fears that widespread publicity of School of Education investigations could damage the entire University.

"The integrity of the University community is called into question," said Sen. W. Brian O'Connor, a zoology assoc. professor.

"I have grown to dread going home at night and reading what's said in the Daily Hampshire Gazette," O'Connor said.

The newspaper, in an ongoing series of stories written by Jonathan Nauman since December, has disclosed wide-ranging questionable practices in a number of federally-funded programs.

Allen said the School, during his leadership, had successfully attracted both traditional and non-traditionally oriented students. He defended to faculty what he termed some of the most controversial policies he instituted:

—He said a "broader" admissions system — admitting those with superior academic qualifications alongside those with disadvantaged backgrounds — had been a success.

He said students admitted either way were able to "seek, attract and hold responsible positions after graduation."

—He said the School's lack of a "common core of course work" for all students allowed pursuit of individualized programs.

He said that student-determined courses of study are "in the main admirable" although occasionally students "rip you off" and pursue non-challenging programs.

He said "the evidence is" that only about five percent of students on independent study "have not taken independent study seriously" and have gained academic credit for little work.

Among other principles criticized by traditional academicians, Allen said, were the premise that graduate students "can teach faculty something about educational innovation." In the School, he said, graduate students are allowed to teach other graduate students.

Allen also claimed that policies established by the School of Ed in the late sixties are now being practiced by the entire University. He said some of the policies were:

—the use of non-confidential files and recommendations —"affirmative action", or fair treatment for minorities and women.

—open grievance procedures for dissident faculty —de-emphasis on grading as a way of measuring learning.

Sexist media, say women

By JUNE [illegible]
Staff Reporter

A feminist communication coalition has been formed on campus to coordinate and disseminate women's issues and women's news stories. Women representing different communication sources within the university met at a communication's workshop sponsored by the Everywoman's Center to discuss [illegible] form a media blitz on women's issues by coordinating activities and sharing information in three media on campus, the Progressive News Service, Sunday News Collective on the radio station WMUA and the Collegian.

[illegible]

The Progressive News Service could be an outlet for radical women to take advantage of its purpose is to give groups involved in social change [illegible] women who are [illegible] because they have not gained recognition. The solutions for these problems are training women to be technicians and commentators on radio and disseminating information to them on how they can obtain a FCC license.

[illegible]

The Collegian was criticized for not having more women in higher editorial positions and for not [illegible]

[illegible]

EUROPE BOUND IN '75

[illegible]

HOLY CROSS FATHERS

a community of men among the community of man

[illegible]

WMUA

News Dept. Meeting

Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975

8:00 p.m.

Rm. 176 S.U.

All those interested people and women are urged to attend!

university of massachusetts arts council presents

WAST SA THEATER COMPANY

PRESENTS ORNETTE BY CLAY GOSS

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 7 1975
8PM BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 umass students

ON SALE 125 HERTER HALL UMASS AMHERST [illegible]

WMUA hosts activist

Immediately following tonight's 10 p.m. News, WMUA (UMass radio, 91.1 FM) will broadcast excerpts of remarks by Ngo Cong Duc, one of the leaders of the non-communist "Third Force" in South Vietnam, who was recently expelled from that country because of his political activity against the Thieu government.

Duc's comments, taped earlier this morning during an appearance in the UMass Campus Center, are being aired as a special feature of "Focus," WMUA's weekly public affairs series.

Duc was editor-in-chief of a leading popular Vietnamese newspaper, Tin Sang (Morning News), and published editorials calling for the withdrawal of U.S. military forces from Vietnam. The newspaper was closed down by the Thieu government in 1972 and Duc escaped a three-year prison sentence by fleeing to Sweden.

Duc is currently on a speaking tour in the [illegible] groups.

Attention 5 College, RSO groups

The Office of Senate Communications, Room 420, S.U., announced that any RSO or Five college group that was not listed in Wednesday's Collegian should submit a description of their group including the name, the goals, meeting times and places, names and addresses of officers and number of members to their office.

Television Tonight

[illegible]

Berkeley to talk on directing

Ed Berkeley, a staff director for Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival, will lead an informal discussion on directing for the stage today in the University Theater's main auditorium located within the new Fine Arts Complex. Students and faculty of the Five College Area are invited to attend.

The discussion begins at 8:00 p.m. Faculty members are invited to remain for a brief coffee hour following Mr. Berkeley's address.

[illegible]

notes, quotes

Judaic Studies course offered

A new [illegible] offered in Judaic Studies [illegible]

Radio

WMUA

Here is what WMUA, 91.1 FM, will be doing today:

[illegible]

On WFCR

[illegible]

Looking for a Science Core Elective?

M.A.E. 105 (E)

Energy and Man

MWF 11:15 a.m. Marston 132

Schedule No. [illegible]

Orchard Hill Registration [illegible] 101 Field House

[illegible]

BOC classifieds sell?

Rape line 545-COPS

Men's & Women's [illegible]

[illegible]

Letters to the editor

Advice and dissent

To the Editor:

[illegible]

[illegible]

Another side of the housing problem

To the Editor:

Regarding the issue of mandatory dorm residence:

[illegible]

[illegible]

Veterinary school a better alternative

To the Editor:

[illegible]

[illegible]

What are we paying for?

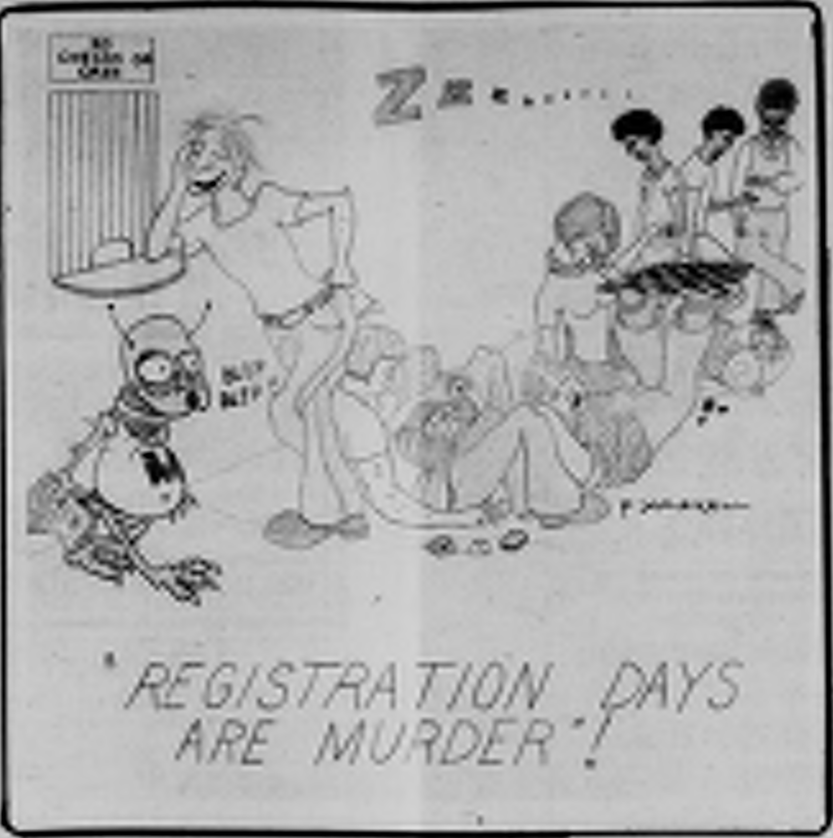
To the Editor:

[illegible]

[illegible]

Letters Policy

[illegible]



Zzz......
"REGISTRATION DAYS ARE MURDER"!

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

UMass: Big business

[illegible]

[illegible]

Luis Medina

Fight inflation together

President Ford has become leader of the nation during one of it's most crucial times. [illegible]

[illegible]

"This land is your land this land is our land."

Luis Manuel Medina is a Collegian Columnist

Ford: Running out of gas

By [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Notable quote

[illegible]

Tide Detergent 79¢
Heinz Ketchup 49¢
Solid White Tuna 49¢
Maxwell House Coffee 89¢
Stop & Shop Orange Juice 39¢

Make a prize-winning pizza and share $1,000 in scholarships in our Teen Recipe Contest!

When you make pizza ... anything goes!
See Seventeen Magazine! [illegible]

Stop & Shop

Stock up for the Chinese New Year.

Banquet Dinners 49¢
John's Pizza 69¢
Ice Cream $1.19
Cottage Cheese Stop & Shop 49¢
Big Daisy Bread 41¢

"Quality-Protected" Naturally Aged Beef
Beef Chuck Blade Steak 49¢ lb
Simply Super, uniformly good every time!
Ground Beef 79¢ lb
"Quality-Protected" Beef Naturally Aged for Tenderness
Beef Rib Steak Large End $1.39
Beef Rib Eye Steak
Beef Rib Roast-Large End
Beef Chuck Shoulder Steak
Breaded & Cubed Veal Steaks
Chopped & Cubed Veal Steaks
Rath Sausage Meat-1 lb. roll 69¢
Pastromi 79¢
Sliced Cold Cuts 49¢
Roast Beef 79¢
Bacon $1.19
Chicken or Beef Pies 69¢
Turbot Fillets 69¢

Specials for the heads of the family.
Breck Shampoo $1.29
Revlon Hair Spray 2 for $1
Rise Shave Cream 69¢
Trac II Blades Gillette 79¢
Toothbrushes Tek Adult 6 for $1
Aim Toothpaste 79¢
Efferdent Tablets 99¢
Modess Sanitary Napkins 99¢
Florida Temple Oranges 12 for 59¢
Maine Russet Baking Potatoes 5 lb. bag 59¢
Green Peppers Fresh Florida 39¢ lb.
Tomatoes Florida 49¢ lb.
Stop & Shop wants to be your Food Stamp Store.

Dr. Owen to guest speak

[illegible]

news roundup

New Student Senate Spring schedule

[illegible]

Swanson named new acting botany department head

[illegible]

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY
Hiatt Institute — Israel

Year Program or Fall Term only — Also open to qualified students for the Spring Term only

Juniors and Seniors eligible

Earn 16 credits per semester

Financial Aid Available

Application Deadlines:
MARCH 15 for Fall and Year
NOVEMBER 1st for Spring

For Information Write:
The Jacob Hiatt Institute
BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY
Waltham, Massachusetts 02154

Kosher meal plan available this semester

[illegible]

Workshop offered in relations

[illegible]

Parking enforced

[illegible]

S'west women's center offers courses

[illegible]

N.E.S.
Tutoring in Springfield

Recruitment Meeting
Wednesday, February 5
7:30 p.m. Room 804-8 C.C.

Tutoring on a one-to-one basis
one or more times a week
Credit available

If you are interested in working with kids,
please attend this very important meeting.

Education — Involvement — Alternatives

N.E.S. office: 426A Student Union

Tel. no.: 545-0575

artist supplies

the art store within a store

UNIVERSITY STORE

notices

AUDITIONS
Auditions for UMass Music Theatre Guild's Production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" will be held tonight and tomorrow, Feb. 4 starting at 6 p.m. in Colonial Lounge, S.U. Come prepared to sing.

CASIAC TUTORING
Don't wait, til it's too late! CASIAC has tutors for all subjects. For more info. see Janis E 28a Machmer or call 545-2191, 2192.

DIRECTOR ED BERKELEY
Ed Berkeley, co-founder of the Off-Off Broadway theater The Shade Company and now staff director for Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival, will lead a discussion on directing for the theater tonight at 8 in the Theater's Dept. main aud.

DVP MEETING
There will be a meeting of the Distinguished Visitors Program tonight at 5:30 in C.C. 904.

GAMMA SIGMA SIGMA
There will be a meeting 6:30 p.m., C.C. 905-909.

HOUSE CHURCH — UCF
A House Church is neither building nor institution; it's a group of people getting together for a combination of spiritual inquiry and personal encounter. Meeting tonight at Lee Beaty's, apt. 28, Presidential Apts. 8 p.m. For info or ride call UCF 545-2661.

INTERESTED IN FASHION?
If you're interested in fashion and want to get involved come to the meeting Tues. night, Feb. 4 7:30, Skinner Hall, 119. We have a lot to catch up on from last semester and a lot to discuss. All new people welcome. Questions, 546-9622.

INTER VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Come and fellowship with us and our Lord Jesus Christ! Come and meet us tonite at 7:30 in C.C. 811-815.

JUDO
The Judo Club meets on Tues. Thrs. at 7 p.m. in Boyden 237. Beginners as well as advance people are welcome. P.E. credit is available. For info call Adam 546-6586.

NEW COURSE OFFERING
Multicultural Curriculum Analysis and Development Educational Policy Studies

turn to page 13

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S
FANTASIA
Starts February 5
Mt. Farms 4 Theatres

Film Times

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1,2,3,4,5,6
Abby - 7:40-10
The Towering Inferno - 8:15.
Sensurround - 7:30-9:45.
The Godfather Part II - 8:00.
Freebie and the Bean - 7:30-9:50.
Murder on the Orient Express - 7:30-9:45.

MT. FARMS FOUR
Blazing Saddles - 6:15-8:30.
Harry & Tonto - 6:15-8:30.
The Man With the Golden Gun - 6:15-8:30.
Challenge to be Free - 6:15-8:30.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
The Man With the Golden Gun - 7:00-9:10.

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR 584-9153
MEL BROOKS'
BLAZING SADDLES
1
R
6:15-8:30
2
"HARRY & TONTO"
6:15-8:30
ROGER MOORE
JAMES BOND 007
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN" 3
PG
6:15-8:30
Challenge to be Free
G
4
6:15-8:30

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1·2·3·4·5·6
The Devil is her Lover Now!
Abby
The Godfather PART II
THE TOWERING INFERNO IS A WINNER. THE BEST PURE ESCAPISM
STEVE McQUEEN
PAUL NEWMAN
WILLIAM HOLDEN
FAYE DUNAWAY
THE TOWERING INFERNO
Alan Arkin
James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS' IS A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!"
An Event...

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
— NOW — 7:00 & 9:10
and Monday & Tuesday IS DOLLAR NIGHT!!
ROGER MOORE
JAMES BOND 007

THREE STOOGES
IN DUTIFUL BUT DUMB
POP GOES THE EASEL
THREE LITTLE PIRATES
(ALL w/CURLY!) HORSE COLLARS

PLUS
ROADRUNNER
WOODY WOODPECKER

MONDAY FEB 3 S.U.B.
7-9-11 50¢

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay

[illegible]

FOR SALE

[illegible]

Your Birthday By Stella Wilder

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3 — Born today, you are extraordinarily self-disciplined. Inclined to become bored rather quickly with routine activity, you learned early to make yourself do — and do well — those things necessary to your daily existence, whether or not the doing of them excites you. Such beginnings of self-discipline ultimately grow into a strong, durable character trait and become, to all intents and purposes, the guiding principle of your life. You are in need of variety, of change — but you can wait for the right time and the right place for experiencing either. Here, again, self-discipline helps.

You appear to others to be the epitome of quiet reservation.

* * *

Tuesday, February 4

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Make an effort to bring your ideas to the attention of those who can help you transform them into action. Speak your mind freely.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Things should be looking up on the home front, especially during evening hours when friends provide answers to a few old questions. Rest at evening.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Don't allow yourself to react in a jealous fashion to another's success. You can create an atmosphere of calm necessary to the enjoyment of attainment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — This is not the day for making career advancement. On the other hand, you can maintain the status quo if you take care not to lose your head.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Prearranged schedules may have to go by the board this morning. The day's activities may well have to be considered as they occur, not in advance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Adjust to disappointment quickly or you may find it difficult to adjust at all. There is [illegible]

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — [illegible] ing an appearance before the public, this could be your "lucky" day. An unpleasant situation can be reversed in the afternoon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You have a goal; pull out all the stops in your efforts to achieve it. Don't allow another to get the jump on you early in the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — This day is not very likely to be a routine one. Excitement and confusion early in the day make it impossible for peace to reign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — You could well benefit in the long run from what you take to be a disappointing, even discouraging turn of events. Take the long view of things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You can pull ahead of the crowd today — if you are willing to make an all-out effort to use your talents where they are needed most.

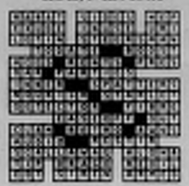
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Keep things running smoothly both at home and on [illegible]

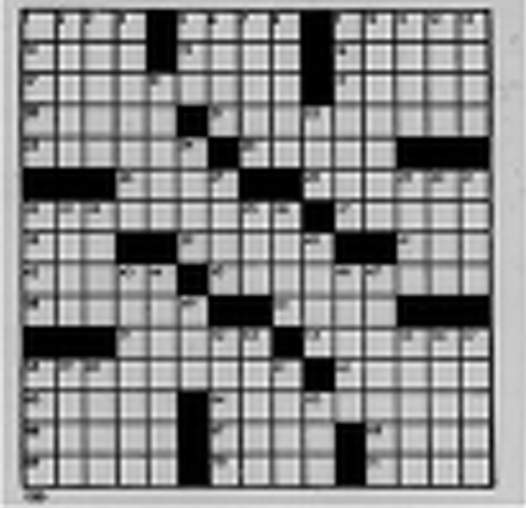
[illegible]

ACROSS
1 Bit of horn tissue
5 Get ---- deal
9 Fruit jelly
14 French river
15 Miss Turner
16 Alarm
17 Believers in the inevitable
19 European city
20 Spanish city
21 Broke
23 Keepsakes
25 Business place
26 Letters
28 Wise teacher
32 Freedoms
37 Fabric
38 Santa ----
39 Be in accord
41 Old English coin
42 Oafs
[illegible]
48 Gets going
50 Semester
51 Messrs. Ampler and Sevareid
54 Breakfast
58 Certain horse races
62 Opera
63 ---- in the dark
64 Storm
66 Emotional condition
67 American Indian
68 Bird
69 Disliked much
70 Tennis units
71 Small spots

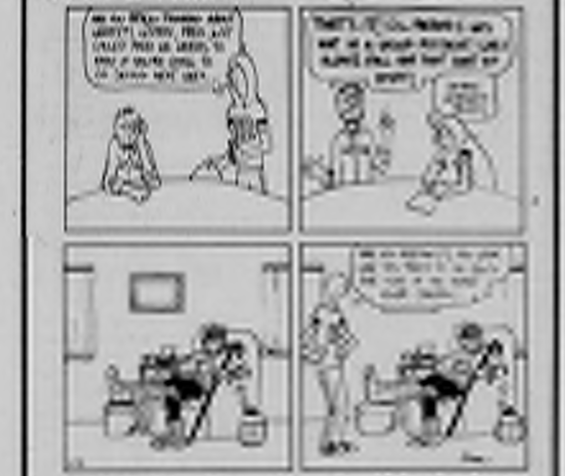
Down
1 "----, ---- so good"
2 [illegible]
[illegible]
4 Comprehend correctly
5 Fatima's husband
6 Tool
7 Pays up
8 Negative contraction
9 Has hopes
10 Kind of triangle
11 Cut down
12 Flower
13 Levy
18 Shoe tier
22 ---- de plume
24 Stiff hair
27 Relieved sound
29 Walked over
30 Monster
31 Back
32 Girl
33 "What's ---- for me?"
34 Southern State: informal
35 [illegible]
36 [illegible]
40 German river
43 Come before
44 ---- bass: N. Amer. fish
46 Greek island
47 Applied as compulsory
49 Urge to chase
52 Containers
53 [illegible]
55 Houston ballplayer
56 Fragrance
57 Weedy plants
58 Meat dish
59 Can. prov.
60 Well arranged
61 Tailor's [illegible]
65 [illegible]

Saturday's Puzzle Solved

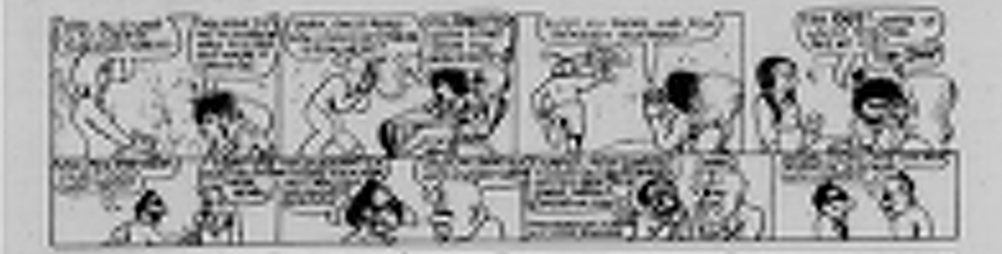


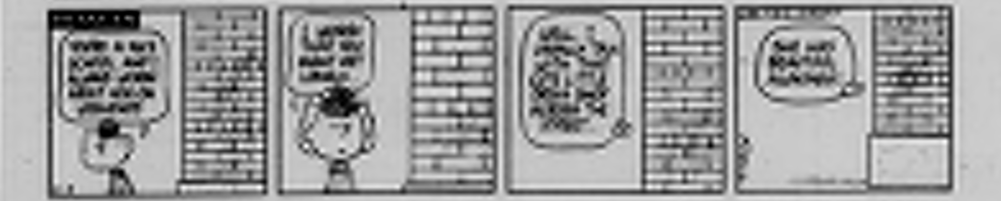


DIZZY & PAUL by Jim Carson

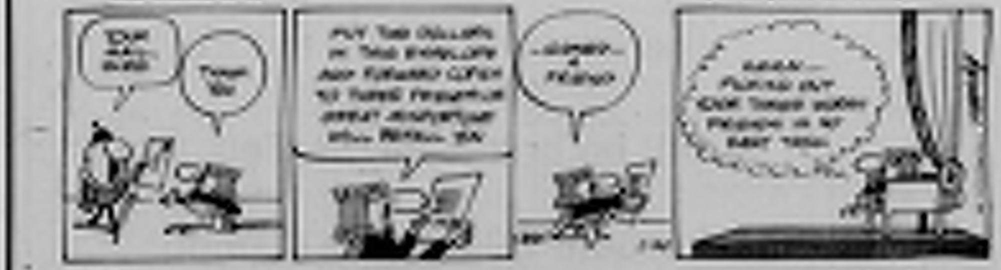


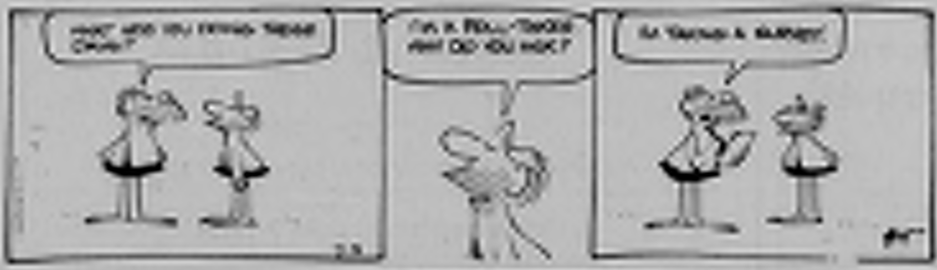
KAMPUS KAPERS by Kris Jackson





B.C. by Johnny Hart





notices

cont. from p. 12

Cluster, School of Ed., Tues. Th. 4-5:15, Pierpont, Classroom 1, instructed by B. Suzuki, assisted D. Chin, call for info.

OUTING CLUB
First general meeting tonight; trip info, general info and entertainment 6:30 p.m. C.C. 101. Everyone welcome.

PRE DENTAL CLUB
Important meeting of the Pre Dental Club tomorrow Feb. 4 at 6:30 p.m. in C.C. 803. New members are welcome. This will be an organizational and membership drive meeting.

PRE VETS, ZOO & AN SCI MAJORS
Meeting Tues., 7:00 C.C. 174. New membership will be taken. Return Bumper Sticker money. Sign up to help at raffle. Vote on movie to be shown. More info on [illegible]

[illegible]

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE LANGUAGE SCHOOLS

1975
Summer in Vermont
[illegible]

1975 - 76
Academic Year
in Europe
[illegible]

[illegible]

High jumper Joe Martens flops over the bar at a height of 7-0 in the Burlington Invitational last month. Martens' effort was good for a school record and the freshman jumper qualified for the Millrose games with his standard-setting performance.

Record for Martens

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Matmen trounced

By JOHN BOCK

NEW LONDON, Conn. — [illegible]

NU sinks trackmen

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Celts maul Milwaukee

BOSTON (AP) — [illegible]

INDEX
RECRUITMENT MEETING

are you a WRITER ?
ARTIST ?
PHOTO-GRAPHER ?
if so, come to
162 campus center
on february 4th

7:00pm WRITERS
8:00pm ARTISTS & LAYOUT
9:00pm PHOTOGRAPHERS present staff too !

FRATERNITY RUSH

The Fraternity System Rush will be held tonight, Feb. 3rd, in room 804 of the Campus
Center at 7:30 p.m.

All University men interested in fraternity membership should attend.

UPI Telephoto

Bobby Orr emerged as the star of the game once again last night as he had five points with a goal and 4 assists.

Orr leads B's, 5-1

BOSTON (UPI) — [illegible]

Basketball women roll over UConn

By CRAIG O'CONNER

[illegible]

Collegian
sports

Gym-men split

By BILL DOYLE

[illegible]

Swimwomen win vs UConn

[illegible]

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

Notice

LACROSSE CANDIDATES — [illegible]

WMUA-FM
will hold its
First Meeting of the Semester
Tues., Feb. 4 8 p.m.
Campus Center Rms. 168, 170, 172
Old members and anyone with an interest in radio should attend.
Third World Members are urged to attend.

Bud Harrelson says:
"Stop birth defects short!"
Give to the
March of Dimes

[illegible]
Bete Chi
[illegible]

[illegible]
Valley Motorsports
[illegible]

HAVE A QUARTER ON YOUR NEXT DOLLAR QUICKIE QUICKIE LUNCH
25¢
MON-FRI 11:30am-2:00pm
10TH FLOOR CAMPUS CTR
25¢ DISCOUNT WITH THIS AD
[illegible]

UMass nips Niagara in nailbiter 65-64

[illegible]

John Murphy had 16 points in Saturday night's victory over Niagara.

Women gymnasts fall at Penn State;Cantwell missed

[illegible]

Forward Bill White (no. 6) rejoices following a goal from Chris Lamby (not shown), as AIC defenders offer the disappointing look of defeat.

Good and bad times in hockey weekend

[illegible]

Tonight the team travels to Providence to take on the Friars, another Division II team. Game time is 7:00, WMUA 7:20.

Inside sports

- Men's gymnasts in Pa.
- Martens feature
- R's C's triumph

Dukakis cuts UMass conservation funds

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

Collegian

Exiled editor blasts U.S.

Vietnam aid policy challenged

[illegible]

Ngo Cong Duc, exiled South Vietnamese editor and publisher.

inside

[illegible] — see pages 11, 12.

[illegible] — see page 15.

Black News Service — see page 14.

weather

[illegible]

Profs demand 'complete' inquiry

[illegible]

[redacted]

[illegible]

Workshop aimed at easing pains of rape victims

By ROBERTA MARTONE
Staff Reporter

The biggest problem with rapes is still trying to get more people to report them, according to Diana White, special assistant to the UMass Police Force.

This is one of the conclusions reached after a 5 day workshop on rape held last week at Brandeis University. White was among 25 other police officers from around the country to participate in the workshop.

The workshop was the first step in an attempt to fulfill the requirements of a new rape law. The new law states that every police department must have a rape investigation unit, with officers trained in rape counseling.

One result of the training program, it is hoped, will be the prevention of problems arising from insensitive interrogation of the victim by police officers, said White.

The workshop was sponsored by the Massachusetts Criminal Justice Training Council, (CJC), a state agency in charge of police training academies. The CJC, in turn, hired a counsulting firm, known as the Criminal Justice Associates, to conduct the rape training program.

According to White, last October the Criminal Justice Association consulted a number of women involved in various aspects of rape prevention and counsel.

"We met about once a week for four months, and advised the Association as to what we thought should be included in the workshop.", said White, who was one of the women consulted.

As the idea for the workshop evolved, the Criminal Justice Association sent letters to various police departments, asking them to select people to participate in the workshop.

"They were opting for a geographic distribution of people, with the thought that the original twenty-five in the training program could return to their areas and conduct similar workshops.", said White.

Events of the workshop included lectures by psychologists, doctors, and people involved in rape crisis centers, she said.

Morton Bard, a psychologist and the originator of the Rape Crisis Unit in New York, lectured on the various degrees of crisis situations, citing rape as one of the most severe, according to White.

Harold O'Reilly from the New York Police Department, talked about proper handling of a rape victim.

"Learning how to ask the right questions and how to make the victims feel you support her, was one of the most important ideas brought out in the lecture. No one recognizes the trauma the rape victim is going through.", commented White.

In addition, a woman from the Rape Crisis Center in Boston spoke on the options available for women after rape, such as counseling and birth control information.

Leslie Snyder, a District Attorney in New York, interpreted the redefining of the rape law, and spoke about how to prepare a rape victim for court.

Staff Photo by Fran Glavin

Diana White, special ass't to UMass police

"got to know each other"

SOP concentrated on research , info

By JAN ALEXANDER
Staff Reporter

According to Nesta King of the Student Organizing Project (SOP), the purpose of the intercession program for SOP members was to "get to know each other, learn organizing and research skills, find sources of information, and inform themselves on the issues affecting students".

During intercession, SOP concentrated on the issues of student housing, economic development, problems of third world students, lobbying voter registration, student employee unionization and academic affairs.

One SOP group published the Whole University Catalogue, which was distributed free at registration.

Relating to academic affairs, King said SOP members researched students' role in departmental decision making, core requirements and teacher evaluations.

"The group safely concluded that students don't have enough influence over their academic environment," she said. "We're continuing to work in the area, talking to students."

Economic Development coordinator John Fisher said his group was mainly concerned with the credit union. "We were taking surveys and getting notes," he said, "doing the groundwork for establishing a credit union."

The union is scheduled to open in two or three weeks.

"We were also involved in getting a license application for a campus liquor store," Fisher said. "It won't be opening before next fall."

Fisher said the housing group was investigating cooperative housing.

Possibilities they are looking into include forming student-run cooperative dormitories with individual or central governing councils, constructing smaller living units, and buying out houses on the market which will be run by students.

[illegible] of the lobbying-voter registration committee was involved in setting up a card file of students who would be willing to call their prospective hometown legislators when issues concerning students come up before the legislature.

[illegible] Schmidt of the Union of Student Employees Organizing Committee [illegible] fast-food chains. "We don't feel it would be in the interests of student employees as a whole for them to come in here."

During intercession the committee conducted a number of research projects including the impact of fast-food chains on UMass, how the University regards student help, the University guidelines for seeking out women and Third World people for its work force, and the possible affects of a University budget out on the student work force.

"In the past, fast-food chains have operated on a high-efficiency set-up," said Schmidt. "There has generally been exploitation of workers, and McDonalds was one of the chief lobbyers against the minimum wage laws."

Schmidt said that when budget cuts occur, the most vulnerable are student services, student employment, financial aid and womens' programs.

"The programs which are in some ways apart from the mainstream of academic life are the areas to get hit first," Schmidt explained. "Student-initiated programs are considered somewhat second rate by administrators."

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

TIRED OF DINING COMMONS FOOD?

Delta Chi offers all university students the chance to exchange their dining commons meal tickets for excellent food, all semester inside our fraternity house. The cost is inexpensive — option on weekend meals if interested.

Contact Bill or Ray at 545-0195 or 545-0196.

Coalition seeks to ban NEPCO burning of coal

A broad-based coalition of environmental groups and private citizens filed a landmark energy-environmental lawsuit in U.S. District Court in Boston. The coalition seeks to enjoin further illegal and potentially hazardous burning of coal by a major Bay State utility, the New England Power Company.

In June of 1974, Congress enacted the "Energy Supply and Environmental Coordination Act" as an amendment to the existing "Clean Air Act." Under the statute, certain power plants which converted to coal in emergency response to the winter Energy Crisis of 1973-74 were allowed to continue to burn coal until July, 1975 and state air pollution restrictions were temporarily suspended.

On December 31, 1974, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency decided that three units of NEPCO's Somerset power plant had made an emergency conversion to coal and were eligible for a "temporary suspension" of state air pollution restrictions, despite the fact that two of the three units have not converted to coal.

AUDITIONS

for

UMass Music Theatre Guild's

Production of

Gilbert and Sullivan's

Pirates of Penzance

Monday, February 3

Tuesday, February 4

Starting at 6 p.m.

Colonial Lounge, Student Union

Come prepared with any song, even "Happy Birthday" will do.
For more information call [illegible]

UMass prof decries aerosols

Propellant gases destroy ozone, may be banned

By P. J. PROKOP
Staff Reporter

A recent study has shown that the use of aerosol sprays may have a damaging effect on the ozone in the earth's atmosphere.

According to a recent article in the Springfield Union, the results of an investigation by the National Research Council's Climatic Impact Committee could lead to restrictions on the manufacture of the propellant gases known as flourocarbons.

The flourocarbons are ideal for use in spray cans because they are odorless, stable, non-combustible, and when used in an aerosol can, produce the right amount of pressure. They are harmless in themselves, but if they diffuse into the atmosphere, they can destroy the ozone, according to Professor John D. Strong of the UMass Physics and Astronomy Department.

Ozone is a layer of gas that surrounds the earth. There is very little ozone near the earth's surface, but is in increased amounts and becomes stronger, higher in the atmosphere.

"Ozone is important because it cuts out ultraviolet rays from sunlight. We'd all have sunburns or cancer from the ultraviolet light from the sun. We can't stand less ozone in the upper atmosphere — anything that will cause damage to the ozone is bad," Strong said.

There is much concern about the amounts of flourocarbons building up in the atmosphere from the use of hair sprays, deodorants, and other aerosol sprays. The amount of flourocarbons there has not been measured, but Strong urged that it be done to check possible damage.

We also don't know how quickly the flourocarbons (commonly known as freon) destroy the layer of ozone, and how seriously ozone damage will affect humans, animals and plants, due to ultraviolet radiation, he added.

Peter [illegible], staff attorney for Mass PIRG in Amherst, said U.S. Representative Silvio O. Conte has recommended that Congress investigate the situation. [illegible] said there is the question of replacing sprays, and further documentation of proof is needed before anything can be done.

Professor John D. Strong, UMass Physics and Astronomy Department.

SW Academics face cutback; minimum student policy suggested

By FRANCES BROCK
Staff Reporter

Maureen Adams, coordinator of the Southwest Academic Affairs Office, said in an interview Thursday, that the SW Budget Committee has suggested there be a minimum of 12 students per SW course. Courses with less than 12 would be cut.

This was the fairest alternative, she said, since cutting staff would mean cutting entire SW academic programs.

According to budget committee members, the committee asked for enrollment figures but did not suggest setting any minimum course enrollment policy.

[illegible]

Whiston says inflation ending

A 12.2 per cent inflation rate from December of 1973 to December of 1974 was the highest in 28 years but the inflationary cycle is ending, according to William B. Whiston of UMass.

Whiston, who directs the UMass Center for Business and Economic Research, said indicators such as pre-Christmas sales and new car rebates signal the end of a cycle which began in the early 70s.

He said the rate should decline to 6-7 per cent annually which he termed a "disease of democracy."

He said current inflationary cycles result from strong political pressure on the government to spend more money when [illegible]

[illegible]

"Now," said Whiston, "President Ford is overreacting. He is proposing up to [illegible] billion in spending deficits. This is higher than during the Vietnam war and is equal to World War II levels."

The President has not specified how he will pump the money into the economy but tax rebates and extended unemployment benefits are expected, said Whiston.

[illegible]

Whiston said these inflationary cycles seem to last about [illegible] months. The stockmarket low in the current cycle was Oct. 4, 1974. Whiston said an upward economic trend will become evident in June or July of this year.

[illegible]

The wide open spaces between the new Fine Arts Center and the Campus pond seem to become even bleaker than usual on these cold and windy days during midwinter.

Wellman, Anthony call for 'quick wrap-up'

cont. from p. 1

Meanwhile, Ernest M. Buck is the top choice of Whitmore administrators to serve as an acting dean of the School over the next year until a permanent choice is found, it was learned yesterday.

[illegible]

Ford sees continued recession in this year

Congress dismayed at budget plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- President Ford predicted yesterday more recession through 1975 but a drop in inflation and unemployment next year.

Before flying to Atlanta on the first of a series of personal appearances to gain public support for his economic and energy program, Ford said in a statement the rate of inflation will average "a little more than 9 per cent" between December, 1974, and December, 1975, but would fall to "slightly more than 7 per cent" in 1976.

His statement, delivered on signing the annual presidential Economic Report he sent to Congress along with his record $349 billion budget, said total U.S. production would rise at more than a 5 per cent annual rate.

"This will add some two million workers to the nation's payrolls over this period, so that unemployment - though still high - will be going down."

"While these projected figures present no rosy picture, they forecast the real improvement we expect in the coming months," Ford said.

Earlier yesterday, Ford said his estimated $52 billion deficit could be $17 billion greater unless Congress heeds his requests for spending cuts.

In Congress, the action ran along two contradictory tracks. There was dismay over the size of the deficit and anquish over Ford's proposals to reduce scheduled increases in health, veterans, education, welfare, food and other human needs programs. The 10 per cent jump in the defense budget, to $94 billion, also came under fire.

"My God," said Rep. Sam Gibbon, D-Fla., when he heard about Ford' predictions. "It must mean that he is going to be a two-year president.

If the predictions hold fast, Ford will have to run for the presidency in 1976 with nearly 7.5 million persons out of work.

Reps. Al Ullman, D-Ore., and Herman T. Schneebeli, R.-Pa., the senior members of the House Ways and Means Committee, predicted $5 billion or more would be cut from the Pentagon's proposed $90 billion request and called Ford callous to the effect inflation and recession were having on people.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of Congress' Joint Economic Committee, objected that Ford's budget would mean "higher unemployment continued double-digit inflation and deeper recession.

"Any proposal to restore the health of our economy by cutting back on food stamps and social security in the midst of the worst recession since the 1930s is unacceptable, unfair and will not be approved by Congress." Humphrey said.

UPI Telephoto

In a ceremony at the White House yesterday, President Ford signed the economic report that he will send to Congress today.

Breakdown of budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is where the budget dollar would come from and how it would be spent under President Ford's proposed $349.4 billion budget submitted to Congress yesterday.

Where it comes from:

Individual income taxes — 30 cents down 12 cents from 1975.

Corporate income taxes — 14 cents down 2 cents.

Social insurance receipts — 26 cents down 2 cents.

Borrowing — 15 cents up 12 cents.

Excise taxes — 9 cents up 3 cents.

Other — 6 cents up 1 cent

- - - -

Where it goes:

Benefit payments to individuals — 39 cents up 2 cents from 1975.

National defense — 27 cents down 2 cents.

Grants to states and localities — 16 cents down 1 cent.

Amnesty supporters canvass Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Supporters of universal, unconditional amnesty for Vietnam War opponents yesterday dismissed President Ford's extension of clemency and took their case to Congress.

"A program that is inadequate to start with cannot be improved simply by extending it," said Louise Ransom, a Gold Star mother who is director of Americans for Amnesty.

Mrs. Ransom held a joint news conference with Rep. Bella Abzug, D.-N.Y., author of a broad amnesty bill, as members of several groups fanned out over Capitol Hill to gather support for universal and unconditional amnesty.

A spokesman said the House Judiciary subcommittee on courts, civil liberties and the administration of justice, hoped to hold hearings on amnesty "in late February or early March."

"We'd like to hold them while the President's program is still in effect," the spokesman said. Ford on Thursday extended his limited and conditional clemency program for one month to March 1 because "I believe that many of those who could benefit from it are only now learning of its application to their cases."

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the National Council of Churches said amnesty information centers had been "swamped" with calls since the Justice Department released its list of young men under indictment for draft evasion.

Correction

In yesterday's Collegian, a headline on Page 4 mistakenly said that Punxsstawney Phil, the groundhog, had seen his shadow. Actually, he did not see it (because it was cloudy), so spring will be arriving soon.

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
LANGUAGE SCHOOLS

1975
Summer in Vermont
Courses for GRADUATE CREDIT in FRENCH, GERMAN, ITALIAN, RUSSIAN and SPANISH lead to Master of Arts and Doctor of Modern Languages degrees.
Courses for UNDERGRADUATE CREDIT in CHINESE, FRENCH, GERMAN, ITALIAN, JAPANESE, RUSSIAN and SPANISH.

1975 - 76
Academic Year
in Europe
M.A. and Junior Programs in FRANCE, GERMANY, ITALY and SPAIN

For bulletin and applications write:
Director, Language Schools
Sunderland Language Center W
Middlebury College
Middlebury, Vermont 05753

WMUA
News Dept. Meeting
Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975
8:00 p.m.
Rm. 176 C.C.
All third world people and women are urged to attend!!!

SORORITY RUSH
Sorority System Rush will officially begin this Thursday.
Feb. 6th, in room 904 of the Campus Center at 7:30 p.m.
Additional information about this rush can be obtained in the Greek Affairs Office, room 236 Whitmore, 545-2711.

FOOD SCIENCE & NUTRITION
102
(Formerly [illegible])
WORLD FOOD HABITS
Will be offered:
MWF 12:30 p.m. Bartlett Auditorium
"Schedule number 294540"

THE "COME TO ISRAEL" PLUG.
YOU'VE HEARD IT, READ IT OR SEEN IT BEFORE.
"COME TO ISRAEL," WE NEED YOU. IT'S TRUE. BUT MAYBE, JUST MAYBE, YOU NEED US TOO. MAYBE NOT.
But like anything, you never really know what you've missed until you've tried it once or even twice.
Work in a Kibbutz, Development Town, or Study Program
Call: JOINT ISRAEL PROGRAMS
72 FRANKLIN STREET
BOSTON, MA. 02110
542-[illegible]

Edelin explains abortion policies

Asserts he wouldn't abort viable fetus

Compiled from Wires

BOSTON — Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin said yesterday he refuses to perform abortions when he believes the fetus could survive.

The 36-year-old Boston City Hospital obstetrician spoke in his own defense at his trial for manslaughter in the death of a fetus he aborted in October 1973.

"I have never performed an abortion on a woman who was carrying a fetus which was viable," he said. "And in fact I have refused to do abortions on women I considered to be carrying a viable fetus."

His statement came under cross examination from prosecutor Newman A. Flanagan, who has sought to show that the fetus involved in the case could have lived if Edelin had saved it.

Edelin testified that viability — the capability for life outside the womb — is generally considered to come at about 28 weeks in gestational age, and sometimes as early as 24 weeks. He said his examination showed the fetus in this case to be 20 to 22 weeks old.

Under questioning from Flanagan, Edelin, 36, the former chief resident obstetrician at Boston City Hospital also testified that although he estimated the fetus to have been 22 weeks gestational age, he listed its age as only 20 weeks.

Flanagan's indictment charges Edelin with killing a 24 to 28 week-old fetus. His witnesses have testified from the medical record that it was anywhere from 18 to 28 weeks old.

Flanagan sought yesterday to discredit Edelin's procedure by establishing that no test was made immediately before the operation to see whether the fetus was alive.

"I don't think in this situation it had any bearing," Edelin insisted. "At this particular stage of this particular abortion I didn't think it was necessary."

Edelin's defense contends that the abortion was already under way at this stage, because an abortion by saline injection had been tried and failed the day before. The fetus had been found to be alive that day, according to the medical record.

UMASS
SOPHOMORES

If you are a sophomore man or woman who missed the opportunity to join Army ROTC during your freshman and sophomore years — you have the opportunity to apply for the Army ROTC two-year program.

We are looking for special people — individuals interested in learning more about the mainstay of National Defense, the United States Army.

And we have a lot to offer too — accredited Military Science courses; challenging extracurricular activities; a highly qualified group of Army officers and noncommissioned officers sincerely interested in YOUR abilities and goals; financial assistance; an interesting, rewarding alternative in employment after graduation; and the chance to serve over two hundred million Americans — as a commissioned officer in the active Army, Reserves or National Guard.

You owe it to yourself to get the facts about the two-year program. Drop by and visit us in the Department of Military Science (located between Boyden Gym and Southwest) or call 545-2321. You'll be welcome, there won't be any run-around, we'll have some answers for you — and we're always good for a cup of coffee.

Indians seek promise before evacuating

GRESHAM, Wis. (UPI) — An attorney for the Monominee Warrior Society said yesterday evacuation of the Alexian Brothers novitiate has been delayed because he has been unable to secure a promise there will be no bloodshed when the Indians surrender.

The attorney, Robert Bryant of Birmingham, Ala., said he had tried twice to contact the sheriff to get a guarantee the Indians would not be harmed when they leave the building they have occupied since New Year's Day. Bryant made his comment after a two-hour meeting in nearby Shawano with Col. Hugh Simonson, commander of National Guard troops here.

He indicated the delay could mean that the Indians will not leave the building until today.

Bryant also said that he was seeking amnesty for those inside.

"We are asking complete amnesty," he said. "This land is land the society deserves."

After making his statement, Bryant headed for the abbey, saying he was going to brief those inside on his meeting with Simonson.

The Alexians agreed Sunday to [illegible]

Campus Interviews

minds
matter

MITRE is a place which daily faces the challenge of minds over matter, and where, even more importantly, minds matter a lot. Since we're a nonprofit system engineering company operating wholly in the public interest and dealing with tough problems assigned to us by more than a score of governmental agencies, we know that our greatest resource is the human mind. And we know that the kind of mind we need also needs to know that it will be working on important problems with other professionals. What's more, we'll be quite specific in spelling out your assignment to you. All of this because you matter . . . and because at MITRE, minds matter.

We are currently seeking new graduates to work in command and control systems, information processing systems, electronic surveillance systems, communications systems, and environmental, health and other social systems.

If you're an EE, Computer Science, Math, Operations Research, or Physics major, you could be working on problems in telecommunications, voice communications, microwave and digital signal processing, educational information systems, radar design, propagation studies or advanced modulation, coding, error control and data compression techniques.

Or, you might want to get involved with solid waste disposal techniques, digital information systems, data handling and reduction, microprogramming techniques, data base structure, time sharing, text processing, management information systems, computer program design and development or evaluation of present day software for phase-over to next generation machines. These are just a few of the areas in which you might get involved at MITRE.

All of these positions require a minimum of a BS degree. If you have more than a bachelor's, that's even better. Almost ⅔ of our 700 technical staff members have advanced degrees.

All these openings are at our corporate headquarters at Bedford, Massachusetts (suburban Boston). If you are interested and think you can meet our standards, send us your resume. Better yet, we'd like to talk to you on campus. Sign up at your Placement Office. We'll be there on February 7.

Mr. Kenneth D. [illegible]
The MITRE Corporation
Box 208
Bedford, Massachusetts 01730

THE MITRE
CORPORATION
Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

news summary

Oil tariff fought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eight states seeking to have President Ford's new fee on imported oil declared illegal asked federal court yesterday to halt the tariffs while the case is being considered.

The suit, filed by the governors of eight Northeast and New England states on Jan. 27, charged the President had encroached upon Congress' power to tax by imposing a $1 a barrel tariff on imported oil.

'Crime does not pay'

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Former White House aide John W. Dean III, under criticism about the ethics of cashing in on criminal conduct in the Watergate scandal, said yesterday he believes that crime does not pay.

Dean, sporting a gray three-piece suit and a deep tan, has come under criticism for a six-week college lecture tour that should gross more than $100,000.

He said criticism that he is exploiting Watergate may lead him to cancel the tour.

Syria backs USSR

By United Press International

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, calling for an immediate resumption of the Geneva Arab-Israeli conference as "the only guaranteed way" to Middle East peace, got full backing from Syria yesterday but little initial response from Egypt.

Gromyko arrived in Cairo from [illegible]

Ethiopia nationalizes

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — [illegible]

EUROPE BOUND IN '75?
[illegible]
Charter flying is the biggest bargain in air travel today

MIT rewards dim dorms

By TONY GRANITE

campus carousel

ENERGY SAVING CONTEST AT M.I.T. offers $100 prize monthly to the dormitory which uses the smallest fraction of expected monthly electricity consumption.

Sponsored by the Physical Plant, Housing and Dining Service and the MIT Environmental Engineer, the contest began in November, stimulated by the increase by more than $1 million of energy costs at the Cambridge campus.

One money prize will be awarded each month by the Undergraduate Association as administrator of the contest.

We read about it in The Tech, student newspaper.

MUSHROOMING BULLETS ARE BEING CARRIED BY CAMPUS POLICE of Washington State U., according to a page one story in the Daily Evergreen.

Greater "stopping power" is the reason given for using the bullets that take on a mushroom shape, when fired from a handgun. The bullet is more blunt than the conventional, round-nose bullet and does not penetrate as readily.

Besides lessening the danger of passing through an intended victim and striking an innocent bystander, the hollowpoint bullets do not ricochet.

A campus police spokesman says the controversial ammunition offers the "greatest safety margin" available.

HEADLINE OF THE WEEK APPEARED IN THE Indiana Daily Student over a piece about a popular ice skating rink: "[illegible] Local Residents' Interests."

Room to Move to hold semester-long workshop series

Room-to-Move staff members will be presenting a Tuesday Evening Series of workshops this semester focusing on all aspects of our counseling and community work. These workshops are free of charge and are open to both the UMass faculty and students and the larger community of Amherst and its surroundings.

The first workshop will be presented on Tuesday Feb. 11 from 7-9 p.m. in room [illegible] of the Campus Center. This particular workshop will focus on dreams — ways of working with them and actualizing the potential energies they contain.

Future workshops will deal with the following issues: Drugs, Group Dynamics, Bio-Energetics, Alternative Counseling Methods, Veterans, Music Therapy, Alcohol, Transpersonal Psychology, Black Action, and Women.

Jewish chorale group being formed

A chorale group is being formed to sing Jewish music. An exciting and challenging array of Israeli, Chassidic and medieval pieces has been selected. The chorale will meet on Tuesday nights at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building room [illegible], starting today.

The Jewish Music Chorale may be taken as a one credit course through Music 386. For more information call [illegible], the director, at 5-2663 or 5-2626.

Shopping around? Try JS colloquia

The Journalistic Studies Program is offering four colloquia this semester — popular culture, copy editing, a consumer's guide to the media, and sportswriting — for a single credit apiece.

"Our introductory course in reporting was oversubscribed to more than 90 students," said Howard Ziff, Director of Journalistic Studies. "We felt we ought to offer something to all of these people while they wait another semester to to get into JS courses."

Professor Ziff said the colloquia are open to all students, not just those oversubscribed for JS's introductory courses. "Freshmen particularly might want to take a look, as well as shoppers who are curious to know what JS is like," he added.

All colloquia meet at 7 p.m. in Machmer Hall, Room E10.

The schedule is as follows:

MONDAY: Who Was That Masked Man, An Introduction to Popular Culture — films, comics, pulp magazines, TV, and radio.

TUESDAY: Copy Editing, headlines and makeup and how to decide what goes on the front page — [illegible]

WMUA

This is what WMUA 91.1 FM will be airing today.

Today's disc jockeys are Rocket Rick playing wake-up until 10, Crazy Nance until 2, Louis Cronin goes until 6, Al Feinberg takes over until 10, and Tommy Joyner hosts [illegible] for the rest of the night.

Today on WMUA:

8:52 a.m., High Tides.

6:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m.: River Valley Almanac.

9:00 p.m. Pacifica. A show originating from the west coast — a different perspective of the world.

WMUA news can be heard at [illegible] a.m., and at 2, 6 & 10 p.m. Headlines will be aired at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m. Headlines is a WMUA service to the student who hasn't much time in the morning, but wants to know what is happening around the world.

University of massachusetts arts council presents

WASTSA THEATER COMPANY PRESENTS ORNETTE BY CLAY GOSS

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 7 1975 8PM BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS $4&3 general $2&1.50 umass students

ON SALE [illegible] U MASS AMHERST [illegible]

Reunion de AHORA

Martes: 7:30 p.m.

Salon 101

Campus Center

TV tonight

[illegible]

Men's & Women's League being formed.

Sign up in Bowling Alleys in [illegible] Building

Call 545-2230

Open Bowling, 4-10:30

Monday thru Saturday

(except during league play)

N.E.S.

Tutoring in Springfield

Recruitment Meeting

Wednesday, February 5

7:30 p.m. Room 804-8 C.C.

Tutoring on a one-to-one basis

one or more times a week

Credit available

If you are interested in working with kids, please attend this very important meeting.

Education — Involvement — Alternatives

N.E.S. office: 426A Student Union

Tel. no.: 545-0573

SBA program nets $1,000 Mobil grant

AMHERST — A $1,000 Mobil Foundation, Inc., grant has been presented to the University of Massachusetts/Amherst School of Business Administration Program ABLE (Assisted Business Leadership Education).

The presentation was made by Robert W. [illegible], manager of College Relations and College Recruiting for Mobil Oil Corporation.

Accepting the grant for ABLE was its founder and executive director, Dr. Lawrence A. Johnson, and SBA Associate Dean John T. Conlon.

The grant will be put toward a stipend for an ABLE student. Program participants receive up to $3,400 a year.

Program ABLE is designed to increase the number of minority students holding a master's of business degree.

Staff Photo by [illegible]

After another day of constant confusion a student seeks refuge in a few hours sleep on the showcase of life known as "The Concourse".

— WE NEED YOU —

The Belchertown-[illegible] project needs conscientious, big hearted people to volunteer their services and time in helping retarded people lead a more productive and rewarding life.

All those interested should attend any one of the following informational meetings:

Belchertown-[illegible] is a 5-College Area Organization. We welcome participation by all the collegiate community.

Do Yourself & Someone Else A Favor!

UMASS
5 Feb., [illegible] — C.C., Rms. [illegible]
6 Feb., 7:30-9:00 p.m. — C.C., Rms. [illegible]
AMHERST
5 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Converse Hall, Rm. [illegible]
MT. HOLYOKE
6 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Eliot House
SMITH
3 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Wright Hall, Common Hall
HAMPSHIRE
10 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Franklin Patterson Hall, Rm. [illegible]

Through rain or snow or gloom of night...free

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may take a little longer, but the U.S. Postal Service's new policy of returning all mail without postage to the sender makes it possible to mail letters free of charge.

The service says that it visualizes no serious problem from the loophole "because people basically are honest." But it is concerned enough to have begun studying ways of modifying the regulation to thwart those who might try to take advantage of it.

The loophole works this way.

If the sender puts his own name and address — or even a fictitious one — in the center of the unstamped envelope and the intended recipient's in the upper left corner, the Postal Service will dutifully "return" the letter to the intended recipient, marked "Return For Postage."

The loophole was called to the attention of Postal officials earlier by Rep. Robert Leggett, who reported in the Congressional Record that an unstamped letter mailed in Berkeley, Calif., had been "returned for postage" in Alexandria, Va., four days later.

The post office previously had a policy of collecting postage due from mail recipients but this was changed.

Knowingly depositing mail without postage is a misdemeanor carrying a [illegible] fine, but a Postal Service spokesman, [illegible], conceded the law could be hard to enforce if people made extensive use of the return-to-sender gimmick.

Unwanted Hair Permanently Removed Face or Body
John V. Ryan, Electrologist
14 Main St. Northampton
584-[illegible]

SKIING'S FUN . . .
SKIING'S EASY . .

WITH THE
BERKSHIRE EAST — U MASS PROGRAM

SKI PROGRAM — 8 sessions 24 hours*

Including Lifts, Lessons, Free Transportation and MIDWEEK DAY AND NIGHT COMBINATION SEASON PASS $45.00
Pass Good For The Rest Of The Season

Equipment Rental, Total Program $30.00

LAST DAYS FOR REGISTRATION:

Late Registrations Taken In The UMass Ski Club Office, Student Union Building, Rm. 309
TUES., FEB. 4, 1975 3 p.m.-8 p.m.
WED., FEB. 5, 1975 3 p.m.-8 p.m.

*(1 Credit available for UMass Students)

Berkshire East
SKI AREA
Charlemont, Massachusetts

The Episcopal Church at UMass

The Holy Eucharist

Weds., 1 p.m.

Newman Center Chapel.

audio loop
STEREO TAPES
8-track & cassettes
- over 1000 rock & popular titles
- only $1.99 each
- free brochure
write: AUDIO-LOOP CO.
DEPT [illegible] P.O. BOX [illegible]
CLEVELAND, OHIO [illegible]

PE courses

[illegible]

WMUA-FM

WILL HOLD ITS FIRST MEETING

OF THE SEMESTER

Tuesday, Feb. 4 8 p.m.

Campus Center

Rms. 168, 170, 172

Present members and anyone with an interest in radio should attend.

Third World Members are urged to attend.

letters to the editor

An explanation on Miller story

To the Editor:

On Wednesday, Dec. 11, 1974 a lead article appeared in the Collegian under the title, "Miller warns tri-mester may return." Although the article carried no byline, it was written by me.

Because Mr. Miller feels that his reputation has been damaged by the article, which he feels was inaccurate, and because I now feel it was inaccurate in some respects, I have agreed to write this letter of clarification.

—The use of the term "trimester" in the story was inaccurate and misleading. I do not now recall if Mr. Miller ever used the term. I made an assumption that, should the present intersession system be scrapped, a tri-mester would be substituted. The assumption was wrong and journalistically abhorrent.

A tri-mester system, as I now understand, is a full-year academic system where students rotate attendance over three terms, including summer. According to John Hunt, an assistant Provost, such a system is not specifically under consideration at UMass.

—Although the story did not quote Miller as saying a "trimester" might be instituted, the headline and first paragraph implied that he made such a statement. To my knowledge, he did not. I would like to apologize to Mr. Miller for allowing such an impression to be conveyed. This mistake was more the result of poor writing than anything else.

—Mr. Miller has questioned whether my use of the term "interview" to describe an encounter we had was misleading. The dictionary describes interview as "a meeting or conversation with, especially for the purpose of obtaining information for publication.

On Tuesday, Dec. 10, Mr. Miller entered the Collegian offices to deliver some material for publication to the Collegian. During his visit, he and I talked about intersession. We discussed what might happen if intersession programs were not properly publicized. Mr. Miller said the result could be the cancellation of intersession and the substitution of some alternative which would not include a January break — students "would have to take classes in January" was roughly what he said.

That discussion became the substance for the following day's story. At no time did I indicate to Mr. Miller that our conversation would be reported in the newspaper. Consequently, he might have been surprised to have it appear the next day as an "interview."

In fact, Mr. Miller was in the office of the Collegian again on Tuesday evening and commented on the article and headline which was to appear the next day. Because he appeared to object to publication, I spoke to Mr. Miller that evening in my role as managing editor of the newspaper. I was unable to ascertain if he had any objection to the story and was under the impression that he approved of its publication. I was surprised when I learned in a casual conversation at the Bluewall with a third party Wednesday evening that he was upset.

Bill [illegible]

Hey, what goes on here?

To da Editor:

Me and de boys would like to thank some people who has made de buses run on de weekend. [illegible]

[illegible]

Ralph J. [illegible] III
Jack St. [illegible]
Frank [illegible]
Chuck [illegible]

An apology and appeal to gay people

To the Editor:

This is both an apology and an appeal to the gay community at the university from the Student Homophile League. Last semester we were very slow in getting active and providing activities and informational services to the gay community. We can attribute the slowdown to the general trend in college gay current events or the fact that we have not had a strong enough group to take the initiative to make things happen. Towards the end of the semester great progress was made in the group, in the successful formation of a gay hotline, under the guidance of a doctor from Mental Health, a very successful December Dance, and a very good speakers bureau.

This semester we are hopeful that we can bring SHL back to its prominence at the University. We hope to make our group an attractive one to be a member of. The gay community must not settle for low standards of representation. Much work went into the founding of the organization and our lack of morale [illegible] its founders a great injustice.

We have much work to be done this semester for our social functions (Dances, Springfield Festival, hotline, speakers bureau, rap groups) and any other activities that the members care to bring about. We need the help of the entire gay community to achieve our goals. Let's bring the gay community to action again this spring. New members are welcome to our first meeting on Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center, Room [illegible]. Please come.

The Members of SHL

Light up the library

To the Editor:

Thursday, first day of classes, and by 5:00 P.M. the doors to our 26 story phallic symbol are locked shut.

I realize of course that the price of energy has skyrocketed and that the state is taking an axe to the University budget but when you stop and consider the issue, it certainly is ironic that while the University can boast of one of the tallest if not the tallest collegiate library in the world, circumstances are such that it cannot remain open on the first day of classes. To me the problem here seems to be one of priorities.

But the hell with it, at least we can depend on either the Hatch or the Blue Wall to be open during these troubled times.

Andrew J. Maguire

Commuter communication

To the Editor:

Late night Friday and weekend bus service was instituted on January 31 by the Student Transit Service with funding provided by SGA, the Commuter Assembly, and the Graduate Senate.

The new services do not include the Orchard Hill and Campus Shuttle routes. The cost for including these routes would be $[illegible] and it was the decision of the Commuter Assembly that these funds should be provided by the area governments.

All inquiries concerning the Orchard Hill and Campus Shuttle routes will be directed to the representative area. The assembly will provide all cost details at your request.

Peter H. Wallace
Administrative Assistant

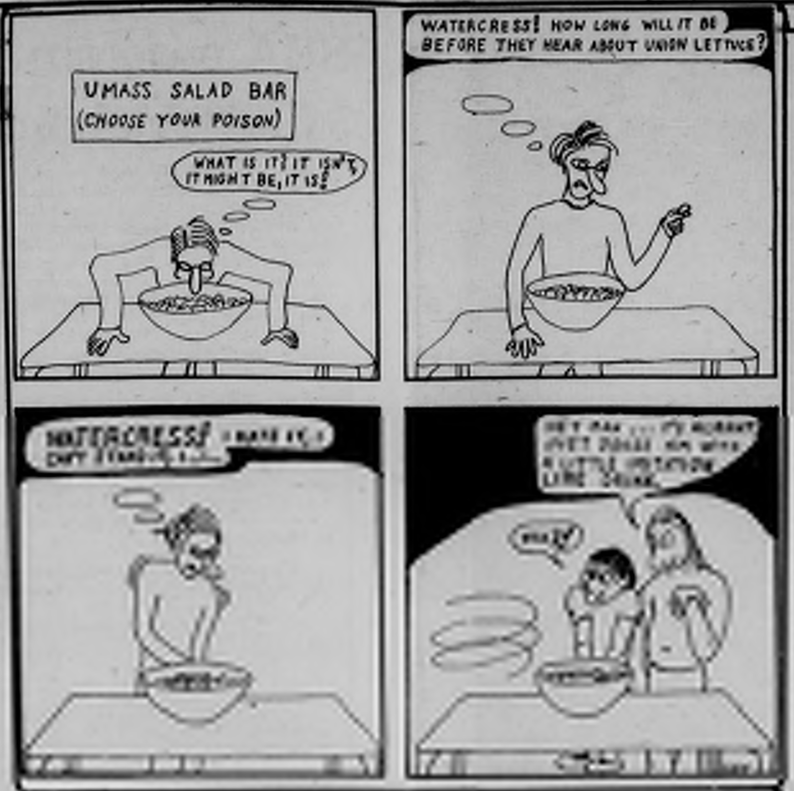
Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number.

Also, all letters must be typed, double spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.



UMASS SALAD BAR (CHOOSE YOUR POISON)
WHAT IS IT? IT ISN'T, IT MIGHT BE, IT IS!
WATERCRESS! HOW LONG WILL IT BE BEFORE THEY HEAR ABOUT UNION LETTUCE?
WATERCRESS! I HATE IT, I CAN'T STAND IT...
HEY MAN... IT'S NOT [illegible] JUST DOUSE IT WITH A LITTLE [illegible] WHAT?

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Making off-campus housing work

In a recent letter to Chancellor Bromery, Town Manager Allen Torrey expressed the fears of the Town of Amherst regarding the UMass housing situation. Higher rents, interference with the town's zoning laws, and diminishing resources were cited as a few of the reasons for limiting off-campus housing.

The town's fears are valid ones; elderly people on fixed incomes could be hurt by the mass exodus from campus, as well as those in the low income bracket. But just as there are problems, there are answers, if they are sought out.

A university, supposedly an institution of higher learning, should be the center of creative thinking as well as action. And creative thinking is something the administration seemingly refuses to consider.

Through some bureaucratic quirk, we are stuck with the dormitory buildings. Whether or not it is our fault is debatable, but they are there, for better or for worse. The point is that it does not HAVE to be for the worse.

There are many possibilities for alternative lifestyles in dormitories. One of them was suggested in a recent letter from the Council of the Elderly of Amherst. The letter stated that if students were allowed to move off campus, perhaps a few dorms could be built into rooming houses for the elderly. This is just one idea.

Dorms could actually become preferable to off-campus living with a little brainpower and remodeling. More programs such as the Liberation Corridor and Third World Corridors could be set up. People with common interests needing work room, such as artists, could arrange for corridors to live and work together.

In Sylvan, entire suites could be rented to groups of students who wished to live together. Communal living involving people from the outside community could be another alternative. In a neighborhood such as Southwest, the influx of elderly or families could provide a more rounded community atmosphere.

The possibilities are endless, and do not require outrageous amounts of money to establish. What these programs do require, however, is a little open-mindedness and willingness from the administration. Sure, it may provide a lot more paperwork, but it would be well worth the time to institute such changes. Then, maybe, we could get down to that elusive frivolity known as education.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Notable Quote

"It is comparatively easy to prosper by trickery, the violation of confidence, the oppression of the weak, short practices, cutting corners — all of those methods that we are so prone to inflate and condone as business shrewdness. It is difficult to prosper by keeping promises, by delivering value in goods, in services and in deeds — and in meeting of so-called shrewdness with sound mind and good ethics." Col. Harland Sanders, Kentucky Fried Chicken cook, of "finger licking good" fame.

Joyce Kosofsky

Waiting for Kathleen

Kathleen is my friend. I met her in the fourth grade while waiting for her turn to end in a game of jumprope. I was next in line and she was very slow.

Ever since I've known Kathleen, I've been waiting for her to do something or other. She still is very slow.

If I had a nickel for every minute that I've waited for Kathleen, I'd be a very wealthy person.

Yet, because Kathleen is so slow, I've learned and done a lot. While waiting for Kathleen to be ready for whatever we were supposed to do, I've also learned infinite patience.

While waiting for Kathleen to get dressed, I've read Crime and Punishment, learned how to crochet afghans, bake date-nut bread, and fix shoes.

While waiting to pick Kathleen up, I've learned how to parallel park, change the oil in my car, some other minor automotive repairs, and read the Rise and Fall of the Third Reich.

While waiting for Kathleen to get out of school, I learned that I'd better go out and get a job, because it would be a while before she'd be through.

And while waiting for Kathleen to get out of work, I've learned how to meditate in circles in downtown Boston, read most of Vonnegut, and, most importantly, I learned how to just sit and wait.

Siddhartha could boast of three things. He could think, fast, and he could wait.

Well, I'm too much of an idiot to think, always to hungry to fast, but goddamit, can I wait. In fact, the only thing of which I can boast, is that I can wait for anything. Because I've waited for Kathleen most of my life. I have the patience of the Rock of Gibraltar.

So, Kathleen, for all the times that I hassled, yelled and pleaded with you to be ready, I now thank you. Thank you for teaching me the patience to study math while waiting in line to cash a check at the bursar's office. Thank you for teaching me how to write term papers while waiting until 1:00 for an 11:00 appointment at the infirmary. Thank you for giving me the patience to put up with UMie bureaucracy and bullshit.

Everyone should have a Kathleen. Without Kathleen, I would have blown up the computer instead of waiting for the crowds to disappear during registration. Without Kathleen, I would have stabbed every person ahead of me on a waiting list in an over-subscribed course. Without Kathleen I would definitely have lost my sense of humor with this University's way of putting off until tomorrow what the crowds wouldn't let them handle today.

Thank you Kathleen, for your ultimate "I'll-be-ready-in-a-while" philosophy of life. For who knows, sometime, somewhere in the future while I'm waiting for you I can learn how to cope with life. But for right now, I'm content to just sit and wait.

Joyce Kosofsky is a Collegian Columnist

Zamir Nestelbaum

Nattering nebobs of negativism

Bob "Get a Peace Corps" Hope used to tell a joke about Spiro T. Agnew in which he relayed the bad news that the then Vice President's entire library just burned down. (Both books!, including the one he hasn't colored in yet.

Not much has been heard from the former alliterationist, as vice presidents have been called, since his bounding from office for his part in the Maryland Kickback Scandal. And since Agnew, the only Episcopalian Greek this side of Nicosia, has also been disbarred, his modus operandi, i.e., means of visible support has been in doubt. It is a well-known fact that Agnew was not steeped in cash throughout his public life and despite a steady flow of income (salaries and extra curriculars, for a number of years, he's almost as penniless today as he was during the days when he sold bolts to contractors in Baltimore. However, Spiro does have powerful friends who have found gainful employment for him and have kept him off of the welfare lines. Our researchers have compiled a list of jobs and occupations that Agnew has reportedly been sighted at:

—A salesman for the Saudi American Land Corporation, which is a subsidiary of the Suez Canal Holding Company. Agnew is helping our foreign deficit by selling land ([illegible]) to the Arabs.

—Piano player and Stranger in the Dark for Frank Sinatra, the man who was shot in the back in the closing moments of Von Ryan's Express.

—Vice President of the Florida Land Development Corporation, a subsidiary of the Southern Marsh Reclamation Service.

—Head Librarian for Cuyahoga County West Virginia Elementary School's Grade 2.

—Vice President of the Brooklyn Bridge Associates.

—A member of a singing duet with Charlie Finley in which they'll be known professionally as "Spiro T and the Mule."

—Writer of the Hit Single "I Left My Wallet in Baltimore But I Got My Tail Out of Town!"

—Vice President of the Alamo Sales Corporation, the same outfit who brought the London Bridge to Arizona.

—Bureau Chief of the New York Times Tierra del Fuego Office.

—Ron Ziegler's new Press Secretary.

—Rumor has it that he'll team up with Ricky Nixon to do a Las Vegas act entitled "The Song & Dance". (Who'll sing and who'll dance?)

—Buffalo Bob's new dummy. "What time is it? It's Howdy Spiro Time!"

—Tennis & Golf pro at the Bellevue Hospital Health Spa.

—Movie Star in the hit "Last Tango in [illegible]" which is currently playing the Danish porn circuit in which Spiro pretends he's a fig leaf out on a date.

—Chairman of the National Committee for Fairness to Rabbi Korff.

—Chairman of the Gordon Liddy Fan Club.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Zamir Nestelbaum is a Collegian Columnist

Respond and save a life

By ELLEN GAVIN

Did anybody notice the WHOLE UNIVERSITY CATALOG?

Well there were ten thousand copies that disappeared very quickly, leaving a few hundred which were stashed away for posterity and such. So somebody has them somewhere. Probably some are stashed on bookshelves, dumped in recycling bins, or used as kitty litter, but my question is, "How many of you out there read them? And if you did, what did you think?" I know for a fact that some people did, my mother, my friends, and me, for example. I'm also pretty sure that Bromery and Gage read it from cover to cover to figure out what we students were up to, and then they probably used it in the same way that the Sears catalog was used in the outhouses of days gone by.

We who worked on the catalog have gotten a positive response from friends and acquaintances who have read it. Members of the Student Organizing Project, the Collegian, the [illegible], and many of the groups listed in the catalog, have commented on the catalog. Most people thought it was a success, a few felt a bit slighted. Overall, everybody seemed pleased.

But what did the rest of you think? Did you think it was just another university publication, published every year with some fantastic budget? Did you think it was a piece of crap filled with junk about blacks and women? Or did you see it for what it was meant to be: an underground guide to UMass, a collection of the constructive, vital things that are happening here?

The Whole University Catalog was sponsored by the Student Organizing Project during its intersession program, with financial assistance coming from the Commuter Assembly and the Student Senate Finance Committee. It was not meant to be another It's Your Move, or University Directions. It was designed to present a critical view of the university, as well as a vision of what a whole university could be. We hoped that the catalog would present a listing of the alternative courses now available at UMass, and also serve as a source book of resources and organizations that could be used by students throughout the semester. In the introductions to the various sections, we tried to articulate in a concise, clear way how each of the areas presented fit into a holistic view of the university as a community. Hopefully, people would find something in the catalog that grabbed them, that put some pieces together, that introduced them to something in which to get involved.

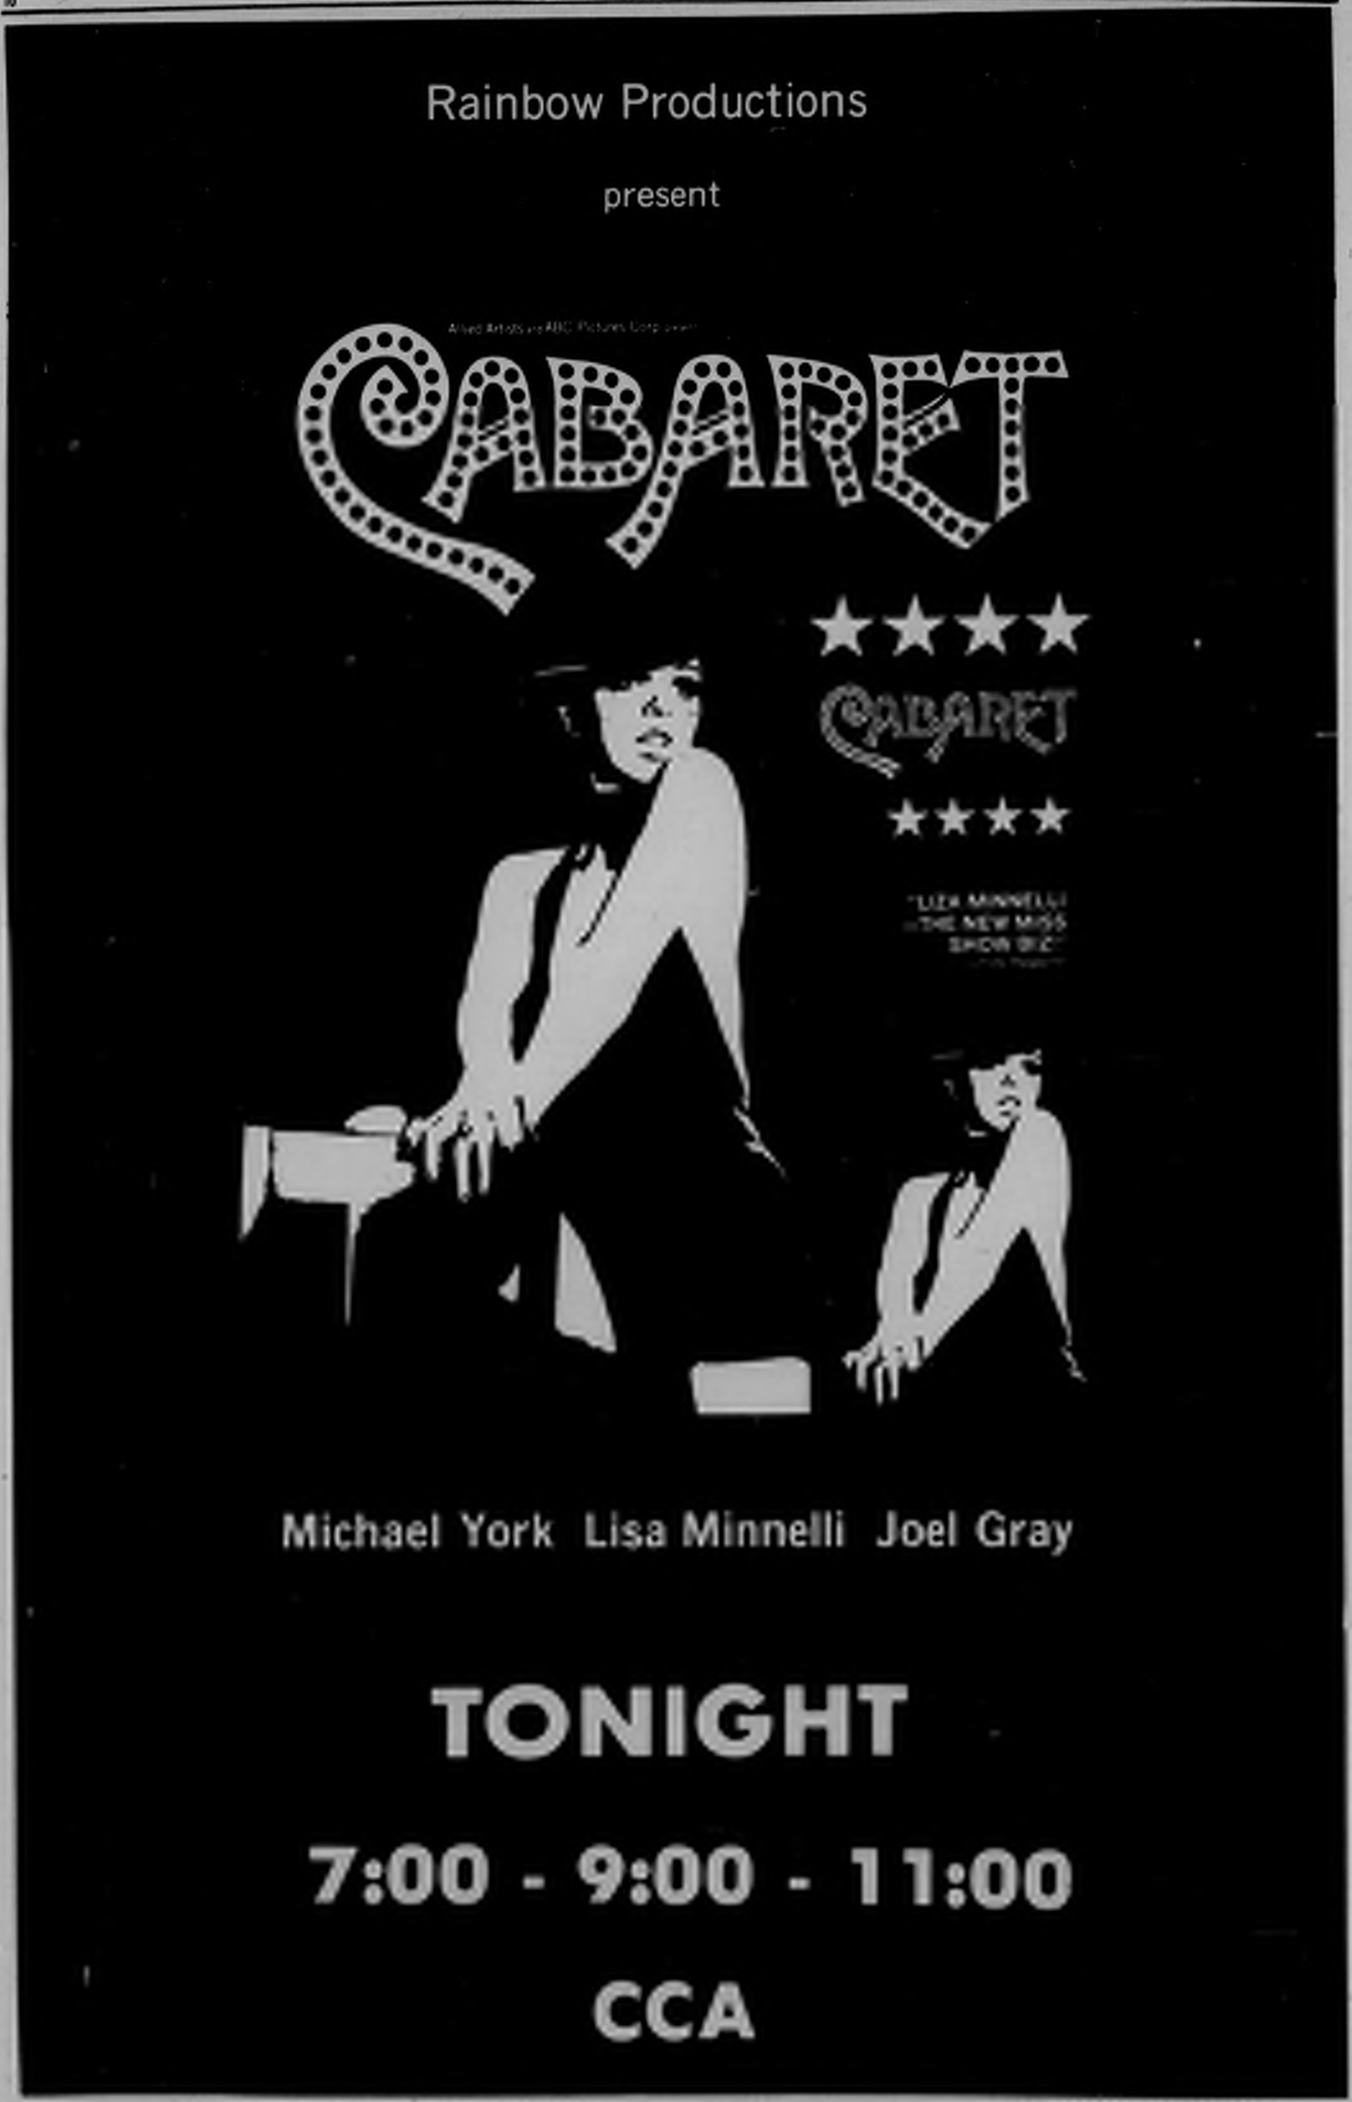
The catalog was compiled by a group of crazies and friends at a breakneck pace, with many an all-night stay in the Student Union. At many points we wondered if it would come off, if we would have the finished product in time for the return of fellow students. So you can see that once it finally materialized, we were all pretty excited.

But as it is with all media forms, one never really knows who is listening, who is reading, who is getting off on what is being said or written, and who thinks it is pure bunk. It is impossible to measure what effect one person, one group or one publication has on a community of twenty thousand. But the Whole University Catalog was an attempt to break down the divisions which separate us, to begin a dialogue among members of this diverse community. And if we ever hope to be a united community, specifically in the form of a student union, communication is essential. So if you have an opinion, a gripe, a suggestion, a few words of praise or criticism, pass them on to us, the Student Organizing Project, or write a letter to the Collegian.

If no one responds, I'll know for sure that I've only been talking to a wall. I'll give you 'til next week and then I'll [illegible] from the [illegible].

If anyone did not receive a Whole University Catalog and would like one, there are a few left up at the SOP office.

Ellen Gavin is a Collegian commentator and a member of the [illegible]



Rainbow Productions

present

Allied Artists and ABC Pictures Corp. present

CABARET

★★★★

CABARET

★★★★

"LIZA MINNELLI — THE NEW MISS SHOW BIZ"

Michael York Lisa Minnelli Joel Gray

TONIGHT

7:00 - 9:00 - 11:00

CCA

Too many people - too little food

Clydesdale predicts gloomy future

Dr. Fergus M. Clydesdale

"We are faced with about 7 billion people in the world by the year 2,000 and there's nothing we can do about it," so says Dr. Fergus M. Clydesdale of the UMass Food Science and Nutrition department. It's too late to implement a global birth control system to curb population growth and only holocaust or cataclysm would dent the burgeoning human race, he says.

"We have to start planning what to do with 7 billion people and to determine whether it's possible to hold that level," he believes.

It will be difficult, he added, because the world today has problems meeting demands for food from less than half that number.

Why may feeding ourselves become a desperate race? Because the production of food involves more than scattering a few seeds over a small backyard garden patch.

The U.S. has the most abundant food supply in the world. It consumes a large portion of the world's energy resources to bring that food to the market. Much of the energy is used in the production chain, planting to packaging and delivery.

But abundance and energy surpluses are dwindling.

During the 1960's the word "surplus" became synonymous with hugh quantities of food stored in the nation's heartland, said Dr. Clydesdale. Yet, the word surplus has disappeared from political and economic use.

In its place, "food reserves" is used, symbolizing the realization that the United States is no longer a land of unlimited resources.

According to Dr. Clydesdale, if all U.S. food production were to stop, the reserves would last 20-30 days.

What can the nation do for the world? It cannot move its food production system lock, stock and barrel into underdeveloped countries, said Clydesdale.

Without a surplus to export, technology would seem the answer. The technology, however, requires an industrially intensive society such as exists in America.

American technology in food production would create havoc in the labor intensive, underdeveloped countries which need help. The food technology of an advanced western society would put half the blue collar population of these nations out of work.

Those who cannot work starve.

And how much energy could the underdeveloped country afford to invest in growing its crops? Energy is the fuel for tractors, harvesters, processing equipment and refrigeration. The demand for fuel is such that it involves world politics. Smaller, poorer nations must preserve what they have.

"We can't take our system [illegible] and give it to someone. No one else can afford it," said Dr. Clydesdale.

The impact of doing so would be far reaching.

Bad eating habits

"If the rest of the world were to eat like the people of the United States, energy reserves would run out in 30 years. We can't ship our eating habits anywhere else."

What about a change in eating habits? Not a bad idea, said Dr. Clydesdale. In fact, a change might be more nutritious. Undernourished people might be able to consume better proteins. Americans might grow just a little thinner and healthier.

These changes, however, require more, not less technology and until they occur, [illegible] trends may prove counterproductive to providing more and more food.

Among these trends is what Dr. Clydesdale calls the "Back to Nature" movement.

The movement is a campaign against food additives and preservatives, chemical fertilizers and insecticides, large scale farming and modern processing plants.

"Going back to nature is fine as a hobby or for an individual but not on a national scale."

It would, for example, take 20 tons of cow manure to produce an acre of hybrid corn.

"We can't ship that much manure around," said Dr. Clydesdale. "We haven't the means to transport it, let alone get it anywhere."

He advocates the use of as much technology in food production as possible in the United States. In addition, he advocates policing that technology to make sure it's safe as is now done by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Food and Drug Administration and the state.

Clydesdale's field is the post harvest use of food. Fertilizers, additives and insecticides are essential to the solution of massive food problems, he feels.

Yet, as a result of consumer movements, a great deal of controversy has enveloped the use of all three, sometimes without good reason. Additives and DDT are two examples.

Food additives are tested at 100 times the level of the expected usage. The tests are carried out on animals. If determined safe at that level in the test animals, the additives are considered safe for humans.

The back-to-nature trend shuns food additives. The trend is expensive.

The back-to-nature trend is growing in popularity, however, as reflected in the appearance of so-called "natural cereals", [illegible] and bread.

The trend is expensive.

"If we went from white pan bread as we know it back to a natural bread," said Clydesdale, "the cost to the consumer over what he now pays would total 1.1 billion per year."

The bread without additives

turn to page 12

★ SENIOR ★

FEB 3-14

Sign Up Outside

INDEX Office

409 SU

or call

545-2874

PORTRAITS!

The Air Force ROTC College Program has 3 things to offer that other college programs don't.

1. Scholarships.
2. $100 monthly allowance.
3. Flying lessons leading to jet training.

Enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Contact Air Force ROTC

At Dickinson Hall, Univ. of Mass.

Call 5-2437

PUT IT ALL TOGETHER IN AIR FORCE ROTC

PROGRAM COUNCIL FILMS
SPRING 1975

Thu. 1-30	"DEATH IN VENICE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"JEREMIAH JOHNSON"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"FANTASTIC PLANET" plus short	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"GOLDEN VOYAGE OF SINBAD"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"THE EMIGRANTS" plus "THE DOVE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"LAST TANGO IN PARIS"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"SERPICO"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"WOODSTOCK" plus Beatles short	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"THE LAST DETAIL"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"AMERICAN GRAFFITI"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"FOR PETE'S SAKE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"DELIVERANCE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"DISCREET CHARM OF THE BOURGEOISIE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"DON'T LOOK NOW"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"HARD DAY'S NIGHT" plus "HELP"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"LORD OF THE FLIES" "DAVID AND LISA"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"THE GREAT GATSBY"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"STOLEN KISSES" "BED AND BOARD"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"IF"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"WILLIE DYNAMITE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"BUS STOP" "PRINCE AND THE SHOWGIRL"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"BUSTER AND BILLIE"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"THE KID" plus "THE IDLE CLASS"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"CITY LIGHTS"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"A VERY NATURAL THING" plus "SON OF THE SHIEK"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Thu. [illegible]	"IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT" plus "LOST HORIZON"	[illegible]	SUB — [illegible]
Sun. [illegible]	"GASLIGHT" plus "A WOMAN REBELS"	[illegible]	SUB — FREE
Tue. [illegible]	"U.N.C.L.E. films" "ONE OF OUR SPIES IS MISSING" "ONE SPY TOO MANY"	[illegible]	SUB — FREE
Thu. [illegible]	"THE DAY THE EARTH STOOD STILL"	[illegible]	SUB — FREE

'We brought this problem on ourselves'

cont. from p. 11

[illegible]

ARF!
LEAPIN' LIZARDS!
Amherst Optical Shoppe

A COMPLETE OPTICAL SERVICE
FASHIONABLE EYEWEAR
CONTACT LENSES/SUPPLIES
HEARING AID AUDIOLOGISTS

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
BLAZING SADDLES
1
2
"HARRY & TONTO"
3
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN" 4
Challenge to be Free

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
Starts February 5
Mt. Farms 4 Theatres

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN"

Film Times

[illegible]

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

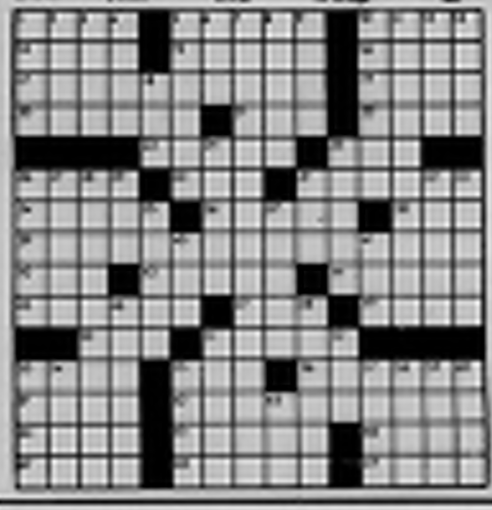
your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

* * *

[illegible]

[illegible]



DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

DID YOU ANSWER YOUR LOVE LETTER?
NO

Collegian notices

[illegible]

MDC classifieds sell

Unite or perish

The following is a policy editorial agreed upon by the Editors and Staff of the [illegible]

[illegible]

W.E.B. DuBois sent out a warning to America [illegible]

[illegible]

The time is now. Lets wage it, or it will wage us!

Prisoner pistol-whipped in courtroom

[illegible]

Notice

The following courses are being sponsored by the Malcolm X Room in Southwest:

Higher Education and the Black Student, Tim Knowles

Theory and Practice of Revolution in the Third World, Muhammad Ahmed

Comprehensive Life Science (possible "E" requirement) Bob Williams

Black Psychology, William Harris

Survey of Minority Rights in the Legal System, [illegible]

Sculpture Therapy, [illegible]

Women in Africa, [illegible]

The new proposal for minimum enrollment is [illegible] university of massachusetts arts council

presents

EMPIRE BRASS QUINTET

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10

8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS: $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 umass students

ON SALE 125 HERTER HALL, UMASS, AMHERST [illegible]

WMUA

MONDAY, FEBRUARY [illegible]

[illegible]

91.1 FM

Student Special SAVE!

Introductory Offer

(limited to 200 participants)

Ski Mt. Tom

with SPRING TERM SKI PASS unlimited skiing Monday through Friday . . .

SPECIAL DAY PASS

[illegible]

only $45.00

SPECIAL NIGHT PASS

[illegible]

only $57.00

Send to:
Mt. Tom
P.O. Box [illegible]
Holyoke, Mass.
Tel: [illegible]

MT. TOM . . . please send me special spring term ski pass [illegible]

☐ DAY PASS ☐ NIGHT PASS

NAME ____________________

ADDRESS ____________________

TOWN ____________________

SCHOOL ____________________

First appearance

Skimen tops in Can-Am

By PETER McDONNELL

[illegible]

JIM HAWKINS FLASHES down Mt. St. Anne in Quebec, and finished tenth in the Can-Am downhill race. The Minutemen skiers won the team title.

Track squad battles Big Green; final event could decide meet

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Swimmen sink MIT, look ahead to URI

By BOB HIGGINS

[illegible]

Hewlett-Packard's new HP-55 Programmable Scientific

[illegible]

university store campus center university of massachusetts/amherst

Stuff it.

Rent

your own refrigerator . . . just pennies a day.

- Inexpensive $40.00 Per Academic Year ★ $22.50 Per Semester ★
- Free delivery & pick-up at door of dorm
- Deposit refunded at pick-up time
- Compact

★ plus tax and $10 deposit

CONTACT:
253-5531
mini kool

[illegible] Enterprises

SPORTS STAFF NOTICE

There will be a meeting for all present and prospective sports staff members on Thursday, February [illegible] at [illegible] p.m.

[illegible]

sportsline 5-2210

Friars cook Minutemen 8-4

By DAVE EIBEL

PROVIDENCE — It was David versus Goliath last night at Providence College's Schneider Arena, but unfortunately this time David's sling shot came up empty, as PC beat UMass 8-4.

The Friars, ranked tenth nationally, bombarded Minuteman goalie Dana Redmond with forty shots, at least twenty of which were labelled. And even if he did allow eight goals, he consistently drew oohs and aahs from the crowd with a scintillating performance in goal.

Providence led 3-0 before the game was eight minutes old on goals by Dan Kennedy, Tim Whisler, and the first of three by Rick Cabalka. Cabalka notched what proved to be the winner at 6:00 of the second stanza when he picked up a loose puck in the UMass corner, wheeled in front and beat Redmond with a backhander to the shortside.

The Minutemen finally got on the board with their first genuinely good opportunity late in the second period. With Friar, Brad Wilson off for hooking, Bobby White stopped a clearing pass at the blue line and dropped it back to point man Tim Howes. Howes cut into the slot and unleashed a rising backhander that beat Providence goalie Rick Moffitt to the far side at 15:20.

Another UMass powerplay chance went by the boards in the final seconds of the period when 14 goal-scorer Chris Lamby swept around the Friar defense and slid a backhand shot off the far post with Moffitt beaten.

The Minutemen finally started to play solid two-way hockey with a 7-1 deficit in the final 12 minutes of the game. Billy Harris' line buzzed around Moffitt for almost a minute before Jim Lyons scored on a wrist shot with assists from Harris and Scotty Stuart. Friar captain Dave Kelly scored the second of his two goals at 10:01 to make the score 8-2 Providence but UMass got the last word in the game as Bobby White and Lyons with his second goal closed out the scoring.

Former NHL coach Larry Wilson's sons, defenseman Ron and forward Brad led the scoring for PC. Brad had three assists while his brother had a goal and two assists. But the biggest roar of the night came for standby goalie Bob Kelly who came in with three minutes to play to see his first action of the season. He got a standing ovation when he stopped a Howe's shot from the point. However, Lyons' second goal with 23 seconds left in the game on a breakaway changed the cheers to jeers.

UMass had 23 shots in the game including 12 in the third period but only half of them were testers. The Minutemen, in losing, saw their over all record dip to 7 wins and 10 losses, including one win in four tries against division one opponents. UMass faces Rhode Island at home tomorrow night at Orr rink.

Staff Photo by Dennis Conlon

You call it. UMass hockey Minuteman leading scorer Chris Lamby gets a little tangled up along the boards in action over the weekend versus AIC.

This one looks good for UMass but overall things were not so nice for the Minutemen as they were beaten soundly by Colgate last Friday.

Women cagers over Keene State, 82-55

By CHAS O'CONNOR

Operating as smooth as a Chopin melody, the UMass women's basketball team waltzed to a 82-55 victory over Keene St. last night at the NOPE gym. The first home game for the team provided their second win in two starts and nothing but praise from Coach Carol Albert.

"This game proved to us what kind of team we can be", she commented. "Everyone contributed and we played our own game. Last Thursday night against UConn, we didn't."

Unlike their game against UConn, Monday night's team looked smooth and organized. Turnovers were kept to a minimum, and the key to the team's attack - the fast break - was utilized to the fullest. Sophomore forward Nancy O'Neil and freshman center Lu Ann Fletcher were the heart of that fast break, providing the crucial rebounding upon which it depends. Keene State could only manage a meager total of four offensive rebounds.

When the fast break wasn't doing it, the press was. A devastating full court press employed by UMass in the latter half of the first period turned a six point lead into a twenty pointer in the space of four minutes. UMass held a [illegible] lead at the half.

Utilizing all of her twelve player roster, Coach Albert was easily able to keep five fresh players in the game during the second half and run the final twenty minutes away.

The only interesting note of the second half was a spectacular block by Captain Pat Olegin on an attempted fast-break basket. Olegin played well the entire game, slithering through holes and jumping over opponents for easy baskets.

Pacing the team in the scoring column were Nancy O'Neil and Lu Ann Fletcher, with 19 and 17 points respectively.

Tomorrow night UMass plays Northeastern in a 6:45 tilt. The team's next home game will be Friday night against Central Conn., possibly their toughest opponent of the year.

Sophomore Minutewoman basketballer Nancy O'Neil drives near the baseline as teammate LuAnn Fletcher positions herself under the basket.

Celts 10th straight Cowens dominates

DETROIT (UPI) — Dave Cowens scored 18 points and grabbed 20 rebounds Monday night to help the Boston Celtics beat back the Detroit Pistons, 114-100.

Boston won its 10th straight game largely in the second quarter. The Celtics sank 13 of 18 shots and stretched a [illegible] lead into a [illegible] halftime margin and were never threatened thereafter.

Veteran forward Don Nelson scored [illegible] points to reach the 10,000 mark for his career and Jo Jo White led the NBA's best road team by scoring 28. The Celtics have a [illegible] record away from home.

Bob Lanier scored 27 points, but only managed seven in the second half after tiring out. Dave Bing added 26.

No other Piston got more than nine while the Celtics had six players at 12 or more.

The loss dropped Detroit out of first place in the midwest division, .006 behind the Chicago.

BOSTON 114

[illegible]

DETROIT 100

[illegible]

Boston [illegible]—114
Detroit [illegible]—100

HEW gives FBI School of Ed investigation

By RICK GUREGHIAN
Staff Reporter

Health, Education and Welfare's Security and Investigation Unit has relinquished its investigative role to the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning the possible misuse of Federal funds within the University of Massachusetts' School of Education, according to an official at HEW.

The Federal probe, which had been a joint venture between HEW and the FBI, now leaves the FBI as the sole Federal investigating force involved.

"In all fairness, we did have involvement," said the source at HEW, "but as of now, none (HEW) of its personnel are involved in the investigation. If the FBI has any questions, we'll surely offer our services; but as of now, it has been turned over to the FBI."

In a related development, it was learned last night that HEW auditors have been requested by the FBI to assist in the probe of finances at the School of Ed.

Although HEW had direct involvement, due to allegations of Federal grants being mishandled at the School of Education, the source cited the "smallness" of HEW's Security and Investigation Unit as one reason behind the FBI's expanded jurisdiction over the case. But, he added, "why would we turn it over to the FBI unless there was something there? Evidently, there's enough smoke for the FBI to feel a more involved investigation is needed. As of now, it's been turned over to the investigative arm of the Federal Government."

Special Agent James Newpher of the Boston office, coordinator of the FBI's probe of the School of Education, declined comment on the HEW statement. It has been learned though, that the FBI will send a number of agents to the University to conduct a detailed investigation into the disbursement of nearly $15 million in grant funds at the School of Ed.

In a related development state Rep. James Collins of Amherst said he has warned UMass President Robert Wood and Chancellor Randolph Bromery that any attempt to cover up wrongdoing at the school would result in a special investigation by the legislature. Collins told the school officials that "a less than complete job on their part might lead to a legislative vote this year to end fiscal autonomy at the University."

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545-3500
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE [illegible] AMHERST, MA. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1975

Weather

As the Eagle flies to Amherst, say, snow and then some sun will come. On Thursday cloud and flurries will be the rage, with old Fahrenheit reaching the low thirties both days. On gloomy days, where is old Sol?

Sets aside dorm rule related story p. 3

UMass gives in to students

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

JAMES JORDAN

University officials agreed yesterday that they would not enforce the mandatory dormitory residency requirement with respect to John Pepi and James Jordan.

Pepi and Jordan have refused to pay their room and board fees on the grounds that the requirement is unconstitutional and dorm living provides no educational benefits.

Atty. Thomas Lesser of Northampton filed a motion in Federal District Court in Boston last week on behalf of Pepi and Jordan asking for a temporary restraining order which would have allowed them to register, providing the order was granted.

A letter of "stipulation" was filed with the court and was signed by William Searson, general council for the UMass board of trustees and Lesser.

The letter also stated the university will not academically withdraw Pepi and Jordan for failing to comply with the mandatory policy. The plaintiffs have agreed not to seek a temporary restraining order.

Both Pepi and Jordan said they will register today after paying tuition and fees.

Jordan said the agreement was "a good sign that the case has some merits."

John Fischer, economic co-ordinator for the student organizing project, said the implications of court case did not involve just changing dorm policies, but "changing the housing situation in general."

"There are clearly other things to do," he said, such as organizing a "tenants union" and imposing rent control in Amherst.

In addition, a class action suit filed last week on behalf of Pepi, Jordan, Stephen [illegible], Karen Zimmerman and all other undergraduates on campus. The defendants are Joseph P. Healy, chairman of the UMass board of trustees, UMass President Robert Wood, Chancellor Randolph Bromery, Ralph Jones, registrar and Kenneth [illegible], head of residential life.

Pepi, 20, from Stamford, Conn. and is a second semester junior majoring in political economy.

Jordan, 20, from Everett, Mass. is a second semester freshman majoring in Inquiry, an alternative Project 10 program.

The class action suit is seeking to rescind the mandatory dormitory policy for those students under 21. The defendants have 20 days to respond to the allegations. As yet, the defendants have not responded, according to the clerk of courts in Boston.

JOHN PEPI

Moves to strengthen Ed school seen

By BILL [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The UMass administration will move today to take over control of School of Education financial operations in a continuing effort to shore-up decreasing confidence in the School and its programs, the Collegian learned last night.

The moves will come in the form of four directives from campus Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery which he will announce at a regular meeting of the UMass Trustees today at 2 p.m. at UMass-Boston.

Bromery will announce three temporary changes in the School's administrative and financial management staff. The three changes are:

—Transfer of responsibility for grant and contract administration for all federal funds coming from the school to Graduate School Assoc. Dean Pat W. [illegible].

—Turnover of financial management at the School to Karl W. Boekhuizen, presently the deputy budget director for the entire Amherst campus.

Boekhuizen's appointment will in effect fill the position left vacant when Asst. School of Ed Dean Robert H. Suzuki resigned last December. Suzuki resigned after he made allegations of misuse of funds at the School.

—The installation of William J. [illegible], special assistant to the Provost, as an advisor and aide to Earl Seidman. Seidman is acting School of Education Dean.

Seidman had considered quitting his post in recent days, a move which would have left the School temporarily leaderless. The appointment of [illegible] will assure Seidman's continued leadership, it was learned.

Bromery is also expected to tell the Trustees that he will appoint an acting Dean to the School "no later than March 1." Seidman will serve in the interim.

However, the appointment will probably be made after consultation with leaders at the School of Education. Associate Provost David C. Bischoff said earlier this week no acting Dean will be appointed without recommendations from the School's Cabinet.

Bromery will also brief Trustees in executive session about allegations of misuse of funds made by Suzuki last November before his resignation as chief financial manager of the School. The allegations have never been revealed publicly.

Misuse of SW funds

By LARRY [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Southwest Assembly voted unanimously last night to express displeasure with Southwest Director Richard Green's appropriation of $1,500 and set up a committee to find out where it was spent.

Dr. Green declined to comment on the motion, saying he has not seen a copy of it yet.

"All I want to know is why $1,500 was given to the director...why Dr. Green authorized the expenditure of this money to himself," said Southwest Assembly President Craig Sanderson.

According to Sanderson, the Southwest Budget Committee was led to believe all the funds had been allocated last year.

The $1,500 came from Program Support Funds, which is money generated by vending machines.

Southwest staff member Floyd Martin said "Craig could not get a budget committee together in the fall. There has been nobody that he (Dr. Green) could go to."

"The students are not blaming Richard Green. We assume he didn't spend all $1,500 on something he shouldn't have," she added.

Inside

Black Affairs — Page 7

All the Big National and International Stories — Pages 4, 5, 6

Comment and Editorial Commentary — Pages 10, 11, 12

State Supreme Court sets food stamp deadline

[illegible]

DO NOT FOLD
FOOD COUPON
DO NOT SPINDLE
A40619594A
50 Agricultural Abundance
Healthier Families
NON-TRANSFERABLE
EXCEPT UNDER CONDITIONS PRESCRIBED BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

Only one third of UMass applicants have been notified of their eligibility.

$ rise in some summer courses

[illegible]

Robert L. Gluckstern

Selectmen seek fire fund source

[illegible]

Boltwood project now seeking volunteers

[illegible]

Melville dorm key missing

[illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

— WE NEED YOU —

[illegible]

Prof. Stanley Lippert points out some of the qualities of a bamboo water cleaning system.

UMass professor seeks a method for cleaner water

[illegible]

UMass janitor Conway claims January layoff was forced

[illegible]

Michael Sarnowski and Glenn Conway

[illegible]

VITA tax assistance begins on Thursday

[illegible]

Local housing situation shown to be restricted

[illegible]

news analysis

[illegible]

Ford predicts economy will improve by 1976

ATLANTA (UPI) — President Ford said yesterday the nation's economy "will get better the further we go into 1976" and predicted the situation will be good enough for him to seek the presidency on his own.

Ford told a news conference concluding his two-day southern visit that "the economic situation in 1976 will be an improving picture. I believe unemployment will be going down and employment will be going up.

"I think the economic circumstances will be good enough to justify at least my seeking re-election," Ford said.

He said "good old American free enterprise" in the form of cash rebates to purchasers of new cars had gotten the economy "moving quicker than had been anticipated."

Ford predicted that in 1976 the cost of living will go up 7 per cent, compared with 12.2 per cent jump in the past year. He contended this would be "a very significant improvement as it is not double-digit inflation."

He said he expected the second and third quarter of this year to produce a "switch on the plus side," with a 5 per cent increase in the Gross National Product and possibly a reduction in joblessness of [illegible] million.

Reaffirms intention to run again in '76

Ford refused to discuss what he might do if Congress rejects his economic and energy proposals. Asked his reaction of the bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee for an $8.4 billion income tax rebate, Ford said "I'll have to wait for the final version."

"Action by the American people," he said, "is infinitely more important than what we do in Washington, D.C.

"We've had changes in the last two or three months that show the economy is developing faster than expected," Ford said.

Wage and price controls, Ford said, "are the worst kind of medicine I could possibly see."

House votes to delay food stamp hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted overwhelmingly yesterday to order a delay in the administration's plan to increase on March 1 the cost of food stamps now used by more than 17 million Americans.

The measure, passed on a 374-38 vote, would delay until Dec. 31, 1975, the plan to raise the present average cost of 23 per cent of a person's adjusted income for stamps to 30 per cent.

The Senate Agriculture Committee planned to take up the House measure Wednesday and expected to send it unchanged to the Senate floor this week for final congressional action.

Administration sources said that in view of the overwhelming vote in favor of the delay, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz would urge President Ford not to veto the measure.

Ford proposed the increase to cut back on the $4-billion-a-year cost of the food stamp program which enables low income persons to purchase food for below retail costs.

Ford estimated the savings at $[illegible] million for the rest of the 1975 fiscal year that ends June 30, and $[illegible] million in the next fiscal year. Rejection of the plan means the $52 billion deficit Ford projected in his budget on Monday would be increased by more than another half-billion dollars.

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., manager of the bill, said quick action was needed before Feb. 18 when states, which administer the program, would start costly changeovers in their distribution and accounting machinery to meet the administration order.

President Gerald Ford answers questions at a news conference in front of television cameras in Atlanta yesterday.

Ways and Means panel refuses to end oil depletion allowance

[illegible]

UNIVERSITY COURT SYSTEM HAS POSITIONS OPEN FOR STUDENTS INTERESTED IN WORKING AS ADVOCATES OR JUDGES. Come in to 422 S.U.B.

or call [illegible]

dungarees jeans

in the sizes you need & the styles you'll like — at prices you'll love.

only $[illegible]

university store

NUGENT'S SALE

½ off

original price of all fall & winter merchandise.

EVERYTHING MUST GO

[illegible]

Campus Plaza

[illegible]

Heath quits as woman wins ballot

British party chief suffers upset

LONDON (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Edward Heath resigned as Conservative party leader yesterday shortly after he was beaten in balloting for the post by a matronly politician who could become Britain's first woman prime minister.

Heath announced his resignation just two hours after Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, a toughminded former education minister, edged him out in the first of three possible ballots for the party leadership, but failed to win the necessary majority.

His decision meant that Mrs. Thatcher, 49, education secretary in the 1970-74 government, became more than a remote possibility for Britain's first woman prime minister.

"As a result of the first ballot today for the leadership of the Conservative party," Heath said, "I have decided not to stand in the second ballot."

"It was a great privilege to serve my party as leader and my country as prime minister."

what kind of party leader she would be, Mrs. Thatcher said, "I'm afraid I shall be myself."

Under a complicated new set of rules, the 130 votes Mrs. Thatcher rolled up were not enough to give her victory in the first ballot. She needed an absolute majority, or 139, plus a lead of 15 per cent, or 42 votes, to win outright.

She faces a second round of balloting next Tuesday when only an absolute majority is necessary. If no one wins then, a third ballot must be held Feb. 18 between the three front runners, with a simple majority required to win.

Under the party voting system, additional candidates can enter the fray before nominations for the second ballot close at noon Thursday.

In yesterday's first ballot of the 276 Conservative party members of Parliament, Mrs. Thatcher won 130 votes to 119 for Heath and 16 for Hugh Fraser, a one-time Conservative government air minister.

But Heath decided to quit anyhow. So did Fraser.

Heath's decision ended a 10-year rule as leader of the Conservative party, capped by more than three years as prime minister between 1970 and 1974.

He himself said his chief achievement was taking Britain into the European Common Market two years ago.

The present Labor government headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson has challenged that decision and will ask the country to vote on it in a referendum in June.

Mrs. Thatcher said, "I was very pleased indeed. We got far more votes than I had dared to hope."

She said she believes she can win in a second or third ballot. Asked

Reports show Wallace leads fundraisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace raised far more money last year than any other presidential hopeful, campaign finance reports showed yesterday.

The Alabama Democrat raised nearly $1.8 million using a massive direct-mail campaign. Most of the money came in donations of under $100 each.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was second with $1.1 million, mostly from donations of between $1,000 and $3,000 each.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., was third with $[illegible] million, a total that included some money raised in 1973 and transferred in last year. Bentsen also relied heavily on donors who gave between $1,000 and $3,000.

[illegible]

Arrested members of the Menominee Warrior Society are handcuffed to deputies as they are led from the county jail yesterday following their surrender in Gresham, Wisconsin.

Police file charges against 28 Indians

[illegible]

news summary

Americans airlifted

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — American civilians, mostly women and children, were airlifted along with 30 other foreigners yesterday to the safety of Addis Ababa from the provincial capital of Asmara where government troops battled [illegible]

Turkish aid ends

[illegible]

Brezhnev "sick"

[illegible]

Radio criticized

[illegible]

NOW OPEN

SOUTH CHINA RESTAURANT

[illegible]

STUDENT SENATE ELECTIONS

ARE YOU A MEMBER OF:

[illegible]

Nomination Papers Now Available

[illegible]

PARTICIPATE and the choice is yours ... don't ... and the choice is theirs.

[illegible]

50%

JEANS PANTS SWEATERS

[illegible]

CLIP AND SAVE

10%

[illegible]

Nurse discredits testimony against Edelin

Says no clocks were in operating room

BOSTON (AP) — A nurse confirmed yesterday that there were no clocks in the operating room where an abortion was performed — the strongest evidence so far to discredit testimony against Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin.

[illegible]

State may use wastes to produce energy

BOSTON (AP) — Solid waste may be one answer to some of the state's energy problems, and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis hoped this source might be tapped to generate some of Massachusetts' future electrical needs.

[illegible]

Ford admits possibility of war started for 'immoral' reasons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

[illegible]

WMUA

News Dept. Meeting

Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975

8:00 p.m.

Rm. 176 C.C.

All third world people and women are urged to attend!!!

University of massachusetts arts council presents

Israel Chamber Orchestra

The Portland Ballet

[illegible]

Appearing Presents

The Jim K Band

[illegible]

Rusty Nail Inn

[illegible]

The Black Scientist Society will hold a very important organizational meeting

Thurs., Feb. 6 4 p.m.

[illegible]

[illegible]

All officers are urged to attend!

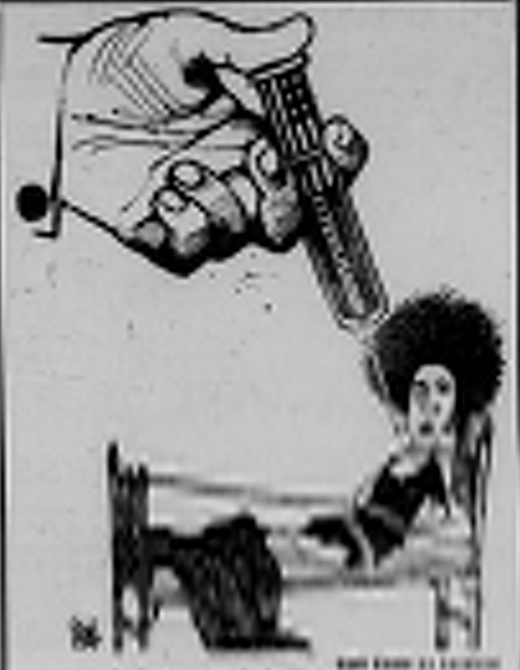
False testimony: Attica 5

By BNS

This is the first of a three-part series covering the latest releases on the Attica trial. [illegible]

BUFFALO — Charles "Flip" Crowley, a prosecution witness against five Attica Brothers accused of murder and kidnapping, testified today that he had given false testimony against the Brothers because he had been threatened, beaten, and tortured by New York State police and prison guards.

[illegible]



U.S. Government sterilizing women

35% of Puerto Rican women sterilized!

[illegible]

FOR SALE

[illegible]

SALE

Southwestern Indian Jewelry

[illegible]

[illegible]

Feb. 5 - 8

[illegible]

TALKING about apathy?*

Let's start DOING something about it!

Become Involved . . . .

Attend Student Senate Meetings

TONIGHT at 7 p.m.

Rm. 113 Campus Ctr.

Men's & Women's League

[illegible]

NE area seeks colloq teachers

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Belchertown to offer new problems course

[illegible]

Art workshops start Feb 15

[illegible]

Now Appearing at the
THE STEAK OUT
REAL TEARS
Happy Hour Mon. - Sat. 4:30 - 7:00
in the Speakeasy Lounge
Happy Birthday Harland

N.E.S.
Tutoring in Springfield

Recruitment Meeting
Wednesday, February 5
7:30 p.m. Room 804-8 C.C.

Tutoring on a one-to-one basis
one or more times a week
Credit available

If you are interested in working with kids,
please attend this very important meeting.

Education — Involvement — Alternatives

N.E.S. office: 426A Student Union

Tel. no.: 545-0575

Dynamite Diamonds

FREDERICKS
[illegible]

PROGRAM COUNCIL FILMS
SPRING 1975

[illegible]	"DEATH IN VENICE"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"JEREMIAH JOHNSON"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"FANTASTIC PLANET" plus shorts	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"GOLDEN VOYAGE OF SINBAD"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"THE EMIGRANTS" plus "THE DOVE"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"LAST TANGO IN PARIS"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"SERPICO"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"WOODSTOCK" plus Beatles short	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"THE LAST DETAIL"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"AMERICAN GRAFFITI"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"FOR PETE'S SAKE"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"DELIVERANCE"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"DISCREET CHARM OF THE BOURGEOISIE"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"DON'T LOOK NOW"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"HARD DAY'S NIGHT" plus "HELP"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"LORD OF THE FLIES" "DAVID AND LISA"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	"THE GREAT GATSBY"	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible]
han lin

WMUA

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5
[illegible]

91.1 FM

Great Decisions: 1975 series begins tonight in Webster House

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

notes, quotes

Rape line
545-COPS

Futuristics course offered

[illegible]

Aliyah group

[illegible]

YOUR MONEY'S WELL SPENT AT Archer Kent
Archer Kent
DISCOUNT HEALTH & BEAUTY AIDS
AMHERST
OPEN SUNDAYS!
73¢
78¢
Instant Shave
77¢
83¢
88¢
CONTAC
TRAC II
74¢
Pepper Sticks
88¢
67¢

[illegible]

Letters to the editor

Petition for quality in School of Ed.

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Hubert Bryan et. al. 121 signatures

Right to bear arms threatened

To the Editor:

[illegible]

S.F. [illegible]

Medina an unknowing slave?

To the Editor:

[illegible]

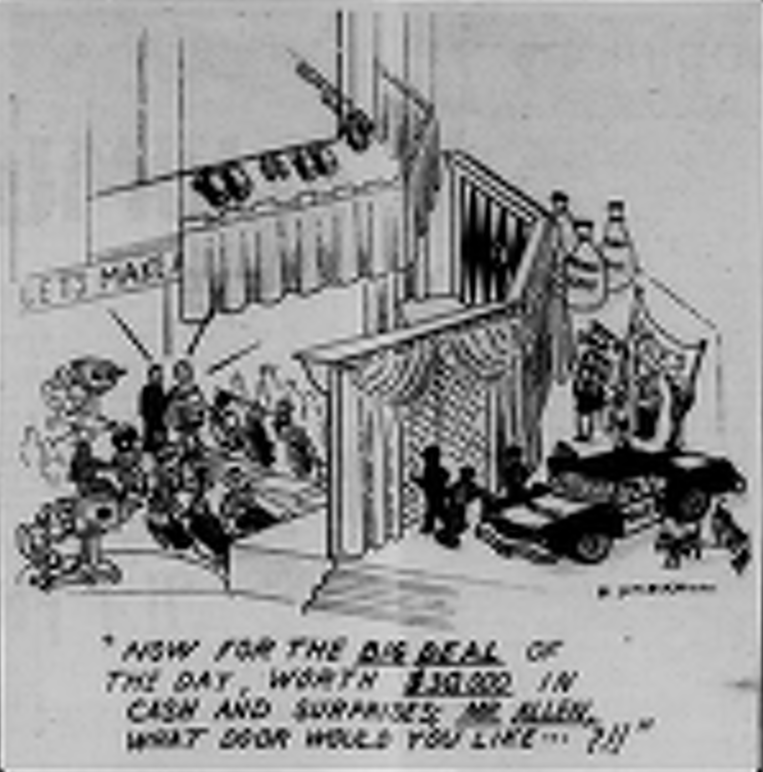
NAARP organizing

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Letters Policy

[illegible]



"NOW FOR THE BIG DEAL OF THE DAY, WORTH $30,000 IN CASH AND SURPRISES: MR. ALLEN, WHAT DOOR WOULD YOU LIKE ... ?!!"

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

An equal chance for all

[illegible]

Nat Clark

The price of innovation

[illegible]

Nat Clark is a Collegian Columnist

Reid Fishman

The great american nightmare

[illegible]

Reid Fishman is a Collegian Columnist

A lesson from Cuba?

[illegible]

turn to page [illegible]

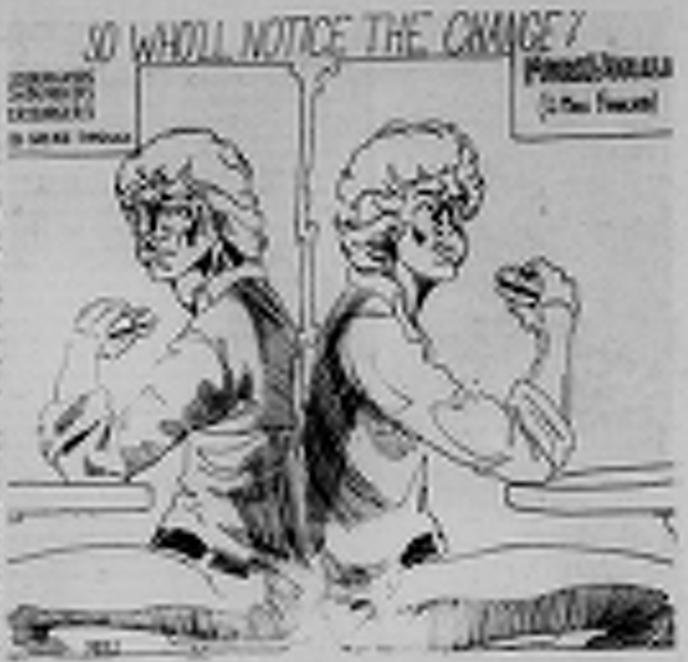
●opinion●editorial●opinion●editorial●opinion●

A conservative colloquy

By JAMES A. ROLLET

[illegible]

James A. Roller is a Bob Zabelle Memorial Commentator



SO WHO'LL NOTICE THE CHANGE?

SGA: Get involved

By TRACY A. KING

[illegible]

Tracy A. King is a Collegian Commentator

"Superficial systems"

cont. from p. 11

[illegible]

[illegible] is a Collegian Commentator

Notable Quote

[illegible]

Editorial points

[illegible]

Workshops for women still have openings

[illegible]

Only when the sun goes down do things really start hopping as three unidentified human flyers prove somewhere in the Berkshire meadows. Notice the cool precision of the three who could be members of a missing troupe of Ukranian dancers.

niversity of massachusetts arts council
presents

EMPIRE BRASS QUINTET
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 [illegible]
ON SALE [illegible] HERTER HALL, U MASS, AMHERST [illegible]

Fun City Fast!
Catch A Ride With Continental Trailways.

[illegible]

Express Service (non-stop to New York) Twice Daily.

[illegible]

Ride with Peter Pan and Continental Trailways. You'll meet interesting people like yourself, have time to read, relax and contemplate.

Ticket Offices:

[illegible]

notes & quotes

Amherst Rotarians sponsor "Rotoract"

[illegible]

Intern program run by Audubon Society

[illegible]

The Air Force ROTC College Program has 3 things to offer that other college programs don't.

1. Scholarships.
2. $100 monthly allowance.
3. Flying lessons leading to jet training.

Enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Contact Air Force ROTC
At Dickinson Hall, Univ. of Mass.
Call 5-2437

PUT IT ALL TOGETHER IN AIR FORCE ROTC

[illegible]
VALENTINE'S DAY
February 14th
[illegible]
A. J. Hastings
[illegible]
AMHERST

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND
TONITE thru SATURDAY

"New England's #1 Band!"
★Stars of "College Weeks" In BERMUDA.
★Illusion Recording Artists.
★First Amherst appearance this semester.

Come Early... You Remember The Last Time They Were HERE!

THE HATCH
U Mass. Campus Center

WMUA

Here is today's schedule for WMUA, 91.1 FM.

The disc jockeys today are Stu MacDonald until 10, Mark [illegible] until 2, Mary Lawson goes for another four hours, followed by Marc Bauman until 10, and Barry Williams hosts Underground until 2 in the morning.

8:30 a.m., High Tides, Jeff Jones gives his astrological report, as he does every week-day.

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., [illegible], Community events listed.

7:20 p.m. WMUA Sports Broadcast, UMass basketball, tonight hosting the Boston College Eagles, is brought to you live by Larry Connor and Russ Small.

10:15 p.m., Gaybreak, Damian tonight hosts a program designed to give voice to the gay community.

WMUA News is broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m., and at 3, 6 & 10 p.m. Headlines of the news can be heard at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m.

Film Times

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1,2,3,4,5,6
The Towering Inferno 2, 8:15
Earthquake 2, 7:30, 9:30
Murder on the Orient Express 2, 7:00, 9:15
Freebie and the Bean 2, 7:30, 9:40
Abby 2, 7:30, 9:30
The Godfather, Part II 2, 8:00
MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
Fantasia 6:15, 8:30
Harry and Tonto 6:15, 8:30
Blazing Saddles 6:30, 8:30
Challenge to be Free 6:30, 8:30
HAMPSHIRE MALL CINEMA
Swiss Family Robinson 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00
AMHERST CINEMA
The Wild Child 7:00
Stolen Kisses 8:30
CALVIN THEATRE
Law and Disorder 7:00 & 9:00
CAMPUS CINEMAS
Ilsa 7:00 & 9:00
Woody Allen 7:00
Lenny Bruce Performance Film 7:00 & 9:00
King of Marvin Gardens 8:15

Cinema
Now Con't. Shows Daily
WALT DISNEY'S
SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON
G

AMHERST Cinema
Now
"the wild child"
plus Francois Truffaut's Stolen Kisses

One Day in the Life of
IVAN DENISOVITCH
Thursday, Feb. 6
7, 9, 11
C.C. Aud.

CALVIN Theatre
Now Now
CARROLL O'CONNOR ERNEST BORGNINE
LAW AND DISORDER
R

CAMPUS Cinemas
LENNY BRUCE PERFORMANCE FILM
"The King of Marvin Gardens" with Jack Nicholson at 8:15
woody allen's
Sleeper
Judge for yourself! Why "ILSA" is today's most controversial picture in today's headlines!
ILSA
at 7:00 & 9:00

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1·2·3·4·5·6
"The special effects are smashing."
THE TOWERING INFERNO PG
EARTHQUAKE PG
College Discount Cards Available
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean R
Soon Dustin Hoffman as "Lenny"
Abby R
The Godfather PART II R
Soon "Funny Lady"

584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
TECHNICOLOR
"AN INCREDIBLY REVOLUTIONARY FILM ... THE MIND CAN RUN RIOT!"
"FAR AHEAD OF ITS TIME ... BEST AUDIO-VISUAL EXPERIENCE IN TOWN"
"A TOTAL EXPERIENCE IN SIGHT, SOUND AND COLOR ... MAKE FANTASIA A MUST!"
G
FOR GROUP INFORMATION CALL 584-9154
① 6:15, 8:30 Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25 — 5:45-6:15 Only
"ONE OF THE MOST ORIGINAL, FUNNY, TRUE AND TOUCHING PICTURES OF THE YEAR!"
"HARRY & TONTO"
NOW IN ITS FINAL WEEK.
② R 6:15, 8:30 Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25 — 5:45-6:15 Only
Mel Brooks'
BLAZING SADDLES
from the people who gave you "The Jazz Singer"
CLEAVON LITTLE GENE WILDER SLIM PICKENS
③ R 6:30, 8:30 Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25 — 6:00-6:30 Only
Challenge to be Free
2nd RECORD WEEK!
G
④ 6:30, 8:30 No Twi-Lite Hour

Notices

AKIKDO CLUB:
Will meet Weds and Fri 7 pm to 9 pm, Boyden Wrestling rm. On Sundays 2:30 pm to 4:30 pm at Boyden, same room.

ASTROLOGY CLASSES:
Jeff Jawer, Leslie Mitchell and Larrie Shea, BDIC Majors in Astrology, will teach an introductory course and an intermediate course in Astrology on Weds. nites at the C.C. 7:30 p.m. All welcome.

ALCOHOL DISCUSSION GROUP:
Anyone interested in any area concerning alcohol is urged to attend. Group will meet at 7:30 in C.C.

AMATEUR RADIO ASSOC:
Meeting tomorrow nite at 8 pm in C.C. 903. Lots to discuss.

BAKE SALE:
Sponsored by Jewish Community of Amherst. Thurs. 2-6, Stop and Shop 8-5. Jewish style baked goods as well as other favorites.

ASIAN AMERICANS:
First meeting of the semester to plan upcoming events. Come and participate! All interested are welcome. 6:30 pm, 2nd floor lounge, New Africa House.

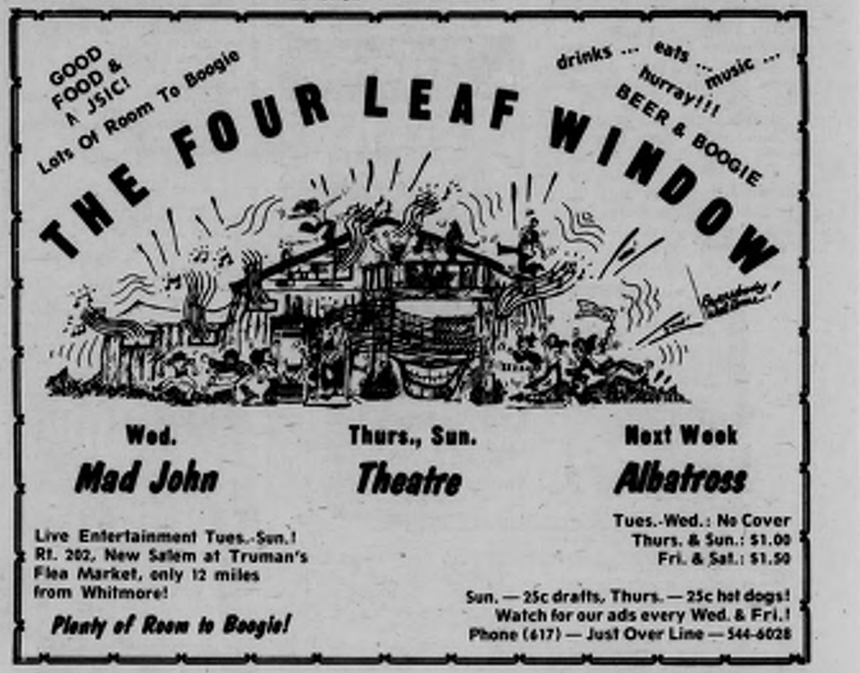
BOTANY COLLOQ:
Dr. Richard E. Schultes, Botanical Museum, Harvard University, Cambridge, Ma. will be the guest speaker at the Colloq. Thursday 2-6, at 4:30 pm in 203 Morrill Science Center. His topic "Cannabis and Man - A 10,000 Year Partnership." Coffee will be served at 4.

BIBLICAL EXPLORATION:
New time: 9:45 pm Weds. in 316 Hamp-

turn to page 17

TV tonight

5:00 ABC AFTERSCHOOL SPECIAL "Skating Rink." (8)
THE REAL MCCOYS "How To Paint A House." (18)
THE BIG VALLEY "Noose Is Waiting." (22)
MISTERROGERS NEIGHBORHOOD (24) (57)
THE MICKEY MOUSE CLUB (38)
5:30 GREEN ACRES "Ralph's Nuptials." (18)
VILLA ALAGRE (24) (57)
HOGAN'S HEROES "Shultz Meets Mata Hari." (30)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (40)
6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
THE CHAMPIONS (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24) (57)
NIGHTLY NEWS (30)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
BONANZA (40)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
MAKING THINGS WORK (24)
MOVIE "When Comedy Was King." (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
ZOOM! (57)
6:45 ECONOMICS 201 (24)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES Bob Barker, host (8)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "Fifty Two-Forty Five Or Work." (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
TO TELL THE TRUTH Garry Moore, host (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
7:30 NAME THAT TUNE Tom Kennedy, host (3)
$25,000 PYRAMID (8)
DEL REEVES COUNTRY CARNIVAL (18)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES Peter Marshall, host (22)
THE NUTMEGGER'S ALMANAC (24)
ANIMAL WORLD "Dragons Of Komodo." (30)
ROOM 222 "Shoestring Catch." (40)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 TONY ORLANDO AND DAWN (3)
THAT'S MY MAMA "The Witness." (8) (40)
SHARING OUR FAITH (18)
LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE "Plague." (22) (30)
TBA (24)
BOSTON BRUINS HOCKEY (38)
ARABS AND ISRAELIS (57)
8:30 WEDNESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "All Together Now." (8) (40)
FRIENDS OF MAN (27)
BEHIND THE LINES (57)
9:00 CANNON "Missing At FL307." (3)
LUCAS TANNER (22) (30)
THEATER IN AMERICA "The Widowing Of Mrs. Holroyd." (24)
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA (57)
9:30 GOMER PYLE "Gomer Pyle, Super Chef." (27)
10:00 THE MANHUNTER "The Wrong Man." (3)
GET CHRISTIE LOVE! "Murder on High C." (8) (40)
FAITH FOR TODAY (18)
PETROCELLI (22) (30)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
PERRY MASON "The Case Of the Cautious Coquette." (56)
10:30 MAYOR'S HALF HOUR (18)
11:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (8) (18) (22) (27) (30) (40)
CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS (57)
11:30 WEDNESDAY STARLIGHT MOVIE "Halls Of Montezuma." (3)
WIDE WORLD SPECIAL "In Search Of Howard Hughes." (8) (40)



GOOD FOOD & A JSIC!
Lots of Room To Boogie
THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
drinks ... eats ... music ...
hurray!!!
BEER & BOOGIE

Wed. Mad John
Thurs., Sun. Theatre
Next Week Albatross

Live Entertainment Tues.-Sun.!
Rt. 202, New Salem at Truman's Flea Market, only 12 miles from Whitmore!

Plenty of Room to Boogie!

Tues.-Wed.: No Cover
Thurs. & Sun.: $1.00
Fri. & Sat.: $1.50

Sun. — 25c drafts, Thurs. — 25c hot dogs!
Watch for our ads every Wed. & Fri.!
Phone (617) — Just Over Line — 544-6028

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay
To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday-Friday.
The deadline is 3:45, two days before the day your ad is to appear.
The rates are: [illegible]

FOR SALE

CALCULATOR Bowmar MX100 $65. 6-6748

195 Kneissl Look T Bindings, Nordica boots, Scott poles. $95 or best offer 546-8805

Gibson EB-0 exc. $185 [illegible]

[illegible]

AUTO FOR SALE

Vega 1974 Estate wagon, auto, AM-FM, deluxe interior, snow tires, excel. cond. Call 323-6971.

[illegible]

ROOMMATE WANTED

Responsible F wanted to live in and care for house and pets in exchange for rent concession. Own room. Bob 253-7241.

[illegible]

HELP WANTED

Summer Job — Two Third World people needed to lead a cross country bicycle trip this summer, one male, one female. Must be 21 years old and have camp counselor qualifications. [illegible]

[illegible]

INSTRUCTION

STUDENTS TYPE YOUR OWN PAPERS after 5 CLASSES (saves money and hassle). WRIGHTYPE — a typing course designed for academic typists and those motivated persons who need only a minimum of instruction. [illegible]

[illegible]

---

your birthday by stella wilder

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5 — Born today, you are a naturally affectionate person whose main happiness derives from the home and family relationships. This does not mean that you are a retiring individual who cannot achieve outside the home, however; indeed, the happier you are within the home situation, the greater your attainments outside, the greater your material and spiritual gains through career associates. Additionally, there is, in spite of your home orientation, something of the wanderer about you. There are times when, despite your family, your thoughts stray toward freedom.

Inspired by just the right stimuli, you can be one of the most fascinating conversationalists around.

* * *

Thursday, February 6

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — When it comes to matters on the home front, take immediate action. If you allow difficulties to go unheeded, they will only get worse.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You could jeopardize your future happiness this afternoon if you allow yourself to procrastinate when it comes to solving children's problems.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Attempt to reach a mutual decision with a partner today. If you are careful in the way you word your desires, you may be able to get them approved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Matters of importance to co-workers come up for decision at this time. You can be of help to others — but only if you take, and act on, the broad view.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You would do well to take stock of your material assets at this time. You may well be coming into a time of confusion when taking stock is impossible.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Revise your work schedule so as to make room for new endeavors. The less said to another of a complaining nature, the better off you will be.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You must be willing to take responsibility for your own actions. Otherwise, you may find that others withdraw opportunities previously offered.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Advancement is secured by a few extra duties taken on willingly this morning. Keep aware of another's efforts to please — and be happy!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Take on problems as they arise; otherwise you may find yourself with an overload by evening. Ask direct questions — receive direct answers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Confusion results in the morning from efforts to deal with more than one problem at a time. Don't allow another to take on your responsibility.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — If you are wise, you will attend to all matters of business as early in the day as possible. Redirect your energy in a profitable direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Make your decisions regarding co-workers early in the day. You may be charged with undue delay if you don't move quickly and well.

United Features Syndicate

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Self-satisfied
5 Vacuum tube: Suffix
9 Footballers
14 Neck hair
15 Tramp
16 Scarflike vestment
17 Dye plant
18 Destroy
19 Great sprinter Eddie -
20 "- Rita"
21 Satisfaction
23 Snarled
25 Liveliness
26 Spanish article
27 Finish a driveway
29 Society newcomer: Informal
32 Plumbing item
35 Team
36 [illegible]
37 [illegible] god
38 Remove hair from 39 Arrogant person
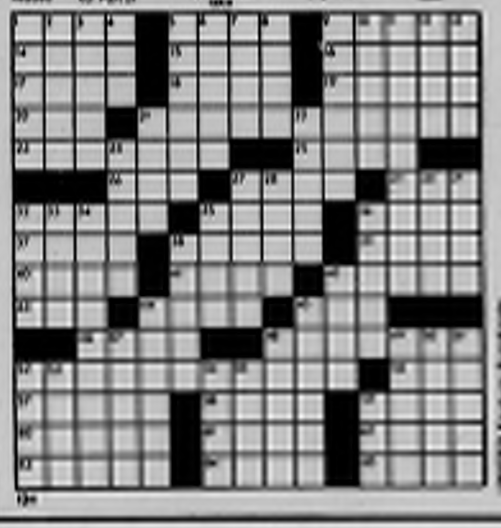
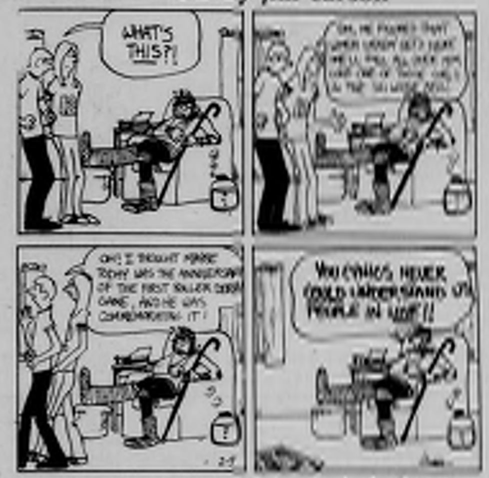
40 Expectorated
41 Damage
42 Medicinal amounts
43 Extrasensory percep.
44 Tattered garments
45 However
46 Flower part
48 Time period
52 Eye examiner
56 Exist
57 Vitreous mineral compound
58 Cost-of-living item
59 Feminine name
60 General [illegible]
61 [illegible]
62 Part of the eye
63 Debtors
64 Theater -
65 Russian negative

DOWN
1 Intelligent
2 Craze
3 Merger
4 Semisolid substance
5 Violent pangs of pain
6 Globular
7 Death notice
8 Nary a one
9 Container
10 Perfume
11 Time keepers
12 Ku Klux -
13 Dispatched
21 Tribal group
22 Not at all
24 Sparkle
27 [illegible]
28 [illegible]
30 [illegible]
31 Shopping ----
32 Foundation
33 Elect. units
34 Type of rock
35 Kind of carpet
36 Makes a stain
38 Disgrace
42 Composition
44 Come together again
45 Brown or Easton
47 [illegible]
48 [illegible] a bright taste
49 Ice cream source
50 Mr. Shaw
51 Baker's purchase
52 German auto inventor
53 Part of a ship
54 Math subj.
55 [illegible]
56 [illegible]

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved

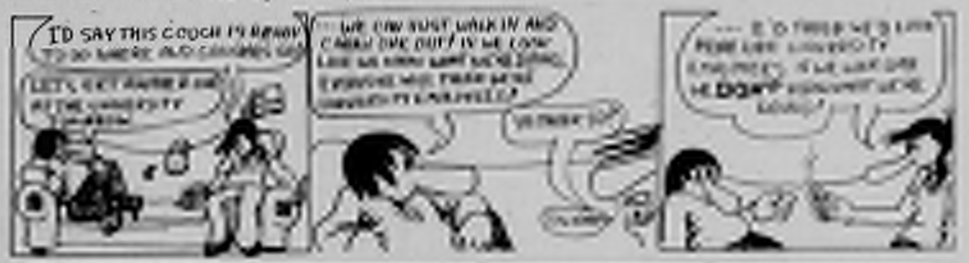


DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

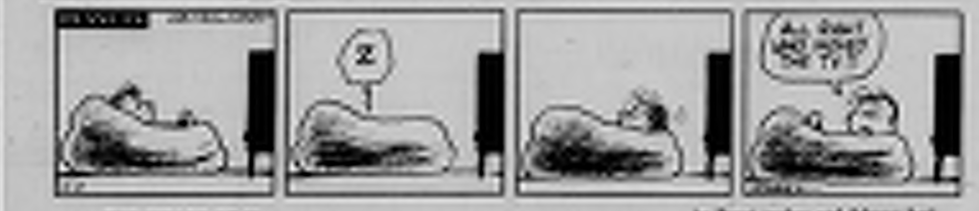


WHAT'S THIS?!
OH! I THOUGHT MAYBE TODAY WAS THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRST ROLLER DERBY GAME, AND HE WAS COMMEMORATING IT!
YOU CHICKS NEVER COULD UNDERSTAND US PEOPLE IN LOVE!!

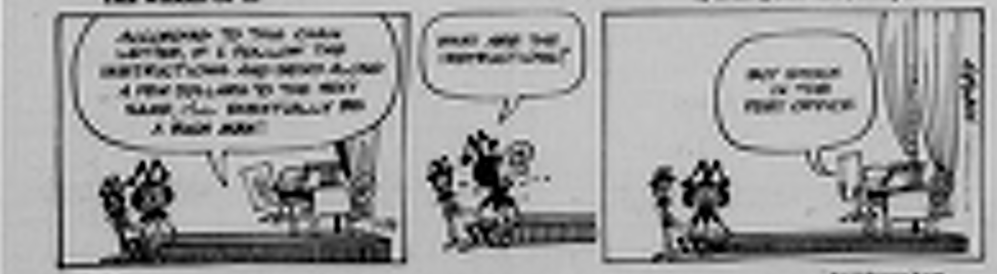
KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson



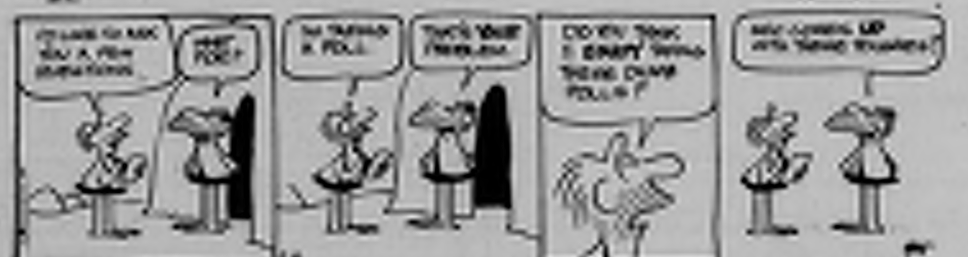
I'D SAY THIS COUCH IS READY TO GO WHERE OLD COUCHES GO



THE WIZARD OF ID



B.C.



Notices

cont. from p. 16

shire House (across from the Parking Lot from Whitmore). UCF (United Christian Foundation) invites anyone to this free, open exploratory encounter with the Bible, in which each person's experience and perceptions are taken seriously. Call 5-2661.

BREAD AND WINE:
New time this semester: Weds. at 10:30 pm in the Ron Hardy Memorial room, 316 Hampshire House. Candlelight communion in the round - a brief, simple celebration of this traditional sacrament in a contemporary key. U.C.F. invites everyone.

BRIDGE PLAYERS NEW AND OLD:
Tonite's game in C.C. 174 - 176 at 7 pm. Lessons start tonite in C.C. 801 at 6. We'll get you a partner, if you need one.

[illegible]

PRICE DROP
Texas Instruments slide rule calculator
$124.95
UNIVERSITY STORE

Schubert hopes to stick with Pats

[illegible]

[illegible]

An image they must live down

Ruggers in reality are alright

[illegible]

Feeling the $ Squeeze??

Save on Car Parts at

ALLIED MOTOR PARTS

[illegible]

SPORTS STAFF NOTICE

[illegible]

sportsline 5-2270

Correction

[illegible]

Ulpan Institute — Israel

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Gymmen meet Springfield

[illegible]

Gymwomen travel to Salem State, top performers sitting out meet

[illegible]

[illegible]

Intramural Notices

[illegible]

Pro Scoreboard

[illegible]

Indoor sports tournaments

[illegible]

[illegible]

Cagemen tangle with Eagles

By STEVE DeCOSTA

Maybe it sets a precedent.

The Minutemen established themselves as Eagle killers last Saturday night with a one-point win over the Purple Eagles of Niagara.

Tonight, however, UMass will be hard pressed to keep its reputation, as the Minutemen tangle with a tougher breed of bird, the Eagles of Boston College, at Curry Hicks Cage.

BC sports a 13-4 record in New England collegiate basketball wars, and the Eagles seem to become more aewsome each time they take the floor.

In their last two outings, the Eagles whipped Providence by seven, and toppled Fordham 94-73 in a regionally televised contest.

BC is the type of team that grabs the immediate [illegible]

[illegible]

Johnson. "Johnson has played really well since we lost (Steve) Mayfield and (Jim) Town was hurt," Leaman said, but Duarte has been there before.

Town's playing status is still in doubt. A nagging ankle injury forced him to the sidelines early in the second half against Niagara, and he has not practiced since. "Town should play until he hurts it again," said Leaman, "but I'd sure like to have him in the whole way."

"The whole key will be how well we defend Carrington and Morrison (the Eagles' two leading scorers)," Leaman said. Freshman Mike Pyatt will probably draw the assignment of stopping Morrison, while Jim Burke will become Carrington's shadow.

Leaman noted that most of BC's opponents this year have played a waiting game, holding back to see [illegible]

[illegible]

Staff Photo by [illegible]

UMass' Mike Pyatt looks up for rebound against New Hampshire earlier this year. He'll be looking up into armpits when going for rebounds tonight as B.C. will have two 6'11" centers under the boards.

Track team nipped

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Bill Gillis

Steve Saraceno

N.E. scene heats up

[illegible]

Inside Sports

- Men's gymnastics at home tonight
- Women's gymnastics away at Salem
- Schubert hopes for comeback
- Indoor sports tournament Friday

Collegian sports

Faculty unionization - no plans for vote at this time

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

turn to page 16

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE [illegible]
VOLUME [illegible], ISSUE [illegible] AMHERST, MA. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1975

Staff Photo by [illegible]

John Murphy is set to fire for two of his 18 points. All of the cagemen were on fire as they surprisingly downed BC. (story, pg 20)

School of Ed committee

Nominees announced for new acting dean

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Today the School of Education Nominating Committee will offer six names for consideration by the Faculty Assembly as suggestions for a new acting Dean.

[illegible]

turn to page 16

Weather

Light rain today with highs in the 30's and winds increasing. Tonight will be cloudy with more rain on tap for tomorrow.

Inside

[illegible]

Dukakis attends

Bromery outlines School of Ed actions

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Planning Board reveals new zoning law

By JUNE [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The new zoning By-Law, which redivides the town of Amherst into six major areas — town, village, neighborhood, outlying rural and commercial centers — was unveiled to the public at last night's Planning Board Meeting held at Town Hall.

The new zoning plan is based on the existing by-law with additions and revisions, said Jim Cope, head of the Planning Board. He added the number of districts have remained the same but such zones as campus and fraternity areas have been left out and replaced by such areas as village residential districts.

Susan Lowance, chairperson of the Planning Board, emphasized the proposed Amherst Zoning By-Law will not be complete until the public has been fully informed, offered its resolutions and given its approval. The final articles for town meeting warrant will be presented at the first official public hearing Feb. 19, unless changes are to be made.

The new zoning laws will not be affected, if the UMass mandatory dormitory policy is repealed this fall, Lowance said. "The zoning law is elastic, it can shrink or stretch to accommodate the people entering or leaving the community."

The process and theory of development of the zoning by-law began with the center concept — town, village, and neighborhood centers — which are divided by population and land distribution, said Cope. The center cluster subdivision system will improve transportation, sewage, police, and fire service, economize water facilities, preserve natural resources and the town's beauty, according to Jim Cope. It will also encourage a variety of private and public housing which will fulfill the need of Amherst's diverse population.

The town, village and neighborhood centers integrate institutional, governmental, business, and residential developments.

The town, village, and neighborhood residentials will be comprised of diverse residential areas within walking distance of their centers of decreasing density.

The Outlying Residence District is intended to be a single family residential area within one mile of the various centers while the Rural Residence District intended to be a low density residential area.

Other districts outline in the proposal are light industrial, educational, recharge protection and flood-plain conservancy districts.

The Educational District includes only land which is owned and managed by UMass, Amherst College and Hampshire, but not all such land will necessarily be in these zones. The zoning proposal stated, if land in the Educational District is transferred to another owner, the land will then be considered in the Rural District unless the town votes to replace it in some other zoning district.

'Socio-economic' causes cited

Food problem is solvable

By JUDITH [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The world food problem can be solved, according to a panel of experts who spoke at North Webster dormitory last night as the first in a series of forums sponsored by the Orchard Hill Residential College.

The series of seven lectures, called "Great Decisions 1975," will be held every Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in Webster lounge, and will be broadcast over WFCR.

The panelists for "The World Food Problem" forum included John Foster and Peter Pellet of the UMass Food and Resource Economics Dept., Fergus Clydesdale of the UMass Food Science and Nutrition Dept. and James Nelson of the Economics Dept. at Amherst College. Luther Allen of the UMass Political Science Dept. was the moderator.

Pellet began the forum, saying malnutrition is the real problem, and the causes are "socio-economic." He continued, "Malnutrition is the cause, though not always directly, of 50 per cent of the deaths of under fives throughout the world. There is no deficit of protein. If people can get enough calories, they can probably get enough protein."

Pellet said the problem can't be solved with food alone. He said the socio-economic and hygienic environments are important, and we are going to need a "political solution."

His colleague, Foster, spoke next. "Man can not only feed himself, but eliminate the nutrition problem. It is possible to win the war on hunger. The problem is the will to do so," said Foster.

Foster said the U.S. should play a major role in solving the food problem. The U.S. has been helping the population of the world grow since World War II through advanced medical technology, so we should now help feed the world's people.

Clydesdale was the third speaker. He said 50 per cent of the world's food is lost because of inefficiency. "More efficient methods of food production must be found. We can do better than that."

He continued, "Why can't we solve this problem on a world-wide basis? We all need food and energy. Some countries are fit for producing food, others are fit for producing energy."

Nelson took an economic approach to the problem. He said increased food production is not the answer because "an increase in output is absorbed by an increase in population."

Nelson also said, "The ray of light on the horizon is refracted through curious cloud formations — fertilizer is that ray of light."

Nelson linked the solution to the Middle East, saying natural gas is need for the production of fertilizer, and the Middle East is the cheapest source of natural gas.

Continuing education applies unique approach to learning

By SUSAN [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The UMass Continuing Education program is offering a wide variety of courses, which are "unique", according to Debbie Bernstein, head of public relations for Cont. Ed.

"Our goal in Cont. Ed. is to meet the needs of non-traditional students. My definition of a non-traditional student is a person who for whatever reason finds that full-time study is not desirable or not possible," Bernstein said.

Anyone is eligible to take courses, although a high school diploma or the equivalent is necessary. Students do not need to apply and be accepted, as in a four-year school. Acceptance to a degree program is based on students current classroom performance, not on past records. University students may also take courses but must pay the course fee, since Cont. Ed. is a self-funding organization.

To help non-traditional students return to school, Cont. Ed. employs a staff of trained academic counselors. These people meet with students individually, and help them choose courses and degree programs.

Continuing Ed. offers its own degree, the Bachelor of General Studies (BGS). The degree is available to part-time students, allowing them to create their own major.

Students can also receive any undergraduate degree offered by the University.

Financial Aid is available to Continuing Ed. students. There are also added benefits for veterans.

The Cont. Ed. Evening School now offers over 100 courses. The courses are very varied and are both academic and "how-to."

One particularly popular course is Plant Propagation. "So many people are growing plants today,

Continuing
C
E

and instead of using the trial-and-error method, they've decided to learn the proper way to do it," according to Bernstein.

"Integral Medicine for the Whole Self" is a group of courses on natural health care and meditation. This program, set to start on Feb. 17, will offer courses in natural birth control, natural childbirth, Chi Yoga, the art of natural Oriental cooking and acupuncture massage.

"The purpose of these courses is to teach medicine and health for the whole body, without separating it from the mind. We found people really wanted to know these things, and incorporate them into their lives, but didn't know where to go to learn them," Bernstein said.

The faculty of Cont. Ed., she continued, is comprised of "people who are expert in the fields." Many faculty members also teach University day courses. "These people really get a lot out of the courses. They find this quite a variation from teaching students straight out of high school. You get people in these courses who have been in business for years, and they bring these experiences with them into the class, and it's a whole different situation."

"One trend that has come about recently," Bernstein added, "is that more women are taking courses. I wouldn't want to make any parallels between this and the women's movement. I think it's just that more women are turning to school as an alternative, now that their children are older, and they have more time."

Because of University cutbacks this summer, Continuing Ed. will also offer many of the courses usually taught by the University as well as a variety of Cont. Ed. programs.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
LANGUAGE SCHOOLS

1975
Summer in Vermont

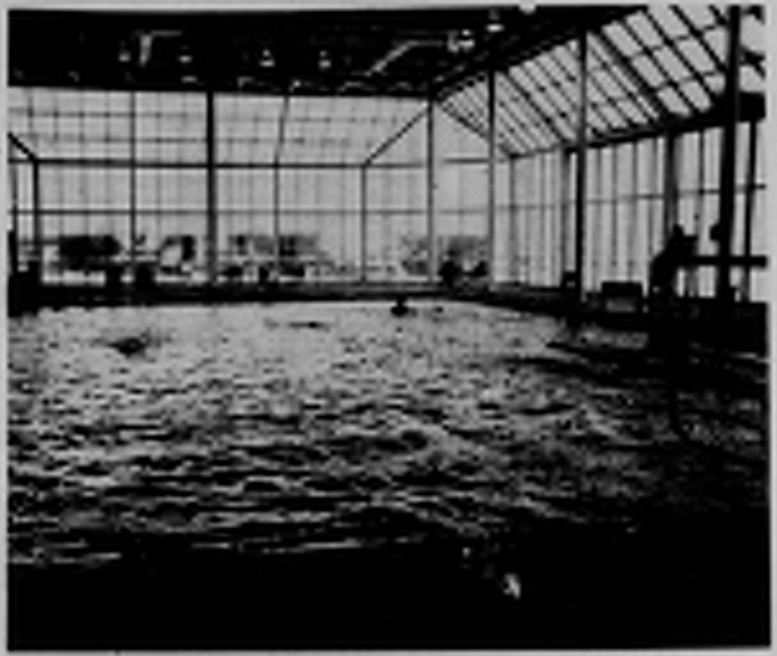
[illegible]

Send the FTD "LoveBundle" for Valentine's Week...

[illegible]

Sewage, budget causing problems

Use of Hampshire College gym restricted



Staff Photo by [illegible]

Swimmers enjoy a mid-winter swim in the Crown Physical Education building at Hampshire College — now to be restricted to Hampshire students and their guests.

By JOYCE [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Due to size, potential sewage usage and budget limitation, the Robert Crown Center of Physical Education at Hampshire College will be restricted to Hampshire students and their guests, Joy Evans, director of Recreational Athletics, said.

The center, a gift from the Robert Crown family, was presented to Hampshire College to provide some modest athletic facilities. Before the center was built, Hampshire College had none.

When the Crown Center first opened in October of '74, Evans had no idea of how the building would be used. Hampshire College is not involved with traditional collegiate sports, or spectator sports.

Evans told the Collegian the size of the building has much to do with the rest of the five college community being "shut off" from using it.

The building was designed for individual participation in the pursuit of enjoyment with the opportunity to attain excellence if the person so wishes. Evans said that when the building first opened, the general public was allowed to use the facilities as long as they did not infringe upon the students' rights of usage. This system worked well until late November when there were too many non-students using the gym and harassing women students. Numerous thefts also plagued the new gym.

"The Crown Center can handle only 100 persons at a time," said Evans. "With [illegible] Hampshire College students and faculty and only 800 lockers, the crowd got to be too much to handle. We had no choice but to restrict the use of the Crown Center to students and their guests." Evans also said that five college students taking courses at Hampshire are invited to use the gym.

Before the building was completed, it ran into sanitation complications. The Amherst Department of Sanitation almost halted the completion of the structure because it feared the already overworked sewage system could not handle the excess load. Therefore Hampshire at that time had to assure the Department that only Hampshire College students and their guests would be allowed to use the facilities.

Hampshire is the smallest of the five colleges and has no alumni to speak of for financial assistance, so its budget is limited. Therefore, its resources are just as limited. However, all of the five college community is invited to use the off season tennis courts, Evans said.

Lock-Up!

A students' chances of being robbed are better on campus than in most parts of the nation, primarily due to the failure of most people to lock their doors when they leave their rooms.

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

According to Steve White, special assistant to the UMass Police, "People entering the academic [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Saxophonist Sonny Stitt performs to honor Charlie 'Bird' Parker

[illegible]

House suspends Ford's oil tariff authority

Enough votes ready for possible veto

[illegible]

NIXON FORD DEAN: PARTNERS IN CRIME, WAR, RACISM & REPRESSION

John W. Dean III speaks to an audience at Cleveland State University yesterday, while people at right listen to him, as a protest sign is in the background.

Congress bans food stamp price hike

[illegible]

Dulles tower chief blames crew for fatal December plane crash

[illegible]

[illegible]

If there's anything we like better than launching a new submarine ...it's launching a new engineer

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS ON FEB. 12

GENERAL DYNAMICS

Electric Boat Division

[illegible]

Peru declares state of emergency

Rioting breaks out after police strike

[illegible]

Tanks roll through the streets of Lima, Peru, yesterday after the government had declared a state of siege. Army troops had stormed the district police headquarters in the background in an attempt to supress a police strike.

US, Panama near agreement on Panama Canal treaty

[illegible]

news summary

Fighting continues

[illegible]

La Koenig School of Art

[illegible]

SAVE UP TO 50% JEANS PANTS SWEATERS the jeans store

WEAR-HOUSE

CLIP AND SAVE FOR AN ADDITIONAL 10% OFF ANY SALES ITEM

[illegible]

don call

[illegible]

Defense says fetus had no chance of survival

BOSTON (AP) – [illegible]

Testimony supports Edelin in his trial

[illegible]

Study claims POW's suffered injuries

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) – [illegible]

State unemployment rate nears 10 per cent; expected to climb

BOSTON (AP) – [illegible]

EPA rescinds order for Boston parking

BOSTON (AP) – [illegible]

10:00-9:00 Mon-Fri
10:00-6:00 Sat.
THE LODGE ®
Rt 9 – Russell St.
Hadley
next to
McDonalds

All this week–while they last
FREE PLANT
with $10.00 purchase!

DAYTONA BEACH
FLORIDA

MAR. 21 to MAR. 30
$159 per person includes tax & service
9 NIGHTS
10 DAYS

Included:
Round Trip non-stop motor coach to Daytona Beach
All the beer you can drink enroute
[illegible]

Prime Cut pre-washed denim skirt painter's pants

$9.

Bellie legs
$6.95

Bro "Champ" refuses to lie: Attica

PART II: [illegible]

Prisons U.S.A.

Black Affairs

Intensified oppression

Black News Service

[illegible]

UNIVERSITY COURT SYSTEM HAS POSITIONS OPEN FOR STUDENTS
INTERESTED IN WORKING AS ADVOCATES
OR JUDGES. Come in to [illegible] or call 545-0[illegible]

MDC
classifieds sell!

Philosophy

[illegible]

TONIGHT

Phi Mu Delta Fraternity – [illegible]
Open Rush [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible]

The Air Force ROTC
College Program has 3 things to offer that other college programs don't.

1. Scholarships.
2. $100 monthly allowance.
3. Flying lessons leading to jet training.

Enroll in Air Force ROTC.

[illegible]

Library to aid NE with energy problems

A library to help the New England economy deal with energy problems has been established by the New England economy deal with energy problems has been established by the New England Regional Commission in Boston and at UMass-Amherst.

The library is a comprehensive collection of books, technical reports, research findings, government documents and other materials on energy generally and on the energy situation in New England specifically.

It covers such subject areas as energy policies, sources and processes, energy demand and consumption, electric power, energy-related environmental problems, energy conservation and alternative energy sources.

The collection is part of the New England commission's current effort to help solve energy problems that stand in the way of economic development in the New England region. Housed at the commission's Boston office, the library is to serve as a resource for commission staff, business and industry, policy makers,public officials and others involved in energy decisions.

A basic collection of nearly 2000 volumes has been assembled and new material is being added to keep the collection up to date. The project is directed by the Technical Guidance Center for Environmental Quality, an outreach and service program of the UMass-Amherst Divisions of Continuing Education. Funding is through contracts totaling $38,000 with the New England Regional Commission.

Selection of the library was by a faculty-student team under the supervision of Ruth Kreplick, director of the Technical Guidance Center. On the team were men and women with backgrounds in library science, economics, engineering, physics and environmental sciences.

The team conducted library searches nationwide, combed thousands of abstracts and contacted federal agencies.

Staff Photo/Larry Hershkowitz

I was walking through the woods following these giant footprints and I heard a loud roar, so I stopped and looked up and, you wouldn't believe what I saw...

University Day School offers service Saturdays

The University Day School is again offering day care for those in the Amherst area from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. every Saturday.

The school is at Bowditch Lodge near the stadium on campus. Children from 2.9 to 8 years are welcome.

For many parents, Saturdays involve work, classes, studying or shopping. The Saturday Day Care operates on a drop-in basis, allowing parents maximum flexibility. The day care has also been found to function as a Saturday School, providing a nursery school experience for younger children. Therefore, a nursery program will be offered in the morning.

The facility is run by Marcelle Feltman and Susan Douslin, two area residents with experience in early childhood education. Anyone interested in further information and registration may call 586-2410 or 617-544-7416 (Wendell), or on Saturdays the University Day School at 545-2486.

Bud Harrelson says:
"Stop birth defects short."
Give to the March of Dimes

You know what Valentines Day means to her now show her what it means to you
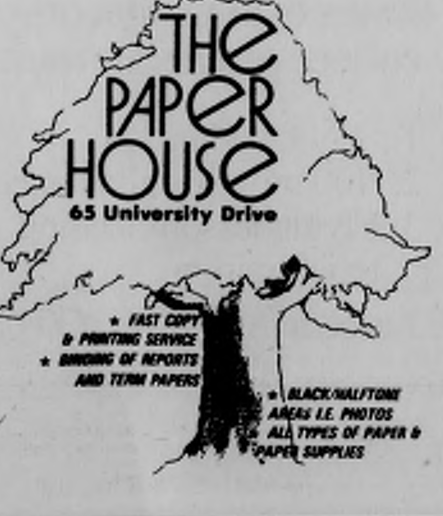
for fine gifts and jewelry
BAKER-WINN
Jewelers
South Pleasant St. Amherst

TAKE IT EASY BABY
Inventory Sale
20% Off
Everything
FREE WORK SHIRT
with any purchase of $10.00 or more
Jeans — Reindeer Sweaters
Leather Jackets — Cowboy Shirts
Many More Items
Located at: 255 TRIANGLE STREET
Amherst, Mass. 01002
(Between Tech Hi Fi and Discount Records)
413-549-2021
Also Located Circuit Ave., Oak Bluffs, Isle of Martha's Vineyard



THE PAPER HOUSE
65 University Drive
★ FAST COPY & PRINTING SERVICE
★ BINDING OF REPORTS AND TERM PAPERS
★ BLACK/HALFTONE AREAS I.E. PHOTOS
★ ALL TYPES OF PAPER & PAPER SUPPLIES

STUDENT SENATE ELECTIONS
ARE YOU A MEMBER OF:
BAKER (2 seats)
CANCE (2)
CASHIN (1)
COMMUTERS (4)
COOLIDGE LOW (1)
COOLIDGE MID (1)
JQA LOW (1)
KNOWLTON (1)
LEACH (1)
PATTERSON (1)
THIRD WORLD (6)
WASHINGTON MID (1)
Nomination Papers Now Available
Rm. 420 Student Union Due Feb. 11th
Elections Held Feb. 17 - 18.
PARTICIPATE and the choice is yours . . . . .
DON'T — and the choice is theirs.

Faster, more efficient analysis possible

Geology Dept. acquires microprobe

An automated electron "microprobe" for mass production precision analysis of rocks and minerals has been installed at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst Geology Department.

Combining an electron gun and a high speed computer, the machine can do a complete chemical analysis of a mineral sample in as little as three minutes, producing results in most cases from 500 to 1000 times faster than by non-instrumental methods.

A $90,000 research equipment grant from the National Science Foundation helped acquire the $160,000 microprobe. The remaining $70,000 came from UMass funds. Only two other institutions in the state, Harvard and MIT, have similar microprobe equipment.

Like an electron microscope, the microprobe shoots a stream of electrons at a sample. When the electrons hit the sample, x-rays are given off that can be analyzed and counted by the computer to reveal the elements and their concentration in the sample.

The result is rapid and accurate production of geochemical data that can be used in research on the composition and origin of the earth's crust, rocks, sediments, waters and mineral resources, and in analysis of lunar and planetary samples.

At UMass, the microprobe will be the core of a Geochemical Analysis Facility in the Geology Department directed by Dr. Stephen Haggerty. Working closely with Haggerty will be Stearns A. Morse, Peter Robinson and Howard W. Jaffe.

Dr. Haggerty, who has been doing analysis of lunar rock samples at other laboratories, will continue that work at UMass.

UMass Geology Professors Stephen Haggerty, left, and Stearns A. Morse discuss the Geology Department's new automated electron microprobe. The machine uses an electron gun, center, and a high-speed computer, at right, for mass-production analysis of rock and mineral samples.

OPENING SOON
A WORLD OF T-SHIRTS
SILK-SCREENED ORIGINAL DESIGNS
THE COVER UP
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 N.PLEASANT ST. AMHERST

Concert to follow Indochina program

The Valley Peace Coalition announced today that its day long Indochina Day program will be held at the UMass Campus Center this Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and would be followed that evening by a concert with Holly Near and Jeff Langley.

The Coalition is affiliated with the Indochina Peace Campaign, a group dedicated to seeking U.S. adherence to the 1973 Paris Peace Accords.

More information about the conference workshops and concert is available by calling 253-7846 or 545-2117

FOR SALE
Vending machines — 3 candy, 3 soda, 3 cigarette.
Call 733-5133
Mr. Taft

UMass makes 'Big 30'

UMass ranks 20th in the nation in number of full-time students enrolled and 30th in total enrollment, according to the annual American College Testing Program (ACTP) survey.

With 28,819 full-time students at campuses in Amherst, Boston and Worcester, UMass was the only New England university to be included on the ACTP's "Big 30" list of the largest educational institutions in the country in terms of full-time enrollment.

On the ACTP total enrollment list, only one other New England university, Northeastern, was included with UMass in the top 30. UMass ranked 30th with 32,231 students, behind 25th-ranked Northeastern, with 35,218.

The annual enrollment survey, now in its 56th year, is prepared by Dr. Garland C. Parker of the University of Cincinnati.

Nationally, the survey showed total enrollment for the reporting institutions at over 6.64 million and a percentage increase for the nation of 3.5. Nearly 2 million part-time students increased their numbers by 7.8 per cent, and freshmen increased by 4.6 per cent after three years of decline.

Beware!
towing begins Monday!
P.J. Rowe

LIBRARY BOOK SALE
HARD BOUND BOOKS
ONLY 95¢ EACH
Originally Priced Up To $15.00
UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER U.MASS. MON.-FRI. 9:00-5:00
SAT. 11:00-3:00

WMUA
News Dept. Meeting
Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975
8:00 p.m.
Rm. 176 C.C.
All third world people and women are urged to attend!!!

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Letters to the editor

BNS uninformed?

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Robert [illegible]

Bulletin board courtesy needed

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Conservative out of tune

[illegible]

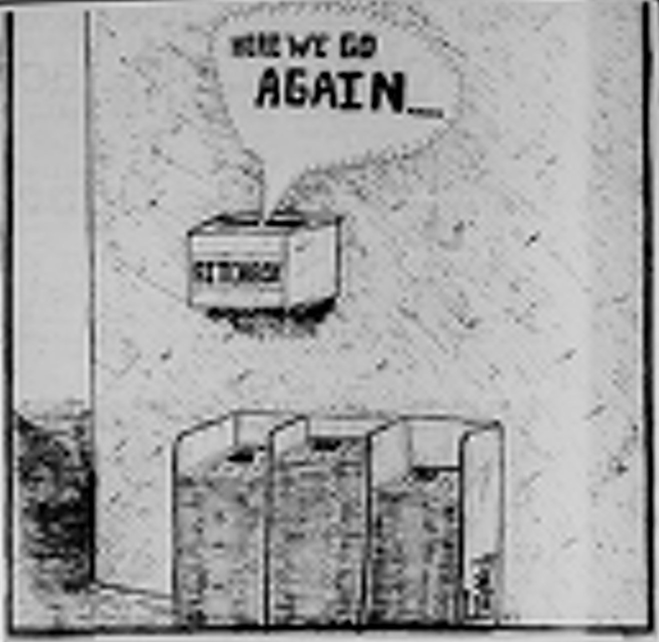
The writing on the wall

[illegible]

Ford's new line exhausted

[illegible]

[illegible]



Dormitory suit a tight fit

[illegible]

Join the Collegian!
[illegible]

Collegian

A modest proposal

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Bill Parent

Old wars never die

The word Vietnam has by this time become so ingrained in our memories that the sight of it now causes people to turn away, ignore it. For Americans, Vietnam is gathering dust with the Life magazines in the attic. And yet

"The South Vietnamese on their own with our financial assistance, our military aid have done very well. . . . I believe that if Congress funds the additional money that I've proposed for this fiscal year and continues the money that I have recommended for the next fiscal year the South Vietnamese [illegible]

[illegible]

The sham continues.

[illegible]

Bill Parent is [illegible] Collegian.

F. Patrick [illegible]

the Socratic method

[illegible]

SNOW.

By DENNIS CONLON

It snowed yesterday. For many this meant a rare holiday. For those like Yuan Chieh Chow (below on bicycle) it was a day to catch up on a bit of research. Whatever, yesterday was a white slice out of the pile of '75. February Fifth was a good day.

Para presents area astrologers

The Physical Awareness & Research Association will hold its monthly meeting at UMass, at the School of Business Administration, Room 120 on Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Featured for the evening, will be EMETRICS, INC., the newly founded and first astrological organization in Western Massachusetts which provides individual and business counselling based on the principles of astrology.

Emetrics, Inc. have announced that by the end of February, they will be doing computerized five-month astrological forecasts that will provide information on individual events and activities on a daily basis. The organization has a daily radio program on WMUA, forecasting the day ahead and also teaches astrology at UMass.

The program on Feb. 11, PARA's anniversary of one year, will include a lecture by Emetrics employee, Barry Jones of Springfield, on the concepts of astrology and their applications.

PARA is an organization dedicated to the research, investigation, exploration and development of the PSI faculty inherent in all mankind. Their meetings are open to the general public for a nominal admission charge.

TENANT ORGANIZERS

2 part-time positions open for people with experience and/or interest in organizing tenants valley wide ... must be able to communicate ideas and feel at ease talking to tenants. (15 hours a week — $2.30 an hour, for rest of semester.) Applications in Commuter Assembly, Rm. 314, S.U., 545-0148. Deadline for filing, Thurs., Feb. 13, 5:00 p.m.

WMUA

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6

[illegible]

91.1 FM

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Gerry Morrissey and Randi Forman, students at UMass and Smith respectively (Who says UMies can't get Smithies?), talk about "life" over a morning cup of coffee yesterday as they sit at the Belchertown Project table. In the background a world without classes goes by.

Upcoming women's series focuses on anarchism...

Two local women will be giving a workshop in the Spring Project Self series on Feminism and Anarchism. Sally Allen and Janice McDermott are both involved in the women's movement, and have each taken a personal look at the similarities and differences between the two. But it wasn't until several months ago that they sat down and during a long discussion realized that they were both interested in anarchism. Since then the idea of a workshop "and a whole lot of reading", added Janice, has unfolded.

"This is not a class in the traditional sense," Sally explained. "Neither of us are willing to be teachers. I don't think Jan or I see this as an academic exercise. Instead, we're hoping that between our own experience, the readings we share with each other, and a give and take discussion, the group will get some real sense of how these two might fit together."

The workshop is planned as a forum so that women can come together and take a look at the possible links between anarchism and feminism. "I think there are a lot of things the the two have in common," Janice noted. "For instance, a lot of emphasis placed on individual needs, and also the similarity between support groups and the 'grass-roots' aspect of anarchism. The writings of Red Emma, both as a woman and as an anarchist, are still important today. [illegible] hopes to look at existing alternatives, the works of Murray Bookchin, and some practical tactics for change in society.

Sally views anarchism as an independence from outside structures, theories, or systems that attempt to limit or define the individual. "Anarchism is a process of self-definition," she emphasized. "Given the structures around us, how do we deal with them? How do we handle the insecurity that arises from being structureless?" These are a few of the questions she wishes to explore.

The workshop still has room and both women are hoping that more will join [illegible]

[illegible]

...han lin

... 'Man's Lives' portrayed Sunday

[illegible]

SALE

[illegible]

10% OFF ALL WINE

[illegible]

Landry's Market & Package Store

[illegible]

[illegible]

notices

ALIYAH GROUP

First meeting of Aliyah group today in SU302 at 4:00 p.m. All persons considering the possibility of Aliyah invited to attend.

BUSINESS STUDENTS

First Business Club meeting of spring semester. Campus Center 113 tonight! 7:30 p.m. New members welcome. Semester's activities will be discussed. Elections for new officers coming up.

CAMPUS SCOUTS

There will be a meeting Thursday, Feb. 6, 7:00 p.m. in Room 169 Campus Center.

COUNSELLING TASK FORCE – UCF

The Counsiling Task Force of the United Christian Foundation will meet today at 4:00 p.m. in the Hardy Room 316 Hampshire House. Short film about abortion, discussion, and update on Infirmary Visitation proposal. Open to interested persons.

EDUCATION OF THE SELF CLASS

Sid Simon's Education of the Self class has 15 spaces available for students wishing to add the course. Come to E-37 Machmer, Thursday night at 7:00 p.m.

FOUND

K. Gunther, I have your checkbook and license. Call 538-9731 before 5 p.m.

INDEX

The Index needs people interested in writing for the 1975 yearbook. All people are welcome. No previous experience necessary. Talk to John or Pam in 409 Student Union, or call 545-0848.

LITTLE BIG MAN

Dustin Hoffman starts in Little Big Man. Get to Mahar Friday, Feb. 7 at 7:30 or 10:15. Sponsored by Lewis House.

LOST

Silver wire glasses with blue plastic case. Call Jay Michelman at 546-7462 in 315 Thoreau.

LOST

A red ski hat with emblem in SBA Tuesday, Feb. 4 between 2 and 5 p.m. If found, please call Jeff at 546-9251.

ONE DAY IN THE LIFE OF IVAN DENISOVITCH

Will be shown tonight in CCA at 7, 9, and 11. Don't miss this classic! Sponsored by Pre-Med Society.

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMMITTEE

Meeting tonight, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 101, Campus Center. Peter Frampton, Winter Carni, etc., to be discussed. All are welcome.

PARACHUTE CLUB

The club will organize first jump courses and refresher courses this semester. Watch Collegian notices for more information. Due to winter weather, the jump center is closed until March.

STAR TREK LIVES!

Mini-con, being held on Monday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 in Room 804 Campus Center. Any questions, call Barbara at 546-6672. Don't forget your costumes.

STOCKBRIDGE CLASS OF 75

The class of 75 for Stockbridge School of Agriculture will hold a class meeting today at 3:30 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium Stockbridge Hall.

SUMMER JOB OPPORTUNITY

Challenging teaching-learning situation in Vermon Conference of United Church of Christ, paying $600 plus room, board, transportation. You must have finished sophomore year. Information and applications from UCF at 545-2661, 320 Hampshire House, or Sally Aldrich, Student Development, Berkshire.

TOUCH OF CLASS

George Segal and Glenda Jackson star in this Academy Award winning film, on Frdiay, Feb. 7 at 7, 9, and 11 in the Student Union Ballroom. Sponsored by the Cinema Club.

TOWING

Towing will begin on February 10, 1975. All unregistered vehicles, cars parked in unassigned lots and violators of tow zones, access lanes, and fire lanes will be towed. Please register your vehicle and park in your assigned lot to avoid this penalty – Department of Public Safety.

TUNING-IN

Tuning in to yourself and others; a workshop sponsored by Hillel, with Arnold Nash, director of Springfield Jewish Family Service meets tonight, Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center 905-9. Interested persons invited.

WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS ALLIANCE AGAINST RACIST AND POLITICAL REPRESSION

There will be an emergency meeting tonight in Room 805 Campus Center at 7:30 p.m. All old and new members are urged to attend. The lives of some of our comrades are at stake.

OPEN RUSH

The Zeta Psi Fraternity will be holding its first rush of the spring semester on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at 23 Phillips Street. Call 256-6845 for more information and rides.

notes & quotes

New theatre begins tonight

The new experimental theater will mount it's first production today at 4:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center, theater department. Every Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Center's experimental theater space, there will be an hour in which students will design, direct and perform innovative theatrical pieces. Each week will bring a new production, and a new theatrical experience. Admission is free.

Israeli dance party

On Saturday night, Feb. 8 at 8 p.m., there will be an Israeli folk dance party in the Colonial Lounge of the Student Union. It will be just what it sounds like – a get together of people who would like to spend an evening doing Israeli folk dancing. Free and open to all. Call Lucy Fisher 549-6746 for more information.

This evening is in addition to the regular Wednesday night Israeli dancing in the Cape Cod Lounge of the Student Union at 7:30 for beginners, and 8:30 for advanced people.

Hillel hosts Kimmelman

Dr. Reuven Kimmelman, the new Five College appointee in Judaic Studies, will be the guest speaker at the first Hillel brunch of the second semester, at UMass. Dr. Kimmelman received his doctorate from Yale and his rabbinical ordination from the Jewish Theological Seminary. He has written a number of outstanding articles on the Jewish tradition as it deals with issues of war and peace. Sunday he will speak on "The Ethics of Protest."

The brunch will take placed on Sunday, Feb. 9, at 11 a.m. in the Colonial Lounge of the Student Union. There will be a fee to cover the cost of food. All interested people are invited to attend.

Student groups!

Any RSO or Five-College group, whose description did not appear in the Collegian on Jan. 30 should resubmit pertinent info to the office of Student Senate Communications (Room 415 Student Union) NO LATER than Saturday. Unfortunately, a few descriptions were lost in the hassle of finals week, last semester, so this will give all groups another opportunity to be included.

Bridge play-off to be held in C.C.

The 27th Annual Intercollegiate Bridge Championship regional tournament with finalists from campus tournaments held earlier is one of 15 held across the country. It is scheduled from 10 to 6 p.m. Feb. 7 and 8 and will be held at the Campus Center, Room 917. The 15 winning regional pairs, plus one at-large pair, will receive expense-paid trips to the national finals, held April 24-27, 1975, at the Playboy Towers Hotel in Chicago.

The winning pair in the national championship will receive an all expense-paid trip to compete in the 1975 American Contract Bridge League Summer National Championship in Miami Beach, and one year's possession of the Charles H. Goren traveling trophy. In addition, the winners' school will receive a $1,000 unrestricted grant from the tournament's sponsors:

Four Seasons
Package Store
RUSSELL ST., HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms Mall

RHEINGOLD BEER
12 oz. cans
$5.39
Case

YAGO SANT GRIA
$1.49
23.5 oz. Bottle

FOUR SEASON'S BLENDED WHISKEY
86 Proof
$9.49 ½ Gal.
$4.99 Qt.

PIELS BEER
12 oz. N.R.
$4.49
Case

Isabel Portuguese ROSE
$2.29
25 oz. Bottle

FOUR SEASON'S BOURBON
86 Proof
$9.99 ½ Gal.
$5.25 Qt.

Labett's Canadian BEER & ALE
$5.99
Case

Four Season's Special GIN
80 Proof
$8.19 ½ Gal.
$4.19 Qt.

Wine Paradise Of The Valley

HELD OVER

Due to the tremendous response to our "Back to School Sale", we are maintaining all sale prices until Sat., February 8th at 4:00 p.m.

From 4:00 p.m. until 5:30 we will accept any reasonable offer* for any sale items in the store, with or without trade, with full guarantees!

The following is just a small sample of the sale items and prices.

ELECTRONICS

		List	Sale
NIKKO TRM 500 AMP	(N)	$220	$150
TOSHIBA SA 500 REC.	(N)	$360	$240
YAMAHA CR 500 REC.	(U)	$350	$175
NIKKO 4030 REC.	(N)	$220	$179
FISHER 601 4 CH. REC.	(D)	$700	$300
CONCORD CR50 REC.	(N)	$169	$110
CONCORD CR 100 REC.	(D)	$189	$100
MARANTZ 2230 REC.			$325
JVC TUNER	(N)	$400	$150
INTEGRAL SYSTEMS	(U)	$350
Pre-Amplifiers and Amplifiers	(D)		40% Off
ASSORTED SUPERSCOPE AMPS	(D)		50% Off
G.E. (Their World's Largest Rec.)	(U)		75% Off

TAPE DECKS & ACC.

		List	Sale
CONCORD DBA-10 DOLBY	(D)	$200	$65
ADVENT 201 T.D.	(D)	$300	$225
DOKORDER MK-50 T.D.	(N)	$260	$200
CONCORD CD 1000 T.D.	(N)	$375	$250
SONY 252-D T.D.	(U)	$249	$100

TURNTABLES

		List	Sale
GARRARD 74-M	(N)	$175	$85
GLENBURN 2155-A	(N)	$105	$60
P.E. 3012	(U)	$125	$50
THORENS 165-C	(N)	$230	$160
LENCO L75C	(R)	$250	$125
TOSHIBA SR 80	(N)	$350	$175

SPEAKERS

		List	Sale
ESS HEILS	(U)	$638	$400
EPI 201	(D)	$458	$300
OHM B	(N)	$450	$300
ELECTROSTATIC RESEARCH	(D)	$300	$180
AR 2AX	(U)	$320	$150
KLH-6	(U)	$320	$150
AR 3A	(U)	$620	$310
CENTURA V	(N)	$100	$50
OHM E	(N)	$160	$125
SOUNDWEST 3	(N)	$160	$125
WALDS	(N)	$ 80	$40
UTAH'S	(U)	$200	$90

BANKAMERICARD

CODE
(N) New (U) Used (R) Repack (D) Demo
* You will be surprised to see just how reasonable we can be.

tech hifi
Quality Components at the Right Price
259 Triangle St. Amherst 549-2610
186 Main St. Northampton 586-2552

Chancellor responds in School of Ed investigation

cont. from p. 1

"I'm teaching a course this semester and it's going to be a bomb if I don't get some time to spend on it instead of worrying about this thing," Wellman said, adding "It's hurting each and every faculty member in the School of Education; we simply can't live with this thing."

Responding to the Wellman-Anthony proposals, Chancellor Randolph Bromery said last night "How can I cover up with three external agencies sitting on this at the same time. Right now I've got the District Attorney, the Attorney General and the FBI all in this at the same time. There is no room for a cover-up."

When asked why the investigation was taking so long and so little has been revealed, he said, "An audit is not just opening a book and looking at numbers. They (the Treasurer's office) had to track down and see if the fees were paid, who paid them, etc. They had to go to New Haven and look at the books there. An audit also opens up other questions. Those, then, have to be answered. Sure, we could do a fast dirty job, but I want to do a thorough job and that takes time."

Bromery added "The integrity of this institution has been hurt, but it is not going to collapse. When this is all over, people will be held accountable."

Unionization needs greater faculty support faculty, and the abolition of merit pay could spur the unionization movement, according to Booth. He said in order for unionization efforts to succeed, "The level of faculty interest will have to be at higher, and it more closely identified with the administration."

cont. from p. 1

Booth observed if a unionization vote was [illegible] decided upon, it could not be held until the fall semester. Both the AAUP and the MSP will be obtaining signatures that show the desire to have a unionization vote.

The signatures would then have to be presented to the State Labor Commission for study. The University could then contest the attempt to have the vote, according to Booth. Booth noted that the question of whether department heads are part of the faculty or the administration, an unresolved issue left over from the 1973 vote, could delay the vote.

Booth sees as the earliest possible date for an election as November 1.

Booth said unionization is a "unified way in which the faculty can attempt to protect itself and its own special interests." He also viewed the union as a way to explain the situation of the faculty not only to the administration, but also to the government.

Unionization was defeated in 1973, according to Booth, because of a lack of specific issues and dissatisfactions at the time, and because many faculty members view themselves as professionals, not associated with trade union tactics.

Berkshire East
SKI AREA
[illegible]

COLLEGE FEBRUARY EVENING SKI PROGRAM

WED. & THUR. EVENINGS 6 p.m. - 10:30 p.m.
4 evenings of skiing & 4 — 1½ hr. lessons
FREE TRANSPORTATION on Berkshire East Ski Bus
TOTAL COST: $20.00

REGISTRATION: Contact College Advisors:
UMass. — Henry Ledgard 549-1707
Amherst — Bob Soule 542-2313
Mt. Holyoke — Rose Viscardi 538-3314
Hampshire — Lisa Bassi 542-4600
Smith College — Francis Jensen 538-3314 ext. 608 or contact
Berkshire East Ski School 339-6617

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

History of Nemo
This is a report on [illegible]

THE WIZARD OF ID — by Brant parker and johnny hart

B.C. — by johnny hart

WMUA

This is today's schedule for WMUA, 91.1 FM.

Today's disc jockeys are Randy Richardson, Stu MacDonald, Fran Dance, Ron Irwin, and Charles Mann hosts [illegible] from 10 in the evening.

WMUA Specialties

8:55 a.m., High Tides, Jeff [illegible] and his astrological report.

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac.

10:35 p.m., Sports Talk, Hosts Russ Small & Larry Conzo discuss winter sports with [illegible] guests tonight.

WMUA News will be broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m. & 2, 6 & 10 p.m. Headlines can be heard at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m.

Lawlor to speak at P-10 tonight

Project 10's Political Campaigns Seminar will begin its fourth semester tonight with a guest lecture on charter reform proposed for the city of Northampton.

The featured speaker for tonight's 7 p.m. session in Prospect Hall on the UMass campus will be John D. Lawlor, Jr., of Florence, who was a member of the Northampton City Charter Commission during 1971-1972. The new city charter which Lawlor helped to draft was brought to a referendum in the 1972 municipal election but failed by only 150 votes. Local civic groups are attempting to revive the charter for reconsideration by Northampton voters in the November's election.

Seminar Instructor Kenneth [illegible] notes that participants this semester will concentrate on campaigning in local elections for such offices as alderman, school committee, and representative [illegible]

PRICE DROP
UNIVERSITY STORE

New England Patriots head coach Chuck Fairbanks

New England coach Fairbanks 1974 Pats' training camp view

By [illegible]

[illegible]

UM's top dashman

By [illegible]

[illegible]

WMUA sports doubleheader

[illegible]

Men's & Women's League being formed.

[illegible]

Call 545-[illegible]

[illegible]

Pro Scoreboard

[illegible]

TV tonight

[illegible]

THE GRADUATE STUDENT SENATE

[illegible]

JV pucksters win

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Crooker - standout swimmer

By [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Staff meeting

[illegible]

Celts edge Bucks

[illegible]

Sorority Rush

The Sorority System Rush will be held tonight, February 4th, in room 904 of the Campus Center at 7:00 p.m.

All University Women interested in Sorority membership should attend.

NOTICE

[illegible]

Intramural Notices

[illegible]

Ski Sale

SKIS BOOTS & CLOTHING

SPECIAL

[illegible]

Eagles shot down, 80-71

"It was a great win - it might be our best ever" - Jack Leaman.

By STEVE [illegible]

The doors of Curry Hicks Cage were locked at 6:45, as more than 4,000 fans had jammed courtside to [illegible] the contest.

Two doors were smashed as late-comers sought in vain to gain admission.

The Minutemen took the court at 7:30, and Mike Pyatt illegally dunked the ball during a lay-up drill, costing him a technical foul and spotting the Eagles a one point lead.

The stage was set, and after forty minutes of superb basketball, UMass came away with a major New England upset, topping Boston College 80-71.

[illegible]

Freshman standout Mike Pyatt lets one go in last night's upset victory. Pyatt's 22 points led the Minutemen to one of their finest victories ever.

Psyched gymmen nip Springfield

[illegible]

[illegible]

Team play [illegible] tell the tale

Pyatt, Town humiliate B.C.

[illegible]

Inside:

another cancresore of social affectation

[illegible]

The greening of sport

The All-Pro Show Biz

December 18, 1974 — a day to remember. The New Orleans Jazz were in the Springfield Civic Center to take on the Boston Celtics in what many experts called the return of Barnum & Bailey.

As the Springfield fans stumbled in from the cold, "Pistol" Pete Maravich, with his Jazz team, were taking their [illegible]

[illegible]

Blacks, women and long hair have landed. Ghetto pride, the assertion by the female side of their humanness and the changing values and awareness of these two groups as well as many white males have made every ball game a new one. Higher salaries, [illegible] "discipline" thrown out the window, expansion clubs resulting in a dilution of quality and team loyalty, drugs, and a few other smaller contributing factors have removed most of the false giddiness and clean worn facade of sport. And leave in that dollar sign, printers, please! Real life, at long last, is now a definite part of what Howard Cosell calls "the toy department of life." The might of the media has flashed these contests up into their present incredible pinnacle ([illegible] million who watched the last Super Bowl). Its power has given us stop-action instant replay to relive the great moments and give the TV viewer an awfully perceptive, if infinitely unreal and detached, view of sport. And even more importantly, it gives us clear shots of the people who turn the magic on. We see and hear and learn the values and perceptions of Bobby Orr, Bart Starr and Chris Evert. We get increasingly intimate locker room views of the players (beginning with Jim Bouton's 'Ball Four') as well as a few anti-establishment journals (Johnny Sample, Chip Oliver, Dave Meggyesy, and his expose of corruption at the Texas University football team, 'Meat on the Hoof') and while there is still a large line-up of Gee-Whiz Mr. Normals playing the games, we are seeing many more media-darlings, Bill Waltons, Derek Sandersons, Boutons and Billie Jean Kings. We are living in a most memorable time, for the days and ways and exploits of folk like Billie Jean, Reggie Jackson, Joe Namath and Muhammad Ali will certainly be legend. Where before America's [illegible] of racism, sexism, [illegible] and [illegible] were handed out like jock straps as team requirements, there is a steady new [illegible] of Americans finding another way to go.

So here about it. On one hand the culture of a Babe Ruth, on the other, the quiet black assertiveness of Henry Aaron. Johnny Unitas or Joe Namath? Billie Jean or Bobby Riggs? George Mikan or [illegible]? Joe Louis or Ali?

—•—

It was a pretty well-kept secret around the UMass campus, but on December 18, 1974 the human endurance marathon called the National Basketball Association came very near [illegible]

[illegible]

continued on page eight

[illegible]

[illegible]

BELOW SALT
Volume Three, Issue Two
6 February 1975

Part one: Star Trek

Where no man has gone before

THEN-NOW
by Bill Foster

(Part I in a series of three articles about the Star Trek phenomenon; what it's about, how it started and where it's gone.)

You turn on the T.V. and there's a series on. Nothing too unusual about that, there's a lot of old shows doing monotonous runs on the tube. One of the major differences about this series is that along with the Wild Wild West, it is the only show they can't take off the air because of public demand. Perhaps that gives you just an inkling of what in influence Star Trek has had in the past nine years. For more insight, we'll have to start at the beginning.

Star Trek was first conceived by Gene Roddenberry (considered by many to be an innovative, creative genius). It was to be a first, a technically feasible sci-fi series for weekly television. Nobody thought it would work, least of all in those early days, the N.B.C. network. Originally billed as "A Wagontrain of the Stars", Star Trek was still producing its first pilot, many critics put it down to be another "Lost in Space". They couldn't have been more off base. While the "Lost in Space" family were all but walking in space without any protection and utilizing cheap campy scripts and calling it sci-fi, Gene Roddenberry and staff were consulting scientific firms across the country in a play to make Star Trek technically accurate as well as entertaining. This was one of the biggest hassles Star Trek had with N.B.C. Since Star Trek was as original, everything had to be made up and created from scratch. This meant stock footage costumes and props couldn't be used, and that meant money to buy original materials. Lots of money. More than N.B.C. was willing to give for a pilot, let alone a series weekly.

But that was only the beginning. The Network also wanted to make pragmatic changes. Their suggestion on the pilot included such gems as get rid of that character with the ears! (Mr. Spock) And only with the greatest difficulty did Roddenberry convince them of the importance of a character who could make critical comments about the human race from an alien perspective.

Despite this and other seemingly momentous resistance from the same source, Roddenberry not only produced the show successfully, he also founded an idea that became the theme for a whole generation.

Consider everything said so far, a very small corner of the iceberg called Star Trek mania, and you'll have a preliminary view of what it's all about. Although I am a great stickler for detail and critical comment about Star Trek, I am by no means the expert on the subject. Three very good sources on Star Trek are:

1. The Making of Star Trek
2. The Trouble with Tribbles
3. The World of Star Trek

all published by Ballantine Books.

(end of part 1)

Bits O' News

In an effort to make this paper more open to the community, Below the Salt is announcing a graphics competition. This means that anyone and everyone is invited to create a logo for any department we have. There is no limit to the amount of logos that can be submitted. It would probably be beneficial to draw one for each department, but this is not a necessity. To make things a little easier for us, a standard procedure for submission has been created. Please try and keep your logos within a two inch square. Attach a card with your name and telephone number to each logo, also including a hint at what page the logo is for. An example:

Porky Morph 5-2223
Books

The logos can be for politics, music, books, creative writing, weekend, art, theatre, dance, film, food or anything you feel we should have. They can be drawings, letterings, photos, any medium that you feel comfortable using. Simply bring your art up to the second floor of the Student Union by 12:00 on February 11 and put them in the copy box for Below the Salt. Information can be obtained by calling 5-3500 and asking for Tyla.

Are you a woman, man, black, white, shades of green? Do you care what you read about or what your student activities tax is spent on? Are you willing to make a small committment to yourself? If you think the answers to some of these questions is yes then come to our staff meeting tomorrow night. Call 545-3500 and ask the Below the Salt office for details. This could be your space.

THE SHIT HITS THE FAN
McGILVRAY presents a Strange but True
SPECIAL·EVENT
The School of Education
PASS
FAIL
FOLLIES
FAIL
PASS
WHODUDIT?
I AM NOT A CROOK
Where is the money now?
Could this be just the beginning?

Below the Salt
6 February 1975
Volume 3, Issue 2

Editor
Tyla L. Michaleva

Assistant Editor and Head
Andrew MacKenzie

Assistant Editor and Music
Michael C. Kostek II

Artful Dodging
[illegible]

Eating Out
Lori Leiderman

Books
Ed Smith

Film
Jeffrey Polman

Existential Editor
E. Patrick McQuaid

Sex and Violence
Kris Jackson
Don McGilvray

Photography Coordination
Bill [illegible]

Dance
Sue Deskocil
[illegible]

Theatre
Politics
Your Name Here

Paul Moses
Karen Miller
[illegible]
Bill Foster
David Miller
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Ken Blanchard
[illegible]

recyclable

"The truth was doomed to die. [illegible]"

Below The Salt [illegible]

Below The Salt is a weekly [illegible] magazine of the [illegible] student newspaper, Amherst, Mass.

TRASH Collection
2314 FEB 75

Nobody Wants Your Trash!

. . . so we'll take it! We're the sanitation experts. Call

VILLAGE INN
DRAKE

FRENCH CONNECTION
FRIDAY, FEB. 7
CCA 7, 9, 11
$1.00

A Touch Of Class
George Segal Glenda Jackson
fri. feb. 7th at 7-9-11 in the s.u.b.

Dance:

Colgate Kamala Troop— Angels and Demons at Play

by Susan Deskocil

The Colgate-Kamala Troupe's presentation of Saint Tyagarajaswami's Prahlada Bhakti Vijaya last Monday night at Smith College was one of those once in a lifetime performances.

For those of you who don't know your Karnatic music history backwards and forwards, Tyagaraja (1767-1847) was one of the greatest South Indian Composers, holding a position comparable only to his Western contemporary Beethoven.

The Dance Drama Prahlada Bhakti Vijaya, originally a five act drama, was cut down to two acts, each with half a dozen scenes.

Performed in the classical style of Bharata Natyam, it contained the three main elements: Nritta, or pure dance, Natya, which combines acting and dancing, and Nritya, a form which interprets a story through use of hands, limbs and facial expressions.

Kamala, who debuted at Bombay as a Kathak dancer at the tender age of five, is one of the outstanding Bharata Natyam dancers of South India. This year she will be the visiting Branta Professor of Dance at Colgate University. She and Professor William Skelton, well-known for his research in Karnatic music over the past decade, put the performance together with the aid of many Colgate University Students interested and trained (through some time in Madras) in the Indian Arts.

The story is about Prahlada, whose evil, power-hungry father tortures his son to try to get him to leave his sole idol, the god Vishnu. But Prahlada cannot be [illegible] and in the end is rewarded for his loyalty by Vishnu.

Prahlada is played by Kamala, and the years of practice are [illegible]. Every movement is so beautifully fluid and yet perfectly controlled that the audience would have been happy for her to continue all night. [illegible]

One of the most enthusiastic responses was evoked from the audience [illegible] fervent prayers of Prahlada and frees him, after first killing off the serpent. Special applause to Coutney Inglehart as Garuda.

Even if you are not an avid dance fan, it was worth attending just to hear the musicians in the group! The vina (a stringed instrument) and the venu (a bamboo flute) were the melodic instruments. The Kanjura (hand drum) mridangam and maddalam (larger two headed drum) keep rhythms like 10-2-2-1-1 and 2-2-3 — that are constantly changing. The pitch was maintained throughout the show on the upright stringed instrument, the tamboura.

The leading vocalist was S. Rajeswari, a graduate of advanced courses from Karnatic College of Madras, who has been performing for All India Radio and touring as Kamala's vocalist for over a decade. [illegible]

[illegible]

Theatre:

Broadway and Seascapes

Seascape
By Edward Albee
Directed by the Author
Shubert Theatre, New York City

Reviewed by Paul Moses

Edward Albee's new play Seascape opened on Broadway at the Shubert Theatre last week. New York Times critic Clive Barnes, Broadway's "chief executioner," gave it his imprimatur, assuring it of some success.

The comedy opens with a retired married couple, played by Deborah Kerr and Barry Nelson, sitting on a beach. [illegible]

Then, just before the end of the first act, two anthropomorphic green lizards rise from the sea, startling the aged beachcombers and the audience. [illegible]

[illegible]

All four performances were excellent. Frank Langella, as the male lizard, [illegible] The accomplished Deborah Kerr and Barry Nelson were very good, as was Maureen Anderman as the female lizard.

Albee, who directed the play, [illegible]

Appeals for [illegible] meet with brutal stupidity

NOW OPEN
SOUTH CHINA RESTAURANT
(Formerly [illegible])
Reservations — [illegible]
[illegible]
Luncheon Specials
from $1.55
[illegible]
TROPICAL DRINKS
POLYNESIAN CUISINE
[illegible] Amherst, Mass.

SALE
Southwestern
Indian Jewelry
½ off
SUNSHINE RECORDS
[illegible] Pleasant St.
New Albums
$1.99 and up
[illegible] from The Pub!

HUNGRY
DELIVERS ON [illegible]
[illegible]
Call us -
256-8914 or 256-0473
[illegible]
[illegible] PLEASANT ST
SUBS TOO!!

A continuing saga of the absurd

The Tower

a chapter preceding the first one

by E. Patrick McQuaid

[illegible]

[illegible]

"Welcome, Herr professor. Welcome to the campus!"

[illegible]

Northern Grill

Breakfast Specials 99¢

OPEN

Mon.-Fri.
Sat. & Sun.

Preak Sneview

Sneak Preview of A Woman Under The Influence directed by John Cassavetes, starring Peter Falk and Gena Rowlands

by Stuart Saidler

This Monday, February [illegible], at [illegible] p.m. in Smith College's Sage Hall Auditorium, there will be a sneak preview of John Cassavetes' new film, A Woman Under The Influence, starring Peter Falk and Gena Rowlands. This film has already opened in New York to excellent reviews and will shortly open in Boston. [illegible]

[illegible]

UNCLE ED'S BREAKFAST

Rte. 9 — Hadley Center
Next to the Post Office

Breakfast Specials 99¢

OPEN

Mon.-Fri.
Sat. & Sun.

Now appearing at the

THE STEAK OUT

REAL TEARS

Happy Hour — Mon.-Sat., [illegible]
In The Speakeasy Lounge

[illegible] Restaurant

Breakfast Specials [illegible]

Luncheon Specials [illegible]

Dinner Specials from [illegible]

OPEN 24 HOURS

University of massachusetts arts council

presents

[illegible]

bookspaj

Firesign Chats

THE FIRESIGN THEATRE'S BIG MYSTERY JOKE BOOK
by The Firesign Theatre
Straight Arrow Books

Reviewed by David Miller

[illegible]

[illegible]

In Peace,
Peace To You Too!

Zen Mechanics

ZEN AND THE ART OF MOTORCYCLE MAINTENANCE
by Robert M. Pirsig
Morrow, [illegible]

Reviewed by Ed Smith

[illegible]

Why everybody's pretending they're us.

[illegible]

University of massachusetts arts council

presents

Israel Chamber Orchestra

The Hartford Ballet

[illegible]

Oregon . . . unique on a regular basis

by Your Sacred Cowboy

Winter Light
Oregon
(Vanguard VSD 79350)
Playing Time: 40:30

Oregon is a four-man instrumental band, and there is probably no more interesting way of introducing them than to list the members and their main and secondary instruments.

Ralph Towner: Easily one of the world's greatest (and I'm not throwing the word 'world' around lightly) classical and twelve-string guitar players. Also plays excellent piano, French horn and percussion.

Paul McCandless: Oboe and English horn, both with the soul of an angel.

Glen Moore: Bassist of sufficient talent and invention to be our generation's Reggie Workman in a few years. Also plays piano, violin, flute.

Collin Walcott: Probably among the first in Western world to make serious, enjoyable adaptations of the sitar and tabla to music other than the classical music of India. Provides almost all percussion for the group on the tabla. Also plays dulcimer, clarinet, conga and pakhawaj (which is also an Indian percussion instrument, I believe).

Certainly this combination of instrumental colors is unique in the world, at least on a regular basis (Winter Light is their third album), but this is far from being the only one-of-a-kind thing about them. For example, what good would this freakish assortment be if they used them to play nothing but gimmicked-up versions of popular tunes? So, obviously then, their compositions would need to be at least as unique as their instruments in order to justify them — and writing a piece that can tastefully combine sitar, English horn and clarinet, for instance, is no mean trick. Furthermore, there is the small matter of being able to play the instruments well enough to bring those compositions to life. This is especially important because improvisation, both group and solo, is a major part of most of their pieces. And improvising in these usually complex structures, while remaining sensitive to the over-all sound of the composition as it was written, plus, possibly, that sound in relation to another member's simultaneous improvisation is, needless to say, somewhat demanding.

Street dancers and rain makers.

To give you an idea of what kind of strengths each person brings to the group needs a little bit more personal background. Ralph Towner majored in music theory and composition, has given several solo and guitar recitals in both the U.S. and Europe, and has composed several solos and duets for classical guitar, as well as an orchestral concerto. Paul McCandless majored in the oboe, has played with musical groups ranging from jazz to symphony orchestras. Glen Moore is the only member without actual classical training, coming from a varied jazz background. Collin Walcott majored in percussion and ethnomusicology, and has been a disciple of both Ravi Shankar (sitar) and Alla Rakha (tabla). All of them are former members of the Paul Winter Consort.

I don't mean to imply by all of this that their music is so strange and complex as to be enjoyable only to those who study music theory and the like. The majority of their work is accessible on many levels — melodic and deceptively simple (although not to the point of simplemindedness) on the surface, but with an endless depth of subtlety in both the composition and the improvisational interplay. I might also mention here that, as you might have noticed from the list of instruments, this is an essentially non-electric band (although they make an occasional concession to electric bass). This, and the fact that the dominant instruments are usually the guitar and the oboe or English horn, gives them an almost Baroque feeling, although not actual sound, being tempered as it is with the jazzish bass and Eastern percussion.

Now, let's get down to cases. Winter Light, while possibly the most advanced of their three albums, is not the one I would recommend to the new listener. The group members seem to be a lot more confident in their knowledge of each other's abilities and directions, and are therefore taking things somewhat farther out than previously — the compositions are more involved, the improvisations more daring (although there is a warm and elegantly simple rendering of Jim Pepper's "Witchi-tai-to" — the first time Oregon has ever recorded anyone else's composition — performed on piano, with a dulcimer for its sole accompaniment). For someone new to Oregon, I recommend their second album, Distant Hills (Vanguard VSD 79341), if only because the separation of the main influences on their music (classical, jazz and Eastern) is more clear cut.

Winter Light is an interesting progression from their previous work. In a sense it seems to strike a balance, combining the maturity and clarity of Distant Hills with the probing, far-ranging experimentalism of their first album, Music of Another Present Era (Vanguard VSD 79326). And although Ralph Towner's compositions are over-all the most powerful, it's good to see the other three members writing again after their conspicuous absence from the second album. Paul McCandless in particular has written a strangely beautiful, wistful piece, titled "Fond Libra." My only regret is that the sitar wasn't given a solo spot anywhere on this album.

I have one small hope and two large hopes for Oregon in the future. I hope that Towner becomes proficient enough on French horn to feature it in a composition — it's only been a support instrument so far, and it would fit into their sound really well. I hope that they branch out even farther and begin to write for larger groups of instruments, bring in other musicians. Most of all I hope they get the recognition they deserve.

Big face comix

A LIVE ALBUM
HOLLY NEAR (Redwood)

[illegible]

Utah Phillips: college dropout, poetry professor, unsuccessful senatorial candidate, labor organizer, singer and railroad bum.

GOOD THOUGH UTAH PHILLIPS
(Philo 1004)

[illegible]

FIRE ON THE MOUNTAIN
THE CHARLIE DANIELS BAND
(Kama Sutra KSBS 2603)

[illegible]

Ed Fleischer

Singing Ink

I CAN HELP
BILLY SWAN
(Monument KZ 33279)

TRAPPED IN THE SUBURBS
DENNIS LINDE
(Elektra 7E-1011)

[illegible]

KINKY FRIEDMAN
(ABC ABCD-829)

Kinky needs the Texas Jewboys back.

[illegible]

Jack Bruce - not too bad, no? Huh? Yes!

OUT OF THE STORM
JACK BRUCE
(RSO SO-4805)
Playing Time: 37:25

The release of a new solo album by Jack Bruce is always an occasion of interest, if not special excitement. His records are consistently of the "diamond-in-the-rough" variety, containing more ideas than almost any three songwriters' albums, but always so sporadically developed and sparsely produced that they tend to go right by the ear of the casual listener. Hence, his last two albums are already in the bargain bins.

The main charm of Bruce's music is its abruptness — the rudely shifting time signatures, the furious key changes at odd moments, the eccentric melodies and harmonies, the jagged vocals. His compositions are occasionally unsuccessful, but never bland or uninteresting. It does strike me as strange, however, that Bruce's albums never contain a single instrumental; seemingly he prefers the challenge of working with the structural limitations imposed by the works of lyricist Pete Brown. In terms of composition this works out quite well, for the most part, but Bruce seems to be impatient with arranging and producing, as I mentioned earlier, and this gives his records an unfinished sound that might be unpleasant on first hearing.

Jack Bruce in a typical mug shot.

Furthermore, he has always been reluctant to delegate authority — he plays harmonica and keyboards excellently, and is one of the greats on his main instrument, the electric bass (he also does all vocals and harmonies) — but with few exceptions he has never used more than a drummer and a guitarist for accompaniment (and his guitarists have always been notoriously weak: a result, perhaps, of his years playing second banana — a difficult instrument — to Eric Clapton in Cream. Bruce is apparently afraid of being overshadowed — needlessly, I might add — and his albums suffer accordingly.

To his credit, on this album his guitarist has a much stronger [illegible] Clapton [illegible] Even his choice of two of the more notably mediocre drummers in the business, Jim Gordon and Jim Keltner, does no apparent harm. Over-all a much fuller sound.

If you're not already acquainted with Bruce's music, this album might be the most accessible starting place (although the bargain bin items, while somewhat rougher, are really just as good or better). Be prepared to meet these records half-way, though; his music becomes extremely listenable with continued exposure but they are by no means catchy. An acquired taste. (B+)

— Your Sacred Cowboy

Tragic fate awaits funk

TOTAL ECLIPSE
BILLY COBHAM
(Atlantic)

[illegible]

TURN OF THE CARDS
RENAISSANCE
(BTM)

[illegible]

Renaissance: "out of the [illegible]"

[illegible]

continued from page one

The greening of sports

It's a good view, too, from center court-side. It's interesting that the media people as well as the insiders, club officials, etc. are dressed up. A coat and tie for a basketball game. The players are similarly attired. [illegible]

[illegible]

Paul Westphal (left) tells the author that he doesn't like anything writers write [illegible]

Below The Salt photo by [illegible]

[illegible]

continued on page eleven

BELL'S PIZZA HOUSE

[illegible]

Call [illegible]

ON VIEW: AMERICAN PAINTERS OF THE ARCTIC

A Frozen Paradise
by [illegible]

Mead Art Building
Amherst College
Through March 2

This is the kind of show that stimulates the imagination to fantasize about the vast wilderness of the snow-covered Northland, and reinforces the romantic images previously conjured up. This show is a glimpse into a world and way of life virtually none of us has experienced.

Rockwell Kent and William Bradford are the two most represented artists in this retrospective show of Arctic images. [illegible]

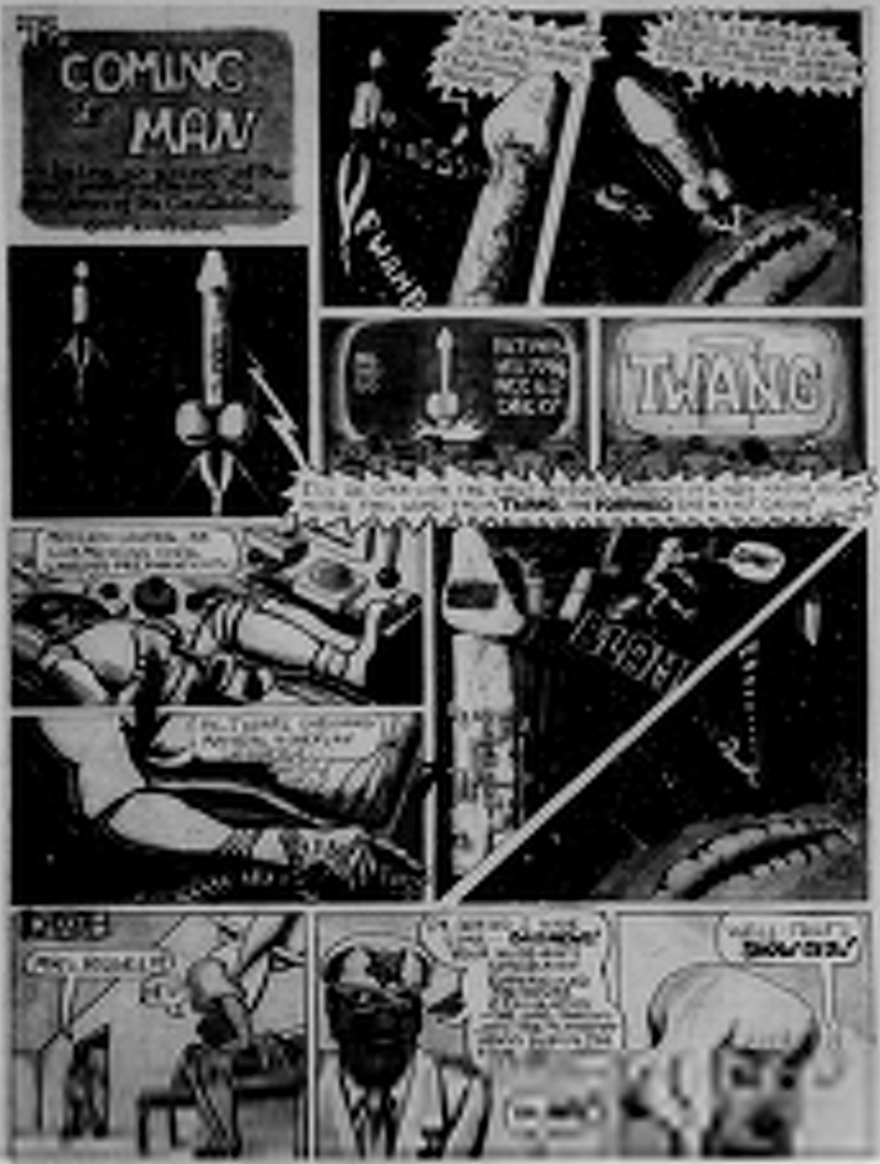
Rockwell Kent's Arctic studies [illegible]

[illegible]

ART
FIVE COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY

Amherst College — American Painters of the Arctic [illegible]

[illegible]



PROGRAM COUNCIL FILMS
SPRING 1975

[illegible]

Cinema
WALT DISNEY'S
SWISS FAMILY
ROBINSON

Film Times

AMHERST Cinema
Now
"the wild child"
Francois
Truffaut's
Stolen
Kisses

CALVIN Theatre
Now
Now
LAW AND DISORDER

ADULTS ONLY!
$ELLING IT
AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST., AMHERST
253-5426

One Day in the Life of
IVAN DENISOVITCH
Thursday, Feb. 6
7, 9, 11
C.C. Aud.

"THE MOST UNUSUAL MOVIE I'VE SEEN THIS YEAR."
"THE MOST UNUSUAL AND PROVOCATIVE WORK OF SCIENCE FICTION."
"BEST BET"
FANTASTIC PLANET
The Golden Voyage of Sinbad

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

SHOWCASE CINEMAS
"The special effects are smashing."
THE TOWERING INFERNO
EARTHQUAKE
College Discount Cards Available
Alan Arkin
James Caan

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S
FANTASIA
"Harry & Tonto"

Of Verbal Mountain Majesty

continued from page eight

The all - pro show biz

Appearing
Thurs., Fri. & Sat.
NRBQ
...
Rusty Nail
Inn

St. Regis Restaurant

Canadian Meat Pie
Chicken Pie

Weekend: Where men are men and sheep are nervous

[illegible]

RATINGS
[illegible]

BLAZING SADDLES

[illegible]

EARTHQUAKE

[illegible]

FANTASIA

[illegible]

FANTASTIC PLANET

[illegible]

THE FRENCH CONNECTION

[illegible]

GODFATHER II

[illegible]

HARRY AND TONTO

[illegible]

ILSA

[illegible]

LITTLE BIG MAN

[illegible]

MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS

[illegible]

SLEEPER—EVERYTHING YOU WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT SEX—BANANAS

[illegible]

STEPPENWOLF

[illegible]

THIEVES LIKE US—THE LONG GOODBYE

[illegible]

THE TOWERING INFERNO

[illegible]

A TOUCH OF CLASS

[illegible]

WILD STRAWBERRIES

[illegible]

[illegible]

LOCAL MUSIC

[illegible]

PROVIDENCE, R.I.

[illegible]

CONCERTS

[illegible]

SPRINGFIELD

[illegible]

BOSTON

[illegible]

[illegible]

CC Governing Board votes for more security

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
[illegible]

weather

[illegible]

Faculty Senate group proposes Ed-School panel

[illegible]

See related stories on pages 2 and 5

[illegible]

"WALKING THROUGH THE FINE ARTS CENTER AT NIGHT" image was produced by a [illegible]

Student sustains fracture in ice-caused Sylvan fall

[illegible]

[illegible] page [illegible]

Daniels support movement plans meeting on Tuesday

[illegible]

Despite FBI probe

Nominees to continue innovations

By DONNA FUSCO
Staff Reporter

The six nominees for the position of acting dean in the School of Education, each vowed yesterday that the School will continue to go forward as a center of educational innovation.

At the faculty assembly meeting, attended by more than eighty of the assembly's 130 members, nominees Norma Jean Anderson, Emma Cappelluzzo, Richard J. Clark, Louis Fischer, George Urch, and Sylvia Viera outlined where they saw the direction of the School and how they saw the role of acting dean.

In a five minute statement, Professor Emma Cappelluzzo said, "programs should not be curtailed. We should think about expansion, and intellectual areas must grow." She said that she advocated greater decentralization and unity and added the new dean should bring strengths to academic, personnel and committee work.

She said she saw the role of the dean on four levels "cross campus, internally, on a state and national level and also on an international scale."

Dean of undergraduate programs Richard J. Clark warned that "in the face of budget cuts we not lose sight of what we're here for and that's the students." The clusters are working, the cabinet is working and the faculty assembly is working. We've made remarkable progress."

He also stressed there should be consistency from all clusters on statements of committment and goals of the School.

Professor Louis Fischer said "this crisis is one of the healthiest things that have come about, but I want to clear up a misunderstanding. The overwhelming majority of us support what has come about over the years."

Saying he wanted to "add rigor to the vigor", he added "I want to encourage us to get together socially as well as professionally. It is imperative to get to know each other as people, as well as educators."

Associate Professor George Urch, said this is not the time for retrenchment. We have created an environment of freedom I want to push forward rather than stop."

"Four things the new dean should do is, hire the most talented people he can find, support them, free them to do what they do best and provide leadership."

Sylvia Viera, who described herself as a newcomer and a reluctant candidate said "the areas of curriculum and research are very much needed." She emphasized that there are too few women and the "School has been short on racism and sexism." Her major emphasis was to "pull the school out of three buildings and get into the community."

Assistant Dean Norma Jean Anderson declined to make a statement saying "I can best serve the School in the role I'm in now."

Emphasizing the acting dean is an interim position, Associate Provost David Bischoff said "the appointment will probably be for one and a half years."

The Faculty also voted down the "Wellman proposal", calling for a "monitoring of the on-going auditing process". After a half hour's deliberation and several changes in wording the assembly decided a monitoring is not needed with all the external agencies that are now involved.

Revenues up, vacancies down at Brittany Manor

By DOROTHY MULLER
Staff Reporter

Staff Photo by Bob Stevens

A combination of intensive advertising, physical changes and policy innovations at Brittany Manor has "turned the place around financially" says Art Boothbe, who manages the complex for the court since Hancock Management went bankrupt.

"When we came in after the company went bankrupt there were 180 projected vacancies. "Today, we have only 42," says Boothbe. "In the summer we expect from past experience about a 50 per cent vacancy but we are hoping to lower rent as an incentive to stay by $20 to $30."

Boothbe and William Ryan, who is also running the complex under the direction of the court, are thinking in terms of "what we can do to get people to stay." "When we came here, people just weren't happy. By painting the entrance ways, installing more than a $1,000 worth of new outdoor lighting," says Boothbe, "people are staying."

For those tenants who moved into the complex after the Hancock Management company announced its bankruptcy, "we have placed their security deposit money in a guaranteed escrow account. We operate from a company that has its base in Connecticut, so we are required to do that, anyway."

Boothbe plans to improve the physical environment by planting more fir trees to shield the buildings from the road. After the summer, he plans to organize the complex so that families with children will live in one area, people with pets in another.

However, this fall, Brittany Manor will be requiring leases from their tenants. Although, those tenants currently at Brittany Manor will be able to reserve their apartment through the summer. "Essentially we will be keeping their furniture in storage for them until the fall so that they won't have to move," says Boothbe.

Meanwhile, according to Boothbe, the court has 28 accountants "chasing down the checks from Brittany Manor."

Dorsch memo prompts Dean Field to recall incorrect records release

By LARRY KORNFELD
Staff Reporter

After receiving a memorandum by Student Attorney William Dorsch, Dean of Students William Field agreed to recall "an incorrect records release to welfare agencies."

Dorsch's memorandum claimed that the university's practice of sending tuition and fee records of all students to the state welfare department was "illegal" on the basis of the Buckley Amendment. These records were on a computer print-out that showed what each student's bill fee was and how it was paid.

"Within the day that I learned of the release, I took steps to have the records recalled and to gain assurance that no future release of this sort would take place," said Field.

"This is inconsistent with our policies and practices and, quite apart from compliance with any new laws, was not an acceptable procedure by our own standards," he added.

In a December 11 Collegian article Dorsch, and two Student Organizing Project members, Bob [illegible] and John Fisher, attacked the records release as a violation of the student's right to privacy.

Dorsch was quoted in the article as saying: "At best it's inappropriate, even if it's not illegal. The university should guard that information with some respect."

Field said the records were released because "the processing of welfare claims for students whose need was real and pressing had been delayed by the time required to comply with welfare procedures by searching out certain fiscal records in our Bursar's Office.

"There has been an intensive active review underway since late summer in order to assess the possibility of change to secure compliance with the new state and federal regulations. It is most important, I believe, that flaws in either procedure or policy be called to our attention at the earliest possible moment in fairness to the students concerned."

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editors
Editor in Chief [illegible]
Managing Editor [illegible]
Executive Editor [illegible]
News Editor Richard Wright
Sports Editor [illegible]
Photo Editor [illegible]
Fine Arts Editor [illegible]
Black Affairs Editor Sherwood Thompson

Associate Editors
Wire Editors Fred Goslewski, Louise [illegible]
Assistant Managing Editor [illegible]
Assistant Executive Editor [illegible]
Assistant News Editors Judy Bouchal, [illegible] Rogers
Assistant Sports Editor Scott Hayes
Assistant Photo Editor [illegible]
Assistant Fine Arts Editors Michael S. Kostek II, [illegible]
Assistant Black Affairs Editor [illegible]

Business
Business Manager [illegible]
Advertising Manager Gary Williams
Production Manager [illegible]
Assistant Business Manager [illegible]
Assistant Advertising Managers Alan Anastas, Paul [illegible]

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Walt Powers
Night Staff Methane Mary n' the [illegible]
Editorial [illegible]
Sports Dave [illegible], Bill [illegible]
Photo Debbie Schafer, [illegible]

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. [illegible]

[illegible]

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
LANGUAGE SCHOOLS

1975
Summer in Vermont
Courses for GRADUATE CREDIT in FRENCH, GERMAN, ITALIAN, RUSSIAN and SPANISH leading to Master of Arts and Doctor of Modern Languages degrees
Courses for UNDERGRADUATE CREDIT in CHINESE, FRENCH, GERMAN, ITALIAN, JAPANESE, RUSSIAN and SPANISH

1975 - 76
Academic Year in Europe
M.A. and Doctoral Programs in FRANCE, GERMANY, ITALY and SPAIN

[illegible]
Language Schools
Middlebury College
Middlebury, Vermont [illegible]

— WE NEED YOU —

The Belchertown project needs conscientious, big hearted people to volunteer their services and time in helping retarded people lead a more productive and rewarding life.

All those interested should attend any one of the following informational meetings:

[illegible] is a 5-College Area Organization. We welcome participation by all the collegiate community.

Do Yourself & Someone Else A Favor!

UMASS
5 Feb., [illegible] p.m. — C.C., Rm. [illegible]
6 Feb., 7:30-9:00 p.m. — C.C., Rm. [illegible]
AMHERST
5 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Converse Hall, Rm. [illegible]
MT. HOLYOKE
6 Feb., 7:00 p.m. — Eliot House
SMITH
5 Feb., [illegible] p.m. — Wright Hall, Common Rm
HAMPSHIRE
10 Feb., 7:30 p.m. — Franklin Patterson Hall, Rm. [illegible]

Would be used for highrise buildings

Firetruck purchase contingent upon state funds

By BILL GONET
Staff Reporter

If the state legislator does not appropriate money for an elevating platform firetruck that's needed for the high rise building on campus, then the town will not buy one, according to Steven Sheiffer, assistant town manager.

Amherst Fire Chief, John Doherty, said this truck would be used to service buildings over three stories high. He said, "the vast preponderance of three story buildings are located on the UMass campus."

Gerald Grady, university community coordinator, said that the administration is assigning "top priority" to a special appropriation of $150,000 for an elevated platform truck for Amherst's fire department.

Last September, UMass administrators and the board of trustees inserted this request in the University's 1975 budget.

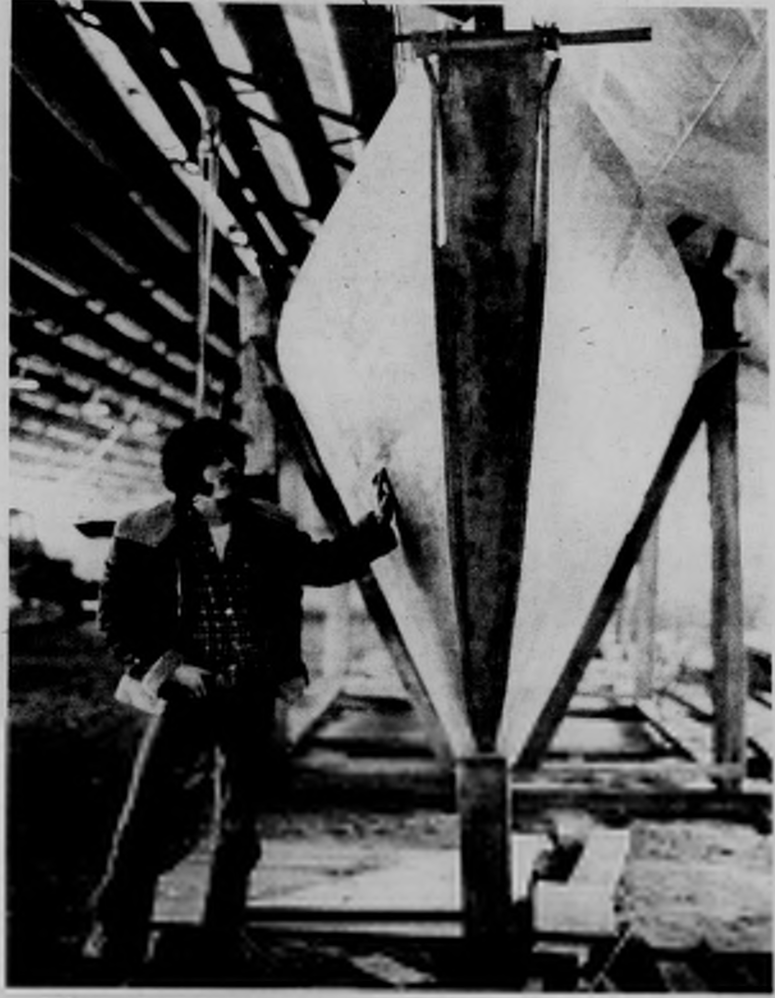
[illegible] this request is the fact that about 40 percent of the calls answered by the Amherst Fire Department were from UMass last year.

"We're hopeful that we'll get the money," said Grady, "but it's up to the legislature now."

Presently, the University pays the town of Amherst $250,000 in the form of taxes levied on the land occupied by the University.

Sheiffer said that amount was inadequate to pay for services which the town provides UMass. "It doesn't even fully cover 40 percent of the fire department's budget," he said. He also said that the town doesn't receive any funds to cover the cost of schooling children of parents residing in University tax exempt housing at the North Village Apartments.

Grady acknowledged that the University recognizes the importance of this problem and supports a proposal by Rep. James Collins (D-Amherst), by which the state would subsidize municipalities for servicing large state institutions.



Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

UMass senior Jeff Hoffman stands beside the hull of the 51-foot catamaran sailboat which he is constructing in Belchertown.

In a Belchertown barn, his sailing dreams come true

By DEBBIE SCHAFER
Staff Reporter

Jeff Hoffman, a 22-year-old UMass student, is constructing a 51-foot, mahogany catamaran sailboat. For Hoffman, a life-long ambition is becoming a reality; his dream — — to live on the ocean and see the world while he is still young.

Hoffman, a carpenter, is building the boat himself. He has had help from his wife, Karen, and his best friend Neal Schwartz. Hoffman hopes to launch the boat in August.

The sailboat will be worth over $100,000 when completed, because of the mahogany construction, according to Hoffman. It was designed by James Wharram, a world famous designer of Polynesian catamaran sailboats, who sold Hoffman the construction plans. It is Wharram's largest design, said Hoffman.

After much research, Hoffman said he chose his boat design because it incorporated all the features of safety, speed, and stability that he wanted.

"This happens to be one of the most stable catamarans ever designed, because of the shape of the hulls," said Hoffman. It is almost impossible for the boat to capsize, he claims.

Hoffman has had experience sailing boats and is also a certified scuba diver. "I've loved the ocean all my life," he said. His wife Karen said she has never been on a sailboat in her life, but is looking forward to the experience of living on a boat. "I'm willing to give anything a try," she added.

The Hoffmans live in a trailer in Pelham now, to reduce rent costs and save money. "All of our extra money goes toward the boat," Hoffman said, "and we try to keep our expenses down."

Hoffman is building the boat in a vacant Belchertown turkey barn. During the winter months, he is unable to work on the hull construction, since a special epoxy wood coating can only be used at temperatures above 60 degrees. Hoffman tried heating the barn, but the high cost of fuel prohibited this.

For now, he is doing work that can be done in a machine shop, such as the making of stainless steel fittings for the boat's interior. He also utilizes a woodworking shop, where he makes hatches and rudders.

Hoffman will resume hull construction when warm weather returns. So far he has completed one hull of the boat. In the summer he averaged [illegible] hours of work per week on the project, he said.

When the sailboat is completed, Hoffman and his wife plan to sail to the Florida Keys and live on the boat. They will fish commercially as a source of income for a time and will eventually start a series of charter cruises in the Caribbean Islands. The boat will sleep ten people "comfortably" said Hoffman.

If the cruise chartering doesn't work out, Hoffman will also be certified to teach secondary school. "I haven't ruled out anything. I've got a lot of alternatives," he said. He will probably teach "eventually" but now he just wants to travel in his sailboat. Karen, who is employed as a clinical assistant at University Health Services, shares his wish to travel. "It's a dream we both share," said Hoffman.

University Library is world's largest and -you guessed it -also the world's windiest

Our windswept library

Although it is public information that the University Library is the tallest in the world, it is not generally known off-campus that the winds which pass around the library are at least equal to those of the hurricane of '38. "It just amplifies the wind's speed," said James [illegible], associate professor of civil engineering.

"The amplification of the wind speed is mainly a function of the building itself," he says. "The higher a building is, the more accelerated the wind flow is at the ground."

Winds normally flow in straight lines until they meet buildings and must pass around and/or over them. As the building increases in height, [illegible] says, more of the ground winds must pass around the corners, and their speed increases proportionately.

Wind speeds increase 50 per cent around the corners of buildings that are as tall as they are wide, and may increase 100 per cent "and possibly more" around a building whose height is two and a half times its width.

Above that height, there is no further increase, but since the library is quite a bit taller than two and a half times its width, the effect is at its maximum.

In other words, the wind around the library may reach better than [illegible] m.p.h. on a day when the wind elsewhere averages [illegible] m.p.h.

Another factor involved is the configuration of campus buildings. When the wind blows from the north or northwest, it passes between Thompson Tower and the library. Since the wind passing around the base of Thompson is also increased in speed, the two buildings may combine to push the wind velocity even higher.

The prevailing winds in this area are from the northwest during the winter months, when, [illegible] notes, the cold makes things worse by increasing the wind chill factor.

The university has taken steps toward impeding the wind by planting evergreen trees around the library's base. It will be another 20 years, however, before they will be tall enough to have any effect, according to William Lambert, university landscape architect.

Though it may be too late to make significant changes in wind flow patterns at the university, there may be a time when wind effects will be part of an architect's considerations.

According to [illegible], the National Science Foundation now has under consideration a research proposal from UMass to evaluate the human response to strong winds and to attempt to define a discomfort criterion to be used in the architectural design of buildings.

The proposed research, to be jointly undertaken by the Institute for Man and Environment and a private research organization, includes plans for an investigation of people's responses and wind measurements at a windy location in Boston.

Congress not meeting nation needs, says Ford

Ford demands action on economy, energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford yesterday charged Congress is wasting time and has failed to provide the action the nation wants on his anti-recession and energy programs.

"The President wants Congress to get busy and pass his program and stop wasting time. And he thinks the people do, too," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters.

"The people want action," Nessen said, explaining these were Ford's words to him. According to Nessen, Ford said the Congress is taking a 10-day holiday for Democratic and Republican political speechmaking "having done nothing" since it began its session a month ago.

"The President feels Congress has been here a month and has done nothing but vote on a delay." [illegible]

Ford ordered the tariff hike, raising the barrel fee $1 a month from Feb. 1 to April 1, on executive authority. [illegible]

[illegible]

Nessen said Ford hoped on the [illegible]

House panel approves tax cut for business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House committee approved [illegible]

[illegible]

JOBS NOW
UNEMPLOYMENT IS A MENACE!
UAW
National Health Insurance For All
Local 51

Demonstrators at an "Emergency Unemployment Mobilization Rally" carry picket signs asking for an end to unemployment Wednesday at the rally sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union.

GSA dismayed at reporter's ability to penetrate security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agency responsible for protecting federal buildings from bomb terrorists expressed dismay but little surprise yesterday to learn that a bearded newsman carrying a suspicious-looking shoebox [illegible]

[illegible]

Who is Othmar Schoeck?

WMUA

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7

[illegible]

91.1 FM

rent a refrigerator. Save

$30 for semester
$10 security
.90 tax
Call 256-8432 after 6 p.m.

NOW OPEN
SOUTH CHINA RESTAURANT
[illegible]

Fetus inviable says doctor

BOSTON (AP) — The fetus aborted by Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin could not have lived because its lungs were not well developed enough to breathe, an obstetrician testified yesterday.

[illegible]

$52 million wasted on I-95

BOSTON (AP) — The decision to stop highway construction within Massachusetts 128 in the Boston area [illegible]

[illegible]

FBI wants Ed-School records kept secret

By United Press International

The FBI asked that no records be distributed to the public in connection with the alleged misuse of funds scandal plaguing School of Education.

[illegible]

*Fracture

cont. from p. 1

Just before Thanksgiving, another Brown resident, William Russell, fell and fractured his wrist during a rainstorm. [illegible]

[illegible]

FOR SALE
Vending machines — 3 candy, 1 soda, 1 cigarette.
Call [illegible]

Civilian and military personnel give help to crying and wounded children at Wat Phnom School yesterday, following a rocket attack by the Khmer Rouge.

news summary

Wiretap ban urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

Brennan resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peter J. Brennan, [illegible]

[illegible]

ring days
Thurs. and Fri. 10 - 4
Feb. 13 & 14
reduced prices
[illegible]
university store
Campus Center

50%
CLIP SAVE 10%
[illegible]

Dairy cooperatives donate late in '74 races

WASHINGTON (UPI) – [illegible]

Aimed at increasing milk price supports

[illegible]

Jackson announces run for President

WASHINGTON (UPI) – [illegible]

Government to study possible illegality in Wallace position

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) – [illegible]

Men's & Women's League being formed.

[illegible]

Call 545-2230

[illegible]

Chinese NEW YEAR Special

Tuesday, February 11

ALL YOU CAN EAT!

Avoid the Crowd – come early

安城中國飯店

AMHERST CHINESE FOOD

Special Menu only on Tuesday

[illegible]

LIBRARY BOOK SALE

HARD BOUND BOOKS

ONLY 95¢ EACH

Originally Priced Up To $15.00

UNIVERSITY STORE

CAMPUS CENTER

[illegible]

A WORLD OF T-SHIRTS
THE COVER UP

Planned sterilization

[illegible]

Appearing

Thurs., Fri. & Sat.

NRBQ

Sun

Ground Speed

at

Rusty Nail Inn

Rte. 47

Sunderland

665-4937

PIZZA-RAMA

[illegible]

"EXTRA SPEEDY DELIVERY"

[illegible]

EMPORIUM INDIA
Beats the Depression
EMPORIUM

COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

BNS

[illegible]

Dinner

[illegible]

Notice

[illegible]

Musical drama

[illegible]

adventura travel SPRING
DAYTONA BEACH
FLINGS!
FRENCH CANADA

Tenant group & SOP divided over rent control

By JAN ALEXANDER
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

CARLO of Naples State Street, Northampton
5th Member of the World Famous Restaurant International
Our menu consists of 62 items (Italian Food only) and an average spending of $2.25
Your Host, Carlo, is a special student of UMass

NEW! at the [illegible] every Monday is... Irish Nite
this Monday, Feb. 10 9-1
Michael Joyce
the "Roving Galwayman"

The Big Y LIQUOR SUPERMARKETS
★ SPRINGFIELD
★ NORTHAMPTON
★ FAIRVIEW
from our well-stocked LIQUOR, BEER AND WINE SHOPPES
Canadian Club IMPORTED WHISKEY $5.99
Schenley Reserve BLENDED WHISKEY $4.49
[illegible] Polish Beer IMPORTED $7.99
[illegible] Beer $5.99
BOURBON $[illegible]
VODKA $7.[illegible]
Milwaukee's Best BEER $4.49
BLATZ BEER $3.[illegible]
LAMBRUSCO $1.[illegible]
North Mountain [illegible] $3.[illegible]

[illegible]

University of Massachusetts Arts Council presents [illegible]

LIFE/STYLE ...the way it was

The photo, courtesy of Bernard Hilton, is over 80 years old. The story was originally printed in "Aggie Life," the newspaper of Massachusetts Agricultural College. Pulled from the past by Jim Paulin.

WAS IT A DREAM?

One night while writing, I fell asleep, and upon awakening I read the following, which I can only account for on the supposition that it was written while dreaming. In 1906 I purchased a ticket in Boston for Amherst. Leaving Boston at 7:15 a.m. on the Central Mass. R.R., I arrived in Amherst at 8 a.m., traveling a little over two miles per minute, including stops. The road was nearly straight, the cars slid along noiselessly, and I saw there were four tracks all the way. Upon arriving at Amherst I took an electric car for the Agricultural College, which was almost surrounded by the prosperous city of Amherst, and arrived on the college grounds in time to attend chapel exercises.

The huge electric chime of bells was ringing as I alighted at the chapel door and I observed 500 young men file quickly into their places in the commodious chapel hall. Soon the service was over and the students proceeded to their class rooms, each man with a phonograph in his pocket to receive the lecture.

After a few minutes conversation with the pastor, he showed me around, first calling my attention to the singing organ, which not only sounded the notes but the words also. Next we stepped outside; in front of us lay a small campus, beyond, on the flat below, we saw the athletic fields and near them a large drill hall. Farther to the south we noticed the college barn on the Hadley road. On our right was the College Library, a nice stone building, which formerly served as a chapel and library combined, but was remodeled years ago to serve as a library.

[illegible]

The Felt Shop
FELT TIP MARKERS ALL COLORS & 4 TIP SIZES
[illegible]

THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
[illegible]

St. Regis Restaurant
[illegible]

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Letters to the editor

SW student input abused

[illegible]

Course description guide: No bargain

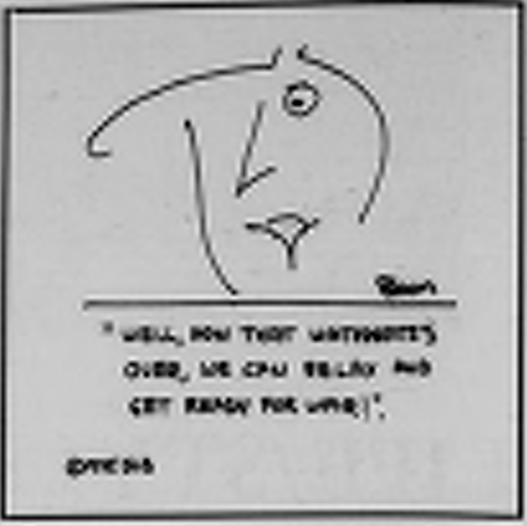
[illegible]

A plea for correspondence

[illegible]

Letters Policy

[illegible]



"WELL, NOW THAT WATERGATE'S OVER, WE CAN RELAX AND GET READY FOR WAR!"

Support non-smokers

By LOUISE DOUCETTE

Cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health, even if you don't smoke. That was the conclusion of a recent British study by Drs. M. A. H. Russell and C. Feyerabend, who found that non-smokers absorb poisonous carbon monoxide and nicotine into their circulatory and excretory systems from their smoke-polluted surroundings. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency recently found that nearly half of non-smokers have more carbon monoxide in their systems than federal safety standards would allow. The American Medical Association estimates that 34 million Americans have respiratory conditions that are often dangerously aggravated by inhaling tobacco fumes.

Two-thirds of the country's adults do not smoke cigarettes. That means that the considerable majority - the non-smokers - accept the nuisance, ignore the expected medical hazards, and bow to the "pleasures" of cigarette smoking by the minority. Even smokers will agree that, in a government of majority rule and individual rights, the majority's right to clean and healthful air should be protected while the minority's right to smoke is preserved.

For three years, Representative Lois Pines of Newton has been sponsoring a bill to do just that. House Bill No. 4365, entitled An Act to Limit Smoking in Certain Public Places [illegible]

[illegible]

Editorial points

[illegible]

Notable quote

[illegible]

Oil economics

By GREGG J. WILSON

The hottest debates on President Ford's recent economic proposals have centered on oil. Northeast Governors have openly attacked the president's proposals while the nation's oil companies, the true winners of "Project Independence," prepare to soak up the profits. Secondly, as the Washington bureaucracy plots a course which will place reliance on domestic oil, the petroleum dependent corporations such as Exxon and General Motors have seized the opportunity to skirt environmental issues. Recently, as the President's program of oil economy has been subjected to scrutiny by the press, questions have arisen concerning the advisability of his plans. Indeed in a game as volatile as "energy politics," we are forced to listen to these doubts.

[illegible]

Gregg J. Wilson is a Collegian commentator

T.V. and the future

[illegible]

Steve Tripoli

Revolution in retrospect

[illegible]

Steve Tripoli is a Collegian Columnist

B. J. Roche

Is there an answer?

(Is there a question?)

[illegible]

[illegible]

Clothing drive aids migrant farm workers

By PROGRESSIVE NEWS SERVICE
By The Progressive News Service

The Progressive News Service (PNS) attempts to provide articles, commentary, and investigative reports in areas of social and political concerns to the UMass community.

Throughout the month of February, The New England Farm Worker's Council will be conducting a clothing drive to serve the needs of 5000 migrant farm workers. These people, mostly men, leave their homes and families in Puerto Rico to work under contract for The Shade Tobacco Growers Association of the Connecticut Valley.

The workers arrange with the Department of Labor in Puerto Rico to come here in an effort to support their families and circumvent Puerto Rico's unemployment rate of 30 per cent. They work in tobacco fields, nurseries and fruit and vegetable cultivation.

Each March, the workers live in bunkhouses that resemble army barracks and remain for the duration of their contract: 24—26 weeks. The workers are living in virtual social and cultural isolation, and a climate comparatively harsh to the semi-tropical sun of their Carribean homeland. The migrant workers bring with them the only work clothes to which they are accustomed - sandals, shorts, T-shirts and lightweight slacks.

The workers will need warm, used clothing that can accommodate early Spring and late Fall weather.

The New England Farm Worker's Council is a federally funded, non-profit organization which provides the migrant workers with educational resources, health care, communication and media access, transportation and other advocacy services.

In the past, generous support has been received from church and community groups in the Pioneer Valley. This year, the Commuter Assembly has offered the Commuter Lounge as a drop off station for clothing. The Lounge is located adjacent to the Hatch on the bottom floor of the Student Union.

Please help some brothers who are struggling to survive. Drop off any warm men's clothing in the Lounge (545-2145), or contact Laura Wozniak at The New England Farm Worker's Council in Northampton - [illegible], or Springfield - [illegible], between 9:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. The United Church of Christ, [illegible] Main St. in Northampton will also be available to collect clothing from 9 A.M. to 12 A.M., c/o Rev. [illegible], [illegible].

PNS Photo

Migrant farm worker shivers in valley bunkhouse while awaiting work assignment.

Deerfield conference will concern women and legal systems

There will be a Women and the Law Conference held at Woolman Hill in Deerfield on February 28 — March 2, 1975.

The purpose of the conference is to provide an opportunity to women of the four counties of Western Massachusetts who are interested or involved in women's issues to come together to examine the relationship between those activities and the legal system.

Workshops will be offered on a number of topics, including employment discrimination, rape, young women and the law, women and welfare. On Saturday evening there will be a panel discussion on the topic "Feminism and the Legal System".

The cost of the conference is $25.00 per person. This fee includes meals from Friday evening through lunch on Sunday, as well as lodging at Woolman Hill.

(Fof further information contact Lynn Girton or Jane Luck at 774-3747) summer in europe CHARTERS CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-325-4867

LESS THAN 1/2 REG. FARE

TENANT ORGANIZERS

2 part-time positions open for people with experience and-or interest in organizing tenants valley wide ... must be able to communicate ideas and feel at east talking to tenants. (15 hours a week — $2.50 an hour, for rest of semester.) Applications in Commuter Assembly, Rm. 216, S.U., 545-2145. Deadline for filing, Thurs., Feb. 13, 5:00 p.m.

PRICE DROP
Texas Instruments electronic slide rule calculator SR-16
now $89.95
UNIVERSITY STORE campus center

HUNGRY-J PIZZA SUBS
We deliver, fast.
call: 256-8914 or 256-0473
55 UNIVERSITY DR. 193 N. PLEASANT ST.
50¢ Off Large Pizza
25¢ Off Small Pizza

notes & quotes

Marxist economist to speak at workshop

On Saturday, Feb. 8th, the Valley Peace Coalition will be presenting, as part of its workshops at Indochina Day, a special address by Edward Boorstein on the "Economic Base of U.S. Imperialism". Dr. Boorstein is a reknown economist and the author of The Economic Transformation of Cuba. From 1959-63 he worked in the Ministry of Foreign Commerce with Che Guevara, and from 1970-73, he worked with Allende's Popular Unity Gov't in Chile in the area of international finance and commerce. He was in Chile during the fascist coup.

This presentation will take place at 3:30 in room 174-5 in the Campus Center. As with all of the workshops presented on Saturday, admission is free and everybody is invited to attend.

La Romita School of Art

Study painting and art history this summer in the Italian Hill Country near Florence, June 22 to July 25. Live in a sixteenth century monastery and receive daily personalized instruction. Many instructor-guided tours will be offered, including a week in Florence. Six undergraduate or graduate transferable credits are available from Elmira College, or enroll for no credit. Application deadline, March 15, 1975.

For more information:
Adabelle Hill
Office of Continuing Education
Elmira College
Elmira, New York 14901

TOWING BEGINS MONDAY!

Holly Near to sing here Saturday

Holly Near will give a concert on Saturday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom as part of Indo-China Day.

Her performance is being sponsored by various campus and area organizations. Tickets are on sale for $2.00 and can be purchased on the concourse level of the Campus Center at the University, the dining commons at Amherst College for the three days preceeding the event and at the Uro-Buros Bookstore at Hampshire College. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Holly Near has been performing since she was seven years old. Her experiences have been varied: film, theatre and television, but more recently she has been involved in the Indo-China Peace Campaign. Her commitment has taken her to Vietnam and back again to tour the United States with Jane Fonda and Tom Hayden singing and speaking at colleges, state fairs, churches and rallies.

HOLLY NEAR

Springfield seeks students for Bicentennial research

The UMass Bicentennial Committee has announced that the city of Springfield is seeking students to work with them on some Bicentennial research projects.

Dr. John [illegible], chairman of the Committee, announced today that Springfield has two projects needing assistance. 1) Someone trained in oral history and-or a student who is a senior history major who could do research and writing. 2) The city of Springfield has received funding from the State for a project involving the Connecticut River.

Springfield College has undertaken the first part of the project. Springfield is looking for someone interested in working on the problems and possibilities of the river, particularly that area around Springfield and what its future holds.

The project will focus on the manmade damage inflicted on the river, and will deal with proposed reclamation efforts of riverfront park projects, conservation efforts, etc.

The position is available immediately and various time commitments can be negotiated. Summer positions are also available. These positions are available through the OUTREACH Office of the University and may be pursued there, or as independent study opportunities.

Shabbat Service to be held tonight

Tonight there will be an experimental Shabbat Service at [illegible] p.m. in the Hampden Dining Commons, in the room next to the Kosher Dining Room. All are welcome. The theme of the service is "Communication."

Gun-control seminar set for tomorrow

The UMass chapter of People vs. Handguns is sponsoring an open educational seminar on handgun control with questions and comments on Saturday, February 8, at [illegible] in room [illegible] of the Campus Center. All those interested in handgun control are encouraged to attend.

THE LODGE
10:00-9:00 Mon-Fri
10:00-6:00 Sat.
Rt. 9 - Russell St. Hadley next to McDonalds

All this week-while they last
FREE PLANT
with $10.00 purchase!

Prime Cut
pre-washed denim skirt $14.00
Batik tops reg. $12.— now $6.95 painter's pants $9.00

Student Video Project Sports
and Campus Center Good Service
presents
A MINUTEMAN BASKETBALL DOUBLE HEADER
this week's games —
UMASS vs BOSTON COLLEGE
UMASS vs UCONN
Join Mike Warper and Steve Baroni for the play-by-play action.
Sunday, Feb. 9
at the Bluewall

WMUA

Friday

The disc jockeys today are [illegible]

8:00 a.m., High Tide

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac

WMUA News will be broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m. & at 2, 6 & 10 p.m. Headlines will be broadcast at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m.

Saturday

The disc jockeys will be [illegible]

8:40 & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac

7:30 p.m., WMUA Sports. Tonight, a double-header. First, [illegible] bring you basketball when UConn comes to Curry Hicks. Immediately following, Paul Allen, [illegible] bring you the hockey game as UMass meets the strong Vermont team.

Sunday

8:00 - 10:00 a.m., Gospel

10:00 - 2:00 p.m., Classics

2:00 - 6:00 p.m., Pioneer Valley Jubilee

6:00 - 7:00 p.m., Sunday Nite Collective

7:00 - 10:00 p.m., Jubilation Jazz, Part I

SBA up for reaccreditation

The School of Business Administration here is due for reaccreditation.

As part of the process, a three-member evaluation team will visit the school on Feb. 10 and 11. The team represents the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) which requires a visitation every 10 years to maintain accreditation.

The team will evaluate all aspects of business education at UMass, including undergraduate and graduate programs.

Members are Chairman, Dean Dale E. Clement, School of Business, University of South Dakota at Vermillion; William J. Kucker, professional employment manager, Aluminum Company of America; and Dr. Robert B. Harvey, School of Business Administration, University of Connecticut at Storrs.

The team will inspect the school and meet with Dean George S. Odiorne, Associate Dean John T. Conlon, Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery, Provost Robert L. Gluckstern, Associate Provost David C. Bischoff, Acting Graduate School Dean Vere C. Chappell, other administrators and faculty. A report of the panel's findings will follow the visitation by several weeks.

AMHERST Cinema
Now
"the wild child"
plus
Francois Truffaut's Stolen Kisses

CALVIN Theatre
Now
CARROLL O'CONNOR ERNEST BORGNINE
LAW AND DISORDER

A Touch Of Class
George Segal Glenda Jackson
fri. feb. 7th at 7-9-11 in the s.u.b.

584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
TECHNICOLOR
"AN INCREDIBLY REVOLUTIONARY FILM . . . THE MIND CAN RUN RIOT!" "FAR AHEAD OF ITS TIME . . . BEST AUDIO-VISUAL EXPERIENCE IN TOWN!"
"A TOTAL EXPERIENCE IN SIGHT, SOUND AND COLOR . . . MAKE FANTASIA A MUST!"
FOR GROUP INFORMATION CALL 584-9156
① 5:15, 7:30, 9:30
"ONE OF THE MOST ORIGINAL, FUNNY, TRUE AND TOUCHING PICTURES OF THE YEAR"
"HARRY & TONTO"
NOW IN ITS FINAL WEEK.
② 5:15, 7:15, 9:30
Mel Brooks' BLAZING SADDLES
Challenge to be Free

CAMPUS Cinema
LENNY BRUCE PERFORMANCE FILM woody allen
ILSA

Dustin Hoffman
in
LITTLE BIG MAN
Fri. Feb. 7
Mahar 7:30 - 10:15

notices

[illegible]

turn to page 16

"An Area Premiere"
Amherst Film Cooperative
"CASSAVETES FILM IS A REVELATION OF LOVE"
PETER FALK/GENA ROWLANDS
A WOMAN UNDER THE INFLUENCE
Produced by SAM SHAW · Written and Directed by JOHN CASSAVETES
MONDAY, FEB. 10
SAGE HALL, SMITH
7 and 9:45 p.m.

ADULTS ONLY!
11:30
AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST., AMHERST
253-5426

FRENCH CONNECTION

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS
★★★★ The Godfather PART II
THE TOWERING INFERNO
Freebie and the Bean
Abby

Notices

cont. from p. 15

La Symphonie Pastorale, french movie with English sub titles. Winner of 3 Cannes International Film Festival Awards, with Michele Morgan. Tonight at 7 and 9, Thompson 102.

PRE NURSING
General get together to discuss Nursing and School of NSG with Cas NSG adviser, Veronica, Feb. 13 7 p.m., Morill 413.

NO NUKES BALL
Tues. 2-11 at 8:30 p.m., C.C. Aud. Benefit concert and dance with Big Screamin' McGrew, Some of My Best Friends, Rush, members of Fat. Sponsored by Mass Univ. Environmental Action & Alternative Energy Coalition of Turners Falls and Amherst.

SKI CLUB
Meeting at 8 on Mon. 2-10 in Thompson 104. Bring deposit for Vermont trip and-or money for night skiing Thurs. night. Ski film will be shown.

STOSAG
Layout meetings every Mon. and Tues. Special meeting Thurs. 2-13 at 7 p.m.

STOSO
George Segal and Glenda Jackson star in the Academy Award winning film "A Touch of Class" at 7, 9 and 11 in the S.U.B.

UNSOLD SKI EQUIP
Owners pick up your equipment today or it will become property of the UMass Ski Club destined for immediate disposal.

UNITARIAN SOCIETY OF AMHERST
Rev. Nathaniel Laurlat of Hartford will conduct a memorial service for Nelson Jaeger at 10:15 a.m. Sunday. Morning service at 11 with Rev. Laurlat speaking on "Religion Restated for Today."

YOUTH DIRECTOR JOB
Paid work opportunity available through May, meeting weekly with two ecumenical youth groups from area churches plus monthly meeting with Christian Education Association. Call UCF 545-2661 or 545-2789, 319 Hampshire House.

FOUND
Girl's Timex watch in Boyden Gym locker on 2-1. Contact 256-6633 nights.

FOUND
Two approx. 6-month old Newfoundland type pups, littermates, male and female, black with brown faces. CALL LAURA 549-6988 or David Honor 545-2419.

LOST
Japanese History paper; please return the result of my time and effort to me by Campus Mail or you will remember your deed for the rest of your life. J.M. 313 Wheeler House.

LOST
On Feb. 1 in No. Amherst, a male salt and pepper Schnauzer answers to "Hegel", brown leather collar, flea collar, Amherst dog tag 979. Reward. 549-0808.

LOST
Ladies' Seiko watch, silver with blue face and black suede band. Please return. Debby 6-5323.

LOST
Light brown book bag with glasses, etc...in University St. Please return contents, valuable to me. No ques. asked. CALL Janet 665-4765 or drop at C.C. lost and found.

LOST
Blue windbreaker coat with lining from poor room last Friday afternoon. If found, call 545-2163. Ask for Ken.

Film Times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
Steppenwolf - 7:00-9:00
AMHERST CINEMA
Wild Child - 7:00
Stolen Kisses - 8:30
Selling It - 11:30
CALVIN THEATERS
Law and Disorder - 7:00-9:00
CAMPUS CINEMAS
Lenny Bruce Performance Film - 7:00-10:00
King of Marvin Gardens - 8:15
Ilsa - 7:00-9:00
Woody Allen - 7:00
MT. FARMS FOUR
Fantasia - 5:15-7:30-9:30
Harry and Tonto - 5:15-7:15-9:30
Blazing Saddles - 5:00-7:15-9:30
Challenge to be Free - 5:00-7:15-9:30
EASTFIELD MALL
Swiss Family Robinson - 1:00-3:30-6:30
SHOWCASE CINEMAS
Murder on the Orient Express - 7:15-9:40
Godfather Part II - 8:00
Towering Inferno - 7:00-10:15
Freebie and the Bean - 7:40-10:10
Abby - 7:30-9:50
Earthquake - 7:30-9:45
EASTFIELD MALL
Swiss Family Robinson - 1:00-3:30-6:30

WOMEN...

Prakash Bai

will speak on the MEDITATION

of Guru Maharaj Ji

Memorial Hall Lounge - UM

Feb. 8 - Sat. - 1-5 p.m.

Guru disciple speaks tonight

Prakash Bai, a renowned meditation instructor and close disciple of Guru Maharaj Ji, will be speaking at several programs in the Amherst-Northampton area this weekend. Her subject will be the method of meditation called 'Knowledge' which enables the individual to directly experience the life force within. Bai Ji, as she is called, will speak this Friday at 7:30 PM in room 227, Herter Hall at the University. She will also participate in an informal program on women and spirituality, Saturday at 1:30 PM in the Memorial Hall Lounge, also at UMass.

The word "Bai" means "female Mahatma". "Mahatma" is Hindi for "great soul" and is a title of respect given to certain of Guru Maharaj Ji's disciples who have been chosen to teach the meditation he reveals.

For information about her programs or the 'knowledge' contact the Divine Information Center, 22 Butler Place, Northampton, 584-5136.

TV tonight

5:00 THE REAL McCOYS "The Big Skeet Shoot." (18)
THE BIG VALLEY "Run Of the Savage." (22)
MISTER ROGERS NEIGHBORHOOD (24) (57)
MAVERICK "The Jail At Junction Flats." (27)
THE FLINTSTONES (56)
5:30 GREEN ACRES "Rest and Relaxation." (18)
HOGAN'S HEROES "Casanova Klink." (30)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (40)
GILLIGAN'S ISLAND (56)
6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
TWELVE O'CLOCK HIGH "Big Brother." (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
SERGEANT BILKO "Bilko's Vampire." (27)
NIGHTLY NEWSREEL (30)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
BONANZA (40)
LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE (56)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
ZOOM! (24) (57)
MOVIE "The Hoodlum Priest." (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES Bob Barker, host (8)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "Bad Reception In Albany." (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
TO TELL THE TRUTH Garry Moore, host (40)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
THE OPEN DOOR (57)
7:30 WILD, WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS "Ostriches." (3)
LET'S MAKE A DEAL Monty Hall, host (8) (22)
THE PORTER WAGONER SHOW (18)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES Peter Marshall, host (30)
[illegible] AND THE PROFESSIONAL "South Sea Island Sweetheart." (61)
DRAGNET "Burglary-The Son." (56)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 KHAN! (3)
KOLCHAK: THE NIGHT STALKER "Demon In Lace." (18) (40)
BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE (18)
SANFORD AND SON "Golden Boy." (22) (30)
WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW (24) (57)
THE BEVERLY HILLBILLIES (38)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
8:30 CHICO AND THE MAN "Ed Steps Out." (22) (30)
9:00 CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE "Dillinger." (3)
HOTEL BALTIMORE (8) (40)
MOVIE "Not Wanted On Voyage." (18)
THE ROCKFORD FILES (22) (30)
ARABS AND ISRAELIS (24)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE "Country Matters: The Higgler." (57)
9:30 THE ODD COUPLE "Two Men on a Horse." (8) (40)
GOMER PYLE "Love's Old, Sweet Song." (27)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (38)
10:00 BARETTA "If You Can't Pay the Price." (40)
DEAN MARTIN CELEBRITY ROAST (22) (30)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE-COUNTRY MATTERS "The Higgler." (24)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
SOUL TRAIN (38)
PERRY MASON "The Case Of the Lonely Heiress." (56)
THE HABITAT PROJECT (57)
[illegible]

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay
To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday-Friday.
The deadline is 3:45 two days before the day your ad is to appear.
The rates are:
Daily 1.30 per line*
Weekly 1.25 per line*
Monthly 1.20 per line*
*Two lines on form approximate one line

FOR SALE

One queen size waterbed, mattress & liner. 10 spd. French Bike. Call [illegible] eves.

Bike — 10 speed Gitane [illegible] deluxe 25". [illegible]

Mobile Home on lot 2 bedroom, bath and half 15 min. to UMass Hatfield 247 5276

Pedal steel guitar — Gibson — Dbl neck 7 pedals must unload Jim [illegible]

Sound & Music Co-Op. Stereo 8 per cent over cost. 247 5870 or Campus Center Mon & Wed.

Thorens TD 125 AB Mark II slightly used. Box & warranty cards $260 247 5870

[illegible]

FOR SALE

Webcor cassette tape deck B.O. Panasonic cassette tape deck 1100 One pair Bell and Howell Spk. 170 One pair Webcor Spk. B.O. Call 546 6452

Weimaraner Pups. AKC. [illegible] Bred for companionship, disposition and show at Partridge Hill, Charlemont, Ma. [illegible]

Ski boots, skis bindings, [illegible] mount, ski rack, stereo cassette 256 6040

Sony TC 280 reel to reel [illegible] cond. Mark 253 2705

For Sale Fender twin [illegible] amp. $350 Call 6 5572 aft. 6 p.m.

AUTO FOR SALE

1968 Volvo 144S, new [illegible] 60,000 miles, excellent shape [illegible]

1971 VW Fastback, AM FM stereo, new tires, many [illegible] $900 253 7231 eves

1966 Mercedes 230S, good cond., body solid, recent [illegible] done, must sell $950 or best. Call 253 3328 eves

64 Chev Wagon!! 6 cyl. [illegible] Can be stolen for a nominal [illegible] Bob 253 7241

64 Comet, perfect running, economy and what else could [illegible]

[illegible]

AUTO FOR SALE

1966 Mercury Cougar, excellent condition, five new glass tires, power steering, disc brakes. Asking $1200. Call between 5-7 p.m. [illegible]

FOR RENT

[illegible]

ROOMMATE WANTED

[illegible]

ROOMMATE WANTED

Wanted [illegible]

WANTED

[illegible]

RIDE WANTED

[illegible]

[illegible]

your birthday by stella wilder

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7 — Born today, you are not one to attempt to change your "spots" in order to please whomever you are with. Unless another can accept you the way you are, you would rather he or she did not attempt to accept you at all, for you refuse to make yourself over and, in fact, have little regard for any who would try to persuade you to do so. You enjoy difference; indeed, you seek it, hoping always that, when you find it, it will inspire you to thoughts and deeds entirely new to you.

* * *

Saturday, February 8

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Things may appear to hold more good in store than they actually do. Be guided by your own experience, not what others promise you for the future.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A Saturday to spend with family and friends. Where children depend upon you for their well-being, be especially careful. Today's decisions must hold.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Where problems have been hanging fire, trouble may be brewing. Don't allow yourself to be talked out of necessary action by so-called friends.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Make an effort to answer your own questions regarding family tensions. You can do much to soften the family mood. Be receptive to suggestions for gain.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Even the smallest of details could have an important bearing on your work today. Neighborhood projects may need a hand; offer yours!

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Certain things which seem to you insignificant may be just what the doctor ordered where another's projects are concerned. Take another look.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You would do well to hold your tongue — no matter how hard or vocally the rest of the family argues. Ride out the storm in an air of calm.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Offering your own views may be precisely the wrong thing to do today. Make this a Saturday when you stay out of other people's business.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Organize your time better and you should be able to attain all the goals the day holds out to you. A friend may prove a hindrance in the afternoon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Whether you are at work on a profit-making enterprise or on a purely time-consuming hobby, slipshod methods will not work. Take time and care!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Keep people who don't get along with each other apart. Otherwise, you may initiate the greatest family squabble of the year!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — If you would be able to take advantage of the day's benefits you would do well to rise early and work steadily in several directions.

United Feature Syndicate

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Time periods
5 Atlantic or Pacific -----
10 Campus soc.
14 Single
15 Do -----
16 Window division
17 Speck
18 Gets closer
19 Straight as -----
20 Buds
22 Trumpet accessory
24 Charged particle
25 Military platoons
27 Human beings
29 Shame
32 Hit
33 Delay
34 Equip with weapons: Archaic
36 Embraced a group
40 Once more
42 Gives it a whirl
44 Glacial snowfield
45 "Call Me -----"
47 Fished for morays
49 Write
50 Newfoundland area: Abbr.
52 Kind of confinement
54 Scores
58 Not ever
59 Keats' specialty
60 Floor coverings
62 Furniture accessory
65 Chinese society
67 Namely: 2 words
69 Show biz garment
70 Tune
71 The very best
72 Greek god
73 Make loans
74 Called
75 Bang in

DOWN
1 Charity
2 Sticky substance: Informal
3 Committed with confidence
4 Observing
5 Persistent
6 State: Abbr.
7 Man's name
8 Maple product: Var.
9 Examiner
10 American columnist: Initials
11 TV's forerunner
12 Negatively charged ion
13 Between 12 and 20
21 Rubber product
23 Fairly long periods
26 Frighten
28 Short auto trip
29 1/16 ounce
30 Scottish island
31 Indians
35 Water or musk -----
37 Act of going
38 Always 39 Turn down
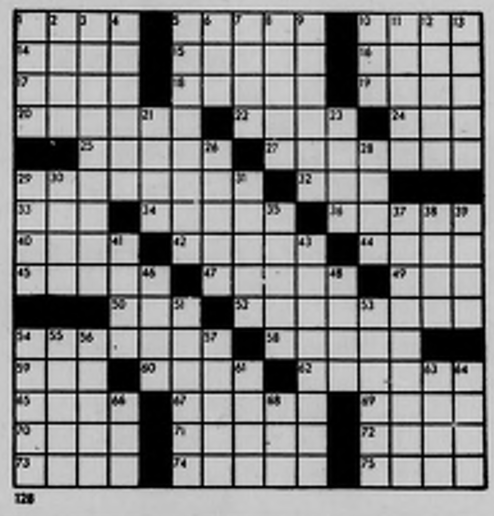
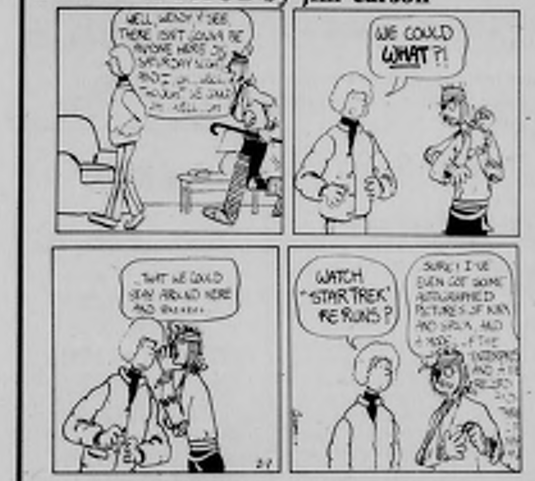
41 Room member
43 Picked out
46 Cripple
48 Opera star
51 Whipped
53 Assayed
54 Kind of eclipse
55 Idolize
56 USSR pioneer
57 Long Roman garment
61 Girl in the -----
63 Gladstone's alma mater
64 Iron oxide
66 Rove
68 Native of: Suffix

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved



UNITED Feature Syndicate

DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson



WELL, WENDY, I SEE THERE ISN'T GONNA BE ANYONE HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT AND I... UH... WELL... THOUGHT WE COULD... UH... WELL... UH WE COULD WHAT?!
...THAT WE COULD STAY AROUND HERE AND WATCH...
WATCH "STAR TREK" RERUNS?
SURE! I'VE EVEN GOT SOME AUTOGRAPHED PICTURES OF KIRK AND SPOCK, AND A MODEL OF THE ENTERPRISE AND ITS RELATED...
2-7

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

IN AN EFFORT TO MAKE MY STRIPS MORE COMMERCIAL AND (GAWD) SALABLE, I'M DRAWING A DOG!
KRYPTO, THE WONDER DOG
IF McGILLIVRAY WAS DRAWING THIS, I COULD GO PEE ON SOME HERO
"LET SLEEPING DOGS LIE"

PEANUTS
This is a story of Greed.
Joe Greed was born in a small town in Colorado.

THE WIZARD OF ID

by Brant parker and Johnny hart

FIFTEEN MINUTES AND I DEVOUR THE FIFTH FORNAUGH
PFFT PFFT PFFT ... THAT WAS CLOSE!

by johnny hart

DO YOU BELIEVE IN FAITH HEALING?
YOU BET!
3 YEARS AGO THEY ONLY GAVE ME TWO WEEKS TO LIVE
NO KIDDING! WHAT HAPPENED?
THE CHURCH LOWERED THE PRICE OF THE LAST RITES

HOLLY NEAR

in Concert

Sat., Feb. 8

8:00

S.U. Ballroom

"Every year on my birthday

three gifts

I always get without fail —

I get one year older and the war goes on it still ain't over —

And one more freedom fighter goes to jail"

$2.00 Benefit for Indo-China

Peace Campaign.

Swimwomen to be tested by SoConn

[illegible]

Mary Ellen Dash, star UMass Minutewomen swimmer is splashing through her butterfly stroke in a preparation practice for her team's meet with Southern Connecticut tomorrow.

JV's dip to Green

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

Women hoopsters face Central Conn State

[illegible]

PARTY

Sat., Feb. 8

ALL THE BEER

YOU CAN DRINK

LIVE BAND

Kappa Sigma

9:00 — ?

OPENING NIGHT!

CHRIS BANCEL PRESENTS

DINNER/THEATRE

UNDER MILKWOOD

by Dylan Thomas

Dinner includes: roast beef, imported beer, cheese, bread, fruit, and a vegetarian entree.

February 7 - 16 7:00 p.m.

[illegible]

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY

Hiatt Institute — Israel

[illegible]

[illegible] Lamby will have to be even quicker tonight when he faces his brother, Dick, a Division II All-America and the rest of the Salem State team.

Runners face UNH

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Gymmen duel Dartmouth

[illegible]

Lights out

[illegible]

UM trackettes debut

By SCOTT HAYES

[illegible]

Skiers at Roundtop

[illegible]

U's triumph

[illegible]

Wrestlers home

[illegible]

APOSTROPHE

University of Massachusetts arts council presents

Feeling the $ Squeeze??

ALLIED MOTOR PARTS

[illegible]

UConn next UM conquest?

High flying but nowhere to go is UMass Freshman guard and superb ballhandler Alex Eldridge as he appears to be shut off by Mammoth B.C. forward Paul Berwanger.

By STEVE SARACENO

People are still buzzing about Wednesday night's game with BC and how the upset drove everyone out of their gourd.

"I think a victory against a Boston College team is the biggest win a coach in any sport at UMass can hope for," said Jackie Leaman in retrospect about the 80-71 shocker.

"This one was especially nice coming as it did after the football game last fall."

You folks remember that one, don't you? 70-8, BC.

"And I'm heartened by the was football Coach MacPherson got behind and supported our team". And why not? Revenge is sweet, even if it does come in another sport....

- - - - -

[illegible]

[illegible] would have you believe, but the 17 ppg. scorer is UConn's most dangerous player.

At center is capable John Thomas (8.7), and he is helped out up front by Earl Wilson (10.4) and Lee Otis Wilson (no relation) who hits for 15 a game.

Joe Whelton and Al Weston (10.9) are both capable 5-10 guards. Forward Ken Wright also sees a lot of play as one of the seven men coach Dee Rowe primarily uses.

UMass won't be facing the height they did against BC, as center Thomas is UConn's tallest at 6-8. Plus, there's that semi-midget backcourt duo of Whelton and Weston.

The Huskies are highly regarded in New England circles, but their relatively weak schedule and embarrassing loss to New Hampshire have kept the No. 1 [illegible]

[illegible]

Skaters meet Salem, UVM

[illegible]

Hope and togetherness

Steve DeCosta

[illegible]

Matmen battle No. 1 Springfield Chiefs

By JOHN BOCK

[illegible]

turn to page 19

inside

Umass loses in overtime - see page 16
Greeks upset over universal fee - see page 3
Campus humor - see page 14

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545-3500
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE 8 AMHERST, MA. MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1975

weather

cloudy and cold today, chance of snow developing in the afternoon, highs in the low thirties.

School of Ed . . .

. . . Favored in allocation of funds

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

The School of Education received preferential treatment from [illegible] in the allocation of grant funds, the establishment of new academic programs and the setting of admissions requirements, a former top UMass-Amherst administrator said yesterday.

[illegible]

turn to page 3

. . . Sees Fischer, Clark as top candidates for new acting dean

By DONNA FUSCO
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Holly Near

Near concert wows crowd of 500 in CC auditorium

By MARLA RICHMOND

[illegible]

turn to page 2

Student employee union organized

By DAVE KOWAL
Staff Reporter

A union for student employees at the Campus Center is being organized by members of the Student Organizing Project (S.O.P.).

[illegible]

> Corker... "Any promises I have made I have followed."

[illegible]

> Bardsley... "Management is trying to 'cut corners.'"

[illegible]

Workshops highlight Indo-China day

cont. from p1

[illegible]

Holly Near led a workshop Saturday as part of Indo-China Day in the Campus Center.

Infirmary
(In An Emergency)
9 549-2671

Northampton Big Y market butt of local boycott

By STEVE CLARK
Progressive News Service

Big Y Supermarkets, specifically the store in Northampton, have been double targets for picketers from UMass and the surrounding area because the store sells both non-UFW grapes and lettuce.

[illegible]

Who is [illegible]?

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

KUNG-FU ACADEMY

New Class Starts Feb. [illegible]

[illegible]

Greeks object to universal fee

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

"If the proposed universal fee is passed, it will kill the Greek system completely," said Tracy King, a member of the Chi Omega sorority and a member of the Greek Executive Board.

As a result of last semester's controversy over mandatory dorm residency, the University administration came up with the idea of a universal residency fee, if required dorm living for students 18 to 21 years of age is abolished.

[illegible]

Hispanic students support Dr. Viera

By DOROTHY MULLER
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

sliding asleep

[illegible]

Women's network formed

By [illegible]
Progressive News Service

[illegible]

Gluckstern still likes decisions

[illegible]

School of Ed gets preferential treatment

[illegible]

Kissinger begins 10th mission to Middle East

Troop withdrawals sought by Secretary

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger begins a tenth mission to the Middle East last night hopeful he can bring Israel and Egypt to agree on a further Israeli troop withdrawal east of the Suez Canal.

If he fails, American officials said it will be his "last run" shuttle diplomacy.

Before leaving yesterday Kissinger also said in a Dutch television interview: [illegible] terms.

[illegible]

Besides Israel and Egypt, Kissinger's nine-day trip - his tenth to the area - will take him to Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia in the Middle East, and to Bonn, Geneva, London and Paris on his way home.

In Geneva, he will meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to attempt to reconcile the rival Soviet and American efforts for peace in the Middle East.

If Kissinger's hopes are well founded, American officials said he will return to the area in a few weeks to try to complete the disengagement agreement between the Israel and Egypt.

[illegible]

first.

In the first Israeli-Egyptian disengagement agreement in January 1974, Israeli forces pulled back across the Suez Canal after crossing it in the previous October war. Egyptian troops then moved five to seven miles into the Sinai. A United Nations Emergency Force patrols a three to five mile buffer zone between them and the Israelis. Its mandate expires April 24.

Egypt now wants the Israelis to withdraw behind the strategic Mida and Gidi passes and give back the Abu Rodeis oil fields which Israel has occupied since the 1967 war. So far Israel has refused to withdraw from the passes and the oil fields without an Egyptian declaration of non-belligerency which in effect would give Israel political recognition by the most influential Arab nation.

Korff calls Nixon "troubled"; ex-president faces legal fees

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. [UPI] — Richard M. Nixon, six months from a shattered presidency [illegible] described yesterday by a confidante as a "lonely, troubled man."

Rabbi Baruch Korff, who heads the Nixon Justice Fund in Washington, visited with the former president at his ocean side villa here for three days.

"President Nixon is a lonely, troubled man who faces staggering legal fees and hospital bills that he cannot afford," Korff told a news conference at the San Clemente Inn.

[illegible]

Korff also quoted Nixon as saying, [illegible]

[illegible]

Kennedy urges opening of Cubian relations

MEXICO CITY [UPI] — Sen. Edward Kennedy said yesterday the trade blockade of Cuba was a mistake and ineffective and called on the United States to normalize relations with the Communist island in the Caribbean.

[illegible]

Kennedy and President Kennedy had his difficulties with Cuba.

[illegible]

NEW! at the [illegible]

every Monday is...

Irish Nite

9-1

this Monday, Feb. 10

Michael Joyce the "Roving Galwayman"

PETER FRAMPTON IS COMING FRIDAY FEB. 21 DON'T MISS IT!!

University of massachusetts arts council presents

EMPIRE BRASS QUINTET
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 umass students
ON SALE [illegible] HERTER HALL, U MASS, AMHERST [illegible]

Clip coupon

SHOOT DOWN INFLATION!

Very famous maker
Heavy 14 oz. plus
JEANS straight leg or flair
save $3.00
OR
Our best selling
4 pocket—flair leg
JEANS
save $3.00
with coupon
[illegible]

the jeans store

WEAR-HOUSE

Fairfield Mall chicopee
201 n pleasant st. amherst

Hostility toward Boston busing remains

Larger fall program discussed today

BOSTON [AP] — Never. Broad white brush strokes on brick walls spell out the single word.

Never, the word is scrawled across homes and stores. In a city where police stand guard in classrooms and some whites refuse to enter integrated schools, no one has to ask what it means.

After five months of forced mixing of the races, many whites and some blacks remain obstinately opposed to the idea of shifting children so that their classrooms mirror the ethnic makeup of the city.

[illegible]

also named two Boston University deans to help them. He ordered them to come up with a plan that will integrate all of Boston's 200 schools when they open next September. Their work will replace a limited outline put into effect by Garrity last summer after he ruled that schools were being intentionally segregated by the Boston School Committee.

The slight, mild-mannered judge, a resident of suburban Wellesley, has become the chief villain of the integration controversy in the eyes of many busing opponents. His panel prompted immediate criticism. [illegible] masters to choose an integration plan this is "constitutionally acceptable to the court" or pull parts of all of them together into a new plan.

[illegible]

First, they will review a plan submitted by the school committee to minimize busing and make integration voluntary. It proposes high quality programs at more than 60 schools designed to attract white students into black neighborhoods. It would require attendance at integrated schools at least one day a week.

After they review this proposal, the masters will hear testimony on the other plans that have been submitted. [illegible]

[illegible]

Legislature examines rent control studies

BOSTON [AP] — [illegible]

[illegible]

Edelin trial may end soon

BOSTON [AP] — [illegible]

[illegible]

news summary

Helms admits error

WASHINGTON [AP] — [illegible]

End to aid requested

WASHINGTON [UPI] — [illegible]

Cease fire ordered

DUBLIN [UPI] — [illegible]

Ethiopian war rages

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia [UPI] — [illegible]

Join the third biggest family in the world.

[illegible]

Salesians OF ST. JOHN BOSCO

I am interested in the Priesthood ☐ Brotherhood ☐

Name ______ Age ______
Street Address ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______
Phone ______
Education ______
Your Current Job ______

WMUA

[illegible]

91.1 FM

"Volks-Service"
specializing in VOLKSWAGEN
Part Sales & Repairs
REASONABLE PRICES
RELIABLE WORK
[illegible] North King St.
Northampton, Mass.
next to the
State Police Barracks
Tel. [illegible]

Stop & Shop Chunk Light Tuna 45¢
Stop & Shop Tomato Ketchup 59¢
Stop & Shop Canned Beverages 8 for $1
Large Eggs Stop & Shop 79¢
Stop & Shop Grapefruit Sections 3 for $1
Stop & Shop Fruit Cocktail 3 for $1
Stop & Shop 10 Pack Bathroom Tissue $1.59
More values in our grocery dept.!

Some of the best buys at Stop & Shop ... you can buy ... only at Stop & Shop

"Quality-Protected" Naturally Aged Beef
Beef Chuck Blade Steak 49¢ lb
Simply Super, uniformly good everytime!
"Regular" Ground Beef 79¢ lb
"Quality-Protected" Naturally Aged Beef Loin Porterhouse Steak $1.59 lb
Beef Loin Shell Steak
Beef Loin Porterhouse Steak
Plan a meal around a money saving ham!
Smoked Ham 79¢ lb
Smoked Ham 89¢
Pork Shoulder Roll
Master Smoked Pork Shoulder 79¢
Just in time for your Lenten menu!
Fresh Rainbow Trout $1.19
Cod Fillets 79¢
Flounder Fillets 99¢
Haddock Fillets 99¢
Halibut Steaks
Eldorado Shrimp
Cooked Fish Cakes 69¢
Cooked Haddock
New from Stop & Shop Fish-nics 99¢

Our own Stop & Shop Sour Cream 45¢
Stop & Shop Big Daisy Bread 41¢
Hot Cross Buns 89¢
Colonial Tasty Ten Franks 79¢
From our kitchen to yours!
1 lb Fresh Pizza 89¢
New Stop & Shop Cooked Corned Beef 89¢
Honey Glazed Ham $1.19

$1,000 Scholarship Pizza Recipe Contest!
All week frozen food specials
Fish Sticks Stop & Shop 69¢
All Natural Ice Cream 99¢
All week pet food specials!
Savings on health & beauty aids!
Vaseline Intensive Care Lotion 79¢
Ultra Ban Roll On 89¢
Arizona Tangerines 18 for 89¢
Calif. Pascal Celery
Globe Onions Yellow 5 lb 49¢
For someone special on Valentine's Day!
Gardenias
Azaleas
Mums
Tulips

J.O.E. program beneficial to both youths and volunteers

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

commentary

J.O.E. — Juvenile Opportunities Extension, funded by the Department of Youth Services for delinquent kids from Holyoke.

J.O.E. kids are often children of single parents, abusive parents. They are Black, White, Spanish-speaking, male and female.

The J.O.E. Program has been working with young delinquent and potentially delinquent youth from Holyoke Probation Department. These youth are between the ages of nine and fourteen. Some have had several court appearances, some a few times and some none at all; they are referred to the program because of school offenses or because of family problems.

Every available facility at the University was used. The biggest event of the summer was an overnight trip to New York City.

Full time volunteers are matched up with individual youths and are required to meet with their youth a minimum of fifteen hours per week and those who fulfill other program requirements are eligible to receive between 9 and 12 credits. Credits are given through the School of Education and are elective credits applied to graduation credits but not towards an academic major. Back-up volunteers are eligible to receive 3 credits for completing the above requirement.

Each Saturday the kids are transported to campus and have the use of Boyden Gymnasium for the morning and Curry Hicks pool for the afternoon. Lunch is provided by the program. Usually field trips are held every other week to the circus, horseback riding, or to the movies.

Aside from the services to youth, J.O.E. offers an educational experience for University students who for the most part have no direct contact with correctional systems. The experiences these students gain are invaluable as these students are voters and future community leaders, who will hopefully use their knowledge to work for changes in correctional systems. Also, students who become J.O.E. volunteers often continue to make commitments in working with youth under a variety of youth advocacy programs such as M.A.R.Y. and Advocate. Many students who have worked on the staff of J.O.E., as well as many volunteers, have gone on to take jobs in the field of correctional reform and juvenile justice administration.

For further information go to Hills South room [illegible]. By making J.O.E. known as a program that helps youth, the youth, the Department of Youth Services and the Community see the program as one that delivers services and support to one of society's greatest problems — Delinquent Youths.

MAD MONEY!
$25 for $20
cut this out
5·10·20
MAD MONEY
Expires Feb. 22, 1975
BEAU BRITCHES
(Hadley Store Only)
5 10 20
This certificate good for $5 off all purchases of $25, $10 off all purchases of $50 and $20 off all purchases of $100
with Beau Britches mad money!
Make a $25 purchase, present this mad money certificate and receive a $5 discount.
That's $25 worth of merchandise for $20!
Buy $50 worth of merchandise, save $10!
or Buy $100 worth of merchandise and save $20!
Team up with a roommate.
Make a group purchase and save money!
BEAU Britches
Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

Meeting called for education undergrads

The Community Organizing Project of the Academic Affairs Committee will sponsor a meeting of all undergraduate students enrolled in the School of Education, on Tuesday, February 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the Campus Center [illegible].

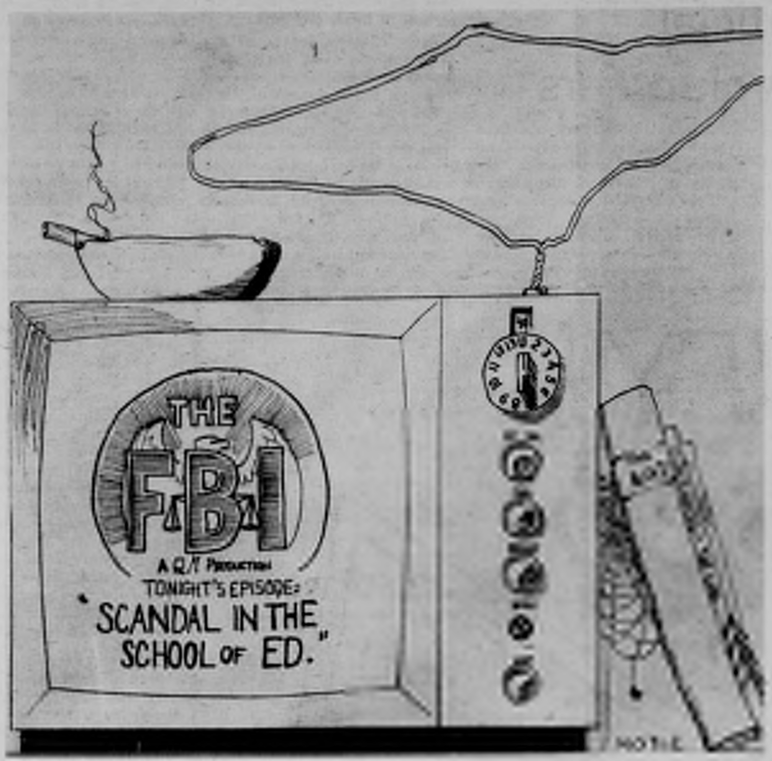
The meeting has been called to provide a forum for discussion of the current situation and assessment of the possible effects any subsequent changes might have on the approximately [illegible] undergraduate students in the School of Education. In a random telephone canvass of School of Ed undergrads by the Academic Affairs Committee, most students agreed that recent happenings at the School were confusing and in need of discussion and clarification.

According to members of the Community Organizing Project, the main goal of the undergrad meeting is to work towards a more effective voice for undergraduates in the decision-making process.

The Academic Affairs Committee of the undergraduate student senate has been working towards generating more significant involvement for undergraduates in all academic departments on campus.

"One of the biggest problems in the School of Education," according to one member of the Community Organizing Project, [illegible]

[illegible]



Letters to the editor

The island in the middle

To the Editor:

I sometimes wonder if the Spanish speaking people that live in the United States are grateful for what they have done for themselves. With this I say, think, and sometimes worry if they are really trying to do something for their own good.

In the past couple of days I read articles from two Spanish speaking columnists concerning the Spanish-speaking community and their problems in this country. [illegible]

[illegible]

We all Puerto Ricans know and feel that there is nothing more beautiful than freedom and liberty, but [illegible]

[illegible]

Miguel A. Segarra

Parking bureau defies physics

To the Editor:

It is a tried and true principle of the physical sciences that two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time. [illegible]

In any case Susan, PLEASE BE CAREFUL.

[illegible] and company

Join the Collegian! Recruitment meeting Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m. New England's Largest College Daily wants you and needs you. Watch for more details

Collegian

[illegible]

Benita Pullara

Regulating the regulators

The days when government officials and agencies police their own organizations are, hopefully, coming to an end. For too long the American public has trusted politicians, agencies, and institutions to live up to their own ethical standards. It is little wonder that the public has grown skeptical about the honesty and motives of these institutions.

Often enough, there have been cries of foul play in such agencies as the FBI or the CIA and in government or politics, but never before has there been the public support needed to make sweeping reforms. If it hasn't already, it will become the vogue for everything from the CIA to nursing homes to be investigated. Government is finding itself faced with a skeptical, cynical public that has heard too many lines for too long to blindly trust agencies and officials.

A few years ago it was easier to ignore claims of governmental misconduct than to take positive steps to prevent them. [illegible]

[illegible]

The latest elections seated many more liberal, young congressmen in the Senate and House. This suggests that the public distrust older, more conservative politicians, who have been in politics longer and who have more of a chance of being corrupt. The younger congressmen proved they, too, do not trust the older politicians when they voted to eliminate the seniority system in Congress. If the present trend for truth in government continues, an honest Congress could result in sweeping reforms in other governmental agencies.

In the pre-Watergate years it was usually assumed that the CIA and FBI could be trusted to run their organizations in a proper and ethical manner. Being a law enforcement agency, it seemed safe to conclude that the FBI respected the law enough to uphold it. Recent disclosures show strong indications that this was not the case in either organization. Throughout the years, the CIA has been accused of bribing and corrupting foreign countries [illegible]

There is no denying that Watergate has had a large influence over the new skepticism that so many Americans display. [illegible]

But even with a public that supports new government and reforms there is a danger. [illegible] honest government.

Benita Pullara is a Collegian Columnist

Zamir Nestlebaum

President Ford: Junkie for power

Rumors have been circulating lately in the Capital that President Ford is addicted to a [illegible]

[illegible]

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Zamir Nestlebaum is a Collegian Columnist

Responsibility and the courts

By PAUL LAKE

Responsibility is an abstract concept difficult to discuss apart from a consideration of rights and duties. [illegible]

[illegible]

Although our society apparently has the right to demand that an individual not take the life of himself or another, [illegible]

[illegible]

Paul Lake is a Collegian Commentator

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Food Science a main course

By ANDREA D'AMATO

Are you interested in your nutrition? Do you know whether or not the chemicals added to our foods [illegible]

[illegible]

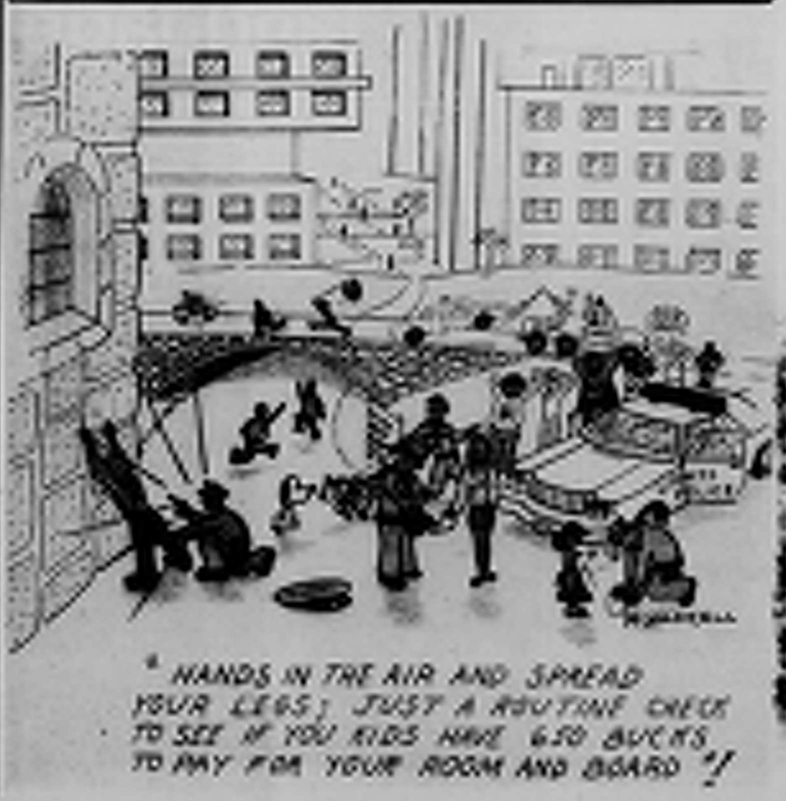
[illegible] between who had taken a Food Science course and those who hadn't. We found that students who had taken a Food Science course were indeed more knowledgeable regarding nutrition than those who hadn't. [illegible]

[illegible]

Andrea D'Amato is a Collegian Commentator

Notable Quote

"Why do people put out figures like that when they don't know what they're talking about?" Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns, in reference to unemployment figures released Friday.



" HANDS IN THE AIR AND SPREAD YOUR LEGS; JUST A ROUTINE CHECK TO SEE IF YOU KIDS HAVE 650 BUCKS TO PAY FOR YOUR ROOM AND BOARD "!

notices

[illegible]

turn to page 12

adventura travel SPRING FLINGS!

DAYTONA BEACH $79*

JAMAICA $89*

FRENCH CANADA $89*

*Taxes extra. Add airfare if desired

at The Amherst Carriage Shops 233 N. Pleasant St. Amherst / 549-1256

Unwanted Hair Permanently Removed Face or Body
John V. Ryan, Electrologist
16 Main St. Northampton

USCC

Meeting 7:30 Mondays S.U. Council Chambers science and language majors

At NSA, our success depends on yours.

Rhetoric program not hurt by budget cut

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

The Rhetoric Program should not be too badly affected by the semester's 4.3 percent budget freeze, says Jane Blankenship, Acting Director of the Program, because they have already spent most of the budgeted funds.

The University has demanded that each department and academic program freeze 4.3 percent of its budget for this fiscal year. However, Blankenship said that she is unable to return the full 4.3 percent and that any money that is returned would have to come in small amounts from various accounts in the program.

Blankenship explained that the funds were divided among several specific accounts, each one covering a different aspect of the program: teaching salaries, teaching assistants, consultants, paper supplies, audio-visual materials, etc.

She also said that all the monies for the teaching salaries had already been spent, leaving her to draw money from funds connected to supplies. They would have to cut back on their use of audio-visual materials, paper, travel accounts, and office phones for teaching assistant's.

Blankenship said that there would be no decrease in the number of classes offered by the program this semester. They hired 86 T.A.'s in September, and all of these people had either full year contracts or were rehired for the spring semester.

Due to the independence of the program from other departments, Blankenship said it was unlikely that the money that she was unable to freeze would be made up by another department.

She is not sure at this time exactly how much she will be able to return. Blankenship conceded that things this semester would be a "little less comfortable" but the approximately 3400 students enrolled in the program should not feel at any real disadvantage.

UMass senior Mike Teich placed second in the New England Collegiate Championship ping pong tournament Saturday. The winner was Tak Cho Chan of Northeastern University, who will go on to the National championship. It may all seem very familiar to Teich, as it was Chan who beat him in last year's N.E. championship.

Olver backs equal legal legislation

Senator John W. Olver (D-Amherst) testified before the Joint Committee on the Judiciary last week, urging approval for legislation to create group legal insurance programs in Massachusetts. Senator Olver is co-sponsoring the legislation with Rep. Doris [illegible] (D-Newton).

"The wealthy can afford the professionals of the law. Federally funded legal services have provided at least minimal legal services for the poor. But middle income families" Senator Olver said "often find they cannot afford the legal advice they need. For too many families the question is not 'Do we need legal advice?' rather it is 'Can we afford legal advice?'"

The bill would authorize group legal insurance programs, similar to group medical insurance programs, which would be regulated by the insurance commissioner. "Just as group medical insurance plans have helped bring many medical services down to a price middle income families can afford, group legal insurance would make legal services affordable," Senator Olver stated.

White gets "eyefull" in Combat zone visit

BOSTON (AP) – Mayor Kevin White "probably got an eyeful" in an unannounced tour through Boston's Combat Zone Friday night, says George Regan, the mayor's assistant press secretary.

Visiting a half dozen bars in an area where strip joints and hookers are common, White went largely [illegible]

"Sure you are, honey," said Cheryl, edging closer to him.

"Do you want to buy me a drink?"

"Anything you want. Where are you from, Cheryl?"

"Montreal."

"Do you know Montreal mayor Jean Drapeau? He's a friend of mine."

[illegible]

Chinese NEW YEAR Special
Tuesday, February 11

ALL YOU CAN EAT!

Avoid the Crowd – come early

Special Buses only on Tuesday

NOW OPEN
SOUTH CHINA RESTAURANT

MDC classifieds sell

notices

cont. from p. 10

[illegible]

Film Times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
"Steppenwolf" 7:00 & 9:00

AMHERST CINEMA
"The Wild Child" [illegible]
[illegible]

CAMPUS CINEMAS
[illegible]

MT. FARMS FOUR
[illegible]

SHOWCASE
Towering Inferno [illegible]
Earthquake [illegible]
Murder on the Orient Express [illegible]
Freebie and the Bean [illegible]
Abby [illegible]
The Godfather Part II [illegible]

TOMORROW NIGHT

Slaughterhouse
5

SUB 7, 9, 11

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1-2-3-4-5
"The special effects are smashing."
THE TOWERING INFERNO
EARTHQUAKE
College Discount Cards Available
MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
Soon Dustin Hoffman as "Lenny"
Abby
The Godfather PART II
Soon "Funny Lady"

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
HERMANN HESSE'S
Steppenwolf

TV tonight

[illegible]

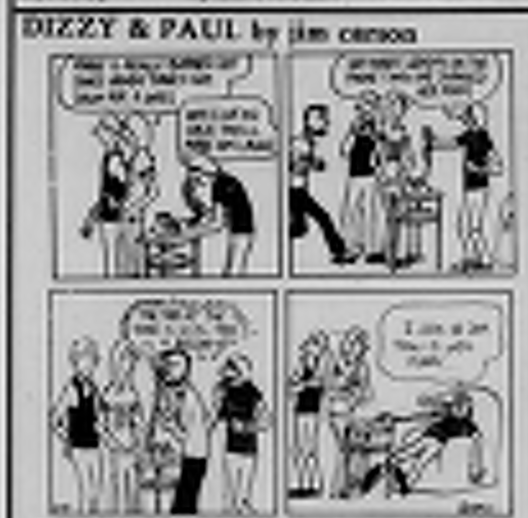
MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

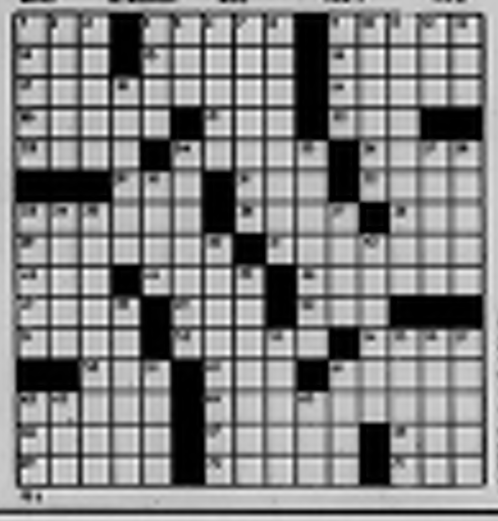
DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson



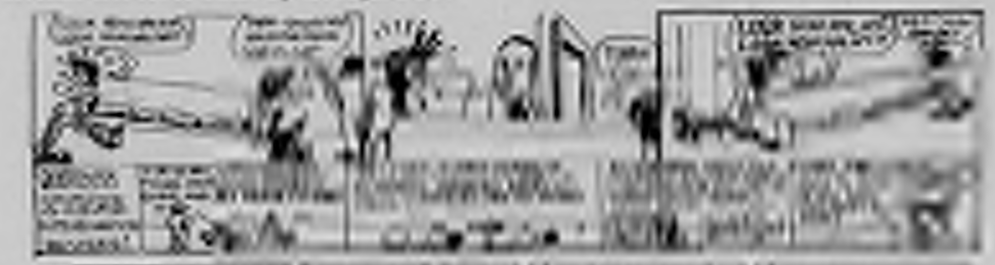
TODAY'S CROSSWORD

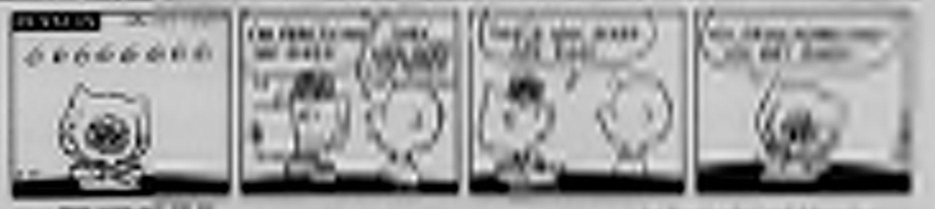
ACROSS [illegible]

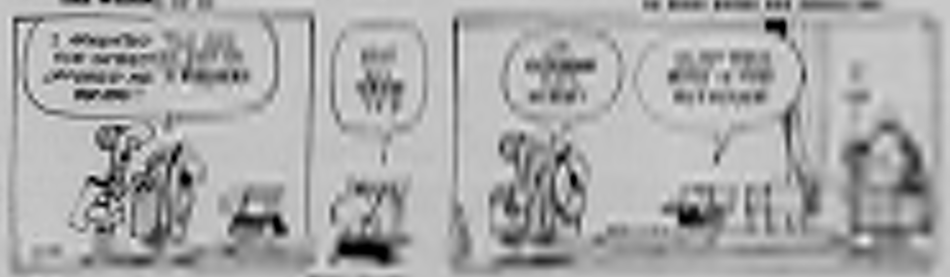
DOWN [illegible]

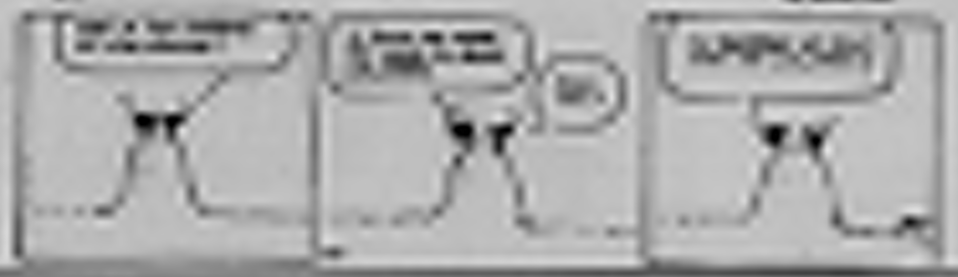


KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson









German program now accepting applications

The UMass Berlin-Freiburg Summer Program, sponsored by the German Department and the International Programs Office, is currently accepting applications for the 1975 season.

The program is open to undergraduates with intermediate proficiency in German (and graduates by special permission) who want to earn six credits while they improve their language skills and experience the myriad cultural facets of central Europe.

Two days will be spent in the city of East and West Berlin. Then, after two weeks of independent travel, the group will reconvene in Freiburg where classes and discussions provide the setting for exploring the German language, literature and civilization. Students will visit Lake Constance, Switzerland, Colmar, and [illegible] on the outskirts of the Black Forest.

Any UMass student interested in the Berlin-Freiburg program is urged to see Professor [illegible] in Room [illegible] Herter Hall or to pick up an application in the German Department Office, 510-512 Herter Hall. [illegible] The cost of the entire program, including international air fare, is [illegible]. The application deadline is Feb. 15.

Rep. Collins to talk on racial imbalance

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

campus carousel

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Snow Sculpture theme to be "Bicentennial"

[illegible]

FOR SALE

Vending machines — [illegible]

[illegible]

University of massachusetts arts council presents

Israel Chamber Orchestra Wed. February 19, 1975 8pm Bowker Auditorium

The Hartford Ballet

Fri. February 21 8pm & Sat. February 22 8pm 1975 Bowker Auditorium

TICKETS [illegible] ON SALE [illegible] HERTER HALL, U/MASS, AMHERST [illegible]

summer europe CHARTERS [illegible] LESS THAN 1/2 REG. FARE learning experiences in israel

year of study for college students

[illegible] Greenberg College [illegible]

WZO WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION Department of Education & Culture [illegible]

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

Mountain Farms Mall in Hadley

Beer and Wine Shoppe!

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer 4.99 case 24-12 oz Non. Ret. bottles

Korbel [illegible] 2.39
Masi Soave "Light White Wine" 2.19
Paul Masson Rosé Chablis half gal 3.89
Paul Masson Pink Medium Dry Rosé 1.99
Rose Garden Liebfraumilch 1.89
Rooderust Dry Red Wine 1.99
Grunberger [illegible] 1.99

Sangrole Sangria 24 oz bottle 1.69

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Prices Effective Thru Sat., Feb. [illegible] We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities

Trackmen romp 80-38; distancemen sparkle

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Nancy O'Neill (32) battles for a rebound against a Central Connecticut foe in Friday night's action at WOPE in game won by UMass.

Women romp again, 75-55

By [illegible]

A balanced scoring effort and a strong second half provided a 75-55 victory over Central Connecticut Friday night for the UMass women's basketball team.

[illegible]

Trackwomen nip SC

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Gym-men destroy Dartmouth

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Swimmers mauled by Maine

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Swimwomen dumped by Southern Conn, 89-42

By [illegible]

[illegible]

Tired of Fraternity Food?

The dining commons offers all university students the chance to have excellent food all semester. Exchange your present meal arrangement for a program which offers full meal service, vegetarian lunches and dinners, Kosher dinners, Sandwich Bars every lunch, serve yourself Salad Bars at dinner, Seconds available on most items. The cost is reasonable. For further information contact

Arthur Warren at Worcester Commons

Time to Think About

VALENTINE'S DAY

February 14th

We Have The Cards

A. J. Hastings

on N. Pleasant St.

AMHERST

Huskies kill rally in OT

UMass downed, 80-76

[illegible]

Harris injured seriously

Icemen split pair

[illegible]

Chiefs prove too tough

Matmen fall to SC

By JOHN BOCK

[illegible]

Trustees seek Amherst site for JFK Library

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

Collegian

VOLUME CIV, ISSUE [illegible] TUESDAY, FEBRUARY [illegible]

Asks for grad student 'white paper'

Wood solicits student response

UMass President Robert Wood, in a rare Amherst area appearance, called for graduate students of the School of Ed to make their case known to state legislators.

[illegible]

Stennis initiates Senate probe into Pentagon contract soldiers

[illegible]

inside

Computing cops...see page 3.

Charles Parker memorial...see page 11.

New course offerings...see page 7.

weather

There's no business like snow business. The usual highs and lows will prevail. Windy too. 'Nuff said.

Buckley Amendment opens student files

Task Force to draft UMass guidelines

[illegible]
Staff

The University Task Force on [illegible] records will meet Thursday to discuss a draft report on the implementation of the "Buckley Amendment" here. [illegible]

turn to page 10

Dental policies to be revamped; 'more services for more people'

[illegible]
Staff Reporter

Dr. Harry Lubin, Director of Dental Services, has proposed new policies for the clinic which are included in a new Patient Information Booklet. [illegible]

OPEN WIDE: Expansion in dental facilities will allow more students the pleasure of this type of experience.

[illegible]

The clinic is staffed by Lubin, one full time dentist, two part time dentists, and two hygienists.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

UFW boycott takes aim at Four Seasons

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

RIVER VALLEY ALMANAC [illegible]

[illegible]

91.1 FM

Computer aids police in fight against crime

Used to eliminate unauthorized persons; locate individuals in emergency

[illegible]
Staff Reporter

The fight against crime is second only to the fight against time, according to [illegible] Holmes, [illegible] at the UMass Police Department. [illegible]

Who's Who cites fifty UMass undergraduates

[illegible]
Staff Reporter

Fifty UMass students have recently been elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. [illegible]

Two dogs fighting desperately to escape the clutches of a menacing fire hydrant on campus yesterday. It is not known at this time whether or not the hydrant was violated by the two, but charges of yellow journalism have been brought against them.

Cutback leaves areas in 'state of flux'

By JUDY FRIEDLAND
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Teacher improvement clinic unaffected by School of Ed crisis

[illegible]

Ford attacks US dependence on foreign oil

Reaffirms opposition to gas rationing

Compiled From Wires

[illegible]

President Ford holds his proposal for energy and compares it to the proposal of Congress while at a meeting of industrial leaders in Houston yesterday.

Food stamp figures show level too low

[illegible]

The Episcopal Church at UMass

ASH WEDS.

Penitential Office
Holy Communion
Imposition of Ashes
[illegible] p.m. — at The Ark (104 No. Pleasant St.)
[illegible] p.m. — at the Newman Center Chapel
[illegible] — Evening Prayer at The Ark

Court delays Army proposal to freeze blackbirds to death

[illegible]

CIA probe continues

[illegible]

SOPHOMORES

If Your Major Is:

Computer Technology
Aerospace Engineering
Civil Engineering
Electrical Engineering
General Engineering
Industrial Engineering
Mechanical Engineering
Mathematics or Physics

You may be eligible for a two-year scholarship and a commission in the Air Force — Call 5-2437 or stop by Rm. 205 Dickinson Hall.

UMASS SOPHOMORES

[illegible]

ALL SINGLE ALBUMS
$4.17 EACH
Latest Releases — Top Artists
we also,
BUY, SELL, & TRADE USED ALBUMS
SUNSHINE RECORDS
No. 5 E. Pleasant St.
(4 doors from the Pub)

Kissinger studies Israeli offers

Cabinet split over policy approach

[illegible]

Art thief incarcerated despite return of pilfered Gainsborough

[illegible]

Edelin abortion draws criticism by doctor

[illegible]

news summary

Irish bomb kills 1

[illegible]

Hub busing studied

[illegible]

Envoy may mediate

[illegible]

Thieu assailed

[illegible]

[illegible]

HOW'S YOUR LOVE LIFE?

Sigma Delta Tau's just dying to know:

come to:

THE DREAM DATE
Open Rush —

You may be the ONE to win a date with the man of your dreams.

Time: Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1975
7 p.m.
Place: 409 N. Pleasant St.
— 545-0537

From the Creators of "Mr. Greek"

NOW OPEN
SOUTH CHINA RESTAURANT
[illegible]
Luncheon Specials
from $1.55
[illegible]
TROPICAL DRINKS
POLYNESIAN CUISINE
[illegible] Amherst, Mass.

Working with Kids
is what NES is all about.

If you can spare a few hours a week to tutor
a child in Springfield, call or visit the N.E.S. office, 426A Student Union. Tel. no. 545-0575.

TRANSPORTATION PROVIDED CREDIT AVAILABLE

[illegible]

Staff Photo by Bob Gamache

This student won't forget that towing began yesterday, since he was one of the first to fall prey to Parking Office's all-out fight against illegal parkers. REMEMBER TOWING IS NOW IN EFFECT.

Filing deadline week away

Spaces remain on Amherst ballot

With one week to go before zero hour for filling Town Officer nomination papers for Amherst's April 8 Town Election, some empty spaces remain where there should be eager candidates...

As of Thursday, February 6, two candidates have taken out papers for the one-year Town Moderator spot; three papers have gone out for two three-year Selectman vacancies; one paper for the three-year School Committee vacancy; one for Oliver Smith Will Elector; two for the two three-year terms for Jones Library Trustee. No one has filed for the one-year Jones Library Trustee vacancy or the five-year term for member of the Housing Authority.

Some additional vacancies have occurred in town meeting member vacancies:

Precinct 1 — In addition to the 9 one-year vacancies a one-year term is vacant. Only one candidate has filed for three years.

Precinct 2 - Only one paper has been taken for three years — there are 12 vacancies; there are now two one-year vacancies.

Precinct 3 — Seven papers have gone out for 13 three-year term vacancies.

Precinct 4 — Five papers have gone out for 9 three-year term vacancies; no one has filed for a one-year vacancy.

Precinct 5 — Three papers have gone out for 11 three-year term vacancies.

Precinct 6 — Ten papers have gone out for 18 three-year term vacancies.

Precinct 7 — Three papers have gone out for 6 three-year term vacancies.

The last day to file town meeting member nomination papers is March 11 by 4:30 p.m. with the Town Clerk, Estelle M. Matusko.

Peace profs meet Wednesday

On Wednesday, February 12, there will be an open meeting of the Five College Chapter of the American Professors for Peace in the Middle East.

The purpose of the meeting is to plan for an assembly in March and to begin a discussion of the alternatives for peace in the Middle East.

Irving Yellowitz, Professor of History, City College of New York, and a member of the National Steering Committee of APPME will attend as a resource person.

He has recently returned from an APPME study mission in the Middle East, which he led.

All interested faculty members are welcome to attend. The meeting will take place in the Red Room in Converse Hall, Amherst College, at 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

La Romita School of Art

Study painting and art history this summer in the Italian Hill Country near Florence. June 22 to July 25. Live in a sixteenth century monastery and receive daily personalized instruction. Many instructor guided tours will be offered, including a week in Florence. Six undergraduate or graduate transferable credits are available from Elmira College, or enroll for no credit. Application deadline, March 15, 1975.

For more information:
Adabelle Hill
Office of Continuing Education
Elmira College
Elmira, New York 14901

WMUA to present live Parker Memorial concert

WMUA-FM will broadcast a one hour live concert on Wednesday, February 12 at 9 p.m. The concert will feature Sunny Stitt on sax, Reggie Workman on bass, Barry Harris on piano, and Alan Dawson on drums. This concert is part of the Charles Parker Memorial Residency at UMass.

Women to women workshop Thursday

Everywoman's Center will sponsor a day workshop designed for women to explore their responses to other women. This is for women who are reappraising their sexuality and reassessing their responses, both emotional and sexual, to other women. During the day the group will examine how the concepts of lesbianism and bisexuality apply to them as individuals.

The cost of the workshop is $15. The day will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. The deadline for registrations is Thursday, February 13 at noon. Interested women should stop by or call Everywoman's Center, 506 Goodell Hall, 545-0883.

TONIGHT
JOHN MORGAN
9 p.m. — 1 a.m.
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

NOT ON THE MEAL PLAN?
Try one of our SNACK BARS
WHITMORE OPEN: 8 - 4
WORCESTER 7 - 3
HAMPDEN 7 - 1

NO CAR?
Shop MUNCHIES
HAMPDEN OPEN: 8 - 8
WORCESTER 10 - 6
FRANKLIN 11 - 7

Appearing
TUES. & WED.
Aces & Eights
at
Rusty Nail Inn
Rte. 47 Sunderland
665-4937

THE DEPRESSION CLIP

Or, How To Save Money By Using Your Head.

Back in 1933, the best way to save on a hair cut began in the kitchen and ended with a bowl on your head.
Now, all it takes is a trip to Gazebo, where in addition to our more exclusive line of hair care services, we'll give you The Depression Clip for only $8.
That means, for $8, we'll wash and style your locks and still give you a cut above the rest.

GAZEBO

academia

'Define your terms'

You may find you need extra help this semester. You may wish someone would explain to you what an instructor means when he writes: "Define your terms!" on one of your papers.

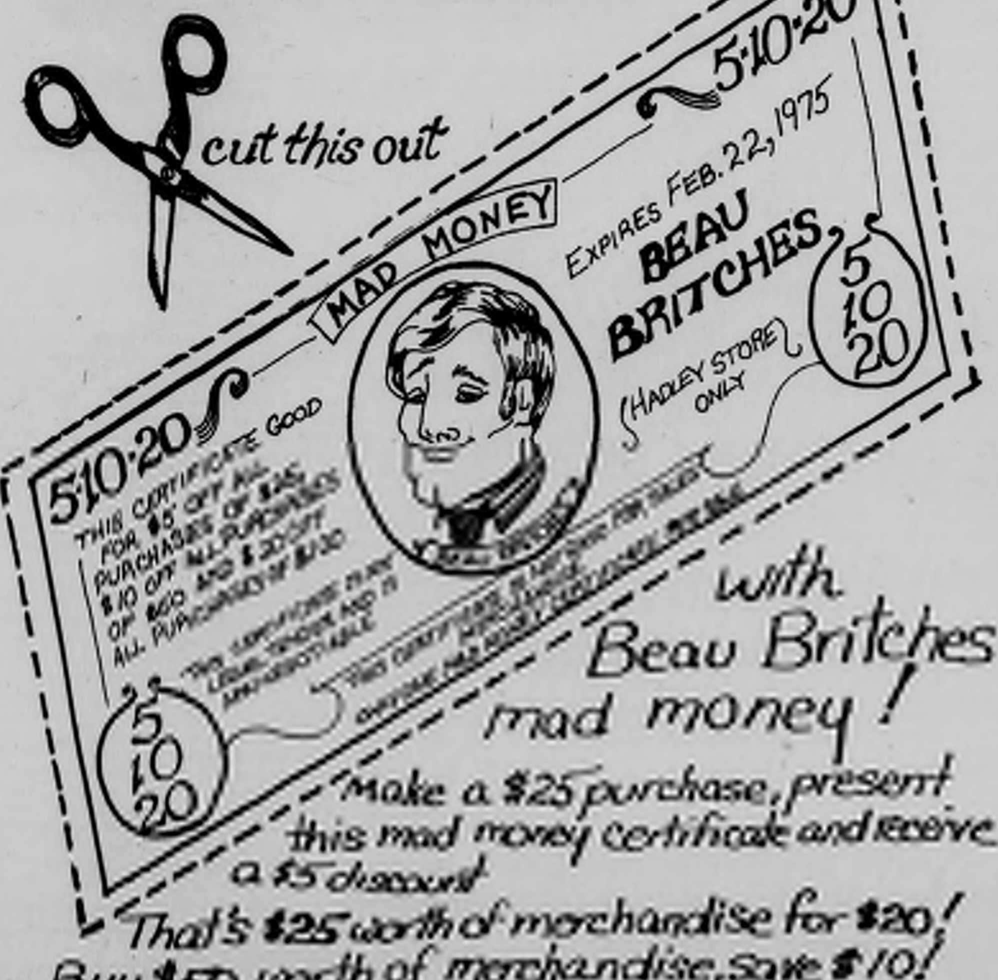
The Communication Skills Center is offering a course, Rhetoric 386 (665401) for 1-6 credits which might help you in acquiring some basic communication skills. These will include mini-courses and individual help in grammar, vocabulary development, study skills and writing. The CSC is situated in Goodell 609, tel. 545-0924. Remember to register!

Concepts of cultural pluralism

New course offering for Spring 1975 from School of Education, Educational Policy Cluster, Lex. no. 5225, modular credit 300-400. Introductory course applying the concept of cultural pluralism into the total curriculum of elementary and secondary schools, though aimed primarily in the area of social studies. Course will focus on racial minorities with some discussion of ethnic groups.

Time: Tues.-Thurs. 4-5:15, Rm. 202 in School of Business Administration.

MAD MONEY!
$25 for $20



cut this out
5·10·20
MAD MONEY
EXPIRES FEB. 22, 1975
BEAU BRITCHES
(HADLEY STORE ONLY)
5 10 20
5·10·20
THIS CERTIFICATE GOOD FOR $5 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $25, $10 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $50 AND $20 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $100
5 10 20

with Beau Britches mad money!

Make a $25 purchase, present this mad money certificate and receive a $5 discount

That's $25 worth of merchandise for $20!
Buy $50 worth of merchandise, save $10!
or Buy $100 worth of merchandise and save $20!

Team up with a roommate.
Make a group purchase and save money!

BEAU Britches
Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

'Press in Vietnam' offered by J.S.

'The Press in Viet Nam', Journalistic Studies 391F, will meet in Machmer E10 on Fridays from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m. Enrollment has been opened to interested students, in general. It is a 3 credit course.

The content is a study of propaganda in the press centering around Viet Nam. The political and planned nature of media information is emphasized. The class structure is seminar.

Frank Faulkner is teaching 391F. His personal experience in Viet Nam media and in U.S. News service makes this course beneficial to the veteran as well as those interested in politics of media and propaganda.

Call Frank for schedule and class information; 467-3479 or the Veterans Coalition.

Aesthetic logic of Afro-Am culture

Examination of African philosophies and religions as a point of departure for understanding the aesthetic logic of contemporary Afro-American cultural forms, i.e., theater, dance, music, and art. Includes both formal and informal cultural expression in Afro-American communities.

Sylvan colloquia

The Sylvan Area is offering several interesting one-unit colloquia this Spring. Spaces are available in each course for non-Sylvan students.

Included are colloquia on pilot flight training (ground school), first aid, V.D., basic drawing, computers, plants in your room, photography, filmmaking, radio programming, radio announcing, collegiate journalism, science in our lives, the politics of Washington D.C. and senior lifesaving.

You can register this week through Thursday at noon at [illegible] House, Sylvan Area. Registration booklets are available at Sylvan or in your Area Student Affairs Office. For information call [illegible].

MassPIRG to show NUKE film

MassPIRG will be sponsoring the film "Nuclear: The Alternative Energy" tonight in Room 1[illegible] of the Campus Center. This informative movie will be followed by a discussion, and question and answer period with PIRG members Doug Stanley and Charlotte Allen. They will present information on recent, current and future citizen action programs against nuclear power. The movie will start promptly at 7:00.

Allen will be teaching a colloquia entitled "Nuclear Energy and Citizen Action" to start on Tuesday, Feb. 18. It will meet in Room [illegible] of the Student Union at 7:30. For more information, call Charlotte Allen at [illegible].

Don't forget to get down to the CC Auditorium to boogie to the sounds of Big Screamin' McGreen, Rush, Pat and Some of My Best Friends. Things will start jumping at 8:00 so come down and dance, dance DANCE to stop the nukes! Your [illegible] donation will go to the Alternative Energy Commission.

MDC classifieds sell

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Letters to the editor

Racial proposals - of noblest intent

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Ileana Gonzalez

Hatch "gorillas" axe "chick"

To the Editor:

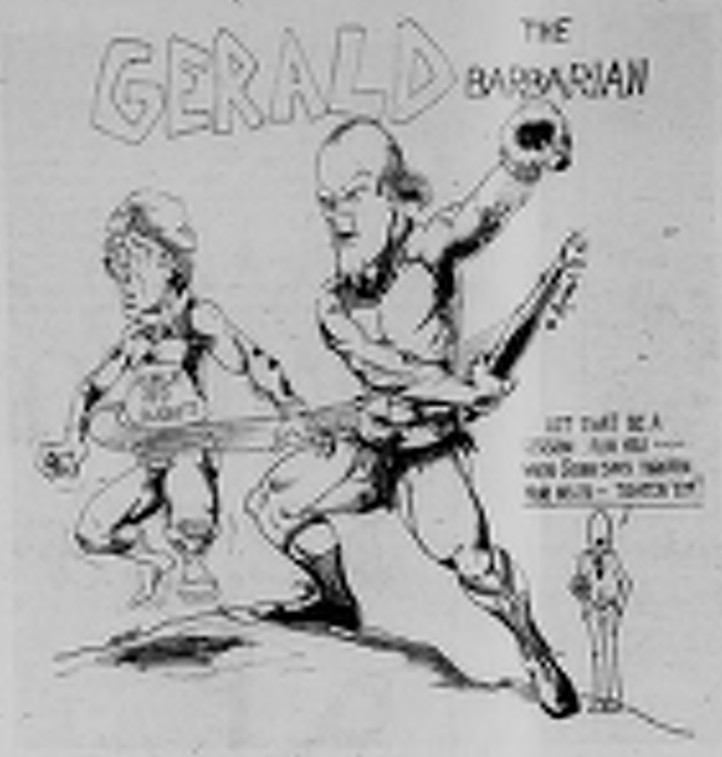
[illegible]

Progressive News Service seeks support

[illegible]

Legislation banking on community interest

[illegible]



Call for Congressional action

By PAUL BRADLEY

[illegible]

Notable Quote

[illegible]

volunteers needed!
Be part of something!!! Join the Collegian.
If you write, draw, take pictures, have an opinion, or like to see your name in print !!! Come to the Recruitment Meeting THURSDAY NIGHT AT 7
In the COUNCIL CHAMBER ROOM of the Student Union
Collegian

Luis Medina

Now it can be done

[illegible]

Luis Manuel Medina is a Collegian Columnist

James Nollet

Unwritten laws and broken rules

By JAMES A. NOLLET

[illegible]

That's Bureaucracy!

[illegible]

Open records required

cont. from p. 1

applicable under the Buckley Amendment," the health service will continue their policy, making records available in the presence of a physician except where it "may not be in the best interest of the student," such as mental health records.

If a student wants to see a part of his record with one physician, the student can do so "informally", Averill said. If the student wants to review it with a lot of people, he will have to sign a release and see the medical director.

David Johnston, director of Public Safety here, said "no one has ever requested to see police records. There is no precedent. The records are entirely law enforcement records. The official policy will be to put the request in writing and each will be treated on an individual basis."

"The decision will be made by the council ruling on confidentiality," he added.

The draft also raises questions on access guidelines, waivers, release of information to a third party and alumni records.

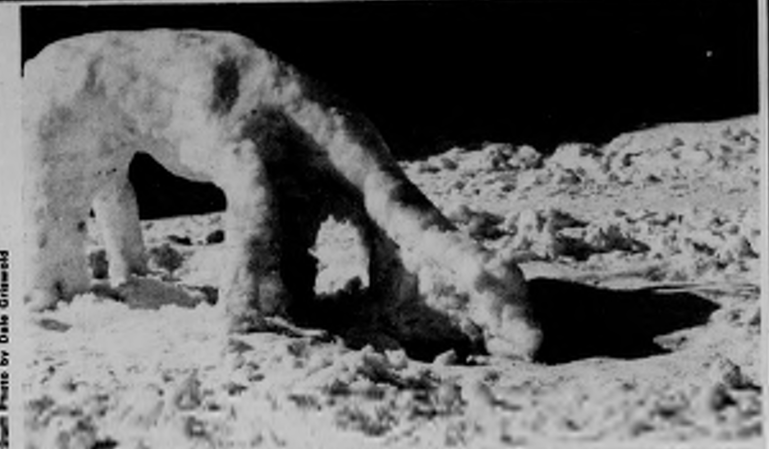
By law, each institution must provide notice to eligible students at least annually in the language of the student, the types of educational records, the names and position of the officials responsible for the maintenance of each type of record, access guidelines and the procedure for challenging content of the educational record either by a formal or informal hearing.

As to access guidelines, the draft states "because education records are kept in several locations, we can only develop general access guidelines for the University. Will each department that maintains records have to develop their own speific and publish them?"

By law, educational institutions cannot require students to waive their right provided in this legislation, a student may waive his access to confidential statements.

The draft asks "while the law makes it clear that a student can execute a single waiver to cover a category of recommendations, for admissions and employment, there is no indication of how long a waiver is effective nor is there any mention how a student can revoke it."

White said he is unsure of how an employer would look at the waiver. The employer who may have a bias, may "weigh more support for confidential recommendations. Also, the author who is only going to write confidential evaluations may pressure students to give up the right of access." "I have a fear this could happen and that could negate the whole law."



Staff Photo by Dale Griswold

We may be seeing more of these white creatures grazing on campus if the snow holds out. This giraffe was created by students at Moore House.

I-95...snowmobilers' paradise

MALDEN (UPI) — Snowmobilers in this Boston suburb couldn't be happier about a $52 million, "road to nowhere" on which they can race their vehicles.

No so, however, state officials who call the eight lane, two-mile project "the biggest waste of taxpayers money and of no practical value."

What was envisioned as a portion of Interstate 95 connecting Malden with Saugus became a playground when former Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered a moratorium on highway construction in the greater Boston area.

Brian Knight, 19, says he thinks it's a marvelous idea.

"Finding a place to run a snowmobile is becoming increasingly more difficult, especially since the environmental groups started squawking about noise pollution," he said.

And, he says whimsically, the facility doesn't lose its value with the end of winter, for when the snow melts, it becomes a great place for motorcycles and trail bikes.

The state's auditor, Democrat Thaddeus Buczko, blames the situation on Sargent, a Republican, who curtailed the construction after buckling to pressure from environmentalists.

Meanwhile, while the Department of Public Works has been working with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology — and a $450,000 federal grant — to investigate the soil in the area, snowmobilers continue to enjoy themselves.

Expand awareness...try TM

A special introductory lecture on transcendental meditation will be presented tonight at 8 p.m. in Herter Hall, Room 227.

The Students' International Meditation Society said that over 600 UMass students and faculty practice this simple technique to expand mental awareness and simultaneously experience deep rest.

"Transcendental Meditation, when I had learned it, allowed me to experience, for a few moments each day, bliss, or pure awareness," says Classics Professor Ed Phinney. "Pure awareness may be defined as the energizing field of creation from which thoughts come. So far as I am concerned, pure awareness is absolute truth, and when I experience pure awareness, I am experiencing the intense, directed energy which supports all thoughts and actions. After two years of TM, I can see permanent changes in myself. I have more vitality and a sense of direction in life."

TM does not involve any mystical Eastern religions or particular life style, but is simply a natural effortless mental technique which enables any individual to start using more of their potentialities. TM is practiced for 15-20 minutes twice a day sitting comfortably with the eyes closed. As enjoyable as the experience of TM might be, one does not meditate for the sake of meditation, but for the effects that meditation has on one's daily activity.

"I'm much more confident of myself, and find that I can carry through on my plans more," reports Tom Atwater, a forestry student. "I used to have an interest in a lot of different things, but now I find that I have an even more active interest in life around me. I'm also much more tolerant in personal relationships."

"There's no question about it," notes Kevin Flaherty, UMass senior. "I'm less nervous than I used to be before beginning TM, and I have a greater ability to concentrate on my work. One of the first things I noticed was that I could read much faster, with a lot greater comprehension."

"Before I began meditation," commented Bill Barry, "my body got up for early class, but my mind didn't wake up until 11 a.m. Now, with TM, after getting more out of a night's sleep than I used to, I wake up, get dressed, meditate for 20 minutes, and then I feel so good that I actually enjoy entering the daily activities."

"The best thing about TM, however," remarked Bill Barry, "is that after all this talk, and physiological research and promises of good results, when a person does it, all these good results spontaneously happen. One gets everything they say you will and more. The benefits are real."

For further information, please call 256-8676.

NU's 35,000 biggest in U.S.

BOSTON (UPI) - With over 35,000 students, Northeastern University is the nation's largest private university in total enrollment, according to a nationwide survey of enrollment trends in higher education conducted by the University of Cincinnati.

This marks the eighth consecutive year that Northeastern has held that distinction.

FOR SALE

Vending machines — 3 candy, 1 soda, 1 cigarette.
Call [illegible]
Mr. [illegible]

Graduate Study in Biomedical Engineering at Dartmouth College will be the subject of a seminar by Dr. J. [illegible], Wednesday, February 12, 2:30 p.m., Room 110 Engineering East. Find out about other engineering programs too.

Who is Othmar Schoeck?

TV tonight

[illegible]

film times

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
Fantasia - [illegible]
Harry and Tonto - [illegible]
Blazing Saddles - [illegible]
Challenge to be Free - [illegible]
AMHERST CINEMA
[illegible]

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S
FANTASIA
TECHNICOLOR
"HARRY & TONTO"
NOW IN ITS FINAL WEEK
BLAZING SADDLES
Challenge to be Free

Charles Parker Memorial Residency

Twenty years ago next month, Charlie "Bird" Parker died, without the acclaim that many feel he deserved. At the time of his death, he was considered a "jazzman", not a musician. A "bebopper", not an artist.

Despite the racism, the dependance on drugs and alcohol, and the many other problems that beset him, Parker managed to revolutionize music, and not just jazz, but all types of music. He freed musicians from the chains of following the melody line. He replaced it with chords.

This not only gave the musicians more freedom, but allowed the audience to experience the music in a new way. The freedom he sought in music was also carried over into the other branches of the art world as well.

This was most notably apparent in the Beat Movement in San Francisco with writers like Kerouac, Ferlinghetti and Ginsberg.

Today, tomorrow and Thursday, this campus as part of the Winter Carnival will commemorate the life and contribution to music and the arts that Charles "Bird" Parker made.

The focus of the three day program is the residency of saxophonist Edward "Sonny" Stitt. Stitt, along with Max Roach, Miles Davis, Dizzy Gillespie, and Thelonious Monk, is one of the surviving founders of the music called "bop". Stitt, like Parker, is concerned with freeing the artist from his traditional forms.

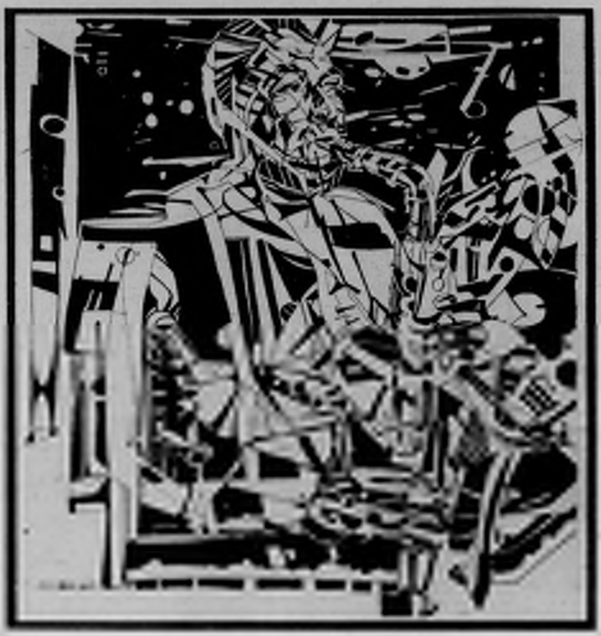
Percussionist Alan Dawson has been an instructor at the Berklee School of Music for the past 17 years. He has played with Lionel Hampton, Dave Brubeck, Dexter Gordon, Booker Ervin and others, performing all over the world. He is also the author of "A Manual for the Modern Drummer", Dawson has helped shape the Boston Sound affecting such musicians as Clifford Jervis and Tony Williams.

Barry Harris, like Dawson, has been a key figure in developing the style of musicians in an entire city, in his case Detroit. He has played with and instructed such musicians as Yusef Lateef, Kenny Dorham, Charles MacPherson and Billy Mitchell. Harris has been a major force in piano styles, having recorded over two dozen albums either under his own leadership or as part of someone else's group.

Reggie Workman's musical ability can be judged by the quality of the musicians he has played with. The list includes John Coltrane, Miles Davis, Art Blakey, Thelonius Monk, Eric Dolphy and Yusef Lateef. Workman has been an instructor here and has helped to establish musical workshops in the New York City Department of Corrections. Presently he is president of the Collective Black Artists of New York.

Nat Hentoff is a free-lance journalist whose writings have appeared in the Village Voice, the Real Paper, and Downbeat Magazine among others. Besides being a journalist and critic, Hentoff is also a renowned novelist and record producer.

The film "Jazz is our Religion" was produced, directed and edited by John Jeremy. It features singer Jon Hendricks, saxophonists Johnny Griffin, Dewey Redman and Marion Brown, percussionists Art Blakey, Rashied Ali and Sunny Murray, pianist Bill Evans, and trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie. The film attempts to show musicians performing but also to explore the social role of the music itself.



[illegible]

Charles "Bird" Parker 1920-1955

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Edward "Sonny" Stitt

Today:

There will be an open music workshop and jam session with Sonny Stitt and the UMass Workshop at 2:30 at Southwest Resource Center in Hampden Dining Commons.

Tomorrow:

There will be a symposium on Charlie Parker and Black Music in America with Nat Hentoff, Sonny Stitt, Archie Shepp, and Max Roach at 2:30 in Webster Lounge, Orchard Hill.

At 8 p.m. a live concert will be broadcast over WMUA (91.1 fm) with Sonny Stitt, Barry Harris, Reggie Workman, and Alan Dawson.

Thursday:

There will be a concert in the Hatch at 8 p.m. with Sonny Stitt, Barry Harris, Reggie Workman and Alan Dawson. The film "Jazz is our Religion" will also be shown.

All events are free with the exception of Thursday's for which admission is one dollar.

Reggie Workman

Sponsored by

Orchard Hill Music Series
Program Council
CC Food Services
Black Cultural Center
Provost's Office

Parker and Miles Davis

Alan Dawson

notices

AIKIDO CLUB
Will meet every Wed. and Fri. at 7-9 p.m. and Sun. 2:30-4:30 p.m. in Boyden Wrestling Room. New members invited.

ALPHA ZETA
Mandatory meeting for all members. Conclave will be discussed as well as other programs.

ASH WEDNESDAY
Episcopal services: Penitential Office, Holy Communion, Imposition of Ashes, 8:15 a.m., the Ark (758 N. Pleasant St.); 1 p.m., Newman Center Chapel; 5 p.m. Evening prayer at the Ark.

ASTRONOMY CLUB
Everyone meet in Hasbrouck 22 at 7 tonite. If clear we'll hopefully do some observing. If cloudy, regular meeting will be held. Please bring cars.

BUTTERICK FASHION CLUB
Interested in getting involved in any aspect of the fashion world, through speakers, trips, shows? Come to Skinner Room 119, 2-11, Tues. at 7:30. Hear about "The Block" and the upcoming shows and happy hour. Questions? Call 6-9622.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
There is a study room on campus for the peaceful study of Christian Science. Included are the daily Bible lessons and current Christian Science literature, including the Christian Science Monitor. Located in Goodell, Main floor. Follow the signs.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION
Meeting tonite in Room 911 CC. Please come and share love. All are welcome!

CHRISTIAN WORSHIP
The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated according to the tradition of the Episcopal Church. Weds. 1 p.m. Newman Center Chapel.

CUE-TEP
State Representative James G. Collins D-Amherst will speak on Feb. 11 at 7 p.m. in the Marks Meadow Auditorium of the School of Ed. on the topic, "Racial Imbalance: A Case Study Concerning Desegregation of the Boston Schools."

HEYMAKERS
Very important meeting of club members in Room 903 CC. Please attend.

MEETING TONITE
Of all those interested in volunteer activities at Northampton State Hospital. It will be at 8:00 in Room 905-9 at the Student Center. If interested and can't make the meeting call 546-5044.

NUKES KOOKS
The film "Nuclear: An Energy Alternative" will be shown tonite at 7:00 Room 172 CC. Then we'll be boogying in the CC Auditorium to four great bands. The proceeds go to Alternative Energy Commission.

POKER AND WHIST NIGHT
All university men are invited to a Poker and Whist nite at Zeta Psi, Tues. 2-11 at 7:30. Come down to 23 Phillips St. and meet the brothers of the newest fraternity on campus. Call 256-6845 for rides.

PRE-NURSING
General get together to discuss nursing and the School of Nsg. with CAS-Nsg. advisor [illegible]

[illegible]

SOUTHWEST THEATER AND PRISONS
Individuals wanting to participate in prison arts program please contact SW Assembly office 5-1582 or Tim Ney 253-5114.

SOUTHWEST WORKSHOP
If you're interested in running a colloq in inter-personal relationships, contact Jim, 305 Thoreau, 546-7452. No experience necessary.

SQUARE DANCE LESSONS
Lessons held at 8 p.m. — All those class members who plan to graduate must attend!

VOCAL JAZZ ENSEMBLE
A new experience in vocal music, now forming at UMass. All 5-College students invited. The group will rehearse on Sunday evenings beginning Feb. 23. Call [illegible]

[illegible]

Turn to page 13

TONIGHT
KURT VONNEGUT
SLAUGHTERHOUSE
5
S.U.B. 7, 9, 11
TUESDAY — FEB. 11

AMHERST Cinema
Now
"the wild child"
plus
Francois Truffaut's
Stolen
Kisses

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

your birthday by stella wilder

TUESDAY, February 11 — Born today, you are a highly intelligent person who has little trouble grasping abstract concepts and even less getting them across to others once they are grasped. At the same time, however, you are enough a man or woman "of the people" to be able to apply what you know in a practical way to what is demanded of you by the particular circumstances and situations which go to make up your daily life. You have no intention of isolating yourself from the world simply because the world may be unpleasant; rather, you will use what you know to become involved in and to try to help matters.

* * *

Wednesday, February 12

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Make a real effort to keep in close touch with home base this morning. Children may be in special need of advice; share [illegible]

[illegible] nature this morning if you are wise enough to catch the warning signals.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — A friendly attitude goes a long way toward smoothing the way toward successful business dealings. Take your pleasure where you find it today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Consider human nature when you make judgments this morning. There is much that does not meet the eye or ear, yet must be understood.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — The spotlight is very likely to rest on you this morning. Employment [illegible] opportunities are more frequent and more frightening than anticipated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Negotiate with those in authority, but only if you can do so from strength. Take care not to show any weakness of character or assets.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Today may well provide a turning point [illegible]

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Contacts recently made with a man or woman of influence in your field may begin today to pay off in both tangible and intangible benefits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — The unexpected requires extra time, extra money and extra effort this afternoon. If you would rather bow out, do so early in the game.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Present goals may not be as easily attainable as you had thought. Take a tip from one who's made the attempt before you; prepare very well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Decide upon the day's activities before you get things underway early in the morning; otherwise, you may be too late to gain much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Take care that a discussion does not deteriorate into an argument, especially during [illegible]

(United Feature Syndicate)

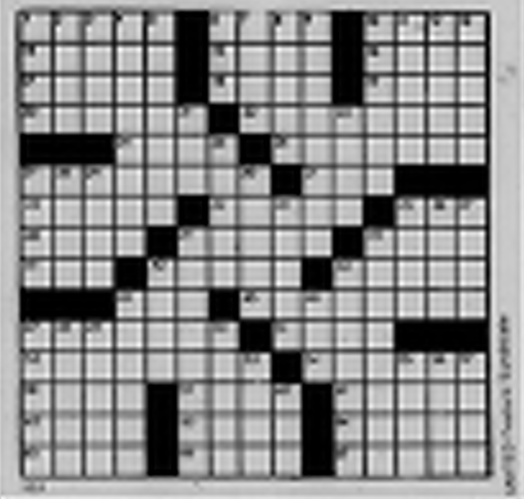
DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Acoustic unit
6 Fragrance
10 Church service
14 "What is in ------?"
15 Ontario or Michigan
16 Concerning: 2 words
17 E Canadian peninsula
18 Per-
19 Coin of Iran
20 Reliable
22 Deficit
24 Corner of a sail
26 Dirtied
27 Paid attention
31 Bird
32 Inquired
[illegible]
39 Digress
40 1970 Broadway hit
41 Chick's parent
42 Kind of beam
43 Doomed
[illegible] one: informal
44 --- de sac
45 Most severe
47 Second vendings
51 Chimney sweep's concern
52 Gives in another confidently
54 [illegible]
[illegible]
62 Roof part
63 Plus
64 Heating vessels
65 Told a fib
66 Gas
67 Musical symbols

DOWN
1 Droops
2 Pre-med course
3 Diamond feature
4 Pressed together
5 Provoked: informal
6 Not recent
7 Platform
8 Informal approvals
9 Slightly
10 Swallow's relative
[illegible]
13 Fixed a shoe
21 Yearn: informal
23 Not found everywhere
25 Beats severely
27 Facial feature
28 ---- of Wight
29 Animal pelt
30 Challenges
34 Board game
[illegible]
39 Vendor
40 Pendant
42 Feminine name
43 The ------ Crosby nickname
44 Transported
46 Many, many centuries
47 Drove off
48 Cha- --
49 Household appliance
50 Garment
53 Only fair
55 Old Eng. letters
[illegible]

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved



Astrological star attractions

The Astrological Society will once again open its doors to the public this semester. The Society will offer a number of services to anyone interested in astrological, and other related subjects.

Larrie Shea and Jeff Jawer will be teaching a beginners course in astrology. Depending on the amount of interest shown, Shea and Leslie Mitchell will extend this course to include intermediates. The beginners course will meet from 7:00 to 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Center. Classes will start on Wednesday February 12. Check at the Campus Center Information Desk for the room number each Wednesday as it will vary from week to week. The intermediate course, should it materialize, will meet from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. in the same room on the same evening. Both of these courses are free and open to anyone.

Leslie Mitchell and Don Cerow will also be offering a beginners course in astrology. The course will be held in room [illegible] at the Amherst Pelham Junior High School on Chestnut Street in Amherst. It will cover the basic material of astrology, its philosophy and psychology, and will throw some emphasis on astrology's place in the ancient world of the Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans. This course will offer one credit to interested students. There will be a materials fee of approximately [illegible]. Interested non-students may enroll through the Continuing Education's Adult Program located in the Junior High School or contact either Leslie Mitchell [illegible] or Don Cerow [illegible]. The fee for the Continuing Education Program will be approximately [illegible]. This course will meet on Thursday evenings from 7:00 until 9:00 p.m. starting on the 13th of March.

On Tuesday, February 18 the Astrological Society will hold its first meeting in the Campus Center at 8:00 p.m.

WMUA

Here is today's schedule for WMUA, 91.1 FM.

The disc jockeys today are Boston Rick, Crazy Nance, [illegible], Al Feinberg & Tommy Joyner.

News is broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m., & 2, 6 & 10 p.m. News Headlines is broadcast at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m.

WMUA Specialties:

8:22 a.m., High Tide.

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac.

7:25 p.m., Sports Broadcast, Basketball: [illegible] at Boston University.

9:00 p.m., [illegible] LOOKING AT THE CIA: An interview with Victor Marchetti, an ex-CIA agent who talks about operations in Latin America, including details of the trackdown of Che Guevara. The show also features an indepth report on CIA Indo-China activities.

10:00 p.m. [illegible]

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

CRYSTAL ANNIE!

THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart

DRUG STORE
NO WAITING
BUT YOUR SIGN SAYS NO WAITING!
NO WAITING

by johnny hart

OH GREAT AND WISE SAGE, WHAT IS THE GRAND SCHEME OF LIFE?

7777777777
I'M PRACTICING MY SEVENSES
"SEVENSES"?
I WRITE 'EM BETTER THAN I SAY 'EM!

Notices

cont. from p. 12

LOST
[illegible]

LOST
[illegible]

LOST
[illegible]

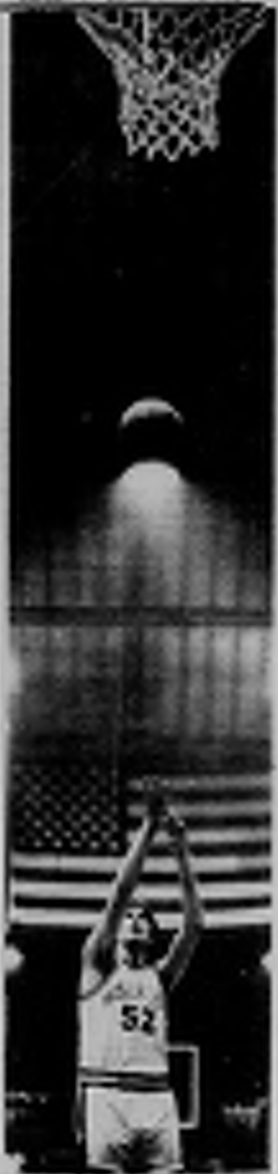
Murphy enters 1000 club

Text By STEVE TETREAULT
Photos By DENNIS CONLON

Senior John Murphy reached a plateau attained by only a handful of UMass basketball players Saturday night. His 22 points against the University of Connecticut Huskies in an 80-76 loss pushed the 6'8" forward-center over the 1000 point career mark. Murphy is only the tenth player in UMass history to achieve such a feat.

The game was stopped and Murphy received congratulations and handshakes from fans and fellow players.

If Murphy maintains his present scoring average of 18 points per game, he could rise to sixth place in alltime UMass scoring by season's end.



OPEN FRATERNITY RUSH

The UMass Fraternities invite all interested students to participate.

Alpha Epsilon Pi 546-5959
Beta Kappa Phi 388 No. Pleasant St. 545-0230
Delta Chi 314 Lincoln Ave. 545-0156
Kappa Sigma 70 Butterfield Terrace 545-2172
Phi Delta Theta 546-7871
Phi Mu Delta Fraternity/Sorority Park 253-9034
Phi Sigma Kappa 510 No. Pleasant St. 545-0174
Q.T.V. 358 No. Pleasant St. 253-9235
Sigma Alpha Mu 387 No. Pleasant St. 253-9957
Sigma Phi Epsilon 9 Chestnut St. 545-0070
Tau Epsilon Phi 418 No. Pleasant St. 253-9071
Zeta Psi 23 Phillips St. 256-6845

TUESDAY
Zeta Psi — 7:30 p.m.
Kappa Sigma — 8:00 p.m.
Sigma Alpha Mu — 8:00 p.m. "Good Fraternity"
Q.T.V. — 8:00 p.m.
Tau Epsilon Phi — 8:30 p.m.
Phi Sigma Kappa — 9:00 p.m. "Little Sister and Fraternity Rush"

WEDNESDAY
Alpha Epsilon Pi, Room [illegible], C.C., 7:30 p.m. "A New Fraternity — looking for new ideas"
Delta Chi — 7:30 p.m. "Card & Keg Night"
Sigma Phi Epsilon — 7:30 p.m.
Beta Kappa Phi — 8:00 p.m.
Phi Mu Delta — 8:30 p.m. "Keg Night"
Phi Sigma Kappa — 9:00 p.m.

THURSDAY
Alpha Epsilon Pi — 7:00 p.m., Room [illegible], C.C.
Phi Delta Theta — 8:00 p.m., Room [illegible], C.C. "A new fraternity — this fraternity is what you want to make it."
Kappa Sigma — 8:00 p.m.
Sigma Alpha Mu — 8:30 p.m.
Phi Mu Delta — 8:30 p.m. "Valentine's Day Rush"
Sigma Phi Epsilon — 9:00 p.m. "Exchange with Alpha Chi Omega"

FRIDAY
Delta Chi — 7:00 p.m. "TGIF Keg D.J. of the Pub"

Women gymnasts set to face weak Keene State

By [illegible]

Every member of the entire UMass women's gymnastics team will be in action tonight against Keene State at 7:00 p.m. in Boyden's auxiliary gym.

Coach Virginia Evans said that Keene State is a team on a J.V. level, so since UMass' last meet was cancelled because of last Wednesday's snow storm, the team needs game practice and the meet should provide some.

Susan [illegible], who missed the Penn State meet with a turned ankle, will compete against Keene State on the uneven bars and the balance beam. There will be no all-around women for UMass in order to get everyone into the meet. Pam [illegible] will lead the field by competing in three events as she will be in every event except the floor exercise.

The women will be using tonight's meet as a warm-up for Saturday night's meet against a strong Springfield squad here at Boyden.

The meet against Salem State that was cancelled because of snow has been re-scheduled to Feb. 20.

Ali to fight for free; donate money to ghettos

By BOB STEWART
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali says he'll "fight for nuthin'" from now on, "nuthin'" meaning just his expenses.

All his profits from the March 24th bout with Chuck Wepner in Cleveland, Ali said Monday, will go back to the people of the ghettos, with Atlanta, Philadelphia, Louisville and the state of Alabama the first to gain through Ali's philanthropy.

Admitting he has made all the money he'll ever need, although declining to estimate his total worth, the heavyweight champion said he "felt guilty about making so much money so easy."

As examples, he spoke of the "easiest" $5 million he made against George Foreman and the "just as easy" $1½ million he'll pick up against Wepner.

In Ali's plan to spread his profits around, he envisions that he will allocate his guaranteed money himself, but that the TV money from closed circuit showings would be handled by various Black organizations in the separate cities where the fights would be shown.

He mentioned groups such as the Urban League, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Muslims and the Black colleges.

As an example of how he wants to spread his profits around, Muhammad said that after disposing of Wepner, he would be able to give $100,000 to Atlanta for a Black bakery, $100,000 to Philadelphia, $300,000 to Los Angeles, with all money going into Black businesses to supply jobs for Blacks.

Ali then expanded his views by suggesting [illegible] by inviting "all other Black entertainers" to join him in his new crusade. He cited he had on hand the first Blacks to agree to yield their profits, the Jackson Five, who said they will go along with Ali as soon as they can make arrangements with their manager.

Wepner sat by bemused while Ali delivered his almost hour-long sermon, and then the 35-year-old from Bayonne, N.J. finally got up to speak his piece, or try to.

Ali refused to yield the microphones, shouting: "They say Chuck's a bleeder! The he don't do nuthin' but bleed. So I am here and now making this promise. I won't hit no shots into his face. I'm gonna hit him in the stomach and chest."

Wepner, as badly outmatched at speaking as he apparently will be in fighting, tried valiantly to counteract Ali's oration, telling Ali, "Well, you're going to get it in the face. You won't be a pretty boy anymore."

Clip coupon

SHOOT DOWN INFLATION!

Very famous maker Heavy 14 oz. plus JEANS straight leg or flare save $3.00

on

Our best selling 5 pocket—flair leg JEANS save $3.00 with coupon

the jeans store

WEAR-HOUSE

[illegible] Mall [illegible]
[illegible] pleasant st. amherst

Tired of Dining Commons Food and life in the dorm?

Come and talk to the Brothers and Sisters of

ΣAM

A CO-ED FRATERNITY

Tues., Feb. 11th 8:00 p.m. (tonight)

Thurs., Feb. 13th 8:00 p.m. at 387 No. Pleasant Street.

For information and/or rides call 545-0845 or 253-9957.

Refreshments will be served.

WMUA

Be listening Tuesday, February 11, as the Minutemen take on the "terriers of BU". Larry [illegible] and Russ Small call all the action starting at 7:25 on the voice of the Minutemen, WMUA, 91.1 FM.

sportsline
5-2210

10% OFF

all new 1974 & used Kawasaki's in stock

VALLEY MOTORSPORTS

[illegible]

Merry Cushing of Amherst (left) and Marion Larsen of UMass compete in the two-mile run during last Friday's victory over Springfield College. Larsen placed third in the event with a time of 12:26, as the UMass women won 39-26.

Harris progressing

By [illegible]

Billy Harris, the UMass hockey player who was seriously injured in a freak accident during Saturday's game against Vermont, is making encouraging progress.

Harris fell against the boards while trying to take the puck away from a Vermont forward and ruptured his spleen when the blade of his stick tore into it.

The junior center was taken out of intensive care yesterday and is expected to remain in Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton for another 4-5 days before being transferred to the UMass infirmary for an indefinite period of convalescence.

Russ Smith

The hoop IM legend

By RUSS SMITH

There was once a student named Peter, who was quietly sitting under an old Japanese elm tree, on the Mass. Aggie grounds, in the land known as Amherst.

This decent looking lad from the nearby village of Athol was absorbing some knowledge from his own Collegian, on this warm spring day.

He read quickly however, and soon finished the sports page too. "What now?", he spoke softly to himself outloud. "How can I pass some time? I have no work to be done, (no doubt, a Park Administration major)" sighed the first year student.

He pondered on this problem for a bit before he set out to seek some action in the Quad (even back then it was called the Quad).

Upon arriving at [illegible], he found few of the ladies of the house home, and those that were, weren't interested in what he had to offer.

Dejectedly walking away, for he had been shot down, [illegible] gym caught his attention. Thus, he raced across the street, narrowly escaping being hit by the [illegible] bus, and forthwith, up the gym stairs.

"What kind of evil spirit had conjured up this deceptive trick?" thought he. The only student in the gym was Dave, whom he hadn't seen in a fortnight [illegible] they both thought was odd, considering they lived in the same suite.

After shooting for awhile, they started playing one-on-one.

Pete used his height advantage to control the game, and led at intermission time by six points, 11-5.

But alas, fouls began to pile up, and with 5:14 to play in the game, he was out with his fifth personal. Needless to say, with seconds left, David did score the winning basket. David had once again slain Goliath, or in this case, Pete. Final score was 21-18.

So, intramural basketball was here to stay.

For the truly gullible ones here at UMass, intramural basketball really didn't start this way (Pete actually won the first game).

But it really doesn't matter how it all started.

What does, is that it is here. The biggest of all the winter sports offered by the IM department began its 1975 season just last week, and will continue for the next five weeks or so, until the field is narrowed down to begin playoffs for the Campus Championship ([illegible] was last year's hoop champs in men's basketball. The name of the female title team eludes me at the present moment. But being a fair and just person, I'll find out and let you know.)

Dunk shots...It's good to be back at UMass after "vacationing" for a semester. I missed my friends (even you Mike)...only thing I didn't miss was classes; come to think of it, I haven't missed any since they started...well...later...

Pat Gingele

Cagemen at BU; expect running game

By STEVE SARACENO

[illegible]

Jim Town

Women face challenge versus Chiefs today

By GREG LEVINS

[illegible]

Skiers sweep weekend meets

By PETER McDONNELL

[illegible]

Late spurt leads JV pucksters to win

By TOM CROWLEY

[illegible]

Ben Caswell

It's all for the best

[illegible]

Selectmen concerned about possible auto congestion

Guarded support expressed for JFK plans

[illegible]

turn to page 14

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
VOLUME CIV, ISSUE [illegible] AMHERST, MA WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY [illegible]

weather

[illegible]

Ed School endorses Fischer

[illegible]

CC workers list demands

[illegible]

[illegible]

Bills seek to block levying of meal tax

[illegible]

turn to page 3

Women clerical workers seek to organize here

[illegible]

turn to page [illegible]

"Boston 8" raise funds for Daniels

[illegible]

turn to page [illegible]

Town to check housing fee

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

...Amherst Selectmen consider "universal housing fee," during their meeting last night.

School of Ed undergrads plead for more student input

[illegible]
Staff Reporters

[illegible]

SW funds 'found'

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

Campus Center student workers set forth list of demands

cont. from p. 1

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

91.1 FM

[illegible]

Concern for possible traffic problems cited

Students react favorably to JFK library

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Daniels' funds

cont. from p. 1

[illegible]

...The desire to be free—exemplified by this [illegible] through the snow-covered fields east of Orchard Hill.

Women clerical workers seek to organize

cont. from p. 1

[illegible]

Free tax assistance offered by VITA

[illegible]

Mass summer jobs will depend on need, merit not political pull

[illegible]

Ford sees Mideast war if pact not reached

Won't tolerate delay on energy measures

TOPEKA, Kan (UPI) — President Ford said yesterday that unless progress is made toward a Middle East settlement "there is a very serious prospect of another war and another oil embargo."

The President told a news conference that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is on a "difficult assignment" and "deserves the full support of the American people and Congress" in step-by-step attempts for a negotiated Arab-Israeli settlement.

"He is more or less on an exploratory mission," Ford said at a session with reporters on his tour of the country to promote his energy and economic policies.

"There are very serious prospects of another war in the Middle East and the possibility of another oil embargo. We hope that with the secretary's efforts, we can avoid this prospect and the oil embargo."

Turning to domestic matters, Ford defended his energy conservation proposals but acknowledged "there were some gray areas."

"At least it's a program," the President said. "If there was a better program, I'm confident Congress could come up with it. I welcome an alternative program if one can be put together by the Congress, but I will not tolerate delays, I will not tolerate inaction."

As for the economy, Ford declined to specify what contingency plans he has for action if the situation worsens, but did say "I think it's important to maintain basically my deeper concern about increased federal expenditures at the present time."

"If and when other circumstances arise," he said, "I will be willing to take a look at them and make an honest judgment whether they are harmful or helpful."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (l) meets with Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis yesterday in the State House to discuss President Ford's economic proposals. Both reiterated their opposition to Ford's plan to impose a $3 a barrel tariff on imported oil.

Ford to pay farmers for higher fuel costs

TOPEKA, Kan (UPI) — Charging he and not Congress is acting to solve America's problems, President Ford told a cheering Kansas legislature yesterday he has released $2 billion in federal highway funds to create more jobs and plans to repay farmers for higher fuel costs.

Obviously elated by the most enthusiastic greeting of his campaign to sell his energy-economic program to the people, Ford dropped his text in midspeech to accuse the Democrat-controlled Congress of delaying the solving of the country's crises.

Holding a copy of his 182-page energy-economic program in his right hand, Ford waved in his left a four-page paper he said was the only response Congress had made — a move to delay his ordered $2 a barrel hike in foreign oil import fees.

"American people want something like this," Ford said, waving his program, "rather than something that goes backward like this," now wagging the paper.

"Congress ought to get rolling on this," he said, "rather than wasting his time on this."

Ford said the highway-mass transit funds will create an estimated 125,000 jobs and can be put to work by states as early as June 30. He said details of his plan to repay farmers, in the form of a rebate, for their higher fuel costs caused by his conservation programs will be announced "within the next few weeks."

Schlesinger says Pentagon urged Arab nations to hire Americans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense secretary James R. Schlesinger said yesterday Saudi Arabia and Iran at Pentagon urging had agreed to hire American civilians to train their troops in using U.S.-made weapons.

Schlesinger said the U.S. military had 66 instructors in Saudi Arabia and 129 in Iran training their forces — "and the demand is increasing."

"Accordingly, we are urging the governments of Iran and Saudi Arabia to hire U.S. civilian technicians to the greatest extent possible," Schlesinger said in his annual report to Congress.

Schlesinger's report was released yesterday but written before weekend reports that a California firm was hiring American military veterans for the training assignments.

Chairman John Stennis of the Senate Armed Services Committee said Monday the contract "raises questions" and his committee would look into it.

The Pentagon has signed a $77 million contract with the Vinnell Corp. of Alhambra, Calif., to recruit an estimated 1,000 instructors for the 26,000-man Saudi National Guard, which protects that Arab nation's oil fields.

The American instructors, expected to be mostly military veterans, will give advanced training in both American and European arms, Pentagon sources said.

A Pentagon spokesman, Army Maj. Gen. Winant Sidle, said Monday, "these fellows are just going to train them to shoot, they're not going to train them in the combat environment."

The defense secretary also indicated the U.S. Navy might have to wait in line for American F14 Tomcat fighters with Iran, which has increased its original order of 30 aircraft to 80.

US evacuates families of Cambodian diplomats

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The United States has completed evacuation of all diplomatic dependents from the beleaguered Cambodian capital, diplomatic sources said yesterday.

The sources said the group numbered six American adults who were flown out via commercial air carrier to Bangkok in neighboring Thailand.

Flights into and out of Phnom Penh continued to be dangerous, with the rebels firing rockets into the country's international airport at Pochentong again yesterday. At least seven 107 mm rockets hit the airport vicinity yesterday, wounding seven civilians.

In South Vietnam, an announcement said President Nguyen Van Thieu has granted amnesty to 404 prisoners in keeping with "the spirit of Tet" — the lunar New Year. The sentences ranged up to life imprisonment.

CALCULATOR FAIR

HEWLETT PACKARD
Texas Instruments
Rockwell International

Feb. 18
Tuesday
10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Student Union Building
Colonial Lounge

Representatives from Rockwell International, Texas Instruments and Hewlett-Packard will be present to answer your questions concerning electronic pocket calculators.

★ New Products ★

Come in and see the new calculators being offered by each of these firms. The prices on their older models have dropped as well. You may be surprised.

★ SPECIAL PRICES ★

The University Store will have special prices on a few calculators for this day as well as coupons for calculators that will be honored till the end of the month.

A consumer awareness program sponsored by university store campus center university of massachusetts/amherst

GRAND OPENING
Maxwells
FOOD! DRINK! DANCING!
The New Place To Go
[illegible]

[illegible]
Open 11 A.M.
[illegible]

BUFFET [illegible]
All you can eat
DISCOTHEQUE [illegible]

Buffet Discotheque and Breakfast
All for only [illegible]

MAXWELL'S
[illegible]

Kissinger vows to protect Israel

Superpower politics pressure downplayed

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger yesterday promised Israeli leaders the Jewish state would not be sacrificed in any disengagement pact with Egypt in the interests of superpower politics.

Speaking at an official banquet in his honor, Kissinger told ministers and legislators that Washington was not putting any pressure on Israel to reach an agreement with Cairo.

"Israel, which was built on faith, is being asked to undertake another act of faith," he said of the present negotiations. "Now the process of peace requires another act of faith — for all of us.

"We will not knowingly sacrifice Israel to the considerations of great power politics," he said.

The dinner hosted by Foreign Minister Yigal Allon followed seven and a half hours of talks in which no formal proposals were made.

Kissinger goes to Cairo Wednesday for similar talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Obviously referring to Israel's concern about giving up territory in the Sinai, Kissinger said the tangible possession of territory would have to be weighed against such intangibles as "legitimacy, recognitions and a desire for peace."

Allon described the peacemaking process as "not as quick as the cooking of instant coffee. Through patience we may achieve our ultimate goal. One can see in the distance a ray of hope.

"We are well aware that there will not be a military solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict."

Beginning the diplomatic explorations he hopes will lead to a new agreement next month, Kissinger also delivered an oral message from President Ford to Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

After seven and a half hours of talks and visit to President Ephraim Katzir this evening, Kissinger said: "Today we had a full review of the situation and of all the elements of the Israeli ideas in a very constructive, warm and cooperative atmosphere.

"As I said before I came here, I am making no attempt at this state to engage in actual negotiations. At this stage, I'm trying to get a full understanding of all the nuances of each side's position."

Author testifies that fetus already dead

BOSTON (UPI) — The author of a medical text testified Tuesday "the fetus was dead" before an abortion which lead to Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin's indictment for its manslaughter.

Dr. Jack A. Pritchard restated that opinion after Judge James P. McGuire warned against basing it on "surmise or conjecture."

Pritchard, author on the standard text "Williams on Obstetrics," said his opinion was based on the presence of blood in the premature fetal lungs indicating earlier attempts at inducing miscarriage by non-surgical means resulted in hemorrhaging within the unborn organism.

On Oct. 3, 1973 Edelin, 36, then chief resident obstetrician at Boston City Hospital, performed the abortion by hysterotomy, removing the fetus through uterine and abdominal incisions, after the failure of repeated efforts at inducing miscarriage non-surgically.

"I believe the fetus was dead at the time of the hysterotomy," Pritchard told the 12 man, three woman Suffolk Superior court jury.

summer in europe CHARTERS [illegible]
1/2 [illegible]

British Party elects woman as leader

LONDON (UPI) — Margaret Thatcher, a blonde housewife frequently called the Barry Goldwater of British politics, was elected leader of the opposition Conservative party yesterday.

Her victory made her Britain's first woman party chief and put her in the running to become the country's first woman prime minister.

Mrs. Thatcher, 49, education secretary in the 1970-74 government of former Prime Minister Edward Heath, won the party's top spot on the second round of balloting with 146 votes, seven more than the absolute majority of 139. William Whitelaw, her closest challenger, trailed with 79 votes.

Mrs. Thatcher succeeds Heath as party leader. He resigned last week after she upset him in the first round of voting by the 276 Conservative members of Parliament.

Before the election, Mrs. Thatcher, the mother of 21-year-old twins, was criticized for her right-wing political views, her upper class accent and the "suburban housewife" image she was said to project.

Her critics said she would lose votes for the party in a general election not so much because she was a woman but because she appeared to represent only a small middle class section of society.

[illegible]

news summary

Dukakis to use fund

BOSTON (AP) — The Democratic State Committee will administer a personal political expense fund for Gov. Michael S. Dukakis to dip into periodically during his four-year term.

Dukakis aides have decided to turn over the governor's 1974 campaign fund surplus to the committee, and thus avoid setting up a personal fund-raising committee for Dukakis.

The $1 million Dukakis gubernatorial campaign ended with a surplus of about $60,000, according to Attorney Francis X. Meaney, head of the Dukakis campaign committee. However, Meaney said all but $3,500 to $4,500 of the surplus was eaten up by the new governor's expenses for transitional offices and staff.

CIA plan denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James J. Angleton said yesterday when he was CIA counter intelligence chief he was unaware that a unit was involved in domestic affairs but since learning details he had no objections.

Angleton said in a telephone interview from his Virginia home that "in terms of our business, we operate on a need to know basis," so he was not informed of CIA domestic operations run by Richard Ober, also attached to the counter intelligence department.

Ethiopians flee

ASMARA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Thousands of refugees yesterday [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

2ND Annual St. Valentine's Day Price Massacre!

2 great floors of pants & tops for men & women —featuring famous brands you know & trust ... like Levi, Landlubber, Wrangler, & Lee ...
—and with a lot of it on sale, now's the time to stock up early!

the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
[illegible]

TONIGHT
The GREAT PRETENDERS
[illegible]
[illegible]
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

VALENTINE'S DAY SALE

Quantities are limited All items are new, some are factory reconditioned

Amplifiers and Receivers

	Regularly	Sale
Pioneer SA8100 44 watts per channel	349	284
Pioneer Project 300 8 watts per channel	199	129
Pioneer SA5200 10 watts per channel	139	84
Sherwood 7900A 60 watts per channel AM/FM Receiver	479	375
Sansui 4500 four channel AM/FM Receiver	500	250
JVC5406 AM/FM Receiver	299	199
Fisher 180 AM/FM Receiver 20 watts per channel	349	199
Fisher 222 AM/FM Receiver 22 watts per channel	299	249
Fisher 304 AM/FM Four channel receiver	329	225
Pioneer QX8000 AM/FM Four channel receiver	500	289

Speakers

	Regularly	Sale
JBL-88 2 way system	249	198
KLH Model 23 2 way system	159	79
AR-6	99	48
AR-8	119	99
Interaudio 4000	198	129
Interaudio 3000	149	89
Selden Sound Model 9	25	15
AR-2AX	168	99
Utah WP2000	139	69
HSIC	119	60

Headphones

	Regularly	Sale
Sharpe 660D Headsets	60	30
Superex ST Pro	60	34
Scintrex 88	39	25
Scintrex 98	49	30
Pickering OA-1	19	13
Pioneer SEL20A	39	19
Pioneer SEL201	35	21
Pioneer SEL40	50	30

Automobile 8 Track Tape Decks

	Regularly	Sale
Panasonic CX475EU	69	49
Panasonic CX325EU	49	39
Gibbs	59	29

Turntables

	Regularly	Sale
Pioneer PL10 manual	99	79
PL120 manual	119	99
PL35 manual	149	124
PL25 manual	139	99
PL61 manual	299	188
Dual 1229 automatic	259	200
1214 automatic	119	99
ARXB manual	184	109

Tape Decks

	Regularly	Sale
Pac 650 8 Track Playback deck	59	29
Teac 220 Cassette deck	240	165
Pioneer CT3131 Cassette	179	114
Teac 210	179	129
Panasonic RS262US Cassette	114	89
Pioneer QT3100 8 Track 4-channel deck	250	169

Miscellaneous

	Regularly	Sale
Memorex C60 Cassette Tape	2	1
Solar Cassette Players	29	19
Headphone extension	6	4

selden sound incorporated

Lafayette

FIVE COLLEGE SUMMER FLIGHT

Boston-London round-trip only $[illegible]. June 16-August 20, Pan Am Boeing 707. Early sign-up urged. Contact INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS OFFICE, 239 Whitmore, Tel. [illegible], for application. The only authorized Five College flight.

Information offered on study abroad

The International Programs Office and the Foreign Student Office are located at 239 Whitmore and are open Monday through Friday from nine until five.

These organizations provide the facilities and resources to guide over 400 University of Massachusetts students toward an experience abroad while hosting over five hundred international students at the Amherst campus.

Any UMass student may use and participate in the various programs offered by the International Programs and Foreign Student Offices.

Meeting for faculty union

All faculty and professional staff are invited to a union organizing meeting at 4:00 this afternoon in the Campus Center, room [illegible].

Finast SUPERMARKETS

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

CLIP THESE VALUABLE MONEY-SAVING COUPONS!

Hudson Big-H Towels	Del Monte Light Tuna	Fab Detergent	Hellmann's Mayonnaise
3 for $1	39¢	99¢	89¢

Canadian Fillet of Sole 98¢

Jumbo Smelts 65¢

Fish Cakes 59¢
King Crab Claws 1.79
Fresh Oysters 1.19
Cleaned Squid 1.09
Smoked Cod Fillet 1.19
Fresh Clams 69¢
Jumbo Shrimp 2.99
Flounder 1.19
Haddock 1.19

Impt. Ham 99¢

American Cheese 1.19
Luncheon Sausage 1.09
Dandy Loaf 99¢
Roast Beef 1.39

Boneless Beef Bottom Round or Shoulder ROASTS 1.28

Beef Chuck 7-Bone Steaks or Roasts 68¢

Beef Chuck Underblade Steaks or Roasts 88¢

Extra Trim Beef Rib Roast 1.28

Beef Chuck for Stew 1.28
Beef Chuck Short Ribs 1.08
Beef Chuck Ground 98¢
Beef Round Ground 1.08

Beef Loin Sirloin Steaks 1.28

Porterhouse or T-Bone Steak 1.48

Extra Trim Beef Rib Steaks 1.38

Boneless Shoulder Steaks 1.38

Beef Chuck Cube Steak 1.48
Beef Round Cube Steak 1.58
Top Round Steak 1.38
Round Tip Steak 1.38

Pork Loin Center Cut Pork Chops 1.29

Pork Loin Assorted Chops 99¢

Pork Loin Ribs 99¢
Pork Roast 1.29
Boneless Ham 1.39

Chicken Legs 79¢
Chicken Breasts 89¢
Chicken Breast 1.28

Muellers Elbow Macaroni 38¢

Del Monte Light Chunk Tuna 39¢ With Coupon Above

Finast Buttermilk Biscuits 8 for $1

Hudson Big-H Towels 3 for $1 With Coupon Above

Finast Hot Dog or Hamburg Rolls 3 for $1

Bread 1.00
English Muffins 1.00
Cherry Pies 89¢

Kraft American Cheese 89¢

Milk 89¢
Orange Juice 39¢
Whipride 59¢

Taste O' Sea Fish Cake Dinner 3 for $1

French Fries 2 for 49¢

Shrimp Patties 89¢
Macaroni & Cheese 1.00
Cheese Pizza 99¢
Sweet Peas 73¢
Cod Fillet 1.28
Cream Pies 63¢

Granulated Sugar 5 lb bag 2.49

Peanut Butter 1.29

Tomato Soup 6 for $1

Bathroom Tissue 4 for 67¢

Finast Butter 77¢

Orange Juice 2 for 69¢

McIntosh Apples 3 lb bag 59¢

Potatoes 49¢
Yellow Turnip 15¢
Fresh Lemons 59¢

Grapefruit 5 for $1

Mum Plants 2.99

DAY CARE CENTERS: Creative Care for Creative Kids

By SANDY CARLIN
Staff Reporter

Located on the UMass campus are a variety of day schools and day care centers that are available to the children of UMass students and faculty.

The North Village Children's Center, located in Apartment J-16 in North Village, which is a housing development for married UMass students, is one such of these day care centers.

The Center now holds two sessions serving 15 children in the morning from 8:30-12:30 and twelve children in the afternoon from 2:00-4:30. According to the Center's Director, Janice Rewak, the children who are presently enrolled in the center are children of UMass undergraduates.

Director Rewak said, "What is done at the Center is orientated to the relevancy of the children." She said, "If the children express a particular interest in something, then we pursue it." Although the center does try to prepare the four year olds for kindergarten, says Ms. Rewak, the school "tries to promote the personal growth of the children."

The North Village Children's Center is staffed by the director, an assistant head teacher, two work-study students and student interns from various departments within the University. The Center, operating from a [illegible] apartment is $120 per semester for the morning session and $100 per semester for the afternoon.

Another UMass day school is the University Day School located in [illegible] Hall. This school also operates within two sessions from 8:30-12:30 and from 1:30 to 5:30. The school enrolls children between the ages of 2 years 9 months to 5 years old. There are two groups of children in each session, with between 20 and 25 children in each group.

Day School Director, Betty Blaine said that the curriculum is based on the "needs and responses of the children", with the older children sometimes working at reading. Director Blaine felt that an interesting part of the curriculum was that the children were able to participate in cooking different types of food.

The Day School is staffed by student teachers who are supervised by four faculty members of the UMass School of Education as well as a full-time teacher's aid and a secretary.

Ms. Blaine commented that the school "is able to benefit from its location within the University because many students will come in and sing or dance for the children."

The Human Development Lab School located in Skinner Hall, is another two session day school. Lab School Director Dr. Grace Craig said, "We hope to have a broadly based educational process for the children at the Lab School."

According to Dr. Craig, the school accepts children from other segments of the community aside from the children of the UMass academic community. Dr. Craig speculated that 70 per cent of the children enrolled are from the University community and about 20-30 per cent are from town or area families.

The school employs five part time lecturers who are considered academic appointments of the University and also has student teaching teams who are presently studying in the human development major.

Dr. Craig said that included in the curriculum at the Lab School are arts, sciences, ecology and that the "open classroom" for which the school is run provides a "rich educational environment because [illegible]

Story by Sandy Carlin

Photos by Roberta Martone

New JS course claimed to be useful in exposing con jobs

By [illegible]
Progressive News Service

The time and place have finally come together for a course on propaganda this semester. Frank Faulkner will teach the seminar, 'The Press in Viet Nam', Journalistic Studies 397. The time has been slated for Fridays between 10 a.m. and 12 noon. The course may be of special interest to veterans or anyone who wishes understanding of the 'informational war' in Viet Nam.

Propaganda and planning of information is not restricted to Viet Nam or the peoples of the U.S.; it is the logical outcome of governments who must conceal and dupe their people to carry out its ends.

Commentary

Daniel Ellsberg claims that "Watergate is just another chapter in the Viet Nam War". It is fairly clear that the Viet Nam War is not over in any sense. Yet, we have "planners" who proclaim that truth. How do we know whose fiction?

There is a proposal requesting $[illegible] in aid to Viet Nam in Congress now. Some people can remember the proposal of '63 intended for domestic aid. The money aid of '63 and subsequent years went toward military defence objectives in South Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos, including private protection of special corporate interests.

The author, Theodore Draper, has maintained since early 60's that the U.S. has "abused" and mismanaged its power in South East Asia to the point of not being able to "give" domestic support without it being converted to military might. Someone called it "imperialism" the other day.

"Are [illegible] dollars start it all over again?" Before anyone can make a decision on any of the Nam issues or international affairs, he/she needs to know the nature of the information. That means a knowledge of propaganda and information planning along with a notion of whose needs these directives serve.

Frank Faulkner will lead the seminar. He went to Nam in '66 with the 101st Airborne Division, head of the P.I.O. as the press secretary. His function was to supply the "Armed Forces News". He was discharged in Saigon in [illegible] and returned in 1967 with the Department of Defense working for U.P.I. news service. Frank saw both sides of the "informational war."

In the U.S., Frank has received a B.S. degree in "public relations management". The academic world would say he is trained and "titled" to be a propagandist. His experiences have been in that field. So have most government, school, and foreign affairs matters.

The course can expose verbal con jobs that attempt to dupe and manipulate us.

For information about J.S. 397, call Frank at [illegible] or the Veterans Coalition in the Student Union. The study will involve two short papers and a final project, all to be discussed. The [illegible] will be the content of a final [illegible] relevant points discussed.

A course like this one should be the beginning of college studies so students have the skills to decipher the "academic rap". The course is near the end; it tries to put together that rap along with some of the manifold impressions and notions from Viet Nam. Politically controlled media do not have to be the directors of community and group purposes.

Now appearing at the
THE SPEAK OUT
LITTLE FIRE
Wed. — Sat.
Happy Hour 4:30 - 7:00 Mon. - Sat.
at the Speakeasy Lounge.

Commuter Computer Carpooling
Day Care Center support
Outreach, late-nite & weekend bus service
Off-campus housing office
UMass tenants' association (married student housing)
Pioneer Valley Tenants' Association
State Rent Control Task Force
Colloquia Programs
Tenants' Survival Kit
Food Stamp Program
AND YOU THOUGHT
THE COMMUTER ASSEMBLY WAS JUST A LOUNGE!

STUDENT ORGANIZING PROJECT

HELP FORMULATE THE STUDENT UNIONIZATION INTERIM PLATFORM

The Student Organizing Project is in the process of defining an "interim platform" – that is a platform which can serve as an example of the kind of things which a student union would seek to gain for students. Ideas and issues for the platform are being solicited from all individuals and groups. The issues which will be emphasized this Spring will be decided at an SOP Community Meeting, Tuesday, February 18, of all interested people. The meeting will be held in Hampden Student Center Auditorium (Southwest) at 6:30 p.m. (Meeting Place Tentative)
Examples of issues which we might want to address include:

– the proposed tuition hike
– the proposed general fee
– budget cuts which affect student oriented programs – an end to mandatory dorm residence – student control of their dormitories
– a larger role in academic departments for students
– rent control and tenant's unions

These are only a few of the possibilities. A student union platform could include positions on virtually anything which affects student life and learning here at the university. Let us know your pet peeve about the university, the small and large ones. The issues enumerated above are only a small start.

HELP DECIDE THE ISSUES!
MAKE THE UNIVERSITY BE WHAT YOU WANT IT TO BE!

Bring your suggestions by the SOP office, [illegible] Student Union Building before Tuesday, February 18, at 5 p.m.
The Student Organizing Project is in the process of defining an "interim platform"

RSO and Five-College groups

Ahora

AHORA is the UMass Hispanic student organization. It is an RSO group that is funded by the Student Senate. Its activities include: Puerto Rican-Latin American Weeks, generally held in the Spring semester; publication of the bilingual newspaper, The Massachusetts Era Latina; maintaining a resource Center at the "Centro Hispano," located on the 19th floor of George Washington Dorm to serve the academic-recreational needs of the UMass Hispanic student community; and assistance in the recruitment of Spanish speaking students for the Bilingual College Program. AHORA meets bi-monthly on Tuesdays or Thursdays. The place of meeting will be announced. The meetings are open to undergrad and grad students. Fluency in Spanish would be helpful, but not a [illegible]. AHORA's president is Arturo Brito.

Akido

The AIKIDO Club is a UMass organization that promotes the philosophy and practice of the art of AIKIDO. It has approximately 40 members and meets in the Boyden Wrestling Room, 2nd floor of Boyden Gym, Wed. and Fri. evenings from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday afternoon from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. AIKIDO requires membership dues: $15 for the initial semester, $10 for each semester thereafter and $5 for the summer. The president is Kathy Ryan c/o Office of Transfer Affairs, 238 Whitmore 545-[illegible].

Amherst Radio

WAMH, Amherst College radio, is a student activity licensed by the FCC as a noncommercial educational station operating on 89.3 FM. We produce anything of interest to the public; entertainment occupies 85 percent of our airtime but talent time slots go to imaginative and public affairs programs.

WAMH is located in Pratt Hall basement, just behind Converse Hall.

Membership: 80 regular participants, 50 occasional participants, 150 additional people receiving by request our staff newsletter. All welcome.

Anyone volunteering to participate in management is welcome Sundays at 7:30 p.m. during school term. (Executive positions turn over in January.) Messages for anyone in the management can be left at 542-2224 at all times.

We broadcast College events such as many sports, visiting lecturers, and college meetings and debates of open forums. We broadcast live musicians, news reporters, student leaders, and guests doing their thing. We air 20 hours daily of rock, folk, jazz, classical, country, and experimental music with the emphasis on culturally represented trends.

Non-management people must as desired, see bulletin board for training, airtime schedules, production studio (prerecorded stuff), and other plans.

Asian-Am Association

The A.A.S.A. at UMass is an organization which has approximately 30 members and works to sponsor events in the interests of the Asian community.

The three co-chair persons are Karen Yee (301 Field, 546-[illegible]), Russell Chin (1107 John Adams, 546-[illegible]), and Michael Tanigawa (716 John Adams, 546-[illegible]).

Two of the major activities which the A.A.S.A. has participated in were the Asian Festival last spring held at Mt. Holyoke, and the New England Region I Asian Students Conference, held December 4-8 this winter.

The Asian Festival was an event sponsored by the Five-College Coalition, an organization of the Asian students of all the five colleges. The festival focused upon the arts such as painting, origami, films, Asian cooking, and demonstrations in the martial arts. There is another festival planned for the coming spring.

The New England Regional Asian Students Conference was a long weekend of events held as a cultural and educational experience for the community.

Astronomy Club

The UMass Astronomy Club has twelve members. It's president is Joel Leonard, 1609 John F. Kennedy. Phone 546-[illegible].

Requirements for membership are an interest in amateur astronomy and a willingness to work with other members for the growth and expansion of the club. Dues are one dollar per school year.

Club activities include Star Parties at the Orchard Hill Observatory (open to the public), mirror grinding, astro photography, observational sessions, and occasional club trips to places of interest. The members are also requested to help at showings of club movies.

Belchertown School

Volunteering at Belchertown State School. To volunteer, one should be an individual interested in interacting with people, extending respect and friendship.

Belchertown Volunteers is an R.S.O. group, whose members spend Saturday afternoons with residents of Belchertown on the state school grounds or on outings to UMass or recreational areas. A bus to Belchertown leaves every Saturday from [illegible] Hall (in front of Whitmore) at 12:45 and returns to campus by 4:00 p.m. The first bus leaves Saturday Feb. 8th. Any questions??? 253-2722.

Caucus of Gay Women

During the year we provide coffee houses, dances, and a women's rap group. We also provide semi-professional counseling for women. We have been meeting every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. Rooms are listed near the elevator.

Our office is located in room 413b in the Student Union. The office includes a wide selection of Gay and Women's Liberation periodicals as well as a small library of books.

The Treasurer of the organization is Diane [illegible] and can be contacted through the office phone which is 545-[illegible].

You know what Valentines Day means to her

now show her what it means to you

for fine gifts and jewelry

BAKER-WINN

Jewelers

South Pleasant St. Amherst

COMMUTER ASSEMBLY ELECTIONS

If you are a commuter student and would like to work with tenant unions, day care centers, on state-wide rent control, a monthly magazine, to name a few, there are 3 openings on the Commuter Assembly Executive Council.

NOMINATION PAPER AVAILABLE NOW

Commuter Lounge, Rm. 216 Student Union, Due Feb. 21st

Elections held on February 25th & 26th

And you don't have to be on the executive council to get INVOLVED!

Valentine Cards

American Greetings

Creative Excellence in an American Tradition

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY IS THIS FRIDAY

UNIVERSITY STORE campus center

Studio 75

University Theater

AS YOU LIKE IT

by

William Shakespeare

Feb. 13, 14 & 15 8:00 p.m.

Feb. 16 2:00 p.m. Matinee

Box office opens at 6:30 p.m. for evening performances and 12:30 for matinees.

Call 545-2511 for reservations.

Fine Arts Center

RSO groups

Bicycle Club

The Bicycle club organizes day trips in the region around Amherst, overnight trips in other areas (such as Cape Cod), races in the Amherst area in co-operation with A.B.L.A. (Amateur Bicycle League of America), Clubs (for A.B.L.A. sanction), training rides, bulk purchases of major equipment, Club discounts at area bikeshops, and workshops for simple bicycle repair and maintenance.

Membership is $1 per semester. Michael Steel ([illegible] Dickinson) is President.

The first meeting of the semester will be Tuesday February 4th at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. The room number will be posted on the building schedule. Everyone is invited to come.

C.E.Q.

The Coalition for Environmental Quality is an organization whose goal is to create a general awareness on campus and in the Amherst community of environmental problems, their causes and their solutions. The group is funded by the Student Senate. Its budget for fall '74 and spring '75 totals [illegible].

Some of the programs that CEQ has been involved in are benefit concerts for anti-nuclear power groups, an alternate energy conference, a nuclear symposium, guest lecturers, and movie and slide presentations. The group meets every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. in the Council Chamber (Room 420) of the student union. The office is located in Room 420D of the Student Union; the telephone number is 545-[illegible].

The president of CEQ is Carolyn [illegible], 303 Emerson.

U.S.C.C.

The initials USCC stand for University and State Communications Council. We are a group composed of students interested in the legislative process. We lobby around a variety of student issues such as tuition hikes, student unionization, rent control, student confidential files, etc. both in Boston and locally.

We have contact with a network of other lobbying groups and are setting up a filing system with information pertaining to our interests.

ALL SINGLE ALBUMS

$4.17 EACH

Latest Releases — Top Artists

we also,

BUY, SELL, & TRADE USED ALBUMS

SUNSHINE RECORDS

No. 9 E. Pleasant St.

(4 doors from the Pub)

$992,395.99

OF YOUR MONEY

Find out where it's being spent.

ATTEND

STUDENT SENATE MEETINGS

TONIGHT 7 p.m. RM. 113 CAMP. CTR.

Council for Exceptional Children

Council for Exceptional Children. About 70 members. Mike 253-[illegible], Marie 253-[illegible].

Membership dues are $8 annually for the local chapter.

Workshops regarding needs of exceptional children and individuals. Pending water therapy program for exceptional children. (need volunteers)

The Council meets on Sundays at 8:00 p.m. Dates are announced in the Collegian or outside of Room 108 School of Ed.

University Court

The University Court consists of judges and advocates. Our jurisdiction extends over all undergraduates. Typical cases involve parties such as Senate vs. RSO group, individual vs. RSO group, individual vs. the Collegian, individual vs. individual. Advocates do the lawyer's work; judges have the responsibility of handing down decisions. If you have any cases or want to become a member, contact Cindi [illegible], Attorney General, 405 Student Union, 545-[illegible].

5-College Board

Five-College Student Coordinating Board has 19 members, three representatives from each college and four officers.

The Five-College Student Coordinating Board is a group of students who meet weekly to improve academic, cultural, and social cooperation among the schools in the Valley. The Board is active in the operation of the Five-College bus system, participating in scheduling and financing. The FCSCB publishes the Five-College Information Booklet in the fall of each year and sponsors an outdoor orientation concert during the first weekend in September. Throughout the academic year, the Board encourages the establishment of Five-College organizations that meet the particular interests of students in the Valley. This year the FCSCB has been working on better coordination of academic calendars, better use of Interterm, and better contact with the area communities in the formation of a regional mass transit system.

New members are selected by the officers in February of each year, and interested students should contact John B. [illegible], Chairman, 542-2177.

Collegiate Flying Club

The Collegiate Flying Club is made up of pilots and perspective pilots in the five-college community. This past semester the club entered into a lease arrangement for their own plane to enable club members to fly at a 40 per cent cost reduction from the normal charge of commercial operations. Also, the club started an extensive pilot training program for club members. Other events that the Collegiate Flying Club held this semester included a flying meet and a presentation by a representative of the Massachusetts Aeronautical Commission. Approximately 75 people are members of the club which charges $3.00 per semester for membership dues. At the present time, other sources of funding are being investigated to pay for the cost of the club's airplane. Monthly meetings are held in the Campus Center on the first Wednesday in every month. Richard Garner, 167 King Phillips Apts., Sunderland, 665-[illegible], is the club president and the advisor is James O'Connell, Box 326, North Amherst, 549-[illegible].

Forensic Services

The Forensic Services Club now is made up of approximately thirty-five to fourty members. The organization has several programs within the framework of the whole organization. The main group within the club is the tournament debate team. There are about twenty members of the club that are involved in tournament debate. These people have been competing on the inter-collegiate level. The tournament squad has been successful several times this year and have brought back trophies from several big tournaments, such as M.I.T., Georgetown, and Wake Forest.

The other important part of the organization is the joint Individual Events and Public Debate Team. There are about fifteen members of this squad, all with highly diversified interests and abilities. The Individual Events people have just begun their program this year and after only three tournaments, have brought back eighteen trophies and they have succeeded in making a reputation for themselves on the east coast. The Public Debate Team has been to several high schools in Massachusetts to put on demonstration debates on topics such as Nuclear power, Gun Control, and Capitol Punishment.

For information about any part or all of the club, call 545-2050. With regard to tournament debate speak with Tim Hynes or any tournament coach. For individual events, speak with Mike McCombridge, or Jean Gauman. Drop in at 126 South College, UMass, and see us.

Fraternal Dump Association

The UMass chapter of the Fraternal Dump Association is a part of the worldwide FDA. Its purpose as a Campus Organization is to promote the social and recreational potential of dumps, as well as to nurture standards for improved dumping facilities. Meetings are held at random. Activities include dump inspections, field trips by land or canoe, and a "Miss Dumpy Contest". FDA has also co-sponsored a drive for a Bottle Ban in Massachusetts.

Those interested may call Tom Ericson or Chip Dale at 6-5862.

Hellenic-American Association

The Hellenic-American Association. The president is Aris [illegible], 312 Thatcher, 546-[illegible].

The Association has been established this last fall and all officers are serving temporarily pending elections in February.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS are all students of Greek descent become voting members. All others, non-voting. The Hellenic-American Association is open to all persons in the five-college area.

In the fall semester, there were three lectures and four parties with live bands, slides and-or movies. The spring semester will be equally active.

UMass Coin Club

UMass Coin Club (16-20 members). The chairman is Mike [illegible], 304 North Pleasant St., 5-[illegible].

The sources of funds are RSO, coin auctions, and dues ($2 upon membership).

The specific activities: Coin raffles, coin auctions, coin identification, and dispersion of information concerning coin-related activities.

The Coin Club meets every other Thursday 7:10 p.m. in the Campus Center. Exact location will be published in the Collegian Informand.

St. Valentine's Day

GAY DANCE

FRI., FEB. 14

Farley Lodge

8 p.m.–1 a.m.

75¢ SHL

Student Homophile League

INSTRUCTIONAL CENTER IN GUADALAJARA, MEXICO

Summer, Fall, Winter & Spring Quarters

SUMMER CURRICULUM (June 17 – August 15, 1975)

Understanding Art
Photography I & II
Pottery, Glass Blowing
Painting
Design Metal, Design Fabric
Mexican Civilization*
Folklore of Mexico
Indian Cultures
Comparative Law
Peasant Societies
Mesoamerican Pre-History
Comparative Cultures
Guitar Instruction
1st & 2nd Year Spanish*
Intensive Spanish I & II
Sp. Am. Lit. 19th & 20th Century* *taught in Spanish

Workshop on Mexican Culture (July 18-August 15) series of lectures by experts on Mexican society & culture, current & past. Participants, with students in the Mesoamerican Pre-History course, will take a 2-week field trip to the Yucatan to visit the archaeological sites of Teotihuacan, Tres Zapotes, Palenque, Uxmal, Chichen Itza, Monte Alban, Mitla, and will also visit the Museum of Anthropology in Mexico City.

COST: Non-Resident Tuition & Fees: Summer $[illegible], Fall & Spring $[illegible], Winter $[illegible]. Housing w/family $[illegible]/month, other cost extra.

CONTACT: International Programs, Central Washington State College, Ellensburg, WA 98926. Phone (509) 963-[illegible].

Letters to the editor

Minorities have paid

To the Editor:

By now the University community is probably trying to decide what it is that is going on in the Puerto Rican community here. Some might be saying that it is a rhetorical battle to see who talks and writes the best. Others might be elated as we, more and more, give the impression that the community is fragmented. This "discord" among us makes the friends of oppression happy, for they know that divided we shall not stand. For the most part, I feel that a good number of Americans and Puerto Ricans don't sympathize with Mr. Segarra's letter of Feb. 10.

The letter is one that degrades the Puerto Rican community [illegible]

Juan Cruz

Revolution is still around

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Unity in struggle

To the Editor:

[illegible]

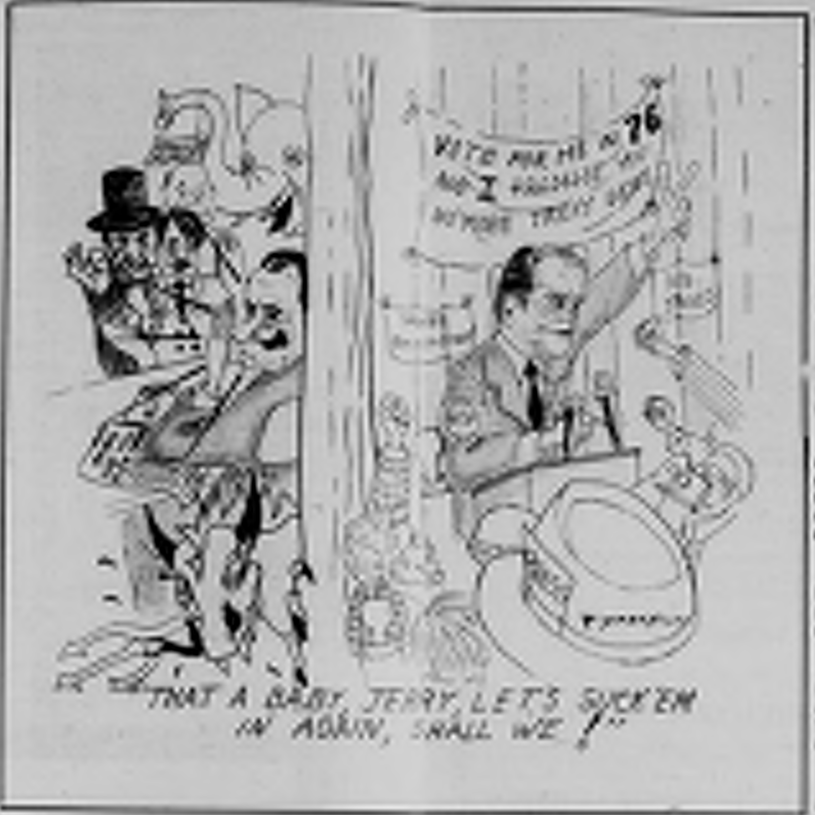
Providencia Mojica

One monstrosity is enough!

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Peter A. Thomas



VOTE FOR ME IN '76 AND I PROMISE [illegible] NO MORE TRICKY [illegible]
"THAT A BABY, JERRY, LET'S SUCK 'EM IN AGAIN, SHALL WE!"

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

HELP PLAN A MASSIVE RESPONSE TO THE RACIST OFFENSIVE IN BOSTON!

Attend the National Student Conference Against Racism February 14-16, Boston University, Boston, Mass.

DESEGREGATE BOSTON SCHOOLS

SPEAKERS

LUIS FUENTES
THOMAS ATKINS
JONATHAN KOZOL
JAMES MEREDITH
DENNIS BANKS
MARI HASEGAWA

ENTERTAINMENT:

DANNY KALB

FRI., FEB. 14, 7:30, TEACH-IN, BOSTON UNIVERSITY, HAYDEN HALL

SAT. & SUN., FEB. 15-16 CONFERENCE

[illegible]

FUNDS & VOLUNTEERS URGENTLY NEEDED

[illegible]

Reid Fishman

The vanishing drug culture

[illegible]

Reid Fishman is a Collegian Columnist

Joyce Kosofsky

No news is no news

[illegible]

Joyce Kosofsky is a Collegian Columnist

Look homeward, America

By NORM ROBINSON

[illegible]

Norm Robinson is a Collegian Commentator

Town supports JFK plans in principle

cont from p. 1

[illegible]

Covering the meter with snow won't help—the UMass cops are towing anything on wheels that is illegally parked on campus. So move it or tow it!

Othmar Schoeck is no jock

* * *

Othmar Schoeck is not a perfect master

* * *

Othmar Schoeck is not the new energy czar

* * *

Othmar Schoeck is not alive

On March 8, 1975, Othmar Schoeck will have been dead 18 years and to celebrate that THE OTHMAR SCHOECK MEMORIAL SOCIETY
for
The Preservation of Unusual and Disgusting Music will present the world famous

Beethoven Ninth Symphony

[illegible]

For Northeast area ed programs

Student coordinator sought

[illegible]

Appearing
TUES. & WED.
Ann & Eight
at Rusty Nail Inn
[illegible]

Winter Carni Events

Friday, Feb. 14, 1975 8:00 p.m. Bowker Auditorium

[illegible]

"Lady Cleo"

[illegible]

FREE CONCERT Two Groups

Saturday, Feb. 15, 1975 8:00 p.m. Student Union Ballroom

- Sulaiman Hakim and the Philadelphia Contemporary Ensemble

[illegible]

- Mickey Bass & Co-operation Sextet of New York

[illegible]

ADM. FREE

[illegible]

---

notes & quotes

Student volunteer services recruiting

[illegible]

Afro-American Society

[illegible]

The office is located at 304 New Africa House.

Kazablan film

[illegible]

Winter Carnival '75

Wednesday February 11-[illegible]

Symposium-2:30 p.m.-Webster Lounge, Orchard Hill-Charlie Parker Black Music and America with [illegible] Sponsored by Orchard Hill Music Series, Program Council, C.C. Food Service, Black Cultural Center, Provost's Office.

[illegible]

THE BEST AGAINST THE BEST
AETNA WORLD CUP
HARTFORD CIVIC CENTER

THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW

[illegible]

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 12

Fraternity System Rush

TONIGHT

[illegible]

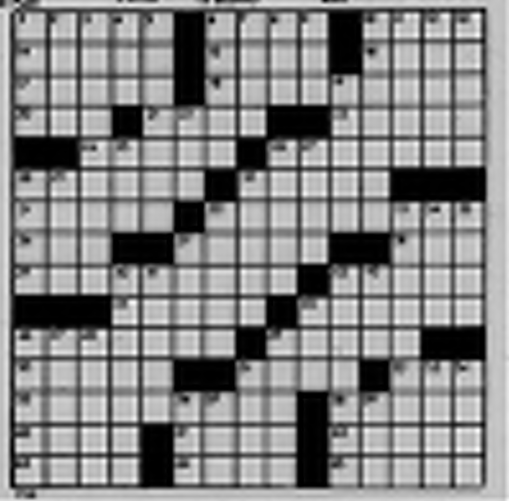
your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

[illegible]



WMUA

The disc jockeys for today are Randy Richardson, Stu MacDonald, Fran Dance, Ken Irwin and Candi Bourne.

News is broadcast at 7, 8 and 9 a.m., 2, 6 and 10 p.m. News Headlines is broadcast at 7:30 and 8:30 a.m.

8:50 a.m., High Tides.

8:40 a.m. and 9:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac.

6:15 p.m., Off The Hook: Tom [illegible] hosts a trivia show. WMUA's resident experts will be Russ Small, Gary Conons, Marc Berman and John Gallagher. Join Tom and the Experts and possibly win some prizes.

8:50 p.m., WMUA will present a live one hour concert featuring Sonny Stitt, on Sax, Reggie Workman on Bass, Barry Harris on Piano, and Alan Dawson on Drums. The concert is part of the Charles Parker Memorial Residency at UMass.

10:30, We the People: Tonight's program will focus on Chile. And for those who missed "A Tribute To Max Roach Day" there will be a special version of this celebration.

Notices

cont. from p. 17

[illegible]

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

"[illegible] are forever ...unless you help." [illegible]

[illegible]

THE PAPER HOUSE
65 University Drive

[illegible]

notices

[illegible]

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

Mountain Farms Mall in Hadley

Beer and Wine Shoppe!

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer 4.99 case 24-12 oz [illegible]

Korbel [illegible] 2.[illegible]
Masi Soave [illegible] 2.[illegible]
Paul Masson [illegible] 3.[illegible]
Paul Masson [illegible] 1.[illegible]
Rose Garden [illegible] 1.[illegible]
Roederust [illegible] 1.[illegible]
Grunberger [illegible] 1.[illegible]

Sangrole Sangria 1.69

Finast SUPERMARKETS

university of massachusetts arts council presents

Israel Chamber Orchestra [illegible]

The Hartford Ballet [illegible]

UMOC cross country skiing this weekend

This weekend join the Outing Club for two days of cross country skiing.

On Saturday February 15, there will be a race for the more serious skier, which will be run according to the Eastern Ski Assoc. rules.

Sunday, for the more relaxed ski enthusiast there will be a mass start touring race.

Trophies will be awarded to first place finishers in both male and female divisions. However, don't feel discouraged certificates of participation will be administered to all participants and refreshing oranges will be served afterwards.

The races are to be run on the newly improved Outing Club Cross Country Ski Trail which is located at the end of parking lot number 13 (adjacent to the baseball field).

The trail is approximately 3 kilometers long and parallels the Mill River.

A 50 cent registration fee will be charged to help cover the cost of each days activities. We are looking forward to having a fine cross country ski get together, join us.

Unpaid bill, illegal decal to cause tow

Unpaid student bills for parking will result in parking decals being reported to Security as illegal. Vehicles with illegal decals are subject to towing. If the decal is no longer to be used, return it, so the outstanding bill will be cancelled.

Individuals with unpaid parking bills and outstanding tickets will not be allowed to register their vehicles with the parking office for Fall '75'.

film times

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
Fantasia - 6:15-8:30
Harry and Tonto - 6:15-8:30
Blazing Saddles - 6:30-8:30
Challenge to be Free - 6:30-8:30
AMHERST CINEMA
The Wild Child - 7:00
Stolen Kisses - 8:30

Children $1.25 All Shows
EASTFIELD MALL Cinema
BOSTON RD. (U.S. 20 at RT. 21)
Con't. Shows Daily
1-3-5-7:15-9:15
WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS' THE STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD
Technicolor G
Bargain Mat. Til 2 p.m. — $1.25

584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR HADLEY, MA
PETER FINCH LIV ULLMANN
THE ABDICATION
PG ①
6:30, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 6:00-6:30 Only

NOW THE TV CRITICS MAKE IT UNANIMOUS
"'Le Sex Shop' is not for children, but it is for adults who can smile through a nude, but never dirty lampoon of pornographic movies. 'Le Sex Shop' has been made by Claude Berri with a twinkle in his eye, his tongue in his cheek and laughs all over the place." —Gene Shalit, WNBC-TV
"Totally delightful! There is much nudity and simulated sex in this film, but if your wife, or husband has never seen an X-rated movie, 'Le Sex Shop' is the one to take her, or him to. It is wholesome, refreshing and deliciously funny satire." —Stewart Klein, WNEW-TV
"This charming French comedy, is the first really sophisticated X-rated movie shown, and proves that sex is not just fun but that it also can be very funny." —Kevin Sanders, WABC-TV
"'Le Sex Shop' is the cleanest X-rated movie I have ever seen. It's a film that even the Burger Court could love." —Leonard Harris, WCBS-TV
X

CLAUDE BERRI'S LE SEX SHOP
②
6:30, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 6:00-6:30 Only

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE

WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA

FOR GROUP INFORMATION CALL 584-9154
③ G 6:15, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 5:45-6:15 Only

James Caan Alan Arkin
Freebie and the Bean
④ R 6:15, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 5:45-6:15 Only
Treat your favorite date to a night at the movies.
Bring this ad on 2/14/75 and receive 2 free sodas and a Valentine Heart.
TIMES CHANGE DAILY

AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST. 253-5426
NOW Now
Rome. Before Christ. After Fellini.
X
"FELLINI SATYRICON"
The Fall of the Roman Empire
"FELLINI'S ROMA"

SHOWPLACE
EVES 7:00 - 9:15
"A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!"
PG
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"

CABARET
ILSA

Shelburne Falls creative arts festival

The UMass Percussion Ensemble will be featured in a free concert at the Mohawk Trail Regional High School in Shelburne Falls at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 13. The concert is part of Mohawk Trail's second annual Creative Arts Festival. The junior high school band will also perform, and an exhibition of paintings, drawings, prints, two-and three-dimensional design works and photographs will be open to the public on Thursday evening.

The Percussion Ensemble's program will include the Percussion Movement from Alexander Tcherepnin's Symphony Number One (1927); Streams by Warren Benson (1968); Anaglyphos, Opus 51 (1969) by William Kersters; and El Races de la Camptown, and Stompin' Thru the Rye, arranged by Thomas Davis. The Creative Arts Festival is a week-long series of special events and exhibits created by the students themselves and by professional and semi-professional artists from the region such as the University Dancers, and Ms. Shirley Measures, and Actress with Stage West and an original cast member of the Our Gang comedy series.

The visual arts exhibit in the Resource Center will be open to the public on Monday night, February 3, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., as well as on Thursday the 7th. Both the Thursday concert and the exhibit are open to the public free of charge.

Mohawk Trail Regional High School is on Route 112 in Shelburne Falls, Mass. For further information about the Creative Arts Festival, contact Martin Swist, Coordinator of Student Activities, at (413) 625-2516.

TV tonight

5:30 GREEN ACRES "The Confrontation." (18)
VILLA ALEGRE (24) (57)
HOGAN'S HEROES "Wet Money." (20)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (40)
GILLIGAN'S ISLAND (56)
6:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
ACTION NEWS (8)
THE CHAMPIONS "The Beginning." (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
THE ELECTRIC COMPANY (24) (57)
SERGEANT BILKO "Bilko Joins the Navy." (27)
BONANZA "The Stalker." (40)
LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE (56)
6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (22) (30)
ITV TEACHER PREVIEW (24)
MOVIE "Broken Arrow." (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
ZOOM! (57)
6:45 ECONOMICS 201 (24)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES Bob Barker, host (8)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW "The Curse of the Petrie People." (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
TO TELL THE TRUTH Garry Moore, host (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
ROMAGNOLI'S TABLE (57)
7:30 NAME THAT TUNE Tom Kennedy host (3)
$25,000 PYRAMID (8)
DEL REEVES COUNTRY CARNIVAL (18)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES Peter Marshall, host (22)
THE NUTMEGGER'S ALMANAC (24)
ANIMAL WORLD "Jungle Jaguar." (30)
THE ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW "Guitar Player." (38)
ROOM 222 "Elizabeth Brown is Falling." (40)
DRAGNET "Homicide — Who Killed Who." (56)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 TONY ORLANDO AND DAWN (3)
8:00 "CLIFTON AND THE KID" (8) (40)
SHARING OUR FAITH (18)
LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE "Child in Pain." (22) (30)
ARABS AND ISRAELIS (24) (57)
BEVERLY HILLBILLIES (38)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
8:30 WEDNESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "Cry for Help." (8), (40)
BEHIND THE LINES (24) (57)
FRIENDS OF MAN (27)
BOSTON BRUINS HOCKEY (38)
DINAH! (56)
9:00 CANNON "The Set Up." (3)
LUCAS TANNER (22) (30)
GREAT PERFORMANCES "Mozart Requiem." (24) (57)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
9:30 GOMER PYLE "Gomer Minds His Sergeant's Car." (27)
10:00 CHER (3)
GET CHRISTIE LOVE! "My Son, The Murderer." (8) (40)
FAITH FOR TODAY (18)
SANDBURG'S LINCOLN "Sad Figure, Laughing." (22) (30)
WORCESTER NEWS (27)
PERRY MASON "The Case of the One-Eyed Witness." (56)
10:30 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (8) (22) (27) (30) (40)
BRUINS WRAP-UP (38)
THE BEST OF GROUCHO (56)
CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS (57)
11:30 WEDNESDAY STARLIGHT MOVIE "The Great Train Robbery." (3)
WIDE WORLD SPECIAL (8) (40)

SORORITY RUSH

FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 12th AND THURSDAY, FEB. 13th

CALL FOR RIDES

WEDNESDAY

Lambda Delta Phi 389 N. Pleasant St. 549-1119
5:00 DINNER and BASKETBALL GAME

Kappa Alpha Theta 778 N. Pleasant St. 52735
7 - 8, 8:15 - 9:15 LOVE THETA STYLE

Kappa Kappa Gamma 32 Nutting Ave. 50321
7 - 8, 8:15 - 9:15 FLOWER PARTY

Sigma Delta Tau 409 N. Pleasant St. 50527
7 - 8

Sigma Sigma Sigma Fraternity/Sorority Park 253-9066
7 - 8

Sigma Kappa 19 Allen St. 52297
8:15 - 9:15

THURSDAY

Alpha Chi Omega Nutting Ave. 52152
7 - 8 ALL MY AXO'S

Chi Omega Fraternity/Sorority Park 52002
8:15-9:15

Iota Gamma Upsilon 406 N. Pleasant St. 50082
8:15 - 9:15 PUB NIGHT

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

JV courtmen triumph in OT

By RON ARENA and MIKE BERGER

As if to prove that their previous losses to Dartmouth and UConn were as a result of a slump, UMass came out in gangbusters to defeat Springfield in Triple Overtime 101-98. Previously UMass dropped a 69-59 decision to UConn last Saturday night.

In the UConn game, UMass offered a totally inept performance especially in the second half. Trailing only by a 40-38 score, at halftime UMass failed to adequately shoot, pass, or rebound during the second half. Of these three basics, rebounding had to be the key. Although UConn did possess a height advantage, the failure of the home squad to block out resulted in numerous offensive rebounds for UConn. And without rebounding UMass's fastbreak became impossible. Chuck Stanekas finished with 20 points despite being contained by a tough Husky defense in the second half. Glenn Taylor and Don Bord chipped in with 10 and 11 respectively.

UMass earlier in their second had beaten Springfield 86-84 in a game that came down to a last second shot. Monday night's game proved to be no let down in excitement and certainly not meant for the "faint of heart." The first half saw 2 fairly matched teams battling to a [illegible] lead with UMass having 10 men break into the scoring column. However UMass reverted back to their old habits of committing turnovers, exhibiting poor shooting and non-rebounding to lose the lead and fall behind 62-50 with four minutes remaining. It was at that time that Coach Gaudette inserted the unit of Dave Strader, Proctor Daniels, Mike Healy, Glen Taylor, and Ed Shirts into the game. Playing aggressive defense (four steals, three deflected passes within a three minute span), UMass turned Springfield miscues into points and trailed 65-63 with 28 seconds left. Mike Healy then hit an off balance jump shot to send the game into overtime.

The bench strength of UMass proved to be the deciding factor in the third O.T. victory. Springfield, having to substitute for their foul plagued forwards, continuously threw away the ball as UMass continually emphasized the full court press. Playing fundamental basketball combined with a 45 percent shooting percentage during the three overtime periods proved to be the key for the J.V. Minutemen.

Most impressive about the thrilling overtime win was the play of virtually unknown Dave Strader (10 pts several of the clutch variety), Proctor Daniels (18 pts) and the defensive work of Ed Shirts. Glen Taylor continued his improvement as a floor leader with 20 points and a super defensive job on Springfield's Bob Gaston in the third overtime period. Gaston had "Jabbar-like" 44 points for Springfield.

According to Coach Gaudette, the victory should definitely provide a stimulus for upcoming tough opponents as St. Thomas More (Thurs. night) and a rematch against rival UConn Saturday night.

Dick McWade exhibits the style which earned him the individual championship in the Giant Slalom last Saturday at [illegible] Mt. With plenty of depth, the UMass ski team appears headed for another divisional title in the New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference.

sportsline
5-2210

Scoreboard

[illegible]

Working with Kids
is what NES is all about.

If you can spare a few hours a week to tutor a child in Springfield, call or visit the N.E.S. office, 420A Student Union. Tel. no. 545-0575.

TRANSPORTATION PROVIDED CREDIT AVAILABLE

MUNCHY'S SPECIAL

Contac 10's	.99
Desitin Skin Lotion 5 oz.	.69
Breck Shampoo 3½ oz.	.51

	OPEN:
HAMPDEN	8 - 8
WORCESTER	10 - 6
FRANKLIN	11 - 7

SNACK BARS

WORCESTER 7 - 3
HAMPDEN 7 - 1
WHITMORE 8 - 4

HOT MEALS DAILY
HOT PIZZA & GRINDERS

NUGENT'S SALE

½ off original price of all fall & winter
merchandise.

EVERYTHING MUST GO

"$5.00 OFF SALE COATS WITH THIS AD."

Campus Plaza
(Next to Zayre's)
Tel. 256-8106

Australian stars at Cage

By CHAS O'CONNOR

For those of you who haven't had the inclination to watch the UMass women's basketball team this season, tonight will provide the perfect opportunity. The Australian women's national all-star team, in the midst of a national tour, will be the opposition at 8 in the Curry Hicks Cage.

The game was arranged in connection with a reciprocal agreement between the AIAW (Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) and the Australian Basketball Federation whereby outstanding teams from both countries would play a schedule of games against each other during the year of 1974-75.

Carol [illegible], Assistant Professor in the Department of Physical Education and past president of the AIAW, was on the executive board of the AIAW in January of '74 when the Australian Basketball Federation contacted the organization to arrange the tour. UMass was one of fifteen teams selected out of twenty-five applicants to represent the United States.

Immaculata College, AIAW national champions for the last three years, toured Australia last summer playing a 20 game schedule against leading women's teams.

Massachusetts is the last stop for the team before they end their tour against New England powerhouse Southern Conn. Thursday night. Their schedule has included teams such as Indiana State, Ohio State, Kentucky, Maryland and Temple.

The twelve member squad has an average age of 21 with the starters averaging 26. The outstanding member of the team is Sandra Tomlinson, a 5' 11" forward. Mrs. Tomlinson has been an all-star player for ten years and was a member of the 1971 team which participated in the World Championships in Brazil.

Women's Basketball in Australia was organized in 1904, and since then it has grown to the point where today there are approximately 6,000 registered women players playing at the junior and senior level. Australia began to compete internationally in 1957.

Rex Tomlinson, husband of Sandra Tomlinson, is the squad coach. Tomlinson played for Australia in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City and also on the '72 team which competed in Munich. He is the coach of the [illegible] Club, the 1974 Australian Club Champions.

UMass senior Co-Captain Jeannie Abrahamson is looking forward to the contest. "The experience of playing an international team and being able to talk to them should be rewarding."

Christine Basile goes up for a shot as teammates Jeanne Smith, LuAnn Fletcher and a host of defenders look on.

Tight NBA $

NEW YORK (AP) — The recession that is gripping the nation is going to have a major effect on negotiations between National Basketball Association players and owners when their collective bargaining agreement expires later this year, says Paul Silas, head of the NBA Players Association.

"Negotiations really are going to be tough because of the state of the nation's economy," says the rugged 6 foot 7, 235-pound Boston Celtics forward.

"The fans will be saying, 'They're making all that money and they still want more.'"

Remember Phonothon '74?

Mary Jane Smith is coming back.
Are you?

Memorial Hall
March & April
For info call Brenda, 5-2543

WINTER CARNIVAL
Snow Sculpture Competition
SUNDAY, FEB. 16, 1975

Theme:
American Bicentennial

Sponsored by Greek Area

For information
call 5-2374 or 5-2301

OPEN TO ALL AREAS ON CAMPUS.

Valentine Cards

American Greetings the Fresh Idea Company . . .

You wouldn't forget, would you? . . .

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center

Have A Second Cup Of Coffee In New York.

Leave Amherst at 5:45 AM and be in New York City by 9:00 AM.

From Amherst, Holyoke or Northampton take a Peter Pan Coach which connects with Continental Trailways in Springfield. A Continental Trailways Deluxe Motorcoach leaves Springfield at 6:30 AM non-stop to New York City.

A Fast Ride To Fun City

If you're just not a morning person, Continental Trailways second non-stop of the day to New York City leaves Springfield at 1:15 PM, arriving at 4:15 PM. And you needn't leave Amherst until noon, on Peter Pan's connecting service.

Ticket Offices

Amherst
Peter Pan
79 South Pleasant St.
253-5383

Holyoke
Peter Pan World Travel
1507 Northampton St.
536-5318

Northampton
Peter Pan World Travel
City Hotel St.
586-1030

Qualified for World Games

From family of gymnasts

Talented Cantwell keys gymwomen

By BILL DOYLE

Did you ever see the Certs commercial about the gymnast who is talking with his friend while they both are watching his girl friend compete? He asks his friend for another Certs because his is gone and his girl friend is almost done her routine. His friend says that he doesn't need another one, that Certs lasts a long time. And sure enough when the girl comes running over to him with a medal that she won around her neck, he kisses her and everything is okay.

[illegible]

agent came to UMass looking for a woman gymnast to appear in the commercial. She and a couple others on the UMass gymnastics team tried out and she was selected to go to New York to do it.

"It only took a day to do it," Ms. Cantwell said, "and a lawyer worked out the details so I wouldn't lose any eligibility."

The tryouts for the commercial (she said that girls from other schools tried out also) weren't the only competition that Ms. Cantwell has won, as in her only appearance [illegible] has been involved in gymnastics since she was ten and comes from a family of eight children, six of which are gymnasts. Her sister Janet competed in the World Games in 1970 and another sister, Diane, competed for UMass last year but is presently disabled with a broken back suffered last season.

Susan, who is from Philadelphia, said she came to UMass because of her sister and because of its good gymnastics and academic program.

Understandably, Susan said that her parents don't like gymnastics because of the injuries.

Susan won the city championship in high school and is an elite gymnast but she says she has no Olympic aspirations.

"I qualified for the World Games last May," she stated, "but I had to choose between that and school so I chose school. Olympics would interfere with school also."

[illegible]

Susan takes a break with coaches [illegible]

Title IX — reshaping sports

[illegible]

UM takes tournament

[illegible]

After being off campus for 6 years, we are establishing our UMass Chapter. Any interested University men wanting to be part of this new and growing fraternity are invited to come to our meetings.

Wed., Feb. 12 — 7:30 p.m.
911-915 CC
Thur., Feb. 13 — 7:30 p.m. — 803 CC

Rainbow Film Productions, the PORNO KINGS ON CAMPUS
PRESENT

FEB. 25 — Pink Flamingos, starring DIVINE in the SUB
MARCH 11 — Behind The Green Door in the SUB
APRIL 15 — Resurrection of Eve in the CCA

[illegible]

[illegible]

Yan Con Hoop

[illegible]

To [illegible]
HAPPY BIRTHDAY
[illegible]

SOPHOMORE NURSING MAJORS

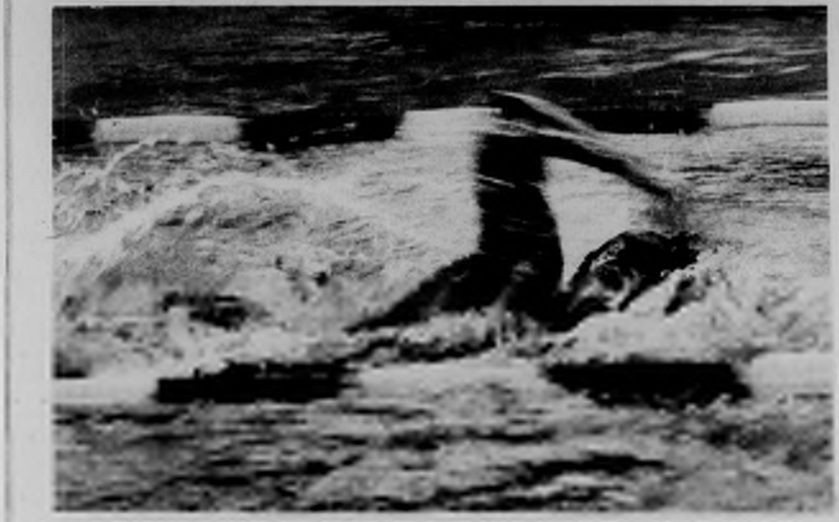
You can become an Air Force Nurse on campus through Air Force ROTC.

To find out if you qualify for:

Worldwide Travel
Flight Duty
Officer's Pay and Advancement
$100 Per Month for Your Last Two Years on Campus
Many Other Benefits

CONTACT:
Major [illegible]
Room [illegible]
[illegible]
Dickinson Hall

It's all happening today



A member of coach [illegible] swim team causes the water to [illegible] Boyden Pool, where the swimmers will [illegible] UNH tonight.

Swimmers battle UNH; prepare for Central

By [illegible]

The men's [illegible] facing the [illegible] Hampshire to[illegible] Pool), but don[illegible] shattering performances from the Minuteman swimmers.

[illegible]

UConn visits Orr

[illegible]

SCSC hosts gymnasts

[illegible]

Wrestlers in Boyden tri-match; Oppose Central, New Hampshire

By JOHN BOCK

[illegible]

SKI CLEAROUT SALE

SKIS •	REG.	SALE
OLIN MARK II	$195.00	$140.00
OLIN MARK III	$185.00	$130.00
HART COMP	$175.00	$110.00
K-2 THREES		$115.00
K-2 WINTER HEAT	$190.00	$125.00
BOOTS •	REG.	SALE
NORDICA ASTRAL SLALOM	$155.00	$125.00
NORDICA MERCURY	$95.00	$70.00
RAICHLE COMP XXL	$175.00	$130.00
RAICHLE TARGA GT	$120.00	$85.00
RAICHLE SPRINT 80	$80.00	$60.00

ROFFE PARKAS • 30% Off
DEMETRE SWEATERS 30% to 50% Off

SKI SKELLER
House of Walsh, Inc.
30 Main Street
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002

BELL'S PIZZA HOUSE
65 UNIVERSITY DRIVE

If you have a taste for quality — you have a taste for BELL'S.

To us — good isn't good ENOUGH!

Free Delivery on Campus
Call 256-8011 for fast service.

"Volks-Service"
specializing in VOLKSWAGEN
Part Sales & Repairs
REASONABLE PRICES
RELIABLE WORK
[illegible]
Northampton, Mass.
next to the
State Police Barracks
Tel. [illegible]

Flashy Alex Eldridge moves in for 2 in action against Connecticut last Saturday. UMass defeated the [illegible]

Minutemen whip BU 94-78; Du hits 25

By STEVE SARACENO

BOSTON — It was kind of weird. [illegible]

Gymwomen cruise in tune-up

[illegible]

Teamwork. In a word, that describes the UMass women's gymnastics team's [illegible]

Steve Saraceno

Out of control

[illegible]

Women hoopsters fall to Springfield, Australia tonite

[illegible]

sportsline 5-2210

SGA faces deep financial trouble

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
[illegible] THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, [illegible]

weather

[illegible]

[illegible]

Universal fee held inevitable

[illegible]
Staff Reporter
[illegible]

Top University administration officials are about to recommend a Universal Resource Fee to President Robert [illegible]

Fischer cites 'crucial goal'

[illegible]

Chancellor weighs options

[illegible]

[illegible] see page 1[illegible]

MSP chooses Frank as temporary president

By FRED GOSIEWSKI
Staff Reporter

Joseph Frank was elected as temporary president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP), and Sylvia Viera was elected vice president in a meeting of the union yesterday.

Frank, head of the English Department, defeated David Porter, also of the English Department, by a vote of 30 to 7. Viera of the Education Department, formerly active in the New England Farm Workers Union, got by two condidates with 17 votes. Larry Roberts of the Zoology Department had 14 votes and Robert Dyer had 15.

Roberts was then overwhelmingly elected secretary of the MSP, with 26 votes. The nearest challenger had three votes. Bill Mullen of the Physics Department was elected Treasurer by acclamation.

The officers elected yesterday will serve until April 15, at which time new elections will be held by the MSP.

Frank said that the MSP will meet with the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) chapter on campus to attempt to get another vote on faculty unionization.

"Each will run campaigns in such a way as to be against the common enemy instead of each other," declared Frank. He added that previous meetings between the MSP and the AAUP have been held in an atmosphere of "total amiability." Frank is a member of the executive board of the AAUP.

Sidney Wexler of the Spanish Department told the meeting of about 40 faculty members that one of the main issues facing the faculty is the "political interference with the university" by the legislature in cutting the budget and services.

Wexler implored the meeting to "get off the ground, pick up the pieces" in order the the MSP to accomplish its goals.

Noting that the last election for faculty unionization was over a year and a half ago, outgoing president Frank Fata of the French and Italian Department said that "we first have to establish ourselves as a local group, a local voice." Fata suggested that the reason that the unionization effort failed in November 1973 was because the faculty had been treated "fairly good" by the administration and the legislature.

Faculty members were asked to join two committees in the MSP. One is the Task Force on Adademic Issues and Academic Policy, which is designed to formulate a consensus as to the sentiments of the faculty and present it to the university.

The Committee on Membership will seek to contact members of the faculty in an attempt to boost membership of the MSP. This appears to be one of the immediate concerns of the union, as Frank stated that "one of the functions will be to bring in new faces."

New acupuncture seminar offered

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

"Acupuncture", the oldest form of medicine known to man, is a new course this semester offered by Continuing Education. It will be taught by Dr. K. L. Nakamura as part of the Integral Medicine Program.

Nakamura is a practicing doctor of oriental medicine and acupuncture in Japan, and is professor at Meiji College of Oriental Medicine. He recently arrived in the United States and is setting up a college or oriental medicine in Boston. The course will meet beginning February 22 on eight consecutive Saturdays from 3:30-6:30 p.m. in SBA 106. Dr. Nakamura will discuss the history and use of acupuncture, as well as its practical application.

Acupuncture dates back 5000 years to the Ne Ching, or Yellow Empress Classic Book on Internal Medicine. It's principles rest on the belief that energy flows through the body in circulating meridians. Along these meridians are over 300 points at which the energy can be stimulated when this "chi" flow becomes blocked.

Acupuncture is done in the Orient throughout a person's lifetime, in order to keep the energy flowing. Furthermore, they believe that disease is caused when the body is out of balance. Therefore, another part of the body may be treated to cure an ailing organ. "Western medicine is limited," says Arnie Freiman, director of the Internal Medicine program, "because of its fragmented approach to healing the body." He says that more people are turning to oriental medicine because they realize these limitations.

Oriental Medicine is based on several principles of common sense, diet and exercise being the primary methods of remaining in good health or Tao. The best way of achieving Tao, according to Freiman, is by living in accordance with the seasons. The winter is a time for rest and introspection, summer for activity, spring for readiness and preparation, and fall for death. Other methods of healing are palm healing, acupuncture, herbal medicine, and massage.

The program in Internal Medicine at Continuing Education presently offers seven other courses: Acupuncture Massage, Oki Yoga, The Art of Natural Oriental Cooking, Herbs: The Samauri of the Plant Kingdom, Natural Childbirth at Home, Natural Birth Control, and The Principles of Yin and Yang. These courses are all presently filled, but a new set will again be offered in the late spring.

Staff Photo by Larry Hershkowitz

Cupid causes catastrophe in chaotic Campus Center

Parking fees

No dough - we tow

By DEBORAH GALLAGHER
Staff Reporter

Approximately 36 per cent of the student parking fees have yet to be paid, according to Parking Office figures.

Beth Modica, a clerk in the Parking Office, said despite the outstanding balance, the situation was "better than last year" when a new billing system created long lines outside the office.

According to Modica, unless the fees are paid, the decals become invalid and are put on an "illegal list" and turned over to the UMass Security Department. "It's as if they had no decal at all," she said.

Officer Al Griffin of the Institution Protection Force said vehicles with invalid decals will be regarded as "unregistered." Due to the many signs posted around campus warning of the inevitable towing and ticketing of "unregistered" and "unassigned" vehicles, there is "no reason for people not to be aware," he said.

According to Modica, fees can be paid at the Parking Office in 108 Hampshire House, from 8:30 to 4 p.m. every weekday.

SOP sponsors stereo co-op

The Union Stereo Co-op is planning to open a store front on campus this semester, according to S.O.P. staffer John Fisher. The Co-op already has a table set up on the Campus Center Concourse once a week.

Sponsored by the Student Organizing Project in cooperation with the Sound and Music Stereo Co-op of Springfield, it offers a wide selection of components at 40 per cent off list price, counseling on buying stereo equipment, and albums at 18 cents above dealer price.

The future of the Co-op will be determined at the "Spring Semester Planning Meeting" today at 7:00 in Campus Center Rm. [illegible]. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

THE FINEST VALENTINE CARDS

American Greetings
The Fresh Idea Company surprise someone by remembering them...

UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center

Detente stressed in Great Decisions forum

By DAVE KOWAL
Staff Reporter

Detente was the major area of discussion in last night's Great Decisions forum, "The Soviet Union Today."

The forum took place in Webster Lounge, Orchard Hill, and was broadcasted over WFCR.

The panel for the forum included Joseph Brodsky of the Russian Dept. at Amherst College. Brodsky is a dissident Russian poet. Also on the panel were William Taubman of the Amherst College Political Science Dept., and two UMass professors: Robert H. McNeal of the History Dept. and Arthur Wright of the Economics Dept. Luther A. Allen of the UMass Political Science Dept. was the moderator.

Brodsky had "nothing good" to say about detente. "The whole detente started not on American soil, and not on Russian soil. It started in Vietnam.

"There was only one way to get Soviet troops out of Vietnam, by giving them a big piece of cake."

Brodsky said detente will not work because the Russians view the United States as "the potential enemy." "They don't like to give their concessions to people they consider their natural enemies. This is partially because of dogma, and partially because they're dealing with something unknown."

Talbman presented two views of detente, pointing out the qualities, as well as the pitfalls, of each view. The first view he presented was the Kissinger view. "Kissinger believes the Soviet Union is a dangerous, anti-status quo power. He is attempting to get them to play by our rules. In doing so we use both the carrot and the stick.

"Detente is a web of agreements which give some hope of bringing the Soviet Union closer to the status quo."

The second view of detente, as presented by Talbman, is the Jackson view. Jackson views detente as "unrealistic," because it is unnecessary. Jackson says there is no danger of nuclear war with Russia, which is the principal reason behind detente. "The cold war was always cold, never really hot."

A Soviet view of detente was presented by McNeal. He said Russians don't use the word detente. "The key word on the Soviet side is relaxation, not detente."

"The Soviet Union has always been a peace loving state," he explained. "They believe the United States has changed, and the recent leadership, that is Nixon and Kissinger, has become more realistic than somebody; they're not specific about who what somebody is."

Wright looked at detente from a political perspective. He said, "The central question about detente is whether it is a means or an end. With the U.S.S.R. it should be an end.

"It's become not an end, but a means of policy, the way we conduct ourselves.

"This confusion of ends with means is implicit for U.S. foreign and economic policies."

Wright described detente as "a package of interlocking parcels," including strategic arms limitations, technical political and military agreements, trade and credit, and scientific and cultural exchange.

A question and answer period followed the forum.

The next forum in the Great Decisions series, titled "Brazil," will take place Wednesday, Feb. 19. Discussing the question, "Is Brazil the pacesetter for Latin America?," will be four UMass professors.

Staff Photo by Joe Stoddart

Arthur Wright, Robert H. McNeal, and Luther Allen (left to right) discuss "The Soviet Union Today" in the second in a series of Great Decisions forums.

Policy on Amendment to be formed 3

Handling of Alumni records unchanged

By F.J. PROKOP
Staff Reporter

"We do not think the Buckley Amendment will affect alumni at UMass," John O'Connell, director of Alumni Relations said yesterday.

The amendment, signed into law January 1, enables students to see educational records kept on them by institutions of higher education, while maintaining the confidentiality of such records.

University policy on the law will be developed by a task force head by Michael A. [illegible], Assistant Dean of Students.

According to an article in the "Chronicle of Higher Education", the burden on the university to notify former students of the data given out and must acquire the necessary permission.

O'Connell said the law will not change the way the Alumni Office handles their records. "We do not keep files containing information about an alumnus' academic records or their financial status. Grade or cum information would have to be obtained through the Records Office. The only information we have is general, including names, addresses, phone numbers, and if the alumnus has made a pledge to the Alumni Fund," he said.

O'Connell said the files may contain occasional newspaper clippings of interest about an alumnus, just for the purpose of keeping up with what's going on.

Each year surveys are sent out to the alumni, filling it out and submitting it are voluntary. This is also for general information or news about things of interest happening to our alumni, O'Connell said.

He also added, "Next year we will be doing research for our first major Gifts Drive, for contributions to the Alumni Fund. There is no record kept of financial information, but we would tend to seek donations from people we know have done well in their profession, such as those who may be doctors, lawyers, or doing well in some other occupation. Of course there would not be exact knowledge of salaries and the like, and there would be no pressure for a donation."

There are approximately 95,000 alumni of the University, and 75 per cent of them have graduated within the last ten years.

O'Connell said information is not given out to anyone concerning addresses, phone numbers and other general information. "If someone should contact us, such as a bank, a potential employer, a bill collector, and request information about an alumnus, we would not give them that information. We would contact the person it involves and ask him or her to get in touch with the other party. The only person who may see the file is the alumnus himself. We make every effort to maintain confidential files," he said.

Officials of a few alumni associations have expressed concern about information that could be released about former students, other than such basic information as names, addresses, and year of graduation. Alumni would have to be notified about any such release of information, and be given time to respond to if they wish the records to remain confidential.

Alumni offices are also concerned with information provided to the news media about graduates, such as what they were active in, what degrees they received and date of graduation.

Ed School TV being surveyed to determine program impact

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

According to Juan Caban, Jr., professor in the School of Education, the television Villa Alegre is taking a survey among its watchers to determine the impact of the program, its effectiveness and how it can be improved.

Villa Alegre (Happy Village) is a national network which is broadcasted six days a week in 180 Public Broadcasting Service TV stations.

The program features different English-speaking groups, according to Caban.

Caban, who is in Bilingual Media, is giving volunteer advice to the program as he is one of its national board members. He and Tim Cabanas instituted a Bilingual Education TV network in the Media Center in 1973.

Caban said he sees a good future in Villa Alegre because the program gives Spanish-speaking children a sense of importance.

Among the questions asked in the survey are: "Do you think it is a good idea to use two languages in a television series. To what extent do you feel Villa Alegre is having or will have a positive influence on how people feel about themselves. To what extent do you feel Villa Alegre is having or will have a positive influence on learning another language such as Spanish. To what extent do you feel Villa Alegre is having or will have a positive influence on people's attitude toward the Spanish language and the Latin American Culture?"

The program is being broadcast in United States, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Samoa, Carolina, and the Marshall Islands.

The program was created by Bilingual Children's TV, with funds from various private foundations. The program is being prepared by the Spanish Speaking technicians.

People interested in answering the survey should contact a local PBS Station: Channel 57, Springfield, Channel 2 in Boston, and Channel 24 in Hartford.

WMUA

6:30 High Tides
6:45 [illegible] River Valley [illegible]
7:00 [illegible]
9:00 Pacifica: LOOKING AT THE CIA: An interview with Victor Marchetti, an ex-CIA agent who talks about operations in Latin America, including details of the [illegible] of the Che Guevara. This show also features an indepth report on CIA Indo-China activities.
10:15 Sports Talk: [illegible] with special guest [illegible] with members of the Australian Women's National all-star basketball team.

18,000 readers see MDC classifieds — try them they work!

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Treasurer Jack Margosian munches peanuts while listening to Rick Savini give his "state of the SGA" speech at last night's meeting.

Pretentious postings

[illegible] News Service

There is now something for people who are interested in sending a Valentine Day's card with a different sort of post-mark.

What some people are now doing is taking their Valentines, properly stamped and addressed, and enclosing them in larger envelopes, and sending them off to the postmaster in different towns.

The postmaster takes them out, affixes on the postmark, and sends them back. So on Feb. 14, some people are going to get Valentines from Loveland (Ohio), or Blue Ball or Intercourse (Pa.).

Kissinger, Sadat optimistic after meeting

Report progress on disengagement

CAIRO (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat made "progress" yesterday in their first talks on a new military disengagement agreement between Israel and Egypt in the Sinai.

Emerging from four hours of talks at his Nile Delta Barrage rest house north of Cairo, Sadat, although unsmiling termed them "very fruitful" and said he was satisfied.

Both men said the talks would continue during dinner at Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi's residence, and that Sadat would attend.

"I think we made progress in clarifying the issues in which a solution should be found," Kissinger told newsmen. He said he was hopeful that even more progress would be made in their talks later.

"The basic problem is to bring peace to the whole area," Kissinger said. "In reaching that, there undoubtedly will be individual steps, and I personally have some ideas what these might be in the context of overall peace."

Before meeting with Sadat, Kissinger expressed optimism and said he would be returning to the Middle East "definitely" next month.

He told a questioner who asked about the differences between Israel and Egypt, "I am here because I think they are reconcilable."

Sadat said, "I am always optimistic when I receive my friend Henry."

Kissinger is to fly to Syria and then back to Israel today.

Before he departs, Kissinger and Fahmi will sign an $80 million loan agreement — part of a $250 million American aid package pledged to Egypt in fiscal year 1974-75. The money, repayable over 40 years at a [illegible] per cent annual interest with a 10-year period of grace, will be used to finance imports of agricultural and industrial equipment, spare parts and other essential commodities, Egyptian and American officials said.

Kissinger flew here from Israel for what he called "very constructive" [illegible] exploratory talks with Israeli leaders. He and his wife, Nancy, then drove to Sadat's rest house, 18 miles north of Cairo.

Military takes over in Malagasy Republic

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic (UPI) — [illegible]

[illegible] a French naval squadron headed by the aircraft carrier Clemenceau was steaming toward Malagasy for an eventual evacuation of the 30,000 French subjects living on the strife-torn island in the Indian Ocean.

[illegible]

Senate panel votes to rescind oil tariff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

summer in europe
CHARTERS
1/2
[illegible]

SPREAD THE WORD!
mountain farms mall
— ATTENTION —
Space available for TAG SALE
and FLEA MARKETS
every Sunday now thru Feb.
10 a.m. - 5 p.m.
FULLY ADVERTISED
[illegible]

The Big Y
LIQUOR SUPERMARKETS
★ SPRINGFIELD
BRECKWOOD BLVD. - WILBRAHAM RD.
★ NORTHAMPTON
HAMP PLAZA — RTE. 5, NORTH KING ST.
★ FAIRVIEW
NEXT TO BIG "Y" - MEMORIAL DRIVE
from our well-stocked
LIQUOR, BEER AND WINE SHOPPES

Canadian Club IMPORTED WHISKEY 4/5 Quart 86.8 Proof $5.99
Schenley Reserve BLENDED WHISKEY 4/5 Quart 86 Proof $4.49
Zywiec Polish Beer - IMPORTED - Case of 24 11 oz. N.R. Bottles $7.99
Herrenhauser Beer GERMAN IMPORTED Case of 24 11 oz. N.R. Bottles $5.99
JIM BEAM BOURBON 1/2 Gallon 80 Proof $9.89
RED LION VODKA 1/2 Gallon 80 Proof $7.89
Milwaukee's Best BEER Case of 24 12 oz. Cans $4.49
BLATZ BEER Case of 24 12 oz. N.R. Bottles $3.99
LAMBRUSCO IMPORTED ITALIAN CONTEVERDI 24 OZ $1.39
North Mountain California Table Wines GALLON Case of 4 "11" $3.29

Clock dispute halts Edelin trial

Clock essential to abortion trial

BOSTON (UPI) — The abortion manslaughter trial of Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin ground to a halt yesterday in a dispute over a clock.

[illegible]

Kennedy asks action on Ford pocket veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., initiated new court action yesterday in an attempt to end a source of friction between Congress and the White House over use of the so-called pocket veto.

[illegible]

news summary

Koreans support Park

SEOUL (UPI) — [illegible]

Judge rules on funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

IRA begins truce

BELFAST (UPI) — [illegible]

Rebels attacked

ASMARA, Ethiopia (UPI) — [illegible]

Collegian recruits
tonight 7
see ad page 11

WINTER CARNIVAL
Snow Sculpture Competition
SUNDAY, FEB. 16, 1975
Theme:
American Bicentennial
Sponsored by
Greek Area
For information
call 5-2374 or 5-2381
OPEN TO ALL AREAS ON CAMPUS.

Skiing is Better at Berkshire East
WEEKDAYS
$5.00
All-day . . . All-lifts . . . All-skiers
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday.
$8.50
"Package" Plan . . . lifts, lessons, skis, boots & poles.
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday.

1,100ft.
vertical drop . . .
19 slopes & trails . . .
Two double chairlifts.
T-Bar, J-Bar . . .
Two lodges . . .
Snowmaking on 65% of ski area . . .
Night skiing.
WEEKEND RATES:
Adults $9.00
Juniors (14 & under)
$7.00 all lifts, all day.
Berkshire East
SKI AREA
Charlemont, Massachusetts (413) 339-6617
Just a few miles west of Greenfield along The Mohawk Trail (Rt 2)

LANDRY'S MARKET
The Oldest Grocery in Amherst
10% DISCOUNT ON ALL WINES
[illegible]
711 Main St. Amherst 253-5387
On the Belchertown Bus Route

U.S. role in Ethiopia deplored

The 13 years old heroic armed struggle of the Eritrean people for independence and self-determination has taken a new phase in the last few weeks. The united forces of the (ELF) Eritrean Liberation Front and the (EPLF) Eritrean Peoples Liberation Front have emerged as the vanguard of the Eritrean Revolution victoriously rallying and leading the Eritrean masses in the struggle against national oppression, feudal reaction and imperialist aggression. This has been clearly demonstrated by the increasing number of liberated areas including the major urban centers in Eritrea.

On the other hand, the military government of Ethiopia has continued its policy of aggression by mobilizing all its might and committing atrocities unparalleled in the history of the nation. Towns and villages have been destroyed, thousands of innocent children, men and women have been butchered, with hundreds of thousands left homeless.

The United States Government, the main supplier of arms to the fascist military junta, is pouring more planes, tanks and ammunition in order to pursue its global policy of controlling the gateway to the Suez Canal and the Red Sea Area. The Western propaganda machinery, branding the just and revolutionary struggle of the Eritrean people as a "racial movement" has confused the true essence of the current situation in Ethiopia.

We, the Ethiopian Students in Western Massachusetts as part of the Ethiopian Students' Union in North America, express our solidarity with the struggling people of Eritrea and appeal to all progressive people in the United States to:

(1) Condemn the atrocities in Eritrea perpetrated by the Ethiopian fascist military junta and support the right of the Eritrean people for self-determination and independence.

(2) Demand the United States Government to withdraw its arms shipment to the area.

(3) Show solidarity with the Eritrean struggling people in a demonstration to be held in Boston, Government Center on Friday, February 14, 1975 at 12 p.m.

Magee: Life in prison

Ruchell Magee stood silently before Judge William Ingram Jan. 23, as he was sentenced to life in prison without possibility of parole for his role in the 1970 Marin County Courthouse escape attempt. A judge and three prisoners were killed when police opened fire on Magee, Jonathan Jackson and their hostages rather than meeting the demand for release of George Jackson and two other prisoners.

The sentencing ends nearly four years of courtroom maneuvering and unrelenting pressure on Magee, who has spent 18 of his 36 years in prison. He was never convicted by a jury of any charge related to the courthouse escape attempt.

Magee was originally to be tried with Angela Davis, who was charged with supplying guns used in the Marin shoot-out, but had his case severed from hers. After a massive support campaign, Davis was acquitted of all charges against her.

Magee was then tried alone. When the jury announced that it was hopelessly deadlocked on April 3, 1973 the State of Calif. decided to drop murder charges against Magee and try him only on aggravated kidnapping charges.

In the first trial, Magee's defense argued that the physical location of Magee and the judge he was accused of murdering, as given in accounts by prosecution witness, made it impossible for him to have pulled the trigger. The defense also established from photos of the judge's wounds and from an autopsy report that he died of a wound from the caliber gun that police used when shooting at the escape van.

Nevertheless, Magee was prosecuted for "aggravated kidnapping," which carries a life without parole sentence, as opposed to simple kidnapping, which is punishable by 1-5 years, with parole eligibility after one year.

Constantly denied the right to defend himself in court and burdened with court-appointed lawyers who refused to present his defense the way he desired, Magee was forced to cry out frequently in the courtroom just to make heard what he felt were important ideas.

Since the original conviction Magee has filed hundreds of handwritten documents with the courts challenging the 1963 decision. Over the years, he became a famed jailhouse lawyer, filing writs and petitions which helped release several other prisoners. But appeals on his own behalf gained no action.

Notice

All students interested in the Third World Ski Trip to Berkshire East Ski Area please pay $7.50 by Feb. 13, 1975.

Bus leaves from the Malcolm Culture Center at 7:00 a.m. Feb. 15, 75. More information, call 545-2818.

Notice

On February 14, the Union of Vietnamese in the United States is holding a Vietnamese Cultural Evening. It will take place at 8 p.m., Sanders Theater, Harvard University.

The history of Vietnam will be presented through music, poetry and dance. The Vietnamese have a 4,000 year history of resisting invasion from China, Japan, France and the United States.

Grand Opening
FREE WITH THIS AD
ICE CREAM TWIST [illegible]
HOT DOGS 19¢ SODA 10¢ food tree
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS — [illegible] N. Pleasant St.
[illegible]

"HERE'S LOOKING AT YOU KID!—with my new "Softens" contacts from Amherst Optical."

Amherst Optical Shoppe
[illegible] N. PLEASANT ST. / [illegible]
A COMPLETE OPTICAL SERVICE
FASHIONABLE EYEWEAR
CONTACT LENSES/SUPPLIES
HEARING AID AUDIOLOGISTS

University Theater

Studio 75

		S	M	T	W	T	F	S
As You Like It	FEB.					13	14	15
		16*		18	19	20	21	22
		23*		25	26	27	28	1
Black Egg	MAR.					13	14	15
						20	21	22
The Cavern	APRIL					10	11	12
		13*		15	16	17	18	19
		20*		22	23	24	25	26
Woyzeck	MAY					8	9	10
		11*		13	14	15	16	17
		18*		20	21	22	23	24

[illegible]

Studio 75
ALSO PLANNED FOR THE STUDIO 75 SEASON: [illegible]
BEAST WITH TWO BACKS — [illegible]
TOM THUMB — [illegible]
LEAD — [illegible]

[illegible]

NAME
COLLEGE
ADDRESS
PHONE

[illegible]

PIZZA-RAMA
[illegible] College St., Rt. 9, Amherst
specializing in
PIZZAS, HOT OVEN GRINDERS
and SPAGHETTI
STORE HOURS: Sun.-Thurs., 11 a.m.-Midnight
Fri., Sat., 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Call 253-3808
"EXTRA SPEEDY DELIVERY"
Between 5 p.m.-Midnight, every night
Best Food in Town — and the Lowest Prices

Campus Travel Center
The early bird gets the GOOD DEAL at campus travel.
RESERVE NOW
Bermuda from $199
Jamaica from $249
Florida from $229
TRIPS INCLUDE:
Roundtrip Air
8 Days, 7 Nights Accommodations at Hotel
Transfers
All Hotel Taxes and Gratuities
CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
3rd Level Campus Center 545-0500

Want to work in Europe?

If you are a college student looking for a job, you may end up working in Europe. Any student between the ages of 17 and 27 can have a temporary job in Europe. Most openings are in hotels, resorts, offices and restaurants in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Spain and Switzerland. Positions are available to all college students who submit their applications by mail in time to allow for processing permits and working papers.

Working periods vary from 60 days to one year, and no previous experience or foreign language is required. Wages range from $250 to more than $450 a month, plus free room and board.

Working in Europe offers the chance to travel on a pay as you go basis without really being tied down.

Any student interested in a temporary job in Europe may write directly to European Placement, Box 1812, Luxembourg, Europe. To avoid delay, use air mail postage, and make certain to include your name and address.

SYLVAN COLLOQS.
Topics Include: [illegible]
FLIGHT TRAINING
FILMMAKING
RADIO PROGRAMMING
COLLEGIATE JOURNALISM
Spaces Reserved for Non-Sylvan Students
Register at [illegible] Sylvan Area by Fri., Feb. 14.
[illegible]

Democrats' prognosis discussed

Professor James MacGregor Burns of Williams College will speak this coming Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in Campus Center 106 on "The Future of the Democratic Party."

Professor Burns is an eminent political scientist, president-elect of the American Political Science Association and author of many books, among them The Deadlock of Democracy, Presidential Government, and biographies of both Franklin Roosevelt and John Kennedy. He also has been very active in Democratic Party affairs, having most recently been a delegate from this district to the Party's off-year "mini" — or Charter Convention in Kansas City last December. There will be ample opportunity for questions.

Outdoor programs offered

Interest in the outdoors has been increasing nationwide and here at UMass, the Outdoor Interest Group is striving to acquaint the campus community with as many experiences in the outdoors as possible. The Outdoor Interest Group, composed of individual students, staff and faculty, is ultimately working towards the creation of an Outdoor Program.

The purpose of such a program is to provide opportunities for members of the University community to participate in voluntary individual and small group educational as well as recreational experiences in the outdoors. In the past, the group has conducted a survey in an attempt to determine the areas of needs and interests in both students and faculty. Also the group was involved in sponsoring an exciting program of "Winterim" courses. These courses, held over the January intersession, allowed students the opportunity to incorporate the academic with the outdoors. A summary of the survey and an evaluation of the courses will appear in a future Collegian article.

Now the group, increased in size, is rapidly progressing in offering many more opportunities to the community. The Outdoor Special Events Committee, an offshoot of the Interest Group, is now a Recognized Student Organization (RSO). Plans are in the making for the presentation of lectures and the showing of films on outdoor experiences, life and problems. Also, a conference is being planned for later in the semester. The direction which the program will take is extremely flexible depending totally on interest and input. It could involve student-initiated recreational activities, instructional trips, academic courses, special workshops and so on. One important function will be to provide a central source of information on, and coordination of, existing outdoor related activities and resources which are now scattered through various parts of the University.

2ND Annual
St. Valentine's Day
Price Massacre!

2 great floors of pants & tops for men & women —featuring famous brands you know & trust... like Levi, Landlubber, Wrangler, & Lee...
-and with a lot of it on sale. now's the time to work us over!!

Dese Prices WILL KILL YA!

...Sale in Amherst Only.
the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st./amherst
Fairfield Mall/chicopee

EDITORIALS OPINIONS

commentary

A Trojan horse?

By KYRIAKOS KAROUTZOS

Governor Dukakis' decision to appoint four women to head four cabinet posts in his administration has been generally welcomed by most, and opposed by a few. Those in opposition are separated into two irreconcilable and distinctively different factions. On the one camp there are those who feel that women cannot, and must not, be allowed to assume major political roles. Those people are the ignoramuses and zeroes of life, and can be found in Joe's Bar and Grill, drinking their beer, watching the Bruins on T.V., and discussing how they cheated on their wives time and time again.

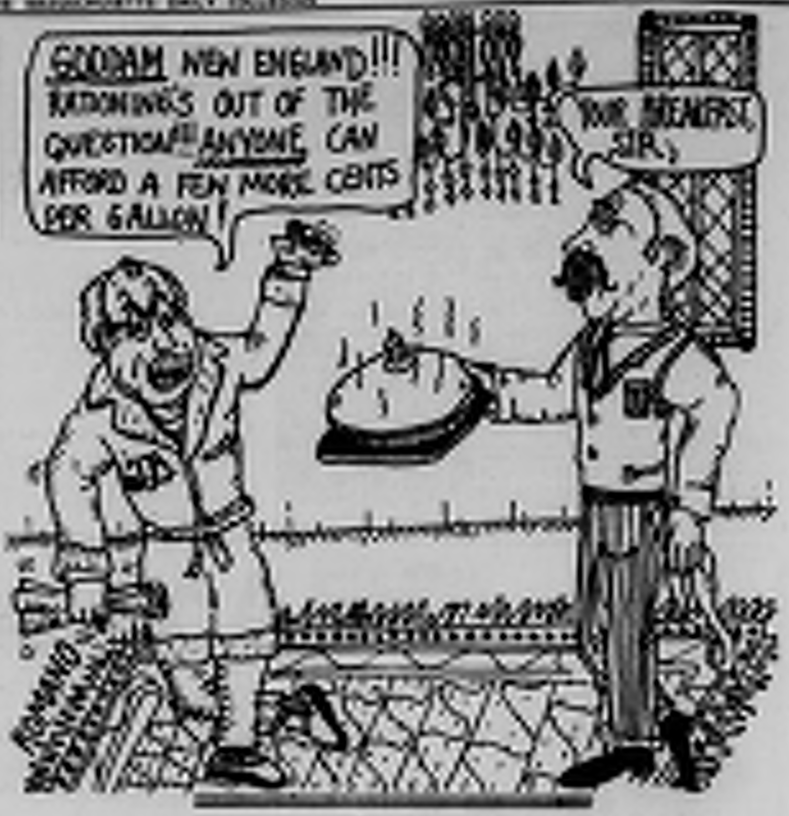
The other faction is made up of people who have seriously thought and evaluated the Governor's decision and its consequences on the political and social realms. Yours truly belongs in this faction.

Mr. Dukakis in his haste and greed to political office and fame, has sacrificed, stepped upon, and degraded the ideal of democracy. How? By in fact promising four cabinet posts to women. Well, Mr. Dukakis, you are a common politician, you are irresponsible, and those of you are the vanguard of opportunism.

Accusations, and more accusations. The question is, can these accusations be substantiated? One of the ideals of democracy is that which guarantees that the best [illegible]

[illegible]

Kyriakos Karoutzos is a Collegian Commentator.



GODDAM NEW ENGLAND!!! RATIONING'S OUT OF THE QUESTION!! ANYONE CAN AFFORD A FEW MORE CENTS PER GALLON!
YOUR BREAKFAST, SIR.

From our perspective

New routes taken in busing

Busing to achieve racial integration in the schools has been a major problem in Boston in recent months, but up until recently, the situation remained isolated within the city limits. The "liberal" suburbs remained reasonably free to go on with racially imbalanced schools and scoffed at the actions taken by members of the urban community to prevent busing.

A bill now in the Legislature would involve the suburbs as an active entity in the busing program. The bill, filed by Representative Michael Daly and Boston School Com. member, Kathleen Sullivan, provides for empty spaces in suburban schools to be filled with students from the poorer districts of Boston. The program would operate on a voluntary basis for students and a mandatory one for the suburbs. It would be instituted as a supplement to the Garrity plan for desegregation, as opposed to a substitute.

Unlike the METCO program, which provides for the busing of black students to suburban schools, the program would also involve white students.

It has received support on the basis that it puts part of the responsibility on the suburbs; quality education for all people is a cause which should not be limited to the city. Too long have the suburbs been allowed to drain the resources of the city with no reciprocating input. Here is a start in the sharing of resources which will be so necessary if cities are to survive.

It is obviously not the only answer. Perhaps there would be improvement in the inner city schools if suburban children were being bused into the city. Perhaps the program will only reinforce the idea of "look but don't touch," that is, allowing black students to attend suburban schools with no real action towards residential integration. It does not have all the answers, but it is a step in the right direction. The Daly-Sullivan bill is action as opposed to rhetoric, and that action has long been overdue.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Letters to the editor

Poor sports and foul play

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Campus walkways pathetic

To the Editor:

[illegible]

The end result: Liberty

[illegible]

cont. on page 9

• opinion•editorial•opinion•editorial•opinion•

Bill Parent

Who's resources?

Wouldn't it be great if we were still in the sixties talking about philosophies instead of finances?

But reality is different these days and everyone is talking money; money for books, money for food, money for beer, and money for rent. Most importantly though is money for education, where it comes from and where it is going. [illegible]

[illegible]

Bill Parent is Editor-in-Chief of the Collegian.

Patrick McQuaid

Notes from the undergrad

[illegible]

cont. from p. 8

[illegible]

Editorial points

[illegible]

Notable Quote

[illegible]

notes & quotes

Room-To-Move sponsors series

Room-To-Move is presenting a three-day program called NAMASTE: A Symposium on Conscious Living, beginning on Thursday evening the 13th of February.

It will involve a series of films, workshops and lectures in the areas of healing, psychology and spiritual consciousness which are open to everyone. There will be presentations in acupuncture, homeopathy, T'ai Chi Ch'aun, yoga and diet, transpersonal psychology, gestalt, psychosynthesis, Jungian psychology, Tibetan Buddhism, Jewish mysticism, Christian mysticism and astrology.

For further information please contact Room-To-Move at 545-0400 or drop in at anytime during the day or evening.

Women's Caucus needs support

The University Women's Caucus is calling a University-wide meeting to discuss concerns and needs of women faculty, students and staff. The meeting will be held Monday, February 17, 1975 at the Campus Center Room 113 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The purpose of this meeting is to insure continued financial support and growth of programs and services for women. The specific concern that prompted this meeting is the potential reduction in the University's budget. All interested people are urged to attend.

Representatives from programs that are designed specifically to meet women's needs will describe what their programs are doing and how they would be effected by an increase or a decrease in their financial resources. Then, discussion will follow concerning these problems and issues.

Chile solidarity group presents:

The Five College Chile Solidarity Committee will sponsor a series of films, talks and music during the next four months entitled "Latin America: In the Eye of the Hurricane".

On Thursday, February 13th at 8 p.m., the Cuban-Chilean produced film, "Introduction to Chile", which outlines the Allende years, will be shown along with "Miguel Enriquez", a film that recalls the slain leader of the MIR, and "Coup in Chile", a Cuban production made after the military takeover.

The People's Market

Is Open!

FRESH PRODUCE, CHEESE

YOGURT, and more ...

at good prices!

Located in the Student Union

WMUA

[illegible]

THE RIVER VALLEY ALMANAC — A comprehensive rundown of valley events.

FILM-MAKING NOTES — [illegible]

PACIFICA — This week's show is entitled "The Language of Flowers". [illegible]

SPORTS TALK — [illegible]

91.1 FM

Four Seasons

Package Store

RUSSELL ST., HADLEY

at the Mt. Farms Mall

RIUNITE LAMBRUSCO
$1.79
24 oz. bottle

BALLANTINE BEER
12 oz. N.R. Bottles
$4.49
Case

MILLERS ALE
12 oz. N.R.
$5.99
Case

San Vito Bardolino Italian Red WINE
$2.49
59 oz. Bottle

Four Season's Special GIN
80 Proof
$8.19 ½ Gal. $4.19 Qt.

HARP IRISH BEER
$10.99
Case

Italian Swiss Colony Silver Satin WINE
$1.25
Fifth

BURNS SCOTCH
80 Proof
$9.79 ½ Gal. $4.99 Qt.

Wine Paradise Of The Valley

wanted: you!

The Daily Collegian needs people.

People who write,
have an opinion, draw take pictures.

People who care about the campus about politics about music about lifestyles about people

People who seek something extra something unique something controversial something educational
[illegible]

People who need news
sports
[illegible]

The Collegian needs people and ideas. The Collegian needs you.

Recruitment Meeting Tonight at 7:00 in the Council Chamber on the second floor of the S.U.B.

THE MASSAC
Collegian

Photos by MDC Staff
Page by Dick Leonard and Bill Peters

notices

[illegible]

turn to page 13

FLOWERS

for

Your Valentine

Willowbrook Gardens & Florists

Carriage Shops

Amherst 549-1453

Tired of Dining Commons Food and life in the dorm?

Come and talk to the Brothers and Sisters of

ΣAM

A CO ED FRATERNITY

Tues., Feb. 11th 8:00 p.m. (tonight)

Thurs., Feb. 13th 8:00 p.m. at 387 No. Pleasant Street.

For information and/or rides call
545-0845 or 253-9957.

Refreshments will be served.

SOPHOMORES

If Your Major Is:

Computer Technology	General Engineering
Aerospace Engineering	Industrial Engineering
Civil Engineering	Mechanical Engineering
Electrical Engineering	Mathematics or Physics

You may be eligible for a two-year scholarship and a commission in the Air Force —
Call 5-2437 or stop by Rm. 205 Dickinson Hall.

KUNG-FU ACADEMY

New Class Starts Feb. 17

[illegible] AMITY STREET AMHERST
Mon.-Fri. [illegible] p.m. Tel. [illegible]

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

---

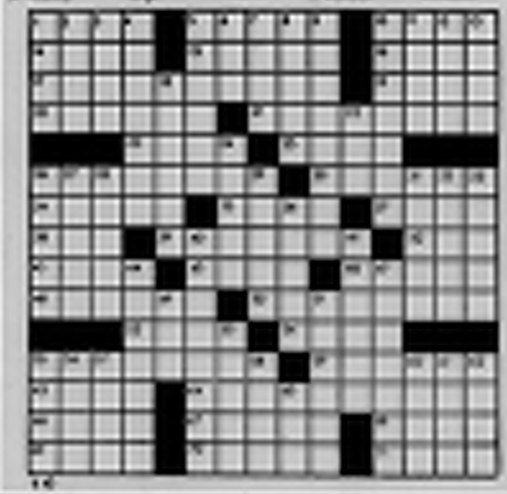
your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

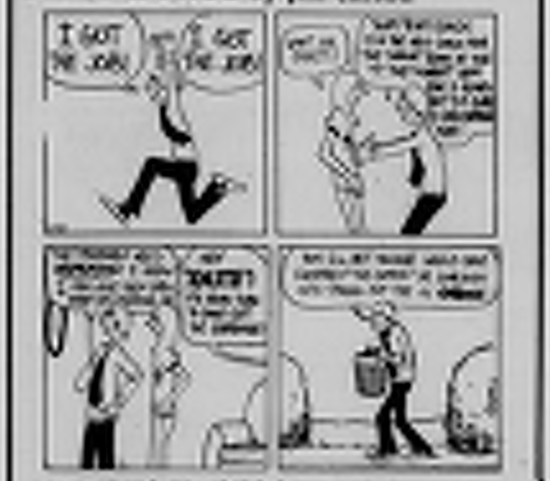
TODAY'S CROSSWORD

UNITED Feature Syndicate

[illegible]

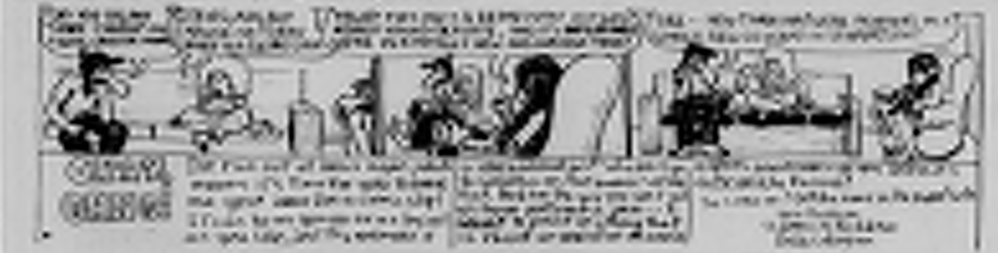


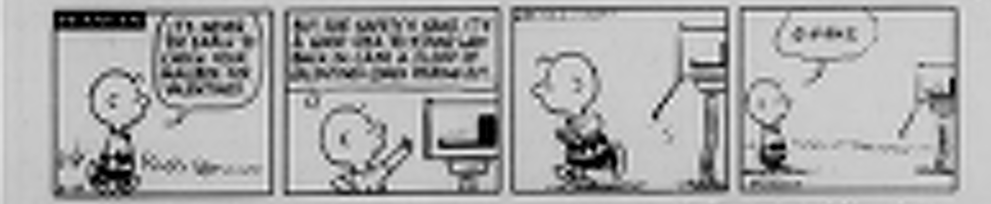
DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson



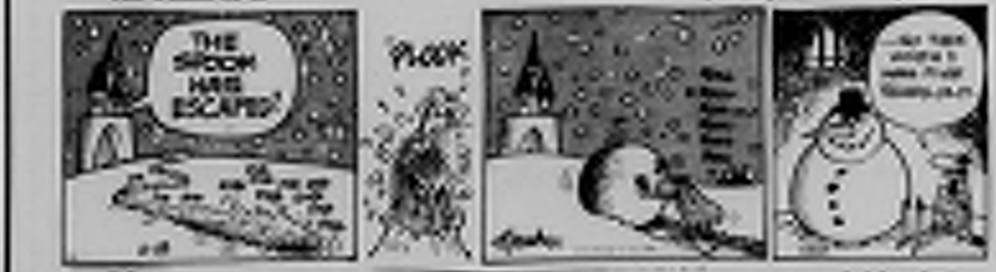
I GOT THE JOB!
I GOT THE JOB!

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

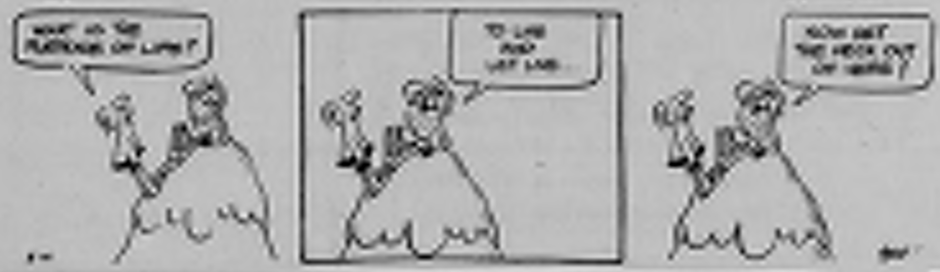




THE WIZARD OF ID by Brant parker and Johnny hart



B.C. by johnny hart



WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF LIFE?

notices

cont. from p. 12

[illegible]

Next time you see someone polluting, point it out.

OPEN RUSH

Kappa Sigma

[illegible] BUTTERFIELD TER.

Thurs., Feb. 13

8:00 p.m.

"You've heard the stories, come meet the characters."

TECH HI FI PRESENTS

PIONEER®

Car stereo

KP-300

If you're into cassettes because of their convenience and size, you'll really be able to get into Pioneer's KP-300.
It's a compact stereo cassette player with a built-in FM tuner.
It features FM and FM stereo. Mono/stereo switch with auto reverse. 7.6 watts RMS, 15 watts peak power.
But it's still small enough to get Pink Floyd behind that little closed door.

KP-4000

Maybe you always thought a car stereo would mess up the underside of your dash. Or a lot of wires would show.
With Pioneer's KP-4000 no chance.
Wherever your radio is now, that's where this car stereo goes. It has adjustable control shafts so it'll fit exactly.
It plays stereo cassettes, FM stereo and AM. It has more power than any typical radio: 7.6 watts RMS, 15 watts peak power. A complete in-dash cassette system that features fast forward, rewind, and automatic stop and eject.
So now, Pioneer leaves you with only one reason not to treat yourself to an in-dash stereo. Our prices will probably take care of that.

TP-202

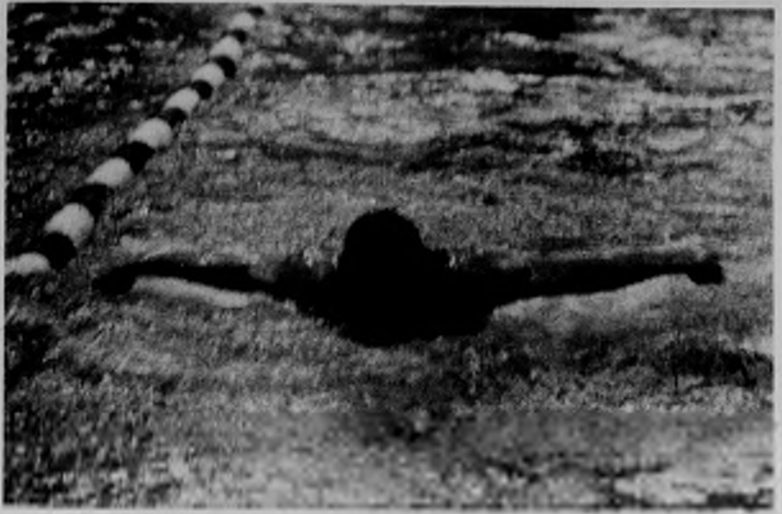
If you've just quit smoking and don't know what to do with your ash tray, take a tip from Pioneer. Install a TP-202. It's really tiny for an 8-track stereo player (you got it; small enough to fit most ash trays). And what it doesn't have in sheer bulk, it makes up in sheer features.
7.6 watts RMS, 15 watts peak power. Track indicator lights. Automatic and manual program change. Separate volume, balance, and tone controls.
A lot of fresh, clean sound from a little Pioneer.

TP-8000

Maybe you always thought a car stereo would mess up the underside of your dash. Or a lot of wires would show.
With Pioneer's TP-8000 no chance.
Wherever your radio is now, that's where this car stereo goes. It has adjustable control shafts so it'll fit exactly.
It plays 8-track stereo, FM stereo and AM. It has more power than any radio: 7.6 watts RMS, 15 watts peak power.
So now, Pioneer leaves you with only one reason not to treat yourself to an in-dash stereo. Our prices will probably take care of that.

WE ALSO CARRY A FULL LINE OF ACCESSORIES FOR YOUR CAR STEREO NEEDS.

tech hifi
Quality Components at the Right Price
250 Triangle St. Amherst 549-2600
100 Main St. Northampton 586-2552



MDC Photo by Chris Bourne

This Minuteman swimmer may not float like a bee, but he sure swims like a butterfly. You couldn't catch his act last night though, as the men's swim meet was tentatively cancelled. The wrestling meet scheduled for last evening was also allergic to those frosty little white flakes as the grapplers didn't grapple. That contest is rescheduled for tonight.

The Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon invite all University Men to an Open Rush
Feb. 11, 1975 at 8:00 p.m.
Followed by Rush
Exchange with Phi Omega

After being off campus for 5 years, we are establishing our UMass Chapter. Any interested University men wanting to be part of this new and growing fraternity are invited to come to our meetings.

Wed., Feb. 12 — 7:30 p.m.
911-915 CC
Thur., Feb. 13 — 7:30 p.m. — 803 CC

Gymmen

cont. from back page

[illegible]

sportsline
5-2210

Glenn Poster

Catfish in the YanCon

While all the talk around the first of the year in the sports world dealt with the big move of Catfish Hunter to the Yankees, another similar move went by almost unnoticed. You may remember late last fall that UMass football coach Dick MacPherson was trying to talk Vermont quarterback Bob Bateman into becoming a Minuteman.

Bob Bateman is going to Brown.

Penn and Dartmouth were the other two schools in Bateman's ultimate decision. For a guy who was the leading passer in the Yankee Conference last season, 1975 might not be as pleasant. UMass fans can recall a crisp, fall afternoon back on October 5th when the junior signal-caller rallied his [illegible]

[illegible]

Hawks cool B's 8-3

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jim Pappin's [illegible]

[illegible]

Vets Meeting
THURS., FEB. 13
3:30, 411 SUB
"We deal in action... not merely rhetoric"
Veterans' Coalition for Community Affairs

WMUA

Saturday, February 15 the Minutemen try to avenge last week's overtime loss when they travel to Storrs, Connecticut to take on the UConn Huskies. Air time with Larry Conway and Russ Small is 1:30 p.m. on the voice of the Minutemen, WMUA 91.1 FM.

AUTO PARTS
AMERICAN PARTS
$2.48
99¢ 41¢
$1.00 OFF
EVERYTHING FOR ANY GASKET NEED GASKETS
ALLIED MOTOR PARTS
319 MAIN ST., AMHERST

UMASS
SOPHOMORES

[illegible]

Australians romp 95-43

By CHAZ O'CONNOR

Apparently, the "goodwill" trip of the Australian national women's all star basketball team hasn't been "good". It has been excellent. UMass, the nineteenth opponent, became the nineteenth victim last night when they fell, 95-43, at Curry Hicks Cage.

A crowd of approximately 400 looked on as the Australian team, blessed with speed, height, and above all extraordinary quickness grabbed an early lead and didn't let up.

It was that quickness, unfamiliar to the UMass squad, which proved to be decisive. The Australians forced many turnovers and stole the ball numerous times.

Despite some brilliant plays by Christine Basile and an occasional fast break basket by the Minutewomen, nothing much beyond the opening ceremonies was commendable for the team. During those ceremonies, gifts were exchanged and the National Anthems of both countries were played.

The game was played using the international rules which differ slightly from those used here. The foul lane is wider, the inbounds pass must be made within three seconds instead of five, and a player must shoot a free throw within five seconds. Also, only two shot fouls are shot and even then the team has the option of taking the ball out of bounds.

Five players hit double figures for the "Nationals", with 6' Jan Bowman and 6'1" Julie Gross both scoring seventeen.

Sophomore Nancy O'Neil led UMass with ten points, with Christine Basile and Lu-Ann Fletcher each adding eight.

The team's performance was not that bad considering the fact that the Australians beat last year's AIAW champs, Immaculata College, by sixty points.

Rex Tomlinson, coach of the visiting team, commented afterward that "The competition hasn't been what we expected over here. Our hardest victory came against Mississippi College, a game we won by seven points". He also noted that there are seven members of the team which competed in the '72 Olympics in Munich.

UMass returns to New England action with a game tomorrow night against Vermont. Play at the NOPE gym will get underway at 8, with the J.V.'s idle.

Staff Photo by [illegible]

NOT THIS TIME — Minutewoman Christine Basile has a shot blocked by Australian star Sandra Tomlinson last night as the women's basketball squad was trounced by the Australian National team, 95-43.

Skaters ice UConn

By GLENN ROSTER

A Scott McChesney hat trick led the UMass hockey team to a 5-3 victory over UConn last night before an intimate crowd at Orr Rink. The victory left the Minutemen with an 8-7 record in Division II, their first winning mark in the league since opening night last November.

McChesney's return to the line-up couldn't have come at a better time. This was the first game without Billy Harris and you wouldn't even have noticed that he was missing. McChesney, a freshman from Ludlow, had damaged his leg in the fourth game of the season against Williams and centered a new freshman line with [illegible] [illegible] for the more resplendent in a helmet on top of his mask.

The Huskies knotted the count at 11:48 when Steve Balaban beat a sprawled Dana Redmond through a screen in front of the crease. That was to be the last time UConn would be even in the match. At 17:?? Mike Ells tipped in a shot from the point by [illegible] on a picture-perfect play in front of the net, something rare for a defenseman.

The Minutemen then went out in routine fashion and scored their remaining three goals before allowing the Huskies anything. Following a nullified score by Bob White because Chris Landry got caught in the crease, McChesney [illegible]

[illegible] between the pipe and Parson's left skate.

Landry made up for his in-crease performance with a goal at 12:08 on a backhand shot from the slot. He and Kevin Conners drew the assists. McChesney got his final goal on a breakaway from Plume at 18:18.

The only goals in the third period went to Connecticut. Tom Knoff and Fran Roche got the two goals, the latter on a two man advantage.

ICE CHIPS - Jim Lyons though not getting on the scoresheet, played a solid two-way hockey game up and down the ice all night long...Final shots were 37-30 UMass.

Gymmen overwhelmed

[illegible]

turn to page 15

NIT trip still in sight; Maine, UConn next

[illegible]

[illegible]

Inside: Kostek looks at Dylan looks at us

Freedom of the press makes

Cosmic debris

Spaces: God as tourist

By Mike Kneeland

You're watching John Gold ad-lib a Big Y commercial during his weather-cast when the NBC network breaks in from Washington.

Beings from another planet have landed their craft in the nation's capital and are communicating with horrified onlookers.

Sound far-fetched? Who can say for sure? There are those people who say it's bound to happen in the very near future. Sightings of UFOs have been reported by not only average American citizens, but also state troopers, politicians and other such people not anxious to align themselves with the "eccentric."

But what about religion? What would happen to the dogmas and its people who religiously believe in them?

Are religion and spacemen compatible? Or are they one in the same...

Let's first consider the mathematical possibilities that life exists on other planets.

Astronomer Harlow Shapely estimates there are 100,000,000,000,000,000,000 stars within range of our telescopes. If only one in a thousand of these [illegible] light years away get here? If, by some whim of advanced technology, objects could travel at the speed of light it would take thousands and even millions of years to get here. So any beings that land on earth now must have left a long time ago.

[illegible]

So perhaps it's academic to talk of life on other planets. But maybe not.

Erich Von Daniken offers a unique theory of religion and interplanetary life in Chariots of the Gods? He suggests that the earth was populated by beings from another planet. These beings then monitored the evolution of mankind and periodically changed unwanted developments they did not like.

"Today," he writes, "the possibility of breeding an intelligent human race is no longer such an absurd theory."

Daniken suggests that the Great Flood was set upon mankind by our planetary parents who didn't like what they saw developing in humans.

Daniken says the Bible is full of "secrets and contradictions."

In Genesis 1:26, Daniken writes, the Bible reads: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness."

"Why does God speak in the plural? Why does he say 'us', and not 'me'? [illegible]

[illegible]

continued on page [illegible]

BELOW SALT
Volume Three, Issue Three
13 February 1975
beyond objectivity

continued from page one

Is nothing sacred?

Lewis finds no reason why God should have particularly favored man and finds no problem with the existence of other beings.

Lewis rattles his readers saying, "Those who are, or can become, rational are our real brothers even if they have shells or tusks. It is spiritual, not biological, kinship that counts."

Lewis raises other interesting points. "If there are species and rational species, other than man, are any or all of them, like us, fallen?" ... "If all of them (and surely all is a long shot) or any of them have fallen, have they been denied Redemption by the Incarnation and Passion of Christ?"

Lewis suggests that the redemption of other species "different from ours by working with ours." St. Paul (Romans 8:19-22) says the whole creation is longing and waiting to be delivered from some kind of slavery.

Now let's assume there are people on other planets, that they have somehow landed on earth, and that this intelligent race has long ago proven life is a result of chemical evolution.

Could life, indeed, have evolved chemically? That's a question many biochemists today would answer in the affirmative.

Certain chemicals have "always" existed in the universe in certain forms — gaseous (as in the formation of the universe), solids or liquids.

Through hydrogen fusion and other chemical reactions, more complicated chemicals and elements were formed. Some molecules began to organize. Gradually cells were formed with each part, or organelle, performing a specific function, some with the ability to ... "extract and transform energy from their environment," according to the highly respected biochemist Albert L. Lehninger.

These cells, a biochemist might continue, had the extraordinary ability to self-replicate, forming organisms of more and more complexity. The organisms best adapted to their environment left more "offspring" organisms, a story-book of the survival of the fittest.

Somewhere in the process, life began. But does such a scientific approach interfere with religion?

Not necessarily. There is still the question of how the original matter got there in the first place. Perhaps God created the basis for life and set the properties of nature, as he defined them, take their course. When man came into being, God infused a soul, some religious would argue.

Such a development of life obviously disagrees, literally, with the story in Genesis.

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, who works with the Lyman Hillel foundation, says that Genesis does not have to be viewed as a scientific method of proof.

"Genesis," he says, "is a story of spiritual or moral nature of the Universe. It shows that the world is ordered. People can live a meaningful life without worrying about a capricious God."

What's apparent is that nothing is apparent. It's one of those things that will have to happen, if it happens at all, before it can be factually written about.

But it's easy to recall how few some fearful radio listeners killed themselves in the "War of the Worlds" broadcast when Martians had supposedly landed in New Jersey.

And it's also easy to recall what happened in Ecuador a few years later when a radio station aired a similar program. Listeners burned down the station.

Do we really want to know?

Below the Salt
Volume 3, Issue 3
13 February 1975

☐☐☐ mentally invalid

Editor
[illegible]

[illegible]

Salty comments and caustic replies

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to comment on the "What Ever He Puts In Between Here And His Last Name" [illegible]

[illegible] racial advice. The facts are that the majority of good basketball players are found in the often superiorly muscular and athletically inclined black man's body. The majority of black men who become good basketball [illegible]

[illegible]

—[illegible]

A little clarification mate.

Just the facts... Ten weekly blacks, from the ghetto in basketball [illegible]

[illegible]

—[illegible]

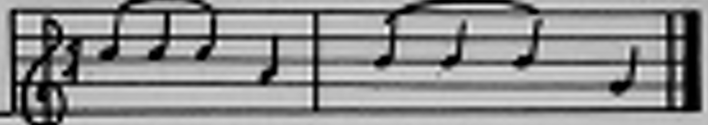
Now appearing at the
THE GREAT [illegible]
LITTLE FIRE
[illegible]
Happy Hour [illegible]

[illegible]

SUNSHINE RECORDS
ALBUMS
$4.[illegible]
[illegible]

bookspaj

Symphonic Prose



Napoleon Symphony
By Anthony Burgess
Knopf
[illegible] pages.

Anthony Burgess has received, perhaps unfairly, his greatest recognition among the general public for A Clockwork Orange. In that book, Burgess invents a new language for Alex and his friends. It is in that invention that one finds Burgess' central literary interest — the uses and abuses of language.

The sacredness of language, the necessity of its preservation as a means of viable communication, was also the chief concern of another twentieth century British writer — George Orwell. Orwell, in several essays and in 1984, makes his case that language can be used as an instrument of either oppression or revelation. Burgess, in an article he wrote for the "New York Times Magazine" a year or so ago, argues in a similar vein to Orwell that language is a sacred instrument and those who use it must not betray it.

Burgess' great concern and vision in regards to the use of language in mind, Napoleon Symphony is a book which is consistent with his view of literature. This "novel in four movements" is an attempt to produce a piece of literature which will parallel in theme, tone, structure and effect a piece of music.

The piece of music is Beethoven's Third Symphony, the Eroica, a tragic-comic tribute [illegible] of the Emperor Napoleon. This type of undertaking, while not unique, is certainly one of the most prodigious literary experiments of the last few years. There have been numerous other attempts to link different art forms. [illegible] has many poems based upon his paintings. For the novel though, this may be a whole new path to travel.

In many ways, Burgess is successful, for whatever that means, in his experiment. Thematically, the novel corresponds closely to Beethoven's Symphony. Napoleon is represented as a tyrant, a lover, a soldier, a heroic figure and as many ideals as the imprisoned Prometheus.

In terms of structure, the reader must be warned of my limited musical knowledge. In the first movement of the novel there are four re-occurring themes, as in the first movement of the Symphony, as I understand. This is, I am told, a sonata allegro form which Burgess attempts to recreate in prose fiction. Throughout the novel these themes re-appear, masked in one form or another, but the basic thematic element is always present.

[illegible] content, Burgess pays homage to Napoleon.

Burgess deals with Napoleon in a sardonic way; he does not really come down on him as a tyrant the way Beethoven is reputed to have.

[illegible] tone and thematic parallelism, Burgess has forgotten what the Eroica sounds like. This is an indispensable consideration when dealing with music. The Third Symphony of Beethoven has strong rhythmic patterns that give the impression of cohesion and continuity. Burgess' novel is staccato and jerky throughout. There does not seem to be any way to reconcile the two. [illegible] — Thomas Wolfe's writing for one.

Despite the shortcomings of the novel, the idea of combining art forms in this manner is exciting. It brings up the question of creativity [illegible]. We have a situation in this case of two artists hundreds of years apart, both approaching their art with a similar idea in mind. The results are, of course, quite different.

There is, however, an almost [illegible] parallelism in their work which hints at a [illegible] bond which unites the artists in their creative energy. [illegible]

All this talk of universal creativity is probably crap. Burgess, in his Epistle to the reader [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Book Corner

[illegible]

—[illegible]

TONIGHT
"Some of My Best Friend's"
Hampden Dining Commons
9-1
$1.00 Cover
25¢ Beer

tap happening

Gas dancing and hoot-stomps

Student Union Gallery

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

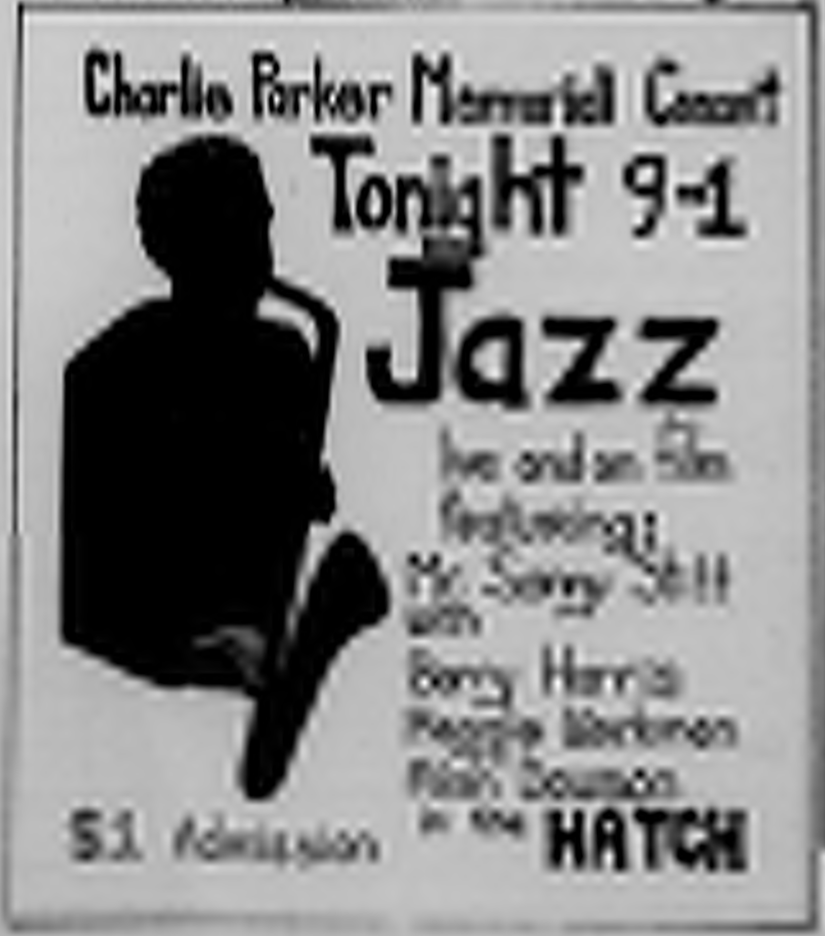
First chance dance

reviewed by [illegible]

"Experiment in Dance" series

[illegible]

Mon., Feb. 17
SKYJACKED



Charlie Parker Memorial Concert
Tonight 9-1
Jazz
live and on film
featuring:
Mr. Sonny Stitt
with Barry Harris
Reggie Workman
Alan Dawson
in the HATCH
$1 Admission

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents
Israel Chamber Orchestra
The Hartford Ballet

a continuing saga of the absurd

The Tower

a third chapter sometimes by Congressman E. Patrick McQuaid

[illegible]

TAKE IT EASY BABY
Inventory Sale
20% Off
Everything

[illegible]

VILLAGE INN

Winter Carni Events

Friday, Feb. 14, 1975 8:00 p.m. Bowker Auditorium

"Lady Chi"

FREE CONCERT Two Groups

Saturday, Feb. 15, 1975 8:00 p.m. Student Union Ballroom

- Sulaiman Hakim and the Philadelphia Contemporary Ensemble
- Mickey Bass & Co-operation Sextet of New York

ADM. FREE

Rusty
Nail
Inn

Yes impress with another success

by Ross Herrenberg

RELAYER
YES
(Atlantic SD 18122)
Total Time: 40:28

It's not easy to get enthusiastic over Yes these days, what with their most recent album, Tales From Topographic Oceans, being almost universally acclaimed as a disappointing disaster. However, their follow-up to Tales, Relayer is without question a big improvement. That's a truly fortunate occurrence for the Yesmen, for their cult of fans, and for the entire music world in general.

Relayer consists solely of extended music cuts, as there are only three separate songs on the entire album. All of side one is encompassed by "The Gates of Delirium." Supposedly a concept of war and peace, it features Yes' usual long segments of instrumentation wrapped around lyrics which are virtually indecipherable at times. Here is but a sample:

"Choose and renounce throwing chains to the floor Kill or be killing faster sins correct the flow
Casting giant shadows of [illegible]
Penetrating force
To alter via the war that seen
As friction opens the spirits wraith ascending (slowly) to redeem."

Maybe lyrics like these mean something to the composer, Jon Anderson, but if you are the typical kid in the street, they come close to being impenetrable. However, since they are seemingly of a secondary nature to the rapid time changes and variations employed throughout the piece, this shortening is fairly forgivable. They may be tough to fathom, but they are still pleasing to the ear.

Side two is made up of two songs, each over nine minutes long. "Sound Chaser" is the first of these. Its tempo changes are quite good, as they lead into one long, well-developed, smooth-flowing cut. "To Be Over," the album's closer, maintains a slower and gentler rhythm throughout. It holds up very well. As is the case on the first side, the outstanding characteristic on these two songs is the instrumental passages and the wide variety of timing change.

The instrumentation found on Relayer is very sharp and, of course, has that distinctive 'Yes sound': the growing guitar of Steve Howe, the bouncing bass of Chris Squire, the pounding percussion of Alan White, and the whizzing keyboards of Pat Moraz, teamed with Anderson's high-pitched vocals, all blend together to form a melodious symphony of sound. Howe's work on guitar is what seems to set the impetus for the others. He is particularly effective when he breaks into a bit on one of his synthesized guitars, as he is able to direct entire passages in any one of a number of directions. Moraz, a 26-year-old classically trained Swiss musician brought in from Refugee, a trio consisting of the two members of the Nice not named Emerson, to replace the departed Rick Wakeman, does a more than acceptable job in creating his new role in the group. Before he became the newest member of Yes, he had composed twenty-nine film scores. Although he lacks the onstage flamboyancy of Wakeman, he comes through on Relayer with an exact duplication of the recorded Wakeman sound.

Yes: no AM Radio success for this "classical-space music."

A tip of the hat should go to Eddie Offord, for the production of this album is flawless. Offord is Yes' regular producer and he really knows how to get the peak sound out of the group and onto record. At one time, he also produced for Emerson, Lake and Palmer, until Greg Lake took over those chores himself. It is much to Yes' credit that they have kept him on, for there are so many big rock bands which insist on producing their own stuff, thereby losing the valuable opinions of a qualified outsider who can be a bit more objective.

To sum things up, let me say that this is not Yes' best album, but it certainly is a damn good one. The song structuring has been drastically revised from that found on Yes' earlier albums, as the band has crept into the realm of "classical-space music" on their more recent releases. Gone are the days in which Yes was concerned with making it big on AM radio via such tunes as "Your Move" and "Roundabout." Instead, they are now concerned only with pleasing themselves, not with pleasing the critics (the vast majority of whom probably do not care for this album). No matter how they may be knocked in print, Yes continues to sell albums at a brisk pace. If you are one of those who wish to appreciate Yes' music to the fullest extent, you really have to hear them live, as evidenced by the three-record Yessongs, which is, in my opinion, one of the greatest live albums ever done for a rock band.

* * *

A dog was responsible for unearthing the skull, which was found about 10:26 a.m., Friday, December [illegible], on the lawn of the home of Raymond D. Barnes Jr. of Oak Avenue, Lake Quebeag.

Albrecht terHeyheyhay found dead in Home Rule Toy Chest squabble

I CAN STAND A LITTLE RAIN
JOE COCKER

[illegible]

CHANGING WOMAN
BUFFY SAINTE-MARIE

[illegible]

Smoke pourin out of a boxcar door

by M.C.P. Koslek II

Blood On The Tracks
Bob Dylan
Columbia PC 33235 Time 51:42

This album is a frenzy of action, a blood-call of romance, life and unplumbed lust. It grows within the confines of your room, your life's boundaries, pushing them more and more open. It recalls the past, enraptures the cross-country traveller, captures the strong spirit in us all. Like any art, we are different after experiencing it; like the greatest art, it keeps expanding and developing inside us. It walks outside of its creator as an entity. Creator is a mighty word. Life itself is all we have, all we know, and its mysteries are the only thing we have to puzzle us. And these mysteries drive us crazy. Dylan's poetic stance, his written shapes, his spun rhymes, his perfectly balanced singing, his unassuming melodies have combined to form some of the most powerful music in our lifetime.

The particulars of this process elude stupid, superficial critics ("Hey, dig it, Dylan's in black face, wow... Far Out...") who can only vaguely hint at his art. The thoroughly infatuated ones also do not see clearly, because more than anything else, Bob's message has always been: Get what you got, put it in a little paper bag AND HIT THE ROAD, either physically or mentally. By seeking life by studying Dylan, the fanatics miss his source. Our source. (Dylan told A.J. Weberman, a "Dylanologist", "You've been in the city too long, Al.") It is the most amazing thing that we can constantly being [illegible] through to us, as surely as possible. Through our sullen and cumbersome psyches and Freudian whips and garroted fads, "All ye can do — is do what you must. — You do what you must do, and ya do it well."

[illegible]

It's obvious that the particular realm of human emotion that now fascinates Dylan the most is love, love of the male-female kind. A classic realm itself, and when combined with the pressures and vagaries of life makes for some of the most powerful bursts of emotion any of us will ever encounter, and this is where Dylan dwells with lingering interest.

BOB DYLAN BLOOD
ON THE TRACKS

"The deadliest blow the enemies of the human soul can strike is to do fury honor." — James Agee

[illegible]

"Simple Twist of Fate" follows directly, and is about these random, strange, ordinary events that alter such immense yet unrecognized parts of all of our lives (where you were born, marrying someone you meet in your randomly selected college...). Both of these songs express one of the overriding themes on Blood On The Tracks, that of coming of age, which either means getting out of a bad situation with relief or leaving a good one unwillingly, by growing up and regretting it immensely. Being young, we can't help ourselves in many situations, yet we were there, and [illegible]

[illegible] notes in noting that Dylan involves us in his art by leaving out just enough for us to join and fill in, but this only makes his art more alluring. It still is in his masterly story-telling that the seeds are sown.

Nowhere as here is the playing as good as the Band's on Planet Waves or Before The Flood, but it's all assured, crisp and provides the sweetness of feeling when called for. Dylan dwarfs the rest of the instruments, with his favorite rolling organ [illegible]

Of the remaining seven [illegible]

[illegible]

Jones, and sidles up to a balanced end with "Buckets of rain, buckets of tears, got all them buckets comin' outta my ears... buckets of moonbeams in my hands." It's all here with us, and we must live with it.

It's the most impressive part, perhaps, of all this, how easily, how naturally this business goes down. The songs take colorful twists, go down [illegible] paths or shoot at [illegible]

* * *

[illegible]

Blood On The Tracks is a [illegible]

Mildly addicting snail times

[illegible]

[illegible]

film

A Jigsaw for Connoisseurs

[illegible]

Albert Finney as Hercule Poirot

[illegible]

film

Sadistic Jokes and Old Beans

[illegible]

THE HUNGRY-U
SUBS & PIZZA
WE DELIVER

FRATERNITY SYSTEM RUSH

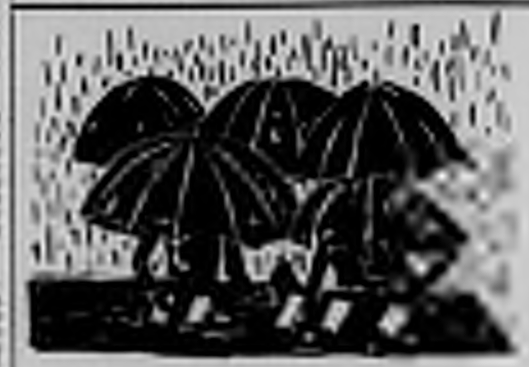
TONIGHT

[illegible]

a clear view

Law Against Cold Rainy Weather

[illegible]



[illegible]

Freedom of the Press

[illegible]

EAT YOUR WAY THROUGH SCHOOL WITH A Steak & Brew SCHOLARSHIP
Steak & Brew

GOOD-TIME MUSIC
Pousette-Dart String Band
ONLY ONE DOLLAR

Jazzah jazzah

NEW IMPROVED SEVERIN BROWNE
(Motown M6-77951)

The cover of this album shows a smiling Severin Browne holding a can of beer with the familiar "Severin Browne" brand name, superimposed on a mammoth, sudsing can of the same volatile brand. The message is: listen to this with an open mind, a smile on your face and the warm glow of love in your heart. Because, on the vinyl this Crazy Man makes some pretty sweet sounds with lyrics that will have any Jackson Browne fan rolling on the floor with laughter. And that's the point herein.

From the very first cut on Side One [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

—[illegible]

It was the second skull that had been unearthed by a dog in a month. The first skull was found November [illegible] by three teenagers after a dog apparently found the skull and dropped it on a lawn on Hyde Street. A [illegible] search turned up the rest of the skeleton in woods off Pleasant Street. It was eventually identified as that of Raymond [illegible], of [illegible] Street, [illegible].

AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST. 253-5426
NOW Rome. Before Christ. After Fellini. Now
"FELLINI SATYRICON"
Plus
The Fall of the Roman Empire 1931–1972
"FELLINI'S ROMA" R
Eves: Roma - 7:00 Satyricon - 9:00
MONDAY & TUESDAY BARGAIN NITES - ALL SEATS $1.00

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
NORTHAMPTON MASS. 584-8435
Only Area Showing! On screen at: 7:00 & 9:00
A GREAT NEW MOTION PICTURE COMEDY
THE MOST HILARIOUS WILDEST MOVIE IS HERE!
"insanely funny, outrageous and irreverent."
The GROOVE TUBE
R Color

ADULTS ONLY!
Friday Late Show
Prurient Interest
Can a shy little girl from Disneyland find happiness and success in big New York as a porno queen?
AMHERST Cinema
AMITY ST., AMHERST
253-5426

SHOWPLACE
DOWNTOWN GREENFIELD
EVES 7:00 - 9:15
Sat.-Sun. Matinee at 2:00 p.m.
"A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!" —Vincent Canby, New York Times
PG
ALBERT FINNEY LAUREN BACALL MARTIN BALSAM INGRID BERGMAN JACQUELINE BISSET JEAN PIERRE CASSEL SEAN CONNERY JOHN GIELGUD WENDY HILLER ANTHONY PERKINS VANESSA REDGRAVE RACHEL ROBERTS RICHARD WIDMARK MICHAEL YORK
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"
Sorry No Bargain Nites — Tel. 773-8043

Max von Sydow
Liv Ullmann
The Emigrants
[illegible]
Thursday, Feb. 13 S.U.B. 75¢
7 & 10

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
1 PETER FINCH LIV ULLMANN THE ABDICATION
NOW THE TV CRITICS MAKE IT UNANIMOUS
[illegible]
2 LE SEX SHOP
THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
3 WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
FOR GROUP INFORMATION CALL [illegible]
4 James Caan Alan Arkin Freebie and the Bean

Children [illegible] All Shows
Cinema
[illegible]
WALT DISNEY
THE STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD
Bargain [illegible]

film times

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
The Groove Tube - [illegible]
AMHERST CINEMA
Fellini Satyricon - 9:00
Roma - 7:00
Prurient Interest - [illegible]

MT. FARMS FOUR
The Abdication - [illegible]
Le Sex Shop - [illegible]
Fantasia - [illegible]
Freebie and the Bean - [illegible]

SHOWCASE CINEMAS
The Towering Inferno - [illegible]
Earthquake - [illegible]
Murder on the Orient Express - [illegible]
Freebie and the Bean - [illegible]
Mr. Ricco - [illegible]
The Godfather, Part II - [illegible]

SHOWPLACE CINEMAS
Murder on the Orient Express - [illegible]
[illegible] CINEMA
The Strongest Man in the World - [illegible]

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
"The special effects are smashing." THE TOWERING INFERNO PG
EARTHQUAKE PG
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S "MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"
Alan Arkin James Caan Freebie and the Bean R
DEAN MARTIN "MR. RICCO"
The Godfather PART II

Art . . .

FIVE COLLEGE AND AREA EXHIBITS

Amherst College — American Painters of the Arctic (first show of its kind), through March 2. "The Arctic as Frontier and the Romance of Science."

The Collector Galleries — 11 Bridge St., Northampton — Scott Prior, Paintings, Drawings, Prints. Feb. 8-28.

Hampshire College — Frank Phillips, photographs, through Feb. 14. Art Hoener Feb. 17-March [illegible] Gallery — Art Acquisitions of 1974

[illegible]

Theatre . . .

Last Thursday at 4:00 p.m. at the Theater Department, within the new fine arts complex, the Experimental Theater produced its inaugural show to a capacity audience. Pictured above (below) is L. R. Hults, who headed the cast with an outstanding characterization of a downtrodden old man fighting to survive his 20th eviction in as many years. Every Thursday at 4:00 p.m. will bring a new one-hour show innovatively conceived, designed, and directed by University of Massachusetts theater students. Admission is free and open to everyone.

The [illegible] Experimental Theater presented Murray Schisgal's THE OLD JEW with L.R. Hults in an opening at the Fine Arts Building Studio Theatre.

AREA THEATRE

As You Like It, Studio Theatre, Fine Arts Center, Feb. 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 8:00 p.m.

Lady Che, a political love comedy, the Action Theatre of London, Bowker, Feb. 14, 8:00 p.m.

The Price, Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre, Smith, Feb. 14 & 15, 8:00 p.m.

The Little Foxes, Theatre 14, Smith, Feb. 27 at 7:00, Feb. 28 at 8:00.

A Raisin in the Sun, The Hartford Stage Company, Hartford, Conn., now — March 9.

Dance

[illegible]

Participatory:

UMass International Folk Dancing Club, Cape Cod Lounge, S.U., Monday nights, 7:00 p.m.

Haymakers Square Dance Club, Cape Cod Lounge, S.U., Tuesday nights, 8:00 p.m.

Israeli Dancing, Cape Cod Lounge, S.U., Wednesday nights, 7:00.

Dance Free, Campus Center (Check information desk), Friday nights.

Israeli and International Folk dancing, Gill Hall, Smith, Thursday nights, 8:00.

* * *

[illegible]

— [illegible]

* * *

[illegible]

* * *

"the only owl in the forest who could spell" — WOL

GIVE A GIFT for VALENTINE'S DAY
MADE BY UMASS STUDENT CRAFTSMEN
ON SALE DAILY CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE
PLANTS LEATHER MACRAME POSTERS CURTIS PHOTOS
CARDS POTTERY PLANTERS GLOVES PERSONAL PORTRAITS
SCRIMSHAW
WOOD, SILVER, BEADS, FEATHER, MACRAME AND SPOON JEWELRY

EMPORIUM INDIA
at the Carriage Shops says
Happy Valentine Day with the Valentine Maxi
ON SALE
at $10.00
Emporium India — "The Creative Place to Shop"
Open [illegible] Daily

187 N. Pleasant St.
the SHOE-BIN
Red Navy White
FAST-BREAK
$5.95
By Converse

Quicksilver
[illegible] No. Pleasant St.
presents
THURS. FEB. 13 The John Hill Bluestars
FRI. FEB. 14 SAT. FEB. 15 SUNARC
HAPPY HOUR
4 - 7 Daily
Draught 25¢ Mixed 55¢

Blue Planet Weekend

LOCAL MUSIC

Mitch Chakour and the Mission Band — Rusty Nail, Feb. 13-16.
Dynamic Sex Machine — Hatch, Feb. 14, 15.
Seagull — Red Pantry (Belchertown), Feb. 14-15.
Little Fire — Steak Out, Feb. 13-15.
Rush — Bluewall, Feb. 13-15.
Live Lobster — Warehouse 1 (Springfield), Feb. 14-16.
Poussette Dart String Band — Wendell Rangers — Campus Center Aud., Feb. 16.
Aces & Eights — Rusty Nail, Feb. 18, 19.
Lilith — Lavender Moon (Turners Falls), Feb. 15.
[illegible] — Top of the Campus, Feb. 13-15.
Ed Trickett — Chelsea House Cafe and Folklore Center (W. Brattleboro, Vt.) Feb. 14, 16.
[illegible] — Quicksilver, Feb. 13.
[illegible] — Quicksilver, Feb. 14, 15.
[illegible] — Rusty Nail, Feb. 17.
Dan Sullivan — The Pub, Feb. 13, 14 (3:30 p.m.), 16.
B.J. — The Pub, Feb. 14 (9:00).
Willow — The Pub, Feb. 15.
John Morgan — The Pub, 18.

ON PARADE

(T indicates tix on sale at CC Hotel lobby)

UMASS

Israel Chamber Orchestra — Feb. 11, Bowker.
Peter Frampton — Andy Bown — Feb. 21, SUB ($2.75 students, $3.75 Others).

SPRINGFIELD

Jethro Tull — March 11, Civic Center T.
Marshall Tucker Band — Elvin Bishop — Johnny Montgomery Band — Feb. 19, Civic Center T.

BOSTON

Roy Buchanan — John Entwistle's Ox — March 1, Orpheum.
Leo Sayer — Prelude — March 4, Paul's Mall.
Waylon Jennings — Doc Watson — Frankie Myers — March 8, Harvard Square Theatre.
Jethro Tull — March 12, 13, Boston Garden, early show sold out, second show not on sale. T
Alice Cooper — April 26, Boston Garden. Tentative.
The Modelfellows — Feb. 12-16, Sugar Shack.

Freddie King — Feb. 13-16, Jazz Workshop.
Gato Barbieri — Feb. 13-16, Paul's Mall.
Queen — Lynyrd Skynyrd [illegible]
Sha Na Na [illegible]
[illegible]
Kool & The Gang — Feb. 17-20, Paul's Mall.
Mose Allison — Feb. 17-23, Jazz Workshop.
[illegible]
Chambers Brothers — Feb. 24 - March 2, Paul's Mall.
[illegible] — Feb. 24 - March 2, Jazz Workshop.
[illegible] — March 3-8, Paul's Mall.
[illegible] — March 3-9, Jazz Workshop.
Joe Walsh — [illegible] — March 8, Orpheum. T
Orchestra Luna — March 4-7, Paul's Mall.

PROVIDENCE R.I.

(T indicates tix on sale in ticket office, Campus Center, Hotel Lobby)

Rod Stewart & The Faces — Blue Oyster Cult — [illegible] — Civic Center, Feb. 23.
J. Geils Band — Feb. 28, Palace Theatre.
Jethro Tull — March 8, Civic Center. Sold Out.
John Denver — April 17, Civic Center. Tentative.
Seals & Crofts — April 18, Civic Center. Tentative.

Below The Salt Photo by [illegible]

- * Pure Gold
-  [illegible]
-  [illegible]
- * Cardboard

ABBY★★

[illegible]

CABARET★★★

[illegible]

CAMILLE★★★★

[illegible]

EARTHQUAKE★★

[illegible] The Towering Inferno [illegible]

THE EMIGRANTS★★★★

[illegible]

FANTASIA★★★

[illegible] Night on Bald Mountain and The Sorcerer's Apprentice [illegible]

FELLINI'S ROMA — FELLINI SATYRICON★★★★

[illegible] Roma [illegible]

PHOEBE AND THE BEAN★★

Reviewed in this issue.

GODFATHER★★★★★

Francis Coppola's [illegible]

THE GROOVE TUBE★★★

[illegible]

HEX★★

[illegible]

LE SEX SHOPPE★★★★

[illegible]

MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS★★★

[illegible]

THE POINT★★★

[illegible]

THE TOWERING INFERNO★★

[illegible]

SLEEPER — EVERYTHING YOU WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT SEX — BANANAS★★★★★

[illegible]

—by Jeffrey Feldman

Needle in the camel's eye

by Craig Roche

Peter Frampton

The Program Council is proud to present, and UMass should be proud to hear, Peter Frampton in the Student Union Ballroom on Friday, February 21. Now the name of Peter Frampton may not be a household name to many, but he is a rare combination of artist-performer who has steadfastly chosen to strive toward the best music that he can make, not necessarily the most money, and therefore he should be.

Frampton is a known and respected name among his musical friends, having played on Nilsson sessions and on one of the Jerry Lee Lewis London Sessions albums. His career started in the seminal English pop scene in the mid-sixties in a group called the Herd. When the band fell apart in 68-69, he and friend, Steve Marriott, formed Humble Pie. Frampton is the Pie's lead guitarist and vocalist on the Pie albums through Rockin' The Fillmore East. At this point his and Marriott's musical interests diverged and Frampton left the band to begin a solo career. Humble Pie of course continued on its present peak of obscurity.

As a solo artist, Frampton has released three albums on A&M Records and has a fourth one due out soon. His initial effort, Wind of Change, got a lot of airplay in the summer of '72. Ringo and Klaus Voorman, Jim Price and Billy Preston all added their talents to it.

Tickets will be $2.75 for UMass students and $3.75 for the rest of the world. This concert could easily be the best rock event at the UMass concert in more than a year. Be there.

"Just one of several options"

Bromery downplays resource fee

By CINDY ROGERS
MDC Staff

Chancellor Randolph Bromery said yesterday "everyone is being premature" in choosing the $275 Universal Resource Fee as a "foregone conclusion."

"It's one of several options, the amount of the fee is varied with the options," Bromery said.

Yesterday, Vice-Chancellor Robert Gage told The Collegian, the six options:

Additional subsidies from the State.

The universal resource fee of $275 as a phase-in plan to be levied only to incoming students. This would also reduce the residence hall fee by $150 to those paying the fee.

After three years, the $275 would also include the Campus Center fee.

A $150 fee levied on all students next year.

A program reducing services in the economics of operation. This option would include some reduction of personnel.

A fee of $60 a year for all students plus [illegible] of operations.

And a revised academic calendar.

The University may consider a trimester system. This, Gage said, would give more base of financial support in the dorms.

Bromery called the confidential labeling of two reports as a "misnomer". He said anytime you make more than one copy of a memo, it loses its ability to be confidential. It also waves a flag that something is secret.

He also said he told Gage it was not necessary to make the reports confidential, because they were a set of alternatives that were going to be shared.

However, Bromery said he understood why Gage wanted the distribution of reports restricted so people who wouldn't understand it would get a hold of it. And it wouldn't be interpreted as the [illegible].

Bromery said by making the reports confidential, it draws all kinds of concerns. "If it is open, he said, there is less chance of something being misinterpreted." Bromery added, "I am not criticizing Dr. Gage, I just wouldn't do it, myself."

"The decision will be made," Bromery continued, "in consultation with many people and students."

Gage said a decision must be made by Candidates Reply Day, May 1. It should be in the President's office by Feb. 28 and the information concerning the information decision has to be in the hand of the Board of Trustees by the March 4 or 5.

Bromery said the responsibility of the decision is on him and he wants as broad a consultation as possible.

When asked about the confidentiality of the reports, Gage said, "my interest is in solving a problem. I don't want to hide anything. There was a lot of student involvement as staff on it."

Gage expressed favor of the $275 fee phase-in option. But he said he wants student involvement "in the evaluation of the option and that is what is important." Gage also said he would meet with SGA President Rick Savini to "see what we are going to arrange."

turn to page 9

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
VOLUME [illegible], ISSUE [illegible]
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1975

weather

[illegible]

Bromery, Wood address faculty

Outside group may examine School of Ed

By CHRISTINE DILLARD
MDC Staff

Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery told the Faculty Senate yesterday that he was considering the establishment of an outside committee to examine the strengths and weaknesses of the School of Education.

He said that the committee would be headed by a person of national prominence who he was unprepared to name.

The Faculty Senate passed an amended motion to establish an "ad-hoc Committee of Review to evaluate the administration and academic standards of the School of Education in the period 1968-1975."

Bromery said that he had received the recommendation of Professor Louis Fischer from the School of Education Cabinet for acting dean. He added that Fischer was under consideration, and that he will go to the School of Education tomorrow and talk to the cabinet.

Bromery added that he has spent a lot of time with Wood considering the allegations of Dean Scott's memorandum, and that he hoped to release a statement to the campus next week.

Bromery said he would offer his staff's support to the ad-hoc committee. He added "I think that the taint upon the integrity of the School of Education has to be removed as soon as possible."

When questioned about the difference between the outside committee and the faculty committee of review, Bromery said "I consider it a matter of focus, the Faculty Senate will get into far greater detail than the committee I am considering."

Bromery also said that he would join the chairman and then consult with the School of Education, President Wood, the Administration, and the Board of Trustees "so that biases can't creep in."

turn to page 2

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Chancellor Randolph Bromery and President Robert Wood speaking at Faculty Senate meeting.

Wood speech cites budget, Ed School

By HILLARY [illegible]
Staff Reporter

UMass President Robert C. Wood addressed the Faculty Senate yesterday on two important ongoing campus issues: the School of Ed controversy and the 1976 UMass budget.

Wood revealed that the School of Ed audit, currently being conducted by the University Treasurer's office and various law enforcement agencies, is only concerned with about $2 million.

Wood said that out of all the funds handled by the School of Ed, between $15-20 million, there is about a ten per cent chance of there being any real question of irregularity and non-performance.

Concerning the budget, Wood indicated he wants people to base any predictions on the [illegible] million budget the University requested in September. He said he felt the budget problem is not a battle between himself and Governor Michael Dukakis.

Wood said that the senate members should direct their energies towards dealing with the long term budget consequences that UMass will face and the problems that might arise in three to five years given the worsening state of the economy.

He prefaced his remarks to the Senate by assuring its members that he feels the entire University is entitled to a review of the School of Ed situation which will be done as soon as his office, Chancellor Bromery, and the Board of Trustees can do it.

Wood told the senate that the School of Ed audit which Bromery requested is being done by the Treasurer's office. "At this time," Wood said, "all audits have been turned over to the appropriate law enforcement agencies. Today, Health, Education, and Welfare joined with our audit review in the continuation of the School of Ed audit."

turn to page 6

Governing Board continues debate on fired worker

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The Campus Center Board of Governors last night ended a forty-five minute debate over the firing of a student employee by voting to continue the issue at a special session of the Board on Tuesday.

According to Milton Kerstein, chairperson of the Student Employee Committee, Tony Tartaglia was fired last semester from his position as bar supervisor "without adequate reason for his dismissal."

Tartaglia, who has worked for the Campus Center management for three years, attended last night's meeting to bring his grievances before the entire Board.

John Corker, director of the Campus Center, told the board that he felt the situation should be handled in an executive session of the board.

Corker told the board, "the discussion of this situation will not only involve a student employee but also the professional staff and therefore it is not a proper topic for an open session."

Expressing his opinion that the topic should be discussed in a board meeting open to the public, Kerstein said that, "this is an issue of fundamental importance, it has to do with the way students are treated in this building and should not be taken up behind closed doors."

Reiterating Kerstein's position that the meeting should be open to the public, Michael [illegible] of the newly formed Union of Student Employees Organization Com-

turn to page 6

Staff Photos by Peter Kruse

Stephen Smith, of the JFK Library Corporation and H.J. Littlefield, UMass planning director, visited a potential site for the JFK museum-library complex yesterday. The site under consideration would mean the removal of these buildings in the Stockbridge area of UMass. President Robert Wood and Chancellor Randolph Bromery listen intently as Smith responds to a question at the press conference held in the Chancellor's chambers prior to the site visit.

JFK Library head considers UMass sites

By FRED NOBLES
Staff Reporter

Stephen Smith, president of the John F. Kennedy Library Corporation, yesterday toured three sites offered by the UMass administration as possible locations for the Kennedy Library and Museum.

Smith characterized two of the sites as "spectacular", but said there were some "complications" with the third site, adjacent to Fraternity-Sorority Park.

One location under consideration is a seven to ten acre site near Boyden Gym bordering on Commonwealth Avenue. The use of this site would require the removal of the farm buildings that now occupy it.

The second location under consideration is [illegible] field adjacent to the Bus Terminal.

The third location, at Fraternity-Sorority Park, was less appealing to Smith because there might be some conflict about the use of this site between UMass and the town of Amherst.

Smith was accompanied on his tour of the sites by UMass President Robert Wood and Chancellor Randolph Bromery. Wood said he felt the Kennedy Library should be located at one of the UMass campuses because they are the state educational institutions representing the people of Massachusetts.

Smith said there are two alternatives for the library now being considered by the corporation. The first would call for the division of the archives from the museum, with Harvard University providing a site for the archives and some other location for the museum.

The second alternative, according to Smith, is to combine both the archives and the museum at one location.

"The purpose of my visit," said Smith, "is to explore the second alternative; to move the library here or to the Harbor Campus."

Wood said that if a UMass campus is selected as a final site it should get "the whole package." He went on to say that the archives and museum are "integral parts" of a whole which would decrease in value if separated.

Smith said he expected the corporation to choose a site in "four to five months or perhaps sooner."

According to Smith the corporation will be taking into consideration the fact that the late president expressed a desire to have the library located in "an urban learning center." He also said that community reaction to the proposed sites would be "terribly important."

In reference to the UMass sites, Smith said, "There is definitely an advantage in the corporation's view to being associated with a university."

Astrology major sign of the times for UMass students

By THOMAS G. BRINE
Staff Reporter

Pursuing a career in stars, Jaffrey Jawer, Lawrence Shea and Leslie Mitchell will be three of four students in the country to graduate with a major concentration in astrology.

The three say they believe that with a career in astrology, they are better equipped to understand themselves and others.

"As I gradually saw astrology work," said Shea, "in the gathering of data, it led me to believe that astrology did work. I could explain many things that I couldn't before. It follows human experience," said Shea.

However, they are not technically astrology majors, but majoring in the history and practice of astrology.

Shea said that the director of B.D.I.C. program, Stanley Moss asked them to come up with a more "specific" title for their major.

"I haven't been able to call a spade a spade. There has been pressure to clearly define my individual concentration," said Shea. Yet, the trio regard this problem as a minor one, and they are satisfied with all other conditions under the B.D.I.C. program.

Jawer said, "I hope in the future that as many as forty credit hours in astrology will be available. A core of curriculum for all students."

During the interview they predicted that the economy of the U.S. will be a little grim in the coming year. Also, they predicted that technological breakthroughs later in the year are the only rays of hope.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editors

[illegible]

Associate Editors

[illegible]

Business

[illegible]

TODAY'S STAFF

[illegible]

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. [illegible]

[illegible]

*Chancellor considers panel

cont. from p. 1

The committee of review passed by the Faculty Senate shall "analyze and evaluate the setting of, and the adherence to academic standards and procedures of the school during said period."

The committee will investigate the 1970 Internal Audit of the School of Education and why it was terminated while many questions remained unanswered.

The committee is charged with answering whether the University administration failed to act decisively in 1970 to ensure no recurrence of similar fiscal irregularities.

In addition, the committee will investigate possible failures of the University administration to take action when it was notified of abuses in the hiring of new faculty.

The motion said that "the committee will provide the faculty with periodic and timely reports on all relevant developments."

JOIN THE GANG .....

IN A SILK-SCREENED ORIGINAL T-SHIRT

From

THE COVER UP
THE T-SHIRT SHOP

Amherst Carriage Shops
233 N. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST

St. Valentine's Day
GAY DANCE
Fri., Feb. 14
Farley Lodge
9 p.m. - 1 a.m.
[illegible] SHOG
Student Homophile League

Appley questions entrance policy

Faculty skeptical about School of Ed standards

By RICK GUREGHIAN
Staff Reporter

Academic standards and departmental procedures are the most recent areas of "vulnerability" being questioned by UMass faculty stemming from further revelations of alleged improprieties at the School of Education.

Analysis

Although academic efficiency at the School of Education had been questioned before in a 1973 study conducted by former Graduate School Dean Mortimer Appley, it went generally unheeded by school administrators, according to faculty involved in the study.

Two areas questioned by former Dean Appley were student admission requirements and university monitoring of the quality of student work. Appley reported that 52 per cent of the graduate students admitted to the School of Education had grade-point averages below the minimal requirements of the University. Also, students rejected by the school had a higher grade-point average as a group than those who were accepted into the graduate program.

Appley also questioned the academic quality of the School of Education in reference to the School giving no grades in its courses. While the university requires all doctoral students in every field to maintain a 2.75 grade-point average, it is virtually impossible to determine whether a student is meeting minimal university standards.

Former Graduate School Associate Dean Arthur Gentile confirmed Appley's findings, saying, "There was no way to monitor from the outside what the students were accomplishing at the School of Education. This was a real matter of concern when I was there." Gentile added that although the School adopted a pass-fail system rather than the conventional grading system, "almost no one ever failed!"

Faculty involved in the earlier investigation now profess their warnings were virtually ignored by top university administrators, the very same who consistently gave strong support to the recently resigned School of Education Dean Dwight Allen.

Members of the faculty said that UMass President Robert Wood and Provost Robert Gluckstern have resisted efforts to insure "quality control" at the school of Education. Wood and Gluckstern contend that the school has deserved their support and, in a speech to UMass faculty in 1971, Wood said "the recent advances in the School of Education are undeniably ones of superb innovation and basic wholesomeness."

Wood's statement was made after a special committee of the UMass Faculty Senate investigated the School of Education

James MacGregor Burns, noted political scientist and author of books on John Kennedy and Franklin Roosevelt, spoke in the Campus Center, on the future of the Democratic Party.

Burns says political future in Dems hands

By DAVE KOWAL
Staff Reporter

The future of American politics depends upon the future of the Democratic party, James MacGregor Burns, president-elect of the American Political Science Association, said yesterday afternoon in the Campus Center.

Speaking before a group of 50 people, Burns said the Democratic party is "clearly and solidly" a liberal party, to the point of being "the liberal alternative in the United States."

Burns gave four reasons for Democratic liberalism: "internal democracy" in the party; the party's democratization; the structural aspect of the Democratic party; and the party's alignment.

Burns said the "internal democracy" within the Democratic party is a result of "a tremendous reaction against the boss-ridden Democratic party" at the beginning of the century.

The democratization of the party, Burns said, stemmed from "a crucial attitudinal development. This legislative development greatly impaired what should be a great nexus in the party."

In reviewing the structural aspect, Burns said, "decisions are made not between two major parties, but between four parties." These parties are the presidential and congressional Democratic parties, and the presidential and congressional Republican parties. "Because of this, strong candidates dominate while the party becomes weak."

The fourth factor given by Burns for the liberalism of the Democratic party is party alignment. This came from the rise of candidates such as Eugene McCarthy, Robert Kennedy, and George McGovern, who said, "The party should not try to operate from the center."

Burns said these four factors are coming together and gave the Democratic Charter Convention in Kansas City as an example. "Kansas City was a convention of a liberal-labor party. The differences were differences within the broad liberal-labor party."

"Two thousand or 3,000 people straggled into Kansas City and went through some internal interaction, and I think something happened," he added.

According to Burns, the Kansas City convention was a success in most areas, particularly affirmative action, but it failed to change the structure of the Democratic party. Burns said, "the convention was a success in reforming the party, but not in 're-forming' the party."

Burns presented three alternatives for the future of the Democratic party. "One, we can do what we're so good at -- go on with politics as usual, in all its looseness and lack of charm.

"Two, there is the possibility of some accidental development. Something that would serve as a force that would change the party, such as war or assassination.

"Or three, the alternative which I would most like to see, we can decide whether trends have to remain impersonal."

Burns is an author and a political science professor at Williams College. He was a delegate to the Democratic Charter Convention in Kansas City last December.

The lecture was sponsored by the Women's Democratic Caucus and the College Democrats.

Moderator Field approaches fifth election

By BRIAN COYNE
Staff Reporter

"I don't know how to campaign for Moderator."

So says William F. Field, UMass dean of students, who is seeking his fifth one-year term as Amherst Town Moderator at the April 8 town elections.

Other than his first election bid for the position in 1971, when he ran successfully against the current UMass Coordinator of Community relations, [illegible], Field has run unopposed every year.

One other person has taken out nomination papers for moderator this year, but Town Clerk, Natalie M. Matusko, said Thursday that they have not been returned yet. The deadline for filing nomination papers is today at 5:00 p.m.

The duties of the Moderator, as set forth in the general laws of the town are as follows:

"The moderator shall preside and regulate the town meeting proceedings, decide all questions of order, and make public declaration of all votes, and may administer in open meeting the oath of office to any town officer chosen therein."

Field considers a thorough understanding of the issues involved in each article at the town meeting a prerequisite for the moderator to do an adequate job.

"As moderator, I control the flow of debate. I want the debate to continue until every important point is made public before it goes to a vote."

Field sees no conflict of interest in his holding both a university and a town government position. "You cannot get a board or council together without using university people," he said.

Field also dismisses the idea that there is uniformity of all university administration. [illegible] "is not a monolithic structure," he said. He mentioned that several times, as a member of the town meeting, he voted against the official university position and met with no recrimination.

The relationship between UMass and the Town of Amherst has "gone downhill" recently, Field said. He said that President Robert Wood's announcement that the John F. Kennedy Library may be built on UMass property without prior consultation with town officials was a clear indication of the deteriorating situation. The university's handling of the dormitory residency requirement is another example of insensitivity to town's position, he said.

"The relationship between UMass and the town of Amherst has gone downhill recently"

In addition, Field says that UMass has done as much good for Amherst as it has harmed it. "Amherst in 1951 was a lot nicer place to walk around in than now. But it was also a lot poorer. You have to look at the balance sheet in making a judgment," he said.

The biggest issue to be decided at the town meeting in May will probably be the housing question, Field said. "Amherst must decide now how it will develop in the future," he said.

Field is particularly impressed with the level of citizen participation in Amherst. "There are at least 400 people involved in the town government. That is what enables us to have the town meeting system," he added.

Campus police decree students will need license for booze party

By ROBERTA BARTONE
Staff Reporter

UMass students who plan on having a party where alcoholic beverages will be sold must obtain a license and a federal stamp, said Captain Robert Joyce of the UMass Department of Public Safety.

Recently there has been an effort for more strict enforcement of these two requirements.

"This move is not unique at UMass. It's been happening all over the country," Joyce said.

The push was initiated by private industries (package stores), who suffer a loss when the requirements aren't enforced.

"If the purchaser has both the license and the stamp, he can buy the beverages at retailers, instead of package stores. And, often, retailers don't check for the stamp," said Joyce.

He explained if the retailer finds the buyer doesn't have a stamp, he should refuse to sell him the liquor. Then, the buyer is forced to buy at a package store.

"It takes at least thirty days to go through all the red tape for the stamp. The buyer usually can't wait that long," he said.

According to the law, anyone in the Amherst area can obtain a license through one of the town's Board of Selectmen.

Any UMass student group must also apply for the license through the Dean of Students, who then notifies Captain Joyce.

"Most students know about the license, but many don't know about the stamp," said Joyce.

Joyce also said that those purchasing the license and stamp are held accountable for the happenings at the party.

"Most students don't realize that they could be arrested if any violations of the alcohol laws occur, such as serving minors or drunks."

Random checks of parties are made by the UMass Police, who have found violations of the laws are common. Joyce said the serving of minors is one of the biggest problems on campus.

A pamphlet explaining the details of the sale of alcoholic beverages is now circulating on campus.

Ford confident deficit can be financed

Says inflationary cures not desirable

[illegible]

President Ford tells the New York Society of Security Analysts yesterday that he is seeking "cooperation not confrontation" with Congress on his economy and energy proposals.

Kissinger delivers Egypt's peace terms

[illegible]

Ford nominates woman for Cabinet

[illegible]

Turkish Cypriots declare part of Cyprus autonomous republic

[illegible]

Come see . . .
Official University and Stockbridge
Rings on Display
TODAY and TOMORROW
Feb. 13 - 14
10 a.m. - 4 p.m.
UNIVERSITY STORE

Old Weird Harold's
SALE
1 Free Wool or Flannel Shirt
ALL FUR COATS
50% off
SHIRTS ON SALE
Separately for $1.00

Testimony ends in Edelin trial

[illegible]

Dukakis names panel to nominate judges

[illegible]

Four nuclear plants broke down last year

[illegible]

State holds hearings on handgun control

[illegible]

news summary

Carlin obscene

[illegible]

[illegible]

THE DEEP
EATING & DRINKING

*Wood spotlights Ed School audit in speech

cont. from p. 1

[illegible]

*CC Governing Board

cont. from p. 1

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

91.1 FM

Valentine Cards

American Greetings

UNIVERSITY STORE

[illegible]

[illegible]

The home in the foreground provides the same secure and warming atmosphere that the L. W. [illegible] seek from the home in the background.

Local student wins decision in class action welfare suit

[illegible]

WMUA focuses on gun control debate

[illegible]

advertising correction

[illegible]

1/2

[illegible]

RENT CONTROL

[illegible]

MEMBER

[illegible]

The Big Y

LIQUOR

[illegible]

Seagram's 7 BLENDED WHISKEY $9.99

[illegible] $8.[illegible]

[illegible] Beer $5.[illegible]

[illegible] $14.[illegible]

Seagrams 100 Pipers $12.[illegible]

[illegible] $2.[illegible]

BOTTLED WINES

BLACK VELVET $10.[illegible]

[illegible] $8.[illegible]

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE

Subscription Services - - - - Lowest Prices Possible

OUR LARGEST LIST OF OFFERINGS EVER!

Thanks to the tremendous interest in and use of our program, we are able to continue to add to our list of publications offered at special rates.

Please note that even where some of the REGULAR rates have gone up again, we have been able to maintain the rate for which we can obtain your subscription. But since these, too, must eventually rise, we recommend extending subscriptions even before they expire, BEING SURE TO ENCLOSE MAILING LABELS WITH ORDER.

PLEASE ALLOW 60-90 DAYS FOR YOUR FIRST ISSUE TO ARRIVE, since some publishers may require this amount of time for data processing NEW subscriptions. Renewals should be sent at least 6 weeks to 2 months before expiration. Of course, we'll continue to notify you at the correct time for renewal. We shall also continue to alert all of you to impending price rises, but these are sometimes hard to foretell with sufficient time for you to act. But we'll do our best. With continued use of our program, we continue to grow for you.

NOTE: STARRED PUBLICATIONS MAY BE ORDERED BY THOSE NOT IN EDUCATION ALSO, OR SENT AS GIFTS TO ANYONE.

Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price
American Home	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Ellery Qn. Myst. Mag.	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Modern Romances	[illegible]	[illegible]	Road & Track	[illegible]	[illegible]
American Girl	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Esquire	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Modern Screen	[illegible]	[illegible]	Rolling Stone	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Amer. Sci. & Invn.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Money	[illegible]	[illegible]	Rudder	[illegible]	[illegible]
Africa Today	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Moneysworth	[illegible]	[illegible]	Saltwater Sportsman	[illegible]	[illegible]
(Above rate for students only)						Nation	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Sat. Evening Post	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Analog	[illegible]	[illegible]	Essence	[illegible]	[illegible]	(Above rate for students only)			Sat. Review World	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Family Health	[illegible]	[illegible]	National Lampoon	[illegible]	[illegible]	(Above rate for students only)
[illegible]			Field and Stream	[illegible]	[illegible]	National Observer	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Atlantic Monthly	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]			New Republic	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Science Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]
Audio	[illegible]	[illegible]	Financial World	[illegible]	[illegible]	New Republic	[illegible]	[illegible]	Scientific American	[illegible]	[illegible]
Baseball Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]	Flying	[illegible]	[illegible]	New Times	[illegible]	[illegible]	Seventeen	[illegible]	[illegible]
Basketball Dig.	[illegible]	[illegible]	Football Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]	New York (students)	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Better Homes & Gdns.	[illegible]	[illegible]	Forbes	[illegible]	[illegible]	New York	[illegible]	[illegible]	Ski	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Black Stars	[illegible]	[illegible]	Fortune	[illegible]	[illegible]	New Yorker	[illegible]	[illegible]	Skiing	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Black World	[illegible]	[illegible]	Fortune	[illegible]	[illegible]	Newsweek	[illegible]	[illegible]	Sport	[illegible]	[illegible]
Boating	[illegible]	[illegible]	Glamour	[illegible]	[illegible]	Newsweek	[illegible]	[illegible]	Sports Afield	[illegible]	[illegible]
Brides	[illegible]	[illegible]	Golf Magazine	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Organic Gardening	[illegible]	[illegible]	Sports Illustrated	[illegible]	[illegible]
Business Week	[illegible]	[illegible]	Golf Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]	Oui	[illegible]	[illegible]	Stereo Review	[illegible]	[illegible]
Camera 35	[illegible]	[illegible]	Good Housekeeping	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Outdoor Life	[illegible]	[illegible]	Teacher	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Camping Journal	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Harper's Magazine	[illegible]	[illegible]	Parents	[illegible]	[illegible]	Tennis	[illegible]	[illegible]
Campus Life	[illegible]	[illegible]	High Fidelity	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]			*Texas Monthly	[illegible]	[illegible]
Car & Driver	[illegible]	[illegible]	Hockey Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]	Penthouse	[illegible]	[illegible]	Theater Crafts	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Catholic Digest	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Holiday	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Time	[illegible]	[illegible]
*Child Life	[illegible]	[illegible]	*Hot Rod	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Children's Dig.	[illegible]	[illegible]	House and Garden	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible]

Prices subject to publishers' changes. The use of magazines for educational purposes may be tax deductible.

Subscription Services

[illegible]

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE

Hadley pipeline answer to UMass water woes?

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

At a special meeting yesterday, Hadley offered to supply UMass with water, according to Gerry Grady, University coordinator of community relations.

The future source of UMass water hinges on whether Amherst decides to accept additional water from Hadley.

"To accept Hadley water unilaterally, we'd have to revise our system. We'd rather take the Hadley water through Amherst's system. It's cheaper," Grady said.

Presently, Amherst supplies UMass with water through four pipelines. According to Theodore F. de [illegible], chief utility engineer of the physical plant, the pressure and flow of the four pipeline set-up determines the flow and pressure of the University's internal water system.

Hadley proposes to supply UMass via a single pipeline. This would entail a revision of UMass' internal water system, the cost of which is estimated to be $150,000.

The cheapest means by which the University can obtain Hadley water is via the four Amherst pipelines to which it's already connected.

John [illegible], chairman of Hadley's board of selectmen, said Hadley is willing to supply Amherst with additional water. But, this would require the mixing of Amherst and Hadley water, both of which are likely to be chemically incompatible.

Town manager, Allen Torrey said that before Amherst can decide to accept Hadley's water, the feasibility of treating Hadley water so that it may be added to the Amherst water supply must be studied.

In light of the water shortage in the fall of '71, Gerry Grady said: "It's pretty obvious that the Amherst water supply with its present sources cannot supply both the town and the University. But we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Hadley town officials first broached the offer to UMass last November when they disclosed the discovery of a new underground water supply capable of servicing the University's needs. According to [illegible], Hadley intends to develop the new source regardless of Amherst's or the University's decision.

*Bromery: resource fee not a 'foregone conclusion'

cont. from p. 1

He said the effort of the Student Organizing Project makes it more difficult to talk to students and does [illegible] see it as an adversary situation.

[illegible] said "It has been my understanding all along that a committee will be set up of students from all sectors of the community."

[illegible] is aware of the six options but he said only one of the alternatives does not involve an extra fee to the students. "We are still seeing there are other alternatives, we are looking for an alternative that would cause the least hassle too," he said.

Stephen Mills, president of the Greek Council, said the ramifications of a $276 fee "could be disastrous for the Greek Area and to the Town of Amherst."

"The existence of the Greeks," he added "could be seriously threatened." He explained it [illegible]

[illegible]

ALL SINGLE ALBUMS
$4.17 EACH
Latest Releases — Top Artists
we also,
BUY, SELL, & TRADE USED ALBUMS
SUNSHINE RECORDS
[illegible]
(4 doors from the Pub)

THE ARK
[illegible]

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
[illegible]

Winter Carni Events

Friday, Feb. 14, 1975 8:00 p.m. Bowker Auditorium
Play Actors Theatre of London
"Lady Che"
[illegible]
Adm. [illegible]

FREE CONCERT Two Groups
Saturday, Feb. 15, 1975 8:00 p.m. Student Union Ballroom

- Sulaiman Hakim and the Philadelphia Contemporary Ensemble

[illegible]

- Mickey Bass & Co-operation Sextet of New York

[illegible]

ADM. FREE

[illegible]

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

TV channels garble

By MIKE IZDEPSKI

Garbage and Television have two things in common: both are found in virtually every American household and both stink. But while some garbage is recyclable, the trash that is vomited from a TV set these days seems indestructable because of the havoc it wrecks upon the lives and minds of its victims.

When John Doe comes home after a hard day at the office, collapses in front of the tube, and for the rest of the evening is more interested in the Bruins and a cold six-pack than his wife, then that's his business. And if, eventually, his marriage breaks up as a result of the communication gap, then that's his business too. He should have known better.

But when John Doe's kids waste the greater part of their childhood vegetating away in front of that notorious box, palefaced and bleary-eyed, then that's yours and my business as well as his. Remember the old cliche about today's young being tomorrow's leaders? Well, no prospect could be more frightening in view of the many warped minds "man's greatest invention" has been turning out in recent times.

The only reason why parents haven't hit the panic button yet lies in the diabolic nature in which television exerts its damaging influence on young people. Sure, a one-time hair-raiser as the recently aired modern version of "frankenstein" is enough to scare a kid out of his wits. And when some inconsiderate father or mother then forces junior to face bed in that dark room alone, the child is undoubtedly at a loss at such "cruelty".

But more dangerous than these one-time nightmares is the long-term cumulative effect of TV and its philosophy of violence and materialism. Just ask a kid what he wants for his birthday; you're not likely to get a mere "doll" or "bike" for an answer, but "GI-Joe with karate grip by Mattel" or "a Schwinn ten-speed with whitewall tires and speedometer." Disgusting? The toy and candy companies don't think so, their profits skyrocketing all the way.

Last year a young woman was burnt alive by youths in Boston's Dorchester district. The alarming part was that only the night before the incident ABC in one of its typical cops 'n' robbers movies had depicted a scene in which a victim was murdered in exactly the same fashion. It was later established that the young men had seen the movie and had indeed been influenced by that sadistic scene.

Perhaps the strongest argument against television lies in the very nature of the medium. The viewer is not in the slightest involved in the creative input end of the communication process. As words and moving pictures are readily provided, there is no room for imaginitive, analytical thinking. No wonder then that, if given the choice, young and old will take the easy way out by flinging their books into the next corner and letting the tube do all the work for them.

At least our programming should be balanced as television in its informing and educating capacity can be an invaluable instrument of learning. But just go through this week's "TV Guide"! You'll find that of the 84 hours of prime time (7-11 p.m.) for the three major networks a whopping 28 hours is devoted to cops 'n' robbers series, westerns, thrillers and TV movie dramas. Another 28 hours are reserved for game shows, comedies, doctor and family series and variety shows.

In regard to the 8 hours set aside for major motion pictures, the viewer often finds himself the victim of network competition. (Thus on Saturday, Hitchcock's "Frenzy" was shown at the same time Paul Newman could be seen in "Cool Hand Luke" on a different channel.)

Besides the 63 hours of pure entertainment just mentioned there are semi-educational movies, which have either a real historic background or some current topic of interest as their theme ("Legend of Lizzie Borden", "Sarah T... Portrait of a Teenage Alcoholic"). This week they make up 7 hours of prime time.

Which leaves 14 whole hours for non-fictional broadcasting. Subtracting 9½ hours for sports and you end up with an impressive grand total of 4½ hours per week left for educational programs, political interviews and documentaries combined. And mind you that is the total for all three networks!

The overall picture of daytime television is as bleak as bleak, with greed infested game shows swamping the morning hours and emotion dripping soap operas oozing their way through the afternoon.

Even Public Broadcasting has its shortcomings, especially in that many of its programs though educative and informative are so boring in their subject matter or dry in their presentation that they quickly turn off basically interested viewers.

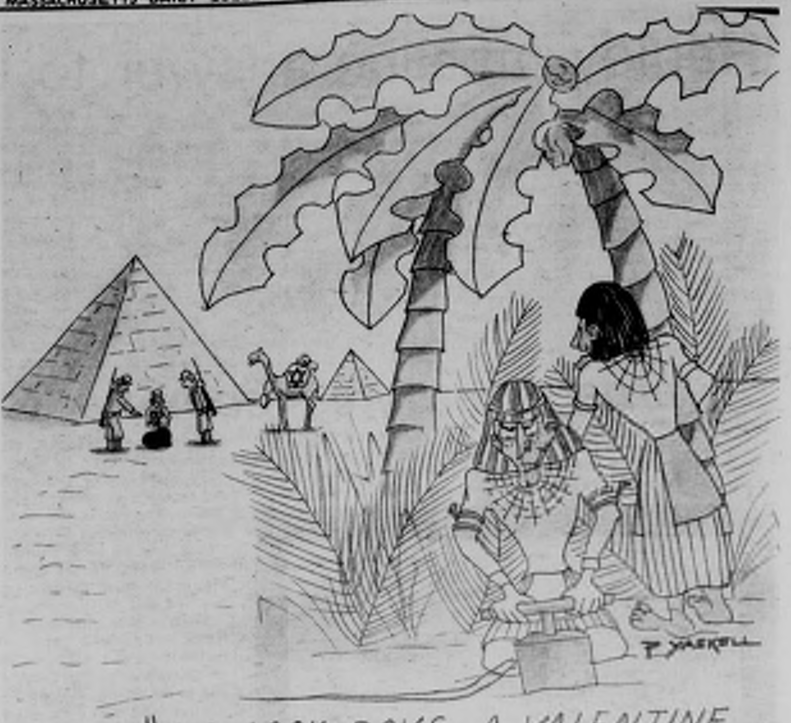
The one really good show on TV these days is CBS's "60 Minutes" (ABC's "Reasoner Report" coming in a close second). It very effectively manages to combine stimulating topics (ranging from Norwegian socialism to New Mexican land swindles) with revealing interviews and political commentaries, all packaged into "bite-size" portions to keep viewer alertness at its peak. A few shows for kids have followed the journal type concept with great success, but on the whole it is still the low quality cartoon that reigns Saturday mornings.

So until networks recognize their responsibility to bring out the potentials of the human mind rather than only the human pocketbook, until commercial breaks, which constitute nothing less than psychological rape to the TV audience, are restricted to the time preceding and following a program, in short: until America's greatest medium loses its stench, television will remain a synonym of garbage and should be treated as such.... all the way to the city dump.

Mike Izdepski is a Collegian commentator.

Notable Quote

"The reason why evil is important depends on your definition of the good. Since I regard thinking rationally as the good, evil is evasion, the refusal to know, the refusal to think. And the refusal to think means the refusal to see reality, and nothing could be more destructive. A man who has abandoned his tool of perception, his mind, can only destroy himself; he cannot achieve anything." Ayn Rand interview The Christian Science Monitor 1-6-75



"OH, LOOK BOYS, A VALENTINE GIFT FROM THE EGYPTIANS"!

From our perspective

Support student workers

It seems no matter what kind of a mess the Administration gets itself into, it is the students who ultimately pay. We pay, not only in money, but in overloaded classes, inconveniences, and poor quality services. We have grumbled about it, but we have also, in the end, paid for it.

The Campus Center student workers have an additional dependence upon the Administration and Management factions: they rely upon their work on campus for such basic needs as food, clothing, books and rent. For them, the University provides a means of support, without which, some of them could not be here to continue their education.

Up until now, the only route for student workers to determine its dealings with the management has been through the Student Employees Committee, which is an arm of the CC Board of Governors. This Committee represents just another of the token "compromises" of the Administration, since everything it does is subject to veto of Chancellor Bromery.

What the student workers seek now is a union, one which will allow for collective bargaining with management over payscale, scheduling, and other bureaucratic practices.

This move would be an advantageous one for students, since it would give a definition to the word "student worker." Presently, the CC student worker is in a position of little or no power over the actions of the management. When hours are cut, there is little if any recourse. According to John Corker, Director of the CC, there is "no affirmative action for students because of the "unstable position of student workers." If the status of student workers is "unstable," it is the result, not the cause of poor management in the Campus Center.

It should be made clear that the workers' demands would not necessarily mean an increase in the CC fee. Their contention is that when management makes a mistake in budgeting, it is always the students who are first to go. The money is there, the priorities are not.

Campus Center student workers are presently exposed to certain hazardous working conditions. Non student workers (union No. 1776) start out at $2.90 per hour, while student workers start at minimum wage. Though students have to pay the same prices in the real world, there is no "real world inflation adjustments" in pay scales. Student workers have no unemployment benefits or sick pay compensation.

In addition to these situation, the student workers in the Campus Center are often called upon to do work which the union workers cannot or will not do. This, in essence, is a type of low cost, scab labor.

STUDENT UNITY

The problems of the student workers only add to the question of why the Campus Center was built at all. Is it only to serve the conventioneers of New England, or the students? Was it built as a catch all for the bad management people of the country? If no one else is to answer this question, then we should answer it for ourselves. Support of the Campus Center student workers must come from the whole campus. It does not necessarily involve a heavy amount of time; there are tables set up in the CC to collect signature in support of the Campus Center student workers must come from the whole campus. It does not necessarily involve a heavy amount of time; there are tables set up in the CC to collect signature in support of the union. There are at least five hundred student workers who will appreciate the support, and in the end, we are supporting ourselves.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Rape line
545-COPS

Steve Tripoli

Faculty's requirements off course

"Has any man ever attained to inner harmony by pondering the experience of others? Not since the world began! He must pass through the fire."

— Norman Douglas

Herein lies a little lesson in just how fucked up this University can be. There are no two ways of saying it, so I shan't apologize for the verbiage. Fucked up, that's all there is to it.

At this time last year I was an intern in Washington D.C. on Outreach, a University program. My academic compensation for this enterprise (there was no monetary compensation, and I have no quarrel with that) was a total of fifteen credits, six in my own department and nine credits of a unique little university wide institution called UMass Practicum 200. This is a course available to all students here who are engaged in outside work of any kind.

Now on its face that sounds like a great thing - just what the doctor ordered for a person working on the outside. But take into consideration for one moment that UMass 200 is a creation of the faculty of the University, and something begins to smell rather rotten.

The reason for the bad smell is that the faculty of this University are, taken as a group, (and with some notable exceptions) the stupidest, most fucked up group of ivory tower idiots I've ever encountered. The case of UMass 200 is beautiful proof of this fact.

You see, in order to protect their jobs and rationalize their rather worthless existences, the faculty of this University have decreed that a student may only be granted the privilege of taking UMass 200 subject to the following conditions:

1) That the student take a "pre-course" approved by his/her department the semester before he/she goes to work on the outside.

2) That the student take a "post course", departmentally approved of course (faculty have a tremendous taboo against stepping on each other's toes. They're afraid someone will get mad and blow the whistle on all of them), the semester after he/she returns.

And, to top it all off—

3) That the student engage in a major writing project on his/her return, integrating all practical experience gained outside with the invaluable "theory" imparted to us by these same idiots when they have us trapped in their classrooms.

Like a fool, I went through with steps 1 and 2, thinking it all for the best at the time. Through some administrative oversight, or perhaps a misunderstanding, I was not aware of step 3 until a very short time ago, when I took the trouble to inquire into why I hadn't been credited with the UMass 200 credits I had earned last semester with the completion of my post-course.

Needless to say, the discovery of step three's existence upset me. But what gets me the most about all three steps is that the faculty of this University have not for one minute ever doubted that this sort of bullshit is the only road to a true education. They simply assume that the theoretical end of things which they can [illegible] daily is an absolute necessity for anyone who wants to have even a remote understanding of what goes on outside.

I worked in Congress last Spring. I worked there 40 hours a week, much longer than I ever spent earning 15 credits anywhere, and probably the most work for the least tangible return that I shall ever be foolish enough to subject myself to again. But the intangible returns were another story. While there, I learned more about politics and the working of bureaucracies than the Political Science Department could teach me in a decade, not to mention what I learned about sociology, psychology, racism, money, and people in general.

For the faculty to presume that they have anything to offer me as a means of enhancing that experience is as telling a commentary on them as anything I can say here. The weak attempts at perpetuation of the myth of a "liberal education" embodied in their handling of the UMass 200 situation disgust me to no end.

I don't know what I'm going to do about step three. I guess I'll do what is asked of me, since I'd like to graduate in June and I need those nine credits to do that.

But the fact of what some faculty members are doing to my attempts to get an education will stay with me. I hope someone does something about it soon, it's too late for me. I hope that that someone is students, the victims of all this bullshit. I hope I have not written this in vain.

Steve Tripoli is a Collegian columnist.

BJ Roche

Sugar smack junkies

Junk food.

I once had a writing professor who told us in order to find out about a person, check through his garbage can. If this is true, we are all "junkies." As I sit in the Collegian office, I see an array of trash here enough to make [illegible] drool in the towel: Empty Coke cans, Twinkie wrappers, cigarette packs, and of course, the ultimate in junk food, the empty paper plates from the Hatch.

It is indeed a paradox that in the time of this "food crisis" we still invest in such goodies as potato chips, Hostess Cupcakes, and Pop Tarts. Even though these things have been the first to be dropped from grocery lists due to rising food prices, they are still being produced by companies. And whether they are consumed or not, these foods represent a waste of resources.

The Center For Science and Public Interest is sponsoring a nationally organized "Food Day" April 17 to educate the public on the need for changes in our eating and consumption habits. Citing the "Terrible Ten," a group of the ten worst junk foods, (Coke, Wonder Bread and Breakfast Squares among them) the group defined the junk foods as being "high in sugar or fat, and in general are expensive and widely advertised corporate products." In such terms, the consumption of junk food holds many ramifications. It is not only unhealthy for the body, and the wallet, but it may be contributing to the proliferation of corporate control over our lives. For example, did you know that the same company which gave us the overthrow of Chile gives us Suzy Q's for dessert? Yes, good old ITT has been giving us all kinds of delights.

Perhaps one of the reasons for the high demand of such foods is the conditioning which is bestowed upon us by the media. We are the television generation, victims of the Saturday morning Channel 38, F-Troop, Gilligan's Island hits, which still exist, establishing brands of cereal as status symbols for the younger set. An advocate group from Newton, the Action for Children's Television Association, is a nationally based group and has filed a lawsuit against the advertising of junk foods on television. The suit was filed with the Federal Trade Commission in March of 1970, and is finally receiving action after pressure was exerted by the group. Peggy Charen, president of the group, stated that "The inaction of the FTC on a matter too vital to the nation's health means the needs of the sugar lobby are being considered ahead of the needs of children."

The elimination of advertising of junk food may serve to reduce consumption, but if production goes on, nothing is really solved in terms of the food shortage. In essence, the food shortage is not so much one of shortages, but priorities. Do we really need seven different brands of corn flakes? It's about time someone stuck a wooden stake through those Count Chocula's [illegible]. We would all be better off without him.

On the Campus level, there are always the machines. Anywhere, we can get a candybar, a can of soda and now, thanks to technical ingenuity, a can of Heinz beans and hot dogs (for only 60 cents.) The candybar is expensive and full of sugar and empty calories. The can of soda has a lot of great little bubbles, and the same values as the candy. The beans have a little protein, but we all know what happened to people who eat beans.

It would make too much sense to stock machines with at least one or two selections of juices, low fat milk, or fruits. But I guess it won't work till it means dollars and cents.

B.J.Roche is the Collegian Executive Editor.

Letters to the editor

Student tariff excise pain

To the Editor:

To quote Thomas Paine somewhat out of context, "these are the times which try man's souls." For several years there has been a clearly discernable trend at this University toward making the students foot the bill for things which don't work. To the best of my knowledge, the much-acclaimed Campus Center has never even come close to paying for its own operation. Students, who were never asked for their "input" regarding its construction, have been paying for this monument to [illegible] ever since.

Nor is this an isolated example of poor planning. The debt service on the Dining Commons buildings is almost unbelievable, due primarily to the fact that one entire building sits virtually vacant in Southwest. Again, the cost of this inspired use of space is tacked directly onto the board bill of students who could probably get along quite well without it.

Now, the inevitable has occurred. The mind of some evil genius in the bowels of Whitmore has spawned the perfect solution to the problem of a University that cannot keep its head above the encroaching financial waters: tax everyone for everything! If the Campus Center loses money, then venerate the memory of Mr. Lincoln by forcing students who may not even use the building to make up the lost revenues. [illegible]

Please do not mistake my intentions. I realize the life of an administrator is not an easy one. [illegible] board fees cannot be raised if they are to be competitive with the private sector, so the money has to come from somewhere. [illegible] "universal resource fee" which becomes just one more anonymous figure on the semester bill. [illegible] a prerequisite to optional living and dining. All in all, a veritable Christmas in February for University administrators. [illegible] I'm sure the students wouldn't notice a minimal increase in their good, old universal resource fee...

Bryan Curtis Harvey

Female perspective sets new sights

To the Editor:

The women on this campus have become aware of the need for solidarity. During January, the University Women's Conference was held to discuss women's education, health, employment, creativity, survival, alternatives, and third world issues.

At this time, we decided to hold a follow-up meeting for all people concerned with University issues. These are issues in which women must have input. It is in everyones' interest that the objectives which were identified be implemented. On Monday Feb. 17th, we will be holding an all day meeting to discuss these issues further, and University community will have it's chance to further these goals. If you care to see the female perspective become a reality around the Campus show up Monday — Campus Center Rm. 112 and make your ideas known!

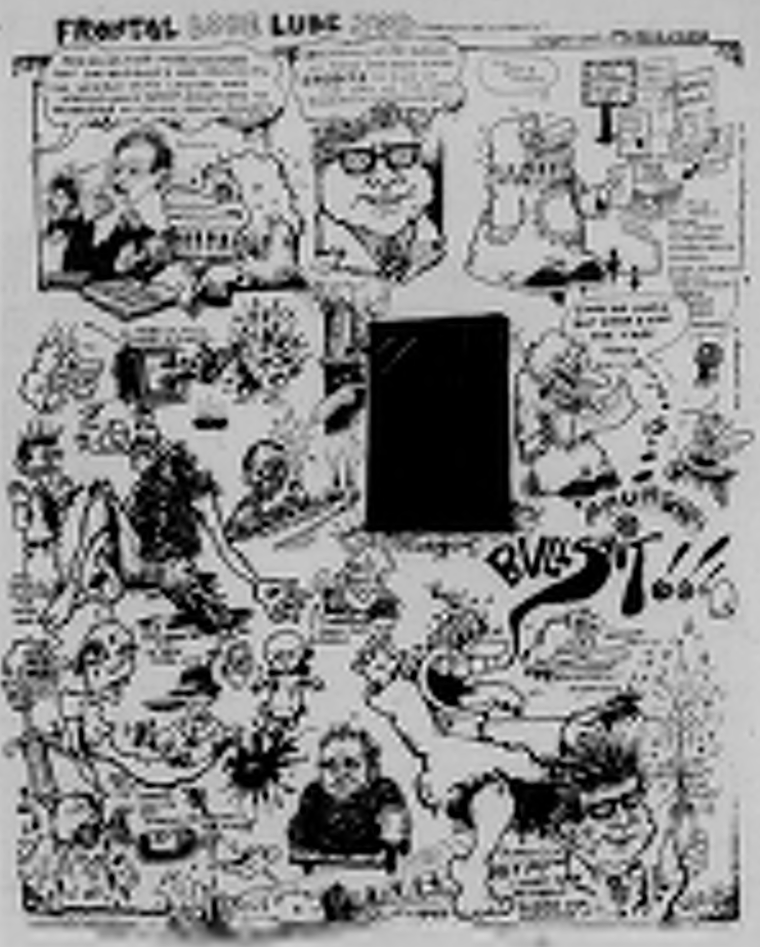
Karen Mongan
Member of University
Women's Caucus

Here's to you, Mr. Robinson

To the Editor:

In his commentary of the 12th, Mr. Robinson pointed out that foreign capitalists have beaten us at our own game. We should therefore fight back by buying American goods only. I understand there is a job waiting for him with the Little League.

Russell Parks



[redacted]
FRONTAL LUBE BULLSHIT!!

MORE LETTERS

More libation 'n' less library

To da Editor:

[illegible]

Sunday News Collective gathering sources

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Forced to face the "wall"

[illegible]

CALCULATOR FAIR

notes & quotes

University health center aids the cold or flu victim

In case you haven't noticed the sneezing and sniffling on campus, this is the season for colds and flu. [illegible]

The weekend on 'MUA

Here's a list of what's happening on WMUA this weekend.

[illegible]

WMUA Highlights
Friday
8:30 High Tide
[illegible]
Saturday
[illegible]
Sunday
[illegible]
10:00 Classics
5:30 Pioneer Valley Jamboree
6:30 Sunday News Collective
7:30 Jubilation Jazz Part 1
10:00 Jubilation Jazz Part 2

[illegible]

Library hours this weekend

[illegible]

Foreign students organize International Student Fair

[illegible]

KUNG-FU ACADEMY

TV tonight

[illegible]

FLOWERS
for
Your Valentine

15,000 readers see MDC classifieds — try them they work!

THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW

CAMPUS Cinemas

CABARET

ILSA

AMHERST Cinema

Rome. Before Christ. After Fellini.

"FELLINI SATYRICON"

The Fall of the Roman Empire

"FELLINI'S ROMA"

ADULTS ONLY!

Friday Late Show

Prurient Interest

AMHERST Cinema

584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR

PETER FINCH LIV ULLMANN

THE ABDICATION

PG

5:15, 7:30, 9:30

①

NOW THE TV CRITICS MAKE IT UNANIMOUS

"'Le Sex Shop' is not for children, but it is for adults who can smile through a nude, but never dirty lampoon of pornographic movies. 'Le Sex Shop' has been made by Claude Berri with a twinkle in his eye, his tongue in his cheek and laughs all over the place."
-Gene Shalit, WNBC-TV

"Totally delightful! There is much nudity and simulated sex in this film, but if your wife or husband has never seen an X-rated movie, 'Le Sex Shop' is the one to take her or him to. It is wholesome, refreshing and deliciously funny satire."
-Stewart Klein, WNEW-TV

"This charming French comedy, is the first really sophisticated X-rated movie shown, and proves that sex is not just fun but that it also can be very funny."
-Kevin Sanders, WABC-TV

"'Le Sex Shop' is the cleanest X-rated movie I have ever seen. It's a film that even the Burger Court would love."
-Leonard Harris, WCBS-TV

LE SEX SHOP

X

5:15, 7:30, 9:30

②

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE

WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA

5:00, 7:15, 9:30

③

James Caan Alan Arkin

Freebie and the Bean

④ your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

[illegible]

DOWN

[illegible]

DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

Task force looks for student $$

Raising money for student projects isn't easy, but it can be done if students are willing to do the basic research necessary to find where the money is and how it can be used at UMass.

That job, along with learning how to create good solid proposals, will be the task of the Student Center for Educational Research Fund Raising Task Force.

The task force, under the coordination of S.C.E.R. staff member Larry Nagel, will be charged with doing basic research [illegible]

[illegible]

Chateau

Rusty Nail Inn

[illegible]

notices

ALPHA PHI OMEGA
Members are reminded that next week's meeting will be Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. in C.C. 808. Happy Valentine's Day to the women of Gamma Sigma Sigma from the men of Alpha Phi Omega.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST
Movie, The Return, will be shown Friday night at 7:00 in C.C. 165. This movie is about Biblical prophecy and is narrated by Hal Lindsey.

CHESS CLUB
An organizational meeting to plan activities for this semester will be held this Sunday, Feb. 16 in C.C. 802 at 3:30.

BENEFIT CONCERT
Traditional English songs by John Roberts and Tony Barand at the Brink, Eliot House, Mt. Holyoke. Feb. 15, 8:30 p.m. To benefit 5 College folk festival. BEER.

CRAFT SHOW
Members of the Fashion Council Board invite anyone interested to view unique, creative craft ideas from Butterick, will be held Feb. 18 to 21, 9-4 in Skinner Lobby.

DANCE FREE
No Dance Free tonite due to lack of people power. Check next week.

FASHION MERCHANDIZING CLUB
Tuesday at 7 p.m. in 119 Skinner, there will be the weekly meeting for the Fashion Merchandising Club. Come and ask questions about the "Block" and see The Crafts Display. Questions, call 546-9622.

GAY LINE
Counseling and referrals on gay-related issues, Monday thru Friday, 8-11 p.m. 545-0154, 413 B. Student Union, Student Homophile League.

HOUSE CHURCH — UCF
Tonight at 8 p.m. at Thompson House on Pleasant Court (first left up steep drive on E. Pleasant St.). If you are interested in trying this weekly gathering for spiritual inquiry plus personal encounter and growth call UCF at 545-2661. Rides available.

MOVIE
Tonite in Thompson 102 at 7:30 p.m. two movies on "Whales" by Jacques Cousteau will be shown. Sponsored by the Outdoor Special Events Comm.

OUTING CLUB
Enjoy the fun of cross country skiing in Saturday and Sunday's ski races. The races will take place behind parking lot No. 13 at 1:30 p.m.

PHOTOGRAPHERS
Attention photographers! Index needs pictures of Asian students on campus. Come to 409 S.U. for film and further information.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS LIBERALS
Student Religious Liberals will have a meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday night at the Unitarian Society of Amherst, 121 N. Pleasant St. Everyone is welcome.

UNITARIAN SOCIETY OF AMHERST
Rev. Arnold Westwood of Cummington will speak on "The Magic Society Lexicon" at 11 a.m. Coffee hour at 12.

LOST
Black cat in Puffton Village. Reward. 549-2662.

FOUND
Pair of gloves (woman's), C.C. cafeteria on 2-11. Call Elaine 323-4564.

feb. 13 · 14 · 15
Seagull
THE Red Pantry Playroom
RTS. 202 & 21 --- Belchertown

film times

CAMPUS CINEMAS
Cabaret - 8:00
Island at the Top of the World - 7:00-9:00
Ilsa - 7:00-9:00

MT. FARMS FOUR
Le Sex Shop - 5:15-7:30-9:30
Athe Abdication - 5:15-7:30-9:30
Fantasia - 5:00-7:15-9:30
Freebie and the Bean - 5:00-7:15-9:30

AMHERST CINEMA
Roma - 7:00
Satyricon - 9:00
Prurient Interest - 11:30

SHOWPLACE CINEMA
Murder on the Orient Express

EASTFIELD MALL CINEMA
The Strongest Man in the World - 1:00-3:00-5:00-7:15-9:15

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
The Groove Tube - 7:00-9:00

SHOWCASE CINEMAS
Towering Inferno - 7:00-10:15
Earthquake - 7:15-9:40
Murder on the Orient Express - 7:15-9:40
Freebie and the Bean - 7:30-9:45
Mr. Ricco - 7:30-9:50
The Godfather, Part II - 8:00

SHOWPLACE
DOWNTOWN GREENFIELD
EVES 7:00 - 9:15
Sat.-Sun. Matinee at 2:00 p.m.
"A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!" —Vincent Canby, New York Times
ALBERT FINNEY, LAUREN BACALL, MARTIN BALSAM, INGRID BERGMAN, JACQUELINE BISSET, JEAN PIERRE CASSEL, SEAN CONNERY, JOHN GIELGUD, WENDY HILLER, ANTHONY PERKINS, VANESSA REDGRAVE, RACHEL ROBERTS, RICHARD WIDMARK, MICHAEL YORK
PG
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S "MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"
Sorry No Bargain Nites — Tel. 773-8043

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE
NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
A GREAT NEW MOTION PICTURE COMEDY
THE MOST HILARIOUS WILDEST MOVIE IS HERE!
"Insanely funny, outrageous and irreverent." —PLAYBOY MAGAZINE
THE GROOVE TUBE
R Color
WED., FEB. 19 —

Help us help you.
Use Zip Code.
Your Postal Service

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay
To place a classified, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday-Friday.
[illegible]

FOR SALE
Golden Retrievers, 7 weeks old, shots, wormed, AKC registered $100. Call 863-9676 anytime.
[illegible]

AUTO FOR SALE
[illegible]

ROOMMATE WANTED
[illegible]

HELP WANTED
[illegible]

PERSONALS
[illegible]

SERVICES
[illegible]

Women skiers in Berkshires

By WAYNE BEDELL

Trivia. Is there a Women's Ski team at UMass? If you were tough enough for that here comes the next. Approximately how many years has it been on campus? Yes folks, there is a women's ski team on this campus and it has been in existence for about ten years.

Unlike most teams, the ski team faces the same competitors week after week. They are in a league with Radcliffe, B.U., UConn (our old favorites from B-Ball), Tufts, Mt. Holyoke, and Merrimack. There is no recognition of a weekly winner of these events but at the end of the season the results are tabulated and the champion is announced.

Last weekend they raced at Mt. Tom and finished third on Saturday and a strong second on Sunday, only two-tenths of a second behind the team to catch, which is Radcliffe. They will be at Berkshire East this weekend and at Mittersil, which is in New Hampshire, the following weekend. They will finish up in Maine at Sunday River in the Can-Am competition which should have four Canadian and four American team entries.

The team is led by senior Jean Hayden, who is captain and a veteran of four seasons. Other women on the "A" squad are Kathy Clarke, Cathy Donovan, and two promising freshwomen; Martha Moran and Chris Pesek. Martha has shown great potential and a few heartbreaking spills have kept her from finishing high among the leaders. Chris is one of the strongest skiers and she finished third out of thirty five contestants on Sunday.

JV's impressive in victory

[illegible]

Tired of Dining Commons Food and Life in the Dorm?
Come and talk to the Brothers and Sisters of Σ A M
A CO-ED FRATERNITY
When? Tonight, at 8:00 p.m.
Where? 387 No. Pleasant St.
For Information and/or Rides call
545-0845 or 253-9957
Refreshments Will Be Served

Dave Eibel
Champs or chimps

There'll be another "big" UMass basketball game tomorrow night. If you go by what coaches tell you, then every game would be a "big" one, but let's face it, UMass doesn't play more than four or five "big" games a year.

First let us define "big" in terms of UMass basketball. A "big" basketball game is one which coud lead to either New England or national prominence. Games against Connecticut, Holy Cross, Boston College, and of course Providence are key determinants of New England basketball rankings. The games against teams like Maine, Rhode Island, Boston Unviersity, ad nauseum, only fill up a team's schedule.

But unfortunately UMass, at least in the past two seasons, has shown a marked dislike for winning the "big" ones. For example —

Exhibit A — a UMass team leads Providence College by seven points with barely more than two minutes to play in a game last January in the Springfield Civic Center. Suddenly, UMass comes apart at the seams, and for the remainder of the game, plays like they're on another planet. They end up losing the game 61-60 and sacrifice a genuine opportunity to move into the national rankings.

[illegible]

And that separates the champs and the chimps.

Swimmen host Central Conn

[illegible]

REAL BARGAINS ... ALL WEEK LONG — HONEST!
ONE DOLLAR
...PRIZES!
...HOURLY SPECIALS
MONDAY → FIRST 10 PEOPLE GET PANTS AT 1/2 PRICE!
WEAR-HOUSE
Fairfield Mall chicopee
201 n. pleasant st. amherst

THE HUNGRY-U

SUBS & PIZZA
55 [illegible] 103 [illegible]
WE DELIVER
50¢ off Large Pizza
25¢ off Small Pizza

10% OFF

VALLEY MOTORSPORTS

First woman administrator To deal with men and women

Vivian Barfield--assistant AD

By RICH SEVIERI

"Better athletic programs will develop more aggressive females. Women with confidence, who value personal achievement and have a strong sense of personal identity."

— David Auxter
Director of Physical Ed.,
Slippery Rock

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

"A woman should be allowed to develop ... and be master of her own destiny."

"That is the way I hope my daughter will be," said Dr. Vivian Barfield." What is wrong with aggressive behavior? A women should be allowed to develop her total self, physical as well as mental, and be master of her own destiny."

Dr. Vivian Barfield is the new Assistant Director of Athletics at UMass. She is in charge of both male and female athletics, and is the first woman to hold this position at a New England college.

Last spring the UMass athletic department made its first moves to comply with Title IX of the Higher Education Amendment Act of 1972. The University announced that starting in the fall of 74, five women would receive full grant-in-aids for athletics and the position of women's athletic director was created.

This position was for a woman who could coach, coordinate programs, and act as a liason between the women's athletic department and the director of athletics.

When she was offered the job, Dr. Barfield questioned what she was supposed to do. She believed that trying to coach and be a coordinator of programs would leave little time for the administrative part of athletics.

"I think the University agreed with me," said Dr. Barfield. "And after Frank McInerney looked over the situation, we agreed on a position of assistant director of athletics, no coaching, and aiming at all phases of the university sport's program."

Barfield has not made any firm decisions on what needs to be done at UMass to comply with Title IX. She is looking over the history of the athletic department and keeping an ear open for ideas from coaches, athletes, and students.

"I don't know if UMass had addressed the affirmative action plan of Title IX yet," admitted Barfield. "And it is still too early to make any judgements about where the women's programs are going, but being a land grant college - the response will be instituted by the public."

Dr. Barfield has been involved in a number of professional organizations for the betterment of the female athlete. She is a member of the American Alliance of Health, Education and Recreation, the American Association of University Women, and the National Association of Physical Education for Women.

"I expect that it will be easier for the women athletes to communicate with me," said Barfield. "They don't open up as much with a man, and they know I have been active with the promotion of women's athletics at the college level."

Dr. Barfield knows that some men are skeptical of her elevation to the position of Asst. Athletic Director. They fear that she will tear down the men's programs, and allot money and backing to the women's programs.

Women are not yelling for equal budget dollars, but equal opportunity," said Barfield. "Until the women's programs grow to the point where the demands are much greater equal money will not be an issue."

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

Vivian Barfield

"My goal is to bring the athletic programs of men and women into equal harmony, providing the equal opportunity that women demand, and maintaining a high level of men's athletics," she added.

But as the women's programs expand, the budget increases will come too. UCLA has tripled its women's athletics budget to $180,000 this year, and has projected a women's budget of 500,000 in 1980. Women, who comprise 47 per cent of the total taxed population at UMass, received 4 per cent of the universities' $550,000 athletic budget this year.

UCLA can accomplish this because of large TV money from revenue producing football and basketball. How could UMass faced with cutbacks in state funds, increase the women's budget without hurting the men's programs? Dr. Barfield suggests that if the women's programs were given better promotion, facilities, and starting times, they too could produce revenue.

"Iowa's women basketball has paid for itself for years," said Barfield. "The gyms are packed at both the high school and college levels, and bring in good revenues."

The five new athletic grants for female athletes came from $10,000 set aside in the Barber fund. This raises the number of women on athletic scholarships at UMass to nine. But this is still far behind other state universities. Alabama now has forty women on athletic scholarships and New Mexico twenty nine. Dr. Barfield is a staunch supporter of scholarships for female athletes.

"Athletic scholarships may provide the means whereby a young female can become a full and functioning self," wrote Barfield in an AIAW newsletter a year before the AIAW's prohibition on scholarships was lifted.

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

"My goal is to bring the athletic programs of men and women into equal harmony..."

"By sanctioning and giving athletic scholarships to women, we are saying it's all right honey. Excel in sport, our world needs your talent. It is valued."

The women's suffrage movement brought about the golden age of American women's athletics from 1900 to 1920. The women's movement of the 60's brought Title IX and a rebirth of the female athlete.

"It's OK to be female and physical, to live life, rather than live life vicariously," said Dr. Barfield. "Now is the time for women to move into the athletic arena and become full and functioning [illegible]."

Midshipmen present challenge

Gymnasts battle Navy tomorrow at Annapolis

By BILL DOYLE

The UMass men's gymnastics team expects to return to their winning ways tomorrow afternoon when they square off against the Midshipmen of Navy in a 2:00 p.m. meet. [illegible]

Camp Winnebago
for Boys
Fayette, Maine

Will be interviewing on campus Feb. 19, 1975 — sign up in the Placement Office now!

Individuals who are interested in children and feel they have a skill which they could teach or assist.

AT WESTERN VILLAGE
SKI SHOP
[illegible] Main Street
Northampton

20% Discount on Ski Jackets
Boots
Warm Up Pants

Washington's Birthday Specials

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMMITTEE
presents
the Pousette-Dart String Band

and
The Wendell Rangers
ONLY ONE DOLLAR
Positive Proof of Age 18 Required

UMass teams seek titles

Runners try to dump UConn

By SCOTT HAYES

Saturday afternoon's Yankee Conference Championship in Kingston, Rhode Island may not be as festive as the ancient Greek Olympic Games, but a number of top athletes will meet with hopes of achieving excellence in their respective events.

In the original Olympic Games, which took place nearly 800 years B.C., the athletes competed for a wreath of wild olives, symbolic of supremacy. Tomorrow, the competitors will be battling for individual conference titles as well as all-important team honors.

In the weight events, the top challengers do not include a UMass track member. UConn's Andy Bessette holds the nation's second longest 35-pound weight throw (66-1½) and was last year's conference winner. Teammate Rick White is presently the top conference shot putter at 53-4. Mike Bilicki of Vermont is a strong overall weightman who has heaved the shot 51 feet and recorded a 58-foot performance in the weight throw. URI's Richard [illegible] and [illegible] Pyka are two possible scorers in the heavyweight events.

The running events will include numerous Minutemen contenders. The consistent distance squad (Randy Thomas, Bill Gillin, John McGrail, etc.) will undoubtedly contribute its share of points. The conference has many exceptional distance men including: miler Jim Taylor (4:06.8) of BU, UNH's George Reed (4:07.8), Vermont's Mike Berry, Jerry LaFlamme of Maine, Bruce Clark of UConn, and URI's Gary Hague.

BU's Vin Palazzo holds the fastest New England time in the 60 yard dash, a 6.3-second clocking. The sprints, hurdles, 600 and 1,000-yard runs are "critical events" in the eyes of track coach Ken O'Brien. These four events, along with the two relays, will probably help decide the team championship.

In the 600, Minutemen John Richards and Mark Healy will have to face speedster Darryl King of UConn, last season's conference champ and an NCAA finalist. Chris Farmer and [illegible] will oppose Alden Miner, also of the Nutmeg State school. The Huskies boast the best relay teams in both the mile and two-mile baton events, but the Minutemen are less than two seconds behind, based on previous performances.

UMass hopes to offset its weakness in the throwing events with a strong showing in the distance races. The jumping events should be a showdown between the conference's talented leapers. Joe Martens appears to have an edge in the high jump, but Steve Leathe and Steve Lammi of Maine may rival the UMass record-setter for first place. The triple and long jumps will be a confrontation involving Minutemen jumpers [illegible]

[illegible]

The UMass tracksmen will be sprinting to Kingston, Rhode Island, Saturday for the YanCon Championships.

Keglers, chessmen excel in tourney here

[illegible]

Matmen out to unseat Boston University

By JOHN BOCK

[illegible]

St. Regis Restaurant
HOMESTYLE FOOD QUALITY SERVICE
Breakfast served at all hours
Breakfast Special:
Country-Style
BROWN CORN BEEF HASH
Served with 2 eggs any style
Home Fries Buttered Toast, Coffee
$1.95
[illegible]
• Specialities of the House
CANADIAN MEAT PIE
CHICKEN PIE
BEEF STEAK PIE
BAKED BEANS (Boston Style)
ALL HOMEMADE!
[illegible]
Northampton

FEBRUARY 22 AT 1:00 PM
Queens — Immaculata
Fairfield — Massachusetts
THIS YEAR—NO EXCUSES!
[illegible]

COLLEGE BASKETBALL
THE GARDEN

B's bopped

[illegible]

Tourney hopes revived

Vermont, UConn, BC lose

Minutemen blister Maine, 85-49

[illegible]

UMass senior Greg Duarte lays in two of his game high 19 points despite the efforts of Maine star Bob Warner. Jim Towe follows the play.

Mike Ellis (12) tips a pass beyond a sprawled Lou Parker during Wednesday night's 3-2 UMass win.

Pucksters travel to Maine contests

[illegible]

Gymwomen out to snap streak

Chief meet on tap

[illegible]

Vermont at Cage

[illegible]

Women swimmers in NE meet

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

Collegian

[illegible]

weather

[illegible]

Rent control study pending

Concern expressed over impact of JFK Library

[illegible]

Bromery to name new dean

[illegible]

This melted telephone is one of the few remnants surviving yesterday's fire in a North Village Apartment.

Attorneys charge jury selection 'disproportionate' to students

[illegible]

Fire guts North Village apartment

[illegible]

Inside

[illegible]

Staff Photo by Dessie Schafer

Sonny Stitt appeared in the Hatch last week as a part of the Charles Parker Memorial Residency.

Sonny Stitt at the Hatch; volatile, adept, intense

By JACK CAHILL
Below the Salt Staff

Bebop saxophonist Sonny Stitt, guest artist for the Charlie Parker Memorial Residency, led an all-star group at the Hatch last week and the ensembles of Sulieman Hakim and Bickey Bass played amazingly volatile sets at a sparsely attended Saturday night free concert in the Student Union Ballroom.

Filled with more listeners than I had ever seen, the Hatch jumped along with Stitt on a couple of medium tempo bop blues, a string backed version of "Stardust" and a rousing "Mama Don't 'Low No Music Playing Here". Sonny's surprise vocal on "Pennies from Heaven" sounded fine and although his tenor and alto solos filled space, they were repetitive more often than inspired in spite of the crowd's exhortations.

Trombonist Charles Magid Greenlee shared the horn front line, but it was the rhythm section that stood out primarily. The perpetually underrated Barry Harris played cooking piano solos that were lost to many through poor miking. I don't think anyone there would deny that the bassist and drummer, Reggie Workman and Alan Dawson, played the most transfixing music of the evening. Dawson, smiling Buddha of the drum kit, and the instantaneously inspired Workman were shockingly adept. Result: many gasps and much applause from the wide-eared UMass crowd.

The problem on Saturday night was not enough ears for music that deserves and demands many more. The Philadelphia Ensemble, led by music department teaching assistant Sulieman Hakim on soprano and alto saxes, extended well-chosen material like Freddie Hubbard's "Straight Life" and some originals into cohesive, bitingly percussive statements, Hakin cavorting easily above it all with fresh, fluid soprano songs. Vocalist Semenya McCord vibrantly accented the melodic beauty of Wayne Shorter's "Infant Eyes."

If the Hakim group generated fire, then the Mickey Bass Cooperative Sextet which followed them was the burning of Atlanta. Trombone-trumpet-sax led sextets generally exhibit some energy, but in this band it was falling from their pockets, streaming out of their ears.

The opener, "One for Trane" by bassist Bass was a combination Art Blakey rumblefugger and John Coltrane spatial holocaust with young pianist Denzil Miller playing-attacking his keyboard with McCoy Tyner enrgy. The fairly young group has evident roots — tenorist Marvin Blackman to Coltrane, trumpeter Olu Dara to Lee Morgan — but their individual transmutations and intense control transcend comparisons.

"Stinkweed" and "You're Not in My Song Any More" from their upcoming Columbia album were attractively voiced and featured everyone, but especially the truly original style of trombonist Charles Stephens. He and all other members were indeed a cooperative; no one cowed or cut by the previous amazing solo, but seeking and succeeding in pushing the musical intensity higher until the theme reprise and screaming, cardiac finale. I think they scorched the SUB drapes.

There's a lot to say about and more to hear from this band, though they're unknown as yet, playing before barely 70 people in an empty ballroom. The road is hard.

Cable TV station planned for Sylvan

To promote dorm and area unity

By JUDY FRIEDLAND
Staff Reporter

Sylvan Area will soon be the first area to have their own cable television station.

"It's still in the planning stages," said Mike Narkewicz, a Sylvan resident who is coordinating WSYL-TV and WSYL, a radio station run by and for Sylvan.

"We have a place to send out from, but no material to transmit," said Narkewicz.

[illegible]

Narkewicz said he decided to start the TV station to initiate area and dorm unity.

"In Sylvan there are no big meeting places in which an entire dorm, let alone a whole area can meet."

Narkewicz said he is undecided as to what the station will televise.

[illegible] WSYL, 97.7 on the FM radio dial is in its third year.

Sylvan Area Government owns and operates WSYL, which, according to Narkewicz has received positive feedback from its listening audience.

The station broadcasts 20 hours a day, from 8 a.m. to 4 a.m. [illegible]

[illegible]

AESOP explores careers

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

[illegible] workshops and colloquia exploring [illegible] to acquaint students with various [illegible] BOC, Outreach, UWW, UYA, Earth School, Project 10, and UMass 300 will also attend.

[illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

[illegible]

summer in europe CHARTERS [illegible] 1/2 [illegible]

You may have missed us

During Ring Days . . .

. . . but you still haven't missed the chance to order your OFFICIAL UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS or STOCKBRIDGE CLASS RING.

A Campus Representative will be available to take your order EVERY TUESDAY, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m., or you may place your order any weekday at the UNIVERSITY STORE.

[illegible] deposit required on rings.

SOP to launch 'grass roots effort'

The Student Organizing Project (SOP) is launching a grass roots effort to unionize students and have relocated their organizing office to where the largest number of students live - Southwest.

The new office in Hampden Student Center will be staffed by three full-time staff members and will be "accessible" to all students, according to Nesta King, organizing co-ordinator.

The headquarters will be the center of activity for —petition organizing drive - grass roots effort whereby students will be contacted and asked for their support for the union. Also, workshops and meetings will be planned.

—resource center bus - which will include materials on organizing movements, and research gathered by SOP members. The bus will circulate with information students may be interested in:

—student worker organizing - for dining commons employees.

—financial aid rights organization - counseling on financial aid problems.

—food stamps counseling and applications - counseling on food stamps procurement and application forms will be available —housing education and action group - studying cooperative dorms on campus and counseling on housing and meal tickets —emergency student lobby - a lobby against tuition hikes and budget cuts.

Also, the SOP is holding a meeting tonight to determine an "interim platform," outlining issues the student union may bring to the UMass Board of Trustees.

The lights of the Southwest Boulevard cast an eerie glow through the dense fog that blanketed the campus Sunday night.

Although this job is envied by many in the warmer months, not many officers would leave a warm squad car for the mounted patrol this time of the year.

Clinic expands services to aid hard-of-hearing

[illegible]

SVS presents De Mau Mau

[illegible]

Health Services can help

Insomnia, hypersomnia; curses of student life

[illegible]

Kissinger, Gromyko start work on arms treaty

Disagreement exists on Mideast plan

LONDON [UPI] — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko split yesterday over how to reach Middle East peace. But they began work on the next strategic arms treaty between the United States and Russia.

In the talks Sunday night and yesterday in Geneva, Kissinger put forward for the first time the American proposals for carrying out the agreement between President Ford and Soviet Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev on the next stage of limiting nuclear arms.

A senior official with Kissinger said he believed it could be completed in two or three months — in time for a Brezhnev visit to the United States sometime this summer.

As expected, the split occurred over the Middle East, where Kissinger's step-by-step diplomacy has frozen Moscow out of the negotiations.

Even on that issue, the final communique showed perhaps a slight relaxation in Russia's insistence on an immediate return to the Geneva peace conference. It said the sessions should resume "at an early date."

And, basically, the two men agreed to continue detente.

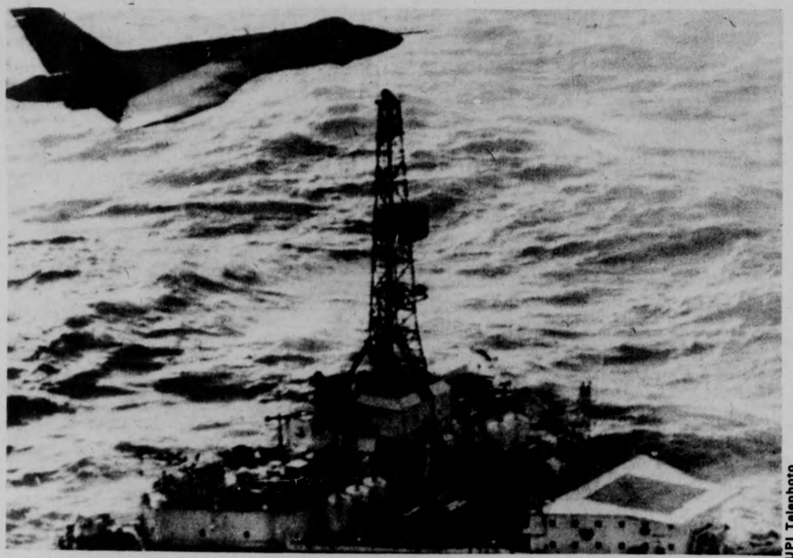
After more than five hours of talks with Gromyko, Kissinger flew to London Monday night for a dinner with Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who arrived from Moscow himself shortly after Kissinger's blue and silver air force jet landed.

Although there were a few stiff exchanges, the Kissinger-Gromyko talks in Geneva did not develop into a tense confrontation as some American officials expected. The senior official said they were slightly more formal than usual but on the whole "jovial."

Standing side by side in the lobby of the Geneva Inter-Continental hotel after their final meeting, both Kissinger and Gromyko agreed the talks were "fruitful."

Gromyko added there were some points on which they did not agree. The major point was the Middle East.

But the senior American official said Kissinger believed there was less chance than before the talks that the Soviets would carry out a determined campaign to block the new interim agreement between Egypt and Israel that Kissinger will try to arrange when he returns to the Middle East in March.



UPI Telephoto

A Royal Air Force jet fighter flies over an oil rig in the North Sea, 90 miles east of Aberdeen, Scotland. Warships of the British Navy also patrol the oil rigs. Fear of sabotage by the Palestinians is the reason for the newly announced protective measures.

200,000 blackbirds killed in Kentucky

PADUCAH, Ky. [UPI] — With about 200,000 blackbirds dead but thousands more still swarming, a city official said yesterday another attempt may be made to rid the town of its feathered menace.

"We need to more thoroughly assess the results before we go ahead," said City Manager William Howerton. However, he did not rule out a bird kill under favorable weather conditions last night.

Due to poor visibility, a plane flying at tree-top level Saturday night was only able to spray 60 per cent of a 25-acre blackbird roost that had been estimated to contain 1.5 million birds.

The soapy chemical spray, tergitol, removes the protective oil from the birds' feathers, causing many to die from exposure to freezing rain.

"It is possible if the prediction is for more rain and hopefully colder temperatures we will spray again," said Howerton. "We would like for it to be in the upper or lower 30's for the best results. Then it would depend on the visibility for flying."

Meanwhile, 80 miles to the southeast, Hopkinsville Major George Atkins was awaiting word from the Army whether it was going to go ahead and spray the chemical on birds roosting on the Ft. Campbell Army Post.

Army officials in Washington have been hesitant to order the extermination following an appeals court decision last week. The decision gave them the go-ahead but suggested the Army further consult with "impartial" scientists over the matter.

Doctors say bird droppings cause a disease known as histoplasmosis which attacks the respiratory system but can destroy tissue elsewhere and even cause blindness. Area farmers complain that the birds destroy their crops and cause disease in their livestock.

Howerton called Paducah's extermination efforts "a limited success." He said the city has not received any complaints after going ahead Saturday night following favorable court decisions.

"I really expected with all the nationwide notoriety this thing is receiving to get all types of letters and obscene replies but so far we've had nothing but compliments," said Howerton.

Texas Sen. Bentsen announces bid for Democratic nomination

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen yesterday joined the growing brigade of candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination and claimed "strong support" in most of the major states.

Bentsen, 54, promised to run "an energetic, national campaign" but added it would be physically and financially impossible to enter all the primaries leading to the 1976 convention.

Bentsen is the fifth Democrat to formally declare his candidacy for 1976. The others are Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and possibly former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford are also expected to jump into the race.

Bentsen, a millionaire former business magnate, said he was in the campaign for the duration and told a large crowd of well-wishers in the Senate caucus room, "I wouldn't have entered the race unless I thought I could win."

Asked whether he would accept the vice presidential nomination, Bentsen replied: "I should say not."

In a news conference following his announcement, the senator said his strongest support was in Texas.

But Bentsen, who has toured 30 states in the last year testing his prospects, added "I found strong support in almost all the major states I've gone into."

Bentsen's announcement mixed the goals of his candidacy with strong criticism of the Nixon-Ford administrations.

"For too long we have been adrift," Bentsen said.

"This administration, which has been in office since 1969, has failed to govern with either wisdom or foresight. It has bounced from crisis to crisis.

summer in europe CHARTERS
CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-325-4867
LESS THAN 1/2 REG. FARE

Squash Balls and Rackets
at
A. J. Hastings
45 S. Pleasant St.
AMHERST

IMPROVISATIONAL THEATRE
PUPPETS — GAMES
TRAVEL — ADVENTURE
— CIRCUS —
Interested?
8 p.m.
Wednesday 2/19
271 Hills South
545-0465
ask for Bro.

HELP IMPLEMENT
RENT CONTROL
AND OTHER ISSUES
BY RUNNING FOR TOWN MEETING MEMBER in Amherst
For Information Call
USCC (545-0217)
Town Clerk (253-3885)

Also — a SHORT MEETING for anyone interested in preliminary consideration — organizing of a new political party (local).
Tuesday, Feb. 18, 8:00 p.m.
Hampden Student Center
(lobby of auditorium)
U.S.C.C.

FLY:

Marine Officer Programs

College men who join the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class don't do it for the money. They do it for the opportunity to develop their leadership abilities before they graduate. All the training is during the early or late summer only. Upon graduation you are commissioned a Lieutenant of Marines.

But the money can come in — and it can come in handy: besides pay during training you are eligible to receive $100 a month every month of the school year — up to a maximum of $2,700 during a college career.

The PLC program also welcomes men who plan to continue on to law school. The PLC program lets you continue your schooling uninterrupted until your law training is complete.

Your college education could lead to a rewarding association with the Marine Corps. The PLC is a great way to start. For complete information see the Marine Officer Selection Team that visits the University of Massachusetts, Wednesday and Thursday, 19 and 20, February 1975, to discuss officer programs that are available. The team visiting the campus will be located at the Alumni House (Memorial Hall) from 10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Information on Marine Officer Programs can be obtained by contacting the Marine Officer Selection Office, 135 High Street, hartford, Connecticut 06101. Phone 244-2168 or 244-2169.

Doctors criticize Edelin conviction

'Right-to-life' groups hail verdict

By The Associated Press

The conviction of a Boston obstetrician for manslaughter during an abortion may have been guided by emotions and shouldn't scare physicians away from performing them in the future, doctors and other leaders in the medical field say.

But right-to-life groups hailed Saturday's verdict against Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin as a return to "respect for the dignity for human life" and warned doctors must be more careful about performing even legal abortions.

The prosecution had claimed that Edelin held the fetus inside the mother's womb long enough for it to die before removing it.

"I can envision every abortion physician looking over his shoulder because of this case," said Edward J. Golden of Troy, N.Y., a past president of the National Right to Life Committee. "In a sense it jeopardizes their status as a physician with a potential manslaughter charge."

Edelin, a 36-year-old Boston City Hospital obstetrician, said his conviction probably would discourage other doctors from performing abortions in hospitals. But in an interview before the trial he said, "People are still going to do abortions — they always have. All those horror stories you've ever heard about botched abortions and rusty coat hangers — they're all true."

Some doctors expressed optimism the verdict will be overturned.

"He is a victim of social conflict and I feel very concerned for him," said Dr. Jane Hodgson, a St. Paul, Minn., gynecologist once cleared of charges she violated her state's abortion laws. "The conviction certainly will be reversed on appeal but I still feel depressed for him."

"Emotional factors may have played a large part in this decision by a lay jury," said Dr. Winfred Lee, president of the Hawaii Medical Association. "The medical profession anxiously awaits the final legal decision following appeal."

Edelin "was made a scapegoat by anti-abortion forces," said the National Abortion Rights Action League in Washington. "To the extent that physicians in Massachusetts and elsewhere will be intimidated from performing legal abortions, this conviction will contribute to the death of poor women who will return to the back alleys."

Ford to decontrol price of "old oil"

WASHINGTON [UPI] — President Ford will decontrol the price of "old oil" even if Congress does not impose an excess profits tax to keep oil companies from getting rich by the action, his energy administrator said yesterday.

Decontrol would almost surely mean higher prices. The action could be vetoed by Congress.

Frank G. Zarb, federal energy administrator, told a House energy subcommittee that decontrol of old domestic crude oil on April 1 was an integral part of Ford's plan to make the United States independent of Arab oil producing nations.

"Accordingly," Zarb said, "congressional enactment of the windfall profits tax by that time is urgently required to prevent excess profits accruing to the industry."

The daily production of oil as of a certain date in 1972 is considered "old oil" and subject to price control.

Congress changes view on gas rationing

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Congress' view of gasoline rationing has changed from the only way to solve the energy shortage to something only to be done in an emergency.

This is now rather close to President Ford's position, which is the nation would have rationing only "over my dead body." Administration spokesmen later said that means only in an emergency.

Earlier in this congressional session, a few members of Congress considered coupon rationing of gasoline the only way to solve energy and economic problems quickly, reduce fuel use and cut out some expensive foreign oil.

"Rationing has sort of petered out," said a staff member whose senator once sponsored a mandatory rationing bill.

"Nobody is really seriously talking about mandatory rationing anymore." said an aide to Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., head of a House Democratic task force on energy.

Both Senate and House task forces trying to write a Democratic energy program talk of rationing only in a dire emergency-such as another embargo on Arab oil imports.

The "working paper" from which Senate Democrats are operating says it is "imperative" that there be a standby rationing system to cope with "a total import embargo" or similar emergency.

news summary

Wilson wants summit

MOSCOW [UPI] — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain called yesterday for an early summit meeting to wind up the European security conference, but indicated this still depends on Soviet concessions.

At a news conference ending his four-day visit to the Soviet Union, Wilson said he hopes the 35-nation summit will take place this summer.

But he said this depends "on adequate progress being made at Geneva," where the security conference is being held.

Wilson and Foreign Secretary James Callaghan returned by plane to London Monday night.

In the past, Britain has insisted on a greater flow of ideas and people between East and West, but Wilson did not refer to that directly.

Meany wants tax cut

MIAMI BEACH [UPI] — AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday Congress should cut taxes by $30 billion instead of $20 billion, but added even that won't stop the march toward 10 per cent unemployment.

"Events are overtaking not only the President, but Congress," Meany told a news conference after opening the first of a series of meetings of the 35-member AFL-CIO executive council.

Massacre described

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia [UPI] — Red-bereted government paratroopers cut off hundreds of fleeing, unarmed Eritreans who staged a massive prison break in the violence-wracked northern province and mercilessly shot them down, witnesses said yesterday.

Unofficial reports put the casualty figure at around 700 and described it as one of the worst atrocities in the 13-year separatist rebellion in the provice of Eritrea.

Government sources said an official investigation of the reports has begun.

Georgia defeats ERA

ATLANTA [UPI] — The Georgia Senate voted emphatically against ratifying the Equal Rights Amendment yesterday, responding to heavy lobbying by women opposed to it and warnings of Supreme Court tampering with state laws.

"We have the most gracious and beautiful ladies in the South," said Sen. Hugh Gillis of Soperton, an opponent of the ERA. "Let's show the nation that we respect our ladies."

The 33-22 vote marked the second straight year Georgia has turned down the ERA, a 1972 act of Congress already ratified in 34 states.

It takes ratification by 38 state legislatures to amend the Constitution.

UMASS
SOPHOMORES

If you are a sophomore man or woman who missed the opportunity to join Army ROTC during your freshman and sophomore years — you have the opportunity to apply for the Army ROTC two-year program.

We are looking for special people — individuals interested in learning more about the mainstay of National Defense, the United States Army.

And we have a lot to offer too — accredited Military Science courses; challenging extracurricular activities; a highly qualified group of Army officers and noncommissioned officers sincerely interested in YOUR abilities and goals; financial assistance; an interesting, rewarding alternative in employment after graduation; and the chance to serve over two hundred million Americans — as a commissioned officer in the active Army, Reserves or National Guard.

You owe it to yourself to get the facts about the two-year program. Drop by and visit us in the Department of Military Science (located between Boyden Gym and Southwest) or call 545-2321. You'll be welcome, there won't be any run-around, we'll have some answers for you — and we're always good for a cup of coffee.

CALCULATOR FAIR
HEWLETT hp PACKARD
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS INCORPORATED
Rockwell International
TODAY
10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Student Union Building
Colonial Lounge

Representatives from Rockwell International, Texas Instruments and Hewlett-Packard will be present to answer your questions concerning electronic pocket calculators.

★ New Products ★

Come in and see the new calculators being offered by each of these firms. The prices on their older models have dropped as well. You may be surprised.

★ SPECIAL PRICES ★

The University Store will have special prices on a few calculators for this day as well as coupons for calculators that will be honored till the end of the month.

a consumer awareness program sponsored by university store campus center university of massachusetts/amherst

THE WOK RESTAURANT
"Chinese Home Style Cooking"
Open 7 Days — 5-10 p.m.
No Reservations Take Out Service
Tuesday Special: Dinners $2.99
Rte. 9, Hadley 586-1202
Across from Cumberland Farms

After college, will you get the job you deserve?

Let's face it, things aren't equal in today's job market. Even with a college degree. But the Air Force has jobs that fit your college education, on an equal opportunity basis.

The Air Force is deeply involved to provide understanding for its people about the sensibilities and sensitivities of others. Doing its part to make things better. We're not perfect—yet. But brother, we are getting there.

There are many job opportunities open to you as an officer in the United States Air Force. You may consider being a pilot or navigator.

And don't forget the Air Force ROTC Scholarship Program. Scholarships that cover full tuition, reimbursement for textbooks, lab and incidental fees. Plus an allowance of $100 a month and flying lessons.

Apply, qualify, and enroll in Air Force ROTC at Air Force ROTC, Dickinson Hall, Univ. of Mass.
Call 5-2437

Put It All Together in Air Force ROTC

Camp Winnebago
for Boys
Fayette, Maine

Will be interviewing on campus Feb. 19, 1975 — sign up in the Placement Office now!

Individuals who are interested in children and feel they have a skill which they could teach or assist.

Hunt's Tomato Sauce 5¢
Stop & Shop Tomato Soup 5¢
Stop & Shop Buttermilk Biscuits 5¢
Morton Salt 5¢
Stop & Shop Cleanser 5¢
Jiffy Corn Muffin Mix 10¢
Stop & Shop French Fries 10¢
Stop & Shop Coffee Lightener 10¢
Stop & Shop Natural Yogurt 10¢
Sun Glory Dog Food or Cat Food 10¢

We've brought back old time 5¢ & 10¢ values this week!

Come get your Stop & Shopsworth!

Stop & Shop

$1,000 in Scholarships Pizza Recipe Contest!

Beef Chuck Blade Steak 49¢ lb

All week frozen specials Orange Juice 4 for $1

Swanson Meat Entrees 2 for $1

½ Gallon Ice Cream 99¢

Stay n' Shape Cottage Cheese 49¢

White Gem U.S. Grade 'A' Broilers 49¢ lb

Chicken Wings 49¢ lb

Stop & Shop Cold Cuts 49¢

Beef Liver 49¢ lb

Turkey Drumsticks 49¢ lb

Ground Beef 79¢

Mild Franks Nepco 89¢

Rice Pudding 69¢

Genoa Salami Carando 99¢

Potato Salad 2 lb container 89¢

African novelist to discuss jungle myths

Professor Chinua Achebe, one of Africa's leading novelists, will discuss "The Image of Africa" in the second lecture of the Chancellor's Lecture Series here.

Professor Achebe will speak in the Campus Center Auditorium tonight at 8 p.m. He will explore the reasons for the Western view of Africa as a continent of jungles, tribesmen and mindless cruelty. He will discuss the issue from a literary, rather than anthropological perspective.

The Nigerian novelist presently holds appointments in both the UMass-Amherst English department and the W.E.B. DuBois Department of Afro-American Studies. His works have been translated into 20 languages and are regarded as classic in the emerging tradition of African literature.

Achebe is widely known for his first novel, "Things Fall Apart." The novel describes the impact of English colonization on a traditional Ibo village in eastern Nigeria during the last years of the 19th century.

His other books include "No Longer At Ease", "Arrow of God", "A Man of the People" and a collection of essays soon to be published.

In 1974 Achebe received two prestigious international literary honors.

The Scottish Arts Council, in a letter from Lord Balfour of Burleigh, announced that Achebe was the second recipient of the annual Neil Gunn International Fellowship. The fellowship was founded in 1972 as a national tribute to international achievement.

In addition, the Modern Language Association of America voted to elect Professor Achebe to an honorary fellowship in the association. A roll of honorary fellows is limited to 40 persons representing the highest level of achievement in world literature.

Achebe is also the editor of an African-based journal of creative writing called Okike (Creation).

Seeds scarce

Seeds for planting purposes will be in great demand during the coming planting season, according to Dr. William M. Rice of the Experiment Station Seed Laboratory at UMass-Amherst.

Because of high prices and difficulty of obtaining a good variety of vegetables, more people are interested in growing their own next season. Rice thinks both vegetable and flower seeds will be in demand and that there may be a temptation for dealers to sell old or out dated seed.

All seeds must be labeled to show the kind and variety and name of labeler or seller. The germination percentage must be up to standard or labeled otherwise. The date of test must have been completed within nine months prior to sale. For field crop and lawn seed, the labels must also show the purity percentage.

Tests should be made by a seed laboratory so acceptable results can be obtained. Samples should be sent as soon as possible because some seeds require more than a month for testing and may have to wait some time before they can be handled.

For prompt testing by the UMass Seed Laboratory, seed should be identified properly, packed in strong envelopes, wrapped securely, and sent to the Seed Laboratory, UMass-Amherst 01002.

A schedule of fees, a summary of the Seed Law, and the latest Seed Inspection Bulletin will be sent upon request.

Cello recital

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

MAD MONEY!

$25 for $20

cut this out
MAD MONEY
Expires Feb. 22, 1975
BEAU BRITCHES
(HADLEY STORE ONLY)
5 10 20

with Beau Britches mad money!

Make a $20 purchase, present this mad money certificate and receive a $5 discount!

That's $25 worth of merchandise for $20!

Buy $50 worth of merchandise, save $10!

or Buy $100 worth of merchandise and save $20!

Team up with a roommate.

Make a group purchase and save money!

BEAU Britches

Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Letters

Reconstructing an image

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, February 11, a group of undergraduates in the School of Education met to discuss both current problems in the School and ways of dealing with them. Two basic concerns emerged from the students present: 1] A lack of communication among students, as well as a lack of readily accessible information about the structure of the School and the offerings of the various programs. 2] A lack of undergraduate input to the governing structures of the School. We have begun to look for ways to meet these needs - but we can't as a small group, do it alone.

We would like to encourage all undergraduates to come to the next meeting. Our energies have been dispersed for long enough, complaining to one's neighbor does nothing; organizing as a group can be effective. The School is in a state of flux; we stand a good chance not only of not meeting our present needs, but of losing our present strengths. We also stand a good chance of having our future jobs threatened if the image of the School does not reflect favorably upon its students. Administrators are not the only people who create an image: we do too!

If you want some say in the reorganization of the School; if you have specific needs you want met; if you want to help create an image - come to the next meeting: Tonight, Tuesday, February 18th, in Room 908 Campus Center at 7:00 p.m.

Debbie Lohman
Susie Mosher
Sue Green

Students tow the line!

To the Editor:

I'm writing in regards to the incidents occurring about the towing of my car.

My car was towed on February 10, 1975. I feel as though my car was towed illegitimately. My car was disabled in lot No. 50, I have a current parking validation for lot No. 22, therefore I couldn't move it to lot No. 22 before the towing period began on February 10, 1975. I left a note affixed on the windshield of the car stating that it was disabled and I couldn't move it practically.

I feel this is unfair and unjust treatment on the part of UMass police department and Amherst towing.

Another incident occurring about the towing of my car happened on February 11, 1975 as I went to pick it up. The person with whom I was in touch at Amherst towing was very offensive and arrogant. The total bill for the towing and storage came to $21.00. The actual towing was $15.00 the storage was $3.00 a day. My car was there less than 25 hours and I was charged for 2 days of storage: This is unfair business practice in my mind.

Without the car owning students at the university Amherst Towing would be a drop-in-a-bucket.

All things considered I feel, I should be alleviated from paying the fine, towing, and storage fees.

I'm planning to fill out an appeal with UMass Police concerning the $10.00 fine.

I would appreciate any student, or other persons' response or support in this matter.

Sincerely,
Michel Y. Rehayem

Vets protest CC action

To the Editor:

The Veterans' Coalition strongly objects to the tactics taken last Thursday night by John Corker, Campus Center Director, at a meeting of that building's Board of Governors. The issue was the arbitrary termination of a student employee without being given due process, or notification of specific charges. Mr. Corker refused to answer questions posed to him by Board members, unless the Board went into Executive session. Present also at the meeting were representatives of the Collegian, Student Organizing Project, Bluewall employees [where the terminated employee had been assigned] and the Veterans' Coalition [the employee is a veteran]. Though these representatives would be forced to leave during executive session, eight professional members of the building's "management team" would be allowed to remain.

The Veterans' Coalition asks the Board of Governors two questions: [1] does the Board feel it best represents its stockholders [student fee-payers] at closed door hearings? [2] does the management have the right to decide when and where they will be accountable for their actions?

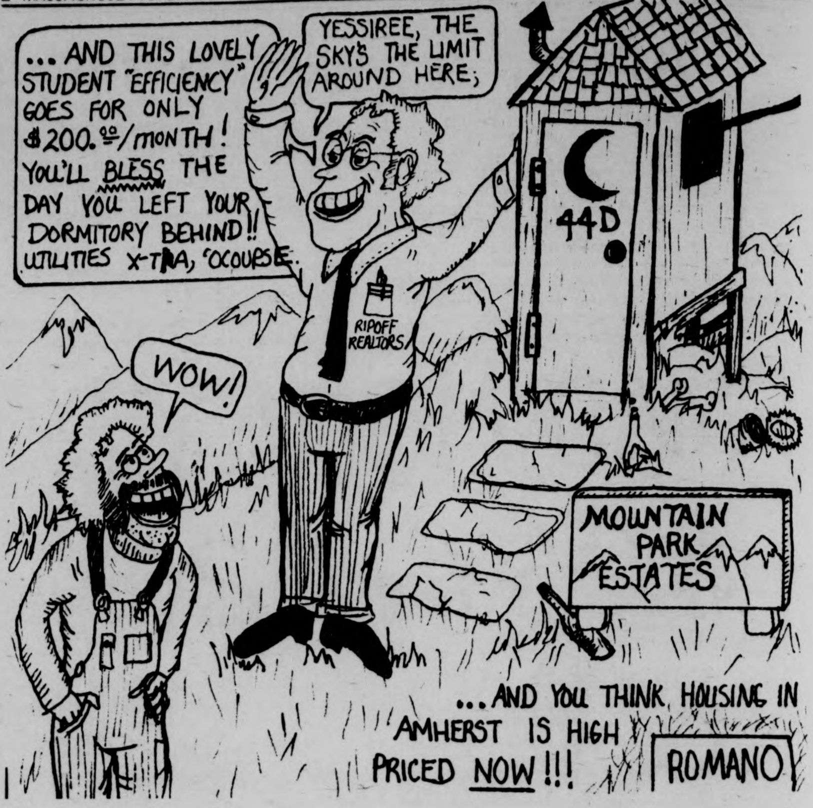
We urge the Board to hear the facts of the case in an open meeting Tuesday [tonight]. If Mr. Corker continues to stonewall the issue, censure or termination proceedings should be initiated against him.

Veteran's Coalition
7 Signatures

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.



... AND THIS LOVELY STUDENT "EFFICIENCY" GOES FOR ONLY $200.00/MONTH! YOU'LL BLESS THE DAY YOU LEFT YOUR DORMITORY BEHIND!! UTILITIES X-TRA, 'OCOURSE.
YESSIREE, THE SKY'S THE LIMIT AROUND HERE;
WOW!
RIPOFF REALTORS
44D
MOUNTAIN PARK ESTATES
... AND YOU THINK HOUSING IN AMHERST IS HIGH PRICED NOW!!!
ROMANO

From our perspective

Unite and conquer

The town of Amherst faces a serious housing crisis now and in the next months. The crisis affects everyone wishing to live off-campus, as well as the many people that already do. This town needs rent control.

The obvious problem facing the town is the supply and demand situation in the Amherst housing market. The influx of potential renters from the dormitories, should there be optional residence, will eventually force rents upward. There is no control over landlords raising their rents.

STUDENT UNITY

At stake are the rights of every student, whether they live on or off-campus; what is needed is unity. An end to mandatory dorm residence and rent control go hand in hand. The main emphasis has to be on rent control right now, as it has received far less attention than the dorm policy.

A direct route to rent control lies in the passage of bill H. 1957 currently being considered by the House Local Affairs Committee. It calls for permanent availability of rent control for any city or town in the state that wants it. People are needed to call their state representatives and senators to let them know how much we need rent control here. More information about rent control bills as well as grass-roots lobbying is available from the University and State Communications Council 413A Student Union, tele. 545-0217.

Another channel, and one that could produce action on a broader spectrum of issues, is that of local involvement. There are openings for Town Meeting Members in every precinct in Amherst. To appear on the town ballot, it takes just ten signatures from registered voters in your precinct.

The Town Meeting Warrant will contain an article which, if passed, will ask the State Legislature to enact special rent control legislation specifically for the Town of Amherst. Since pre-election preparation and the Legislature's consideration of permanent rent control are happening simultaneously, it is crucial that people get involved in both avenues of action.

If enough students and concerned town residents run for Town Meeting Member and win, the prospects of organizing a voting bloc for the meeting would be very good. Good enough to try and organize before the April 8 election. A recruitment meeting for potential candidates for Town Meeting member, and anyone else interested in tieing local issues into a new local "party" platform, is being held TONIGHT at 8 p.m. at the Hampden Center in Southwest (in front of the auditorium). No party as yet exists; the meeting will be informal, but it could also change Amherst politics this year.

In direct relation to the rent control issue, it is very important for UMass students, on-campus and off-campus, to register to vote in the town whose laws most directly affect their lives. It is a simple procedure to register here. A large student turnout in the April election will put the town on notice that students are interested in their rights and their role in this very pressurized community. If you take the attitude of letting someone else influence these problems, well, you're going to pay for it.

IMPORTANT DATES

TUES. FEB. 18, 8 p.m. Hampden Commons, S.W. — Meeting for prospective Town Meeting Members, and people interested in developing a local party platform.

TUES. MARCH 11 by 4:30 p.m. — Last day to file nomination papers for Town Meeting Member (call or see Town Clerk, 253-3885).

WED. MARCH 19 by 4:30 p.m. — Last day to register to vote in Town Election (at Town Clerk's office, Town Hall).

TUES. APRIL 8 — Annual Town Election.

MON. MAY 5 — Annual Town Meeting, first night.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Zamir Nestelbaum

Mudslide campaign predicted

In the wake of other recent announced bids for the Presidency of 1976, Senator Roscoe J. Frisbee of Pennsacola has just announced his candidacy for the office. His candidacy marks the 72th announcement of such, with the election still almost two years away. In his statement, Frisbee emphasized that the nation has been derailed and that he would get it back on its tracks and choo-chooing along.

"What we need is a moral uplifting and easy money for all. I promise you, that if you trade in your used Ford and buy a brand new Frisbee, you'll soon be winging your way to an America I love. U'll even give you a big trade in allowance on that Ford. Remember, if you find a CAH, without Frisbee mini sticker price tag on it, ASK FOR THE KEYS ITS YAH CAH!!! My name is Roscoe Frisbee!!!"

Frisbee's public relations approach will continue to be one of a used car salesman asking that his product (himself) be bought. This despite the fact that it was precisely this method that was employed by an infamous recent ex-president.

Senator Frisbee has had a long and illustrious career and is indubitably qualified for the task. A graduate of Halibut State College, he made the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1929. HE was of course Chairman of the Who's Who selection committee. Later on in the Senate, he made the Congressional Who's He list, an award meted out to Congressmen who've never been to Washington D.C., or who like Harold Donahue, are there in body only. Before his career in the Senate, Frisbee rose to riches while operating a White Slavery Ring through the Isle of Borneo and working as a Rumrunner through the Straits of Bosporus. He then parlayed his connections and was appointed Governor of American Samoa, without even knowing where it was or anything about it.

After Frisbee's election to the United States Senate, he quickly earned a spot of the Senate Room Service Committee. This Committee oversees the operation of brothels and quick-stop motels from coast to coast. Senator Frisbee quickly became one of its foremost troubleshooters and was constantly out in the field doing legislative research for the Committee. Despite this hectic and frenetic pace, Frisbee did manage to co-sponsor a bill, along with Hubert Humphrey and Wilbur Mills, outlawing the distribution of Coors Beer to Outer Mongolia.

Senator Frisbee's campaign strategy will be simple. To hurl and sling mud at his opponents. He plans to hit President Ford on his reputed addiction to romilar and on his reputed inability to think and chew gum at the same time. One of his biggest gimmicks, sources say, will be to wear a football helmet to show the public that his brains have not been sizzled on the gridiron. Senator Frisbee will also fire volleys at the other candidates, accusing Bentsen of looking and smelling like crude oil, and Jackson of being Warren Harding's clone. The other 70 candidates will also get theirs.

Frisbee hopes to capture large chunks of disaffected Americans on both sides of the fence, by plopping his large ass firmly down on it. It is in this manner that he favors gun control by maintaining that anyone caught with a gun should be shot on sight. Similarly he is pro abortion but he maintains that anyone inclined towards one should be capitol punishment should be gassed immediately, his position papers state. It is in the way, Frisbee's is pleasing every one. As far as forced busing is concerned, Frisee is dead set against it. He feels that waiters and waitresses should take up the slack and earn their tips.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!!!

Zamir Nestelbaum is a Collegian columnist

Commentary

The right to live?

Bean~t~ own bureaucracy

By ELLEN GAVIN

People in Boston seem to have strong opinions about things. Take busing for example. Or abortion.

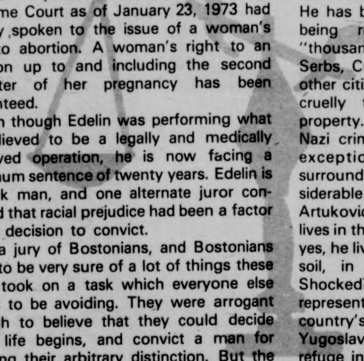
When the foreman of the jury at the Edelin manslaughter trial was asked for the verdict, he shouted "guilty!" in a tone which many say smacked of vengeance. This was one strong indication that the guilty verdict handed down on Saturday was more of a negative reaction to abortion in general than an accurate, well-reasoned assessment of the facts on the part of the nine man, five women jury.

The six week trial arose out of a grand jury indictment of Edelin for the manslaughter of a 24 week old fetus; he allegedly murdered the fetus during a legal abortion whick he the fetus during a legal abortion which he performed on a seventeen year old woman at

The major point of contention during the trial was whether or not the fetus was a person, a self-sufficient human being, which was smothered by Edelin during the course of the abortion. Attempting to address the issue of 'when life begins,' the expert testimony was contradictory, with the prosecution presenting "right-to-life" advocates whose biases against abortions became obvious. The only eyewitness testified that the fetus showed no signs of life when it was removed from the patient's uterus.

The judge's instructions to the jury concerning points of law explicitly stated that "a fetus is not a person, and it is not the subject of human slaughter." Yet the prosecution must have successfully convinced the jury that a "person" was born the moment Edelin detached the placenta from the uterine wall, and that a living person was murdered rather than an unborn fetus aborted. Resorting to a rather despicable tactic, showing a photograph of the fetus to the jury, the prosecution successfully created the illusion that "it looked like a baby." Many of the jurors claimed that the pictures were what finally convinced them.

Dr. Kenneth Edelin was a doctor who was dedicated to the premise that a woman has the right to an abortion, and that poor women in particular have the right to safe, competent care for any medical problem. He spent much of his time serving indigent clients for little or no pay: he believed that people were more important than money. Over the course of the trial, Edelin was hailed as both a hero and a tyrant. The trial became a political forum for the long-standing debate over the abortion issue. Yet it was neither the time nor the place for such a discussion. The Supreme Court as of January 23, 1973 had already spoken to the issue of a woman's right to abortion. A woman's right to an abortion up to and including the second trimester of her pregnancy has been guaranteed.



Even though Edelin was performing what he believed to be a legally and medically approved operation, he is now facing a maximum sentence of twenty years. Edelin is a black man, and one alternate juror contended that racial prejudice had been a factor in the decision to convict.

So a jury of Bostonians, and Bostonians seem to be very sure of a lot of things these days, took on a task which everyone else seems to be avoiding. They were arrogant enough to believe that they could decide when life begins, and convict a man for violating their arbitrary distinction. But the final say - legally speaking that is - does not rest with the Irish Catholics from Boston. The Supreme Court will be faced with a decision which it has neither the will nor the capability, nor, perhaps, the right to decide.

Ellen Gavin is a Collegian commentator from the Progressive News Service.

Where Justice hangs free

By KYRIAKOS KAROUTOS

The State Department, true to its lack of principles, has refused to allow the Yugoslavian people to take just revenge against this criminal. But, what do you expect of the State Department? Justice? Look somewhere else for this elusive dream, for justice has become an ideal instead of a reality. The fact is, democracy has become an ideal, freedom has become an ideal, a government who represents the people has become an ideal. Noble values have become, or perhaps remained, ideals while vile practices have become standardized norms.

Andrija Artukovic is a former Minister of Justice and Internal Affairs in the Nazi-controlled Croatian regime of Ante Pavelic. He has been condemned by Yugoslavia as being responsible for the deaths of "thousands of men, women, and children—Serbs, Croats, Jewish people, gypsies, and other citizens of Yugoslavia who were often cruelly tortured and deprived of their property." Andrija Artukovic is just another Nazi criminal; he is not unique, he is not exceptional. The circumstances which surround him though, do present a considerable basis for critical analysis. Andrija Artukovic, the butcher, the Nazi, the worm, lives in the land of "the free and the brave"—yes, he lives among us, in our country, in our soil, in the United States of America. Shocked? You should not be. Artukovic represents an integral and crucial part of this country's oppressive policies. He is a Yugoslav citizen who after the war seeked refuge in Ireland and Switzerland before he found it in this country. Ireland and Switzerland, true to their democratic principles, refused to let him contaminate their soil with his vile presence. The United States did grant him refuge.

Do we have justice when the Nixons are allowed to remain among the living? Do we have justice when foreign radicals, advocating constructive changes and reforms, are being deported while Nazi criminals are being protected by the most powerful country in the world? Do we have democracy when political dissidents are being persecuted even though they may constitute a majority of the people? Did you oppose Ford's pardon of Nixon? Then, you are a dissident. You do not have to be a radical, a leftist, a Marxist, to be considered a dissident. The majority of the American people opposed Ford's "gift" to Nixon. So what? Did this opposition result in anything constructive? Nixon is still alive, free, and well, and Ford is still on the throne, er...helm, of the country. Democracy? Representative government?

As long as war criminals are allowed to live upon this globe, there will always exist the fetus and the consequent rebirth of another Nazist regime. Artukovic, and his cohorts must be eschewed as an example of justice and democracy. Nazi-minded individuals will occupy some space upon this earth as long as their idols are allowed to remain alive. Although Nazism will not be totally eliminated, a positive and giant step will be taken when every Nazi war criminal has been executed.

The Yugoslavian and Jewish people demand the deportation of Andrija Artukovic. The obstacle to the road towards justice must be removed and Artukovic must face just punishment for his crimes.

The Yugoslavs demand justice, the Jewish people demand justice, the dead victims, deep within their graves, demand justice, the international community demands justice, and I demand justice. Do you?

Kyriakos Karoutos is a Collegian Commentator

Putting energy into gear

By JOSEPH LLAMAS

The energy crisis started about two and a half years ago. Since then all of our lives have been changed. I've heard that oil and natural gas will run out in about ten years. If that is true, we must all try to help find new and better ways to make electricity. I oppose nuclear power because it would take just one accident to kill or damage every living organism within about a 70 mile radius. The problem is all of ours, so we better get to it.

Joseph Llamas, a Student at Amherst Junior High School, is a Collegian guest commentator.

Notable Quote

"I concluded that I must be wrong...that maybe I was myself unconcerned about the fetus and that this was where my own feelings were out of order." John G. Kelly, juror, explaining his reason for changing his vote from not guilty to guilty in the Edelin trial.

These are your pages . . .

Attention all Op-Ed staff and prospective members: special meeting of the editorial page staff tonight at 8:00 in Campus Center rms. 911-915. New members, women, and Third World people are urged to attend. Bring your ideas, your gripes, your talents; bring yourselves! Important!

come and claim them!

Black Affairs

Unity stressed by Afro-Am

By Black News Service

Prof. John Bracey of the Afro-American Studies Dept. on Sunday, Feb. [illegible] [illegible]

The Afro-Am student organization members [illegible] stressed the need for unity among Black organizations, working together and exchanging knowledge and resources in order to offer the maximum in educational services to the campus. [illegible]

Education

[illegible]

B.N.S. meeting

The Black News Service is a student run media training and placement project. [illegible]

A meeting will be held tonight at New Africa House, Rm. [illegible] at 7:30 p.m. [illegible]

We need: graphic artists photographers reporters layout personnel fine arts critics writers.

Black History Week on W.F.C.R.

Today at 1:00 p.m. on WFCR Radio, 88.5 FM, Images, a public affairs program, will be honoring Black History Week. [illegible]

Black History Week only comes once a year, in the month of February, although the history of African peoples is endless. Stay tuned to WFCR, 88.5 FM at 1:00 p.m. for Images.

Think For Self

Appearing
TONITE
AIRBORNE
at
Rusty Nail Inn
Rt. 47, Sunderland
665-[illegible]

SOPHOMORE NURSING MAJORS

You can become an Air Force Nurse on campus through Air Force ROTC.

To find out if you qualify for:

Worldwide Travel
Flight Duty
Officer's Pay and Advancement
$100 Per Month for Your Last Two Years on Campus
Many Other Benefits

CONTACT:
Major Goodhue
Room [illegible]
[illegible]
Dickinson Hall

THE CYCLE UP
[illegible]

THE HOBBIT
by J.R.R. TOLKIEN
One of the best wonder tales ever written
...now on records.
Performed by Nicol Williamson
[illegible]

university of massachusetts arts council
presents
Israel Chamber Orchestra
The Hartford Ballet
[illegible]

your birthday by stella wilder

[illegible]

DIZZY & PAUL by jim carson

TODAY'S CROSSWORD

UNITED Feature Syndicate

[illegible]

KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson

notices

[illegible]

turn to page 12

If you're looking for [illegible]
The Hungry U
[illegible] on Large Pizza
25¢ on Small Pizza

notices

cont. from p. 11

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

We invite all university women to Pub Nite at KAT, 778 N. Pleasant St.—across from NOPE. Call for rides at 5-2735. Come at 7 p.m.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

The sisters and pledges of KKG invite you to see a hair demonstration done by the Chopping Block tonite 2-18, 7-9. Come whenever you can.

NEW ENGLAND NEEDS A VETERINARY SCHOOL

Pre-Vet Club meeting tonite 2-18 at 7:00, rm. 165 CC. Speaker: Bill Gearin. Slide Show of the Grafton State Hospital. Pick up raffle tickets. Sign up for trip to Boston to support Bill 1886.

OPEN RUSH PARTY

All university women are invited to Game Night at Chi Omega, tonite at 7:00 and 8:15. Rides provided. For more info call 545-0182.

RECITAL

Leopold Teraspulsky, cellist, will be presented in a faculty recital in Bowker Auditorium, Tues. 2-18 at 8 p.m. Open to public without charge.

SCHOOL OF ED UNDERGRADS

There will be a meeting of all concerned undergrads in the School of Ed tonite at 7:00 in rm. [illegible]

SMITH COLLEGE FILM FESTIVAL

Black in Hollywood Films, sponsored by Dept. of Afro-American Studies & American Studies Program, Wright Hall Auditorium, Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m. The film is "Pinky".

TAX ASSISTANCE

VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) is offering free state and federal income tax assistance through April 16 at Goodell Library—Rm. [illegible] Mond.-Thurs., 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and Fridays 10 a.m.-6 p.m.

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION

Introductory lectures on T.M. are given every Tues. nite at 7:30 in [illegible]

UNIVERSITY JUDICIARY

Meeting, Tues. 2-18 at 7 p.m. in rm. [illegible]

WOMENS' TRACK CLUB

[illegible]

[illegible]

TV tonight

[illegible]

SHOWPLACE

DOWNTOWN GREENFIELD

EVES 7:00 - 9:15

Sat.-Sun. matinee

"A TERRIFICALLY ENTERTAINING WHODUNIT!"

PG

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S

"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"

AMHERST Cinema

Rome. Before Christ. After Fellini.

"FELLINI SATYRICON"

The Fall of the Roman Empire ... "FELLINI'S ROMA"

film times

[illegible]

CAMPUS Cinemas

8

CABARET

ILSA

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay

[illegible]

JUST OUT—the only complete guide to the psychic world!

PSI
THE OTHER WORLD CATALOGUE

ALL the latest, hard-to-find information in one giant paperback! [illegible] PLUS over 300 illustrations, addresses of publishers.

ONLY $5.95 at your bookstore now—or order directly from G.P. PUTNAM'S SONS, 200 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016

Swimmen impressive, drown CCSC, 65-48

By BOB HIGGINS

[illegible]

Hewlett-Packard introduces a smaller uncompromising calculator: the HP-21 Scientific.

$125.00*

HEWLETT-PACKARD

Now $125.00 buys:

More power than our HP-35. [illegible]

Smaller size. [illegible]

Full display formatting. [illegible]

RPN logic system. [illegible]

HP quality craftsmanship. [illegible]

Your bookstore will give you a demonstration today. [illegible]

HEWLETT PACKARD

[illegible]

Matman Fenton takes title

By JOHN BOCK

The Boston University wrestling team came up with a record 187½ points and seven champions to run away with the third Yankee Conference Wrestling Tournament. The Terriers easily outdistanced the Minutemen who placed third with 81 points and had only one champion in heavyweight Dennis Fenton. Defending YanCon Champs URI were second with two champions and 144½ points.

To try and analyze why BU, a team that was blasted by URI in a dual match last semester, placed all ten wrestlers in the finals one would have to look in East Lansing, Michigan and College Park, Maryland for starters. While URI and UMass were on extended intersession road trips through the Midwest and the South and incurring injuries that would come back to haunt them at this time in the season, the Terriers were wrestling out their schedule in New England and really getting themselves up for the tournament.

UMass only had two top seeds in the tournament in 158 pounder Cliff Blom and heavyweight Dennis Fenton. The season has ended rather abruptly for co-captain Blom. With a pin over Dennis Gaviola of URI in the quarter finals and a 7-1 victory over Larry Koleque of Maine in the semi's Blom severely dislocated his shoulder in the finals match against Cliff Whalen of BU. Whalen took Blom down, Blom escaped and shot a hard double leg which Whalen countered with a head lock and when they came to the mat the shoulder came out. It means a seven week recuperation in a shoulder sling and no New England tournament this year.

The Minutemen ended up with two thirds and three fourths when the final tally was in. Kevin Griffin won a forfeit from Steve Jabaut, also of UMass, in the 150 pound class. Jabaut was second seeded (each team could enter fifteen wrestlers in the tournament) but a nagging back injury caused him to lose his semi-final match and consequently forfeit in the consolation finals. Tom O'Connell took a third with a 3-1 decision over URI's Paul Perino at 190. O'Connell could have been in the finals except that he tried a desperation lateral drop in the semi's against BU's Mark Nichols and ended up on his back and dropping the bout, 7-4. Brian Chew took a fourth at 126 pounds in only his second appearance in a UMass uniform. Glen Grenon was the other fourth placer for the Minutemen in the 134 pound class.

Tonight at Hanover, New Hampshire, the Minutemen take on the Big Green of Dartmouth College in what looks to be a very tight bout. The Big Green have more talent in their heavyweights than any team in New England. They have three returning New England place winners in 167 pounder Kevin Young, 177 pounder Rick Clark, and 190 pounder Jim Conterato. Heavyweight Ernie Williams is supposed to give Dennis Fenton a hard time and be the challenge to Fenton in the New Englands.

Rimwomen take two

By GREG LEVINS

The UMass Minutewomen improved their record to 5-2 over the long weekend with a pair of victories over Vermont and New Hampshire.

After thrashing Vermont 93-60 Friday night in the Cage, the Minutewomen then completed the sweep with a 63-48 win over New Hampshire yesterday at NOPE.

Friday night, the turning point was a scrapping, ball-hawking full-court press employed by UMass at the outset of the game. The press had Vermont so baffled that the Minutewomen scored the first fourteen points of the game.

Midway through the first half, UMass upped its lead to 31-12 and left the court at intermission with a 53-22 edge.

Early in the second half, Vermont mounted a mild comeback, but the closest they could come was 57-37. UMass roared back though, and with 6:42 left were in command, 79-49.

UMass was led by Ann Foley, who came off the bench to toss in a game high 23 points, with Nancy O'Neil adding 17.

Yesterday afternoon, UMass committed enough turnovers, fouls, violations and mistakes in the first half to last them an entire season! UMass held a 10-5 advantage midway through the half and by the seven minute mark had stumbled to an 18-10 lead. The first half ended with UMass ahead 28-21.

When play resumed the Minutewomen got rolling, jumping out to a 40-25 lead. That press which had been so impressive against Vermont was now taking its toll on UNM. Led by Nancy O'Neil's 20 points and Chris Basile's 13, UMass coasted the rest of the way.

Staff Photo by Debbie Schafer

Guard Joanne Smith tosses up a shot despite the efforts of Australia's Sandra Tomlinson in last Wednesday's action.

Hockey cont.

cont. from back page

Colby was penalized for cross-checking and at 7:29 Dana Laliberte tallied from Quinlan and Dan Claypool.

Counihan and Claypool drew fish hooks with bait and needless to say the redundant shot at 0:24 drew thru a screened Redmond's solar plexus the ending shots were at 35-31 edge for UM as Co Bo wouldn't give up the ship. At 6:37 Gallacher on an even strength went thru fishers Scott Blackburn and Steph Werntz on a shot-iambic-pentameter-along the rte. ½ way up the side. At 17:34 under a minute had passed Doug D'Ewart found Boothbay Harbor from a map held by Bob Owens and Bill Regan on oh vy! an inside -nr. pst, disk along the short from Ellis who couldn't hold the bait at the rte. pt. when by now the legs were starting to feel weak.

At 13:18 McCormack tallied his 6th from Merchant on another along the zamboni-cleared ice to the short side! At 15:26, Billy White, scored his 4th from Lamby & Bobby on the same thing again!

At 5:06 White came the final game-winner of the journey as Gallacher from D'Ewart found the inside post along the ice.

B Ball cont.

cont. from back page

TICKLING THE TWINE — Leaman once again used Burke, Endicott, and Eldridge in the same line-up with much success until Burke got into foul trouble late in the first half.

Eldridge turned in the defensive play of the game in breaking up what looked to be a sure hoop. UConn's Earl Wilson broke in one-on-one against Eldridge on a fast break, and the freshman guard fell down. But Eldridge, in a sitting position, retained his composure and flicked the ball away as Wilson attempted to dribble past.

584 9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR

PETER FINCH LIV ULLMANN
THE ABDICATION
PG ①
6:30, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 6:00-6:30 Only

NOW THE TV CRITICS MAKE IT UNANIMOUS

"'Le Sex Shop' is not for children, but it is for adults who can smile through a nude, but never dirty lampoon of pornographic movies. 'Le Sex Shop' has been made by Claude Berri with a twinkle in his eye, his tongue in his cheek and laughs all over the place." —Gene Shalit, WNBC-TV:

"Totally delightful! There is much nudity and simulated sex in this film, but if your wife, or husband has never seen an X-rated movie, 'Le Sex Shop' is the one to take her, or him to. It is wholesome, refreshing and deliciously funny satire." —Stewart Klein, WNEW-TV:

"This charming French comedy, is the first really sophisticated X-rated movie shown, and proves that sex is not just fun but that it also can be very funny." —Kevin Sanders, WABC-TV:

"'Le Sex Shop' is the cleanest X-rated movie I have ever seen. It's a film that even the Burger Court could love." —Leonard Harris, WCBS-TV:

CLAUDE BERRI'S LE SEX SHOP
X
②
6:30, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 6:00-6:30 Only

THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE
WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
HELD OVER FOR GROUP INFORMATION
CALL 584-9154
③ G
6:15, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 5:45-6:15 Only

James Caan Alan Arkin
Freebie and the Bean
④ R
6:15, 8:30 — Twi-Lite Hour — $1.25, 5:45-6:15 Only

Treat your favorite date to a night at the movies.
Bring this ad on 2/14/75 and receive 2 free sodas and a Valentine Heart.

TIMES CHANGE DAILY

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

The GUADALAJARA SUMMER SCHOOL, a fully accredited UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA program, will offer June 30 to August 9, anthropology, art, education, folklore, geography, history, government, language and literature. Tuition and fees, $190; board and room with Mexican family $245. Write to GUADALAJARA SUMMER SCHOOL, 413 New Psychology, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona 85721.

Juniors/Seniors Earn Over $500 Per Month

NUCLEAR POWER OPPORTUNITY

If you qualify, you could earn over $500 per month during your senior year with guaranteed Nuclear Power Training. Be a Commissioned Officer and work in the nuclear field. Starting salary is over $11,000 per year with rapid advancement to over $18,000 per year. Excellent fringe benefits, and continuing education.

Prerequisites: one year of college physics, math through integral calculus.

In keeping with our All Voluntary Force Concept, you incur no obligation.

See Your Navy Information Team
On Campus at the Placement Center
2/18, 2/19, 2/20, 3/11, 3/12

Please send me information on the Nuclear Power Program:
Name__________
Address__________
Phone__________
Grad Date__________
Major__________

Send to:

LT. DON HARBISON
NAVY INFORMATION TEAM
Albany, New York 12210
or call (518) 472-4424
collect.

Gymwomen break SC win streak

By BILL DOYLE

The streak is over. Last Saturday night before a record crowd of over 2,500, the UMass women's gymnastics team defeated Springfield College, 104.15-103.10, for the first time even in a dual meet. That wasn't the only streak that was broken through, as the loss was Springfield's first since 1968, which covered a streak of 40 consecutive dual meet wins.

The victory makes UMass the number one team in the East.

The Minutewomen trailed 26.65-26.30 after the vaulting and the lead stayed the same as both teams scored 25.65 on the uneven bars. The turning point of the meet was Jeannine Burger's balance beam routine, for which she received an 8.95. Burger went through her routine with an abundance of confidence. She had no major breaks and finished with a flurry. Even Burger, who never seems satisfied with her routines, smiled after her near perfect performance.

Burger's beam routine seemed to create uneasiness for Springfield, as none of their women came up with a really good performance in that event.

Meanwhile UMass' Susan Cantwell improved on near perfection, as she bested Burger's score on the beam with a smooth routine of her own for a 9.15. Cheryl Smith, who had a strong day for UMass, also did well on the beam with an 8.30 to give UMass over a two point victory in the event and the lead in the meet, 78.35-76.55.

Springfield scored well in the floor exercise to take the final event but UMass still came out on top in the final score.

The announcement of the final score was delayed for a while because Springfield protested the lowness of some of their beam and floor scores. The protests were denied and UMass handed the Chiefs their first loss since Nixon's first election as President.

In the vaulting, Cheryl Smith came through with an 8.60, Cantwell got good height and distance on her Yamashita vault for an 8.85 and Burger tied Cantwell's score to give UMass a strong top three. But Springfield, who was a much bigger team than UMass, took the event behind Patti Kural's 9.05, Katherine Kolemainen's 8.80 and Stephanie Jones' 8.80.

Ann Olson has a fluid routine on the uneven bars that thrilled the crowd and received an 8.35 from the judges. Cantwell stopped once during her routine but still scored an 8.6 and Burger scored an 8.7 to take high honors. Springfield stayed ahead by tying UMass on the unevens as Jones, Kolemainen, and Debbie Dunkley scored well.

At this point, Springfield appeared relaxed, as they were laughing on the bench and cheering on their teammates. This all changes after Burger's beam routine.

Cheryl Smith received an 8.65 for her fast paced floor exercise to take high honors for UMass. Cantwell struggled a bit but scored an 8.6. Burger fell hard trying to go into a front layout after doing a front handspring, but got up and finished well. Pam Stechroat, who again was off a little in her other events, scored an 8.55 for her floor exercise to make up for Burger's 7.90 and give UMass the victory.

Cantwell won the all-around with her best total ever, 35.2. Burger came in second with 34.4 and Kolemainen took third.

Coach Virginia Evans, usually cautious with her comments, revealed after the meet, "We won because we have a better team."

UMass is now 3-1, as is Springfield.

Assistant coach Mike Kasavana said that the crowd was the most ever to attend a UMass women's gymnastics dual meet at UMass.

Staff Photo by Howell

UMass gymnast Cheryl Smith performs on balance beams in victory over Springfield College last weekend. The gym women's win snapped a Chiefs winning string of 40. It was the Chiefs first loss since 1968.

TONIGHT
John Morgan
9 - 1
With This Ad You Pay Only 50c Cover
DRINK OF THE NIGHT
All Tequila Drinks
65¢
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

Gymmen sink Navy; victory a cruise

By BILL DOYLE

A word of warning to future UMass men's gymnastics opponents: don't catch the Minutemen, and especially Bill Brouillet, on the rebound. That is exactly what the U.S. Naval Academy did last Saturday afternoon, as the Minutemen, coming off a poor performance in their previous meet with Southern Connecticut, disposed of the Midshipmen 204.10-193.68 at Annapolis.

UMass' total was only .15 behind their best score this season which they totaled against Springfield. Bill Brouillet totaled only 49.03 against Southern but came back with his career high of 53.0 against Navy in the all-arounds.

The Minutemen took a ten point lead after the first two events and cruised in the rest of the way for the victory.

Many Minutemen turned in their season's best performances, Coach Dunn said. Brouillet's floor routine was labeled as his best this year by Dunn, as he scored a 9.0 to tie Navy's Wes Hall for high honors. Steve Marks' side horse routine (8.9), Brouillet's side horse (8.57), Brouillet's p-bars (8.97), Brouillet's high bar (8.83), and John Bandon's high bar (9.03) were their best scores ever.

"If you add up Brouillet's best scores this season in the various events," Coach Dunn said, "you get 53.15 and he almost reached that in one meet."

UMass came up with their best p-bar totals this season (34.37) and one of their better ring performances (34.23). The Minutemen lost the last three events but by slim margins.

Navy had a few good specialists but as expected they didn't have the depth to defeat UMass. Besides Hall's victory in the floor exercise, he won the vaulting (9.2), Pete Wdowiarz captured the p-bars (9.40), and John Yockey took the high bar (9.33). Navy didn't have much backing them up, as in the events that Midshipmen won, Minutemen managed to take most of the seconds and thirds.

GYM GEMS: UMass is now 4-2 on the road and undefeated (3-0) at home where they will play the rest of their meets this season. Coach Dunn praised Dave Kulakoff for another strong day (8.47 on the side horse and 8.80 on the p-bars). UMass was off in its vaulting and high bar so there is still room for improving their total. Roy Johnson had an off day also, totaling only 47.07 in the all-arounds.

WMUA

Tonight WMUA presents a special sports doubleheader. At 7:50 UMass and Vermont play for first place in the Yankee Conference. Then, at 10:30 following "Pacifica" the UMass pucksters face the Wildcats of UNH from Durham, New Hampshire. A Minuteman sports doubleheader on the Voice of the Minutemen, WMUA.

Take Command of Your Future

The Opportunity to be a COMMISSIONED OFFICER is available to all qualified students. The Navy is currently accepting applications for a variety of interesting and challenging OFFICER positions for COLLEGE STUDENTS with different academic backgrounds. YOU may have what it takes to qualify for:

NUCLEAR POWER
NAVAL AVIATION
NAVY LINE OFFICER
NAVY NURSE CORPS

See Your Navy Information Team on Campus
Location: Placement Center or call 518-472-4424 today
Date: 2-18, 2-19, 2-20, 3-11, 3-12

Vermont here tonight

Huskies fall, 76-75

By STEVE DaCOSTA

"That's what's wrong with winning games," remarked Jack Leaman. "You win one and you're right back in the pressure cooker." [illegible]

Bill Endicott poises to shoot the winning foul shot with three seconds left that gave the Minutemen a 76-75 victory over Connecticut Saturday night.

turn to page 14

UMass YanCon king in indoor track

By SCOTT HAYNES

Riding momentous performances by Bob Adamson, Mike Geraghty, Mark Healy and Joe Mariano, the UMass indoor track team outscored defending champion UConn [illegible] to win the Yankee Conference Championships, Saturday at the URI fieldhouse. [illegible]

Puckers split in Maine

By [illegible]

"You just had to be there." [illegible]

turn to page 14

[illegible]

Women swim to 4th in NE's

[illegible]

'F's' may again figure in cumulative average

[illegible]

Sue Rivest, student academic affairs member said yesterday, "all indications are that the "F" grade will come back into cumulative averages." [illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
[illegible] AMHERST, MA [illegible]

weather

[illegible]

Bromery gives Fischer nod

By DONNA FUSCO
Staff Reporter

Dr. Louis Fischer, UMass School of Education professor since 1966, became acting dean of the School yesterday.

Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery made the announcement exactly one week following Fischer's endorsement by the School of Ed Cabinet. [illegible]

[illegible]

CC Board of Governors reinstates Tartaglia

[illegible]

Vandalism ongoing Fine Arts Center problem

Staff Photo by [illegible]

The UMass Fine Arts Center has been beset by extensive vandalism.

By P. J. PROKOP
Staff Reporter

The Fine Arts Center has been hit by approximately 10,000 dollars worth of thefts and damages since its occupation in October, according to David M. Knauf, Head of the UMass Theatre Department.

"Vandalism in this building has been an ongoing problem since we moved in here", said Frederick Steinway, Managing Director of the Center. Security is a big problem because the Center is actually a complex of seven buildings with 26 exits, and there is only one night watchman on duty, he added.

Regarding the thefts at the Center David Johnston, Director of Public Safety at UMass said he's seen "a decrease in thefts in the last month and a half. Roving guards from the UMass Police patrol the interior of the Center now, forming a link with the already stationary guard shifts."

One of the major problems, according to Knauf and Steinway, is the doors used on some of the exits of the building. "The doors that were put in can be jimmied and broken into -- they're chained as soon as they can be secured for the time being," Knauf said.

"It seems the contractor left many defective locks on the doors, several have already been changed and new locks for inside doors are being made to further combat thefts," Johnston said.

"We have brought the problem to the attention of the administration, but they claim the responsibility lies with the architects, and no action has been taken," Knauf added.

The prime contractor of the building is the Fontaine Construction Company of Springfield.

Thievery and miscellaneous damages in the Center have ranged from two to three thousand dollars, not including the $10,000 in damages estimated in the Theatre Department alone.

"What we had lighting equipment stolen that can be of no use to anyone without the other equipment to run it, seats have been slashed, signs torn down, and other equipment has been damaged beyond repair. The top of the grand piano was ruined two days after we received it. I can't understand why people do this. New equipment takes months to reorder and receive, the students in the department are the ones who suffer," Knauf added.

Moore House student runs for town meeting member

By BRIAN COYNE
Staff Reporter

Phillip Sillinger, student head of residence of Moore House, is currently running for Amherst Town Meeting member in the April 8 town elections.

Sillinger, junior political science major, is running for a seat from Precinct Two, an election district comprising parts of Southwest residential area and the surrounding neighborhood. "My constituents are generally non-students. I will not be appealing exclusively to students," he said.

His principal concern as a Town Meeting member will be the introduction of rent control in Amherst. He considers the present housing situation in Amherst critical enough to warrant rent control, but thinks next year will bring an intolerable situation without it.

"With voluntary dorm residence in effect next year, the townspeople will not be able to compete with students for housing," Sillinger said.

The rent control issue is part of a no-growth policy which Sillinger would like to see instituted in Amherst. He thinks the town has reached its peak growth, and that projects like the proposed John F. Kennedy Museum and Library would only hurt the town. He said Amherst will not be able to withstand the additional traffic, water and sewage problems attendant with the library.

Sillinger would also advocate an increased child care program in Amherst. "Quite some time ago, a commission was appointed to explore the child care alternatives, but I have not seen anything come out of it yet. I would really like to know what is being done," he said.

Sillinger is not presently associated with any other candidates, but said he is willing to join a coalition if the conditions are right. "I am very interested in working with candidates who favor rent control," he said.

There are two different terms of office a town meeting candidate can seek, a three-year term or a one-year term. There are 12 three-year and 4 one-year spots open in Precinct Two. Sillinger has not yet decided which seat he will seek, but he does say that he is leaning toward a three-year seat.

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Phil Sillinger, student Head of Residence in Moore House.

Doonesbury starts today

Michael Doonesbury and all the insane Garry Trudeau characters who have been acclaimed, laughed at and censored by newspapers coast to coast will be featured on the Collegian comic pages starting today.

Trudeau first drew Doonesbury for the Yale Daily News as an undergraduate and since his graduation has syndicated the cartoon in over 350 newspapers. The characters from Walden Commune have since become cult heroes of College students, professors and politicians everywhere.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editors

[illegible]

Associate Editors

[illegible]

Business

[illegible]

TODAY'S STAFF

[illegible]

SCER studies show that budget allocations are inequitable

By JOYCE KOSOFSKY
Staff Reporter

Preliminary findings by the Student Center for Educational Research (SCER) indicate the 1975 and proposed 1976 budget allocations are based on inequitable distribution of available resources that favor professional staff and academic programs against the needs of students, classified staff and non-traditional programs.

The SCER has been examining the 1975 and proposed 1976 budgets to see how University resources can be re-allocated.

A student research assistant, Don Wilhelm, has analyzed various aspects of the budget including trust fund monies paid by students. Wilhelm's findings suggest that student monies are going to subsidize University functions which do not provide direct services to even a substantial minority of undergraduate students. "There's been a lot of discussion about creating a Universal Fee in order to raise 2.5 million extra dollars a year to pump into the residence halls," Wilhelm reports, "but it wouldn't take much imagination to squeeze at least that much money out of existing programs so students wouldn't have to bear the burden of deficiencies in the university's management."

Wilhelm would cut the budgets of professional salaries in places like the Campus Center reserve accounts, the Dining Commons and the various athletic programs. He would also make relatively small cuts in salaries for classified employees.

At the present time, the mean average salary for UMass employees is $[illegible]. The average pay for the [illegible] professional employees (administrators and faculty) is $[illegible], with most of these people on a nine or ten month schedule. The [illegible] classified employees, who do the actual physical and clerical labor on campus, earn a mean income of about $[illegible]. On the average, professionals earn more than 2½ times the income of classifieds.

"While further research is needed, it seems that the gap is even wider when considering the mode average. A substantial number of classified employees earn in the $5,000 to $7,000 range and there are a number of deans, department heads and administrators earning over $30,000 a year.

These statistics tell only part of the story. When SCER has completed its research, it hopes to release an alternative budget for the University. SCER is looking into the actual cost of instruction vs. the cost of "administrating." It is also trying to determine exactly how much is being spent on undergraduate education and what state funds are being used to finance research.

While SCER findings do not suggest that a cut back is indicated, they do suggest that a redistribution of allocated funds would better serve the students and the people of the Commonwealth.

summer in europe
CHARTERS
[illegible]
LESS THAN 1/2 REG. FARE

Tenants to meet with trustees

By DEBBIE SCHAFER
Staff Reporter

Members of the UMass Tenants's Association (UMTA) will meet with the Trustees' Finance Committee today to discuss a rent rollback to pre-September rates. Establishment of a rent rollback has been a prime objective of the UMTA since its establishment last October.

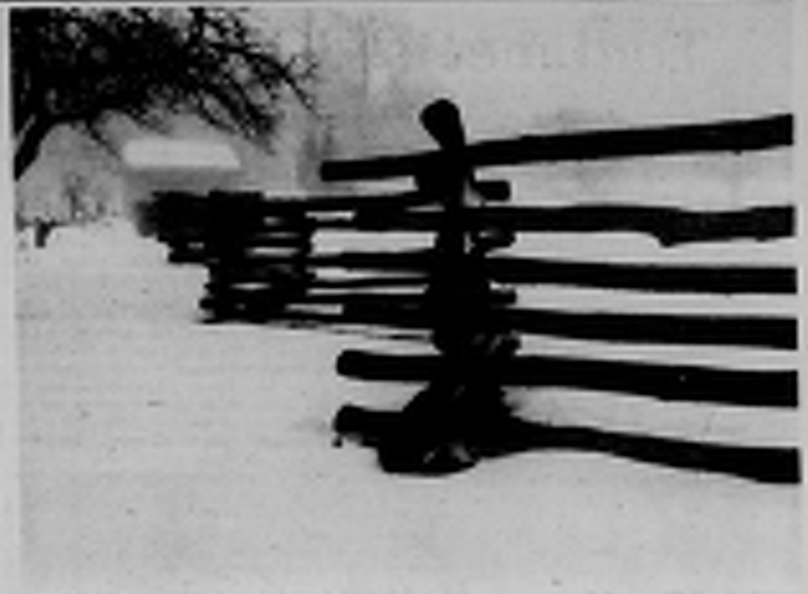
Tenant organizers Patrick Walker and Rosemary Whittaker, along with two other UMTA members will attend the 6 p.m. meeting in Boston. According to Whittaker, Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery will also attend the meeting, although he is not a member of the Trustee Finance Committee.

Vice-Chancellor Robert Gage recommended that the UMTA petition be placed on the agenda for today's meeting. Last December the UMTA brought their demands before a special trustee [illegible] committee, who also recommended that the trustees hear the UMTA petition.

UMTA organizers are requesting a rent rollback until a new budget can be worked out with Residential Life officials. Last Friday the UMTA met with Residential Life officials to discuss reorganization of the married student housing financial setup. UMTA leaders claim that a rent increase would be unnecessary if Residential Life was managed more capably. Proposals included making married student housing a cooperative, placing financial control in the hands of the tenants instead of Residential Life Office.

"We could eliminate mismanagement, hire our own management, and cut costs," said Whittaker. She claims that Residential Life officials seemed "very receptive" to the possibility.

Meanwhile, UMTA members continue the rent strike in protest of increases levied upon them as of last September. Members are depositing their rent monies into a special escrow account until the issue is settled.



Slender wooden logs, delicately balanced, weave across the sparkling white expanses.

As the wheels of hibernating motorcycles lie restless, only thoughts of equinoctial reverberations keep them raring to go. Vroom, Vroom, Vroom!

Handicapped UMass students can't find parking spaces

By NANCY GRUSHECK
Staff Reporter

Handicapped students at UMass have trouble finding parking spaces as well as other problems in getting around on campus.

Handicapped students are feeling the pinch when they try to park their cars because of [illegible] new handicapped parking stickers this year and because of the lack of parking spaces near the Student Union.

Sue Tis, parking coordinator, suspects that many students who don't really need HP stickers have gotten them anyway.

Every applicant is given a temporary HP sticker for one months while a letter is sent to their doctor to verify their eligibility.

"Many times the doctor will merely check off the closest list," said Tis; some doctors just don't understand the parking system.

Tis said that she and Peggy Stevens, coordinator of handicapped student affairs, were going to try and work out a system that is more fair to the handicapped person.

Six spaces used by the handicapped have been blocked for construction near the Student Union while other nearby parking is too far away often with a poor surface according to Stevens.

The spaces were illegal but there was a "tolerance" policy according to Jane Hanaberry, a handicapped student who has launched a battle to obtain free spaces in the campus center garage.

Six towing enforced spaces on the second floor of the Campus Center garage have been promised for March 1 by Donald Witkoski, accommodations manager, but they aren't free.

Hanaberry pointed out that the handicapped need closer parking because of the difficulty of traveling long distances compounded by "mechanics, icy weather".

"Other handicap parking is free," said Hanaberry, "I don't think the handicapped should have to pay".

Handicapped Student Affairs does not have the funds to pay for the parking according to Stevens but they must be paid because of the debt from building costs of the campus center garage.

The Student Senate drafted a letter supporting the plea for free spaces but has not promised any funds.

Stevens fully supports Hanaberry's efforts and said, "I think what Jane is doing is tremendous".

Another major parking problem is that students park their bicycles in handicapped spaces because they are close to buildings according to Stevens.

The central area of the campus is about [illegible] per cent accessible to the [illegible] permanently disabled and [illegible] temporarily disabled (accident victims) according to Stevens.

Bursar reports no upsurge in delinquent accounts

By DEBORAH GALLAGHER
Staff Reporter

Approximately 50 to 75 students have yet to re-pay their short-term loans and consequently face administrative withdrawal, according to Bursar Robert Mishol.

"I don't have any exact figures," he said, "but it's a little better than previous years." Due to the administrative withdrawal procedure which prohibits students from registering until the bill has been paid, there is no upward trend of delinquent accounts, Mishol said. "The system has been very effective," he added.

Barbara Fischer, the collections officer for the 90 percent federally funded National Student Defense Loans, said her office will collect approximately [illegible] in delinquent accounts due to a more efficient means of collecting the outstanding bills. According to Fischer, the procedure begins when a series of two or three letters are sent to the last address of the student. This is followed by phone calls, and finally the account is turned over to the Central Adjustment Bureau, a private nationwide collection agency operating out of Boston. The collection agency is used only when all other avenues have been exhausted, she added.

Both the student and the office are under added pressure to honor their commitments, Fischer said, because of a push by the Health, Education, and Welfare Department in Washington, D.C. to collect past-due monies. She added that since students sign a legal promissory note when they take out a loan, the office can use legal force as an option.

Fischer denied that declarations of bankruptcy by students as a means to avoid paying off their loans are a growing trend here. At UMass last year, she said, only one student filed a bankruptcy petition in contrast to the staggering numbers who did in California a few years ago. "A loan of $[illegible] is unusual" but even if the loan was $[illegible], the per month payment is only $[illegible] at 3 percent interest annually over the ten years. Furthermore, the collected money is "recycled back to the fund" for students who follow, so when people don't pay, they're really "making it harder for other students," Fischer said. "The loans must be repaid," she added, "but if they're (the students) made payments, we would accept that."

Faculty senate questioned hiring practices

By RICK GURSHMAN
Staff Reporter

Faculty hiring practices made during the administration of recently retired School of Education Dean Dwight Allen were questioned by a special committee of the UMass Faculty Senate in 1971.

A Faculty Senate study, issued the same year, raised questions concerning the administrative structure of the School of Education. Stating that the school "gives the dean much greater authority than usual," the reporter further emphasized that "decisions of vital importance to the faculty have indeed been reached without any consultation with faculty as a group."

The report cited findings that Allen hired 40 faculty members during his first two years as dean, a marked increase over the 30 faculty members employed before Allen's arrival. A number of Allen's earlier appointments were named before most faculty were aware as to who was being appointed-- Later, faculty appointments named by Allen were made subject to the approval of Provost Robert Gluckstern, yet they were made despite the protests emanating from the school's faculty personnel committee.

In 1968, Allen's first year, 30 new faculty members were hired. Of these, [illegible] had no professional teaching experience, [illegible] did not possess doctorates, and seven were immediately enrolled as doctoral students at the School of Education. Much of the faculty, including many doctoral students at the School of Education. Much of the faculty, including many doctoral students, were personally recruited by Allen on the basis of past academic or personal relationships that had developed at Stanford University, where Allen had previously taught.

In 1972, Allen read and approved a School of Education dissertation authored by Lyman Brainard that indicated "Allen's students or ex-students clearly made up the nucleus of the new faculty." Brainard's thesis further explained how the School of Education was built by a "network" of Allen associates. Allen brought in Richard Clark, a former student of his at Stanford. Clark then recommended Robert Woodbury, a friend of his from Amherst College. Woodbury was hired and then recommended [illegible] Gentry, with whom he had been working in Pasadena, Calif.

In addition, Gentry recruited four doctoral students, Woodbury recruited three doctoral students, including his brother, who then recommended three other faculty and three more doctoral candidates. Subsequently, Allen recruited 18 Stanford related faculty in his first year.

Former Chancellor Oswald Tippo, now a professor of Botany, personally interviewed a number of potential faculty for the School of Education in 1968 and 1969 when he served as provost. Tippo said he was "convinced of their vitality. They were alive, intellectually alert, with good solid backgrounds, often with Ph.D's in other disciplines." Tippo added though, "It's a bad practice to appoint people to faculty positions who've done their graduate work within the same school."

Clark added, "The School of Education, in general, was not the type of school that would have attracted a first rate faculty in 1968. That's not to say the faculty was deficient, but, it was not the type of place that would've attracted a first rate faculty."

Other areas of concern stated in the report were doctoral courses that were being taught by students who were at the same time receiving credit for taking the course

Ford meets GOP leaders for tariff support

Seeks backing in case of veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, apparently convinced Congress will reject his increased tariff on foreign oil, worked yesterday to muster enough Rupublican support to make the hike effective through a presidential veto.

The White House said Ford outlined this scenario to GOP congressional leaders at breakfast:

He expects Congress to pass a bill negating his oil import tariff; he intends to veto the bill; and he wants Republicans to back him to the hilt so Congress sustains that veto.

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters Ford also expressed to 26 GOP senators and representatives his impatience with lawmakers "wasting time" and his willingness to compromise to get his economic and energy programs passed.

"What we need to do is to sustain the veto, then let Congress get to work on an energy program and we might be ready to make accomodations to detail," Nessen said Ford told the lawmakers.

The Democratic controlled Congress is expected today to postpone Ford's ordered $3 a barrel hike in oil import tariffs, but Nessen said recent White House surveys show Ford's strength on the issue increasing in Congress.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told the breakfast meeting congressional suggestions that an oil allocation quota system be substituted for higher tariffs would cost Americans 400,000 jobs. He said an allocation system would mean 150,000 service stations "would have a very difficult time surviving."

Nessen said Ford and his aides stressed the three-step, $3 a barrel oil tariff boost is but an interim measure to cut dependence on foreign energy. Nessen said Ford's basic plan for making the nation independent of foreign suppliers by 1985 is the energy proposal submitted to Congress last month.

Nessen said Ford believes the failure of Congress to act on his energy and economic proposals in stalling efforts to battle unemployment and pay for increased fuel costs.

"The President thinks Congress ought to stop wasting time and get to work on the tax cuts," Nessen said.

Nessen said Ford's aides told the GOP leaders they are concerned because the tax cuts have not yet emerged from the House Ways and Means Committee and that Congress has done nothing about energy except debate Ford's import fee order.

UPI Telephoto

President Ford attends the White House swearing in ceremony for Betty Murphy yesterday. Murphy is to become the chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

Weather conditions set for deaths of birds

PADUCAH, Ky. (UPI) — City Manager William Howerton said yesterday weather conditions look good — subfreezing temperatures and rain — for another attempt to rid this Ohio river city of about a million blackbirds.

That's what officials say it will take before the birds' 25-acre roost can be doused for a second time with tergitol, a soapy chemical used in exterminating the noisy creatures. Howerton said the National Weather Service had forecast 20 to 30 degree temperatures with a 30 per cent chance of rain.

However, Howerton said the city only had 800 or 900 gallons of tergitol left and "once that's gone, that will be it for this year."

Meanwhile, 80 miles to the southeast, Hopkinsville residents were anxiously awaiting the Pentagon's decision on whether to spray the chemical on an estimated 17.5 million birds roosting at nearby Ft. Campbell.

Hopkinsville Mayor George Atkins was notified late Monday by Undersecretary of the Army Henry Koren that three scientists had completed their review of Ft. Campbell's bird extermination plans.

A preliminary review of the report "shows there is no indication why they should not move ahead with the bird killing effort," Atkins said.

WMUA

EMERGENCY STATION MEETING

WED. FEB. 19

8 p.m.

MANDATORY FOR ALL STATION MEMBERS

C.C. RMS. 165-169

Re-election of Public Affairs Director

Governors discuss economics, politics at annual conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mississippi Gov. William Waller said yesterday he doubts Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama will seek the presidency in 1976 — and suggested Wallace could no longer count on the South's loyalty.

Wallace, crippled by a bullet in 1972, "is not a viable candidate...because of his disability," Waller said at a news conference at the start of the mid-winter meeting of the nation's governors, whose chief concern was economics, not politics.

Waller said the South "wants to be in the mainstream" and is looking for candidates who can solve the problems of recession, inflation, and energy shortages which face all Americans.

President Ford's proposed solutions came under criticism at the conference from the chief executives, most of them Democrats.

The governors were generally critical of Ford's proposed taxes and tariffs on domestic and imported oil. Conference chairman Calvin L. Rampton, the Democratic Governor of Utah, said the governors would generally prefer higher gasoline taxes instead and criticized Ford's proposed tax rebate as merely "papering over the problem."

Waller said last winter's system of allocations — or even rationing — would be preferable to Ford's program. Gov. Philip W. Noel of Rhode Island said Ford's import tariff threatens the existence of "industrial might of the Northeast" where imported oil is used to generate electricity.

Ford plans to entertain the governors at the White House but turned down an invitation to discuss the governor's reactions to his economic and energy programs. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller was to pinch hit for Ford at Wednesday's working sessions.

The political news came from Waller's show of southern coolness toward another Wallace bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

RECORDS

CLASSICAL JAZZ
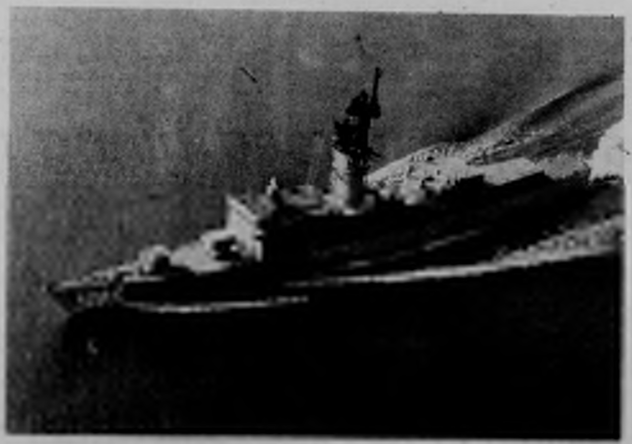
BLUES
ROCK

The New RECORD SHOP

[illegible] No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
[illegible]



Take Command of Your Future

The Opportunity to be a COMMISSIONED OFFICER is available to all qualified students. The Navy is currently accepting applications for a variety of interesting and challenging OFFICER positions for COLLEGE STUDENTS with different academic backgrounds. YOU may have what it takes to qualify for:

NUCLEAR POWER
NAVAL AVIATION
NAVY LINE OFFICER
NAVY NURSE CORPS

See Your Navy Information Team on Campus
Location: Placement Center or call 518-472-4424 today
Date: 2-18, 2-19, 2-20, 3-11, 3-12

Israel may get oil supplies from Iran

US Mideast talks center on oil

PARIS (UPI) — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran said yesterday he will keep oil supplies flowing to Israel as part of a new settlement Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is trying to negotiate in the Middle East.

The Shah also declared that Iran will refuse to take part in any oil embargo.

It was learned that Kissinger brought up the possibility of Iran supplying Israel with oil commercially if that country agrees to return the captured Abu Rodeis oil fields to Egypt as part of a new interim peace settlement.

Israel captured the fields in the 1967 Middle East war and currently obtains about 40 per cent of its oil supplies from them.

Standing beside Kissinger at the fashionable Dolder Grand Hotel in Zurich after their two and a half hour talks, the Shah told reporters who asked about oil supplies to Israel:

"Our policy is to sell oil to those who buy it. Once the tankers are loaded, we don't care where it goes because it is purely a commercial transaction."

He added that his country kept commerce and politics apart. Iran had never boycotted anyone," he said, and would not take part in a new oil embargo, which he indicated he thought would fail anyway because of increased stockpiles of oil.

A senior American official confirmed that the United States was studying the idea of acting as a guarantor to Israel against Arab attack during peace negotiations. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat suggested such a guarantee in an interview. The official said the United States had not yet made up its mind.

Kissinger breakfasted with Britain's new woman leader of the Conservative opposition in London yesterday morning, then flew to Zurich to lunch with the Shah and finally flew to Paris last night to dine with French leaders.

Paris was the last stop before he flies back to Washington on Wednesday.

Ethiopian airplanes bomb Eritrean sites

Compiled From Wires

ADDIS ABABA — Ethiopian airplanes pounded Eritrean rebel positions near Asmara yesterday and the military junta airlifted hundreds of fresh territocial troops into the embattled provincial capital.

Military strongman Maj. Mengistu Haile Mariam said he was prepared to mobilize six million militiamen to help crush the 19-day-old uprising against the central government.

In Beirut, Osman Sabee, a spokesman for the Eritrean Liberation Front, which has won the support of Syria, said Tuesday secessionist guerrillas have all but beaten the Ethiopian army and are close to winning their 13 year-old war for Eritrean independence.

"Independence may come soon because the Ethiopian army cannot continue much longer in Eritrea with the losses it is suffering," he said.

American-built fighter-bombers blasted guerrilla positions near the town of Mai Atal on the main supply road linking Asmara with the port of Massawa, the sources said.

A third of Ethiopia's military might is currently deployed in a war to crush Moslem Eritrea's breakaway uprising, now in its 13th year and in a do-or-die stage with some [illegible] rebels well armed and financed by a pipeline of Arab petrodollars.

The army—there are some 20,000 soldiers—controls Asmara, the Eritrea province capital and Ethiopia's second largest city, with a population of 200,000. But it also finds itself in hostile territory, its support often blocked by rebels or most of the 2.5 million Eritreans supporting them.

The Eritrean rebellion has also drained skilled manpower from the government, since Eritreans are the skilled craftsmen and technocrats of Ethiopia.

All that is clearcut about their revolution is the motto—"Ethiopia Tikdem," Ethiopia first. With that begin and end most newspaper and radio editorials.

In sweeping nationalization decrees, the government has taken over all major industries, except for tourism and mining and oil exploration.

It is now aiming at the feudal landlords in a land where 90 per cent of the people are peasants, most of them working on land they do not own.

A land reform decree is imminent, probably expropriating all land and redistributing it.

A group of army officers stormed into Addis Ababa last February and took over the functions of government. They ousted Emperor Haile Selassie in September and then on Nov. 23—"the night of the long knives," they executed 70 former government officials and some aristocrats.

House to reconsider racial imbalance law

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts House voted yesterday to consider a bill repealing the state's 1965 Racial Imbalance Act.

In taking the action, the House overturned a committee's adverse report on the bill.

The repeal measure is expected to receive final approval of the House and go to the Senate.

Bills to repeal the law, which bans school populations which are more than 50 per cent nonwhite, have been filed annually since the imbalance act was put on the books.

A repealer reached former Gov. Francis W. Sargent's desk last year, but he vetoed it.

The House vote overturning a recommendation by the Education Committee that repeal be rejected, was [illegible].

The City of Springfield, engaged in a forced school busing program ordered by the state courts, could be affected if the 1965 law were repealed. Boston's forced busing program was ordered by the U.S. District Court and would not be affected.

news summary

Fair trade laws hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Repeal of fair trade laws that allow manufacturers and retailers to fix prices would save American consumers up to $3 billion a year, a Senate panel was told yesterday.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R—Mass., urged the judiciary subcommittee on anti-trust and monopoly to support his bill, which would remove federal anti-trust exemptions from such fair trade agreements.

"This bill will be a small, but positive, step toward economic recovery," Brooke testified. "For as the recent rush for rebates indicates, reduced prices stimulate demand. And increased demand means increased production, which in a word means jobs."

TWA pilot blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pilot error caused the crash a TWA jetliner which hit a Virginia mountain Dec. 1 and killed all 92 persons abroad, a senior Federal Aviation Administration pilot said yesterday.

Clarence R. Milugin Jr., testifying on the 15th day of an inquiry into the crash of Flight 514, rejected arguments by airline pilots that a common misunderstanding of confusing FAA regulations caused the disaster.

Meany hits politics

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday labor unions can do as they please in politics, but the AFL-CIO wants no role in the internal affairs of national political parties.

Meany told a news conference after a morning session with the 35-member AFL-CIO executive council that "we came to the unanimous decision the AFL-CIO has no desire to influence the internal structure of political parties."

Asked if that meant the AFL-CIO union leaders might withdraw from the Democratic Party national committee, Meany replied "No sir. Absolutely not. It was not even discussed. They can do as they please."

Khmer rebels advance

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel forces routed government troops from another Mekong River position yesterday, further jeopardizing the chances for a supply convoy to run the pro-Communist gauntlet with food, fuel and other necessities to the besieged Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh.

An early morning rebel attack drove government forces from [illegible], 36 miles southeast of Phnom Penh and just three miles east of the Cambodian stronghold at Neak Luong.

Officers in Phnom Penh said it was the third Mekong River position to fall to rebel troops in 24 hours.

Calley case delayed

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Two judges of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals withdrew yesterday from former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s My Lai murder case because of defense challenges to their objectivity.

Defense attorneys have asked the court to affirm a district judge's ruling overturning Calley's conviction because of likely negative publicity before his 1971 court martial.

Chief Judge John R. Brown left the 15-judge panel because his former law clerk was arguing the Army's case to uphold Calley's military conviction for the 1969 murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

Judge Thomas Gibbs Gee withdrew because he was a retired Army Air Corps officer.

ANNOUNCING
The Third Annual Berkshire East
WINTER FUN-FEST
February 22 & 23

HOTDOG COMPETITION
Mogul/Freestyle—Ballet—Aerial Acrobatics

INTER-COLLEGIATE GIANT SLALOM

TUBORG BEER SLALOM
[illegible]

HANG GLIDER FLYING
From the top of the mountain to the base lodge

Third Annual Berkshire East
SKI WRITERS BEER SLALOM
(They take this seriously)

PRECISION SKIING DEMONSTRATION
The Berkshire East Junior Demonstration Team

WINE TASTING PARTY-TUBORG BEER FEST

An opportunity to try out the latest model skis from [illegible]-HEAD-HEXCEL-K-2-OLIN-SPALDING

NO EXTRA CHARGE TO SKIERS
[illegible]

Berkshire East
SKI AREA
Charlemont, Massachusetts [illegible]
[illegible]

THE DOLLAR
TRIXES!
...Hourly Specials
First 10 Items Get Them at ½ Price!
WEAR-HOUSE
[illegible]

world news briefly — in the Collegian

Judge sentences Edelin to one year's probation

Hospital invites doctor to return

[illegible]

Italian high court eases abortion ban

[illegible]

East St. Louis, city in decline, typifies plight of urban areas

[illegible]

The Episcopal Church of Amherst

LENTEN WORSHIP

[illegible]

YOUR MONEY'S WELL SPENT AT Archer Kent

Archer Kent

DISCOUNT HEALTH & BEAUTY AIDS

AMHERST [illegible]

NORTHAMPTON [illegible]

Quantity Rights Reserved

PRICES EFFECTIVE THRU FEBRUARY [illegible]

SCOPE MOUTHWASH $1.11

CREST Toothpaste 79¢

BUFFERIN 79¢

Breck Shampoo 75¢

BRECK Cream Rinse 65¢

POND'S Cold Cream $1.39

AIM Toothpaste 79¢

79¢

99¢

JOHNSON'S [illegible] 99¢

69¢

Amherst area survey

Food costs vary little here

[illegible]

Collegian LIFE/STYLE

[illegible]

Σ K

Sigma Kappa

[illegible]

Palm Reading Night

Wed., Feb. 19

7 - 8 p.m.

[illegible]

Greeks look at universal fee

Mass exodus not foreseen

[illegible]

Fun City Fast!

Catch A Ride With Continental Trailways.

[illegible]

Express Service

[illegible]

What are you doing for Breakfast? How About:

2 EGGS, TOAST WITH [illegible]

[illegible]

Menominee Indians demand rights

By Black News Service

This is an open letter to Mike Sturdevant, Menominee Warrior Society, from Louis Hall Secretary — Ganienkeh Council Fire. Special to the Black News Service, it contains therein a message of strength and power to the success of the North American-Indian Liberation Movement. Provided by the Runa Simi News.

Congratulations! on the occasion of your move to repossess your land area. If a monastery has been erected thereon, it's part of the breaks. Being in possession means having 9 points of the law. If you hadn't moved in and instead, sued in court for possession, they would have the nine points of the law and you only one. As it is, they would have to sue you to evict you — if they win the case. Of course, certain conditions may give them the excuse to use force to evict you.

Only nations may enter into and conclude treaties with other nations. The whole is international matter. No tribe is qualified by international law to make treaties. When the treaties were made, the involved Indian Nations were recognized as such. In 1870, the U.S. decided that there will be no more treaties with Indians and that Indians are no longer nations. This, of course, is illegal. International law says nation once recognized as a nation remain such until it dissolves itself.

No nation has the right to dissolve another by legislation or any other means. It's got to be done by the nation itself. U.S. legislated the U.S. Federal Indian Law. No nation has the right to make laws for another nation, but if it happens and the other nation accepts, it denationalizes and joins the other nation. Indians who accepted the U.S. Federal Indian Law and-or Canada's Indian Act, have according to international law [illegible] U.S. or Canada as [illegible] 2nd class citizens.

[illegible]

The thing is to tell the world that you are a nation, even if you had voted in the elections in both the Indian elections and the U.S. national elections, both devised by the white man. But you must first renounce the citizenship which resulted when you voted in these elections. When you revive and revitalize the Menominee nation and its government (traditional) and exercise it, you automatically give up your U.S. Citizenship. Your dispute with U.S. becomes an international matter.

All Indians should re-establish their own nations and stop voting in other national elections. Elect or appoint Chiefs in the traditional way. If you no longer know how your traditional government is formed then why not copy the Iroquois system? They never gave up their nationhood.

The Warrior Society has important functions to fulfill. They are charged with the peace, protection and defense of the nation. The Mohawk Warrior Society functions closely with the Chief's Council and Clan Mothers. In the field (in battles), the War Chief and his principle Warriors have control of the strategics, economics and hold tribunals (put spies and traitors on trial in their councils and execute punishments).

When we moved back to repossess Ganienkeh on May 13, we had people in New York City on that day delivering our message to the United Nations, reminding them of the principle of the United Nations their sworn purposes and requesting foreign relations with the countries represented by the ambassadors assembled in the United Nations. This is necessary for nations re-establishing themselves. When a new nation acquires an international legal personality, it shall be granted foreign relations with the countries in the U.N. and this means protection in case of aggressions.

It is necessary to proclaim to the world that the lands on which the Indians are TERRITORIES and not [illegible] the "mainstream".

[illegible]

NON-violent NEGOTIATIONS
Pull Back
The Police
SAVE MENOMINEE LIVES

Demonstration at courthouse in support of Menominee Indians.

Day of Unity

By Black News Service

Day of solidarity with the Ethiopian People in memory of the first anniversary of the February, 1974 Peoples' uprising will take place Friday, Feb. 28, 1975. The event will be held at the Church of St. John, 1047 Amsterdam Ave., 110th Street, Synod Hall, New York City, New York.

The discussion will be on the National Liberation Struggle in the Third World and the "Road to Socialism".

Speakers include, Immamu Baraka, chairman, Congress of the Afrikan Peoples; Harry Magdoff, Co-editor, Monthly Review (an independent socialist magazine); [illegible]

[illegible]

FIVE COLLEGE SUMMER FLIGHT

Boston-London round-trip only $285.
June 18-August 20, Pan Am Boeing 707.
Early sign-up urged. Contact INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS OFFICE, 239 Whitmore, Tel. 545-2710, for application. The only authorized Five College flight.

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents

Israel Chamber Orchestra
Wed. February 19, 1975
8pm Bowker Auditorium

The Hartford Ballet

Fri. February 21 8pm
&
Sat. February 22 8pm 1975
Bowker Auditorium

TICKETS: [illegible]
ON SALE 125 HERTER HALL, U MASS, AMHERST [illegible]

Appearing
TONITE
AIRBORNE
at
Rusty Nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-[illegible]

Rainbow Film Productions, the
PORNO KINGS ON CAMPUS
PRESENT

FEB. 25 — Pink Flamingos, starring DIVINE in the SUB

MARCH 11 — Behind The Green Door in the SUB

APRIL 15 — Resurrection of Eve in the CCA

[illegible]

Bring a friend, and POPCORN SURPRISE

---

campus carousel

By TONY GRANITE

CREST TOOTHPASTE PROFITS netted $203,000 in one year for Indiana University and the three faculty who developed the first fluoridated toothpaste in the late 1940s.

According to a page one piece in the Indiana Daily Student, the University holds the patent on Crest toothpaste, which three researchers of the School of Dentistry there had patented by 1953.

Proctor and Gamble marketed the product, paying I.U. royalties through 1970, when the U.S. patent expired. The University still holds patents in five foreign countries.

Royalties are split, with half going to the I.U. Foundation and the remainder divided among three researchers.

* * *

CLEVER CAPTION appears in an earlier edition of the Indiana Daily Student over an Associated Press dispatch: "Good news for cavities - January sugar costs melt."

* * *

ADD CLEVERNESS: a sports writer on the Moody Student, campus publication of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, calls his column, "The athlete's Foot."

* * *

Whale population in severe danger

By PETER LAMDIN
Special Correspondent

A whale is not something generally seen in the Amherst area and it is therefore difficult to awaken people to the immediate problem of saving them. Though many people have become aware and are making it known that they want the killing of whales stopped and though many countries have stopped whaling, Japan, Russia, Norway, The Republic of South Africa, Australia, and Iceland continue to hunt whales. Japan and Russia are the largest of the whalers and take 84 per cent of all whales killed.

This is the reason the boycott centers around their products. They are beginning to feel the effects of the boycott but the pressure must be kept on and more people must join in and be aware of the

commentary

[illegible]

MAD MONEY!
$25 for $20
cut this out
MAD MONEY
5·10·20
Expires Feb. 22, 1975
BEAU BRITCHES
(HADLEY STORE ONLY)
5·10·20 THIS CERTIFICATE GOOD FOR $5 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $25, $10 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $50, AND $20 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $100
5 10 20
with Beau Britches mad money!
Make a $25 purchase, present this mad money certificate and receive a $5 discount
That's $25 worth of merchandise for $20!
Buy $50 worth of merchandise, save $10!
or Buy $100 worth of merchandise and save $20!
Team up with a roommate.
Make a group purchase and save money!
BEAU Britches
Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

WMUA
Emergency
Meeting
[illegible]
Public Affairs Director

Commuter elections
ATTENTION COMMUTERS
Student Senate Elections
[illegible]
Student Union
[illegible]

Protect your eyes from snowglare.
We stock the very best in sunwear.
Doc Call Opticians
[illegible]
P.S. The fastest prescription work in town.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Commentary

On the right track

By MIKE IZDEPSKI

Boy, people's tastes sure change!

100 years ago slamming a golden spike into a piece of track to celebrate America's first coast to coast railroad was enough to drive people [illegible] crazy with euphoria (the blows of the sledgehammer were telegraphed to all corners of the country). Today, while the tracks have grown rusty and run down, it takes an 80 million ton cloud of exhaust fumes each year and a fetish called "the automobile" to get Americans high enough to enjoy life.

Somehow we all know it can't go on like this; the days of the 10 miles per gallon gas guzzlers carrying a single forlorn person to work and back home again day in and day out, year after year, have passed together with the ten cent candy bar and the 50 cent edition of the Sunday Globe.

Yet where is the alternative that comes even close in matching the advantages of individualized transportation? In face of the filthy, overcrowded subways that our cities have to offer, or the once-in-a-lifetime bus schedules (if any) of our rural areas, one is not easily tempted to recognize public transportation as the ultimate answer to America's smog problem and gas shortages.

But go to a European country like Germany, where mass transit has always been treated more favorably than [illegible]. You're likely to find 30 mph express trains together with an according network of railroads, a fare system which allows the user to take advantage of nearly all available forms of transportation (buses, trains, trolleys, subways, ferries) on one and the same ticket to reach his or her destination. Arrivals and departures are kept closely to schedule; during rush hour busses and trolleys run every 2-3 minutes instead of the regular [illegible] 10-15.

Tickets are available at drugstores and coin operated machines around the waiting stations and are stamped by a time punch box upon boarding a bus or subway. Tickets can also be purchased from the driver at about three times the price they would cost at the drugstore. 'Nuff said?

Of course there are spot checks by city inspectors, who are notorious for creating embarrassing situations when they catch some "one-way" without a valid ticket (besides that they hand out hefty fines of about five bucks each).

Our main objective is to wipe out two of the automobile's most eminent advantages over mass transit: savings in time and relative cost per trip. We needn't go as far as some suggest and discourage driving by tearing up our highways, while building new railroads, but how about reserving one lane of large urban avenues exclusively for bus traffic, or raising the speed limit for busses to 70 mph?

Why just imagine the jump in blood pressure all those Cadillac and Porsche drivers would experience, if they suddenly had to share the same [illegible] lane, while some clumsy bus whizzed by right next to them or nonchalantly passed them on the turnpike.

Cars could be banned from the roads on weekends with public transportation operating at attractive low fares. The fact that the average car is parked more than 20 hours a day could be used to drastically increase downtown parking fees.

Yet automobiles can't be phased out until there is a sufficiently developed mass transit system capable of fully replacing individualized transportation. It will take hundreds of new busses and trains, thousands of miles of extra railroads and above all money, much money.

The U.S. government has been granting billions of dollars in subsidies to help out bankrupt mismanaged railroad companies, but it's like pouring water into a bottomless barrel: it all vanishes into corporate pockets without ever having heard as much as the screeching of a locomotive brake.

So why not nationalize the no good blood suckers? It would be the logical step. At least taxpayers could follow up on what their revenues were being used for.

Sure, even government agencies aren't immune to corruption, but they're much more liable to get caught than the crooked executives of a private company. The chances of Congress screwing the American people are surely considerably smaller than those of a Penn Central doing it.

Former President Nixon over the years impounded millions of dollars of Congressional funds appropriated for the Highway Trust Fund. If his eager successor were to release those monies for the development of mass transit, thousands of new jobs could be created, and as a result, unemployment would go down, the gentleman's chances of being "re"-elected in '76 up. But what is there possibly to expect from somebody named Ford?

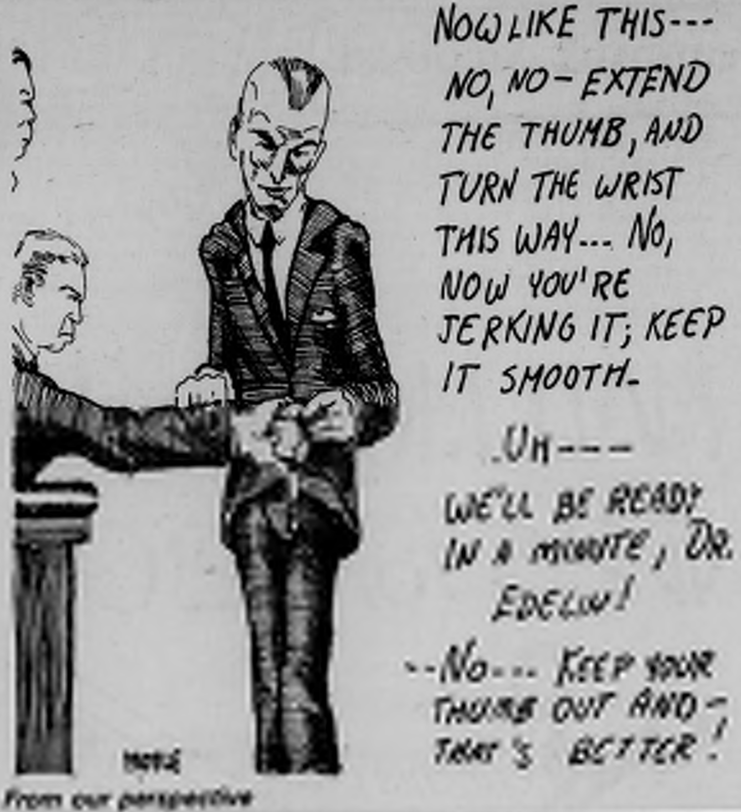
America's dream of computer controlled mini-trains zooming along silently on magnetically cushioned monorails, whisking passengers to their [illegible] at 300 mph, may never come true: this nation is used to giving up dreams for harsh reality.

What it is not used to is living in a night mare. And that just might be the prospect, if there isn't some action pretty damned quick. As for the zero 80-million-ton-cloud trip to nowhere: there is something called an overdose...

Mike Izdepski is a Collegian Commentator

Notable Quote

"I would like to see Mr. Nixon come clean...for the good of the American public and say 'Yes, I did really participate (in the coverup).'" Jeb Magruder speaking yesterday at a press conference in London.



NOW LIKE THIS--- NO, NO - EXTEND THE THUMB, AND TURN THE WRIST THIS WAY--- NO, NOW YOU'RE JERKING IT; KEEP IT SMOOTH.
..UH---
WE'LL BE READY IN A MINUTE, DR. EDELIN!
--NO--- KEEP YOUR THUMB OUT AND - THAT'S BETTER!
TRUE

From our perspective

Edelin verdict: A foregone conclusion?

The finding by a Suffolk County jury of 3 women and 9 men Saturday afternoon that Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin committed manslaughter when he aborted a second-term fetus in a seventeen-year-old mother is outrageous.

For many, the verdict will be considered outrageous because of the chilling effect it will have on the willingness of doctors to pursue good medical practice without fear of prosecution. It will be regarded as outrageous by pro-choice abortion advocates who will see it as a deliberate attempt to subvert the Supreme Court's landmark ruling allowing abortions in the early stages of pregnancy before a fetus can survive independent of the mother.

Those arguments are compelling. But they can be disputed by right-to-life advocates and those with little regard for the medical profession. The true outrage of the Edelin verdict is simpler and more difficult to dispute.

First, the all white jury that considered the case was chosen by a computer program which deliberately favored selection of men over women to serve. According to press reports, the program was designed to select a jury pool of two-thirds men and one-third women. Hardly could there by any example of more overtly sexist and prejudicial conduct.

Moreover, after the Edelin jury was chosen and sequestered, a Supreme Court decision ruled such jury selection processes to be unconstitutional. Although the decision came too late to have any legal effect on the Edelin selections, it should have provided the moral imperative for choice of a new jury.

The verdict should be summarily thrown out on appeal because of the composition of the jury. Hardly could there have been a case where equal representation of women on the jury was important.

Second, the jury was given a specific charge by Judge James P. McGuire on the nature and meaning of the term "manslaughter" before it was sequestered. The verdict they returned completely ignored McGuire's charge and will surely be the basis for an appeal.

McGuire said manslaughter is a legal term which can only apply to the accidental murder of a human being. He specifically said a fetus could not be considered a human being until after birth. Thus, if the fetus which Dr. Edelin aborted died within the mother's womb, the act he committed may have resulted in the death of a fetus - but it was not manslaughter.

Furthermore, if the jury considered the fetus to be a human being for legal purposes - which it apparently did - then the only appropriate action they could have taken was dismissal of the manslaughter charge.

The evidence, while contradictory and at times hazy, suggests that what Edelin did was to sever the fetus' umbilical chord and placenta and then allow the child to die from lack of essential nutrients supplied by its mother.

Such an act is not manslaughter - it would have to be considered intentional murder by one who believes a fetus is a human being. Thus the Edelin guilty verdict implies an understanding of the act as murder, not manslaughter. The original indictment cannot be applied to a murder.

That the jury was composed of seven Roman Catholics should be noted. Just as Watergate Judge John Sirica quizzed jurors to see if pre-trial publicity precluded their impartial consideration of evidence, jurors in the Edelin trial should have been asked if their religious beliefs would make their consideration of evidence in the abortion-related trial biased.

Aside from a moral outrage at the Edelin verdict, we believe that because of a rigged jury and because the indictment cannot apply where a fetus is considered to be a human being, that the appeal should be supported and the verdict invalidated.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Reid Fishman

The badgering badge

During the course of the past three of four elections, Americans have watched as the issue of crime in the streets has gained importance throughout the country. It's no longer just New York and Chicago, but now, even the smallest towns of middle America are experiencing the new tide of common crime.

The most well-known politicos, at all levels, have proposed numerous solutions to hinder the existence of street crime — everything from police drag queens to tactical training programs. But little has really been done, by anyone to put a halt to America's new problem.

And I'm driving down I-91 and thinking about all this. American shouldn't have to face those problems. People shouldn't have to steal. And as I round the curve, I look to my right and there's a State Police car sitting at the side of the road. Careful to maintain the speed limit, I cruise by and glance into the window, only to see a cold, accusing face staring back in my direction.

I continue on my drive towards UMass, wondering who'll be the unlucky victim of a traffic violation. It all seems to make sense now. The intimidation of that solemn stare was only momentary in my case, but there are those within our nation that are brought up to fear that stare and the badge that goes with it. There are those that have been intimidated since the day they were born and were forced into crime — not out of it.

It's no longer the image of the friendly city cop in the ethnic ghetto — no more the figure of Chaplin on Easy Street. The peaceful British Bobby with no gun can't be found here in the "home of the brave."

Where are we going that we've been so captured by authority and the need to regulate? Why is it that our police must assert themselves so heavily upon us?

As I pull into a UMass parking lot and step out of my car, a man with a badge walks up and tells me I can't park there, unless I have a sticker.

Can you see what I'm getting at? We don't control the police. They control us. We give them guns and tell them to go out and protect us; so they arrest the traffic violators and allow the real criminals to roam the streets.

Crime in the streets could be nearly eliminated if the police and the government would work together to end it, rather than badgering the citizens. It's a matter of priorities. If one policeman would be allowed to spend one less hour giving out traffic tickets and one more hour working on crime prevention, maybe that officer would stop a robbery or a rape or a murder. Maybe he wouldn't. At least he'd be there.

In the meantime, there's little we can do about it. It's that feeling of helplessness that makes that feeling of intimidation seem so much harder. We can merely wonder when everyone will finally realize that we're only protecting ourselves from ourselves, and that the systems of authority we use for protection are worn and out of date.

"There's a hold-up in the Bronx.
Brooklyn's broken out in fights.
There's a traffic jam in Harlem that's backed up to Jackson Heights.
There's a scout troop short a child.
Khrushchev's due at Idlewild.
Car 54, where are you?"

Reid Fishman is a Collegian Columnist

Benita Pullara

Murderer, martyr, hero

He has been called so many things: murderer, martyr, hero. It is hard to determine the true character of Dr. Kenneth Edelin. In many ways, he is a victim of an undefined legal and moral issue of the times. No matter how much the prosecution and the jury deny it, the question of abortion is very much alive in the Edelin case.

It should come as no surprise to anyone that this case developed in Massachusetts. Massachusetts, where for years abortion was never legal, where even until recently artificial birth control has been illegal, where Puritan ethics still seem to perpetuate many of the state's arbitrary laws. It seems that the state will try in any way it possibly can to restrain the abortion laws liberally defined by the Supreme Court.

Kenneth Edelin was found guilty of the manslaughter of a fetus or baby, while he performed an abortion. There is some question as to whether the jury of nine men and three women was genuinely unbiased. The predominance of men suggests that the jury might have been unsympathetic towards abortion. In addition, a jury alternate accused his peers of racial discrimination against Edelin, who is black.

The evidence on the age of the fetus was vague, varying accounts put it anywhere between 18 and 28 weeks. The law is also vague as to the age at which point a fetus is considered a baby. The age is thought to be around the time when the fetus can live outside the mother, which is usually about seven months. Guilty or not, Kenneth Edelin and other doctors are entitled to a more specific law defining the point at which an abortion may or may not be performed. It is hard to believe that Edelin is the only doctor who has performed an abortion on a fetus over twenty weeks old. The law is unclear and Edelin's was a borderline case.

For the right-to-life group, the charge of manslaughter was a victory. To them the crime is not that Edelin killed a baby who might have survived on its own but that he killed a fetus of any age. Anxious to stifle abortion laws, they are even happy for a victory that prevents abortion at the later stages.

Abortion is an issue that may never be settled. There is no scientific proof as to when the fetus becomes human life, thus arguments for either side are in many ways only opinions. The questions should have been settled legally with the Supreme Court decision, but it is a deep rooted moral question and therefore may endlessly keep re-occurring.

There is no denying that Massachusetts has always taken a conservative stand on abortion and birth control issues, but abortion is not an issue that is supposed to be left up to the states. For this reason Kenneth Edelin might obtain a fairer decision from a higher court. We can hope that the Supreme Court will define a clearer line in the difference between manslaughter and abortion.

The Edelin case has been used by both sides of the abortion issue. The right-to-life groups have used the case to enforce stricter laws regarding abortion. The pro-abortion groups has used Edelin to prove that the right to a legal abortion is still very much threatened. Kenneth Edelin has been tried and convicted, and we are still no closer to defining where human life begins.

Benita Pullara is a Collegian Columnist

Letters

"War" beats WIN

To the Editor:

It seems clear to me that President Ford is not taking a strong enough stand on the economy. Indeed, his "WIN" slogan campaign is nothing but an ineffective half-assed gesture destined for defeat.

Instead, I propose a slogan and campaign that is sure to bring down unemployment and stimulate the lagging economy: "WAR: Workers Against Recession." Of course, this is no easy job. It's going to be a tough fight for all of us. But, as we all know so very well, a wartime economy is the most prosperous. "WAR": Make an effort, join the battle.

Jack Burlingame

Mandatory fee - pass it on

To the Editor:

Regarding the mandatory dorm fee that will probably be assessed on the incoming freshman class, let's not stomp around with our eyes red and our palms damp, spewing our outrage. Let's walk ourselves into the future and think about what this is really all about.

Rents in Amherst, which is beginning to look more like Calcutta every winter, will probably go up. Profits for someone. Not that many kids will actually be able to find a decent apartment, and the cost of dorm living may not look too bad after a few summer weeks of apartment hunting. Mandatory dorm fees will be collected anyway, and there won't be a mountain of vacancies. More profits for someone. Parking stickers will probably cost more, and bus fees will go up again. Fees are like the [illegible]. They just keep creeping up year after year and no one notices. Then there's always the possibility of the UMass trailer park, lights out at ten, 3,000 rooms unfurnished. And on and on.

Of course, there's always the possibility that this thing won't be legal. It's certainly unethical, and occasionally the two will coincide. Not being a true believer of any particular political philosophy, I won't try to attach any significance or morality to this. It's not our money anyway. It's the incoming freshmen. So tuck 'em, it's their problem. We'll just get the hell out of this factory and tell all of the cynics in Boston that the state found yet another way to steam money from us. That's what will happen. Won't it?

Robert Miller

Shuttle service too slow

To the Editor:

Today, Wednesday, the equivalent of a busload of students at the [illegible] stop either missed or were extremely late for their 10:10 classes because of an insufficient number of shuttles running. Someone next to me said he waited twenty five minutes during which only one overloaded bus passed. On days with sub-freezing weather, can't more buses be assigned to the shuttle route? Hell, it's quicker to get to Mt. Holyoke than to Whitmore!

[illegible]

Van needed for defense

To the Editor:

John Miller, a UMass graduate, urges anyone who can provide a '68 to '67 Ford Econoline van for the jury's viewing, to help him with his defense in Northampton Superior Court this Thursday, Feb. 20.

Amherst cop, Edward Morrison, testified that he spotted an open knapsack full of grass behind the driver's seat in "plain view" as he reached for keys to impound the van. Is this possible?

John offers $10 for rental of said van as evidence. Contact Attorney Richard Winston, 584-4845, or Eric Walgren, 256-5635, before midnight.

Eric Walgren

Help us help you.
Use Zip Code.
Your Postal Service

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

RSO Listings

Gamma sigma sigma

Gamma Sigma Sigma is a national service sorority dedicated to the ideals of service, friendship and equality. The sisters of GSS serve the Campus as well as the community by undertaking such projects as book exchange, blood drive, heart fund walk, etc. It is a policy of the sorority to accept both social sorority members as well as non-members and anyone willing to dedicate her time is welcomed. If interested, please call President Gail Frolan 6-9665.

Watch Collegian for coffee hours.

Haymakers

We provide square dance lessons to Five College students each fall semester. Completing the lessons allows dancers to dance anywhere in the country and wear the badge of the club. We continue the rest of the year with teaching advanced steps and outside trips, concluding the year with a trip to the New England Square Dance Convention. Information may be obtained from Michael [illegible], 323 Greenough, 546-[illegible] or Cathy Smith, [illegible] Leach, 546-[illegible].

Folk Dancers

The UMass International Folk Dance Club provides opportunity for members of the 5-college community to participate in international folk dancing at UMass on a regular basis. This club has a special folk dancing course for beginners on Sunday night 7:30-10 in the Cape Cod Lounge. This will last until Feb. [illegible], at which time workshops for more advanced dancing will begin. The regular meeting time is Monday, 7:30-11 p.m., during which dancing is offered for all levels, also in the Cape Cod Lounge. The president is [illegible] 256-[illegible].

Inter'l program

The International Programs Office guides over 400 students from the University of Massachusetts toward an international study or work experience and over 800 international students currently enrolled at UMass. The IPO has information and applications for programs ranging from international academic year exchanges to volunteer work and internships abroad. Students can also receive international student identification cards, travel information, hostel addresses, etc. from International Programs. Foreign students work with office to expand campus programs such as the international fair, to facilitate housing and other practical considerations, and to participate in the cross-cultural workshop program.

The International Programs Office, located at 239 Whitmore, serves the entire University. For information about international programs, students should contact Barbara Burn at 5-0746, for foreign student affairs, Fred Shulten at 5-0019, and for cross-cultural workshops, Ann Gillespie at 5-0076. The office is open five days a week, from 9-5. Should one of the above persons be available, there are a number of other staff at the office that can offer assistance.

Students interested in foreign cultural affairs or in getting acquainted with the international students on campus can contact members of the International Student Council. They are: [illegible]. Their activities include the international fair, international smorgasbord, foreign films and other such multi-cultural programs.

Judo club

Adam Cohen, 307 Dickinson House, 546-[illegible], Jim Javaras, 316 Cance House, 546-[illegible].

Membership dues - to be determined by club members.

Requirements for membership - None, beginners as well as advanced judo players are welcome.

Specific activities - at least two weekly workouts, participate at various tournaments.

Customary meeting time - Tuesday and Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in Boyden 220.

Mass PIRG

The Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG) is a non-profit consumer and environmental research corporation. Inspired by consumer advocate Ralph Nader and devoted to issues of public concern, PIRGs were formed to generate research, legislation and legal action in areas such as the environment, public health and safety, civil rights and consumer protection. MassPIRG is one of 23 student directed PIRGs now operating in the United States.

MassPIRG is a unique consumer's group. It relies on students for its support both in financing and in conducting investigative research. MassPIRG is funded by the voluntary contributions of [illegible] per year by students of Massachusetts colleges and universities. Every UMass student is provided the option on his/her semester bill to pay the PIRG fee. Contributions finance a full-time staff of lawyers, environmentalists, journalists, health specialists and social science researchers who work in close cooperation with students from participating schools. Through participation in MassPIRG projects and policy-making decisions, students gain practical experience in public interest research and often receive academic credit for their work.

The MassPIRG local chapter at UMass maintains an office in Room 434 of the Student Union. The office acts as a focal point and resource center for University students participating in PIRG projects.

Northampton vol's

The Northampton Volunteers is an organization of students whose interest is to set up one-on-one or group relationships with patients at Northampton State Hospital. Activities at the hospital are left up to the Volunteer, and may include athletic, music or simply conversation. Although no credit is offered directly, many students arrange independent study programs through the schools of Psych or Nursing. Transportation is by bus, Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. Membership is approximately 20.

Northern Ed Serv

Northern Education Service is a student volunteer tutoring organization, whose members tutor inner city children in Springfield. NES works out of two centers in Springfield; one is DeBerry School and the other is the North End Community Center.

Also during the semester, NES holds parties and field trips for the children and the tutors. For further information, contact the NES office, 426A Student Union, Tel. No. 545-0575; or Janet Welch at 546-6431.

COMMUTER COMPUTER
CARPOOL

Listings of those interested in carpooling this semester are now available at the following locations:

Parking Office — 101 Hampshire House
CASIAC — 611 Machmer Hall
School of Business Administration — Room 104
112 Stockbridge Hall
Campus Center Information Desk
RSO Office — Student Union
Graduate Research Building — Room 143
Commuter Student Affairs Office — Whitmore
Commuter Lounge — 3rd Student Union

If you would like to be added to the list call 545-[illegible] or drop by the Commuter Lounge, [illegible] Student Union.

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

Mountain Farms Mall in Hadley

Beer and Wine Shoppe!

Schlitz Beer
case of 24
12 oz cans
5.69

Donelli	Lambrusco	24 oz btl	1.89
Korbel Vin Rosé	California Chateau	24 oz btl	1.89
Rose Garden	Liebfraumilch	23 oz btl	1.89
Inglenook	Navalle - Vin Rose or Chablis	Jero-boam	5.99
Gold Seal	Lambrusco	half gal	2.99
Almanden	White Sauterne	gallon	5.99
Paul Masson	California Rose	32 oz carafe	1.99
Isabel Rosé	from Portugal	25 oz btl	2.79

Ballantine Beer
case 24 - 12 oz N.R. btls
4.29

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Prices Effective Thru Sat., Feb. 22 We Reserve The Right To Limit Quantities

---

UPenn minority med recruiter on campus

Today, Mrs. Iona Lyles, Assistant for Minority Affairs, will be on the UMass campus to recruit minority students for the Univ. of Penn Med. School.

She will discuss issues and answer questions concerning Medical School, Dental School and other allied Health Fields at the New Africa House from 2-5 p.m.

She is the first representative from a medical school to visit this campus with the responsibility of dealing with minority students. She might therefore be able to answer questions minority students have concerning medical school requirements, admissions and education.

All those students who are members of minority groups who are interested in medicine or have questions should attend the meeting. You need not be a pre-med science major now to benefit from this opportunity to discuss the possibilities for your future with Mrs. Lyles.

Aieee! Who knows what danger lurks through yonder doors. This house on Main Street in Amherst is said to be, gracious goblins, HAUNTED. Enter it, and if you live to tell the tale...... Aieeeee!

notes and quotes

First meeting of Rotoracts

The UMass Rotaract Club, a university-based sister club of the Amherst Rotary Club, will have its first meeting Thursday at the Club Lounge of the School of Business (7:30 p.m.).

Rotaract shares goals similar to those of Rotary and its purpose is to develop leadership through service to the community, and to advance the cause of international understanding.

The purpose of this first meeting is to gather actual and potential members, to get nominations of officers and to plan activities for this semester.

For further information, please contact Eric Drouet, Butterfield Dorm, [illegible] after 6 p.m.

IMPROVISATIONAL
THEATRE
PUPPETS — GAMES
TRAVEL — ADVENTURE
— CIRCUS —
interested?
8 p.m.
Wednesday 2/19
271 Hills South
[illegible]

Israeli orchestra plays tonight

The Israel Chamber Orchestra with special guest conductor Shmuel Friedman will appear in concert at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, tonight at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium, the third event in the Celebrity Series of the UMass Arts Council.

Founded in 1965 by Gary Bertini, musical director and conductor, the Israel Chamber Orchestra is composed of 40 of Israel's most gifted musicians and ranks among the finest chamber orchestras in the world today.

Friedman, who will conduct the Orchestra during its Amherst appearance, is also permanent conductor of the Haifa Philharmonic. Born in Kharkov, Russia, in 1940, he studied violin at the Kharkov Conservatory and at the Leningrad Conservatory, where he began his conducting career.

Immigrating in 1970 to Israel with his wife, a pianist, and his two children, Mr. Friedman was quickly assimilated into the musical life of Israel. In addition to his post with the Haifa Philharmonic, he is one of the regular conductors of the Israel Broadcasting Orchestra.

Tickets are now on sale at the UMass Arts Council Box Office, 125 Herter Hall (545-0202), at $4 and $3 for the general public and half price for UMass-Amherst students. Special group rates may be arranged.

Black activist Chavis to speak

The Western Mass. alliance against racist and political repression has announced that the national vice chairperson of their organization, the Reverend Ben Chavis, will speak tonite at the UMass campus.

Chavis, a black political prisoner and activist, now faces 10 separate trials and a possible 243 years in prison for his political activities. A resident of Oxford, North Carolina, where he was one of the leaders of the Black movement, Chavis graduated in Chemistry from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. Later he organized a black political party in Charlotte and ran for city council.

But it was in the city of Wilmington, the seat of New Hanover County, on the state line of South Carolina, that the young black minister drew the wrath and vengeance of the state authorities.

In March 1971, a Black youth, Clifton Eugene Wright was killed by a shotgun blast as he answered the door of the house of a neighbor and friend, Mrs. Mollie Hicks. Mrs. Hicks is one of the whites who consistently supported the student movement, for which she suffered a number of reprisals. In December, nine months after young Wright was killed, one of the strangest cases in the history of North Carolina jurisprudence — a history hardly void of curiosities — was launched with the arrests of Mrs. Hicks, her teenage daughter Lucinda and Chavis. Charged with being accessories after the fact of murder of Wright, Mollie Hicks was not even home at the time of the killing, Lucinda was asleep upstairs and Rev. Chavis was in Raleigh, 150 miles away. The indictments came only a week after Rev. Chavis was released on bond in another case with Hartford resident, Jim Grant over "Conspiracy to aid fugitives." This indictment was only one in a series which was to build for the further frame up of the ten movement activists who are now known as the Wilmington 10.

The Wilmington 10, as they came to be known, include besides Rev. Chavis, eight other black men, most of them teenagers, and Ann Shepherd, a white VISTA volunteer and mother of two, who is suffering from cancer. The trial of the 10 originally began in June 1972 but when a jury of ten blacks and two whites was picked, the prosecutor suddenly came down with a fever and the judge declared a mistrial.

The entire University community is urged to attend his lecture, tonite at 8 p.m. in S.B.A.

SOPHOMORES

If Your Major Is:

Computer Technology	General Engineering
Aerospace Engineering	Industrial Engineering
Civil Engineering	Mechanical Engineering
Electrical Engineering	Mathematics or Physics

You may be eligible for a two-year scholarship
and a commission in the Air Force —
Call 5-2437 or stop by Rm. 205 Dickinson Hall.

Sorority Rush for Tonight

Wednesday, Feb. 19th

Alpha Chi Omega 38 Nutting Ave. 51152 7 - 8, 8:15 - 9:15
Iota Gamma Upsilon 406 N. Pleasant St. 256-6844 7 - 8
Sigma Delta Tau 409 N. Pleasant St. 50527 7 - 8
Sigma Kappa 19 Allen St. 53297 7 - 8
Sigma Sigma Sigma
Fraternity — Sorority Park 253-9066 7 - 8

CALL FOR RIDES

THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST
DINNER N' SHOW
Every Wednesday

Spaghetti With Meat Sauce Tossed Salad Rolls & Butter [illegible]
$2.50

Boneless Breast of Chicken Stuffed with Apples and Almonds with choice of Potato, Tossed Salad, Roll & Butter [illegible]
$3.50

Ticket Price Included In Special.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4

1. Abdication
2. Sex Shop
3. Fantasia
4. Freebie and the Bean

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE

Subscription Services - - - - Lowest Prices Possible

OUR LARGEST LIST OF OFFERINGS EVER!

Thanks to the tremendous interest in and use of our program. we are able to continue to add to our list of publications offered at special rates.

Please note that even where some of the REGULAR rates have gone up again, we have been able to maintain the rate for which we can obtain your subscription. But since these, too, must eventually rise, we recommend extending subscriptions even before they expire, BEING SURE TO ENCLOSE MAILING LABELS WITH ORDER.

PLEASE ALLOW 60-90 DAYS FOR YOUR FIRST ISSUE TO ARRIVE, since some publishers may require this amount of time for data processing NEW subscriptions. Renewals should be sent at least 6 weeks to 3 months before expiration. Of course, we'll continue to notify you at the correct time for renewal. We shall also continue to alert all of you to impending price rises, but these are sometimes hard to foretell with sufficient time for you to act. But we'll do our best. With continued use of our program, we continue to grow for you.

NOTE: STARRED PUBLICATIONS MAY BE ORDERED BY THOSE NOT IN EDUCATION ALSO, OR SENT AS GIFTS TO ANYONE.

Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price	Publication	Usual Price	Your Price
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Many of our colleagues have asked us about multiple year rates. These offer another way of keeping future subscription costs low. In most cases, the above rates are by far the most economical. But following are a few which may be of interest to some. And these are available to NON-EDUCATORS as well.

Publication	Rate 3 yr.	Publication	Rate 3 yr.	Publication	Rate 3 yr.	Publication	3 yr. Rate
Atlas World Press Review	[illegible]	House Beautiful	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	Penthouse	[illegible]
Better Homes & Gardens	[illegible]	Good Housekeeping	[illegible]	Ms. Magazine	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ebony	[illegible]	Gourmet	[illegible]	National Lampoon	[illegible]	Time	[illegible]
Family Handyman	[illegible]	Harpers Bazaar	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fortune	[illegible]	Holiday	[illegible]	Playboy	[illegible]	Weight Watchers	[illegible]

Prices subject to publishers' changes. The cost of magazines for educational purposes may be tax deductible.

[illegible] Cordially yours, Subscription Services 45 Glen Cove Road Greenvale, N.Y. 11548

SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES
45 Glen Cove Road
Greenvale, N.Y. 11548

Order Publication | Issues or Years | Your Price

TOTAL

*For renewal, enclose magazine address label. [illegible] Please enclose check payable to SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES. Your cancelled check is your receipt. PLEASE ALLOW 60-90 DAYS FOR SUBSCRIPTION TO START.

Coupon must be COMPLETELY filled in for Education Rate
MAIL MAGAZINE TO: (Please print)
Name
Address
City State Zip
School of RECIPIENT Town or City
(Must be included to obtain Education Rate)
Position, if educational employee
Grad or undergrad, year studies end, if student

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE

CLOCKWORK ORANGE
Friday
FEB 21 CCA
6:30, 9:00, and 11:30 75¢

notices

AIKIDO CLUB:
Will meet 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wed. and Fri. Boyden Wrestling rm., 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Boyden.

ALCOHOL DISCUSSION GROUP:
Anyone interested in any area relating to alcohol is encouraged to come to 801 C.C. at 7:30 p.m.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA:
Meeting tonight 8-9 p.m. C.C. 805-809 For planning of semester's activities.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA:
Interested men and members are requested to attend our meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in C.C. 808. Join us in service to others, during our golden anniversary: 1925-1975.

ANTHRO UNDERGRAD CAUCUS:
There will be a meeting at 7 p.m. Weds. in Machmer E-25. Elections for Department meetings rep. and Caucus Chairperson will be held.

ASTRONOMY 100-SECTION 4:
Lab fee cards for students in Thursday's section are available in Hasbrouck 104. See Tom if you want them now. Hurry and avoid the rush.

BEAT THE CLOCK:
Come to Tri-Sigma. Meet Minutemen Hockey and Basketball Stars. Help us Beat the Clock. Fraternity-Sorority Park tonight at 7 p.m. Call 256-9086 for rides.

BLOOD DONATIONS WANTED:
Tonight our frat will be sponsoring rides to and from Cooley Dickinson Hosp. in order to give blood. If interested in donating with us, call 256-6845 for rides or come to 23 Phillips St. by 6 p.m. Thanks!!

BOXING CLUB:
There will be a short organizational meeting tonight at 7 p.m. on the 19th floor of Washington. Very important for all new members. All interested new members please attend.

CAMPUS SCOUTS:
There will be a meeting Thursday C.C. 901. See you there.

CRAFT DISPLAY:
Interested in learning how to make some exciting, different crafts? Come to Skinner Lobby, 9-4 p.m. to see craft ideas from Butterick. Held Feb. 19 thru 21.

ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION:
The weekly meeting will be in 423 of S.U.B. at 7 p.m. tonight. All who are interested in whales, bottle bill, wind-mining, windmills or the lecture series, please attend.

FENCERS:
Anyone interested in fencing is welcome to come to NOPE, rm 8 Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

turn to page 17

SUMMER INSTITUTE

ON FILM, VIDEO AND PHOTOGRAPHY

June [illegible] through July 4, 1975
Hampshire College, Amherst, Mass.

An intensive three-week program for the study of film, video, photography and related media arts. The Institute offers a unique curriculum of seminars and workshops for six (6) credits. Sponsored by the University Film Study Center.

SEMINARS
[illegible]

WORKSHOPS
[illegible]

FACULTY
Richard Leacock, Ed Emshwiller, [illegible] and many others.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

[illegible]
Summer Institute Director
University Film Study Center
Box [illegible], Cambridge, Mass. [illegible]
[illegible]

TV tonight

[illegible]

AMHERST Cinema
OLIVER REED VANESSA REDGRAVE
THE DEVILS

CALVIN Theatre
THE ODESSA FILE

CAMPUS Cinemas
LOVE & ANARCHY
Life & Times of Xaviera Hollander

Cinema
[illegible]

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
DEAN MARTIN MR. RICCO
TOTALLY DELIGHTFUL
LE SEX SHOP
WALT DISNEY SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON
Alan Arkin James Caan Freebie and the Bean

film times

[illegible]

Stu-Sen will discuss popular election move

The popular election of the Student Senate president, the fiscal 1976 budget, and the pros and cons of amending the SGA Constitution, top the agenda items set for tonights Student Senate meeting.

A spokesman for the Senate said yesterday that students should be advised their representatives can only make determinations on what position to take if their constituents inform them about their interests.

Tonights meeting is scheduled for 7:00 P.M. in Room 113 of the Campus Center.

The Senate spokesman said that students should keep informed on how their representatives are voting on such issues as Budget allocations,- and other sensitive matters.

- All Senate meetings are open to all students and their active participation is encouraged.

Sale
10%-25% OFF
"our already low prices"
SALE ENDS FEB. 28th.
Hockey Protective Equipment and Sticks
FENTON'S
ATHLETIC SUPPLIES
377 Main Street, Amherst
826 Main Street, Springfield
(skate sharpening also)

PETER SELLERS
I Love You Alice B. Tokas
Wednesday, Feb. 19
7 - 9 - 10:45
C.C.A.
50¢

MIKE ELLIS JIM BURKE
DON'T MS OUT!!
COME TO TRI-SIGMA
and
"Beat The Clock"
with Minute Man Stars
All University Women Invited
tonight Feb. 19 at 7:00 p.m.
Frat/Sor Park
Call 253-9066 for rides!!
JOHN MUSE JOHN MURPH

MINORITY PRE-MED'S
UNIV. OF PENN. MED SCHOOL
MINORITY STUDENT RECRUITER
IONA H. LYLES
Wed., Feb. 19, 1975
New Africa House
2nd Floor Conf. Rm.
2 - 5 p.m.

MDC Classifieds

MDC Classifieds Pay
To place a classified drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday-Friday.
The deadline is 3:45 two days before the day your ad is to appear.
The rates are:
Daily $.35 per line
Weekly $.30 per line
Monthly $.25 per line
*Two lines on form approximate one line

FOR SALE
Weimaraner Pups AKC [illegible] litter. Bred for companionship, disposition and show at Partridge Hill, Charlemont, Ma. 1-339-6688
Integral Systems power amp, large Advent speakers, ACE audio preamp, all immaculate $550. Call Mike 549-0177
Must sell: woman's [illegible] leather ski boots, perf. cond., used twice, $30. Also woman's ski slacks, brand new, $15. Call 6-7368 after 7 p.m.
Judo or Karate Gis, Hardly worn, exc. cond. Call Marcia 546-8423
[illegible]
[illegible]

FOR SALE
Golden Retrievers, 7 weeks old, shots, wormed, AKC registered, $100. Call 863-9879 anytime
Oscilloscope & Vom & Vom Kit [illegible] Exc. cond. 534-0459 [illegible]
11" Black and White Zenith TV [illegible] $35. 256-8783
Integral systems Power AMP, large Advent speakers, ACE Audio preamp. All immaculate $550. Call Mike 549-0177
HELLO AGAIN IT'S PAUL writing to you from our beautiful new store at 57 EAST PLEASANT ST. (Across from Tech HiFi) We've got a whole lot of tables including 48" new hardwood pedestal base and harvest tables. Butcher block in all price ranges. We're open 10-5:30 till 7 on Fri. and 11-5 Sat. 549-3603 [illegible]
For Sale: Zenith component stereo. Good condition. New value 150 or best offer. Call 665-3223 after 5 p.m.
New 205 head 360 skis $50 firm. Need cash. Le Trappeur boots. Cheap 586-6797
[illegible]

AUTO FOR SALE
[illegible]

AUTO FOR SALE
1966 Pontiac Catalina, 4 dr. hardtop, perfect body, good mechanical shape. 542-5963. Ask for Henry
66 Chev. Wagon!! 6 cyl., auto. Can be stolen for a nominal $249.99. Bob 253-7241
MGB '70, grn conv., AM-FM, 50,000, 25 mpg. Ex. run. Cond. 4 new tires. $2,000. 256-8177
1968 Mercedes 230S, good run. cond. Body OK. Recent repair done. 22 mpg. Call 253-3328 eves.
69 Saab, 58,000 mi. Best offer. 549-0758
VW Van 67, tape deck. 586-4026 eve. $950

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE
HD Sportster, Koni shocks, disc front, alum. jugs, afton cams. Erma 527-4877

WANTED
Couple as housemanagers in a community residence for 8 formerly institutionalized men. Call [illegible]
[illegible]

RIDE WANTED
To Phila. 2-21. 546-4778

ROOMMATE WANTED
Woman to share one bedroom apt. Call 549-4501
Need two for 4 bdrm. house in Belch. Lease 6-1-75. 323-4006 eve.
Room needed in country house, coop, semi quiet. Joseph 546-6596
Person/Couple to share hse w. 2 others. Hatfield. $95 for 1; $80 for 2 plus utilities. 247-9349 eves.
One or 2 persons, M or F. Rent is flexible. If interested stop by: 130 Brandywine Own Puffton Rm., $82 and elec and phone. Share with two gentle folks. Call Owen 549-1292, 5-9, or stop by apt. 388
F for rm. Cliffside. Bus Line. $80 includes utilities. 549-2590. Avail. March 1. Linda Roommate to share N'hamp. apt. $52 plus utilities. Own room. Call 586-7566
[illegible]

PERSONALS
HUNGRY? The internationally acclaimed "SUBWAY" in Mc-Namara Basement is now open noon-midnite daily, until 1 a.m. Friday, Sat. Enjoy elegant gourmet dining in a relaxed atmosphere, "high" atop Sylvan. Over 12 months without a price increase!!!!
Christy: Please smile! Love Jack
Happy Birthday Bach
Alan Lesher - Haberdasher
All University Women beat the clock at Tri Sigma with Minutemen stars. Wed. Feb. 19. Fraternity Sorority Park at 7 p.m. Call 253-9066 for rides!

TRAVEL
Bermuda Spring Vacation. From $199. Call Campus Travel 545-0500.

INSTRUCTION
Guitar lessons, folk, blues, country. Brooks 584-6144
[illegible]

SERVICES
PHOTO SPECIAL: 1/3 off all enlargements. Also, custom processing, good rates. Best prices around on color processing. Only at LANG'S PHOTO, Rte 116, ½ mile past Brd. Manor cut off.
BOB IS STILL HANGING IN! to fix your ailing auto. No job too small. 253-7241 Need a car but low on cash? We're AMHERST RENT A CAR, 55 So. Pleasant. 256-0330. Special vacation rates. Call now!

LOST
Ladies gold Wittnauer watch. Gift from a blind parent. Reward. Marie 256-8900

ENTERTAINMENT
Four hours of non-stop nostalgia and hits for only $55. Call Bob the D.J. 536-6675

MISCELLANEOUS
Canuck, Canuck - Who's There? Les Franco-Americains! - First meeting Feb. 20 (Thurs) at 7:30 p.m., third floor Lounge Herter Hall. All Welcome!!

BE MY BABY
[illegible]

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

1 ---- Fox: "Uncle Remus" character
5 Animal kingdom
10 Coin of Iran
14 Gutter site
15 Harangue
16 Advantage
17 "---- ---- of Penzance"
19 Appeal
20 Concedes
21 Furtive walkers
23 Hurts
25 Domesday Book money
26 Wither
29 Perseverance
34 Letters
35 Bring up
37 Martinique volcano
38 Gloomy
39 Former
41 ---- rut: Routinized
42 Collect together
44 Roman goddess
45 Is compelled to 46 Practice before a show
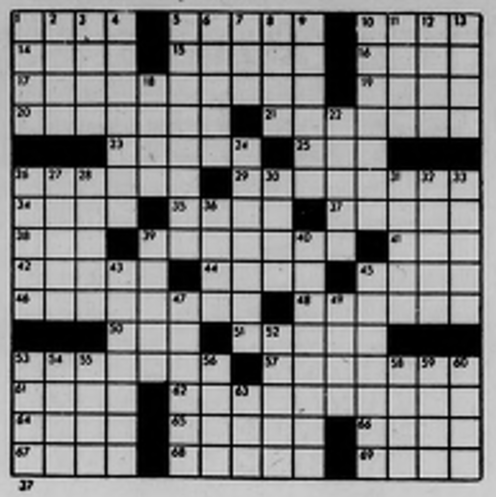
48 Topics
50 Turkish title
51 Silk fabric
53 Flowers
57 Larger
61 Yearn
62 60: 2 words
64 Animal's home
65 Detroit or Vancouver team
66 Formal poem
67 Baseball's ---- Slaughter
68 Utters
69 Ship's floor

DOWN

1 Greek letter
2 Cheers
3 Periods before events
4 Utters again
5 ---- Hemisphere
6 Clear the board
7 Tap gently
8 Sweetsop
9 Wound
10 Take another's post
11 Shiftless
12 Ending with dow and man
13 Grasslands
18 Length unit
22 Curtain
24 Art works
26 Jewish ceremony: Var.
27 Weather conditions
28 Egyptian entertainer
30 "---- Go Bragh"
31 Pelvic bone
32 Strained
33 Irish poet
36 Congers
39 Kansas river
40 Soft bed pad
43 Wall sizing materials
45 Threatened
47 Kind of snake
49 Hastens
52 Representative
53 Dale
54 Ending with Amer and Max
55 Lake Erie state
56 Leveling piece
58 Small shark
59 ----
Severed
60 Take heed of
63 "Vive le ----!"

UNITED Feature Syndicate

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30 31 32
33 34 35
36 37
38
39 40
41 42
43
44
45
46
47 48
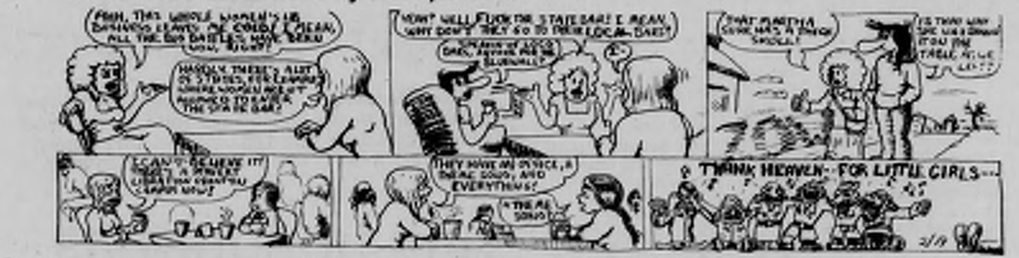
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60
61
62
63
64
65
66
67
68
69
37

CEQ election results

Last Wednesday the Coalition for Environmental Quality had its annual election of officers. Results were Peter Mazzella as President, Michael Fager remaining as Vice President, Carolyn Robadue, last years President, assumed the role of Treasurer, and Stan Nantais was elected as the group's Secretary and Projects Coordinator. A Resource Coordinator position was filled by Tim Smith, and Debbie Franchi was elected to serve as Outreach Coordinator.

The Coalition for Environmental Quality is a student supported R.S.O. group that meets Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m. in room 423 of the Student Union.

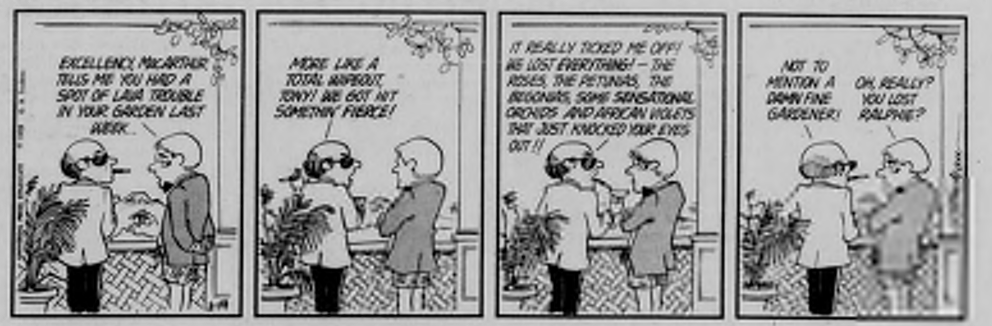
KAMPUS KAPERS by kris jackson



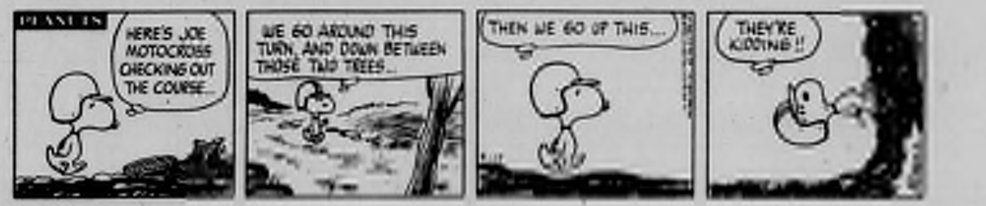
AHH, THIS WHOLE WOMEN'S LIB BUSINESS LEAVES ME COLD! I MEAN, ALL THE BIG BATTLES HAVE BEEN WON, RIGHT?
HARDLY. THERE'S A LOT OF STATES, FOR EXAMPLE, WHERE WOMEN AREN'T ADMITTED TO ENTER THE STATE BAR!
WHAT? WELL FUCK THE STATE BAR! I MEAN, WHY DON'T THEY GO TO THEIR LOCAL BARS?
I CAN'T BELIEVE IT! THERE'S A WOMEN'S LIBERATION CENTER YOU KNOW!
THEY HAVE AN OFFICE, A THEME SONG, AND EVERYTHING!
THEME SONG
THINK HEAVEN - FOR LITTLE GIRLS...
2/19

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau



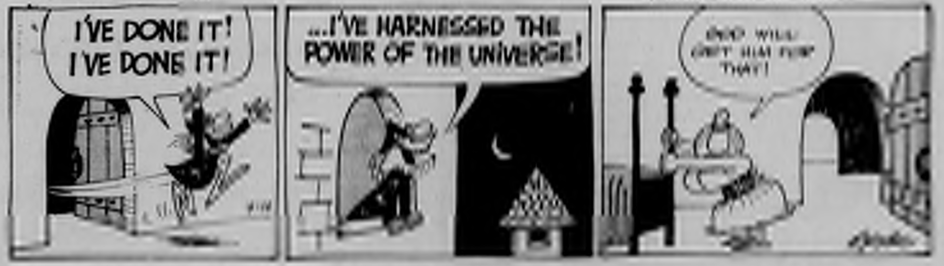
EXCELLENCY, MacARTHUR TELLS ME YOU HAD A SPOT OF LAVA TROUBLE IN YOUR GARDEN LAST WEEK...
MORE LIKE A TOTAL WIPEOUT, TONY! WE GOT HIT SOMETHIN' FIERCE!
IT REALLY TICKED ME OFF! WE LOST EVERYTHING! - THE ROSES, THE PETUNIAS, THE BEGONIAS, SOME SENSATIONAL ORCHIDS AND AFRICAN VIOLETS THAT JUST KNOCKED YOUR EYES OUT!!
NOT TO MENTION A DAMN FINE GARDENER!
OH, REALLY? YOU LOST RALPHIE?



PEANUTS
HERE'S JOE MOTOCROSS CHECKING OUT THE COURSE...
WE GO AROUND THIS TURN, AND DOWN BETWEEN THOSE TWO TREES...
THEN WE GO UP THIS...
THEY'RE KIDDING!!

THE WIZARD OF ID

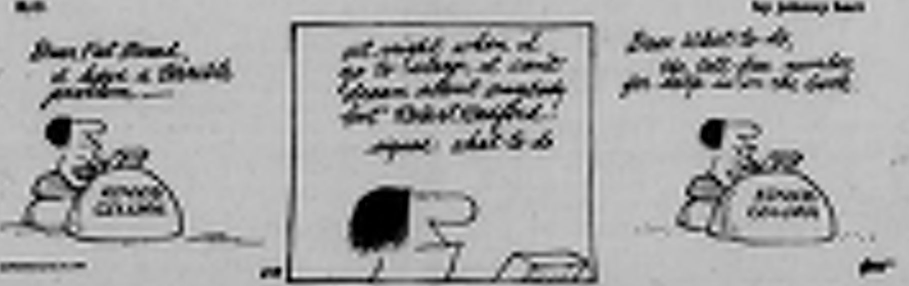
by Brant parker and Johnny hart



I'VE DONE IT! I'VE DONE IT!
...I'VE HARNESSED THE POWER OF THE UNIVERSE!
GOD WILL GET HIM FOR THAT!

B.C.

by johnny hart



Dear Fat Broad, I have a terrible problem... at night when I go to sleep, I can't dream about anything but "Robert Redford." signed: what to do
Dear what to do, the lost-and-found is for things, not for the dark.
ADVICE COLUMN

notices

cont. from p. 15

that, there will be food drinks, music, dancing etc. To run for Exec. Comm. Contact Kyriakos 5-2642.

KUNDALINI YOGA CLASSES:

Ongoing Yoga classes every Tues. and Thurs. eve 5-6. Classes will cover yoga postures, breathing, chanting diet, lifestyle and healing. All are welcome. C.C., consult daily listing for room.

MINORITY STUDENTS:

U of Penn. Medical School Recruiter here Feb. 19 at 2 p.m., New Africa House.

OPEN RUSH:

Beta Kappa Phi is having an open rush on Weds. at 8:00, 388 N. Pleasant St. 545-0210.

OUTREACH PROJECT:

Meeting Mond. Feb. 24 at 4:00 C.C. 103 for anyone interested in testing for Lead Paint Poisoning in N. Hampton (3 credits). For info call Lorna 6-4786 or Patty 584-6863.

POLISH AMERICAN CULTURAL ASSOC:

Will hold a meeting at 7:30, Colonial Lounge, Student Center. Discussion will be a scholarship, trips to Poland, and study in Polish Universities. Also social hour. All invited.

PRE DENT CLUB:

Dentists unite!! There will be a meeting of the Pre-Dent Club tonight at 7:30 in C.C. 804.

REC SOCIETY:

[illegible]

18,000 readers see MDC classifieds — try them they work!

JV's dump Amherst, win streak at four

[illegible]

Martha Moran, a freshwoman from Longmeadow, finished third in the slalom and third in the giant slalom at Berkshire East last weekend. The women's ski team put it all together and won by a total of 19 seconds.

UMass' Penny honored as '74 Academic All American

[illegible]

[illegible]

Letter to the Editor

[illegible]

Notice

[illegible]

sportsline 5-2210

"Volks-Service"
specializing in VOLKSWAGEN
Part Sales & Repairs
REASONABLE PRICES
RELIABLE WORK
[illegible]
Northampton, Mass.
[illegible]

BELL'S PIZZA HOUSE
[illegible] UNIVERSITY DRIVE
DON'T SETTLE FOR LESS — GET THE AUTHENTIC
BELL'S PIZZA.
Free Delivery on Campus
Call 256-8011 for fast service.

After college, will you get the job you deserve?

[illegible]

Put It All Together in Air Force ROTC

UMass' Tom Wilson displays the style which captured the two mile championship in Saturday's Yankee Conference title meet.

Unexpected depth key to Yankee Conference title

[illegible]

Swimmen prep for HC, URI

[illegible]

Chas O'Connor

Couldn't have been better

[illegible]

O'Connell leads matmen

[illegible]

Correction

[illegible]

Intramural

[illegible]

THE PAPER HOUSE
63 University Dr.
[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Vermont downed, 88-83

Town, Murphy excel

UMass atop Yankee Conference

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Jim Town heads down court for UMass. He was a tower of strength again, as for the second game in a row he scored 23 points.

By STEVE DeCOSTA

UMass moved into sole possession of first place in the Yankee Conference with an 88-83 win over Vermont last night.

The victory gave the Minutemen a 7-2 record in the conference and a one-half game lead over Vermont (7-3), BU (6-3), and a one-game bulge over UConn (6-3).

The game was tight until midway through the second half when the Minutemen exploded with a 16-6 streak over a five minute span to take a commanding 76-66 lead with only seven minutes to play.

The lead later ballooned to 16 (84-68) and only Vermont's wild fouling tactics over the final three minutes made the final tally respectable.

Jim Town and John Murphy led the Minutemen with 23 points each, and both garnered 14 in the first half. Alex Eldridge, with his typical go-for-broke drives to the hoop, finished with 16, and Jim Burke hit six of eight shots from the field for 13 points.

Indeed it was Eldridge who injected some life in the downtrodden Minutemen in the second half. Trailing 46-42 at intermission, the UMass offense was stagnant and the defense was, at best, spotty.

But with the freshman guard leading the charge and the crowd urging them on, the Minutemen split the twine at a 17 for 25 clip in the second half.

The Catamounts had experienced a similar hot streak in the first half, as their 62 per cent shooting staked them to their three-point halftime bulge.

Vermont was aided by an ineffective UMass full court press. On what seemed like dozens of occasions, the Cats capitalized on UMass confusion with easy lay ups.

But that story, too, changed in the second half, as the Minutemen scuttled the press and assists by Bill Endicott, Murphy, and Eldridge led to some uncontested baskets at the other end of the floor.

Vermont was paced by sophomore center Ron Gottschalk, who worked his way underneath the hoop for 23 points. Four other Cats reached double figures, including Joe Simeo (19), Mark Cubit (15), Mike Kowalski (12), and Kevin Kelly (13).

The game was marred by a total of 46 personal fouls and three players (Burke, Kelly, and Cubit) were forced to take an early exit by way of the officials' whistles.

UMass coach Jack Leaman started the line-up that had fared so well at Storrs, employing Burke, Endicott, Eldridge, Murphy, and Town. Only one UMass sub, Mike Pyatt, found his way from the bench to the floor during the game.

The Minutemen now boast an overall record of 15-8, and are off until Saturday when the tangle with Fairfield in Madison Square Garden. The game is not important from the conference standpoint but, as Leaman says "any win in New York is a big win" and a victory could boost UMass toward a berth in the ECAC qualifying tournament.

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Vermont defender attempts to flick ball away from UMass' John Murphy in last night's 88-83 victory over the Catamounts.

Wildcats too much for UMass; New Hampshire dominates, 7-0

By RICH [illegible]

The UMass skaters found themselves out of their league last night.

The Division I University of New Hampshire Wildcats had too much power, as they trounced the Minutemen 7-0. It was the eighteenth consecutive victory for the Wildcats over UMass.

[illegible]

Minuteman machine is primed and rolling

By STEVE DeCOSTA

[illegible]

Cance holdup victim held at gunpoint

By ROBERTA [illegible]
Staff Reporter

A UMass student from Cance dormitory was the victim of an armed robbery Tuesday at [illegible] p.m., [illegible] Chafin, assistant director of the Department of Public Safety at UMass, said. The case is currently under investigation, he added.

[illegible]

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

Weather

[illegible]

Senate budgeting process questioned by Senator

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

SSTS Manager Jeff McCormack [illegible]

'Economics' of shale oil to be studied byChem Dept

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The National Science Foundation (NSF) has awarded a [illegible] grant to the Analytical Division of the Chemistry Dept. here for the study of shale oil.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Proposed rule changes

Academic Affairs, deans bargaining

By HILLARY MARTICK and WILLIAM MILLS
Staff Reporters

The Academic Affairs Committee (AAC) is currently bargaining with academic deans over proposed changes in several academic rules that may affect undergraduates.

In a 24-page report, UMass undergraduate deans have revised the General Academic Regulations set forth by the University in 1971. Their revision will soon be examined by the Academic Matters Council of the Faculty Senate.

Chairman of Undergraduate Deans, James Shaw, said yesterday the report is still undergoing revisions. "We've been attempting to rationalize the laws for over a year now," Shaw said, "and we hope to have another draft out in a week."

"We hope we can get a vote on these changes this Spring so the new regulations can be put into effect next semester," Shaw added.

Some of the regulations, according to the report are:

—The grade "F" will be included in student's cumulative average as reported in yesterday's Collegian.

—Students will be allowed the first 10 calendar days of the semester to drop a course. Courses dropped between the 11th and 28th calendar days of the semester will be recorded as "W" (withdrew). Courses dropped after the 28th calendar day will be recorded as "F".

—Students whose cumulative average falls below 2.0 will be placed on Probation.

—A student may elect to take up to and including five University core requirements pass-fail.

—In a pass-fail course, if a passing letter grade has been given by the instructor, the Records Office will record either "P" or the letter grade, whichever is more beneficial to the cumulative average of the student.

—Students may graduate with two majors if the student has completed the requirements of each major department.

—An undergraduate student may audit a course and have that audit recorded on the permanent record as an "Aud" provided he complies with the academic regulations.

The AAC has been working with the Dean's council since November on the proposed rule changes said Joe Beals, academic affairs member. The lack of interested students to work on and represent the 23,000 undergraduate student body has slowed down the progress of formulating new rules.

The committee is striving to make students aware of its existence as a practical resource network for the undergraduate student body," Beals said.

Several major projects that the AAC wants to work on this semester are: establishing procedures to provide a teacher evaluation guide; putting together and sponsoring a course to help students sitting on boards and committees work effectively with faculty and administrators, and developing a grievance board for undergraduates with academic complaints.

The Community Organizing Project, a newly formed arm of the AAC, will be working on getting students involved in governance structures and decision-making processes.

Staff Photo by Joe Stoddart

During the last cold snap the dam at Factory Hollow in Amherst, provided the town with one of the most beautiful displays of winter's magic in the area.

MDC advisor holds colloq

Collegian news adviser Chris Kertesz will hold a series of three seminars on news and feature writing for those with little or no experience.

The sessions will begin Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Campus Center, in rooms to be announced. Second session will be Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.; the concluding session will be a week from Monday, also at 6:30 p.m.

Purpose of the series is to acquaint those who write or want to write with the requirements of various types of news writing so that they can take an active part in the Collegian's coverage of campus life and affairs.

Veterans Coalition-'involved, united'

By DOROTHY MULLER
Staff Reporter

Pat Power and Chris Smallis are two undergraduates who are Vietnam veterans. In an interview yesterday they were unanimous in stating that until the advent of the Veterans Coalition here, "we were pretty much forgotten," said Power.

Their sentiments were echoed by Frank Morrison who works in Veterans Coalition. The situation here is much the same as in the Military. It's the same thing of the [illegible]

Veterans Affairs office in Whitmore. We have a good rapport with them. In many cases they have instigated traces for checks. The problem is somewhere between Whitmore and Boston."

The primary responsibility of the Veterans Coalition at UMass, said Harrison, is "to help its constituency." But the Veterans Coalition is very involved in community work. We don't want the community to ask, 'They're working for themselves but what about us?' Most of the problems [illegible] organizations represent something we want to be a part of. They have a motto: for God and Country. Many Vietnam veterans don't believe in God. And many don't believe in the government."

"Many of the World War I and II veterans come from an era in which war was glorified. For us it was just a bad dream."

Not only are the veterans at UMass "misunderstood" by the older veterans organizations but by the students themselves. "Your classmate will converse with you [illegible]

Smallis feel that they have much to offer the students. "They have these ROTC volunteer army programs here. We could offer alternative counseling but not too many people seek us out," said Power.

Smallis considers the overall activism of the University to have degenerated since the '60s. "There just doesn't seem to have the zest of the '60s, not as much rabble rousing and innovative change which the university is supposed to typify." Both agreed that the at[illegible]

Infirmary appt. hours extended

The hours at which you can call to make an appointment at University Health Services have been extended. Please call 549-2600 any time between 9 a.m. and 9 [illegible]

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible] — PACIFICA — a new type of radio show

[illegible] — HIGH TIDES — [illegible]

LISTEN TO WMUA TOTAL INFORMATION NEWS — [illegible]

91.1 FM

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

[illegible]

Students voice opinions on return of the 'F'

Staff Photo/Larry Hershkowitz

Erica Fine, freshman, "I like it the way it is..."

By P.J. PROKOP
Staff Reporter

UMass students had strong reactions to the possible reinstatement of "F's" into the cumulative average. Although no formal decisions have been made, UMass academic deans have decided that it could be brought back into the cum.

A random sample was taken yesterday in the Campus Center and the Student Union.

Wayne Frieden, a senior living in Pelham said, "We discussed it in class--my first reaction was good in the sense that students who really work for their grades should have the feeling of accomplishment. They deserve the grade point average they work for. The administration is probably trying to bring up the standard of the University—maybe too many students have a 3.0."

"A lot of students would take grades more seriously-students may take a course and if they're doing badly, they'll just flunk it. It's basically a good idea, although I'm in favor of pass-fail courses," said Paul Clancy, a senior living in Thatcher.

Carol O'Brien, a sophomore living in McNamara said, "I don't agree with it--it's not fair. It shouldn't be counted because if there's a difficult course and you're not doing well, an F shouldn't hurt your cum."

Christine Donovan, a senior living in Brittany Manor felt "it shouldn't be changed now--it's a good policy the way it is."

"I'm for it. I'm not worried about F's. They should be in the cum because a lot of people bail out of courses or take a course pass-fail and get a D instead of an F. Some students don't take it seriously," said Tom Richard, a senior living in Field.

"It's not such a good idea. I wouldn't be graduating if they counted F's--it seems like a punishment for some students," said Bob Kelley, a senior living in Puffton.

"I like it the way it is--this way you can take courses you really like without the threat of an F. You can't take advantage of pass-fail because you can only take one course that way," said Erica Fine, a freshman living in Washington.

"I don't like it at all because I know I've gotten a couple of F's and they'd really [illegible]," said Karen Lucas, a sophomore [illegible]

"I don't think an F should [illegible] the course you may be taking [illegible] mistake and can really hurt you. [illegible] good policy," said Bill Bla[illegible] Riverglade Apartments.

Lisa Baye, a freshman living [illegible] a student is taking a course [illegible] something not required, it's [illegible] get into it how well you'll [illegible] wreck everything!"

Bill Richardson, a junior [illegible] Australia said, "In Australia [illegible] satisfactory or unsatisfactory. [illegible] because I don't think learning can be measured."

"...UMass is trying to bring up their standards," Wayne Frieden, senior.

Students need more say
In town politics...

By BILL GONET
Staff Reporter

An injunction to delay the Amherst Town Meeting Representative election, slated for April 8, has been filed against the town of Amherst to expediate the hearing of a mal-apportionment suit.

Eric Walgren, Paul Besnia, Veronica Lewis and the Human Rights Party have filed the suit in order to give dormitory residents a voice in the Amherst town meeting proportionate to their numbers.

[illegible]

turn to page 13

Eric Walgren

...And campus affairs

[illegible]

WMUA

[illegible]

UMass, town urged to link on Bicentennial

By BILL DENSMORE
Staff Reporter

The campus Bicentennial committee yesterday heard a plan for cooperation between University and town groups planning activities that support the founding spirit of America.

[illegible]

Senate passes bill to block Ford tariff power

Ford expected to veto measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved and sent to the White House yesterday legislation suspending for 90 days President Ford's tax on imported oil.

The vote was 66 to 28.

Ford was expected to swiftly veto the measure and Democrats feared the President's "greatest pressure ever" could win him enough Senate votes to sustain the veto.

The Senate approved the suspension, passed earlier by the House, after rejecting Republican moves to allow some of the tax to remain in effect.

By executive order, Ford imposed a $1 a barrel tax on imported oil Feb. 1 which would climb to $3 a barrel April 1.

The three-tier tax was imposed in an effort to drive down consumption of oil products, especially gasoline.

The vote came only hours after Ford and the heavily-Democratic Congress displayed the strongest indications so far that they may be moving toward a compromise on energy policy.

Democrats, who originally were confident that they could override the veto, appeared much less sure after Ford's whirlwind lobbying campaign.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., strongly indicated that some senators who voted for the suspension would turn around and back Ford's bid to sustain the veto.

"We've lost one or two, here and there," Jackson conceded. He added the White House "is putting on the greatest pressure ever."

Democrats voted 69 to 25 to defeat an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to leave the tariff on oil destined to become gasoline, and allow the Democrats' 90-day suspension of the tariff on all other oil.

Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the major sponsors of the suspension legislation, attacked Ford's program.

Jackson said the oil tariff would "impart a shock to our already staggering economy fully equal to that imposed last year by the oil cartel," and added: "The President's energy proposals mean more inflation and more unemployment."

Kennedy added that the 90-day delay was "an essential step to convert the Ford energy program for dragging the nation's economy further down into recession."

Watergate grand jury indicts two for backdating Nixon tax form

[illegible]

Kissinger home; says framework for Mideast peace advanced

[illegible]

Americans evacuated from Eritrean capital

[illegible]

Large selection of pierced earrings and other fine gifts and jewelry.

Baker-Winn Jewelers

5 Pleasant St.

Amherst

UMASS SOPHOMORES

[illegible]

THE HUNGRY-U

SUBS & PIZZA

55 UNIVERSITY OF [illegible]

103 [illegible]

WE DELIVER

$100 Reward

for information leading to the return of my clarinet, stolen from MacKimmie Monday night.

Paul A. Silver
[illegible] MacKimmie
[illegible]

SPREAD THE WORD!

mountain farms mall

— ATTENTION —

Space available for

TAG SALE

and

FLEA MARKETS

every Sunday now thru Feb.

10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

FULLY ADVERTISED

[illegible]

State panel debates public power

Proposed authority could benefit users

BOSTON (AP) — Officials of Massachusetts utility companies trained their verbal guns yesterday on a proposal to create a state Public Power-Authority which would build and run electricity-generating plants.

Advocates of the legislation, who filed an initiative petition, told the legislature's Government Regulations Committee that a public authority could save consumers $200 million a year, based on its financing and available federal tax benefits.

But opponents from the utility companies, supported by several legislators, said there would be no savings and that the authority would be an uncontrollable bureaucracy that could not be managed by the state.

The hearing was scheduled to continue in the evening with testimony from the leading power authority backer, U.S. Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass.

Dermot P. Shea, consumer advisor to House Speaker David M. Bartley, supported the power authority plan.

He said the authority could build power plants and transmission lines cheaper than private firms because the authority would be financed by revenue bonds which would not be based on state credit.

Shea also cited federal tax benefits available to a public authority. He said an authority would relieve private companies who are having trouble paying for plant construction already planned.

Shea said the only way private utilities can finance these plants is through huge rate increases.

Forty municipally-owned power companies have operated successfully in Massachusetts for years, Shea said.

Edelin begins work at hospital again

BOSTON (AP) — Four days after his manslaughter conviction for the death of an aborted fetus, Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin returned to work at Boston City Hospital yesterday and prepared to deliver a baby.

[illegible]

ANNOUNCING

The Third Annual Berkshire East

WINTER FUN-FEST

February 22 & 23

HOTDOG COMPETITION

INTER-COLLEGIATE GIANT SLALOM

TUBORG BEER SLALOM

HANG GLIDER FLYING

SKI WRITERS BEER SLALOM

PRECISION SKIING DEMONSTRATION

WINE TASTING PARTY–TUBORG BEER FEST

NO EXTRA CHARGE TO SKIERS

Berkshire East

SKI AREA

[illegible]

WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

VALLEY [illegible]

SENIOR PORTRAITS

MARCH 10-21

sign up

Outside

INDEX

OFFICE

409 SU

OR CALL

545-2874

adventura travel SPRING FLINGS!

DAYTONA BEACH $79*

[illegible]

JAMAICA $89*

[illegible]

FRENCH CANADA

[illegible]

$89*

at The Amherst Carriage Shops 233 N. Pleasant St. Amherst / 549-1256

*Taxes extra. Add airfare if desired.

news summary

Rail aid advances

[illegible]

GOP head selected

[illegible]

US jet escapes

[illegible]

Tax cut passed

[illegible]

Roister Doisters seeking ideas for spring production

Roister Doisters Drama Society is seeking proposals for Spring productions to be performed in April and May — a one act play to be performed with Terrence McNally's "Noon" and a full main stage play.

Roister Doisters is the oldest student dramatic organization in the country, Mark Cuddy, President, told the Collegian the group presented "Adaptation-Noon" in late January this year.

However, due to an injury to one of the cast members, the one act play "Noon" had been cancelled and only "Adaptation" was performed, Cuddy said.

He said the group wishes to perform "Noon" sometime this Spring along with another one act.

Cuddy said Roister Doisters also wishes to perform another main stage production this semester and is thus soliciting proposals for both one acts and full plays.

Cuddy said anyone in the Five College area may submit a proposal. The deadline for the proposals is 5 p.m., Friday, February 21. Proposals should be left in Mark Cuddy's mailbox in the Theatre Department, Room 112 Fine Arts Center.

Those who are interested in submitting proposals but do not have them completed by then can leave a note stating this, along with their name and phone number.

Cuddy said that each proposal should contain the show's title, access to a script of the show, and the names of people who will head the Production Staff — Producer, Director, Technical Director, Publicity Director, and Designers (Set, Costumes, Lighting, etc.).

He said all of the Production Staff heads need not have been chosen at the time the application is submitted, but before the proposal is finalized they will all have to be included. Cuddy said Roister Doisters will help the proposer find production heads that haven't been appointed.

He said the proposal should also include a monetary budget for the show. Cuddy said that for budget information, further information concerning proposals, and for submitting proposals people could call him at his home number, 256-[illegible], Mary Sullivan at [illegible] or Wayne Ganter or Ed Dunn at 546-[illegible].

PIZZA-RAMA

165 College St., Rt. 9 Amherst

specializing in

PIZZAS, HOT OVEN GRINDERS and SPAGHETTI

STORE HOURS: Sun.-Thurs., 11 a.m.-Midnight
Fri., Sat., 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Call 253-3808

"EXTRA SPEEDY DELIVERY"

between 5 p.m.-Midnight, every night

Best Food in Town — and the Lowest Prices

DAYTONA BEACH FLORIDA

MAR. 21 to MAR. 30

$159 per person includes tax & service

9 NIGHTS 10 DAYS

Included:

Round Trip non-stop motor coach to Daytona Beach

All the beer you can drink enroute

Deluxe ocean front hotel right on the "strip" near night clubs, restaurants, amusements, etc.

Exclusive discount booklet for night clubs, restaurants, recreation rentals, shops, etc.

Pre-departure party, welcome party, farewell barbecue.
Optional — Walt Disney World Tour

RESERVE YOUR SEAT NOW!

Contact: Susan MacGillivray

546-8292

Roam around Europe all summer for $180.

A Student-Railpass gives you two months of unlimited Second Class rail travel through 13 European countries.

Buy one, we'll give you a map, and where you go next is your own business.

All we'll say is that European trains are a sensational way to get there, be it Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden or Switzerland.

100,000 miles of track link cities, towns and historic, scenic and social attractions. Our trains are fast, modern, convenient, clean and comfortable.

And you'll discover there's very little second class about Second Class. You can sleep in a couchette for only $6.00 a night. And if you want to eat on a budget, inexpensive snacks are often available.

You can even take a cruise on the Rhine, if you like. Eurailpass is valid on many European ferries, river and lake steamers and hydrofoils. It also offers you substantially reduced fares on many side excursions you might want to take by motor coach.

And how's this for travel convenience? Many rail stations offer bikes for rental, and it's possible to pick up a bike at one station and drop it off at another.

All you need to qualify is to be a full-time student under 26. There's just one catch. You must buy your Student-Railpass here before you take off. They're not for sale in Europe.

If you have less time to travel, or want to travel First Class, consider Eurailpass. A two-week pass costs [illegible]. Three-week pass costs [illegible]. One month, $200. Two months, [illegible]. Three months, [illegible].

Don't wait. It could be the trip of your life. See your Travel Agent or clip the coupon and we'll send you all the facts.

STUDENT-RAILPASS

MAIL THIS COUPON FOR FOLDERS ON LOWEST-COST FARES & TOURS TO EUROPE of any scheduled airline

Name
Street
City
State Zip

SEE YOUR TRAVEL AGENT

ICELANDIC AIRLINES

Beginning Feb. 22 at 8:00 A.M. something even better than a Washington's Birthday Sale.

A Mother of a Hifi Sale.

Tech pays tribute to the woman who made Washington's Birthday Sale possible.

Let's face it. If it wasn't for Mary Ball Washington, we wouldn't have a George Washington. Or a single George Wahington's Birthday Sale. So in tribute to the woman who gave birth to the father of His country (and thus created a reason for fabulous sales of all sorts), Tech Hifi is having the most fabulous sale of them all.... A real Mother of a Hifi Sale!

Sale Special,

15% OFF

any Demos In Entire Store

Free Stereo Buyer's Guide.

Please send me a free 48 page, 1975 Tech Hifi Buyer's Guide (usually sells for $1.00) I understand it contains everything I need to know about buying a music system.

NAME ____________

ADDRESS ____________

____

Mail to:
Tech Hifi Advertising
250 Triangle St.
Amherst, Mass. 01002

Ohm PIONEER ELAC NIKKO TEAC ONKYO Artistry in Sound Bozak Interface: A

All Demos have full Tech& Factory Guarranty.

tech hifi

Quality Components at the Right Price

250 Triangle St. Amherst 549-2610
186 Main St. Northampton 586-2552

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

commentary

Academic GRAFFitti

By ROBERT GOLNER

Present men of history, science, language and other general subjects of study which lead to a degree and janitorial work, all agree to some extent that graffitti is the "sign of the times." Were it not for their predecessors' interest in ancient graffitti (sophisticates refer to it as hieroglyphical), we would know nothing of the world and the civilization that preceded us. Now, I know that those of us involved unhappily in the study of anthropology, classical languages and literatures, et cetera, would gladly have cleaned the walls of ancient Egypt in order to do away with these dreadful courses. Yet, it appears that the humanoids of the future will be involved in similar courses that would likely bring a chagrin — maybe something like: Ancient Graffitti 101, or American Graffitti 162C, or World Graffitti 210H.

It's an interesting thought that could even be used today — Massachusetts Graffitti 1930-1960, or Bathroom Graffitti 1973-74, or Library Graffitti 10:15-10:20. Of course analysis would be reactionary and not as well formulated as future studies, but nonetheless important. The possibilities are endless, the courses endless, and even if one didn't have the text, he could go to the spot where it is located and do your homework assignment. This might also encourage students to do a little extra for the course, because once you start reading a wall, or post, or bathroom door, it's hard to stop. (For the latter one is obviously immobile and therefore has no choice.)

There are many other benefits to attribute to courses like these. One would be student interest and enthusiasm. After all, wouldn't you be enthusiastic if a professor was using the graffitti you authored in his Love Graffitti 171B or Obscene Graffitti 321A? Another is that there would be no books to buy — most works would be on handouts, mainly hurriedly xeroxed from a toilet tissue copy that the professor made in an extremely enlightening bathroom. Also, assignments would be a cinch. Just go to the library, get in the elevator, and press any button. Complete your research while you wait for the elevator to return.

One can obviously realize the academic role of such courses. It fulfills Rhetoric through study of modern grammar and composition and doing writing on one's own (in the spare bathroom, of course). It details modern history — dates, people, places, quotes. It can fulfill a science if Morrill (Lab) Graffitti 110C is taken — and so on. The requirement fulfilled is dependent on the building, bathroom, country, or language in which the graffitti is studied. Some examples might be:

101A — Le Graffitti Français Au Arc De Triomphe Et Dans Les Salles De Bain De La Cathedrale De Notre Dame.

167H — The History Of Graffitti From Pre-Civil War Outhouses to Post World War II Speakeasies.

210C — A Psychological Study Of The Graffitti of the Sex Maniac.

104B — (A Colloquium) How to Write Effective Graffitti with a Bic Banana.

233D — Graffitti Grammar and Composition from Shakespeare to the Present.

It is surely now apparent to all as to the value of graffitti courses and their adoption is strongly urged. After all, what kind of a university would this be if Hindu Basket Weaving and Turbin-Tying should outrank UMerican Graffitti?

Robert Golner is a Collegian Commentator

Columnist Steve Tripoli lashes out at the world — in tomorrow's Collegian.

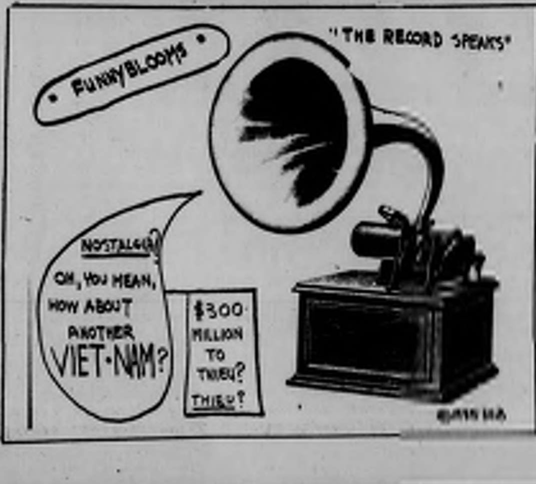
AMHERST
"LIKE TAKING CANDY FROM A BABY"!



FUNNYBLOOMS
"THE RECORD SPEAKS"
NOSTALGIA?
OH, YOU MEAN, HOW ABOUT ANOTHER VIET-NAM?
$300 MILLION TO THIEU? THIEU?

From our perspective

DC tax a piece de resistence

With the abolition of the housing requirement, most student attention recently has focused on living standards and costs for off campus life. The fact remains, however, that a large amount of students will be living on campus in the fall, and must still deal with various conditions and cost increases. One such increase is about to be levied by the state legislature unless widespread opposition is voiced.

As a means of increasing tax revenue, the legislature has decided to tax meal plans at higher educational institutions. For students on the meal ticket at UMass, this will constitute an increase of about $20 per year.

Senator Walter Boverini of Lynn has filed a bill, S. 1384, which would prevent the Department of Taxation from such action. According to Rep. Jim Collins of Amherst, the bill is in for some rough going in the Legislature unless the full support of students and their parents is shown.

In a recent survey of other states having a sales tax such as Massachusetts, 14 out of 16 have a specific exemption for sales of food furnished in an educational institution to students under a contract board plan. It should be noted that the passage of S. 1384 would not reduce tax revenue, since the tax has never been collected in the past.

Such a tax would impose another financial burden on a group which is already under the thumbs of inflation and recession: the college student.

Whether or not you will be using the meal plan next semester, your support is needed. Send a letter to your own congressman or to Rep. Jim Collins, House Lobby, State House, Boston, Mass.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Board of Editors.

Editorial Points

WIN button of the week goes to Susan Ford, who, according to New York Times reports, has talked daddy into a gasoline saving measure. Instead of driving her to her Senior prom, Jerry is allowing her to have the prom at home, providing she can get a date. Susan, we had our doubts, but now we know you are a true American. Pin that WIN badge next to your corsage and dance the night away!

* * * * *

It's still fun to try and catch a bus from the Campus Center-no two clocks have the same time.

* * * * *

Gerald Ford, the only President never elected by the American people, last week announced his bid for re-election. It could only happen in America!

* * * * *

Now that Robert Wood has spoken to three major groups on campus, maybe he can find the time to speak to the largest group of all, the undergraduate student body.

Notable Quote

In an ill-fated trip to the infirmary, special correspondent [illegible] came across this little ditty in a June, 1974 TIME magazine (the most current periodical in the waiting room).

"To achieve BLISS, on a calculator, punch [illegible], divide by [illegible]." [illegible] immediately proceeded to do so and last reports say he is still sitting in the waiting room, smiling.

E. Patrick McQuaid

Retrospect in repast

"I think we've used it up," said columnist J. J. Pencraft.

"How's that?" I querried.

"The campus, the issues, they're dead. We've used them up. Thumb through last years' Collegian copies. Just look, you'll see the same columns, headlines, stories. Year after year, from one crew of writers to the next; the same stuff."

The elevator came to an abrupt halt and we stepped out into the corridor aside a desk where we were requested to display our TOC cards.

Having done so we strolled over to the restaurant doorway and asked for a table-for-two.

"We beat the issues dead each semester," he continued, "and yet they resurrect themselves the following session; and why? Why?"

"Perhaps," I began, "the same columns keep recurring because the same issues are still around. They haven't been settled; nothing's been done to alleviate the problems so the new writers don't realize what they're doing. Half the student population is new and new to the problems, therefore, new to what's being written."

Pencraft methodically brought his pipe to his lips and struck a match across its sand-papered lid. A blue flame sizzled momentarily and flared up and down as he breathed through the mouthpiece. He shook his hand and let the match fall.

"This way, please," came a voice. We followed the menu-bearing waitress to a table in the corner near the window. I scanned the menu and almost immediately decided on prime rib. My eyes fell down the column and stopped at the price list.

"No, no" he finally stated. "Things have changed. There's plenty to be written about. Hhhmmm, the schrod looks good, whadya think?"

"The columns or the food?"

"Both, but more important things first. Rose or white?"

"Well, it depends if we order meat or fish...but at these rates, I'm not sure I can afford to..."

"...sauteed mushrooms, a must on my menu! I think I'll start with a draft of Heineken first."

"Look at this," I pointed out. "It now costs an extra fifty cents to eat salad here."

"Outrageous! It's always been included in the fare. This is too much, the prices have soared sky high! This merits a policy editorial!"

"We've already published enough editorials, letters, columns, and commentaries on the TOC! It's futile, our efforts are worthless."

"The people needn't take this. They don't need it! Do you know that everything above the second floor was not built in this monstrosity with the students in mind? It's all for these executives and convention bankers and the like who come here and spend money. And who's paying off the bill? Us! We are, the students!"

"Are you ready to order, gentlemen?"

We both sat quietly for a moment. Pencraft spoke first.

"Yes, I'll take the baked schrod, mushrooms on the side, coffee with the meal, and a Heineken before hand, please."

"Ahhmm, the ground chuck steak; what's that?"

"Hamburger with mushrooms."

"Oh, hamburger for this price?" I looked over the rest of the menu as she impatiently scrawled down Pencraft's order. "What's it gonna be?" she asked of me.

"Hamburger with mushrooms, and a glass of rose, thank you."

"Are either of you having salad?"

"I don't think..."

"Ah, c'mon! interjected Pencraft. "Yes, both of us are." He then turned to me and said softly: "Don't make trouble, you're gonna end up buying it anyways. They realize that no matter if they raise the prices or not." He turned back to the waitress and handed her his menu. I did the same.

Lately we had been patronizing the TOC and had made advantage of the free beer nuts they had been supplying with a draft. When Pencraft's beer had arrived we requested some.

"Do you want a bowl or a cup? Twenty-five or seventy-five cents."

"We want some free beer nuts," said Pencraft.

"We don't give anything away here."

"What happened to the free nuts they were giving away for the last month?"

"Do you really want me to tell you?" she said hesitantly.

What?" asked Pencraft.

"They're just leftovers from the Bluewr'l."

"You mean they've been giving us garbage?"

"Yup, they're just fifty years old an' they're tryin' ta get rid of 'em."

"That is bad news; page one bad news." I stated.

"Sure is," retorted Pencraft. "Good thing we've got nothin' ta do with the news around here, huh. Imagine if the papers every got wind of this?"

"Disaster," I replied.

The ground chuck steak arrived some time later minus any resemblence of mushrooms; however, there was a considerable multitude of rice. I looked into Pencraft's dish and pointed: "What's that, a clam in with the shrod dinner? Must be a complete seafood platter." He leaned forward and made a closer examination and replied: "No, I believe it is the waitress's cufflink." He held it up in the candlelight and we were charged an additional fifty cents.

I always find it amazing that no matter what you calculate for expenses, the total fare is never within ten decimals, nevertheless ten dollars, range of your estimates. We pulled our pennies together.

"Well, what are your plans for the rest of the evening?" he asked of me.

"I've got a column to write for tomorrow's paper. Can't think of anything to write about though. As you've said, we've beaten the campus issues dry. Nothin' new, or old for that matter, to write about."

"Yah, yah. Dining Commons, towing, the president, it's all the same. Can't imagine what's to write about."

We left the Campus Center and climbed into his Datsun. He dropped me off at the infirmary for an appointment that I had made earlier.

"You know," I concluded, "somehow I've got the feeling that I'm gonna get all the material I need for my next column in here." I headed for the infirmary doors.

E. Patrick McQuaid is the Collegian assistant executive editor.

Letters

Who will get housing?

To the Editor:

No doubt most of the University community has been following the issues of mandatory dorm living and Amherst rent control with some interest over the past few semesters. And without a doubt, there is some merit in the SOP's (and others') efforts to "free" students from admittedly unpleasant restrictions on the grounds that the lowered age of majority constitutionally prohibits the University from decreasing our bondage. I have no quarrel with the theory nor the motivation. However, let me humbly ask one question with respect to the practical aspects of the issue.

A critical problem that will result from the removal of the mandatory dorm living requirement is the housing shortage in Amherst. Who is going to get what there is available? Rent control does prevent the reaping of excess profit on the part of landlords, but at the same time, it removes one of the mechanisms for dealing with the allocation of available housing among the influx of new prospective renters. The problem is that there is too great a demand for the given supply.

What will have been accomplished in essence? Due to the lack of supply, roughly the same number of people who are now forced to live there by failure to get housing through whatever allocation system will go into effect. The only change will be in the composition of new off-campus residents. Instead of seniors, people over 21, married people, etc., as is presently the case, these will be the first comers, those who give the most on the side, or the lucky ones who make it through the allocation system. In exchange for a theoretic freedom which many of us will not be able to exercise, there is the prospect of yet another big fee.

Forgive me for my ignorance, but what is the argument against the notion that in being admitted to the University, we thereby agree to abide by the quasi-contract that requires the obeying of University regulations, here with respect to requirement that we live on campus unless we meet certain conditions? We are not forced to attend this particular University. Even if this notion is rejected, it hardly seems advantageous collectively to give up the minimal guarantee that as soon as we do meet the conditions, we can move off (with a reasonable chance of procuring housing), for only the seemingly haphazard chance of process that seems certain to follow after our "liberation."

Thus notions of non-responsibility for bad planning on the part of the University, rent control, rights of students to freedom, and the like are fine in theory. However, I would submit that those who wish to see this through must also deal with the practical ramifications that will follow. Failure to do so would result in the mere substitution of one sort of wrong for another.

Responses, or attempts to relieve me of any misconceptions would certainly be appreciated.

J.M. van Tol

Appley out of touch

To the Editor:

Regarding Rick [illegible]'s Feb. 18 article, "Faculty skeptical about School of Ed standards," this letter is aimed at certain faculty who have used the Collegian to disseminate their political views under the guise of facts and ideas. Was [illegible] article based on propaganda? The figures given by the faculty don't justify the conclusions because significant facts have been withheld [illegible] in order to make certain individuals' philosophies politically stronger.

What do these figures really mean? If Dean Appley and his fellows had finished their homework [illegible] they would know what we all know. The federal civil rights laws require that a certain quota of so-called minorities be admitted and graduated each year by the School of Ed, the same as every other department. Scholastic achievement only reflects the verbal equipment of whites; so in this situation we take that into account. This is a University where whites have every advantage academically. If you re-institute grading and resume a racist policy of admitting only the white middle class with the right grades, you break the law and forfeit the federal fundings that keep this place above water.

What does that study of Dean Appley's amount to? The Dean's study and conclusions are meaningless because he is out of touch with the trends and demands put on an up-to-date School of Ed. Grading is an archaic system because people everywhere else but in academia have experienced the sick anxiety that criterion-referenced grading has become; and know that grading forces teachers to produce carbon copy students. Carbon-copy students are out of style, a memory of a period when we all tried to be 'scientific' in our teaching. The scientific days of Skinnerian-behaviorism are over and these are the early days of humanism. The changes rumored would set us back 20 years and put UMass out of the picture nationally.

Why not wait until the air clears before you throw more academia into the fan? Why not restraint, humility and sobriety instead of spoiling peoples' work and careers? Why not ask intelligent questions of each other rather than spending the tax payer's money on absurd "studies" done behind our colleagues' backs? And lastly, the Collegian is not the place to disseminate rumors and ill-founded conclusions. Isn't Watergate over for you?

Kevin Collins

Former Visiting Lecturer

Necessity before luxury

To the Editor:

I would like to express my delight in the redecoration of the women's toilets in the Student Union building. Now that our surroundings have been doctored, don't you think that it is time to remedy the year old problem with the tampon machines? It would cost much less and would make life much nicer for University women who use the Student Union on a regular basis. Survival should have a priority over aesthetics.

Tyla L. Michelove

Fear of the truth

To the Editor:

Once again — how many times does this make? — the American people have shown themselves to be a people scared of the truth and filled with the kinds of prejudices of which lynchings were made.

The conviction of Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin on a manslaughter charge in the death of an aborted fetus is, as one doctor stated, "a travesty of justice," and as the medical community is already realizing, will have far-reaching consequences on the ability of women, particularly underpriviledged women, to obtain safe, medically sound, legal abortions in the state of Massachusetts and in all probability, in the rest of the country as well.

As the 5 week-long court trial revealed, the prosecution's "expert" testimony was questionable in its veracity. Its "expert" witnesses, doctors who were anti-abortion in sentiment, and its politically-motivated aim, to clear the way for further anti-abortion investigation and legislation. The jury's unwillingness to accept Judge McGuire's offer, during the final hours of deliberation, of aid in clarifying the laws to help them arrive at their decision, points up all too clearly their pre-disposition to a guilty verdict. And the prosecution's exhibition of a photograph of the aborted fetus, in a sickeningly sensationalistic courtroom move, reveals the extent of his desperation to achieve a conviction which he knew would be difficult without the aid of such "evidence."

If the Edelin decision sets a precedent, as they generally do, we may soon find ourselves back where we were a little over a year ago: with licensed hospitals and competent surgeons no longer able to perform abortions, and with women's lives once again in the hands of the medically incompetent illegal abortionists who have killed or maimed thousands of women. The pro-lifers (an ironic term in view of the number of women's lives they have ruined as a result of their efforts) have won a victory, a victory which has the potential to divest women of the small bit of power over their lives which they had gained by last year's Supreme Court ruling. The anti-abortion forces will now be stepping up their efforts to win more such cases, and eventually, state by state, to render the Supreme Court ruling invalid. It is now vitally important for all women and men who support the right of women to abortion to prepare to fight again. Our numbers are great, but, as the Edelin case has revealed, so are theirs, and the real battle may just be beginning.

Contributions to help defray the costs of legal expenses for the trial and upcoming appeal may be sent to: Kenneth Edelin Defense Fund, 15 Broad St. Suite [illegible] Boston [illegible].

Laura Simeone

notices

AMATEUR RADIO ASSOCIATION

Meeting tonite at 8, rm. 803 CC, featuring guest speaker from the American Radio Relay League. New members welcome.

BICYCLE CLUB RIDE

Anyone interested in a ride this weekend call Cheryl, 6-4127 and we'll arrange one. New members welcome.

BINDING CHECK

Skiers, the National Ski Patrol is offering a free safety check of your ski bindings. Bring your skis and ski boots to rm. 105 CC at 7:00 tonite. A properly set binding may prevent a broken leg.

CHI OMEGA

All university women are invited to attend a wine and cheese party at Chi Omega, tonite at 7:00. Rides provided. For more info call 545-0162.

COIN CLUB

Meeting tonite rm. 172 CC 8:30-10. New people invited to attend. We'll discuss the semester's activities. [illegible]

[illegible]

LAW SCHOOLS

Mon., 2-24 at 7:30 p.m. representatives from Northeastern, Suffolk, Western New England and New England schools of Law will be in the Campus Center, rm. 168-70-72.

MKTG. CLUB HAPPY HOUR

All interested students are invited to meet informally with Marketing faculty and other students at a Happy Hour at Steak Out Rt. 9 Amherst on Thurs. 2-20 4:30-7.

LOCAL CHAPTER MEETING

The UMass local chapter of MassPIRG will meet tonite at 7:30 in rm. 434. All are welcome.

MASKED MEN

According to the powers that be, today is Monday, and Who Was That Masked Man, the US colloq, will meet at 7 p.m. at [illegible]

[illegible]

We are in Frat.-Sor. Park. For rides call 253-9066.

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMM.

Meeting tonite, Thurs. at 7:15 in the office (rm. 415 Student Union). Those who are working security for Peter Frampton please attend.

P-10 POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS SEMINAR

No meeting tonite. We will meet Feb. 27, 7 p.m. Show up or else.

ROISTER DOISTERS

The deadline for all proposals for Spring productions—a one act play to be performed with "NEXT" and a full main stage play—is tomorrow at 5 p.m. Leave all complete proposals or a note saying you wish to propose a show, with your phone no., in M. Cuddy's mailbox, Theatre Dept., 112 Fine Arts.

[illegible]

SOPHOMORE NURSING MAJORS

You can become an Air Force Nurse on campus through Air Force ROTC.

To find out if you qualify for:

Worldwide Travel
Flight Duty
Officer's Pay and Advancement
$100 Per Month for Your Last Two Years on Campus
Many Other Benefits

CONTACT:
Major Goodhue
Room 205
5-2437
Dickinson Hall

You've been there. Now you can help them.

[illegible]

Salesians OF ST. JOHN BOSCO

Name
Street Address
City State Zip
Phone
Education
Your Current Job

LIQUOR SUPERMARKETS

★ SPRINGFIELD
BRECKWOOD BLVD. - WILBRAHAM RD.
★ NORTHAMPTON
HAMP PLAZA — RTE. 5, NORTH KING ST.
★ FAIRVIEW
NEXT TO BIG "Y" - MEMORIAL DRIVE

from our well-stocked
LIQUOR, BEER AND WINE SHOPPES

Schenley Reserve BLENDED WHISKEY 86 Proof Half Gallon $9.69	Carstairs Whiskey BLENDED — 80 PROOF Half Gallon $8.88
Seagram's Gin 86 Proof Half Gallon $9.59	Gilbey's Vodka 80 Proof Half Gallon $7.99
FRANZIA Table Wine Half Gallon $1.99	COSTA DO SOL ROSE Full Quart $1.99
Labatt Beer Case of 24 N.R. Bottles 11½ ounces Product of Canada $5.79	Pabst Beer Case of 24 N.R. Bottles 12 ounces $4.89

Coca-Cola
Case of 24
12 ounce cans
$3.99
Limit one per customer while supply lasts.

Black Affairs

Tribute to Malcolm X

There will be a tribute in honor of Malcolm X, the exemplary, the image and presence of Black manhood, given tonight at 7:30. The event will take place at the Malcolm X Cultural Center, Southwest.

Malcolm X will be looked at, and his ideology and leadership will be re-examined taken in the context of his historical period and the legacy he left. It is important for us, (in 1975), to seriously adapt the ideas and positive work of this powerful leader, and continue to struggle for human rights.

The event will feature a film interview with Bro. Malcolm X, by Mike Wallace. Following the film, Bro. Muhammad Ahmad will recapture the "last five years" of Malcolm's life.

Prof. John Bracey of the Afro-Am Studies Dept. will discuss Malcolm X and Black Nationalism. Students attending will be able to receive a color photograph of Malcolm X. The event will certainly be worthwhile and very educational.

Notice

The Malcolm X Room is sponsoring the following courses this semester. We ask that people signing up, should do so at once — at the John Adam office in Southwest. The courses are: Higher Education and the Black Student; Women in Africa; Survey of Minority Students in a Legal System; and Black Psychology.

Tonight: Universal Rhythms

Tonight, Universal Rhythm, a product of Black Mass Communication Projects, will broadcast a tribute to Bro. Malcolm X. Speeches of Malcolm X and his message to the "Grass Roots" will be explored.

Music related to the historical period in which Malcolm X lived and worked will be introduced. Bro. Muhammad Ahmad, will exchange knowledge and information concerning the last five years of Malcolm's life.

Universal Rhythms will be aired from 11:00 p.m. until 2:00 WMUA-FM radio. Your hosts are Rudy Jones and Sherwood Thompson, show is engineered by Randi Bourne.

Stay tuned to the other fine educational programs sponsored by Black Mass Communications Project. Programs are aired seven days a week on 91.1 — FM.

Sunday Gospel show, 8 a.m.-12 p.m.; Monday Bright Moments, [illegible] p.m. Tuesday from 10 p.m.-2 a.m.; Wednesday 10 p.m.-2 a.m.; Thursday 11 p.m.-2 a.m., Universal Rhythms; Friday 6 p.m.-10 p.m.; and Saturday from 2-6 p.m.

Social Change 60's — 70's

On Friday, Feb. 21 — Sunday, Feb. 23, The Straight Ahead Executive Committee of Amherst College will be presenting a tribute to Malcolm X. The subject of the commemorative event is Revolution and Social Change in America 60's-70's. This Malik El Shabazz Memorial Weekend will include a variety of speakers, musicians and other events. Included on the agenda are guest speakers Julian Bond, Alvin Poussaint, Julius Lester, William Strickland, Asa J. Davis, Bill Cole, [illegible], and Douglas V. Davidson. Music will be provided by the Sam Rivers Trio, Archie Shepp, Beaver Harris, and there will be three films shown — "Sister Son/ji", "Malcolm X", "Birth of a Nation". Also, La Rocque Bey Dancers will provide a cultural exchange.

Don't miss this week-end of cultural and intellectual enlightenment. For further information, contact The Straight Ahead Committee of Amherst College at (413) 542-2010 or 542-[illegible].

Join B.N.S.

The Black News Service is a student media training and placement organization. Its functions includes the training and placement of news reporters, photographers, graphic-arts, and lay-out personnel.

Up to this date, B.N.S. has been operating with a limited staff. As a result, the news service has not been able to service the needs of the total Third World Community. It is, therefore, imperative that all Third World Students (studying and/or interest in communication) join the staff and participate in informing the people.

Our goals are realistic because they reflect the conception of those who are daily involved with media operations.

The staff and editors of B.N.S. welcomes all energetic and serious-minded students to come in and join our action team. The Black News Service is located at the Daily Collegian Newspaper, 3rd floor Student Union Building, and in Room 114, New Africa House. All phones are 545-[illegible].

We need graphic artists, photographers, reporters, layout personnel, fine arts critics and writers.

Malcolm speaks

"...we have to hear for ourselves, see for ourselves and think for ourselves. Then by doing these things, we can come to an intelligent decision for ourselves." Malcolm X

MAD MONEY!
$25 for $20

cut this out
MAD MONEY
5-10-20
Expires Feb. 22, 1975
BEAU BRITCHES
HADLEY STORE ONLY
THIS CERTIFICATE GOOD FOR $5 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $25; $10 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $50; AND $20 OFF ALL PURCHASES OF $100
with Beau Britches mad money!

Make a $25 purchase, present this mad money certificate and receive a $5 discount
That's $25 worth of merchandise for $20!
Buy $50 worth of merchandise, save $10!
or Buy $100 worth of merchandise and save $20!
Team up with a roommate.
Make a group purchase and save money!

BEAU Britches
Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass.

notices

cont. from p.10

RUSH PARTY

Sisters of Sigma Kappa, 19 Allen St., invite all UMass women to drop in to our Open House Coffeehouse tonight 7-9 p.m. Entertainment, beer and snacks. Call 256-6887 or 545-2287 for info.

SAILING CLUB

Meeting Monday 2-24 at 7 p.m., C.C. 165. If you are interested in sailing this spring, come to the meeting. New members welcome.

SKI PATROL

Meeting tonight in C.C. 105 at 6:30 p.m. There will be a binding check set-up, so bring your skis and boots to be tested.

SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS

[illegible]

Pickets expected to support UFW

By LISA HICKLER
Progressive News Service

This Saturday, fifty to one hundred people are expected at a mass picket called by Amherst supporters of the United Farm Workers Union (UFW). Picketers will assemble at the Four Seasons Liquor Store on Rte. 9 in Hadley at 4:00 p.m.

Steve Clark, spokesperson for the local boycott committee, said, "We have to build a massive campaign against Gallo, and get as much support as possible in order to win. It is a crucial time for the UFW. People are with us, but we need more than sympathy, we need their active support. The Teamsters are on a counter-offensive against us."

Town and Country Liquor Store in Springfield was the site of a counter picket by the Teamsters Union last Saturday. About twenty people, Teamster members and supporters, urged customers to buy Gallo. There was also a picket line of supporters of roughly the same size. Their signs and leaflets explained why they call for the boycott of all Gallo wines. The incident represents the first time in New England that the International

turn to page 13

COMMUTER COMPUTER
CARPOOL

[illegible]

Campus Center Information Desk

RSO Office — Student Union

[illegible]

Commuter Lounge — Student Union

[illegible]

summer in europe
CHARTERS
1/2
[illegible]

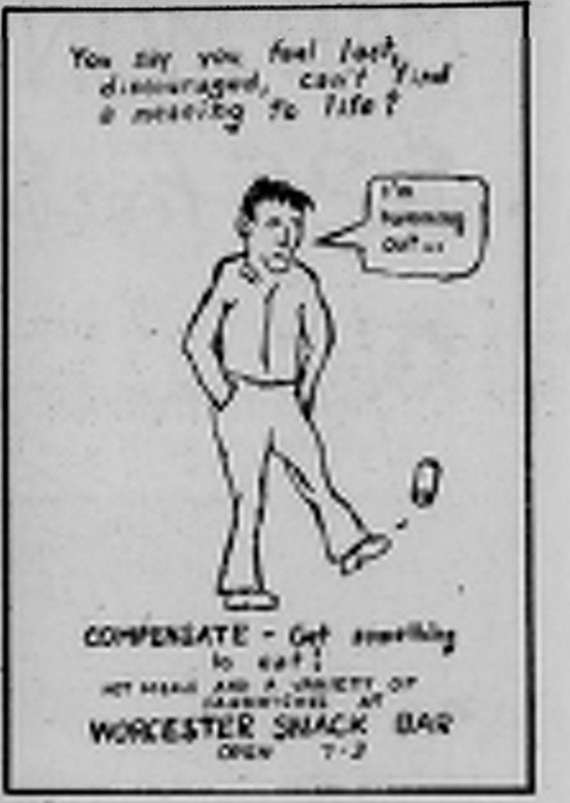
Robert A. Heinlein
Future History Stories
Complete in One Volume
The Past Through Tomorrow

The new Heinlein!

The Past Through Tomorrow
by
Robert A. Heinlein

The complete "Future History" stories, at last in paperback. From the dean of American science fiction writers, 21 dazzling and prophetic stories about life in the next century—and far beyond. A major publishing event!

Berkley paperback $1.95



You say you feel lost, discouraged, can't find a meaning to life?

COMPENSATE - Get something to eat!
HOT MEALS AND A VARIETY OF SANDWICHES AT WORCESTER SNACK BAR
OPEN 7-2

I'm bumming out...

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

UNITED Feature Syndicate

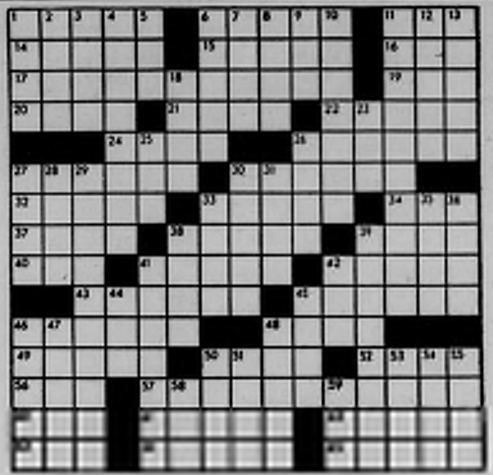
Yesterday's Puzzle Solved

ACROSS

[illegible]

DOWN

[illegible]



By Jim Carson

DIZZY & PAUL

By Keis Jackson

KAMPUS KAPERS

By Gary Trudeau

DOONESBURY

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HIGH

VAROOM!
NEW LEATHERS!

By Johnny Hart

B.C.

By Brant Parker & Johnny Hart

WIZARD OF ID

—FOLLOW HOMO SAPIENS.

Your Birthday

By Stella Wilder

Thursday, February 20 — Born today, you are somewhat inclined to be disorganized, especially when the enterprises in which you are engaged offer more than a single route to success. You are prone to false starts, to spending some time on one pathway to success and then retreat in order to try a different pathway. That you thus waste a great deal of time in that way goes without saying — but it must also be admitted that the experience you gain through such deviations and vacillations may make you in the end a more knowledgeable, ultimately more successful person.

Although you are not outwardly an emotional person, inwardly you are a deeply feeling individual whose almost every action is guided by your likes and dislikes, your loyalties, your hates — in short, by your emotional responses. This is, of course, the secret to your vacillation, for you are kept from moving to strict schedules by changes in mood [illegible]

[illegible]

Walgren

cont. from p. 3

Walgren's complaint charges dormitory residents must be counted as inhabitants of the town and that reliance upon the state's enabling act is unconstitutional.

The state census lists dormitory occupants as living with their parents, the Federal census counts dorm residents as town inhabitants.

Walgren feels that the resolution of the suit will be based upon proving that dorm residents should be counted as inhabitants of the town.

Walgren said that behind Amherst's present apportionment lies the rationale that those who don't vote, don't deserve to be represented.

"The converse to this rationale," he said, "is that those who aren't adequately represented, don't feel that it's worth the effort to vote."

Walgren, an Amherst resident, describes himself as "a political activist, who uses the courts as a means of knocking down the procedures blocking political involvement." [illegible], a resident of James dormitory, is a registered voter in Amherst. [illegible], is a non-voting full-time undergraduate student residing off campus. The Human Rights Party styles itself as "an unincorporated political association for the purpose of encouraging student participation in Amherst town government."

UFW picket

Cont. from pg. 12

Brotherhood of Teamsters has mobilized its membership in an action against the United Farm Workers Union. They were joined by Carmin Nappi, president of Local 404 of the Teamsters. The store was picketed for about ten hours.

Bob Callahan, member of the UFW, was at the Saturday picket line. He reported that certain Teamster picketers shouted such things as, "The Teamsters don't rely on clergy and girls to do a man's work," to the UFW supporters. About half of the UFW picketers present were women. Two clergy people were also there. According to Callahan's report, the manager of Town and Country brought coffee to the picketing Teamsters and spoke with them. Callahan said "the workers in the store harassed the UFW picketers, yelled at them and tried to run shopping carts into them."

The dispute has arisen out of the issue of representation of the workers in the Gallo vineyards in Modesto, California. The Teamsters Union considers itself the rightful representatives of the grape pickers. The UFW considers these contracts between the Teamsters and Gallo "sweetheart" contracts, to be against the wishes of the workers.

Reinstate college dunking?

By BILL EDELSTEIN

Okay, gang, it's storytime!

Our adventure begins nine years ago in a bustling western U.S. city. There is a university located in this city — the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA). As we walk through the University, we notice a seven-foot, three-inch giant walking about, and since the California sun is so hot and the monster makes excellent shade, we follow him around campus.

As the days wear on and we continually follow him, we begin to discover specifics about the big man; his name is Lew Alcindor (though he's considering changing it to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar), he is the best player in college basketball, and he goes to the bathroom three times a day.

We decide to take in a basketball game, since following him to the bathroom is becoming rather tedious. Once at the hoop contest we find that Mr. Alcindor has even more moves on the court than he has on the toilet, but the move he does best is the stuff shot. Lew is happy as he stuffs the ball with his left hand, with his right hand, with both hands and with no hands.

Yes, Lew Alcindor is happy, but opposing coaches aren't; they have a strange aversion to losing, so they set out to devise a rule that will render big Lew harmless. They discuss lowering the basket to the floor, but realize that somebody might trip over it and injure himself, so instead they outlaw the stuff shot. Since they need a better reason to deem the dunk taboo than just to stop Alcindor, they claim the stuff shot can pull down the backboard and thereby ruin expensive equipment. (Aw c'mon fellas, when was the last time you saw a backboard pulled down due to someone dunking the ball?)

Commentary

Alcindor develops a hook shot and becomes more deadly than ever.

Nine years pass quickly, Richard Nixon comes and goes, and our adventure shifts east to the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. We walk to a place called simply, "The Cage" because we hear that UMass is hosting the Boston College Eagles.

Boston College doesn't exactly impress us, but an official call before the game does. UMass forward, Mike Pyatt, executes a perfect single-pump slam dunk in warm-ups...and is assessed with a technical foul! You see, Mike might have pulled down the backboard with his crowd-pleasing antic. The backboard does indeed jiggle, but lo!, it remains aloft!

Looking down from the jiggling basket, we suddenly find ourselves in Milwaukee, Wisconsin where Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is legally jamming the basketball through the twine — and he is happy playing professional hoop.

Now, this reporter realizes B.C. is dead and gone, but yours truly has been stewing about the no-dunking rule for two weeks, and reflecting on this adventure, I have but two words to say to the coaching geniuses who wrote the rule into the books. STUFF IT!!!

Staff Photo by [illegible]

Three members of the UMass women's gymnastics team rejoice during Springfield meet. They are Pam Steckmest, Cheryl Smith, and Linda Nelligan.

Rules every fan should know

By MIKE KNEELAND

Question: At the end of the game, teams A and B are tied at 70. After the buzzer, player A1 commits a technical foul. If player B1 sinks the one shot technical, does Team B win the game?

Before getting into that question, I'd like to point out misunderstandings some fans have about the rules (college, not professional).

Moving Pick — There's no such violation. If player A1 is dribbling the ball, player A2 may run in front of him for as long as he wants. The play would become illegal, however, if A2 causes contact with a B player. In that case, A2 has committed a player control foul.

Force Out — Again, there's no such violation. If player A1, for example, finds himself in a confined area and goes out of bounds...it's his fault. The defense has done a good job. If player A1 is physically forced out of bounds by B1, a foul is then called on B1.

Three Seconds — This is one violation many fans seem to confuse. There are two basic aspects to the rule: a team must have the ball in its front court, and it must have possession of the ball. It is not a three second violation, therefore, when A1 stands in the key for five seconds trying to secure a rebound from a shot. Once A1 shoots the ball, there is no longer Team A control which means the three second rule is "inoperative."

Tap In — A tap is not considered a try for goal. If player A1 is fouled while tapping the ball, the goal will not count even if it enters the basket. A1 will get at least a 1 and 1 from the line.

Four Point Play — There's only one of these in basketball. Player A1 leaves his feet for a layup. While A1 is in the air, player B1 cuts underneath him in a "jackknife" move. If sunk, the basket is good and player A1 will be given two shots from the line. Reason? A player could be seriously injured if he's flipped, so the rules committee has made that jackknife foul an automatic two shooter.

By the way, a player who sinks a shot and is then fouled after the shot, and sinks a 1 and 1, has tallied four points but it's considered two plays. The try for goal was one play and the foul was a second play.

Out of Bounds — This can be tricky. Example: A1 throws a bad pass which hits B1 who is out of bounds. By the rules, B1 has "caused" the ball to go out of bounds so Team A will be given the ball for a throw-in.

Back to my first question: B1 (in high school and college) will begin the overtime period by shooting the technical. So the score after the fourth quarter will remain a tie and an overtime will be played.

Coming soon — Fouls, offensive and defensive. What to look for; what the refs look for.

Mike Kneeland is a member of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials (IAABO).

Notice

All Physical Education juniors who want to apply for student teaching first or second semester, 1975-1976 must attend a meeting on Monday, February 24 at 6:30 p.m. at NOPE.

OPEN RUSH

The Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon

invite all University men to come down and meet us to talk and find out what we're like.

If you have any questions or need a ride

call 545-0070

and ask for Pete Lowe.

After college, will you get the job you deserve?

Let's face it, things aren't equal in today's job market. Even with a college degree. But the Air Force has jobs that fit your college education, on an equal opportunity basis.

The Air Force is deeply involved to provide understanding for its people about the sensibilities and sensitivities of others. Doing its part to make things better. We're not perfect—yet. But brother, we are getting there.

There are many job opportunities open to you as an officer in the United States Air Force. You may consider being a pilot or navigator.

And don't forget the Air Force ROTC Scholarship Program. Scholarships that cover full tuition, reimbursement for textbooks, lab and incidental fees. Plus an allowance of $100 a month and flying lessons.

Apply, qualify, and enroll in Air Force ROTC at Air Force ROTC, Dickinson Hall, Univ. of Mass. Call 5-2437

Put It All Together in Air Force ROTC

CALL FOR RIDES

SORORITY RUSH SCHEDULE FOR TONIGHT

THURSDAY, FEB. 20th

Kappa Kappa Gamma 32 Nutting Ave. 50321 7 - 8 and 8:15 - 9:15

Chi Omega Fraternity/Sorority Park 52092 7 - 8 and 8:15 - 9:15

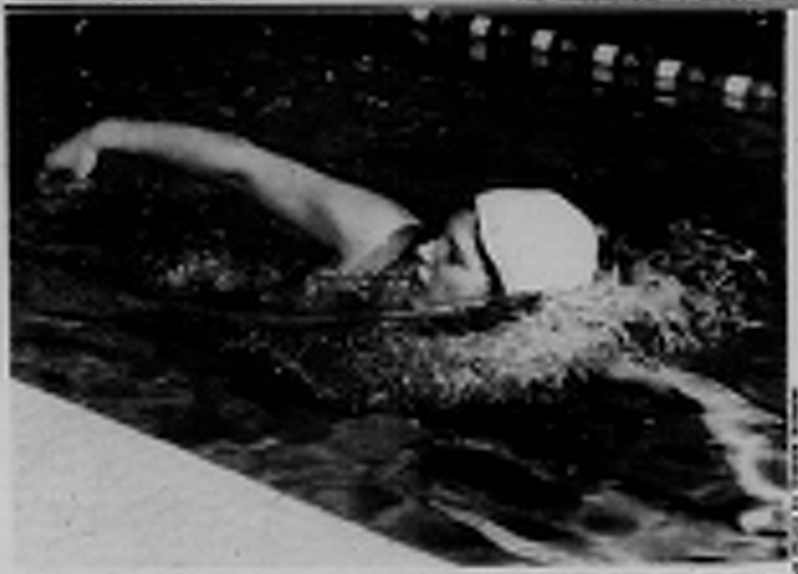
Sigma Sigma Sigma Fraternity/Sorority Park 253-9067 7 - and 8:15 - 9:15

Lambda Delta Phi 389 N. Pleasant 549-1319 7:30 - 9:00

Alpha Chi Omega Nutting Ave 52152 7 - 8

Sigma Kappa 19 Allen St. 52297 7 - 8

Iota Gamma Upsilon 406 N. Pleasant 50082 7 - 8



Staff Photo by [illegible]

Even though this Minutewoman swimmer is moving along quite well on the top of the water, her teammate's meet fell through like a stone. The women's swim meet with Rhode Island has been tentatively cancelled.

Women skiers glide

By WAYNE BEDELL

Last weekend the Women's Ski Team raced at Berkshire East and scored a decisive victory. They won the slalom on Saturday by ten seconds and the giant slalom on Sunday by nine seconds. Although no formal posting of results will occur at this time, the win definitely helps UMass in their standings with their two powerful contenders — Radcliffe and Boston University.

UMass dominated both races as all skiers finished in the top fifteen on both Saturday and Sunday. Martha Moran finished third in both the slalom and the giant slalom. Linda Pease placed fifth and Cathy Donovan placed fourth in the giant slalom on Sunday.

The Women's Ski Team seems to be a team of the future as four of the five "A" team members are freshwomen. Only the captain, Senior Jean Hayden, will not be returning.

Next weekend the skiers will be at Mittersill in Franconia, N.H. There are three more weekends leading up to the Can-Am in Maine.

Coach Marc Healy has worked the team from a relatively slow start up to last weekend's impressive victory. It could be a trend that could lead them to the championship which will be decided at Mittersill on the weekend of March 8 and 9.

Captain Jean Hayden had a bit of a problem at the race this weekend. First her skis were stolen before the race and then, after obtaining a new pair, she collided in a practice run and lost out an edge. Finally, after borrowing another pair, she finished high among the leaders on both days.

Bucks' Price needs fixing

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks said Wednesday that guard Jim Price will have to have surgery for a knee injury and will be lost to the team for the rest of the season.

Price, who came to the Bucks Nov. 10 in an seven-up trade for Lucius Allen with Los Angeles, has averaged almost 15 points a game for the Bucks this season and was among league leaders in free throw shooting, steals and assists.

"It's a real tragedy to have a player like Jimmy just when we need him most," said General Manager Wayne Embry. "We'll especially miss his court leadership and tremendous defensive ability. He gave us all he had, all the time."

Price injured his left knee when he fell in a Dec. 28 game against Buffalo and since it has bothered him. Fluid has been drained from the knee several times, and the Bucks say he will have to have surgery to correct a calcium buildup on the kneecap and a possible torn cartilage.

Russ Smith

Dribblings around campus

Having already written my first 'fool around' story for the Collegian, it's time to get down to some serious business; namely the intramural basketball season.

Exactly a week ago this upcoming Monday-Thursday day, I trucked down to Boyden Gym, to watch my first set of hoop games this semester.

I arrived at the complex at 8:30. Not knowing which games would make the best story and flipped a coin to see which of the six courts I'd temporarily live on. It came up tails, which as we all know, means court one. Now that the tough decision had been made, all I could hope for was some decent games.

I took in three games, with the best one being the middle one, so I'll tell you about that one, last.

The first game was something else...it was between two independent teams, the Skunks and the Bombers (already I envisioned the headlines I could make up: "Skunks spray Bombers", or "Bombers blast Skunks").

To say the least, this game was indeed different. It was a shootout. A new style of basketball. Take the ball down court and shoot. If it goes in, great — if it doesn't, run back and play defense; which you really didn't have to do because the other team was gonna shoot away too.

In the first half (fifteen minutes), both teams could be accused of taking some unbelievable shots, which would have been alright had they gone in (and some did, but most didn't). The Bombers threw up sixteen shots hitting on five (not bad). Meanwhile, the luckless Skunks tossed thirteen attempts toward the hoop, but only connected on two.

More of the same followed in the second half, and the Bombers ended up winning, 26-18.

The third game saw the McNamara Strikers control the Brown BOE [illegible] to the tune of 35-21, for their second straight victory. This one was never in doubt as the Strikers led at the half 20-8. The play of the game was a mid-air, between the legs, backwards pass (unbelievable). It didn't result in a basket, but it looked good.

The middle game had two fraternities, SOE and QBK, facing off against each other.

Now, these two teams played the best game I've seen in awhile. Both teams passed well, until they could get off a good shot that would pay off.

It was a close first half, which ended with QBK holding a four point lead at 20-16.

The second half started with QBK missing their first five shots, and SOE not able to close the gap much hitting on one of their first four. QBK came alive though, while SOE got hit with three consecutive three second calls.

But with 1:00 left to play, the score was tied at 28 each.

A pair of foul shots put SOE up by two. QBK came down court, killed a minute, shot, and scored, 30-30, and overtime.

Although QBK won the tap, SOE poured on the big DEFENSE, blocking two potential baskets and forcing one big turnover. In the end, they had a hard fought 36-32 victory. But credit should go to both teams; it was an exciting game!!

Garbage time: I actually had to miss the exciting (cough) UMass-UMaine game to watch these games...there are 218 mens teams, 48 womens teams, and 24 Co-rec teams in intramural basketball...the Fillies were the women's basketball champs last year...did you know that the UMass cops are human like us students? They lock their keys in their cars too (even with the car running)...

Bando loses arbitration to Finley

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley Wednesday won his salary arbitration battle with Sal Bando who may now also lose his job as team captain.

Bando, who had been described by Finley as the worst defensive third baseman in the American League, had sought a salary of $125,000 for the coming season while Finley offered $100,000.

LANDRY'S MARKET

The Oldest Grocery in Amherst

10% DISCOUNT ON ALL WINES

Prices Effective [illegible]

BUDWEISER, 12 oz. cans	[illegible] Case — [illegible] 6 Pak
[illegible] BEER, 12 oz. N.R.	[illegible] 6 Pak
GENESEE BEER, 12 oz.	[illegible] per case, [illegible] 6 pak
BALLANTINE ALE, 12 oz.	[illegible] per case, [illegible] 6 pak
ANNIE GREEN SPRINGS, Peach Creek WINE	[illegible] a fifth
Paul Masson VIN ROSE	[illegible] ½ gal.
FIRST PRIZE KIELBASA	[illegible] lb.
KRAKUS Imported BOILED HAM	[illegible] lb.
LAND O LAKES White American Cheese Sliced Fresh	[illegible] lb.
[illegible]	[illegible] lb.
BOTTOM ROUND & RUMP (Roast Beef)	[illegible] lb.
CUBE STEAKS (cut from round)	[illegible] lb.
LETTUCE	[illegible] per head
CELERY HEARTS (double bunch)	[illegible]
TEMPLE Oranges	[illegible] doz.
Vermont Fresh MILK	[illegible] ½ gal., [illegible] gal.
Cabot's Vermont Cheese (1 yr. old)	[illegible] lb.

Open 8-6, Mon.-Thurs.; 8-[illegible], Fri. & Sat. 10-3, Sun. (No Beer)

711 Main St. Amherst 253-5387

On the Belchertown Bus Route

AMERICAN PARTS

AUTO PARTS

MID WINTER SPECIALS GOOD TIL FEB. 28th

American Parts Weatherstripping $2.48

American Parts Jersey Gloves 99¢

American Parts LOCK DEFROSTER 41¢

COUPON GOOD FOR $1.00 OFF

CHECK YOUR WIPERS

EVERYTHING FOR ANY GASKET NEED

Fel-Pro GASKETS

"The best insurance against trouble on wheels"

ALLIED MOTOR PARTS

318 MAIN ST., AMHERST

This woman from "down under" goes up and over to block a shot. The UMass women's b-ball squad face Worcester State tonight at NOPE gym.

Swimmen swallow HC

By BOB HIGGINS

Joe Hebert and Ben Crocker set new school records as the UMass men's swim team evened their record at 4-4 with a 85¼-27¾ crushing of an undermanned squad from Holy Cross last night at the Boyden Pool.

The Crusaders, as expected, never gave the UMass swimmers a fight. The Minutemen won all but two events, despite the fact that Coach Bay Melamed did not use his best swimmers in many of the events.

Hebert, who just last Saturday broke a nine-year old UMass record in the 200-yard butterfly, stopped two-tenths of a second off that mark with a time of 2:16.2. Teammate Harry Blyden, not normally a butterfly man, took second with an excellent time of 2:20.4.

The Crocker story is getting monotonous. Ben [illegible]

[illegible]

The Minutemen started the meet by crushing the [illegible]

Other first-place finishers for UMass were Ross Yarworth in the 200-yard backstroke (2:18.6); Dave Boucher in the 200-yard breaststroke (2:23.5), and the 400 free relay team with a time of 3:29.3.

The next meet for the Minutemen will be tonight against Rhode Island (7:00, Boyden Pool). "URI is much improved over last year. We'll have to work hard to beat them," said Coach Bay Melamed. Last year UMass trounced the Rams, 75-36.

POOL PLUNGES . . . The Minutemen would like to take the URI meet tonight, since on Saturday they will travel to Storrs to take on UConn. The Huskies have a very strong team, and the Minutemen will be no match for the . . . After the UConn meet, the swimmen will have only two meets to prepare for the New Englands, March 6-8 at Brown . . . If they take URI tonight, and things go as expected at Storrs, they [illegible]

[illegible]

Bradshaw joins WFL

By CHAS O'CONNOR

Tom Bradshaw, a defensive standout for three years on the Minutemen football team, has signed a contract with the Memphis team of the World Football League. [illegible]

[illegible]

The Minuteman swim team breezed past the Crusaders of Holy Cross last night at Boyden Pool. Pictured above is co-captain Joe Hebert during his record-setting swim in the 200-yard butterfly. Below is an underwater shot of a UMass swimmer taking the plunge into the Boyden waters. Things won't be as easy tonight when UMass takes on Rhode Island.

Women get breather

By CHAS O'CONNOR

The UMass women's basketball team, sporting a 5-1 record, will take the court at NOPE tonight in a 7:00 encounter with Worcester State.

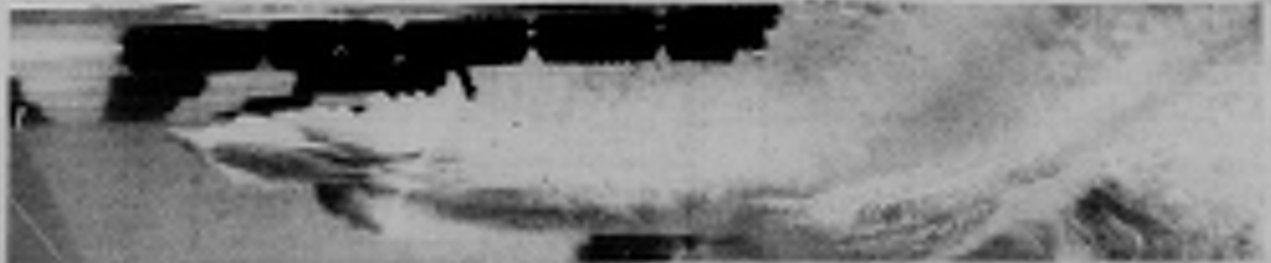
[illegible]

Gymwomen at Salem

By BILL DOYLE

It's back to reality for the UMass women's gymnastics team. [illegible]

[illegible]



Inside: Three Virgins, interface boogie Finneran's rainbow,

It's a big tease

BELOW the SALT

Volume Three, Issue Four recyclable 20 February 1975

Cold Walls and Warm Sound

by [illegible]

Sound Transplantation: a sculpture by Robert C. Morgan architecture as frozen music

[illegible]

[illegible]

—30—

Five College Art Symposium — see p. 11

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

BY: Luis Manuel Medina

Photography by: Bill Howell

Geoffry Kurinsky—Former Business Manager and Sports Reporter

I think it could be advantageous if the Collegian become financially independent, ran itself without any subsidy. (Student money). As far as the editorials go, I never want to see the paper to cater to anybody but students. And students should have total say about what goes in the paper. Any student should have access to the paper.

I think this is very important that any newspaper be free from political control and to be objective, the biases should be kept at a minimun with the exception of the editorial pages, where the newspaper must be responsible for its stands on an issue. Newspapers should have the right not to issue their sources.

Kris Jackson—Cartoonist and Author of 'Kampus Kapers'

Complete freedom, anything except libel. Somebody could be sued for libel, but should not be stopped for printing it, in the first place. I think we need a Shield-Law.

B. J. Roche - Collegian's Executive Editor. (Former stringer for New England Yankee Pedlar.)

Editorial pages should take definite stands and act as an outlet for the voices of the students. They should provide a forum for people to exchange ideas, and have the responsibility to present the issues to students. I think that the editorial pages are going to be very important in the next months because students must become aware of pros and cons of administrative programs which involves fees increases, and things that directly affect them.

I think Freedom of the Press is a responsibility to the readers to present responsible and accurate news stories, and a lot of varying ideas, generally making them aware of things which are not within their own worlds.

Freedom of the Press Congratulations to: Claridad for becoming a daily newspaper. Amherst Record for the four awards won in the New England Press. Holyoke Transcrit Telegram for the grants given to the Easy Identification Program at Hampshire College. El Mundo for keeping in business. Valley Advocate for keeping moving.

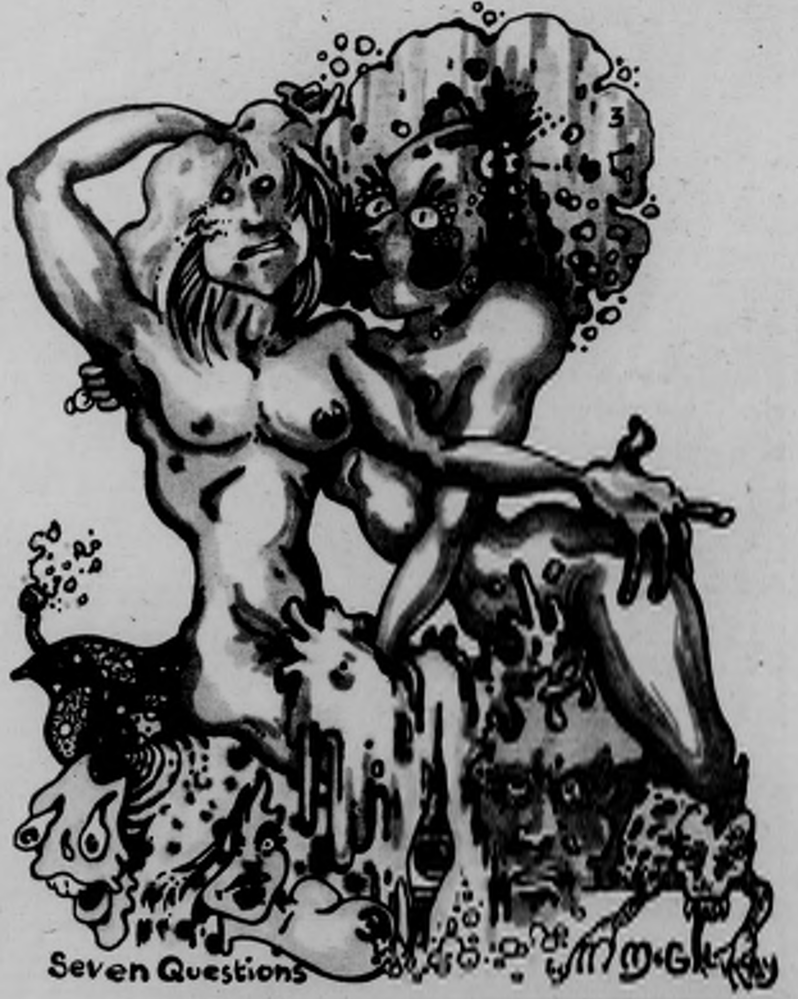
FREEDOM OF THE PRESS CONGRATULATIONS TO THE FOLLOWING MASSCOMM PEOPLE: Denny Matteu, Densmore, Kneeland.-Who's Who?. Tyla Michelove, B.J. Roche, Cindy A. Rogers, Linda Matys, Jonathan Newman (Hampshire Gazette). Alana Hoffman, (Lantern's Art Editor)....Howard Ziff....John Barn....Hector L. Colon, (Short stories)......Ralph Whitehead....Angel Garcia...(Articles)......Santos De La Paz, (LAP)....C. Pulatti, (Long Live to Canada), Alfredo Gonzalez...Alberto Vasollo....Hector Gonzalez.....Beverly Diller......Mark .Diaz.....Roland Manteiga....Ann Rustebakke....Rudy Rodriguez.....and on campus for those writing for the Collegian, Below The Salt and Eco Latino.....Morales, Mojica, Martinez, Segarra, Ortiz, Gonzalez, Rivera, Etc., Etc.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS DISLIKE SECTION

To the American Press which ignores Spanish Speaking issues.

To Miguel Rivera, a teacher and a member of an administrative program on campus for his interferences with the undergraduate student FREE press.

Sonia Vivas and Julie Torres, (center), directors of QUE TAL AMIGOS?, one of the leading educational Spanish radio programs in Eastern United States. QUE TAL AMIGOS? is broadcast every evening by WFCR. Reporter Luis Medina was interviewed about Freedom of the Press among the Spanish Speaking in New England and Puerto Rico.



Below the Salt
Volume Three Issue Four
20 February 1975

DO YOUR DO

The Below The Salt team,
Go To it!
The Below The Salt team,
Go to it!

Are they good?
They are good!
Are they great?
They are the greatest!

Ta te hao
Ta te miao,
Ta Te kuang
Kuang chalo!

They write well,
They write great,
They write brilliantly!

Below The Salt is a weekly fine art/real world magazine of the UMass Daily Collegian, student newspaper, Amherst, Mass.

Editor
Tyla L. Michelove

Assistant Editor and Head
Andrew MacKenzie

Assistant Editor and Music
Michael C. Kostek II

Artful Dodging
Gina Starodoj

Eating Out
[illegible]

Books
Ed Smith

Film
Jeffrey Polman

Existential Editor
E. Patrick McQuaid

Sex and Violence
[illegible]
Dan McGillivray

Photography Coordination
Bill Howell

Dance
[illegible]
Maria Richmond

Theatre
Politics
Your Name Here

Invalid
Stuart Sojcher
Nancy Nash
Pepper
Daniel Finneran
Dennis Quill
Darby Drake
R.H. Cobbell
David Miller
Ed Fleisher
Sue Cote
Bob Lamoran
Jack Cahill
Craig Shepard
Craig Roche
David O.A. Santos
Dennis Foley
Bob Salvucci
Doja
Luis Medina
David O. Sokol

SUNSHINE RECORDS
ALBUMS
ALL SINGLE LATEST RELEASES
$4.17 each
TOP ARTISTS
No. 4 E. Pleasant St.
AMHERST
(3 doors from the Pub)
549-2830

CHARTERS
CALIFORNIA — $199
EUROPE — $299
CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
3rd Level Campus Center 545-0500

another look at books

The Convertable Ashtray

THE CONVERTIBLE ASHTRAY
By J.W. Wyknott

HOLT, RINEHART, WINSTON, MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE,
FENNER, SMITH, SACCO, VANZETTI, GROUCHO, HARPO,
CHICO, AND SOMETIMES
ZEPPO

389pp
$1.25

reviewed
By Daniel Finneran

The publication of Wyknott's latest book is a landmark in the world of poetry, as well as being an important step in the intellectual growth of Wyknott himself. Unlike his first two books — Don't Talk to Me My Feet Hurt and Ducks, Ducks, and More Ducks — The Convertible Ashtray is not concerned with any single theme. Those who read his first two books will recall the Wyknott's preoccupations in them were respectively, the lack of communication among the dead and the relationship between the individual and his or her face. However, the themes in this new book range from the andante cantabile to Tchaikovsky's fifth symphony to the socio-economic implications involved when dwarfs mate.

If you can say I love you without moving your lips then you win what's behind door number three

So begins the first poem in this book. Entitled "How can you love me when I've glued your mouth shut?", it is one of the very few completely original love poems that this critic has ever read. Written as a series of seemingly minor incidents in the lives of two lovers, the conflict grows until the boy is unable to understand why the girl will not donate her feet so that his dog might walk again. She finally leaves him, and in the last four lines Wyknott creates for the reader the emotions felt when one is rejected by the one you love:

over
'he has her now.
I only have socks.
My face's asleep and I want a sandwich —

It is certainly one of the most heartbreaking poems I have ever read.

In one poem Wyknott deals tenderly with the problems of self-inflicted wounds. The ordeal that two newlyweds face trying to housebreak their in-laws is probed in another poem. "Red Lights" tells of the difficulties that madams have trying to keep hands off of the merchandise. And in a poem that I think is quite profound, Wyknott presents the tale of a man whose life is drastically changed when a renegade plastic surgeon rearranges the man's facial structure. There are many other poems, similar only because of Wyknott's quaint habit of using words when writing. In all his poems we are shown what it is like to see the world between phone calls. This book, even more than his first two, demonstrates Wyknott's complete mastery of the rechargeable electric razor. His sense of the tragic is second only to that of Jack Baily's, as evidenced in the poem "Freeway to Eternity: Food and Rest Next Exit." It tells of a hunchback who yearns to be the straightman in a comedy team.

Though all the poems are well worth reading, there are two that deserve special attention. The first, "care and feeding of a tooth-brush" is a moving lyric about the growing pains of a boy forced to wear jocky shorts that are two sizes to small. The title comes from a line in the poem in which after his first sexual encounter Eddie asks:

alright? did I hurt you?
was it ok?
she sighs —
yes like a butterfly shooting craps
or the care and feeding of a toothbrush.

It is a touching scene that brings back memories of my own youth. The poem ends with Eddie's death, and with the suggestion that he will be buried.

"The Convertible Ashtray" is the second poem demanding added attention. It is the only political poem in the book, and one of the few that Wyknott has written. It would be useless to try and describe the poem or its theme, instead I will give a selection which should show the nature of the poem.

This is a political poem filled with voting booth and candidates,
of men without legs running fast:
of hatless rings and campaign posters dipped in white sauce.
And at the end:
if I could find a Willkie button —
I could stop thinking.
buy a Volvo and go away...

It is a beautiful and brilliant poem! By utilizing words of a political nature and those words found on pages 210 and 211 of The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, Wyknott creates the clearest image of the political and electrical machines that exist in America today. Superbly constructed, the poem is an indictment of a society that refuses to hold the mayo on the BLT sandwich of life.

On the whole, Wyknott is unconcerned with the so called establishment poetry. Feeling that the best way to write poetry is with a pen, Wyknott says: "I grew up constantly being told to tie my shoes. Well sir, when I did grow up I just wore socks." Though some feel that Wyknott uses too many letters; his impression of Kenneth Tobey is among the best, while his Patricia Neal is not bad either. Regardless, J.W. Wyknott remains one of the two or three poets whose name ends with double "t's".

A lot of shotguns have come and gone over the years and every one made some kind of impression, the only regret is that I can't own more or find a way to hunt with more than one at a time.

"The truth was doomed to die. It was being downtrodden, was being drowned, burned, ground to ashes. But look — it has survived, it lives, it has been printed, and nobody ever will be able to wipe it out."

Below The Salt has been the kind of magazine that would print peculiar work. We pledge to uphold this tradition, but can't promise everybody's peculiar work will fit. Your's must be typed, doublespaced, at sixty spaces to the line. The deadline for each Thursday's edition is noon the previous Tuesday; but you can write to us anytime.

social stall

Fond memories "D"

Remember getting that invitation to a party over semester break? It's really simple and wants to get together the old gang from [illegible] High. You go out and spend more money on one long Indian or 30's style dress than you have spent on clothes in your entire time in college, you have to show the old gang how far you've gone in these few years. You get there and know that the old gang doesn't usually dress this way but have just spent every cent left from summer work on [illegible] clothes.

There is the usual cast of characters. Among them is the actress who changed her major to [illegible]

[illegible]

Rusty is there looking down his nose at you for going to such a plebian school. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

— Pepper

YE CURLING IRON
FOR GUYS & GALS
TRIANGLE ST. - 549-1912

university of massachusetts arts council
presents
The Hartford Ballet
Fri. February 21 8pm
&
Sat. February 22 8pm 1975
Bowker Auditorium
TICKETS: [illegible]
ON SALE [illegible] HERTER HALL, U MASS, AMHERST

Appearing
Fri. - Sun.
FAT
at Rusty
Nail
Inn
Rte. 116 Sunderland
665-4937

bookspel

The Big One: Two Perspectives

ADOLPH HITLER AND THE GERMAN TRAUMA 1913-1945
by Robert Edwin Herzstein
Capricorn Books, New York
G.P. Putnam's Sons, New York
reviewed by [illegible]

. . . and he's [illegible]

[illegible]

This book is available at the University Store.

Ben Israel by Arthur Katz with Jamie Buckingham reviewed by [illegible]

[illegible]

Mon.-Fri. 10-9
Sat. 10-6
THE LODGE
Rt. 9 — Russell St.
Hadley
next to McDonald's

Crotched Mountain Ski Area

[illegible]

film

The Towering Inferno
Produced by Irwin Allen
Starring (among others): Steve McQueen, Richard Chamberlain, Paul Newman, Faye Dunaway, William Holden, Fred Astaire

Irwin Gets the Hots

reviewed by [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Art Shop
CREATIVITY begins with quality art supplies

art

A Lesson in Graphics

Techniques of Printmaking
Smith College Museum of Art
Through March [illegible]

by [illegible]

[illegible]

Program Council Music Committee
presents
Peter Frampton

[illegible]

Spanning the medieval fountainhead

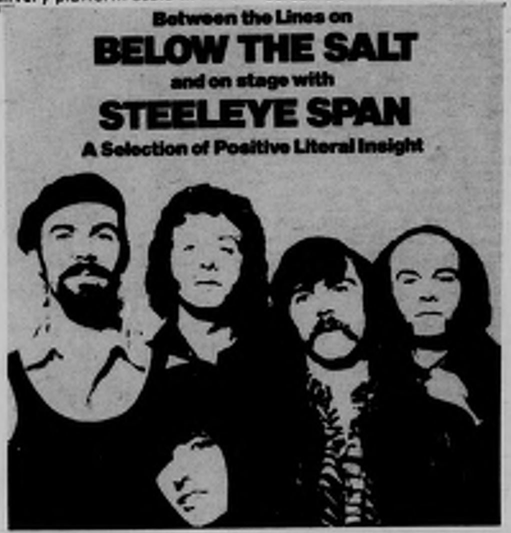
by Dennis Foley

Steeleye Span, the British folk—rock group whose album Below the Salt provides this publication with a name and some traditional lore, completed a recent tour with a concert in Dublin's National Stadium. It was an exciting electrical assault on the senses and emotions. They included in their show everything from bawdy humor to pathos to the power of electric rock.

Their set opened with a five minute color movie entitled "The Bold Poachers". Set in the English countryside of 1830, it was an enactment of a ballad by the same name which served as the audio. The understated presentation of tragedy characteristic of this tradition as superbly interpreted by Steeleye Span cast an eerie sadness on the film, and the audience was moved.

Thus prepared, the group came bounding on stage to slip into a hard-driving number before the applause had died. The center of attraction and last to make an entrance was, of course, Maddy Prior, the female lead singer. She showed herself to be the mistress of stage presence. She knows well how to capture an audience with movement, sometimes as energetic as her dancing, sometimes as subtle as a twist of her shoulders, yet always enticingly fascinating.

Everything done on stage is calculated for effect, yet this does not subtract from the impact of the group. Tim Hart, co-founder (with Maddy Prior), kept stamping his silvery platform boots in time.



Rick Kemp danced about with his electric bass performing poses in time with the beat like some of the British pop groups. He was certainly not as serious as groups like Gary Glitter and the Glitter Band are in touting their histrionics. Gary Glitter looks like he is pushing forty and seems to be in it only for the glitter of the pounds in Stirling that accompany the screams of the twelve year old girls — but that is another story.

Steeleye Span's sound, although it remains distinctly their own, can be compared to Fairport Convention when Sandy Denny sings with them, and less accurately to the late and lamented Pentangle. In concert the fare was heartily served with plenty of full medieval harmony. Often five of them would sing ensemble, although it must have been four part harmony. The quality of this ensemble is the real basis of their music and I must admit that I found the imposition of a layer of brazen rock chords somewhat distracting at times. This may simply have been due to excessive volume, as the a capella verses contrasted to reveal the beauty of their ensemble. As such it is easily corrected, and does not represent an inherent flaw.

Textually and melodically their songs are of course variants of well known English and Scottish ballads classified by Francis James Child in the late 1800's. Harmonically and rhymically (in short in their arrangement) the songs are versions of folksong — versions because of the electrical elements of rock and the presence of harmony. Neither of these are found in traditional ballad performance. Notable among the songs were "Thomas the Rhythmer" ("The fairy queen is a far more interesting character than Thomas himself." — Maddy Prior), "Sir Hugh", and a variant of "Lamkin" called "Long Langkin." ("Beware of Long Langkin who lives in the wood".)

In the midst of all of this song we were treated to a Mummers play, as delightfully bawdy with cavorting obscenity as might be expected. It afforded a nice break from the music without leaving the British tradition. A nice touch indeed.

One cannot escape the surmise that this is performance without a full appreciation of the folklore within the songs. Nevertheless it is performance that introduces the realm of traditional British folksong to thousands who would otherwise remain untouched by its fascination. Some would argue that this is popularization at the price of prostituting an art; or worse, at the price of the destruction of tradition. I cannot agree, since it was popular versions of folksong that were my impetus and introduction to folklore.

So to those who may enjoy the queer and quaint lyrics of Steeleye Span, their artful rhythms and moving harmonies, know ye that there is much more that meets the ear, and that is saying a lot.

Dennis Foley is a UMass senior on exchange for a year in Dublin, Ireland.

Woodi Ishmael – the only name that rang true

Refusized
RUFUS
[illegible]

[illegible]

—Craig Roche and Bob [illegible]

[illegible]

sensory effect. Sayer is no heavyweight, at least not yet, but he has something to say and [illegible]

—Craig Roche

Ashton and Graham Deakin who spiffed up the previous John Entwistle's Rigor Mortis Sets In, are disappointingly timid.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Red Queen To Gryphon Three
GRYPHON
Bell Records
[illegible]

[illegible]

BABE RUTH
[illegible]

[illegible]

Virgin on the ridiculous

By Your Sacred Cowboy

Rock Bottom
Robert Wyatt
(Virgin VR 13-112)
playing Time: 39-25

You
Gong
(Virgin VR 13-12)
Playing Time: 44: 19

Star's End
David Bedford
(Virgin VR 13-114)
Playing Time: 45:44

It seems the British plot to subvert and destroy the sanity of young people everywhere continues to flourish; the very existance of Virgin, a label devoted to recording nutz like those listed above and others like them, to say nothing of the apparent commercial success of said label, is an indicator of how near to the failsafe point we must be. Tubular Bells tolled our destiny—it's only a matter of time before our brains get sucked out through our headphones and nothing is left but these kooks cackling in the voids of our collective cranial cavities.

Certainly one of the central figures in this whole English nut-rock syndrome is Robert Wyatt; Wyatt was a co-founder of a prototype nut-band, the Soft Machine, in 1967. The Soft's music was actually serious in terms of composition, that is, well thought out, semi-jazz semi-rock oriented, but definitely on the experimental side. But they took great pains to be silly whenever possible, either in the philosophical muddling meanderings of their lyrics, when they used them, or in the titles of their works, a la Erik Satie. Pretend it's 1968: you're [illegible]

However, by the time they had finished their fourth album [illegible] the more inventive bands around, drummer-vocalist Wyatt decided that they had become too structured for his tastes and left to form a band of his own called Matching Mole (a mutilation of the French for 'soft machine'). They made two exceedingly crazy and wonderful albums, of which only the second, Matching Mole's Little Red Record, was released in the U.S. (An interesting side note: the Little Red Record was produced by ex-king Crimson leader Robert Fripp and featured ex-Roxy Musix Brian Eno).

The original Dead End kid. Well, Wyatt would have thought it was funny.

Wyatt disbanded the group after the second album, and was on the verge of re-forming the band when, in 1973, he fell out of a window, resulting in an apparently permanent waist-down paralysis. Not much fun [illegible]

Anyway, it was during his convalescence that he composed the majority of the material on Rock Bottom. This album is something different for Wyatt, a reflection, no doubt, of his sudden change of fortunes; the sensitivity and gentleness that was only rarely glimpsed before comes to the surface here, his rough voice takes on a genuine tenderness. This is an album about Robert Wyatt, and while not autobiographical and chest-baring like John Lennon's first solo album, there is a similarity between them in the feeling of bringing all of one's talents to bear on capturing in music that essence which is not only that person but that person in relation to the world as he sees it.

Of course, humor is still a big part of Wyatt and so this album is full of odd touches like the middle part of "Little Red Riding Hood Hit the Road", where most of the tracks begin to go backwards but are edited so smoothly and produced so well that the listener probably won't notice unless trying to follow the words. But despite the impressive production by ex-Pink Floyd Nick Mason, [illegible]

Thank you, Robert Wyatt. "Your madness fits in nicely with my own."

Gong's You-topian fantasy.

And speaking of madmen, here are some friends of Mr. Wyatt's who, in the words of someone from whom I don't mind stealing, are not so much a band as an attitude (altitude?) What is the sound of one hand clapping in 7-8 time? Zen-rock? I don't believe I've ever heard a group so serious about being silly in a meaningful way as Gong is. Their albums are carefully thought out, spaced-out, educational cartoons for your ears and I's.

Musically they are very much into playing with harmonics (No, not harmonicas), particularly in setting up ever-changing zizzy electronic textures and using them as both ground and backdrop for jazz-ish inventions and improvisations (featuring Steve Hillage on lewd guitar and the ever-popular Bloomdido Glad de Brass on reeds and winds), interpolated with rhymes, space-whispers, and [illegible]

This album, along with Wyatt's, is already on my best of [illegible] list. [illegible]

Finally, an album which, while not entirely successful, deserves special mention for being so much more successful than any of its predecessors in the genre. The genre under discussion is that which seeks to combine electric music (read 'rock instruments') with orchestral; almost yearly there is an attempt by some big rock name or other who should know better, such as the Moody Blues, Procol Harum, John McLaughlin, and the Electric Light Orchestra. These have consistently been disasters smothered in their own pretensions, with the exception of the Nice's "Brandenburger", which succeeded by not taking itself seriously.

Star's End is successful, by and large, because its approach is different, seeking to bring electric music (in this case the guitar and bass work of Mike Oldfield) into orchestral (the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Vernon Handley), rather than the other way around. Thus, rather than simply laying down the electric tracks and putting in the arrangements behind them, as has always been done in the past, the guitar, while still largely a solo instrument, is an integrated part of the orchestra and the composition, is not allowed to dominate, and in fact is not even heard in many portions of the piece. Yet the guitar is played like a guitar, an instrument of the gut as well as heart and mind, and it is this, the actual working fusion of these two heretofore unblendable sounds, that make this album outstanding. The [illegible]

singing ink

Antoinette Bosco – the only name that rang true

[illegible]

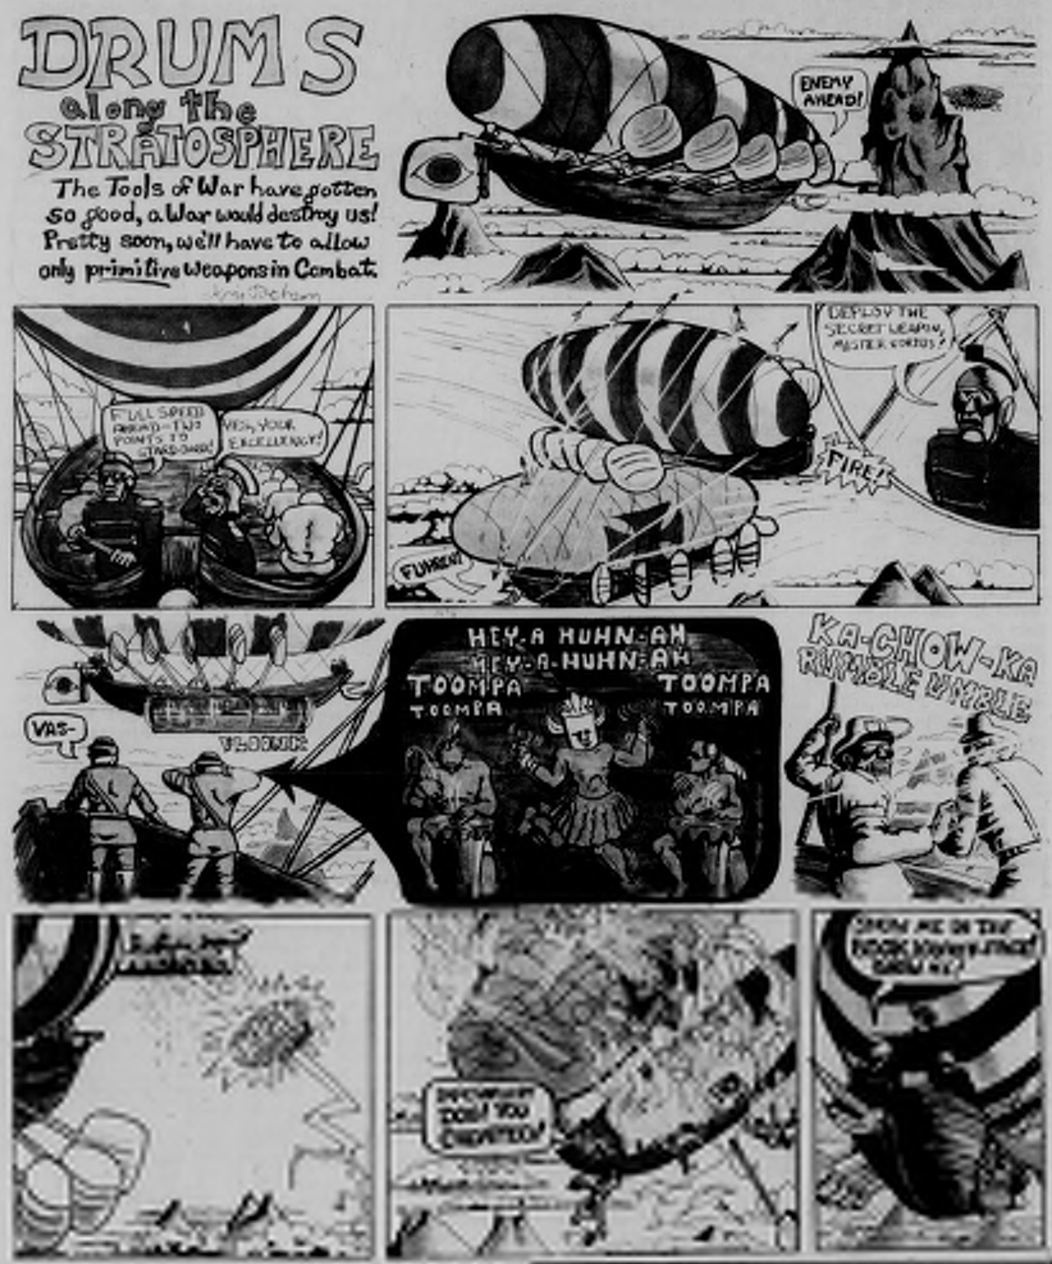
[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

a page of thought *

Who cares what's fair?



DRUMS along the STRATOSPHERE
The Tools of War have gotten so good, a War would destroy us! Pretty soon, we'll have to allow only primitive weapons in Combat.
ENEMY AHEAD!
FULL SPEED AHEAD—TWO POINTS TO STARBOARD!
YES, YOUR EXCELLENCY!
DEPLOY THE SECRET WEAPON, MISTER KORTUS!
FIRE!
FUHEEN!
VAS-
HEY-A HUHN-AH
HEY-A-HUHN-AH
TOOMPA TOOMPA
TOOMPA TOOMPA
KA-CHOW-KA RUMBLE UMBLE

*

hang 25
A decision has been reached
Recently
By twelve persons in a court
Of Law.
Ten Catholics and two protestants
A jury of twelve they say
Nine men, three women preserving justice
All white.
The defendant a black man mulatto uppity nigger
Thirty-six years old.
Doctor...convicted of Manslaughter.
Victim black, male fetus of Young black woman (a minor)
Unmarried, of course. Poor.
Doctor will appeal
Prosecution is pro-life
And what I want to know is,
Was the doctor trying to save us from a child,
Or a child from us?

Corbett

*

points of interest.

points of interest stand beside the bank intown i saw you half way between the pinkdress in the window and reality.
someday i'd love to buy you that dress
then take you dancing not fast but close.
  we could hold eachother and whispersweetthoughts.

Darby (Drake)

[illegible] Jan

Quicksilver
presents
THURS. 2 - 20
FRI. 2 - 21
SAT. 2 - 22
Steppin Out
STOP IN FOR HAPPY HOUR
4 - 7 Daily
Draught 25¢
Mixed 55¢
11 No. Pleasant
Amherst

TAKE IT EASY BABY
Inventory Sale
20% Off
Everything
FREE WORK SHIRT
with any purchase of $10.00 or more
Jeans — Reindeer Sweaters
Leather Jackets — Cowboy Shirts
Many More Items
Located at: [illegible] TRIANGLE STREET
Amherst, Mass. 01002
[illegible]

There IS a difference!!!
PREPARE FOR:
MCAT
DAT
LSAT
GRE
ATGSB
OCAT
CPAT
FLEX
ECFMG
NAT'L MED BDS
[illegible]
1-413-[illegible]
Boston 617-26[illegible]-5150
35 Huntington Ave.
Stanley H. KAPLAN
[illegible]

---

theatre

As you like it

AS YOU LIKE IT
By William Shakespeare
Directed
By Edward Berkeley
Studio 75
reviewed
By Maria Richmond

The staging of As You Like It is very impressive. It is done in traditional Shakespearian style, which has become a rather rare occurance. The cast, for the most part, and the director obviously see traditional Shakespeare as a very heavy undertaking. Shakespeare did write comedies that were meant to be taken lightly, and As You Like It is one of these. The lightness was missing in too many of the characters.

Susan Sweeney in the part of Rosalind shone, as Rosalind well should. Her sensitivity for the part was extrodinary particularly in places where she received little support from the other characters on stage. Rosalind's transformation into a young boy is carried off well and very believably. The lady deserves a lot of credit for this performance. Unfortunately, Jeff Nichols in the part of Orlando gives her little to play off of. Orlando is seen a oafish and tragic. Wherehe is in agony for love of Rosalind, he appears in just plain agony. His musings just dragged.

The other sets of lovers carried their parts well, if not terribly remarkably. Tom Keegan, as Silvius, and Veronica Lewis, as his love Phebe, saved some dull moments in the second act. Ms. Lewis along with Anne Davis as Audrey, are probably the strongest secondary characters in the play. Both women give their roles great humor as well as sympathy.

From left to right — Barbara Schlichte as Celia and Susan Sweeny as Rosalind.

Jaques is one of the hardest parts in theatre. After all, he must say the seven ages of man speech knowing that the entire audience is mumbling it under their breath along with him. Michael Guido handled the speech and the part with the reserve it requires. He was melancholy, but not maudlin, cynical, but not bitter, superb handling of a most difficult character.

The costuming is gaudy. Perhaps the overdone court clothes would do better in a procenium setting where the audience is not as close to the actors as in this studio production.

The set is an interesting pattern of cirices on many different levels. It is very pleasing to the eye, but not terribly practical, as performers in long costumes fell on stairs and got caught on props. More of the actors' energy could be devoted to what they are doing if the set designer had taken the costumes and pace of the play into account.

These are rough edges in As You Like It, but with two more weeks in its run, they should be smoothed out. There are very dull moments, but there are also beautiful touches, as when the messenger from the duke descends in a balloon. Not a bad way to spend an evening.

double vision dance

Densmore and Williams on Tap conceptual tap dance by densmore and williams —

feb. 14, 1975 student union gallery

Omiduck, I have dropped all of the papers. Here we have been myselves all firm and statuesque, doing efficiency and a lot of bell ringing, and what are my reward? No roasts for weary, I have dropped all of the papers. We enter our notion's kapital — Whitmore, D.C. — tap dancing down the corridors of power and holding myself as erect as I can, in imitation of the ones I work for, the bells in my head externalized on top of my head. Frustrations mount and I tap in circles, young people turning against other young people — like the man throwing his [illegible]

[illegible]

—David Miller

~~~~~

[illegible]

[illegible]

Inspiration for the tap dance came to Ms. Densmore directly through her job as one of the secretaries in the Art Office. The constantly ringing bells, mountains of meaningless papers to be organized, stapled, distributed, collected, shuffled, sorted, the miles of bureaucratic and abundant ticker-tape, fistfulls of confetti-like computer punched holes, the monotonously even rhythm and worn patterns which a person in such a "working situation finds themself treading and retreading multipletimes a day (and we think we have it bad as students, who only have to visit these holes of [illegible] a few times a semester!) — all of this was brought directly to the foreground [illegible] through one of the most "nostalgic" forms of dance.

The audience response was warm and very enthusiastic. It was plain to see that they wanted more. After the number, many people expressed a sincere desire to take up tap dancing.

As things stand now, however, tap dancing will be impossible to take here at the university — at least if its to be done through the School of Physical Education's Dance Division. Until the division becomes a department and is allocated funding for more rooms, faculty members, and accompanyists, dance classes will continue to be always over-subscribed and there will be little or no chance of ever seeing tap offered in those well thumbed schedule books.

However, for those who are persistent and wide awake to the marvelous benefits of colloquia programs, there is usually something going on somewhere, either in Sylvan or in Northeast, in tap. Ballet, Jazz, Modern and Social Dance are also very well attended classes frequently offered in all of the five living areas.

But back to the performance. Despite lack of motivation to perform up to par on the part of the tape recorder, the dance was excellent, both as a social comment and as a pure art form!

Their technique was precise and swing, yet they were so obviously at home performing it that it wouldn't surprise me should I drop by the Art Department Office and see Ms. Densmore tapping around it, as frazzled and harried as the character she brought to life Friday night.

—Susan Deskocil

A WORLD OF T-SHIRTS
from
THE COVER UP
"The T-Shirt Shop"
ORIGINALLY DESIGNED · SILK SCREENED
T-SHIRTS & SWEAT SHIRTS
IN ALL SIZES & COLORS
[illegible]

St. Regis Restaurant
HOMESTYLE FOOD QUALITY SERVICE
Breakfast served at all hours
Breakfast Special:
Country-Style
BROWN CORN BEEF HASH
Served with 2 eggs any style
Home Fries Buttered Toast, Coffee
$1.95
[illegible]
Serving Bagels with Cream Cheese
• Specialties of the House
CANADIAN MEAT PIE
CHICKEN PIE
BEEF STEAK PIE
BAKED BEANS (Boston Style)
ALL HOMEMADE!
[illegible]
[illegible] Pleasant St., Northampton
Food for a King that a Knave can afford university of massachusetts

arts council
presents
5x2 Dance Company
"A CAPTIVATING PROGRAM"
TUESDAY, MARCH 4
8P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Anthony Newman
"MASTER OF THE HARPSICHORD"
FRIDAY, MARCH 7
8P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $4&3 general $2&1.50 umass students
ON SALE [illegible] HERTER HALL, U MASS AMHERST [illegible]
~~~~~

HERD AT MONTREUX — WOODY HERMAN (Fantasy)

POTPOURRI — THAD JONES — Mel Lewis Orchestra (Philly Int.)

[illegible]

"Blues in a Minute" [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] —Greg [illegible]

film times

[illegible]

CLOCKWORK ORANGE
Friday
FEB 21 CCA
6:30, 9:00, & 11:30
75¢

[illegible]
Cinema
WALT DISNEY
THE STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD
Bargain Mat. [illegible]

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR DEAN MARTIN
MR. RICCO
TOTALLY DELIGHTFUL
LE SEX SHOP
WALT DISNEY
SUPERDAD
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
1
2
3
4

Showplace
EVES. 7:00 - 9:15
Sat.-Sun. Mat. 2:00 p.m.
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"
SORRY NO BARGAIN NITES

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
"Cinematically smashing!"
FEDERICO FELLINI
THE CLOWNS

AMHERST Cinema
OLIVER REED
VANESSA REDGRAVE
THE DEVILS
The Damned

CALVIN Theatre
THE ODESSA FILE

SPECIAL ENGAGEMENT
Last Tango in Paris
United Artists
AL PACINO
"SERPICO"
Thursday, Feb. 20
7 & 10 $1 SUB
Sunday, Feb. 23
7, 9, & 11 75¢ SUB

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN
EARTHQUAKE
MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
THE TOWERING INFERNO
The Godfather PART II

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
NOW PLAYING!
"MADDER, FUNNIER, MORE INSPIRED THAN ANYTHING BEING DONE IN MOVIES TODAY"
"I WOULD HAVE TALKED ABOUT IT YESTERDAY, BUT I WAS LAUGHING TOO MUCH"
YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN

Area alternatives – it beats TV

Arts

ART
FIVE COLLEGE AND AREA EXHIBITS

[illegible]

Dances

FIVE COLLEGE AREA DANCE PERFORMANCES

[illegible]

PARTICIPATORY

[illegible]

Theatres

LOCAL THEATRE

As You Like It, [illegible]

The Little Foxes, [illegible]

A Raisin in the Sun, The Hartford Stage Company, Hartford, Conn. [illegible]

Experimental Theatre, Fine Arts Complex, Thursdays at [illegible]

Other Voices: The Arts and San Francisco 1945-1965

Friday, February 28

[illegible]

Wednesday, March 5

[illegible]

Thursday, March 13

[illegible]

The red Pantry playroom
[illegible]

CARLO of Naples State Street, Northampton
[illegible]
Our menu consists of 62 items (Italian Food only) and an average spending of $2.25
Your Host, Carlo, is a special student at UMass

Now appearing at the
THE STEAK OUT
FOREST
Happy [illegible]

Sunday Feature
Hot Dog and Soda — 29¢
[illegible]

Fixin to be gripped

By Jeffrey Polman

RATINGS

++++prime rib
+++¼ pounder with cheese
++Hamburger Helper
+dog food

A CLOCKWORK ORANGE+++
Stanley Kubrick's horrorshow flick about a young droog who takes great pleasure in tolchocking prestootnicks and going down for the old in-out, until the millicents toss him in the staja for snuffing a devotchka. A government plarr to re-work his gulliver fails, and the malchick serves as tool for political warfare. Smashing disguises, sets, music (with reminiscents of the old Ludwig Van) and totally worth viddying. Righty right. (C.C.A., 2-21, 6:30, 9, 11:30).

THE CLOWNS+++
Not one of Fellini's best, but still very appealing to most audiences. Fine costumes and cimematography. (Academy of Music).

THE DAMNED++++
Luchano Visconti's Italian film (was there every any doubt?) about Nazi Germany during its pre-war years and the personal struggles within a wealthy industrial family. Includes some weird, unnerving scenes depicting violence, perversion, etc., resulting in one of the finest, darkest trips through madness ever put on film. (except for Ken Russell's the Devils, the movie it's billed with at the Amherst Cinema.)

FREEBIE AND THE BEAN++
Starring Alan Arkin and James Caan. It stinks. (Mountain Farms Four).

THE DEVILS+++
Surely one of the stranger, more unsettling films to be released in the last five years. Directed by Ken Russell (Women in Love), it deals with evil possession among a group of French nuns and how it interacts with the battle between church and state. Chock full of macabre torture, anti-religious blasphemies, and overall weirdness; but those who aren't fairies might want to marvel at the spectacular sets, costumes, and a brilliant knack for capturing insanity on film. Appropriately billed with the Damned at the Amherst Cinema.

EARTHQUAKE+++
The seats don't vibrate, but your timpanic membrance will. The wall-to-wall booms are even louder than John Entwistle's bass, and the shots of Los Angeles devastated are feats of movie-making magic. The only hinderance, though, like The Towering Inferno, is boring and contrived characters. Is director Mark Robson trying to make some kind of point about evil people paying for their sins, or are they paying for their nauseating acting? Anyway, at least Charlton Heston dies. (Showcase Cinemas).

FANTASIA+++
Re-released by Disney as a drug culture film ("the ultimate experience") but it's really much more than that. Some of the most beautiful animation ever designed, set to some of the most beautiful music ever composed. Includes Night on Bald Mountain and The Sorcerer's Apprentice, with M. Mouse. (Mountain Farms Four).

GODFATHER II++++
Francis Coppla's final proof of his cinematic genius, just in case you missed The Conversation. Al Pacino takes on the dramatic substance he lacked for much of part one, and the results are Oscar caliber. The idea to widen the scope by including scenes of the Corleones before and after Michael's rise is unique, establishing this as a real sequel, not just a commercial rush-job. (Showcase Cinemas).

LAST TANGO IN PARIS++++
Bernardo Bertolucci's timeless story of two spontaneous lovers and their obscene affair in an empty Paris apartment. Marlon Brando gives a gut-wrenching performance as an aging pig who struggles to find love in a totally loveless world. Bertolucci's haunting photography and surreal camerawork give this film an artistic flavor never before associated with a "sex movie". (S.U.B., TONIGHT, 7 and 10).

LE SEX SHOPPE++++
A very funny comedy by Claude Berri, abour a man who invests in a pronographic department store. The French view of sex is so witty, refreshing, and downright humane that you might even learn something about your own genitals. (Mountain Farms Four).

MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS++++
Makes The Sting look like a game of Chutes and Ladders. Albert Finney gives the performance of the year as Agatha Christie's masterful detective, Hercule Poirot. Don't buy any popcorn for this one, because you won't remember you ate it. (Showcase Cinemas).

THE ODESSA FILE+++
Frederick Forsyth's espionage tale about an unearthed Nazi secret and the attempt to discover its meaning. Jon Voight stars as the attempter with good taste, but the length and abundant dialogue of this film might bother you if you're expecting a car chase or something. (Campus Cinemas).

SERPICO++++
Al Pacino gives one of the greatest performances ,ever as Frank Serpico, a New York cop who single-handedly tries to end police corruption in the city. Loaded with raw but realistic vocabularies, brutal assaults, and one compelling scene after the other. If you miss this film you better have a good reason. (S.U.B., 2-23, 7, 9, and 11).

THE TOWERING INFERNO++
I can't imagine what kind of people get off on watching eighty-story phallic symbols flame up and spout out screaming movie stars, but why two film studios, let alone your best friend, would have the gall to put up money to make this unoriginal refuse is beyond me. O.J. Simpson is in it, so it might be worth seeing if your car breaks down near the theatre. Personally, Irwin Allen should be garrotted. (Showcase Cinemas).

VOICES OF SPIRIT: THE MEDIUMSHIP OF ELWOOD BABBITT+++
A fine documentary filmed locally about Elwood Babbitt, a New England farmer who for years has been speaking for the dead through spiritual trances. A must for those into psychic phenomena. (Globe Theater, Northampton, 4:00 shows daily until March 2).

YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN++++
Mel Brooks, who was responsible for laughing convulsions and a coast-to-coast bean revival with Blazing Saddles, now serves up his horror movie spoof which will fill theatres faster than pot smoke for a Yellow Submarine showing. Done in black-and-white to give it the 1930's look, it features Gene Wilder as Doc Frankenstein, Peter Boyle as the monster who has zippers instead of stitches, and Marty Feldman as the castle geek. Funnier than Nixon's resignation and the Checkers Speech combined, and proves how much can be done in the cinema even after two-thirds of the cast and crew has been declared legally insane. (Showcase Cinemas).

Amidst the towering stories of Decadence, the flame burns on in search of knowledge — Duja.

Culture on the sly

LOCAL MUSIC

Fat — Rusty Nail, Feb. 20-23.
Mitch Chakour — 5th Alarm (Springfield), Feb. 20-23.
Home Cooking — Hotel Monat (Holyoke), Feb. 20-23.
Clean Living — Widespread Depression — Chapin Aud., Mt. Holyoke College, Feb. 22 (8 p.m.)
Forest — Steak Out, Feb. 20-22.
Little Fire — Red Pantry (Belchertown), Feb. 20-22.
Cricket Hill — Hatch, Feb. 20-22.
Little Village — Bluewall, Feb. 20-22.
Seagull — The Pub, Feb. 22, 23.
Jack Beranesi — 5th Alarm (Springfield), Feb. 24, 25.
Airborn — Lazy River (Northampton), Feb. 20-23.
Pzazz Dixieland Jazz Band — T.O.C., Feb. 20-23.
John Jackson — Chelsea House Cafe and Folklore Center (W. Brattleboro, Vt.), Feb. 21, 22.
Seagull — Lazy River, Feb. 25, 26.
Cricket Hill — 5th Alarm, Feb. 36.
Up From the Sky — Rusty Nail, Feb. 24.
Mitch Chakour — Rusty Nail, Feb. 25, 26.
Doc Sullivan — The Pub, Feb. 20, 21 (3-6 p.m.)
D.J. — The Pub, Feb. 21 (9-1)
John Morgan — The Pub, Feb. 25.

UMASS

Peter Frampton, Feb. 21, SUB.

AMHERST COLLEGE

Sam Rivers — Feb. 22, Buckley Hall (10 a.m.)
McCoy Tyner — Feb. 23, Buckley Hall (2 p.m.)

SPRINGFIELD

Jethro Tull, March 11, Civic Center, Sold Out.
Johnny Winter, April 11, Civic Center, T.

PROVIDENCE

Rod Stewart & Faces, Blue Oyster Cult, The Strawbs, Feb. 25, Civic Center, T.
Sha Na Na, Feb. 28, Palace Theatre.
Jethro Tull, March 8, Civic Center, Sold Out, T.
Marvin Gaye, March 26, Civic Center, T.
John Denver, April 17, Civic Center, T.
Seals & Crofts, April 19, Civic Center, T.
Frank Sinatra, May 12, Civic Center, T.

LOWELL, MASS.

James Cotton Band, Hummit, Commodore Ballroom, Feb. 21.

PEABODY, MASS.

Thad Jones-Mel Lewis-Big Band, March 3 Holiday Inn, Route 1.

BOSTON, MASS.

Kool & The Gang, Feb. 20-23, Paul's Mall.
Mose Allison, Feb. 20-23, Jazz Workshop.
Harold Melvin & The Bluenotes, Feb. 20-23, Sugar Shack.
Roxy Music & Orchestra Luna, Feb. 20, Orpheum.
John Mayall-Dog Soldier-April Wine, Feb. 21, Orpheum, T.
Humble Pie, Feb. 22, Orpheum, T.
Two Generations Of Brubeck, Feb. 22, Symphony Hall.
Orchestra Luna, Feb. 23, Cohen Aud., Tufts University.
Birgit Nilsson, Feb. 23, Symphony Hall.
Chambers Brothers, Feb. 24-March 2, Paul's Mall.
Pharoah Sanders, Feb. 24-March 2, Jazz Workshop.
The Energetics, Feb. 24-March 2, Sugar Shack.
Taj Mahal, March 3-5, Paul's Mall.
Hugh Masekella, March 3-9, Jazz Workshop.
Al Wilson, March 3, Sugar Shack.
Joe Walsh & The Strawbs, March 5, Orpheum, T.
Commander Cody & His Lost Planet Airmen - Doc Watson - Frosty Morn, March 6, Harvard Square Theatre.
Roy Buchanan - John Entwhistle's Ox, March 7, Orpheum, T.
The Funkadelics, March 10-16, Sugar Shack.
Average White Band, March 11, Orpheum, T.
Jethro Tull, March 12-13, Boston Garden. (Single seats only for March 12th, Second Show not on sale yet.) T.
Ecstasy, Passion & Pain, March 17-23, Sugar Shack.
Alice Cooper & Suzi Quatro, April 26, Boston Garden, T.
Coming Soon: Joni Mitchell, Judy Collins, Cat Stevens, The Who, The Critics, featuring the Gink ? Bloomers with Boob Tube.

ADDITIONS

B.T. Express, March 24, Sugar Shack.
Chick Corea, March 24, orpheum, T.
Wendy Waldman and Richard Johnson, Feb. 20-22, Passim Coffee Shop.

Physical Plant uses electric truck

Battery-powered Wattswagon the current thing

Staff Photo by Chris Bourne

Gene Gancarz, driver of the UMass Wattswagon, checks one of the vehicle's two batteries.

By CHRIS BOURNE
Staff Reporter

"It wasn't anything we were planning on getting, it was just given to us and it happened to have worked out," said Steven Bristol, Director of motor vehicles at the Physical Plant, talking about the electric-powered "Wattswagon".

The truck, which was built in 1967 in England, was donated to the University by the Holyoke Gas & Light Co. in July of last year.

The truck is powered by two batteries, each weighing 500 lbs., producing 84 volts. "If they could find a way to make the batteries smaller, it would be a great improvement." said Gene Gancarz, who usually drives the truck.

The batteries are charged each night and are usually good for the day. "Towards the end of the day you know you've been using it because it won't go as fast." said Gancarz.

On level ground the truck has a top speed of about 20 mph. Since climbing steep hills drains the batteries faster, the truck is used mainly in the area around the library and Whitmore Administration Building.

Other than the slow speed and the lack of power, driving the truck isn't too much different from driving a regular truck, said Gancarz.

There is no gear shift instead, a switch controls the speed. "There aren't any gears, it's all done electrically," said Clint Jarvis, head of the electrical shop. The truck is also cleaner, quiener, and more economical than a regular truck.

Since September of last year, the truck has used slightly more than 1200 kilowatts of electricity. At two cents per kilowatt, that works out to about four dollars a month, cheaper than a gas powered truck.

"We had to overhaul the breaks and change the front suspension, when we got it, but other than that we haven't had any major problems with it," said Bristol.

At present, the physical plant doesn't have any plans to buy more of the electric trucks. The company which built the truck, Battronic Electric Truck Co., has recently opened a plant in the U.S.

The batteries run about $4,000 and the cost for a new truck is around $7,000.

The high price and the limited versatility are the two major factors against the truck, said Bristol.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545 3500
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE 16 AMHERST, MA FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1975

Weather

Temps in the forties hark back to November,
And the snows of December are hard to remember.
Southwest wind makes sunshine sing, breathing life into slumb'ring spring.

Glucksternmay vacate UMass Provost post

By CHRISTINE DILLARD
MDC Staff

UMass Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs, Provost Robert L. Gluckstern is seriously being considered to head several universities outside of New England, the Collegian has learned.

In a telephone interview last night, Gluckstern said that "for some time now I have been under consideration at a number of institutions and at this point these possibilities are just being explored."

A decision is expected by the middle of next month.

When contacted by telephone yesterday, Chancellor Randloph L. Bromery said "I think he'd make a good chancellor and if they contact me I'll give him a good recommendation."

Informed sources say that Gluckstern has been receptive to job offers since last spring, preceding the recent developments at the School of Education. Dean Dwight W. Allen and two other officials of the school resigned in January after reports were published stating that funds may have been mismanaged.

Sources said that Gluckstern was upset at the allegations of misuse of funds and lax academic programs at the School. In a recent interview, Gluckstern said that he supported the non-traditional programs which had received national recognition since Allen became Dean in 1968.

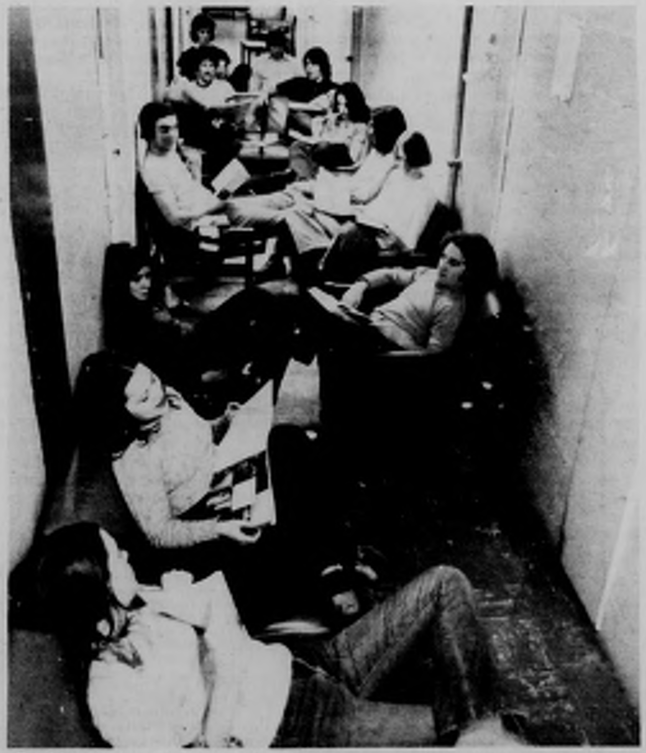
Gluckstern, 50, is a world renowned nuclear physicist, and has done research in theoretical, nuclear and elementary particle physics. He graduated from the City College of New York in 1944 with a degree in electrical engineering.

From there, he went to MIT where he received his PhD.

From 1948 to 1950 he did research at the University of California at Berkeley and at Cornell University. In 1950, he went to Yale where he was a professor until his arrival at UMass in 1964.

As the head of the physics department at UMass, Gluckstern recruited nationally known faculty and established the physics department as one of the best in the nation. David Rittenhouse Englis, one of the pioneers of the atomic bomb is one of these.

In 1969, Gluckstern was a visiting professor at the University of Tokyo. In 1971, he became Vice Chancellor which directly oversees all academic programs, including the School of Education. Since then, he has also been consultant to three major national nuclear research facilities. One of these includes the Los Alamos Science Laboratory in New Mexico where the first atomic bomb was assembled.



Staff Photo by Dan Smith

Residents of the fourth floor of Baker dormitory last night turned their corridor into a study lounge in response to a forced seizure of all lounge furniture from the students' rooms by dorm administrators. All University furniture is presently piled in locked study lounges, unavailable for student use.

UMass officials say dorm policy not illegal

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

University officials charged as defendants in a class action suit have denied all allegations that the mandatory dormitory policy is unconstitutional.

Responses to the allegations made in the suit were filed in Federal District Court in Boston. No hearing date has been scheduled.

Attorney Thomas Lesser, defending the students named in the case, said he expects the court to schedule the case as soon as possible so that litigation may be resolved by next September.

The class action suit was filed Jan. 28 and the plaintiffs are John Pepi, James Jordan, Karen Zimmerman, Stephen Latter and all other undergraduate students on campus.

The university officials — all those involved in the registration process and policy enforcement — admitted the allegations that in their capacity they enforce the mandatory dorm policy with the exception of Joseph P. Healey, chairman of the board of trustees.

The defendants also deny the allegations that students receive no educational or social benefits from living in dormitories.

In addition, Chancellor Randolph Bromery denies the allegations he said on November 4, 1974 as a student sponsored hearing on the dormitory living that simply living in the dormitories could not be considered as an educational experience unless it was tied to academic programs.

turn to page6

Strohl motion under consideration

Governing Board may investigate C.C. managers

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

At a forty minute session of the Campus Center Board of Governors last night, board member Arthur Strohl introduced a motion to investigate the performance of four Campus Center managers.

The managers named in Strohl's motion are John Corker, director of the Campus Center; [illegible], Food Services director; [illegible], product purchasing manager and [illegible], an assistant in the Campus Center [illegible].

Strohl said his motion was prompted by [illegible] in the Campus Center [illegible] relationships between the management and staff of the building.

The Board voted to send the motion to the Executive Committee for consideration before it was presented to the full Board.

Board Chairperson Jeff Taggart pointed out after the meeting that all such motions must first be discussed in the appropriate committee and that because the motion was presented did not imply any support for it by the Board before its merits are weighed.

Taggart also said he is currently doing an annual evaluation of John Corker which is a procedure the board follows before the renewal of any professional staff member's contract.

In another action last night, the board unanimously passed a new grievance procedure that would give any Campus Center-Student Union employee "two channels open" to air any grievance he has about his job.

The employee can either go through his direct superior and on up the higher levels of management or he can appeal to an area representative of the Student Employee Committee.

The new procedure has a provision for taking the grievance all the way to the Board of Governors or to the Chancellor if the involved parties are not satisfied with decisions made at the first levels of the procedure.

The Board also sent to the Service Committee for further consideration a request made by [illegible] of the Student Video Project. [illegible] is requesting studio space in the Campus Center for the Project.

Board member Howard Lewis pointed out that the request had to be sent to committee because the establishment of the studio hinged on hiring a technician at $10,000 per year to maintain the video equipment.

UMass tenants assemble with trustees to settle housing problem

VICE CHANCELLOR GAGE

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

Representatives of the UMass Tenants Association (UMTA) met with the Finance Committee of the UMass Board of Trustees Tuesday in an effort to resolve their six-month dispute over control of Married Student Housing funds.

The dispute stems from the manipulation of funds by the Married Student Housing Office following last September's rent increase on University and Lincoln Apartments. UMTA members claim the action was illegal and unnecessary, and attribute it to administrative mismanagement.

The meeting, held in President Robert Wood's 14th floor offices at One Washington Mall, Boston, was restricted to "some general questions as to procedure" by Chairman Robert Gordon.

Joining members of the Finance Committee were Chancellor Randolph Bromery, Vice Chancellor Robert Gage, Board Treasurer Kenneth Johnson, Married Student Housing Director [illegible], and S.G.A. President Richard Savini. President Wood, who was expected to attend was not present.

The UMTA representatives were allowed five minutes each to present their case. Following introductory remarks by Bromery and Gage, Pat Walker of the UMTA set forth their contention that the rent increases and the pooling of trust funds were not intended to pay for repairs at the University and Lincoln Housing complexes.

Walker cited the [illegible] surplus in the Lincoln and University trust funds as evidence that the September rent increases were designed solely to pay off short-term, high-interest bonds on debt-ridden North Village. Walker charged that "tenants should not be forced to pay for bureaucratic inefficiency."

Karen Foxgard, a former employee of the Married Student Housing Office, then followed with a presentation of the UMTA's 3 point proposal for resolution of the conflict:—

— An immediate rent rollback to the pre-September rate.

— Negotiations between the UMTA and the Married Student Housing Office.

— The subsequent release of rents, held in escrow since September, which total more than $10,000.

Following the UMTA statements, Chairman Gordon recommended that a specific proposal be drawn up and submitted to Vice Chancellor Gage within a week. He further charged both sides to "continue the discussion I hope is now going on."

UMTA members had mixed reactions as to what results the meeting had actually produced. Despite Gage's repeated assurances that "We'll deal with it on campus," some members said that they had hoped to get a more definite commitment from the Trustees.

On the other hand, UMTA spokesperson Rosemary Whittaker found it "encouraging" that Board Treasurer Kenneth Johnson had called the UMTA presentation "strong and effective."

Asked what action the UMTA would now take, Whittaker said that, "we will meet with Bromery and Gage one more time for the purpose of resolving major points of conflict, and finalizing our proposal for the Board's approval."

"Since Chairman Gordon has charged them to resolve the matter immediately," she added, "we expect to know very soon where the true interest of the University lies."

Bromery recommends 'moderate universal fee'

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery said last night the final recommendations regarding substitutes for mandatory dormitory policy will be voluntary dorms with a "moderate universal fee" and a voluntary dining commons policy.

According to Bromery, the recommendations made to the Board of Trustees sometime in April have two levels of fees: approximately $125 to $140 for incoming freshmen and $75 to $100 for all other students, including graduate students.

If approved, the dining commons would be more like a "restaurant" with "prices as competitive as Howard Johnson's", said Bromery.

Bromery said a meal ticket option will be available at a reduced cost for those students who choose to buy a plan.

In addition, there may be two fast food places open 24 hours which would be University-owned but "like a MacDonalds."

He said he feels a previous proposal of a $275 fee is unfair to students. The $275 debt service, however, would satisfy both debt services on the dorms and the dining commons.

A moderate fee would reduce dorm rents that may rise next semester due to the rising cost of maintenance and operation, according to Robert Gage, vice chancellor for student affairs.

With a fee acceptable to all students a reserve could be built up and in a couple of years major renovations could be done in dormitories instead of the "paint and putty" renovations that the University can now afford, said Bromery.

In order that the university meet its legal and fiscal responsibilities for paying the debt services, staff and programs may have to be reduced, Bromery said.

Students can fill the gap by contributing to area programs via the student activities tax fund, said Bromery.

Bromery also said there may be legal implications on any change but those will be ironed out as the change process continues.

The proposal is a mixture of the seven proposals recommended by a committee, who have been studying ways the university can change its residency policy, and can keep the dorms full and pay its fiscal responsibilities.

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

[illegible]

OPEN HOUSE

Live Music by RUN DRY

Q.T.V.

[illegible]

FRIDAY, FEB. 21

from 8 to 12

[illegible]

Survey gives engineers slight edge

Times are tough for collegiate job hunters

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

The employment situation for students graduating this May appears difficult but not impossible, according to Clark Edwards, a career counselor at Berkshire House.

In an interview, Edwards said that a survey taken in December by the College Placement Council (CPC) of Bethlehem, Pa. indicates that employers plan to hire [illegible] per cent fewer college graduates this year than they did last year.

The survey went on to show that engineers alone will enjoy an increase in job opportunities — [illegible] per cent more job openings are expected in that field. Science, mathematics and other technical openings will be down 12 per cent and business and non-technical openings are expected to be down 11 per cent and [illegible] per cent respectively, according to the survey.

Edwards said that many companies that were scheduled to give interviews at UMass prior to January first have since cancelled those interviews.

In light of the bleakness of the situation, Edwards had many recommendations. He said that optimism is a must and that while jobs are hard to find, "people are still dying, retiring and getting promoted and their positions must be filled."

"The process of finding a job will require more time and effort than ever before," he warned, and the procedure of flooding employers with resumes will no longer work.

Edwards said that the best opportunities will be in the finance, market and sales area of business, the engineering field and the environment related and energy producing industries.

The CPC survey indicated that the best industrial opportunities will be in petroleum and metal production. Petroleum industries plan to hire 20 per cent more workers and the metal industries expect to hire 20 per cent more help.

When asked how would he suggest a graduating senior proceed in looking for a job, Edwards said that the first step should be a personal one. He said that the graduate should decide very specifically what he or she wants, what kinds of goals are sought and what kind of life style is desired.

The graduate must choose the industry, business or profession that holds the most opportunities and comes closest to meeting the individual's requirements, said Edwards.

The next step is to choose a suitable locality, he went on, "the one that offers the best possibility for success. Someone who aspires to be a concert pianist should not try to do so in [illegible], Maine," he said.

Once the job hunter has located his best possibilities he should thoroughly research the company and find out who does the actual hiring for the position sought, explained Edwards.

Then it is up to the graduate to find some means of getting through the red tape, secretaries and personnel managers to speak directly with the person hiring, said Edwards. A friend or relative may be able to help make the contact, suggested Edwards.

DR. NIKI STAVROLAKES

Classics professor submerged in studies

Dr. Niki Stavrolakes: She's fascinated with the deep sea

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

There is a professor in the Classics department who has spent some of the more interesting moments of her professional career underwater.

Dr. Niki Stavrolakes received her doctorate in Classical Archaeology from Yale in 1965, but has since become well-known for her work in marine archaeology.

She was "always interested in nautical archaeology because of meeting Peter Throckmorton, a pioneer in the field in Greece during 1960-1961."

This interest stayed in the back of her mind while she undertook her doctoral field work excavating on land in Mycenae, Greece in 1964.

Stavrolakes was pushed in the right direction she said, "directly through a student of mine, another underwater archaeologist at Brandeis in 1965, who got a scuba course together and recommended me to work in Cyprus on the Kyrenia wreck directed by Michael Katzev." This wreck was written up in the November, 1974 National Geographic.

Stavrolakes said she became "excited, genuinely interested and learned underwater excavation techniques there."

She worked on the excavation of an ancient [illegible] submerged in water off Porto Cheli, in the eastern corner of the Peloponnesus, in 1970. Those experiences left her well qualified to direct her own excavation at Gythion, Greece.

Stavrolakes explained that "Gythion was the ancient port of Sparta which was submerged in an earthquake in the Fourth Century A.D." Work was carried out there during the summers of 1971 and 1972. From there, she went on to survey with underwater sonar equipment [illegible] and "made a film of our search for [illegible]," she said.

Profile

Stavrolakes was born in Greece but has lived and studied in the United States since the age of five. She has returned to Greece every summer since 1959.

She is the director of the Aegean Institute located in her home village of Poros. The Institute was established in order that, "students from many universities study Greece first hand."

Stavrolakes' present underwater work is being done near Poros, where she said "there were found remains of a wreck outside the harbor in 1972." The site was surveyed, mapped and photographed last summer. [illegible]

[illegible]

SGA Budget Committee investigates RSO funds

By PAUL BRADLEY
Staff Reporter

The Budget Committee of the Student Government Association has been conducting investigations into the use of funds appropriated to RSO groups in preparation for Budget Committee hearings scheduled to begin next week, according to [illegible], chairman of the Budget Committee. The Budget Committee will appropriate money for fiscal year 1976, which begins July 1.

"Without being secretive," said [illegible], "we have conducted such thorough investigations into how money was used by various organizations." [illegible] added that this will help the Budget Committee in deciding which groups will get cuts in their budgets and which will get increases. [illegible] of the approximately [illegible] RSO groups have been reviewed.

The Budget Committee has a total of [illegible] to work with for the fiscal year 1976, a [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Amherst could top public service budget

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

University of Massachusetts students could be responsible for Amherst paying the largest share of a public service budget, if the regionalization of public services becomes a reality, because the fee is based on population.

Area selectmen from Amherst, Pelham, and Belchertown met last night to discuss the regionalization of public services for those towns. [illegible], Pelham selectman, called the meeting to see if it would be feasible to pool each town's resources.

[illegible]

Turn to page 8

Southwest initiates hearings to aid dorms

By [illegible]
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Ford to veto suspension of oil import fee

Plans to compromise on energy program

WASHINGTON [UPI] — President Ford indicated yesterday he was ready to fight congressional opposition to his oil import fee increase and at the same time showed a willingness to compromise to get a national energy crisis program enacted.

Ford said Wednesday night he will veto a congressional measure to suspend for 90 days his $3-a-barrel fee hike, despite indications Congress might override him.

"The President is hopeful his veto will be sustained," Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters. "The President is sticking to his oil tariff increase."

Nessen refused to predict how Congress might vote, but Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said there was "rather a good chance" the Senate would sustain Ford's veto.

Nessen stressed that Ford intended the $3 a barrel fee hike not as an energy program, but as a stop-gap measure to give Congress time to enact a program for restoring U.S. energy independence.

He spelled out four principles Ford demands for the national energy program and said, significantly, the details are negotiable as long as the four goals are observed.

Nessen said the principles were "inviolable" and "he will not compromise on these goals." They are:

—The program must make America independent of foreign fuel supplies by 1985.

—The program must encourage development of more domestic fuel supplies to replace Arab oil and other foreign supplies.

—The energy program must be equitable to all Americans, in all regions, in all industries.

—It must include permanent income tax cuts for individuals and for business, most vitally for persons in low and middle income brackets "to make up for the ravages of inflation" and higher fuel costs.

Nessen came under heavy questioning by reporters trying to learn where Ford might compromise to win on the import fee issue. Nessen did not rule out compromise but said Ford was sticking by his executive order raising the fees by April 1.

White House sources said for Nessen to discuss the possibility of compromise on the tariff hike would rob the President of any bargaining power he could use in getting congressmen to sustain a veto.

Army freezes half a million birds in attempt to control population

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. [AP] — Some two million birds survived the Army's best efforts to freeze them to death yesterday.

Thousands of birds — grackles, starlings and others — perched atop ice-covered pine trees yesterday morning while an estimated half a million others lay frozen to death on the ground.

"We didn't expect to kill them all," said Brig. Gen. John N. Brandenberg, assistant commander of Ft. Campbell. "Our aim is to get the bird population under control, trimming it down to manageable size."

Brandenberg said the Army would spray the area again.

Shortly after nightfall Wednesday, two Army helicopters sprayed Tergitol, a soapy detergent chemical, over eight acres of pine trees where the Army said two million to four million birds were roosting. Two fire trucks then doused them with 110,000 gallons of water.

The Ft. Campbell bird roost covers 27 acres, but only eight can be reached by fire trucks. To spray the rest, the Army must wait for rain, which is not immediately forecast.

The Tergitol and water strips the birds of protective oils, killing within two or three hours in subfreezing temperatures.

Among observers was Mel Dyer, wildlife biologist at Colorado State University who testified in federal court earlier this month for two environmental groups which sought to stop the bird kill.

"If the Army's goal was to knock out all the birds in the area, they obviously did not succeed," Dyer said Thursday as he walked through the icy pine grove.

When Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway authorized the kill this week, he called the birds health hazards to people and animals, potential hazards to aviation and damaging to agriculture crops in surrounding areas. The birds have been blamed for the spread of histoplasmosis, a human lung ailment.

The Army partly attributed the low kill ratio to the fact that six acres of the roosting area were not watered down as heavily as the others. However, one Army official said films of the helicopter runs showed that flocks of birds flew from the roost at each helicopter pass. These birds were sprayed with Tergitol but not with water, he said.

Kissinger optimistic about Mideast peace

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave congressional leaders a "cautiously optimistic" report yesterday on prospects for an Egyptian-Israeli peace accord, but warned the most difficult steps were still to come.

Kissinger briefed the congressional leadership at the White House less than 24 hours after his return from a 10-day, 15,335-mile tour of the Middle East and Europe in search of further progress towards a Middle East peace settlement.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that Kissinger "reported that he is cautiously optimistic, but that the most difficult period still lies ahead," when he makes his next visit to the area, probably in March.

"I was certainly encouraged by what he had to say," Mansfield told UPI.

Mansfield reported that Kissinger anticipates the Geneva Conference on the Middle East will be resumed in the near future, thus giving the Soviet Union a more direct hand in diplomatic maneuvering in the Middle East.

On his return Wednesday, Kissinger said, "We will stay in close contact with the Soviet leaders as we negotiate another step in the Middle East and also in the preparation of a final settlement."

Despite the recent Soviet repudiation of the U.S.-Soviet trade agreement, Mansfield reported, Kissinger considers that U.S.-Soviet relations are good.

Mansfield also said that the forthcoming congressional fight over U.S. oil policy would delay President Ford's projected fact-finding mission to South Vietnam by 20 senators and congressmen. The State Department later confirmed the mission had been postponed.

Colby testifies that stories about CIA threaten agents

WASHINGTON [UPI] — CIA Director William Colby said yesterday the "almost hysterical excitement" surrounding news reports his agency spied illegally on Americans was endangering the lives of undercover agents overseas.

Colby said that legitimate American spying operations are threatened by false charges that his agency engaged in massive domestic intelligence.

"The almost hysterical excitement that surrounds any news story mentioning CIA...has raised the question whether secret intelligence operations can be conducted by the United States," Colby said.

"A number of our individual agents abroad are deeply worried that their names might be revealed with resultant danger to their lives."

Strongly defending his beleaguered agency, Colby said "missteps were few and far between" and did not justify the outcry raised by news reports.

He said "almost hysterical excitement" surrounding news stories about CIA spying has "raised questions whether secret intelligence operations can be conducted by the United States."

The CIA is being investigated by a special presidential commission headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller. In addition, special House and Senate committees have been created to investigate the agency.

In testimony prepared for the defense subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, Colby was particularly critical of the New York Times, which on Dec. 22 printed the first story of domestic spying. He said reporter Seymour M. Hersh "mixed and magnified two separate subjects" — legal activities and "those few activities" that may have been illegal.

Governors oppose plan for tariff

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The nation's governors said yesterday a conservation program "of massive proportions" should be given a trial for four to six months before the government seeks to curb oil consumption through harsher means.

The governors voted 28 to 12 to join Congress in calling for a 90-day suspension of the oil tariffs President Ford has imposed. But that margin was two votes short of the three-quarters majority required by the rules of the National Governors' Conference for formal adoption of a resolution.

The compromise adopted instead said the nation has yet to try an "overall logically integrated effort" to conserve fuel.

"Those who have concluded that voluntary citizen actions have been either too slow or inadequate fail to recognize that we simply do not have a real program in place," the governors said.

DEADLINE

for

RSO BUDGET REQUESTS

today

If your group desires $$ FUNDING $$$

see Kevin Muldoon in the Student Senate Office, Rm. 420

Student Union, before 4 p.m.

NEW!

Campus Center Food Services

announces 2 new entertainment programs in the Bluewall:

on 8 Sunday evenings 9 - 1

Jazz Jam Session

beginning 2/23

on Monday evenings

IRISH NIGHT

this week is Chris Henshaw, 9 p.m. - 1 a.m.

also:

— Little Village at the Bluewall

— 6 piece Dixieland Jazz Band "Pzazz" at the TOC

— at the Hatch, Cricket Hill with Special guest on Friday night Some of My Best Friends.

UPI Telephoto

Cambodian government reinforcements and their dependents await helicopters in Del Eth, Cambodia, yesterday, as fighting for control of Highway One and the Mekong River continues. The Communists yesterday drove off Cambodian forces trying to land supplies into the refugee-swollen capital of Phnom Penh. The Mekong is the only river route to the besieged cap city.

Welfare deficiency budget of $288 million filed for 1975

BOSTON [AP] — A $288 million welfare deficiency budget has been filed with the executive Office of Administration and Finance by Human Services Secretary Lucy W. Benson.

The request has the potential of putting the state deficit for the current fiscal year at some $425 million. And John Pratt, assistant human services secretary for fiscal affairs, said additional welfare appropriations may be necessary to get the department through this fiscal year.

As far as the $288 million request is concerned, Pratt said that, "With the economy being what it is, I don't think anyone wants to say it is a good figure that will get us through the year." This fiscal year ends June 30. If the full amount of the new request is approved by the legislature, it would bring welfare spending to some $1.3 billion.

Administration Secretary John R. Buckley said meanwhile that the full amount of Mrs. Benson's recommendation would not be submitted to the legislature at one time and attempts would be made to cut it.

He said a welfare deficiency would be submitted by mid-March, and it probably would only be sufficient to carry the department through April.

"We will try to pick our way through, a few weeks at a time, and see what we can cut out in the process," Buckley said.

CARLO of Naples State Street, Northampton

54th Member of the World Famous Restaurant International

B.
Y.
O.
B.

Our menu consists of 62 items (Italian Food only) and an average spending of $2.25

Your Host, Carlo, is a special student at UMass

The Health Care Systems Program announces competition for funding of research proposals from graduate students.

The proposals must be interdisciplinary in nature and sponsored by at least one faculty member.

Further information from:

Linda Souza, secretary — HCSP

116 Marston Hall 5-0737

FINAL DEADLINE — MARCH 17, 1975

Edelin asks judge to overturn verdict

BOSTON [UPI] — Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin yesterday asked the judged to overturn his abortion manslaughter conviction because the jury verdict was based on "bias, misapprehension or prejudice."

The motion based on a little known state law was filed by Edelin's attorney William Homans, who claimed the verdict "if allowed to stand would work a miscarriage of justice."

Homans' motion asked Judge James P. McGuire to void Saturday's decision of a nine man, three woman jury and either declare the 36 year old black obstetrician innocent or order a new trial.

Homans began considering such a motion almost immediately after the jury found Edelin guilty of manslaughter in the death of a fetus in an elective abortion on a woman about six months pregnant.

The precedent for Homans' motion was a 1944 decision that says "it is the right and duty of a trial judge to set aside a verdict when in his judgment it is so greatly against the weight of the evidence as to induce in his mind the strong belief that it was not due to careful consideration of the evidence but that is was the product of bias, misapprehension or prejudice."

Citing that precedent, Homans argued in a four page brief "that the verdict of the Edelin jury was based upon 'bias, misapprehension or prejudice'."

Meanwhile, the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Boston, yesterday defended the predominantly Catholic jury.

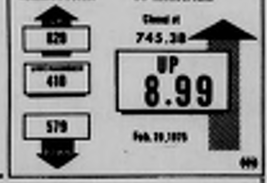
Ending an editorial silence which extended throughout the six week trial, the archdiocese said, "The juror is not the villain of the piece." It was responding to Edelin's post verdict charge that an unbiased jury was not obtainable in Boston.

An editorial in The Pilot, the official organ of the archdiocese, also criticized the press for biased reporting in defense of the 36 year old black Boston City Hospital obstetrician, who was convicted Saturday in the death of a fetus in an elective abortion he performed on a woman about six months pregnant.

The nine man, three woman jury included at least nine Roman Catholics.

Edelin's attorney, William Homans, has said in retrospect his client might have been better served if he'd waived trial by jury and argued the case before a judge.

A pre-trial poll of 1,000 prospective jurors, taken by Decision Research Corp. at Homans' request, found acceptance of abortion in some form — if even only to save the mother — in 85 per cent of persons questioned.



U MASS SOPHOMORES

If you are a Sophomore man or woman who missed the opportunity to join Army ROTC during your Freshmen and Sophomore years — you owe it to yourself to hear both sides of the story from the people who know and care.

We are looking for people interested in learning the truth about the mainstay of national defense: the veteran's coalition is looking for you.

And we have a lot to offer — veteran's who know what the military service was like, people interested in community affairs. A group of people, not supposedly highly qualified officers and non-commissioned officers only interested only in filling quota's and telling just one side of the military story; but people interested in telling you the other side of the story as well. So if you plan on listening to supposedly sincere people who represent our government, then stop by the Veteran's Coalition for Community Affairs located in the Student Union, 2nd Floor, Room 411

You owe it to yourself to get the facts about the military service. Before you make a commitment that will change your life please stop by and see us. If you don't you'll always think you should have. You'll be welcome anytime, there won't be any bullshit.

Veterans' Coalition for Community Affairs

news summary

Pay hikes considered

BOSTON [AP] — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis probably will decide next week whether to forego this year's cost-of-living pay raise for state employes, Administration Secretary John R. Buckley said yesterday.

A full cost-of-living increase, based on the rise in the Consumer Price Index last year, would be 11 per cent. The Dukakis administration has said frequently that this year's pay hike might be cut back or dropped entirely as part of the effort to reduce the state's deficit.

Buckley said the governor would hold a meeting on the subject Monday, "and I think a decision will be made before the end of next week."

RI jobless 13.8%

PROVIDENCE [AP] — Unemployment in Rhode Island reached a 25-year high last month, with 60,000 persons without jobs, a rate of 13.8 per cent.

Gov. Philip W. Noel announced the rate yesterday before a congressional subcommittee in Washington and said preliminary indications are that February will be worse.

The Employment Security Department released figures Thursday showing that 21,500 more persons were out of work in January than in December when the unemployment rate was 9 per cent.

Last August the rate was 7.3 per cent.

Postage to rise

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The cost of the first class postage stamp may climb to 13 cents an ounce later this year and to 15 cents by the end of 1977, postal service officials said yesterday.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar said the rate-setting process must be speeded up. Jesse T. Ellington Jr., his senior assistant, said rate increases are likely to be needed in two-year intervals between now and 1979.

The two testified at a hearing of the House Post Office Committee.

Prices rose 14.4%

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Prices increased at a record 14.4 per cent annual rate in the final three months of 1974 while the Gross National Product fell 9.1 per cent, the Commerce Department said yesterday.

The inflation rate was even worse than the 13.7 per cent Commerce estimated in last month's preliminary report. The previous record inflation was 13 per cent in the first three months of 1951.

THE red panty playroom
FEB. 20 21 22
"Little Fire"
RTS. 202 & 21 ... BELCHERTOWN

Food stamp applicants must go in groups

By DAVE KOWAL
Staff Reporter

In an effort to relieve a backlog of food stamp applications, group sessions will be held next week for those people who have previously applied and are awaiting certification.

The group applications are the result of a recent court order by the Mass. Supreme Court commanding welfare agencies to reach a decision on applications within the 30 day federal limit, and to notify by March 4 those applicants who have not received decisions within the 30 day period.

The order said, "Some thousands of applicants have not been either approved or denied for food stamps within the 30 days after application, with some of them having received no decision for months after their applications."

The group sessions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, 10-12 a.m. and 1:30-3:30 p.m. both days, in Rm. 113 of the Campus Center.

Arthur Feldman, food stamp certifier at UMass, said the sessions will be in alphabetical order. Those applicants with last names beginning with A-C should report 10-12 on Tuesday, those names beginning with D-K should report 1:30-3:30; L-Q should come 10-12 on Wednesday, hile R-Z should be there 1:30-3:30.

Feldman said, "Students should come to the session with photocopies or original documents to establish eligibility." Required documentation includes: proof of income in the form of 5 pay stubs (if working) or a statement of benefits (if you are not working), and a letter from parents (if contributing) as well as a statement from the Financial Aid Office (whether receiving grant or not); proof must also be provided for all claimed deductions (including rent, utilities, medical bills, etc.).

Bob Gardner, SOP member, said, "It would be advisable to bring along your checking or bank book."

Anyone with any food stamp "grievances" should go to the S.O.P. office, Gardner said.

★ Officials deny dorm illegality

cont. from pg.1

Bromery said last night that he believes the dormitories do provide educational experiences, but experiences would increase if physical changes were made.

University officials also deny that they repeatedly acknowledged that financial concerns played a major part in determining the mandatory policy.

The response also states that the court has no jurisdiction because the plaintiffs have waived any right by failure to properly exhaust all administrative remedies available to them.

The University officials involved are UMass President Robert Wood, Chancellor Randolph Bromery, Joseph P. Healy, chairman of the board of trustees, Kenneth Dean head of residence life, and Ralph D. Jones, registrar.

They are being defended by UMass-Amherst Attorney Sidney Meyers and William Searson, general counsel for the board of trustees.

★ Public service budget

cont. from p.3

If the towns decided to adopt contract service rather than regionalization, each town would have access to Amherst's services for a certain amount of hours with an additional fee for extra hours.

"Belchertown is happy with its police department, but we just started fulltime. We are still utilizing a lot of Amherst's services and would be interested in contributing to the budget," said Parker Ketchen, Belchertown Selectman.

He said Belchertown is still "getting a large number of break-ins" and could use a larger investigative team. "We have a lot of house-breaks, being at the butt of Amherst. I'm not saying that students are responsible for all of them," Ketchen said.

Spanish students give dance

The Spanish Speaking students on campus will sponsor a dance this coming Saturday, from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m., at the Student Union Ballroom.

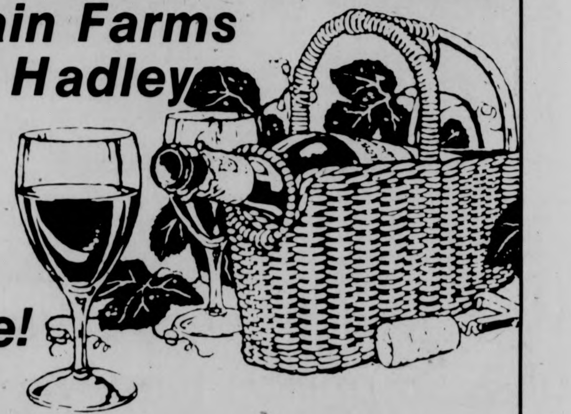
The dance will be featuring Spanish and Afro-Caribbean music, by a Western Mass. Spanish Speaking Band.

The activity is being supported through Ahora's budget, and admission is free.

Everybody is welcome. Bienvenidos. Benveutos.

REAL BARGAINS ...ALL WEEK LONG~ ...HONEST!
WASHINGTON
NE DOLLAR

...PRIZES!
...HOURLY SPECIALS
Take an additional 10% OFF WITH THIS AD!
WEAR-HOUSE
Fairfield Mall/chicopee
201 n. pleasant st./amherst



IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY
Mountain Farms Mall in Hadley
Beer and Wine Shoppe!
Schlitz Beer
case of 24 12 oz cans 5.69
Donelli Lambrusco .... 24 oz btl 1.89
Korbel Vin Rosé California Chateau... 24 oz btl 1.89
Rose Garden Liebfraumilch .... 23 oz btl 1.89
Inglenook Navalle - Vin Rose or Chablis .... Jero Boan 5.99
Gold Seal Lambrusco .... half gal 2.99
Almanden White Sauterne .... gallon 5.99
Paul Masson California Rose .... 32 oz carafe 1.99
Isabel Rosé from Portugal .... 25 oz btl 2.79
Ballantine Beer case 24 - 12 oz N.R. btls 4.29
Finast SUPERMARKETS
Prices Effective Thru Sat., Feb. 22
We Reserve The Right To Limit Quantities

Voices of New Africa

Welcome with enthusiasm on tour

Forty-three (43) members of the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir left the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst on Monday morning, January 20, 1975, for a three-day tour of colleges in Pennsylvania and Southern states. The choir, under the direction of Horace Clarence Boyer, an Assistant Professor in the Department of Music at UMass, was accompanied by Dr. Frederick Tillis, Professor of Music and Associate Provost of Fine Arts at the University of Massachusetts.

The Voices of New Africa House were scheduled to arrive at Lincoln University in Lincoln University, Pennsylvania at 4:00 p.m., but were two hours late in arriving on the campus due to meeting a very heavy snow storm. Forsaking the evening meal, though they were graciously served hamburgers and drinks by the Gospel Choir of the University before the concert, the Voices had a short rehearsal and were able to begin the concert at 8:30 p.m.

The Lincoln University audience, many of which were members of the host group, the Lincoln University Gospel Choir, was the ideal audience for beginning a tour. They were attentive, appreciative and wildly enthusiastic in their applause. This reception inspired the choir, which rose to the occasion with some of the most serious singing of this group since its organization.

Dr. Tillis spoke to the audience of the graduate programs at the UMass during the course of the evening, as he did during the entire tour. Dr. Branscomb, President of Lincoln University, met with Dr. Boyer and Dr. Tillis to express the appreciation of the University to the Voices. The audience of three hundred and fifty persons gave the choir a standing ovation at the conclusion of the concert.

The sponsoring organization at Lincoln began a practice that was to continue each night of the tour, for the Voices of New Africa House were feted with a party of much dancing to the latest soul songs and the usual punch and cookies. Members of the choir shared sleeping quarters with members of the University Gospel Choir, and after a tasty home-style cooked breakfast, the Voices began their journey to Richmond, Virginia.

Despite the fact that the room in which the Voices of New Africa House presented their concert at Virginia Union University in Richmond was not constructed for musical sound, their appearance there could be called a success for many reasons.

Unfortunately, the choir at Virginia Union was not given the responsibility of preparing for nor hosting the appearance of the Voices at the University, and this disassociation left them free to be critical of the Voices, rather than supportive. Though the audience was less attentive and mildly enthusiastic for the first three quarters of the concert, they tired of that behavior toward the end of the concert, and during the last section gave the Voices tremendous support.

The female members of the Voices shared rooms with female members of the Virginia Union Choir, but the men of the Voices occupied an unused dormitory. The Wednesday morning breakfast at Virginia Union University made up in taste what the audience lacked in support, and once again, the choir boarded the bus for the trip to Greensboro, North Carolina.

The short ride to Bennett College in Greensboro, North Carolina seemed even shorter because the weather was warm and a bit of greenery along the highway could be observed. Upon the arrival of the Voices at Bennett, they were met by the President and Vice-President of the Bennett Choir, both of whom were female, quite natural since Bennett is one of the two black all women colleges in the United States, the other being Spelman in Atlanta.

From the moment the officers of the Bennett Choir met the Voices of New Africa House, the Voices knew they were in good hands. The itinerary of the Voices and their sleeping and eating arrangements were made, all of which was carried out with professional precision. The audience of 600, mainly young women, two hundred larger than the Lincoln University audience, was wildly receptive from the beginning of the concert, and remain so throughout the evening. Without doubt, the tour came to a close on the highest note possible, created by the wonderful reception of the Bennett audience, and hosting qualities which can only be coveted.

An early morning hearty breakfast caught the men of the choir a little behind schedule as they made their way from the near-by Greensboro College, where they spent the night. At 8:30 a.m., the Voices of New Africa House departed Bennett College, and with the exception of a forty-minute stop for lunch, rode the more than 700 miles to the UMass campus, which they reached at 11:30 p.m. that evening.

The members of the choir, coming from the Unversity of Massachusetts, Smith, Amherst, Mount Holyoke and Hampshire Colleges reported that this tour was one of the finest experiences of their lives, and they felt that they had made a contribution to the fine reputation of their respective schools. Needless to say, they, along with the organist, drummer, trumpeter, bass guitarist, and percussionist, are ready to try it again — soon.

This tour was made possible through the generous financial support of several organizations of the Five Colleges, to which the Voices of New Africa House extend a very appreciative thanks.

The program presented by the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir on the tour can be heard on Tuesday evening, February 25, 1975, when the choir presents its Spring Concert in Bowker Auditorium on the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The concert, which begins at 8:15 p.m. is open to the public without charge.

summer in europe CHARTERS
CALL TOLL FREE 1 800 325-4867
LESS THAN 1/2 REG. FARE

APPEARING EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT 9-1
The Fabulous DJ!
THE PUB AMHERST
Goodtimes and Dancing every Friday night From 9 - 1 with THE FABULOUS DJ

Join B.N.S.

The Black News Service is a student media training and placement organization. Its functions includes the training and placement of news reporters, photographers, graphic-arts, and lay-out personnel.

Up to this date, B.N.S. has been operating with a limited staff. As a result, the news service has not been able to service the needs of the total Third World Community. It is, therefore, imperative that all Third World Students (studying and-or interest in communication) join the staff and participate in informing the people.

Our goals are realistic because they reflect the conception of those who are daily involved with media operations.

The staff and editors of B.N.S. welcomes all energetic and serious-minded students to come in and join our action team. The Black News Service is located at the Daily Collegian Newspaper. 3rd floor Student Union Building, and in Room 114, New Africa House. All phones are 545-3500.

We need graphic artists, photographers, reporters, layout personnel, fine arts critics and writers.

THE INDIAN STRUGGLE CONTINUES

DENNIS BANKS and other speakers

FEB. 27-28-MAR. 1

WOUNDED KNEE ANNIVERSARY

SYMPOSIUM

UMASS C.C.

Social change

60's—70's

On Friday, Feb. 21 — Sunday, Feb. 23, The Straight Ahead Executive Committee of Amherst will be presenting a tribute to Malcolm X. The subject of this commemorable event is Revolution and Social Change in American 60's-70's. This Malik El Shabazz Memorial Weekend will include a variety of speakers, Musicians, and other events.

Included on the agenda are guest speakers Julius Bond, Alvin Poussaint, Julius Lester, William Strickland, Asa J. Davis, Bill Cole, Nana Nketsia, and Douglas V. Davidson.

Music will by provided by the Sam Rivers Trio, Archie Shepp, Beaver Harris, and there will be three films shown — "Sisten Son-Ji," "Malcolm X," and the "Birth of a Nation." Also La Rocque Bey Dancers will provide a cultural exchange.

Don't miss this weekend of cultural and intellectual enlightenment. For further information, contact The Straight Ahead Committee of Amherst College at (413) 542-3010 or 542-3228.

WEEKEND SPECIAL
Offer Good Fri., 2-21 Sat., 2-22 Sun., 2-23
SAVE 50c OFF
Open Til 1:30 a.m. Weekdays 2:00 a.m. Weekends
ANY 16" PIZZA EXCEPT PLAIN
DOMINO'S PIZZA 363 Main St. Amherst Mass
HOT FREE DELIVERY
OF ONE OR MORE PIZZAS • APPROXIMATELY 30 MIN DELIVERY
Call 256-8587
Domino's People are the Pizza People, Period.
WEEKEND SPECIAL

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Joyfull Israel Orchestra enchants Bowker audience

By MARLA RICHMOND
Below the Salt Staff

The Israel Chamber Orchestra conducted by Shmuel Friedman performed for an almost capacity audience in Bowker Auditorium Wednesday. The performance was part of the Arts Council's Celebrity Series.

The program included a Symphony in C minor, No. 95 by Haydn which had a fantastic cello solo. The cellist's name was not listed in the program, but she deserves much note for her delicate handling of a beautiful passage. Also, included were Divertmento for Strings by Bartok and Symphony in D Major, K. 385 by Mozart.

The high point in the evening was Variations by Mordechai Seter, an Israeli composer. This showed the versitility of the orchestra to be able to adapt to quite modern music. I particularly liked this piece for its melodiousness. it had shades of Gershwin in parts, and shades of Moog synthesizer in others. Generally a most pleasant piece.

Shmuel Friedman is an excellent conductor to watch. His movements varied from a bird in flight to a hunchback.

His obvious rapport with his musicians made for as much enjoyment in watching as the music gave in listening. The musicians themselves appeared younger than the average American orchestra.

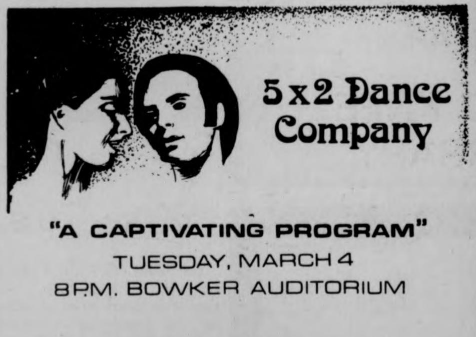
For the listener who was not oriented toward classical music, the music was alive enough to hold interest. The musicians were obviously enjoying themselves as they played. The ease and joy of the musicians and conductor produced very fine music. This orchestra is exceptionally gifted.

Weekend conference deals with 'women and the law'

The Women's Law Association of Western New England College's School of Law will sponsor a weekend conference on "Women and the Law" on this Friday and Saturday. The conference, which will be held at the main WNEC campus at 1215 Wilbraham Road in Springfield, is open to anyone interested in the law and the current legal status of women.

The keynote address by Stanford Law School professor Barbara Babcock will be delivered at 7:00 p.m. Friday, the 21st, in room 100 of Sleith Hall. Workshops will cover Title VII legislation, Women in Prisons, Feminist Law Firms, Women as Criminal Attorneys and Rape.

Workshops will be conducted by 9 members of the National Lawyers Guild with varying backgrounds including criminal law, labor law and domestic relations law. One of the participants is Janet Rifkin, faculty member at UMass.



university of massachusetts arts council
presents
5 x 2 Dance Company
"A CAPTIVATING PROGRAM"
TUESDAY, MARCH 4
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
Anthony Newman
"MASTER OF THE HARPSICHORD"
FRIDAY, MARCH 7
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM
TICKETS: $4&3 general $2&1.50 umass students
ON SALE 125 HERTER HALL, U MASS AMHERST (413)545-0202
ONG

Four Seasons
Package Store
RUSSELL ST., HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms Mall

Karl Von Stetten
MAY WINE
23 oz. bottle
$1.99

SCHLITZ
BEER
12 oz. cans
$5.49 Case

BLACK HORSE ALE
12 oz. N.R. bottles
$6.99 Case

Four Season's Special
VODKA
80 Proof
½ gal. $8.19
Qt. $4.19

FOUR SEASONS SPECIAL
BLENDED WHISKEY
80 Proof
½ gal. $8.79
Qt. $4.49

Grey Goose
Liebfraumilch
67 oz. bottle
$3.99

Almaden
MT. RED BURGUNDY
$3.90 ½ gal.

Milwaukee's Best
BEER
12 oz. cans
$4.99 Case

Wine Paradise Of The Valley

T.V. Tonight

6:30 ABC EVENING NEWS (8)
NBC NIGHTLY NEWS (8)
ZOOM! (24) (57)
MOVIE "The Snows of Kilimanjaro." (27)
BEWITCHED (38)
6:55 NEWSBEAT NEWS (40)
7:00 CBS EVENING NEWS WITH WALTER CRONKITE (3)
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES (8)
THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW (18)
THE BIG NEWS (22)
AVIATION WEATHER (24) (57)
TO TELL THE TRUTH (30)
ABC EVENING NEWS (40)
7:30 WILD, WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS "Golden Eagle." (3)
LET'S MAKE A DEAL (8) (22)
THE PORTER WAGONER SHOW (18)
BLACK PERSPECTIVE ON THE NEWS (24)
THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES (30)
THE ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW "Ellie for Council." (38)
NANNY AND THE PROFESSOR (40)
DRAGNET (56)
MARTIN AGRONSKY: EVENING EDITION (57)
8:00 KHAN! "A Game of Terror." (3)
THE UNDERSEA WORLD OF JACQUES COUSTEAU "The Coral Divers of Corsica." (8) (40)
THE BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE (18)
SANFORD AND SON "The Headache." (22) (30)
WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW (24) (57)
THE BEVERLY HILLBILLIES (38)
DEALER'S CHOICE (56)
8:30 CHICO AND THE MAN (22) (30)
WALL STREET WEEK (24) (57)
CHALLENGING SEA (27)
DINAH! (56)
9:00 CBS FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE "Attack on Terror: The FBI Versus the Ku Klux Klan." Part II (3)
HOT L BALTIMORE (8) (40)
MOVIE "The Way Out." (18)
THE ROCKFORD FILES (22) (30)
FIRING LINE (24)
THE JACK BENNY SHOW (27)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE – COUNTRY MATTERS "The Watercress Girl." (57)
9:30 THE ODD COUPLE "Old Flames Never Die." (8) (40)
GOMER PYLE (27)
10:00 LILY (8) (40)
POLICE WOMAN "The Company." (22) (30)
MASTERPIECE THEATRE – COUNTRY MATTERS "The Watercress Girl." (24)
SOUL TRAIN (38)
PERRY MASON (56)
HABITAT PROJECT (57)
10:30 NEW DIRECTIONS (18)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN COMEDY THEATRE (27)
BLACK PERSPECTIVE ON THE NEWS (57)
11:00 EYEWITNESS NEWS (3)
NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS (8) (18) (22) (27) (30) (40)
RIGHT ON (38)
THE BEST OF GROUCHO (56)
CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS (57)
11:30 FRIDAY SPECTACULAR "Topkapi." (3)
WIDE WORLD SPECIAL "It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman." (8) (40)
THE TONIGHT SHOW STARRING JOHNNY CARSON (22) (30)
THE BOWERY BOYS (27)
LAUGH CLASSICS (38)
THE BEST OF HOLLYWOOD (56)
1:00 THE MIDNIGHT SPECIAL (22)
1:30 THE DON KIRSHNER'S ROCK CONCERT (8)
1:45 VICTORY AT SEA "Melanesian Nightmare." (3)

State officials consider energy bill

While the New England governors fight in Washington to get their fare share of oil, the Massachusetts legislators are acting now for the future by recognizing the viability and need for alternative energy sources, such as wind and solar energy.

The Solar-Wind Technology Incentives Bill, currently pending in the Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation, would make it more feasible for Massachusetts businesses and homeowners to convert their energy systems to solar or wind.

In an effort to meet the demand for energy without having to rely on nuclear power or costly fossil fuels, S 1385, if passed, would provide monetary incentives that would make it more attractive for consumers to invest in solar or wind power. The revolutionary bill is sponsored by Senator William M. Bulger of Boston and Senator John W. Olver of Amherst.

Everyone is welcome to testify at a hearing of the bill on Tuesday, February 25, 1975, at 10:30. It will be held in Room 443 of the State House, in Boston.

Hampshire 'Women's Week' will focus on current issues

In a continuing effort to bring to light the needs of women and to provide an outlet for various interests, the Whole Woman Center at Hampshire College is sponsoring a women's week from Feb. 22-March 1.

The week will start off with dance and music provided by the New Haven Women's Liberation Rock Bank on Saturday night. Following will be films, discussions, workshops, and presentations. These will focus on issues such as the politics of feminism, sexuality, self-help workshops, values clarification, relationships with each other, alternative life-styles, etc.

The films will address these issues as well and will be sources for discussion. Also included in the week's activities will be a women's poetry reading on Thursday night and a women's coffeehouse on Friday night.

All events are scheduled to be held at Hampshire and day care will be provided. A schedule of events will be posted at Everywoman's Center. For further information or questions, contact the Whole Woman Center (542-4624).

SATURDAY & SUNDAY
9 - 1
Seagull
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

Area schools show Lenny Bruce films

Beginning February 28th the Other Voices Symposium will be presenting a variety of activities dealing with the arts of San Francisco from 1945 through 1965.

In an effort to raise money for the symposium, two Lenny Bruce films, "Lenny Bruce Performs" and "Thank You Masked Man", will be presented in the Five-College area.

On Saturday night, Feb. 22, the films will be shown in Thompson Hall at UMass. On Monday night the films will be presented in the West Lecture Hall at Hampshire. On Tuesday night, Feb. 25, the films can be seen in Merril 1 at Amherst. All showings are at eight and ten o'clock and admission is one dollar.

Neugeboren set to speak Sunday at Hillel Brunch

Mr. Jay Neugeboren, an associate professor of English and writer-in-residence at UMass will be the guest speaker at the Hillel Brunch on Sunday, February 23, at 11 a.m. in the Colonial Lounge of the Student Union. He will discuss "The Jew in the Modern American Novel", including in his discussion some of his own work.

There will be a fee to help cover the cost of food.

Mon.-Fri. 10-9
Sat. 10-6
THE LODGE
at harvard square
Rt. 9 – Russell St.
Hadley
next to McDonald's

FREE SKIING
That's right... free skiing, courtesy of The Lodge and Crotched Mountain. From now thru Saturday, March 1, spend $10 at the Lodge and you'll get a free, full weekday lift ticket to Crotched Mountain (in Francestown in southern N.H.) worth $6 and good Monday — Friday for the rest of the season. Spend $20 and get two tickets, (limit: two per customer).
Aside from a wide variety of slopes and trails, Crotched Mountain offers daily classes (taught by certified ski school staff), four high-speed lifts, ski + rental shop, cafeteria, cocktail lounge, and musical entertainment afternoons and evenings before a roaring fire.
So c'mon down for a day of free skiing on the Lodge!

Crotched Mountain Ski Area
The Lodge has a full selection of the kind of rugged, inexpensive clothing just right for skiing... like Levi's cords and jeans, denim overalls, and flannel shirts.

Holly Near – Live
Holly Near - Hang in There both albums available at
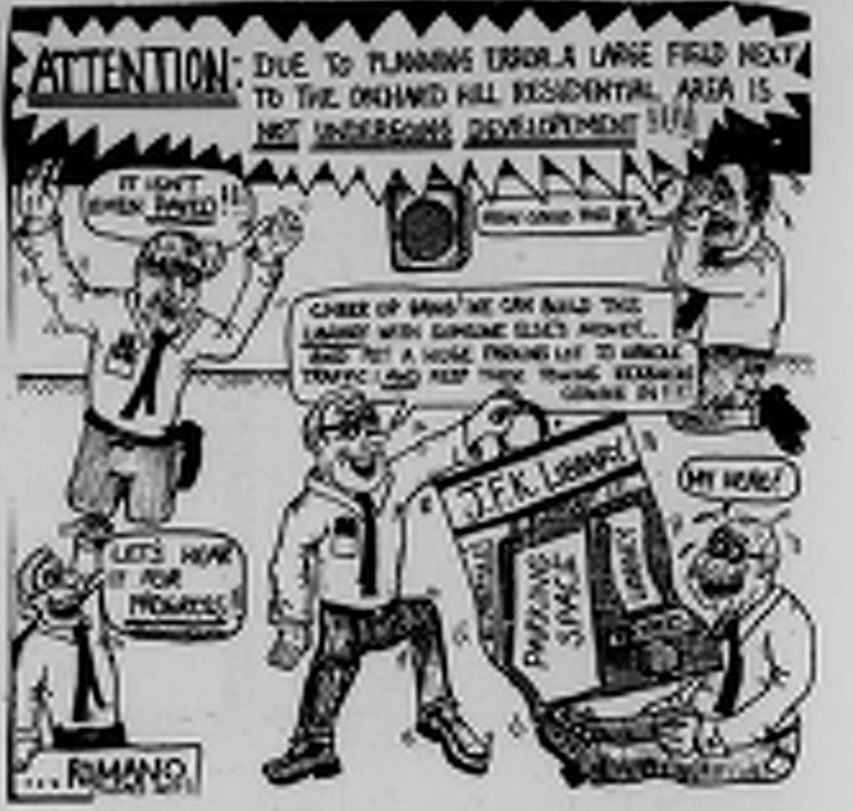
The New
RECORD SHOP
197 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
253-5394

EDITORIALS & OPINIONS

Commentary

[illegible]



ATTENTION: DUE TO PLANNING ERROR A LARGE FIELD NEXT TO THE ORCHARD HILL RESIDENTIAL AREA IS NOT UNDERGOING DEVELOPMENT
IT ISN'T EVEN PAVED!!
CHEER UP BOYS! WE CAN BUILD THIS LIBRARY WITH SOMEONE ELSE'S MONEY... AND PUT A HUGE PARKING LOT TO HANDLE TRAFFIC AND KEEP THOSE YOUNG ... COMING IN!!
J.F.K. Library
PARKING SPACE
MY HERO!
LET'S HEAR IT FOR PROGRESS!
...ROMANO

[illegible]

Letters

Concerts of noteworthy concern

To the Editor:

[illegible]

What's this about Who's Who, huh?

To the Editor:

[illegible]

The individual's major concentration

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Give us more Gavin!

To the Editor:

[illegible]

Got a gripe? A suggestion? An opinion?
Let us know! Send a letter to the editor.
Over 25,000 will read it!!!!

Steve Tripoli

Sylvan: towards the suite life

[illegible]

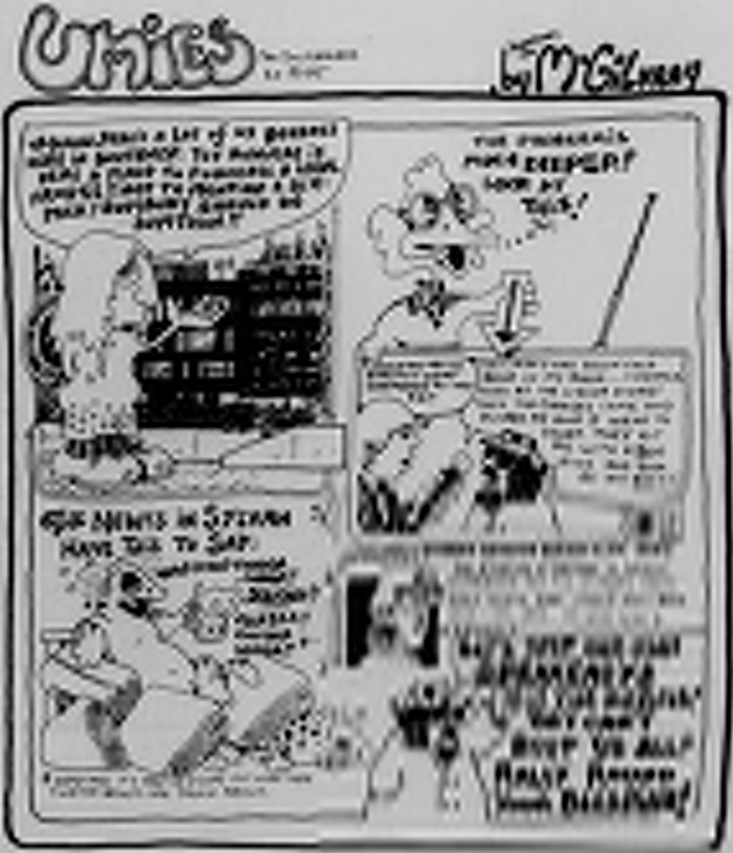
James Nollet

Principles under attack

[illegible]

Peace at an easy pace

[illegible]



Uhies
THE PROBLEM IS MUCH DEEPER! LOOK AT THIS!
THE NEWTS IN SYLVAN HAVE THIS TO SAY:

Feminist poet to give reading here

Staff Photo by Steve Durwell

ELLEN BASS

Ellen Bass, who recently published her first volume of poetry I'M NOT YOUR LAUGHING DAUGHTER with the University of Massachusetts Press (1973), will be giving a poetry reading today at 8:00 p.m. in Herter Hall. The reading is being sponsored by the Everywoman's Center and the University of Massachusetts Press.

In I'M NOT YOUR LAUGHING DAUGHTER, Bass quotes a poem by Muriel Rukeyser: "What would happen if one woman told the truth about her life?-The world would split open." Ellen Bass embarks upon a search for the truth about her own growth as a woman, as a person, and as a poet. Her poetry recounts her struggles in dealing with her family, her sexuality, and herself.

"I lived most of my early life in Pleasantville, N.J.," says Ellen Bass, "on top of Hy-Grade Wines and Liquors, Inc., between the Acme and Woolworth's. I started writing poetry when I was 8 and showed the poems to my 3rd grade teacher who told my mother I should see a psychiatrist."

Since then Ellen Bass has received a B.A. from Goucher College, an M.A. from Boston University, and is presently still writing poetry in Boulder Creek, California.

BERKSHIRE BRASS QUINTET
IN CONCERT
Thursday February 27 8:15 p.m.
UNITARIAN CHURCH
Main St. Northampton
(Next to Town Hall)
works by: Pezel, Bozza, Jones, Maurer, Barbateu, Hastings, Bach, Gabrieli.
Donation $2.00 — Tickets available at the Guitar Workshop - Amherst & Tech Hi Fi - Northampton

notes & quotes

Agricultural honor fraternity sponsors weekend conclave

This coming weekend, from Friday to Sunday, UMass will be the host of a Regional Conclave sponsored by the Alpha Zeta fraternity on campus. Alpha Zeta is the national agricultural honor fraternity of the College of Food and Natural Resources here. The conclave will be attended by delegates from other chapters of AZ in the Northeast.

The weekend will start off tonight with a movie about agriculture in Massachusetts, in room 114 in Stockbridge Hall at approximately 8:00 p.m.

Kertesz offers news seminar

Collegian news advisor Chris Kertesz will hold a series of three seminars on news and feature writing for those with little or no experience.

The sessions will begin Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Campus Center, Room 165. Second session will be Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in room 811 CC; the concluding session will be a week from Monday, also at 6:30 p.m. in room 815 CC.

Purpose of the series is to acquaint those who write or want to write with the requirements of various types of news writing so that they can take an active part in the Collegian's coverage of campus life and affairs.

Today last day for submitting RSO budgets

The deadline for submitting budget requests is today. All RSO groups who desire assistance should see Kevin Muldoon, Chairperson of Budgets, in the Student Senate Office, Room 420, Student Union, by 4:00 p.m.

THE HUNGRY-U
Call Us
SUBS & PIZZA
55 UNIVERSITY DR Amherst Mass. TEL. 256-0914
103 NO. PLEASANT ST Amherst Mass. TEL. 256-0273
WE DELIVER

Appearing
Fri. - Sun.
FAT
at Rusty
Nail
Inn
Rte. 47 Sunderland
665-4937

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMMITTEE
presents
IN CONCERT
PETER FRAMPTON
S.U.B. FEB. 21, FRI. EVE.
Special Guests The Deadly Nightshade
8:00 TICKETS: 3.75 UM ID, 4.75 Gen. Adm. and at door Available: C.C. Concourse UMass

Maxwell House Coffee 1 lb can 89¢
With This Coupon And Purchase of $7.50 Or More Limit One Coupon Per Customer H-865 Valid Thru Feb.22

Large Eggs Finast Grade A White 69¢ doz
With This Coupon And Purchase of $7.50 Or More Limit One Coupon Per Customer H-864 Valid Thru Feb.22

Hawaiian Punch Fruit Juicy Red 46 oz can 29¢
With This Coupon And Purchase of $7.50 Or More Limit One Coupon Per Customer H-943 Valid Thru Feb. 22

Cheer Detergent 10¢ Off Label 49 oz pkg 99¢
With This Coupon And Purchase of $7.50 Or More Limit One Coupon Per Customer H-926 Valid Thru Feb.22

Bounty Towels 125 ct roll 39¢
With This Coupon And Purchase of $7.50 Or More Limit One Coupon Per Customer H-925 Valid Thru Feb.22

50¢ off Beef Round Roast

IT PAYS TO SHOP THE FINAST WAY

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Pork Loin Assorted Chops
Tender & Flavorful Bone in 95¢ lb
Pork Loin Ribs 1.05
Pork Loin 1.35

Pork Loin Roasts
Blade Roast 68¢ lb Blade Half 78¢
Sirloin Roast 78¢ lb Sirloin Half 88¢

Pork Loin Center Cut Chops or Roasts 1.28 lb
7-Bone Steak or Roast 68¢ lb
Beef Chuck Blade Steak 58¢ lb

Beef Chuck for Stew 1.49
Beef Rib Roast 1.39
Beef Rib Steak 1.39
Beef Chuck Short Ribs 1.08
Beef Chuck Cube Steak 1.48
Beef Chuck Ground 95¢
Beef Round Ground 1.08
Pork Shoulder 1.29
Italian Sausage 1.39
Sliced Bacon 1.19
Thin Sliced Meats 2 for 79¢
Polish Ring 1.29
Chicken Legs 79¢
Chicken Breasts 89¢
Chicken Breast 1.58

Imported Ham 99¢
Swiss Cheese 1.69
Chicken Roll 89¢
Roast Beef 1.39
Liverwurst 69¢

Finast Orange Juice Frozen Concentrate From Florida 4 for 89¢

Underblade Steak or Roast Beef Chuck Bone In 78¢ lb
Fresh Ground Beef Family Pack 69¢ lb
Chicken Quarters Breast / Leg 49¢ lb

Vegetables Libbys Frozen 5 for $1
Kleenex Facial Tissue 2 for 89¢
Campbell Chicken Noodle Soup 5 for 89¢
Bathroom Tissue 1.59
Finast Sugar Granulated 5 lb bag 2.49
Apple Sauce Motts 3 for 1.00
Hellmanns Mayonnaise qt jar 1.33
Pampers Overnight Diapers 98¢
Finast Butter Solid Roll 1 lb pkg 77¢
Sunsweet Prune Juice 68¢

Cottage Cheese Finast 1 lb 1.09
Orange Juice 39¢
Breyer Yogurt 41¢
Bell Milk 69¢

Finast Giant White Bread 2 for 99¢
English Muffins 3 for 1.00
Junior Pies 4 for 89¢
Hot Cross Buns 79¢

Murcott Honey Tangerines 12 for 59¢
Yellow Onions 3 lb bag 39¢
Navel Oranges 6 for 69¢
Apples 39¢
Green Cabbage 2 lb 39¢
Zucchini Squash 39¢
Red Radishes 29¢

30¢ off Sanka Instant Coffee
20¢ off Hefty Trash Can Liners
25¢ off Mazola Corn Oil
10¢ off Mrs. Filberts Margarine
25¢ off Arm & Hammer Detergent

Red Rose Tea Bags 99¢

Cinema
THE STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD

CALVIN Theatre
Now
THE ODESSA FILE
PG

MOUNTAIN FARMS FOUR
DEAN MARTIN in "MR. RICCO"
1
TOTALLY DELIGHTFUL
LE SEX SHOP
2
WALT DISNEY
SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON
3
Above all... It's a love story
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
4

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
RUSSIAN BALLET FILM FESTIVAL
"SWAN LAKE"

SATURDAY

FEB. 22nd . . .

DR. STRANGELOVE:

or How I Learned To Stop Worrying
and Love the Bomb!!!

Starring: Peter Sellers &
George C. Scott

Campus Center Aud.

75¢

Time

8, 10, & 12

AMHERST Cinema
OLIVER REED VANESSA REDGRAVE
THE DEVILS
The Damned

CLOCKWORK ORANGE
Friday
FEB 21 CCA
6:30, 9:00, and 11:30 75¢

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
FEDERICO FELLINI
THE CLOWNS

CAMPUS Cinemas
LOVE & ANARCHY
Life & Times of Xaviera Hollander

SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1 2 3 4 5 6
YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN
Alan Arkin James Caan
Freebie and the Bean
THE TOWERING INFERNO
PART II

TONIGHT

The Marx Brothers

in

'Monkey Business', 'The Incredible Jewel Robbery',

'Pigskin Capers', & 'This Is War?'

ADM. 75¢

MAHAR AUD. 7, 9, 11 p.m.

---

notices

[illegible]

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC
Lots Of Room To Boogie
THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
ROCK & BOOGIE

Fri. - Sun. "FATE"

Plenty of Room to Boogie!

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
American Film Theatre
IN CELEBRATION

Showplace
EVES. 7:00 - 9:15
Sat.-Sun. Mat. 2:00 p.m.
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S
"MURDER ON THE ORIENT EXPRESS"

MDC Classifieds

[illegible]

[redacted]

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

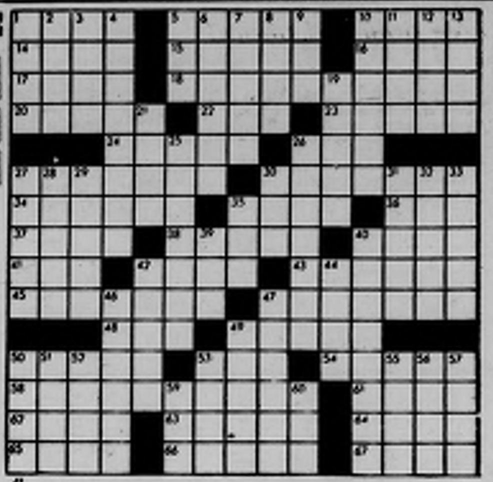
UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

[illegible]

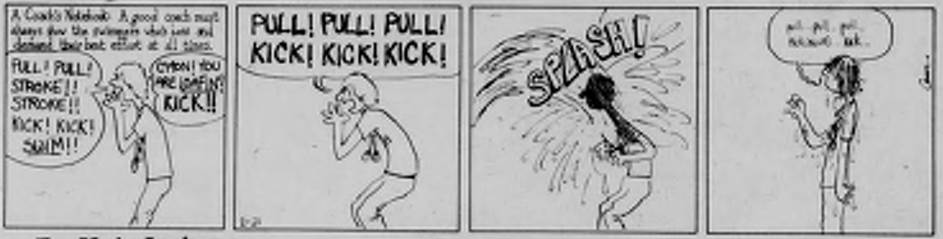
DOWN

[illegible]



By Jim Carson

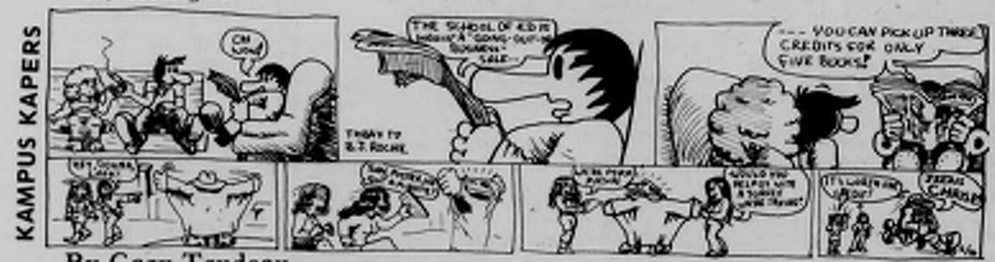
DIZZY & PAUL



A Coach's Notebook: A good coach must always give the swimmers who will and demand their best effort at all times.
PULL! PULL! STROKE!! STROKE!! KICK! KICK! SWIM!!
C'MON! YOU ARE LOAFIN'! KICK!!
PULL! PULL! PULL! KICK! KICK! KICK!
SPLASH!
pll.. pll.. pll.. kick.. kik..

By Kris Jackson

KAMPUS KAPERS



THE SCHOOL OF ED IS HAVING A "GOING-OUT-OF-BUSINESS" SALE
... YOU CAN PICK UP THREE CREDITS FOR ONLY FIVE BUCKS!

By Gary Trudeau

DOONESBURY

PEANUTS

BUT I WON A TROPHY!

By Johnny Hart

B.C.

By Brant Parker & Johnny Hart

WIZARD OF ID

AN EMERGENCY IN THE COURT YARD, SIRE!
WHAT'S WRONG?

Your Birthday

By Stella Wilder

Friday, February 21 — Born today, you are highly intelligent and, in fact, enjoy nothing more than exercising your mental capacities on abstract problems. Even so, you take a remarkably down-to-earth approach to your everyday life, never allowing complications to becloud whatever issues are involved. With a special knack for applying what you know to what you do, you combine theory and practice with ease, efficiency, and a tremendous amount of professionalism. Not for one moment do you appear amateurish in anything you undertake.

Because you are by nature an affectionate person, you garner friends with both ease and certainty. But you are also a discriminating individual who is capable of screening out from those who would join your circle of intimates the people who would take advantage of you. Your ability to resist the temptation that ordinarily results from flattery enables you to hold out against all manner of "friendly" persuasion. Your ability to see through pretense protects you from those who would attempt to "guide" you against your will.

You are prone to rush into marriage. However, you may well rush into close relationships with members of the opposite sex and, as a result, cause yourself much emotional turmoil — periodically! You realize the dangers of allowing your heart to guide your head in your personal relationships — but you nevertheless seem to make the same mistake over and over again.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

* * *

Saturday, February 22

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A plan coming right off the top of your head this morning may work out better than any you've been harboring for a long time. Try it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Though this is a day with few laughs, the ones there are are worth remembering. Children make an especially memorable contribution.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You might do well to display your affection for loved ones openly at this time. Young people need to know that they are in good standing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Style means more than accuracy today. Work and play both bring personal satisfaction, especially when accomplished with other family members.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Life should begin today to display some of its old even tenor after a time of ups and downs. Don't be disappointed if progress is slow.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Self-righteous behavior may gain you more enemies than friends. You would do yourself a favor if you reserved your opinions for those who know you very well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — A progressive attitude toward all that is going on on the domestic scene is a necessity if you are to be successful in dealing with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Children may be in a defensive phase of their development, in which case you may find yourself up against greater resistance than you'd prepared for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Though it may be your nature to be quarrelsome, you would do well to keep arguments at a minimum today. Old friends may need advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You may wish to take a new stand on domestic affairs. If so, announce your intention before the fact, not after, or prepare for a poor response.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — There is no place for cynicism today as you talk of your plans for the future. Family and friends hold out the best hope for success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Don't inquire too closely into another's personal affairs or you may discover aspects of a situation you neither need nor want to know.

United Feature Syndicate

Food deans form counseling center

By THOMAS G. BRINE
Staff Reporter

When students began flooding into Whitmore and CASIAC seeking solutions to academic problems the Deans of the College of Food and Natural Resources decided to establish a counseling center.

Associate Deans Ernest M. Buck and Donald M. Maynard, who helped establish the center in 102 Stockbridge Hall, say they can almost guarantee help to anyone with academic problems.

The Academic Counseling Center provides information on admissions, transfer-students, financial aid and academic problems.

In addition, the center offers counseling advice to non-students, parents, teachers and anyone else interested in obtaining information, said Maynard.

Campus workers to found union

There will be the founding meeting for the Union of Student Employees' (USE), Monday at 7:30 p.m.

All student employees from the Campus Center are urged to attend. There will be an effort to form the constitution for the union and elect officers.

The convention will take place in the Commuter's Lounge, in the S.U. There will be information and activities during the entire evening for all interested.

WMUA weekend

Here is the week-end schedule for WMUA, 91.1 FM:

Friday

Today's jocks are Al Feinberg, Mary Lawson, Crazy Nancie, Tommy Joyner & Cliff Brennan.

8:57 a.m., High Tides

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac

8:00 p.m., Impresarium

Saturday

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac

8:00 p.m., Sports, Larry Conway and Russ Small go to New York City to report the basketball game as UMass goes against the Fairfield Stags.

Sunday

8:40 a.m. & 5:30 p.m., River Valley Almanac

9:00 a.m. Gospel

10:00 a.m. Classics

2:30 p.m., Zamir, PREMIER: A Hebrew show

3:00 p.m., Pioneer Valley Jubilee

6:00 p.m., Sunday News Collective: Which way is the country headed?

7:00 p.m. Jubilation Jazz goes until 2 a.m.

WMUA News is broadcast at 7, 8 & 9 a.m. and at 2, 6 & 10 p.m. Headlines are broadcast at 7:30 & 8:30 a.m.

Is betting coming?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of a special federal gambling study commission said Thursday that spokesmen for the nation's leading sports organizations have failed to make a convincing case against legalized gambling.

Charles H. Morin, who heads the 15-member panel, said he has not made up his mind on whether betting on team sports should be authorized.

But he was less than persuaded by arguments presented during two days of hearings by four pro sports commissioners and representatives of the two leading amateur sports organizations.

In response to a question, Morin said: "are they offering convincing arguments? No, they're not. They're saying they can live with gambling if it's illegal but not if it's legal."

The Washington attorney also commented: "What becomes shockingly clear is that no one has any knowledge of the amount of gambling that is going on in this country. No one who has come before us knows."

At the closing session of the commission, officials of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union declared their opposition to legalized gambling.

Robert C. James, Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner, said the NCAA "is adamantly opposed to any governmental action (federal or state) which in effect approves gambling on team sporting events, whether such action takes the form of legislation legalizing such gambling or merely entails a less than vigorous enforcement of existing laws limiting sports gambling activities."

CHECK THE BONANZA AD
TO SEE IF YOU WON A FREE STEAK DINNER.

Five goal 3rd period

JV pucksters leash Huskies

Scoring five goals in the third period, the UMass JV hockey team cut down the UConn JV's 7-2 last Wednesday at Storrs.

At the eight minute mark and the score tied at 2-2, UMass scored three goals in the next three minutes to build a fairly safe lead. Two more insurance tallies were added later in the period.

Individually, Kevin Sullivan scored a short handed goal in the first period as the Huskie goalie broke his stick and could not clear the puck. Sullivan just knocked it in.

Peter Mountain scored two minutes into the second frame on a feed from Brian Kittredge.

The game winner and initial goal of the explosion came from Kevin Thompson after getting the puck from Jim Scanlon after a face-off.

Scanlon assisted on the next goal also as he fed Tom Sweeney cutting in. Scanlon got his third assist when he and Dave Drake fed Kevin Thompson for his second tally.

Ken Hubble scored the sixth on a power play and Ed Stube tipped in a deflected Bill Devine shot to end the scoring. Bob LaRoche also assisted on the goal.

Paul McCann and Paul Murphy played well in goal, Coach Kidd thought and said Jim Scanlon played a good game. His line scored four goals.

The win upped the team's record to 8-9-1. The team is 5-1-1 since the break and face Boston College Saturday at 4:30 at the rink.

In games over the weekend, the JV pucksters tied RPI 5-5 Friday despite an overtime period. The junior Engineers were leading 5-4 when with three minutes remaining RPI tied it up with a flukey goal. The teams then played a scoreless overtime period.

Paul McCann had 43 saves in the game while the RPI goalie had 28. There was also 29 minutes in minor penalties. UMass had balanced scoring as five different skaters notched a point.

Saturday, the team skated by the Yale JV's 13-5. Paul Murphy played the first half of the game and shut out Yale. Phil Scavone finished the game but the defense let up on him when the lead got so big.

UMass jumped off to a 2-0 lead then at the six minute mark, the Eli goalie got hurt and taken out of the game. Only having one goalie, Yale "borrowed" Bob McChesney from UMass.

Individually, Jim Scanlon got a hat trick. Dave Drake got two goals and two assists, Bill Devine got two goals and Tom Sweeney had four assists.

Pistons down, spark needed

DETROIT (UPI) — In less than three weeks the Detroit Pistons have changed from the best team in their division — maybe the best in pro basketball — into one of the worst.

More remarkably, the Pistons have managed this turnaround that threatens to put them into last place in the NBA's Midwest Division with no serious injuries and only one roster change.

On Jan. 26, with a national television audience watching, they bounced back from a sound thrashing by Chicago the night before to dump the Bulls in overtime and establish their two-game lead over the rest of the division.

More important in their eyes, they reestablished their dominance over the rival that ousted them from last year's playoffs by a single bucket with their third win in four meetings between the two clubs.

Coach Ray Scott was crowing "we're out to prove we're the best" after that game. Now the crow is sticking down his throat, chunk by bitter chunk.

The team is demoralized by three disastrous weeks of bad basketball. The Pistons are playing [illegible] basketball and unless they undergo another change as radical as the one recently completed, they will not even make the playoffs.

"It started in Cleveland," Scott theorized after one of the many defeats that have left him mystified. "We lost something on the way — it's probably out there on Interstate 75 right now."

That was on Feb. 2, a horrendous loss to the Cavaliers that was the Pistons' third defeat in a string of four in six days. On Feb. 3 Boston defeated Detroit, and the Pistons dropped percentage points behind Chicago. It was their last look at first place.

"We're comfortable getting kicked," he said softly. Then the cutting edge to his voice came out. "I don't like getting kicked. I don't like getting beat. When I get beat, I like to fight back.

"The disaster part of it is being mentally and physically down. The thing is, where do you reach the point that you fight back? How far down do you have to be before you get tired of it at some point and start fighting back?

"You have to be tired, at some point, of that foot being on your chest."

GOOD NEWS FOR EVERYONE WITH HICCUPS.

RECORDS
CLASSICAL JAZZ
BLUES
ROCK
The New
RECORD SHOP
[illegible] No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
[illegible]

LARRY PECK FLASHES his form which placed him in the top ten of the conference. The senior from Andover will compete in his last regular season meet at Prospect Hill in Waltham this weekend.

Skiers near title

By PETER McDONNELL

The UMass ski team, once again the class of their division will be seeking to capture its fourth Osborne Division championship in the past five years as they complete regular season competition this weekend at Prospect Hill in Waltham.

"Amherst College, who won it last year, had been at our throats all along but we finally got some breathing room the last time out. If we ski as a team and not as individuals we shouldn't have too many problems," said Coach Bill MacConnell.

[illegible] and Larry Peck are all ranked in the top ten for individual performances this year. Not bad, considering that no other team except Amherst places as many as two.

Steve Tonelli, who has had more than his share of bad luck with equipment problems and falls, will be skiing in the Number 1 position as he has been all year.

Behind this solid top five, MacConnell has Gary Peck and Bill Nebesky, "two guys who would be ranked no worse than third or fourth on just about any other team in the league."

As it stands now, UMass is on top of the division, with Amherst a distant second followed in order by BC, Northeastern, [illegible], UConn, Bentley, Tufts, and MIT.

WMUA

Saturday, February 22 the Minutemen travel to New York City to take on the Stags of Fairfield in Madison Square Garden. Be listening at 3:30 as Larry Conroy and Ryan Small bring you Minuteman basketball on the voice of the Minutemen, WMUA 91.1 FM.

Scott Hayes

UMass track-money less recruiting

Winning teams are the result of sound financial backing, right? Not always. For example, here at UMass, cross country and track coach Ken O'Brien has discovered that it is possible to build a winner without the aid of attractive scholarship money.

O'Brien's recruitment philosophy is unique and has been highly successful, as illustrated by his harriers, who won the IC4A Championship during the 1974 season. O'Brien and his assistant, Mike Muska, work in numbers, or attempt to get several outstanding athletes rather than one "star-status" performer, who is usually lured by the scholarship offers of the "big name" schools. While this method takes longer, (i.e. no immediate success), it fits into O'Brien's program, which is one of improvement and development.

O'Brien explained how he goes about choosing what athletes to recruit for track. "In track, performances are measured in time, feet and inches. You get a lot of information by following high school track results. Letters from coaches and articles are also helpful." O'Brien, in his seventh year of coaching UMass teams, stated that most of the "scouting" takes place within New England and that meet results are a major determinant of athletic ability.

"When we get an athlete who indicates potential, we contact the high school coach or guidance office to find if he has the academic qualifications as well," commented 1973's New England cross country Coach of the Year. "Next we send him an application and possibly visit the high school to personally meet him. If we feel he's interested and there's a chance of his attending UMass, we inform the athlete of our program," continued O'Brien, a member of the NCAA executive committee for cross country.

A visit to the UMass campus is arranged, and the athlete gets a chance to meet some of the team members, discuss academic interests and have any questions answered by the coaches or trackmen. The process seems to be a tedious one, but actually, the coaches spend more time coaching and developing than recruiting, according to Muska, a New England representative on the National Cross Country Poll.

Some of the problems faced by O'Brien include losing to the "tradition" of other schools, which boast captivating scholarships.

Although "number one" competitors may not be a part of the UMass program, O'Brien shapes his foundation for success by building depth with five to ten good athletes. Refining runners is the basis of O'Brien's program, and often the result is an abundance of exceptional runners and tracksters. O'Brien looks for a combination of athletic ability and academic capability in his prospects.

Randy Thomas, senior track co-captain as well as school record-holder in the mile and two-mile, feels that O'Brien has been doing an impressive job, working with a minimal budget. "There's a very limited scholarship program," noted Thomas, "but the biggest selling point is the improvement and development of the individual. Another big thing is our pride in each other, in the program and in our accomplishments." Thomas cited Frank Carroll as an example of tremendous improvement. A year ago in high school, Carroll's best two-mile time was 9:55. Less than a year later, with one cross country season under the leadership of O'Brien and Muska, Carroll set a freshman two-mile record of 9:05.2, breaking harrier Tom Maguire's mark.

While UMass track probably can't approach an athlete with a money offer in the form of a scholarship, the tradition already established in cross country and now expanding into track plays a big role in recruiting. "When you have excellent competitors like the Adamsons and the team is winning, it helps build tradition," stated Pete Farrulari, a member of the track team.

Carroll, the track team's outstanding freshman runner, said that his contact with the UMass coaches was more personal than other schools and that Muska showed more interest. Another factor that influenced Carroll's decision to attend UMass was the countryside surrounding the campus, which is well-suited for distance training. "The visit here decided things," said Carroll, who had considered going to UConn and Northeastern as well. "The program provides depth," added the first-year standout.

While some coaches attempt to build on a "dollar and cents" foundation, O'Brien and Muska continue to dedicate themselves to the improvement and development of their runners (sometimes a rare characteristic in today's coaching circles) and add depth to both teams. Muska is right, but looking at past success, you'd never know it. Over the past seven seasons, O'Brien's cross country teams have compiled a [illegible] record. The UMass harriers have been successful in championship meets as well, as they captured their fifth straight Yankee Conference crown last season. The tracksmen won the New England and IC4A Championships over the past two seasons and placed eighth in the NCAA Championships. The track team took its first New England title last year and should be among the top New England teams during the upcoming outdoor season.

O'Brien may soon be a step ahead, because should alloted money for the track and cross country programs at other schools ever be trimmed or [illegible] (which is foreseeable considering the growing problems in financing college athletics) UMass won't have to find coaches to do the talking previously done with a dollar sign.

St. Regis Restaurant

HOMESTYLE FOOD QUALITY SERVICE

Breakfast served at all hours

Breakfast Special:

Country Style
BROWN CORN BEEF HASH
Served with 2 eggs any style
Home Fries Buttered Toast, Coffee

$1.95

[illegible]

Serving Bagels with Cream Cheese

• Specialties of the House

CANADIAN MEAT PIE
CHICKEN PIE
BEEF STEAK PIE
BAKED BEANS (Boston Style)

ALL HOMEMADE

[illegible] Sunday 7-4

[illegible] St., Northampton
[illegible]

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY SPECIAL—CHERRY PIE FOR 1¢
—WITH THE PURCHASE OF
ANY BONANZA STEAK DINNER.
GOOD AT PARTICIPATING BONANZA RESTAURANTS.
OFFER GOOD FEBRUARY 22, 1975 ONLY.

IN GEORGE'S HONOR, BONANZA CHOPS DOWN CHERRY PIE TO A PENNY.

MATT McCABE
FOR FREE STEAK DINNER

Pick any one of our delicious steak dinners and we'll give you a slice of cherry pie for just a penny.

BONANZA

Good wholesome American food at right neighborly prices.

"No tipping please. Just leave us with a smile."

Mountain Farms Mall Rt. 9 Hadley

Cornell challenges gymmen Sat. night

By BILL DOYLE

Cornell prides itself in the fact that it is seeking its eighth straight Ivy title in men's gymnastics but according to UMass coach Tom Dunn, the Big Red shouldn't be much of a challenge for the Minutemen when they meet Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. in the Boyden auxiliary gym.

"The Ivy league only has two teams," Coach Dunn said, "that are respectable, Cornell and Dartmouth." UMass handled Dartmouth rather easily two weeks ago in a meet in Hanover.

Dunn said that Cornell has been scoring only around 185 points this season so he will sit out some of UMass' regulars and pit some gymnasts against each other to see who will compete in next week's key meet with Temple.

Paul Marks, Roy Johnson, and John Brandon will be the all-around men.

Marks and Brandon have been doing about the same so far this season so whoever does better against Cornell probably will get the starting nod against Temple, Dunn said.

[illegible] and [illegible] Douglas have been even, so the one who comes up with the better routine Saturday may compete against Temple. The same goes for [illegible] and Joel James on the high bar.

Bill Brouillet, Peter Lusk, and John Fabbricante will sit out the meet unless the flu bug which has hit the team forces someone else to miss the meet and forces them to take their place. Coach Dunn said that Andy Hammond has come down with the flu and has only practiced once this week. Fabbricante hurt his wrist in practice this week so his status for the meet is still up in the air.

Cornell's best gymnast, Coach Dunn said, is Dave Apple who was a finalist in the floor exercise in the E.I.G.L. championships last year. An injury has forced him to compete only on the parallel bars this season though, and Dunn said that he is only fair in that event.

Cornell's best event is p-bars, on which they have Wes Hanscom [illegible] but whose best event is vaulting.

Cornell lacks the depth on side horse and UMass is strong in that event so the Minutemen should do well there. In a line-up change, Chris Brown will replace Dave "Rock" Kolakoff on side horse.

Joel James will compete on the p-bars in addition to the high bar. He has competed on the p-bars in two previous meets this season. Andy Hammond will attempt to battle the flu in competing also on the p-bars. Bill Brouillet will take his place if he is unable to compete.

Even with the line-up changes, Coach Dunn said that he still expects to win big.

"I think that we can score 200 points with this line-up if everyone hits their routine," he said, "and that leaves us a leeway of 10 points. Despite the inexperience of some of the gymnasts that we have in there and the new routines that some others are trying [illegible] I think we'll beat them good. At least, I hope so."

Jon Brandon on the high bars in an earlier meet this year.

Gymwomen breeze

By BILL DOYLE

Sweeping every event, the UMass women's gymnastics team dispensed with Salem State in easy fashion last night, 91.65-75.0, at Salem in a two hour and forty-five minute marathon.

Assistant Coach Mike Kasavana said that inexperienced judging precipitated the great length of the meet.

"I guess it was a good meet to try out some new judges, since it wasn't supposed to be a close meet anyway," he explained. "Some of the scores were questionable."

The scores might have been questionable but the superiority of the Minutewomen wasn't, as despite the fact that Susan Cantwell, Jeannine Bunger, Pam [illegible], Cheryl Smith, and Nicole Goode all sat the meet out, UMass still won by over 16 points, which in most every sport and especially gymnastics is a rout.

Coach Kasavana said that Co-captain Marian Kulick, who has been out for most of the season because of injuries, did really well in her routine last night, showing that she will be a factor in future meets.

Kulick, Kasavana said, had the best overall balance beam routine even though she didn't get the highest score [illegible]. She also did well in vaulting as she scored a 7.95.

Ann Olson and Linda Nelligan were also praised by Kasavana for their performances. Olson edged out fellow Minutewomen Gail Hannon's 8.35 in vaulting with an 8.40 to take high honors in that event. Nelligan won the high bar with a 7.95 and scored an 8.20 in vaulting.

The best that Salem State could do in any event was a fifth place in vaulting.

After taking a 24.95-22.25 lead in the first event, UMass really opened up a wide margin as they beat Salem State by almost eight points on the high bar. The only event that was closely contested was the floor exercise as UMass took it, 21.65-20.5.

Head coach Virginia Evans did not go with the team to Salem, so she let Kasavana take the squad.

About the meet, Kasavana said, "It was a good meet for getting a look at some women and we had fun. That's the main thing."

[illegible] O'Rourke, the only gymnast to perform in every event, totaled 26.[illegible] points in the all-arounds. Her best score was a 7.[illegible] on the uneven bars.

Cindy [illegible] and Margie Magraw both did well on their balance beam routines, scoring 7.[illegible] and 7.[illegible] respectively to place one-two.

Next meet for the Minutewomen is Tuesday at Boston State.

Swimmen float home

By BILL [illegible]

What the UMass swimmers did to the URI water-folks could only be printed in the obituary column. Since the Collegian publishes no obituaries, however, the report will go on the sports page.

Meet Days — UMass began the meet with a bang even louder than the starter's gun as the 400 yard medley relay team of [illegible], Dave and Ron Boucher, and Joe Hebert set a university record with a time of [illegible].

Ben Crocker then toyed with the URI long distance man in the 1000 freestyle, [illegible] with a Rhody until lap number 30, when he flipped on that relentless propeller he seems to have and [illegible]. When the 500 freestyle came along, Big Ben used the same tactics in defeating teammate Harry Boden by 3.2 seconds. Crocker and Boden did their thing again in the 200 yard free, finishing 1-2, and the rout was on. Duncan Lomas took the 200 yard individual medley with a time of 2:08.0 while Carl McAllister won the 1 and three meter diving competitions.

Hebert had no problem securing the 200 yard butterfly for the good guys and Lomas tacked on another victory in the 100 yard free.

Rhode Island took their only event in the 200 yard backstroke but Dave Boucher's 2:[illegible] time garnered UMass the 200 yard breaststroke.

The Minutemen finished the meet with the team of [illegible], Lomas, Hansom and Hebert taking the 400 yard free relay (that means they didn't have to pay to enter the event).

Aquatic Days — The post meet festivities were more exciting than the contest itself as everyone affiliated with the happy swimmers went for unexpected plunges (i.e. the coach and a swimmer's girlfriend). Yours truly, however, escaped the watery winners' whims by clinging to the game story at all times.

Ivory Days — UMass clinched the meet in the only event they lost (200 backstroke) with a one point third place finish.

Grapplers host Harvard in last dual

By JOHN [illegible]

The UMass Minutemen matmen host the Crimson of Harvard College in the last scheduled dual match of the year. The grapplers will meet their Ivy League foes in Boyden Auxiliary Gym at 8:00 p.m. in what could prove to be a tight match.

The Crimson are a relatively well balanced team that have [illegible] with their wins and losses this season. They have a combination of youth and experience that make them probably a better tournament team than a dual match team.

This season, besides their Ivy League commitments, the Crimson have wrestled URI, BU, and powerful Clarion State College of Pennsylvania. They won a match against Clarion and tied one in what coach John [illegible] termed "a good showing."

Harvard highlights tough Mike Yasunaga at 126 or 134 pounds. Yasunaga is a sophomore hailing from Hawaii where he was a prep school state champ. Good on his feet, he displays an aggressive attitude on the mat. Freshman Ty Richardson has been more than a pleasant surprise for Harvard this season at 134 pounds. He was a winner over both Clarion and URI and has an undefeated record in the Ivy League.

Moving into the heavier weights the Crimson are anchored at 177 pounds by junior Jim [illegible]. [illegible] is a tall, gangling grappler who barely fills out his uniform but moves like a man with an appointment on the mat. At heavyweight, Kip Smith includes among his victories a 13-1 superior decision over Reggie Williams from Dartmouth, and a 2-2 draw with MIT's super heavy [illegible].

The Minutemen will be without the services of 126 pounder Brian Chase who looked like his star was on the horizon before a severe neck strain in the Dartmouth match made his season questionable. Steve Ruggeri will fill in at 126. Kevin Griffin will hold at 150 while Steve Jackson goes up for one last match at 158. Frank [illegible] goes at 167 pounds and 177 will be either Tom O'Connell or Bob Spaulding. The loser of the 177 pound elimination may wrestle at 190.

"A WORLD OF T-SHIRTS"
From
THE COVER UP
"The T-Shirt Shop"
ORIGINALLY DESIGNED - SILK SCREENED
T-SHIRTS & SWEAT SHIRTS
IN ALL SIZES & COLORS
[illegible]

GOOD FOOD & MUSIC!
Lots of Room To Boogie
THE FOUR LEAF WINDOW
drinks — eats — music
BEER & BOOZE

Fri. - Sat. "FATE" (If you missed Fate at the Hatch, catch them now!)

Tues., Wed. - No Cover

Live Entertainment! Tues.-Sat.!
Rt. 202, New Salem at Truman's Flea Market, only 15 miles from Whitmore!

Plenty of Room to Boogie!

Sun. — 15¢ drafts. Thurs. — [illegible]
Watch for our ads every Wed. & Fri.!
Phone [illegible] — [illegible]

Dynamite Diamonds

FREDERICKS
[illegible]

WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

VALLEY
[illegible]

Women outshoot Worcester State

By CHAS O'CONNOR

Nancy O'Neil, sophomore from Scituate, scored nineteen of her twenty five points in the second half as the UMass women's basketball team beat Worcester State, 75-67, at the Cage last night.

The Minutewomen had to fend off a second half surge by Worcester, as they negated a ten point lead by scoring ten in a row during a two and a half minute stretch.

In fact, the visitors had held a 36-29 lead at the half after capitalizing on UMass' inability to put a potent offense together.

During the opening eleven minutes of the last period, UMass outscored Worcester 30-13 to take the lead, 59-49. After Worcester tied it up at 59-59, the lead exchanged hands a few times before a short banker by Nancy O'Neil with 5:17 remaining put them ahead to stay, 63-61. The lead was stretched to 71-61, and the outcome was not in doubt any longer.

The team had the most success when the trio of LuAnn Fletcher, Christine Basile and Nancy O'Neil were in the game at the same time. The three represent the core of the UMass offensive attack.

During the period of the game in which UMass played the most effective basketball, the team was beating the Worcester press and forcing turnovers by the press of their own.

Much should be said for the offensive efforts of both Nancy O'Neil and LuAnn Fletcher. O'Neil hit on nine of twelve field goal attempts in the second half to finish with twelve of nineteen in accumulating her twenty five points. Fletcher, in scoring her fourteen points, made seven of nine attempts at the hoop.

Nancy Barry, filling in for Pat Glispin in the second half, hit on five of eleven tries as the Minutewomen shot 50 per cent from the field.

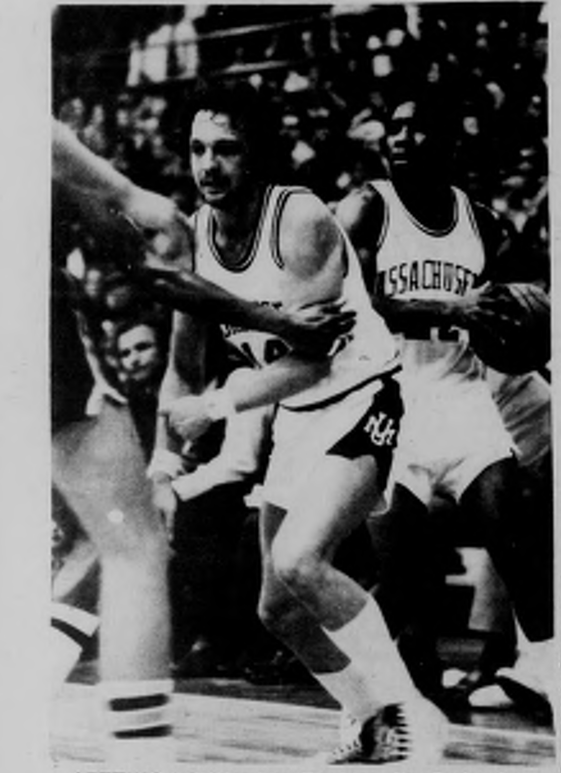
The game was marred by what may turn out to be a very costly injury. Senior co-captain Pat Glispin twisted an ankle seconds before the first half ended. It is not known how long she will be kept out of action. Hopes are that she will be able to play in next Tuesday's game against Bridgewater State.

That Tuesday night encounter with Bridgewater State will provide some very tough opposition for the 6-1 Minutewomen. Game time is 7:30.

MASSACHUSETTS
32
MASSACHUSETTS
31

Staff Photos by Debbie Schafer

Coach Carol Albert watches Minutewomen standouts Nancy O'Neil (above right) and LuAnn Fletcher (below right) in last night's victory over Worcester State.



Staff Photo by Bill Hewell

SETTING A PIC for Alex Eldridge, Jim Burke shows some wear and tear in last Tuesday's Vermont game. Jim will probably not look too fresh after tomorrow's game against Fairfield at Madison Square Garden.

Minutemen hunting Stags; Fairfield hosts at Garden

By STEVE DeCOSTA

Tomorrow marks the first trip to Madison Square Garden for the UMass basketball team this season, taking on the Fairfield Stags in the second game of an afternoon doubleheader.

It may not be the last trip the Minutemen take to New York this year, but that depends on how the tournament situation unfolds.

The Stags should offer tough competition, despite their record of 11-11.

"They just got off to a bad start," said Fan Gaudette, assistant coach at UMass, who watched the Stags annihilate Hofstra on a scouting trip last week.

But Fairfield has come on strong recently, as witnessed by wins over Manhattan and Boston College.

"What they lacked at the beginning was a point guard," Gaudette said. But Danny Odums has come on strong to become the floor general the team so desperately needed.

Odums is a transfer from Austin Peay, where he toiled in the shadow of 'Fly' Williams. Now he has come into his own as the man who makes Fairfield move.

But the man who usually puts Fairfield on the scoreboard is Ralph Rehn, a 6'7 forward. Much of the Stag's offense revolves around Rehn, who Gaudette calls "a great shooter."

Senior Ray Kelly joins Odums in the backcourt, and Owen Mahorn, a 6'5 sophomore plays opposite Rehn.

At center for the Stags is Steve Balkun, a 6'9 freshman. "He's a strong rebounder," said Gaudette, "and he plays a solid game under the hoop."

For the Minutemen, the game is not a must-win situation, but a victory would push UMass in the right direction — straight toward a tournament or two.

This is the toughest encounter remaining on the Minuteman slate, and with the ECAC selection committee meeting a week from Sunday, everything counts.

In the way of statistics, John Murphy is still UMass' Mr. Everything, topping the squad in scoring (18.2 per game) and rebounding (9.7).

Jim Town seems to have regained his stride, lifting his scoring output to 11.5 with two 22-point games in a row.

Alex Eldridge, who leads the team in field goal percentage at .51, has upped his average to 9.7, and Bill Endicott, who suffered through an early-season slump, is now hitting for an even nine points per game.

TICKLING THE TWINE — Murphy now has 1,083 points in his three-year varsity career, putting him in eighth place on the UMass all-time scoring charts.

If the senior forward hits his average in the final five regular season games, he will move past Al Skinner and Doug Grutchfield to take over the number four spot on the prestigious list.

Rinkmen in key tilt Vs. Boston State

By RICH SEVIERI

With a post-season playoff position on the line, the UMass skaters face Boston State at Orr Rink at 8:00 p.m. Saturday night.

The ECAC Division II playoff committee will meet on Sunday morning to select the eight teams to compete in the playoffs. The result of the UMass-Boston State game will play a part in their decision.

UMass with a 9-8 record in Division II is fighting for one of the final three positions with Army and Lowell Tech. Army is 9-8 in Division play, and Lowell Tech is 11-7.

UMass, who was upset by Boston State, 4-2, during intercession, can not afford another loss in Division play.

Boston State comes limping into Orr Rink with an 8-16 slate. Their own playoff hopes died in January. They have been playing the role of spoilers since then. Two weeks ago they upset a strong St. Anslems team, 5-4.

State's top line has Paul Cacamo centering Steve Woods and Rick Irving. Paul McBrine has been hot and cold in the nets.

UMass hopes to rebound from two straight defeats at the hands of Bowdoin, and New Hampshire. The Minutemen didn't have the depth to skate with New Hampshire for three periods on Tuesday night. New Hampshire sat out four seniors, and still demonated the second and third periods.

Dana Redmond will be in the goal for UMass on Saturday night. No fault can be placed on Redmond for the two previous Minutemen losses. Against New Hampshire, he was impressive with 42 saves in the first two periods.

Merrimack (18-2), Middlebury (9-3-1), Bowdoin (9-4), and Salem State (12-5), have the inside track on the four seeded playoff positions.

The season boils down to one must win and the committee's decision for the Minutemen.

Staff Photo by Dave Eibel

UCONN GOALIE LOU Parker stops a hard shot from Bob McCormack in previous action this year. The Minutemen won that game and need a win against Boston State Saturday night to get into the Division II playoffs.

UMass student robbed while hitch-hiking

By BRUCE R. FREDERICK
Staff Reporter

An unidentified UMass student was the victim of an armed robbery Friday night, according to Lieutenant Clarence R. Babb of the Amherst Police Department. The victim's name was not released because of concern for his further safety.

The student, a male, was hitch-hiking eastbound on Rt. 9 near Snell St., Amherst, at 10:30 p.m. when he was picked up by a white Buick with four occupants.

The occupants then held the student at knife-point and emptied his wallet of less than $100. The victim was then released from the car and he proceeded to notify the police.

Amherst police, with a back-up from UMass police, stopped the vehicle at 10:38 p.m. near Meadow St., and placed the occupants under custody.

Arrested were Christopher J. Reynolds, 72 Edbert Lane, Holyoke; Steven A. Milkiewicz, 213 Farnum Drive, Holyoke; and Wayne M. Lemire, 393 Jarvis Ave., also of Holyoke.

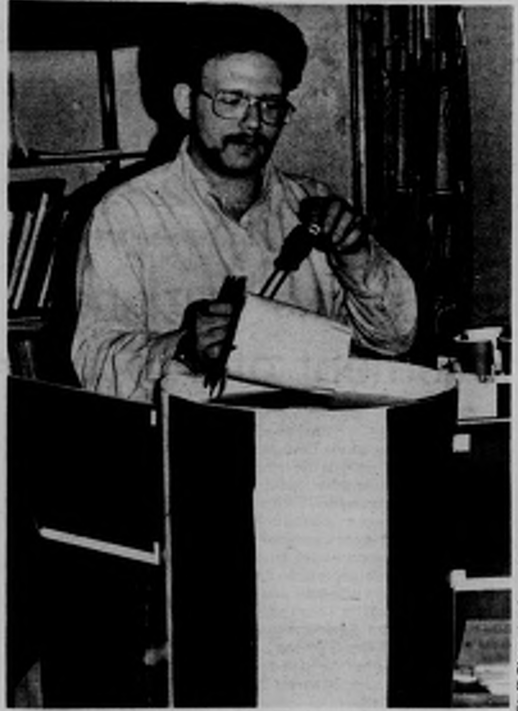
A male juvenile was also placed under arrest. Reyonlds was the operator of the car.

All four subjects were arraigned Saturday in Hampshire County District Court, Northampton. They were released on $250 bail each, and their cases were continued.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
TELEPHONE 545-3500
VOLUME CIII, ISSUE 17 AMHERST, MA MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1975

weather

Daytime highies in the fifties Overnight lows in the forties Rain should continue all day and night into Tuesday



Staff Photo by Chris Bourne

UMass rocket builder Gary Kitmacher works on the tail section of the 16 foot rocket he hopes to launch later this semester.

Student readies rocket for record launch

By CHRIS BOURNE
Staff Reporter

If all goes well, UMass students will get a chance to witness a record breaking event. "It will be the biggest one ever launched in Massachusetts," said Gary Kitmacher, who will be launching a 16 foot rocket he is building.

Kitmacher, a junior geology major, will be breaking his own record, he said. Last year, he built and flew an eight foot rocket from Orchard Hill.

The rocket was larger than those used by rocket-pioneer Robert Goddard in his experiments in the 1920's, which were carried out near Worcester.

Last year's flight wasn't entirely successful, instead of shooting straight up, the rocket curved and descended into the trees. "The problem was that one of the engines ignited before the rest" said Kitmacher.

The new rocket will have 10 engines versus five for the old one. "As far as I know no one ever tried using 10 engines on one model rocket before. As a matter of fact, I don't think anyone ever tried using five before either" said Kitmacher.

Those 10 engines should drive the cardboard-and-balsa wood rocket, at about 300 mph, to an altitude of about five hundred feet. "The highest altitude I've ever reached was about three miles. That was part of a physics project in high school," said Kitmacher.

Kitmacher has been building and flying model rockets since he was about 10. "I've launched about 50 rockets and haven't had a complete failure yet," he said, "I'm building these large rockets mainly for display and education, not to set records."

According to Kitmacher, the smaller rockets fly too fast to give a good view of the flight. Besides rocketry, he is interested in other types of flight. He is a student pilot and was a member of the Civil Air Patrol until it was disbanded in his hometown of Pittsfield, Mass.

In 1973, NASA invited him to witness the launch of the final Skylab mission from Cape Canaveral. He has attended several other launches and plans to be there when three US astronauts lift off for the joint US-Soviet space mission later on this summer.

Kitmacher is editor of the "COSMOS", a magazine published by the UMass Astronomy Club. He hopes to go into astrogeology, combining his interests in astronomy and geology.

For anyone interested in learning about model rockets, Kitmacher, along with fellow rocketeer Richard Valcourt, will be offering a colloquium, which will start sometime in March.

The colloq will cover the basics of building and flying model rockets. "As part of the colloquium, each student will get a chance to build and fly two model rockets," said Kitmacher. The flight of his 16 foot rocket will also be part of the colloquium.

Hadley package store target of mass picket

By TOM UNGER
Staff Reporter

Fearing an accident, Hadley police kept picketers moving at the mass picket of the Four Seasons package store on route 9 in Hadley Saturday afternoon.

Picketing in support of the boycott of Gallo wines, 40 supporters of the Juan De La Cruz committee, attempted to dissuade customers against purchasing Gallo wines or patronizing the Four Seasons until Gallo wines are removed from the shelf.

Lilley - "I feel I should provide those beverages the customers want to purchase"

"I am licensed by the state to sell alcoholic beverages", stated owner John Lilley, "and I feel I should provide those beverages the customers want to purchase."

Lilley further stated that when he was first approached last spring he had agreed, at his own expense, to supply literature of the United Farm Workers and to allow committee members to plead their cause with his customers, but that he would not remove Gallo wines from his store. "This was unacceptable to the picketers", he continued.

"You cannot be neutral" stated Lisa Hickler. "They (Four Seasons) either support the Gallo Industries or the UFW. The only way we will remove our picketers is if Gallo wines are removed from the shelves of the Four Seasons."

We are being effective, indicated Steve Rowley of the Juan De La Cruz committee. "Two weeks ago the store manager stated that he was sorry to see us back for we hurt business here last spring." he continued.

"You cannot measure our effectiveness simply by how many customers we turn away", said Frank Dorman a minister for the United Christian Foundation at UMass, "It is important that we are here and that the public sees us".

"I don't like cruelty but I do like Gallo Pink Chablis", stated Brad Sumer of Hadley, "Because of today's picket I will not buy it."

The pickets did not affect business last spring and were not expected to have an effect now, indicated owner Lilley.

The wines being boycotted include Thunderbird, Ripple, Boone's Farm, Madria Madria, Spanada, Carlo Rossi, Eden Roc, Tyrolia, Wolf and Sons, Mountain and Andre.

inside

Overseas program to Israel offered - see page 15
JFK Library in DC? - see page 5
Nuke plant postponed - see page 7

Staff Photo by John Stewart

Sophomore Liz Temby from Needham gives her younger sister Kate an assist in some leather crafting during a visit to the campus this weekend.

Staff Photo by Julia Stewart

Last Friday afternoon the winning tickets were drawn for the Pre-Vet Club's raffle. The club's advisor, Tony Borton, pulled the tickets from the "hat" and Cathy Martin, a club member, announced the winners of a calculator and booze. Phil Sodenfield took first and John Cowley walked off with second place — and a hangover.

Med Tech policy changed

By SANDY CARLIN
Staff Reporter

Starting with the class of '78, freshmen will no longer be able to declare their major as medical technology, according to Gary Moore, director of the medical technology program.

[illegible]

Frampton concert rocks 1500 in S.U.B.

By JOHN PELLETIER
Below the Salt Staff

Playing to about 1500 people in the S.U.B., Peter Frampton put on the best rock musical performance in the past two years, [illegible]

Peter Frampton

[illegible]

Bond seeks 'national movement of concern'

By CHAS O'CONNOR
Staff Reporter

Julian Bond, member of the Georgia state legislature and noted Black politician, called for a "national movement of concern" in a speech made Saturday afternoon at Amherst College.

[illegible]

THE COTTAGE

THE WOK RESTAURANT

Tuesday Special Dinners $[illegible]

Faculty members to review Ed School academic standards

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

The faculty senate committee on committees recommended five faculty members to an ad hoc committee to investigate the administration and review the academic standards at the School of Education.

[illegible]

Staff Photo by Greg Marks

Energy saving construction

By JOE MAHONEY
Staff Reporter

[illegible]

Weekend news briefs

By BILL JANOWSKI
Staff Reporter

Tenants may get refunds

[illegible]

UMass student killed in S. Hadley crash

[illegible]

Ginsberg, other artists to hold poetry reading

[illegible]

Two curriculum proposals to be investigated

[illegible]

Railroad reorganization plan to be submitted

Track abandonment, subsidies asked

[illegible]

Flames leap from the [illegible] Tire Company in Chelsea yesterday in a three alarm fire which started in the tire storage area. No injuries were reported.

AFL-CIO proposes legislation to regulate large oil companies

[illegible]

Birds still numerous after week of spraying

[illegible]

Ex-Sen. Gurney faces federal charges today

[illegible]

summer in europe CHARTERS LESS THAN 1/2

Robert A. Heinlein The Past Through Tomorrow

Edelin verdict clouds issue of fetus

Experts uncertain if it is a child

[illegible]

Dukakis may be late in submitting budget

[illegible]

Down with pay toilets is the cry of these two high school honor students at Suburban Wyoming High who have organized a campaign to do away with the [illegible]

ERA suffers eight defeats in states

[illegible]

news summary

Mandatory ID's asked

[illegible]

Warplanes hit rebels

[illegible]

DOMINO'S PIZZA
HOT FREE DELIVERY
Call 256-8587

RSO and other 5-college group listings - continued

Outing Club

The UMass Outing Club introduces one to the outdoors. There are approximately 350 undergrads and 50 non-undergrad members. Simon Bunyard is president. Membership fees of $3 for undergrads and $4 for all others are also relied upon for support of the club's activities. These activities include: trips in the areas of caving, hiking, canoeing, rock climbing, winter mountaineering, and cross country skiing; workshops of an educational nature such as first aid, mountain rescue, and equipment repair; and equipment rental. General meetings are held on Monday nights at 6:30 in the Campus Center. At this time, trips are announced and some form of entertainment is presented.

Pre-Dental Club

The UMass Pre-Dental Club has 25 members.

The President is George L. Grillon, 6-8183. Membership dues are $2 a year. Activities include guest speakers from various dental schools, trips to various dental schools, and helping students interested in dental careers. Meetings are held approximately once every two weeks in the Campus Center. See "NOTICE" section of Collegian.

Rugby Club

The Amherst College Rugby Club plays rugby against some of the best clubs in New England, participates in tournaments in Boston and Washington D.C. and takes a trip South during Spring Vacation and hosts post-game parties.

They practice MWF 3-5 p.m. and play Games Wed. 3 p.m. and Sat. 1 p.m., all on playing fields behind Amherst College Gymnasium.

Membership is open to any male in the 5-College area, experienced or not, student or non-student. There are no benchwarmers in Rugby, everyone who comes out plays. The president is [illegible], at 542-5404. Dues are $10 per semester.

Sailing Club

The UMass Sailing Club provides weekend sailing in the early spring for both novice and the experienced sailor. It is a member of the New England Intercollegiate sailing association and does competitive racing in small boats against schools in the Boston area. The first meeting of the semester will be Feb. 26, at CC rm. 168, 7-9 p.m. The president is [illegible].

Ski Club

The purpose of the UMass Ski Club is to provide the University community with the opportunity of skiing in the most economical and enjoyable way possible. During the second semester, they will be running Saturday Wine and Cheese Bus Trips to places like Killington, Mt. Snow and Okemo. Evening bus trips will be going to Mt. Tom and Berkshire East. Berkshire East will be conducting a Ski Instructor's Course.

Club meetings are held bi-weekly. Featured at these meetings are guest speakers, ski movies and door prizes. Other benefits include discounts at several local ski shops and availability of any information you might need about places to ski, lodging, ski conditions or just general information.

The Ski Club office is located in room 309 Student Union. The phone number is 545-3437.

Parachute Club

The UMass Sport Parachute Club charges dues of $10, which provides use of all equipment for one year. Jumps and training extra. Specific Activities: First jump and advanced instruction; informal competition.

Classes take place on Wednesdays and Thursdays: watch Collegian Notices section for specific times and places. Jumping takes place Saturdays and Sundays during good weather at Pioneer Valley Sport Parachuting Center at Turners Falls Airport.

The president is John Sandell, at 1-527-2185.

Stockbridge Service Organization

The Stockbridge Service Organization has 26 members. The president is [illegible]. There are no membership dues. Specific activities include a fall picnic, Halloween party, Christmas party, Spring Progress Banquet, and Spring picnic. Meetings are held from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. and will be announced in the Collegian. Their office is S.U. 424, 546-5702.

[illegible]

[illegible], the Stockbridge Yearbook, has 12 members currently. The editor is [illegible], Student Union Rm. 426 [illegible]. There are no dues and the group receives $8,000 annually from the Stockbridge Student Senate. The primary activities of the group include organization of and production of the yearbook. Meetings are arranged as required.

Wildlife

The UMass Wildlife Society is a student branch of The Wildlife Society, an international, professional organization whose members are predominately Wildlife Biologists residing in over 60 countries. The principal objectives of both organizations are:

(1) to develop and promote sound stewardship of wildlife resources and of the environments upon which wildlife and man depend.

(2) To undertake an active role in preventing man-induced environmental degradation.

(3) To seek the highest standards in all activities of the wildlife profession.

The Student Chapter has several programs for this semester. They include a presentation by a member of the Mass. Division of Fisheries and Game, a visitation by two timber wolves, and several films. Also, thirty students are working on a research project for the Department of Forestry and Wildlife Management on a 46 acre tract on Northeast Street in Amherst.

We will be providing transportation to the 1975 Northeast Fish and Wildlife Conference and will enter contestants in The NE Wildlife Conclave.

Meetings are held at least once a month and are posted around the campus. Dues are $2.00 per semester and anyone may attend or join the Chapter or Society.

Any questions should be directed to Don Hanson at 6-6842.

Strategy Club

The Strategy Club has an estimated membership of approximately 30.

The treasurer is [illegible], tel. 659-3531.

The requirement is an interest in the field of simulation gaming specific activities: a meeting place for anyone interested in simulation gaming meeting times: every Wednesday night 5 p.m. to midnight and every Sunday 1 p.m. to midnight (regular meeting on Wednesday).

Volunteer Fire Dept

UNITED CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION (UCF) provides diverse services and programs through its ecumenical campus ministry to the entire University community. There are no membership requirements or dues. All welcome to our spring Community Evenings (7 p.m. on Feb. 18, March 18, April 15, May 13); open Biblical explorations (Wednesdays, 9:45 - 10:30 p.m.) and candlelight Communion (Wednesdays, 10:30 - 10:45 p.m.) held in the Hardy Memorial Room (316 Hampshire House). A weekly House Church meets at 8 p.m. on Fridays in members' homes - call if you would like a ride. UCF sponsors Faith Explorations, a series of one-credit colloquia. Spring 1975 offerings are: "Jesus and Sexuality - A Psycho-theological Inquiry"; "From Job to Jesus: A Christian View of Suffering"; "Is There a Christian Response to White Racism?"; "Religion and Revolution"; and "Christian Mysticism". Counseling services are also offered (pre-marital, marriage, personal and vocational) with referral assistance.

Campus ministry team members are Peter Sabey, Ruth Fessenden, and Frank Dorman. The UCF offices (316-320 Hampshire House) are open from 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. each weekday; phones (545-2661 or 545-2789) are covered from 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. every day.

United Christian Foundation

The UMass Volunteer Fire Dept. begins its eighteenth year of service. Originally formed as a fire brigade on campus, it grew into an active and viable part of the Amherst Fire Department. It is composed entirely of students. The current function of the UMass group, although presently composed entirely of Auxiliary Firefighters, is fire prevention and safety at different campus functions. Students are employed as Student Fire Marshals under the direction of Advisor [illegible], University Fire Marshal.

The group is seeking to expand its goals and functions this semester. Students have worked at first aid details at the home football games and spring concerts providing emergency first aid. We are seeking to become more professional in Emergency Medical Care, and many members have taken the [illegible] hour Emergency Medical Technician course. We are also considering more social functions and expansion of a program in mountain rescue techniques.

Appearing
tonight
UP FROM THE SKY
50¢ cover
at Rusty Nail
Inn
Rte. 47,
Sunderland
665-1937

HELP MAKE COMMUNITY
TELEVISION A REALITY

FCC rules mandate one CATV channel open to everyone in the community on a first come, first served basis with free production of programs of five minutes or less.

Within these broad guidelines, there is much planning and organizing to be done to make this a workable and creative community enterprise. If you are interested in preparing programs or helping others to do so, in the Arts, First Amendment rights, video, public issues or any other aspect of public access to TV, attend the 1st public access meeting tomorrow night.

TUESDAY, FEB. 25th
AMHERST JUNIOR AUDITORIUM
7:30 p.m. CABLECAST ON CHANNEL 8

UMass bus leaves at 7 p.m. from the Campus Center Circle and return at approximately 9:30 p.m.

RECORDS
CLASSICAL JAZZ
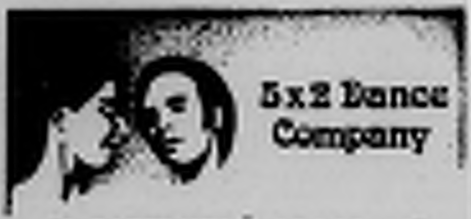
BLUES
ROCK
The New
RECORD SHOP
147 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
[illegible]

audio loop
STEREO TAPES
8-track & cassettes
• over 1000 rock & popular titles
• only $1.99 each
• free brochure
write AUDIO LOOP [illegible]
DEPT 417 PO BOX [illegible]
CLEVELAND OHIO [illegible]

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents



"A CAPTIVATING PROGRAM"
TUESDAY, MARCH 4
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM

Anthony
Newman

"MASTER OF THE HARPSICHORD"
FRIDAY, MARCH 7
8 P.M. BOWKER AUDITORIUM

TICKETS $4 & 3 general $2 & 1.50 UMass students
ON SALE [illegible] HALL, UMASS, AMHERST [illegible]

Staff Photo by Lionel Ribeiro

Feeling at ease in the Campus Center, Bob Dowd serenades passers-by on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

Money problems may delay nuke plant construction

By JUDY BOUCHER
MDC Staff

Severe financial problems and the decline of electricity consumption may delay Northeast Utilities' (NU) construction of two nuclear power plants in Montague, approximately 15 miles from Amherst.

NU's President [illegible] announced he will ask the company's Board of Trustees to delay the proposed nuclear project for "up to four years."

Public hearings, necessary for a building permit, may be delayed until a review of the situation can be made, according to officials of the Federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The hearings are presently scheduled for September.

A preliminary report by Amherst's Nuclear Advisory Committee suggests that the town should get involved with licensing hearings and prepare for an on the site monitoring of the proposed twin nuclear power plants.

If the plants are built, the consumer can expect lower electricity bills.

Double digit inflation, high oil prices and high interest rates have caused problems for NU in financing the project.

